A work that requires no sacrifice does not count for much in fulfilling God's plan. But what is commonly called sacrifice is really the best natural use of one's self and one's resources—the best investment of one's time, strength and means. He who makes no such sacrifice is most to be pitied; he is a heathen because he knows nothing of God.—Gen. S. C. Armstrong.

Were one so tall to touch the pole,
Or grasp creation in his span,
He must be measured by his soul—
The mind's the measure of the man.
—Watts.

An American Express Co. "Travelers Cheque"

is practically a certified cheque made payable to one's order, for a fixed amount named on its face, in gold or its equivalent, at 20,000 places throughout the world, by an extensive list of Bankers and Hotels.

More available, economical, and secure than Letters of Credit, Circular Notes, or other forms of Travelers' Credit.

Cheques, rates, and further information may be obtained at any Agency of the AMERICAN EXPRESS CO., or at the principal offices of the Company.

65 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,
78 MONROE ST., CHICAGO, 45 FRANKLIN ST., BOSTON.

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO., Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. H. P. Lewis, May 25: "In many respects we are getting on real well on Lake circuit, Brandon district, Mississippi Conference. We have a good home, and serve a good people. Congregations good, and now and then an old-fashioned Methodist shout. How refreshing and encouraging to the pastor to hear a good woman 'clap her hands for joy,' and say, 'Glory.' I really enjoy hearing good people shout. I am that much like 'Gilderoy's' negroes, and 'holy men and women of old.' We have held Children's Day service at Lake and Lawrence. Our house full children did well, and many tears of joy were shed by older ones God is with us on the Lake charge. Our Sunday-school and Epworth Leagues are doing well. God bless our children. Pray for us."

Rev. J. A. Bowen, Water Valley, Miss., May 27: "Water Valley Methodism continues to grow in grace and in numbers. Since Conference we have received 112 into our church. Have been blessed with two good revivals. During our last meeting Rev. L. M. Broyles, of Tibbee, Miss., did the preaching. Our people were delighted and edified by his able ministry. Our official Board reports all the interests of the church improving. Bro. Clifford is succeeding gloriously. He will soon have Main Street Church completed. We have now two prosperous Methodist Churches in Water Valley. The location of the Orphans' Home here is an inspiration to our people. Guided by the Holy Spirit, and assisted by our presiding elder, Bro. Morehead, and supported by our well-organized laymen and young people, we expect still greater blessings. Come to see us. We love the ADVOCATE and its editor."

Rev. C. H. Pittman, P. C., Hillhouse, Miss., May 25: "This is our second year in this charge. We have four churches, with an aggregate membership of fifty-two. People are scarce, and our congregations are small, yet we make progress on all lines. Our worthy predecessor, Rev. H. T. Cunningham, did a fine work, and made it possible for us to organize for systematic effort. Last year we built a very comfortable parsonage, and it is now furnished and carpeted throughout. In the amount of money raised last year we stand third among the sixteen charges of this district, and our financial record promises as good this year. We have raised more money for the Mississippi Orphans' Home than any charge in the Conference that has reported, and in this we don't count $50 that was given by a member of this charge—Hon. J. H. Sheppard—at Conference. We have raised about $400 towards building a church, half of the regular collections are in hand, and pastor's salary up for the time—in advance of this time last year. Our Sunday schools are doing fine work. There are twenty-three Sunday-school Magazines taken in the charge. Half of the homes have either the Nashville or NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, and some have both. A year ago we organized a W. P. and H. M. Society, and since then it has raised $219 55 It has nine members, the preacher and his wife being two. We also have a pastor's aid that has raised about $50 in the same time. We are growing in grace. Many are changing for the better. The sowing time has been long, but I believe the harvest is near at hand. May God help us to reap and garner aright!"

Rev. A. T. Bell, Daleville, Miss.: "We are very pleasantly situated here, in one of the most commodious parsonages to be found in this district, among a people kind-hearted and liberal. The Lord is blessing our work; our congregations are increasing with every appointment, and great interest is being manifested. I organized a week-night prayer meeting soon after coming here, which is largely attended. Then we have a live Epworth League, organized in March, already yielding good fruit and more than repaying the labor expended on it. Our young people are beginning to speak in public; some have professed conversion, and testify to a deepening of spiritual life and a growth in grace. A few weeks ago the people showed their appreciation of their pastor's efforts for their good by giving us a pounding—nay, there was no pounding about it; it was a wagoning—a large wagon, filled with all kinds of good things, was sent to the parsonage. The present was valuable, but more gratifying than its intrinsic worth was the evidence of good-will and appreciation, the kindly worded address on the list which accompanied the gift, and the fact that every denomination and nearly every household in the town was represented on that wagon. The negro driver said, 'It's mighty good to be a preacher.' Praise the Lord, it is mighty good to believe that God is giving you the good-will of the people—mighty good to feel the uplift of loving hearts beating in unison and sympathy with your own—mighty good to know that you are commissioned by the great God to declare the everlasting gospel of love and peace, and to wipe away tears of penitence and sorrow from the faces of those in distress and anguish. Preach!—why it is the commission of the Eternal Son of God. Wipe away tears!—why it's the province of God himself, for he shall wipe all tears from our eyes. I thank God that I am a preacher. I thank God for all the strange providences and discipline which brought me down low enough for him to lift me up and exalt me to my present happy and glorious vocation. Yesterday we held Children's Day in the large auditorium of the college here. We had a very successful service in every respect. The choir sang well, the recitations were good, and I believe the influence of the service will be lasting. Prof. C. A. Huddlestone, president of the college, delivered an interesting and forcible address. The professor made some very kind allusions to the pastor's work, and urged the community at large to hold up his hands. God grant it may be so! Prof. F. F. Phillips made a most efficient chairman, and altogether we are thankful for the success of the day. Many say that they have never heard such a service. To God be the praise and the glory."

OBITUARIES.

RAINEY — DANIEL GREENBERRY RAINEY was born in Hardaman county, Tenn., Nov. 15, 1851. In his twenty first year he was happily married to Miss Lavinia Proctor, of Tippah county, Miss. When twenty-two years of age he gave his heart to God and his hand to the M. E. Church, South, in which he lived a Christian life until called to the church in heaven, March 30, 1896.

Bro. Rainey was, when called to sleep, the superintendent of the Sabbath school in Amory, Miss. He was a meek, pure man of God, baptized by the Holy Ghost. He knew in whom he trusted, and left a bright testimony which will be a comfort to his loved ones. God bless and keep Sister Rainey and the children to the meeting in our Father's house!

D. L. COGDELL.

FLOWERS—H. C. FLOWERS was born May 16, 1850; died March 27, 1896. He was a true Christian from early childhood. He was married to Miss Lucie Simmons, March 26, 1873. He was a true husband and a faithful worker in the Methodist Church. His death was a shining light to those who stood around his bedside. He fled from this world around the throne of God without a struggle.

The night before he died he sang a few lines of those beautiful hymns, "Jesus, lover of my soul," and "I love thy kingdom, Lord," which were favorite songs of his. His beautiful life and glorious death will live long in our memories. He leaves a devoted wife, an aged father and a number of other relatives and friends to mourn his loss. How we mourn the loss of our loved ones; but what a happy meeting there will be when we all meet around the throne of God, where parting is no more!

HIS NIECE.

FORD—On the night of Oct. 20, 1895, in Jackson, Miss., the spirit of Mrs. MATTIE FORD (nee Gattney) "swept out into the white radiance of eternity." During many weary months of pain never have I seen a more patient and gentle sufferer. God's grace was always sufficient. She was converted in early life in that historic old building, the Methodist Church at Sharon, Miss. Possessing, naturally, a happy blending of lovable qualities, when to these were added the social prestige which wealth, culture, and personal claims confer, and as the crown of all, a conscious religious experience, "Mattie Gattney" became an embodiment of Christian womanhood.

She was happily married to Mr. B. A. Ford, Feb 20, 1872. Their home life was beautiful. "The heart of her husband safely trusted in her," and her children "rise up and called her blessed." Her chief delight was in the Sunday-school, in which she was an active worker till failing health forbade.

A few days before her death she called husband and children to her bedside, and gave them each sweet and solemn words of parting. When the end came so gently did Death lay his hand upon her that the watchers scarce knew "when the weary wheels of life stood still."

MRS. J. S. PARKER.

(Continued on Seventh Page.)

Woman's Work

Is never done, and it is especially wearing and wearisome to those whose blood is impure and unfit properly to sustain the wasting of nerve, muscle and tissue. The only remedy for tired, weak, nervous women is in building up by taking a good nerve tonic, blood purifier and vitalizer like Hood's Sarsaparilla. For troubles Peculiar to Women at change of season, climate or life, take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills do not cause pain or gripe. All druggists. 25 cents.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Rev. W. T. Woodward, of the Louisiana Conference, writes: "Your premium machine came in due time, and has been tested, and gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. Several persons have examined the machine, and pronounce it wonderfully cheap; scarcely any noise and perfect work."

Holman Bible at $1 25.

By buying in wholesale quantities we are able to make the following reduction in our Emerald-type Holman Bible. This Bible we have sold heretofore at $1 50. We now offer it at $1.25 to those who pay their subscription a full year in advance—that is, to June, '97. We do not advise any person who has passed the meridian of life to get this Bible, on account of the smallness of the print. For young persons, however, it will answer as well as the more expensive styles. It has all the helps of the larger sizes. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75 AND $2.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to June, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2 45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for $5—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The ADVOCATE and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1 25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La

DO U ECONOMIZE?

IF SO,

IN WHAT WAY?

Do you think it economy to buy cheap goods? and goods bought by merchants with but little experience? Go to a man of business for business. King has been in the grocery business for years; he knows what kind to buy and where to buy it.

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

T. J. MURRAY,
RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is June, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Works Like a Charm.

RHEUMATISM, INDIGESTION, NERVOUS PROSTRATION AND IRREGULAR ACTION OF THE HEART.

ALL SUCCUMB TO THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE POWERS OF THE ELECTROPOISE.

The Pocket Electropoise worked like a charm. My wife is very much improved. Also, I have treated many other cases with success.
W. H. WATERS,
Telfair, Ark., March 30, 1896.

The Electropoise did me good. I am about well of rheumatism; had it very bad in my hip and knee for three months; could not lay down on the bed, and had to sit in a chair all night. J. A. SCRUGGS.
Blytheville, Ark., April 1, 1896.

I do not wish to be without the Electropoise, as I obtain much relief from it in my affliction. Indigestion, nervous prostration and irregular action of the heart.
REV. T. J. MCCANDLESS.
Webberville, Tex., April 2, 1896.

Parties to whom I have rented Electropoises report good results.
JOS. MURRAY, M. D.
St. Georges, S. C., April 3, 1896.

I have a girl 12 years old under treatment. She has been paralyzed for two years. Has used the Electropoise about two months, and is able to use hands and feet and sit up alone. Before using it she was perfectly helpless.
G. L. TAYLOR.
Nevada, Mo., April 3, 1896.

A book of complete information, together with reduced rental rates on the Pocket Electropoise, will be mailed free to any address.

DuBOIS & WEBB.
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING,
Nashville, Tenn.

PURIFINE.

AN ODORLESS, NON-POISONOUS AND ABSOLUTE DISINFECTANT.

Prepared For Use, 10 cents per Gallon.

Distributing Agents: A. SCHAFFENBURG CO. | J. C. McALLISTER, 1432 Polymnia

TEXAS EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7 25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil) and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Impurities of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving the regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the customs and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free.

CLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich.
Manufacturers of Furniture for Church, Chapel, Sunday Schools and Assembly Rooms

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable. Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,

And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

ESTABLISHED NEARLY HALF A CENTURY.

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Leading Music Store of the South.

All PIANOS and ORGANS

We Sell Have Stood the Test,

The best of Musicians endorse them. Buy no makes that have just lately been put on the market. All catalogues free.

SEND FOR PRICES AND TERMS.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, free.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.
REV. S. B. KENNEY
REV. F. N. PARKER

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. O. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position.	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum

Thursday, June 4, 1896

Seashore District Conference.

It was our privilege to attend the Seashore District Conference during a part of its session, last week, at Moss Point. Presiding Elder Powell was in the chair, holding the reins with a firm hand, giving due attention to every interest. The attendance of laymen was rather small. A few of the pastors were also absent. We will make no attempt at reporting the proceedings, the efficient secretary, Rev. C. F. Emery, having promised an official write-up for our next issue.

The only visiting brother present besides this scribe was Rev. Thomas Lewis Mellen, Missionary Secretary of the Mississippi Conference. We heard an excellent sermon from Bro. Trevilion.

We preached Sunday morning at the Methodist Church, and Sunday night at the Presbyterian Church. Bro. Mellen preached a missionary sermon Sunday night. We heard the sermon spoken of as a most masterly effort.

We were domiciled at the hospitable home of our friend, Bro. L. N. Dantzler. We also enjoyed the hospitalities of Sister M. E. Denny. Moss Point is enjoying great prosperity under the efficient pastorate of Bro. Adams.

The General Conference.

One of the perils of the General Conference lies in the large number of comparatively lucrative places which it has to give out. The element of patronage is a dangerous one in Church or State, unless it is kept under effective safeguards. The elections to the episcopacy and other positions occupied at Cleveland the greater part of eight days, and were the cause of much excitement, delaying the important business of the Conference and giving occasion for the charge that political methods were introduced. We do not know that any of the methods of promoting the candidacy of this or that man for this or that office were morally wrong. We do not know that any unholy combinations were formed; but the temptation to resort to such methods and combinations must be a real one. It was freely said that one of the best men failed of an election to the episcopacy because he had no office to vacate to give additional opportunity to the army of aspirants, and no shrewd managers to promote his candidacy. Is there not great peril in such a situation as this?

A proposition was made that all elections except those for the episcopacy should be taken out of the General Conference and put into the hands of the various Boards of the church, or that the elections to the various General Conference offices should be for life and not for a term of four years. The proposition was not received with much favor; but those who have at heart the continued purity and prosperity of the church should not give up the agitation for this reform until the peril of patronage is removed.

[The above is from an editorial in the New York Independent, on the possible perils of the General Conference.—EDITOR.]

"Sanctification and the Standards: or, Proof on Truth."

The above is the title of a pamphlet of 86 pages from the pen of [illegible] Conference. The title page contains the following: "Behold, ye despisers, and wonder and perish: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall in no wise believe, if one declare it unto you.—God."

The dedication is as follows: "Dedicated to my friend and fellow-laborer in the ministry, Rev. W. W. Hopper, who has suffered with meekness and Christian fortitude many reproaches for preaching after the way which they call heresy the second blessing, or the Methodist doctrine of sanctification."

The aim of the book is (1) to show what the standards of Methodism are; (2) to show that the standards teach the second blessing. The following is its catalogue of the standards: "The Twenty-five Articles of Religion. Wesley's fifty-two doctrinal sermons. Wesley's Notes. Regarded as standard expositors: Watson's Theological Institutes, the Wesleyan Methodist Catechisms, the standard hymn book."

After making numerous quotations from the above-named works, the writer adds: "After such numerous and extended quotations from the established Standards of Doctrine, the reader is surprised that anyone should advocate any other theory as that of Methodism but the second-blessing theory, and most especially that its exponents and those in the experience should be afflicted by those in authority, called cranks and fanatics by others, or just got the first blessing, and many other unchristian cognomenations." (We quote literally.)

We make other quotations as follows: "Churches are closed against them, worthy men are refused admission into the Annual Conference, others are located against their desire, while some of the best talented men in the connection are removed from good appointments to hungry circuits. The reader may marvel at these statements, but they are only too true." "The M. E. Church, South, has degenerated and lost the doctrinal experience of entire sanctification." "In the M. E. Church, South, there are only one or two Bishops at most who teach the doctrine of sanctification as taught in the Methodist standards." "The M. E. Church, South, has something to mourn and pray over when a majority of her Bishops advertise to the world that they never experienced this Bible doctrine of sanctification, and when a majority of the clergy ridicule it as a craze." "These men everywhere spoken against are preaching the cardinal doctrine of Methodism, while the church at large is touching the Lord's anointed, and must answer for her great decline at the judgment seat of Christ." "Suppose paragraph 275 of Discipline was enforced upon all who disseminate, publicly or privately, doctrines contrary to our Articles of Religion or Established Standards of Doctrine. Do we not foresee what the result would be? But those in the experience of sanctification, and who are true to the standards, do not wish to enforce discipline. Neither that any should voluntarily leave. Exhortation the rather is administered that they confess their journey into a far country, arise, and seek the sanctification without which no man shall see the Lord."

The author, however, is willing to throw the mantle of charity over the church, Bishops and all, on the ground of ignorance. He says, "We are persuaded that the most charitable way to think is, they know not what they do."

A strange spectacle this: A youth scarcely out of his teens, an undergraduate in his Conference, writing a book to prove that all our Bishops, except one, or perhaps two, and "a majority of the clergy" are heretics, who are liable to expulsion, and only retained in the church through the clemency of the second-blessing brethren. J. C. Keener, R. K. Hargrove, A. W. Wilson, W. W. Duncan, C. B. Galloway, E. R. Hendrix and J. C. Granbery are preaching doctrines contrary to the Scriptures, and yet are ignorant of the fact, while this lad of three years in the Conference understands the Bible and the doctrines of Methodism so thoroughly that he must write a book for their enlightenment.

The church is called upon to mourn and pray over a want of piety on the part of these, her chief shepherds. Keener, Hargrove, Wilson, Duncan, Galloway, Hendrix and Granbery are in danger of perdition, while J. D. Ellis is journeying heavenward and exhorting them to walk in his footsteps. This brother surely has a marvelous standard. According to the Bible, the standard by which men should be judged is not profession, but practice. "By their fruits ye shall know them." "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my father who is in heaven."

Judged by this standard, who will say that our chief shepherds are found wanting? Do they not keep the commandments? Do they not manifest the fruits of the Spirit in their lives? Lives there a man who will assert that they exhibit less of the mind that was in Christ Jesus than does Rev. J. D. Ellis? But they do not sound a trumpet before them, saying, "Look at me. I am sanctified." And for this reason the church should array herself in sackcloth and ashes, and striplings feel called upon to administer exhortation to them lest they be lost.

We closed the second-blessing controversy in these columns several months ago, after allowing it to go on for nearly a year. We have no intention in what we have here written to reopen the controversy. Those who believe the second-blessing theory are at liberty to do so without attack from us, and without any effort on our part to change their views. But when a publication of this character is sent to us for review, it is, of course, entirely legitimate to give it such notice as we deem it worthy of.

A part of the matter contained in this pamphlet was sent to the ADVOCATE for publication a year or more ago. We did the youthful scribe a favor (unappreciated doubtless) by refusing to publish it. If John Wesley in heaven is cognizant of the affairs of this sublunary sphere, he doubtless realizes more fully than ever before the wisdom of his words of rebuke to Thomas Maxfield: "I dislike your affirming that justified persons in general persecute them that are saved from sin." "I dislike something which has the appearance of pride, of overvaluing yourselves and undervaluing others, particularly the preachers, thinking that not only are they blind, and that they are not sent of God, but even that they are dead—dead to God, and walking in the way to hell; that they are going one way, you another; that they have no life in them; your speaking of yourselves as though you were the only men who knew and taught the gospel, and as if not only all the clergy, but all the Methodists besides, were in utter darkness."

The work is published by the Mississippi Methodist Publishing Company.

Some Reasons for Pastoral Visiting.

One strong reason why a pastor should visit his flock is that it increases his congregations. The old adage, "A house-going preacher makes a church-going people," is no less true than trite. Other things being equal, the pastor who does most visiting during the week will have the largest hearing on Sunday.

Pastoral visiting is also of inestimable value on account of the ties of affection which it creates between the pastor and his flock. Men are so constituted that their profit from the message often depends largely upon their affection for the messenger. To the average man the very same words have much more weight from the lips of one whom he loves than from one he dislikes, or one in whom he has no special interest. The man whom the people know little about and care less will fall far below the highest standard of ministerial success, however grandly he may preach. The pastor should, therefore, visit his people frequently in order to gain their affections as a means of doing them good. The ideal pastor is the man who gets nearest to the hearts of his people. He knows them not only by face and name, but he knows them in their home life, and has their confidence in everything.

Of course, something more than a mere going around is necessary. There must be sympathy, tenderness, tactfulness, and good sense, otherwise the end aimed at will not be gained, however frequent and systematic one's visitations may be.

Another reason in favor of pastoral visiting is the insight it gives into the moral and religious life of the people. The pastor who gets close to his people so that they will talk to him freely, unreservedly, can learn a great deal concerning their spiritual state without their intending thus to reveal themselves. Not only their utterances on religious subjects, but what they say in talking about their personal and family affairs, and about various secular matters, will reveal to a wise pastor a great deal concerning their moral and religious status. The knowledge thus gained is vastly helpful in sermonizing. Every preacher knows better how to preach when he knows the spiritual wants of his congregation. He is then shooting at a target: not firing aimlessly in the air.

Baptist History.

[The following is from a leading Baptist paper.]

"President Whitsitt, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, has been criticised by many Southern Baptists for his statements in an encyclopedia article on Baptist history; and the point which is most frequently urged by the critics is, not that the statements are not true, but that they are contrary to the universal belief of Southern Baptists. Many have openly stated that in their opinion President Whitsitt should resign his position. Now, we have always supposed that a fundamental principle of Baptist belief is impartial investigation, not only of the Bible, but of church history as well, with a desire to gain new light, if any is to be found. A professor of church history in any respectable seminary is expected to teach what he believes to be the truth. If he makes the discovery that at certain times persons who called themselves Baptists practiced sprinkling, or even that there have been times when there were no true Baptists at all, surely he should not continue to teach a sort of 'Baptist succession' that in his opinion can not be proved. Facts are stubborn things, and will stand any amount of investigation. It is more to the point to ask for Prof. Whitsitt's evidence than it is to ask for his resignation. This matter was brought up at the Chattanooga convention, and the relation of the seminary to the convention was defined in a report presented to the body. It was found that the seminary originated independently of the convention, and is not directly responsible to it, though the convention has a share in choosing the trustees. Hence the convention has no power to direct the instruction given in the seminary; and we judge that the Southern Baptists, as a whole, do not desire to muzzle the faculty. Though they may not agree with the president, they believe in his sincerity and scholarship."

"Among the Orientals."

Rev. W. W. Wadsworth, author of the above-named book, for two years a member of the North Mississippi Conference and stationed in Columbus, gives a charming and instructive account of his travels among the Orientals. This book will interest, instruct and edify the reader. If circulated and read, it will do great good. We need information as to the real condition and needs of heathen nations. "Among the Orientals" will enlarge one's range of vision and will fire his soul for missions. The author is brimful of missionary zeal.

Bro. Wadsworth was the traveling companion of Bishop Galloway, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in studying the present condition and pressing needs of the several mission stations that girt our globe.

The book contains five hundred pages, and is printed and bound in the best style of work done at our own Publishing House. It is sold for $1.50 either by Barbee & Smith, Nashville, Tenn., or by Rev. W. W. Wadsworth, Atlanta, Ga.

GILDEROY.

Died, Charles Wesley, infant son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Chambers, May 21, 1896, aged five months. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. May God comfort them! B. F. JONES.

[In common with many friends, we tender our sympathies to Bro. Chambers and his family in this, their hour of sorrow.—EDITOR.]

Bro. Chambers is himself at this writing very sick, brought on, doubtless, by overwork. Let the church pray for his speedy recovery.

B. F. JONES.

Brookhaven, Miss.

"On the Wing."

I have just read "On the Wing" by Dr. S. A. Steel. I consider it an excellent book for our young people. Here in this little book of [illegible] hundred pages they will learn more of our cities, churches, preachers and church work than many of them will learn for years from other sources.

J. W. HONNOLL.

General Conference Notes.

The report of the Committee on Constitution, after being discussed for two days, was referred to a commission which is to report to the next General Conference. The commission consists of six preachers, six laymen and three Bishops. The point of disagreement is equal representation of the laity with the clergy in the General Conference. It seems strange to Southern Methodists that this point should be so hotly contested. Laymen have had equal representation in our church for thirty years, and so far they have shown no revolutionary tendencies. But there are differences between the North and the South; and it may be that the ministry of the M. E. Church have just cause for their opposition to an enlargement of lay influence in the General Conference. We are not sufficiently informed to express an opinion on the subject.

The report of the Committee on Insurance, which was adopted by an overwhelming majority, provides for the insurance of church property through a Church Insurance Company, whose affairs are to be conducted by an Insurance Board of fifteen members selected from different sections. The advocates of the measure claim that it will result in a saving of millions of dollars to the church. Time will tell whether this is wise legislation. If it works well in Northern Methodism for a decade or two, it will then be in order for Southern Methodism to do likewise.

Bishop McCabe, it is said, will reside at Fort Worth, Texas instead of New Orleans, thus leaving New Orleans without a Bishop.

The Conference adjourned on May 28.

NOTES.

Dr. Tigert is said to have been at his best at Rayne Memorial, Sunday morning.

* * *

What do we live for, if it is not to make life less difficult for each other? —George Eliot.

* * *

Bishop Keener's sermon, on Sunday morning, at Carondelet is spoken of as a very able one.

* * *

Not being able to attend the Epworth League Conference, we engaged the services of Bro. H. H. Ahrens to write up the proceedings.

* * *

The Supreme Court of the United States sustains the constitutionality of the Georgia law prohibiting the running of freight trains on Sunday.

* * *

We are pained to record the death of Mrs. Gabrielle Barnes Wilkinson, wife of Hon. W. C. Wilkinson, of Crystal Springs, Miss., which occurred last Sabbath.

* * *

Rev. L. F. Jackson, while in the city attending the League Conference, honored our sanctum with a visit. He is jubilant over the results of his recent revival.

* * *

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Tigert, wife of our Book Editor, delivered a very able and entertaining address to the Parsonage and Home Mission Society, at Rayne Memorial.

* * *

Rev. J. H. Pritchett, D. D., will preach the commencement sermon for Central Female College, Lexington, Mo., June 7. Rev. E. E. Hoss, D. D., will deliver the address.

* * *

The commencement sermon of Sillman Institute will be preached Sunday, June 7, by Rev. J. W. Walden, D. D., of New Orleans, La. The annual address will be delivered by Hon. Chas. E. Fenner.

* * *

Bishop Bowman, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, bears the high honor of having largely influenced the opening of the first university to women. He was president of Asbury (now De Pauw) University at the time, and by his earnest conviction and strong personality carried the day in favor of the women students.—Zion's Herald.

Rev. J. G. Sibley, of Vancleave circuit, Mississippi Conference, has surrendered his credentials with a view of joining the Baptist Church. We wish him a safe journey by the water route.

* * *

Rev. W. G. Evans let the light of his countenance shine into the ADVOCATE office a few days since. He is in the midst of a pleasant and prosperous pastorate at Pattorson. Every interest of the church is flourishing.

* * *

Rev. H. W. Wallace called at the ADVOCATE office recently en route to Port Vincent to assist the pastor, Bro. Hamil, in a meeting. He reports very gratifying progress in his work, the French Mission, which was established at the last session of the Louisiana Conference.

* * *

Our Review takes high rank among periodicals of its class. Dr. Tigert deserves the thanks of the church for the service he has rendered in extending its circulation and improving its quality. It should be in the hands of all our preachers and our leading laymen as well.

* * *

Ex-President Harrison's articles have proved such an enormous success with The Ladies' Home Journal, adding over 100,000 to the circulation of the magazine, that the series will be extended beyond the original limit. The ex-President has now reached the treatment of "The President's Official Family" in his series, describing the relation which each Cabinet member holds to the President. Then he will show "How the Senate Works" and "How Congress Legislates"—each in a separate article.

* * *

The General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, at its recent session in Kansas City, took action prohibiting the use of tobacco to all its members as well as its ministers. The Free Methodists, we believe, do the same. The big M. E. Church is, therefore, at the rear end of the procession. It simply forbids ministers to use the weed, provided they were not already in the traveling connection when the new departure was taken. Members can smoke and chew and spit as much as they like.

* * *

There is a Christian Endeavorer in the West who is a railroad conductor. In his train he has placed a [illegible] per-rack, which he keeps supplied with religious literature. Those papers have afforded him an opportunity for personal work with the passengers. Fellow-workmen and a number of passengers, including several traveling salesmen, have been led into the better life. All but one of the members of the crew on this train are Christians, and among them is a male quartette. While the train is waiting for orders at stations, the men have gospel song services, which many persons gather to hear.

* * *

All comparisons of Christianity with other religions of the world bring into clearer relief its unique and absolutely supreme character. Dr. Marcus Dods, after noticing the sacred books of China and India and Arabia, as well as the Egyptian "Book of the Dead," says: "Our Bible, by revealing to us the union of God and man in Christ, is set altogether apart from all other sacred books. I heartily endorse the words of Prof. Monier Williams, when he says, 'Pile them, if you will, on the left side of your study table, but place your own Holy Bible on the right side, all by itself, all alone—and with a wide gap between.'"

* * *

An accusation of immorality having been brought against Rev. D. C. Foust, of the North Mississippi Conference, his presiding elder, Rev. J. H. Mitchell, appointed an investigating committee, consisting of J. C. Park, R. P. Goar and W. D. McCullough. The committee met at Enpora on Tuesday, May 26, and suspended him until the Annual Conference, which meets in Greenville in November. For the benefit of those of our readers who are not posted in such matters, we will state that such a suspension is not intended as a punishment of the accused. It simply means that a trial is adjudged necessary. As the trial can not be had until the Annual Conference meets, the law provides that in such a case the accused must be suspended from all ministerial functions until Conference meets.

MUL-EN-OL

unlike other pain remedies, is free from red pepper, turpentine or ammonia, and can be safely applied to the sorest spot without fear of it creating inflammation. It is cooling and soothing; goes directly to the sore place whether it is external or internal, and gives prompt relief. Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Cuts, Sprains, Bruises, Burns, can all be cured with Mul-en-ol. It always

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

CURES PAIN

State Epworth League Conference of Louisiana.

ur Annual Conference has been a ss. The attendance was large. interior of our State was well esented. The Epworth League ement received a new impetus.

hursday evening, May 28, the ference convened in Caron- Street Church. Our able genial president, Mr. W. M. n, presided. His annual report very encouraging. The addresses welcome succeeded. The writer the first speaker. He was soon shadowed by the addresses of of Louisiana's most gifted hters, Misses Addie S. McKnight Alma Sawtelle. The response Rev. W. G. Evans, pastor of Patonville, was very felicitous.

v. Louis A. Reed, the Nestor of Louisiana Conference, who had ed the meeting with devotional ises, in conclusion pronounced usual benediction.

Friday we had a feast of reason a flow of soul. Rev. J. F. Fos- pastor of Jackson, La., led the se prayer meeting. It was well ded. Ten o'clock the clans ered from every part of the city. eligious exercises were led by J. J. Kelly, pastor of Ponchatoula. F. N. Parker presided over the cations of the morning session. subject of domestic missions was discussed by the president, Rev. Henry, pastor of Moreau Street ch; Rev. T. L. Lallance, pastor Choupitoulas Mission, and Rev. Parker, pastor of Dryades Street ch. The needs of our State and needs of suffering humanity were uently set forth.

he news that eminent divines other States would speak on stian education secured a house for the evening session. S. J. Davies, pastor of Felicity t Church, presided. His tact urbanity charmed the audience. W. G. Evans opened the meet- with prayer. The first speaker Rev. W. B. Murrah, D. D., presi- of Millsaps College, of Jackson, He instructed, informed, en- ged, enthused, inspired. The or avoids wordy pyrotechny. He tical, yet elegant and charm- his discourses. The next speaker Dr. W. W. Smith, of Lynch- Va., than whom there is none successful and better informed Christian educator. He handled ubject in a masterly way. For than an hour the Doctor's vivid y kept the audience spell- d. The hearers received much fit.

e announcement of necessary mittees and benediction brought meeting to a close.

mptly at 10 o'clock, on Satur- the Conference again assembled. J. E. Denson, pastor of Craps t Church, conducted the devo- Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D., ded. Dr. W. H. LaPrade, pas- of Shreveport, was the chief ker. His theme was "The Out- of the Literary Department of pworth League." The eloquent ker gave proof of his extraordi- acumen and versatility. He ed out existing difficulties and way to overcome them. The ers deemed it a great privi- to listen to the learned Doctor's utterances. Dr. John T. Sawyer, ding elder of the New Orleans ct, took the place of an absent ker and dwelled enthusiastically profitably on "Methodist Fath- of America." He was followed arious speakers, including Bishop er, Judge L. H. Estes, of Mem- Tenn.; Rev. R. H. Wynn, pas- of church in Algiers; Rev. J. M. y, and Dr. Lambuth, of Nash- All shed further light on the ct so successfully elaborated by LaPrade. Next followed highly esting reports from the different ces represented.

The evening session was profitable indeed! Mr. W. B. Thomson presided. Rev. J. B. Kent, pastor of Covington, La., led the devotional exercises. Prof. W. H. Goodale, of State University at Baton Rouge, dwelled on "The Obligations of Citizenship." His oration was inimitable, unique, instructive, and surcharged with holy patriotism. Judge Estes, of Memphis, Tenn., next dwelled eloquently on "The League's Relation to Reform Movements." The Judge is a clear thinker and an effective speaker. Dr. J. L. Purser, of this city, now edified the audience by a most excellent treatise on the fourth commandment. The leaguers highly appreciated his remarks.

The election of officers of the State Conference for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, W. M. Sloan; vice-presidents, Rev. H. H. Ahrens, A. H. Mayo, A. Riggs; recording secretary, Miss A. S. McKnight; corresponding secretary, Miss Alma Sawtelle; treasurer, W. H. Prescott.

Sunday's exercises were very impressive. Rev. L. F. Jackson, pastor of Alexandria, led the sunrise prayer meeting. At 9:30 Rev. J. W. Edgell, local preacher of Parker Chapel, conducted a love-feast. Bishop Keener preached at eleven o'clock the Conference sermon to a crowded house. Other clerical delegates and visitors filled the various Methodist pulpits.

The evening session was largely attended and proved eminently successful. Rev. Wm. Schulle, pastor at Rosedale, led the religious exercises. Dr. J. T. Sawyer—a fitting arrangement — presided. Foreign missions was the theme for discussion. For this Dr. J. J. Tigert, D.D., LL.D., Book Editor of our church, and Rev. J. W. Lambuth, D. D., Missionary Secretary, were in attendance; and well did they preform their task. To speak in commendation of their orations would be supererogation.

Dr. W. H. LaPrade, and Brothers John F. Foster, Lyman F. Jackson, W. H. Latham and W. W. Carre were appointed field secretaries.

The Conference pledged itself to the support of a missionary in foreign fields.

Good singing was the special feature of the various sessions of the Conference. Mr. T. O. Adams made himself eminently useful as leader of the choir.

The Executive Committee will arrange for the place of the next annual convocation. The leaguers seemed to be in favor of Shreveport.

Various visitors, not mentioned above, honored the Conference with their presence. Among them were Bros. S. S. Keener, Houston Armstrong and Harry W. Rickey.

H. H. A.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted by the second Quarterly Conference of Percy's Creek charge, Natchez district, Mississippi Conference, May 17, 1896:

Whereas, We have just learned of the sad bereavement of our beloved presiding elder, Rev. L. S. Jones, by the sudden death of his son.

Resolved, That we hereby tender to Bro. Jones and family our sincere sympathy and condolence, and pray that the great Head of the church may graciously sustain them in their great trial.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the Minutes of this Conference, and a copy be sent to Bro. Jones, and that a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

M. J. MILLER, P. C., Pres.
C. W. DAVIS, Sec.

Notice.

Please state for the convenience of brethren who desire me to assist them in meetings through Summer and Fall that my permanent address will be Clinton, Miss., until Conference.

CHAS. W. CRISLER.

Notice.

All applicants to the Arcadia District Conference for license to preach or for recommendation to the Annual Conference for admission on trial into the traveling connection, will please meet the committee for examination at the Methodist Church in Arcadia, on Wednesday, July 8, at 11 o'clock.

ROBERT RANDLE, Chair. Com.
Arcadia, La.

Notice.

Will all the preachers of the Shreveport district please send me the names of all members of the District Conference which convenes here on July 2; also let all the delegates to the Woman's Annual Meeting of the Louisiana Conference Society notify me of their coming, as the meeting comes at the same time the District Conference meets. We hope that the editor of the ADVOCATE can be with us.

B. T. CREWS.
Mansfield, La.

Notice.

The following committees have been appointed for my District Conference:

For License to Preach and Admission on Trial—S. S. Keener, J. P. Haney, G. D. Anders.

For Deacon's Orders—J. F. Foster, J. J. Kelly, F. D. Van Valkenburgh.

For Elder's Orders—T. J. Upton, H. R. Singleton, J. F. Wynn.

We will be delighted to have you, Mr. Editor, with us. Can't you come?

R. W. TUCKER.
Jackson, La., May 29, 1896.

Millsaps College Commencement.

The preachers of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences are cordially invited to attend the Millsaps College commencement. Homes will be provided for all who will give notice of their coming.

W. L. C. HENNICUTT,
A. F. WATKINS.

NINETY PER CENT. of all the people need to take a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla at this season to prevent that run-down condition of the system which invites disease.

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

Summer Normal School.

The Summer Normal School, which begins in Meridian, Miss., June 10, will hold its sessions in East Mississippi College buildings. We are prepared to accommodate 40 boarders in the dormitory of the college.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.
Meridian, Miss.

This Person Made Money.

Dear Sir—I take my pen in hand to tell you what I did in the Dish Washer business. This Spring I saw a Dish Washer advertised and sent and got one. A. B. Dawson, Columbus, Ohio, said he would exchange my dish washer for the Queen if I would put it in my kitchen and show my neighbors how it washed dirty dishes, vegetables, silverware and clothing in one minute without putting my hands in the water. They all saw it was the best machine and I sold three the same day. The whole neighborhood is worked up over the success of the Queen, and I want any of your readers who have not made a success in the Dish Washer business to know what I have done. I can make easy $21 a week, $84 a month, for five years to come with the Queen, as everybody wants one. My sister got a sample Queen, free, and she is doing as good as I have. Mr. Dawson referred me to the Cardington Bank, the Mt. Gilead Bank and the Quaker City Bank, which shows he is responsible. Anyone who wants to make money should write to the address as above.

Some students of criminal statistics have suggested that much of the crime that is committed is done through autohypnotic suggestion. A person broods and broods over a deed until he becomes fascinated, hypnotized by his idea, and the act becomes almost a necessity to him. At a recent conference of medical men it was agreed that the accounts of crimes and suicides in the newspapers were responsible for many catastrophes. Crime was suggested. There may be more in the theory than appears at first sight.—Christian Standard.

Agents Wanted.

For Manual of Bible Geography. A volume of the intensely interesting pages of Diagrams, Maps, Illustrations, and Descriptions of the Holy Land. Should be in every Christian home. An invaluable help to Bible readers. Cloth cover, $2.75. Liberal terms. Address

RAND, MCNALLY & CO., Chicago.

FOR

Biliousness, Dyspepsia, SICK HEADACHE, WEAK STOMACH,

—AND ALL—

Disorders of the Liver.

TESTIMONY.

I have used Brodie's Pills for many years in my family, and have found them invaluable in all cases, and, as a Liver Pill, do not think they have an equal. GEO. H. WILEY.

Sold By All Druggists.

Price, 25c. a Box.

I. L. LYONS & CO., Prop's,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHELL, This Office, Or to Miss P. J. MITCHELL, Biloxi, Miss.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Cottage fronting the Tabernacle. It has undergone thorough repairs and is painted. Water on premises.

For particulars address,

REV. MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,
(New No. 2311 Carondelet St.,
New Orleans, La.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

Read Our Great Premium Offer!

THE STORY OF METHODISM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD,

FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE PRESENT TIME.

This book, by Rev. A. B. Hyde, D. D., is a large octavo, profusely illustrated, and most beautifully bound in silk cloth.

It is a book which should be in every Methodist household. We are making it possible for anyone to afford it. The publisher's price is $3.50. We will send it postpaid for $1.50 to any subscriber who has paid or will pay to June, '97.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans,

Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

Buffalo Lithia Water IN MALARIAL POISONING.

DR. J. T. ATTENBURY, of Estell, Miss.: "I have found BUFFALO LITHIA WATER an invaluable agent in the treatment of Malarious Fevers and their Cachexia and Sequels. Indeed, it is well-nigh specific in diseases of this character, and I believe that persons residing in the most malarious districts might find immunity from Malarious Fevers and their attendant evils from the use of this Water."

DR. Z. M. PASCALL, Oxford, N. C.: "In nothing is the action of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER, Spring No. 1, more remarkable than in malarial poisoning. In this class of disease it is incomparably superior to any other mineral water of which I have any knowledge. In Chronic Intermittent and Remittent Fevers it is especially efficacious, and it is not unusual that sufferers from these maladies find relief from a visit to these Springs after a failure of all the ordinary resources."

This Water is for sale by druggists generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles, $5.00 f. o. b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent FREE to any address.

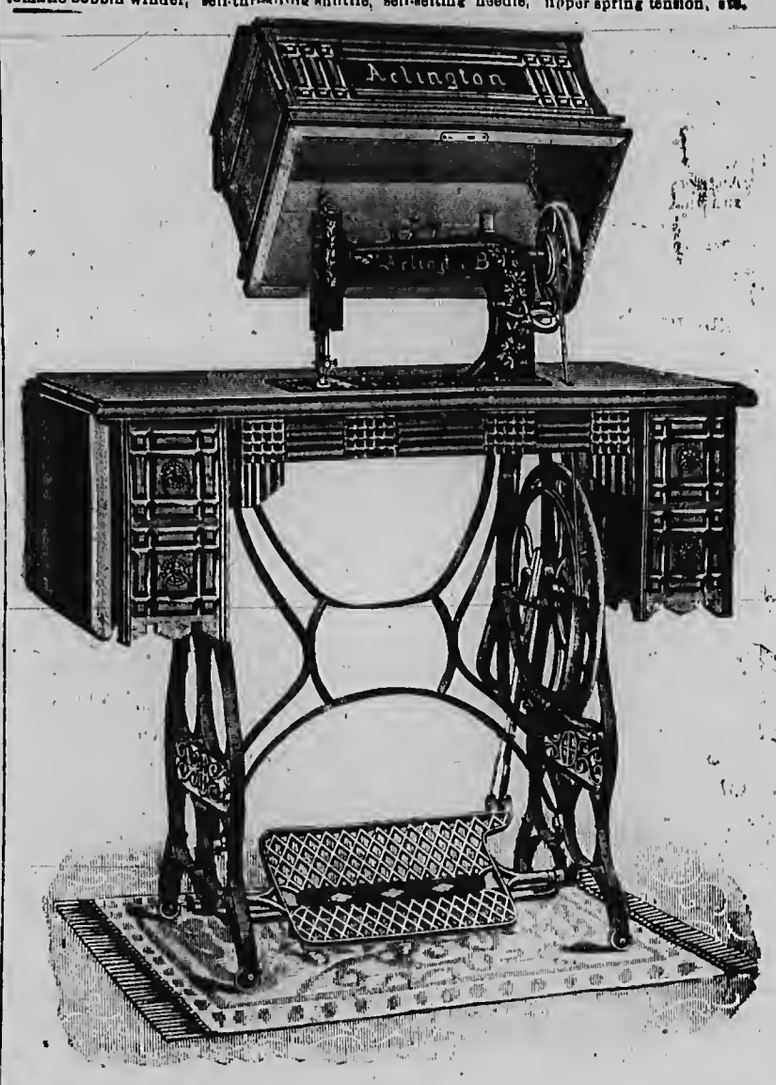
SPRINGS OPEN FOR GUESTS FROM JUNE 15TH TO OCTOBER 1ST.

PROPRIETOR, BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, VIRGINIA,
On the Atlantic and Danville Railroad.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.



"ARLINGTON B."

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high-arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC BOBBIN WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—THE "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOOSE PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-MedineCo?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

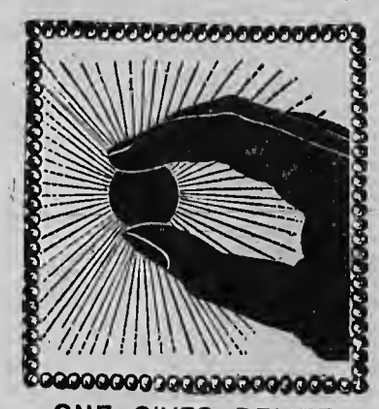
QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO.,
26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Why not be your own Middle-man?

Pay but one profit between maker and user and that a small just one.

Our Big 700 Page Catalogue and Buyers Guide proves that it's possible. Weighs 2¼ pounds, 12,000 illustrations, describes and tells the one-profit price of over 40,000 articles, everything you use. We send it for 15 cents; that's not for the book, but to pay part of the postage or expressage and keep off idlers. You can't get it too quick.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
The Store of All the People
111-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

GOSPEL GRACE

Edited by R. M. McINTOSH.

A rare collection of Hymns and Tunes for Prayer Meetings, Praise Meetings, Experience Meetings, Revivals, Missionary Meetings, Epworth Leagues, and all special occasions of Christian Work and worship.

432 Pages in three editions: Round Notes, Character Notes and Words Only.

MUSIC EDITIONS—Single copy in boards, red edges, postpaid, 60 cents; in cloth, red edges, 75 cents.
Per dozen in boards, red edges, $6.00, not postpaid.
Per dozen in cloth, red edges, $7.80, not postpaid.
WORD EDITION—In boards, 25 cents; in cloth, 30 cents.

ADDRESS
The R. M. McIntosh Co.
Equitable Building. ATLANTA, GA.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE CHILDREN'S BIRTHDAYS.

[Lines written on the twenty-first birthday of Robert Worth Voorhees by his mother. "He was born a prisoner of war."]

O God! forbid that I should tarry here
Until old age had so benumbed my heart
That I forget my children's natal days.
That I forget the little golden heads that,
In their helplessness, learned for support
And comfort on the mother-breast, so ever
Near the heart, whose throbs of love were almost pain.
That I forget the little lily hands that
Never had been soiled by contact with defiling things of earth.
That I forget the tender little feet that Nothing knew of all the slippery paths of life,
Nor of the pitfalls they would surely find along the way.
That I forget the baby lips, upon whose rosy
Surface no taint had ever come, no word of Sin, or sigh of discontent, but to whose smile
Was much of heaven, of purity, and of peace.
That I forget the tender, loving eyes looking
Into mother eyes with so much confidence and rest;
Down in whose depths of love the mother strove
To read of future victories over sin and vice!
O God! what has the future in its hidden store
For these, thy tender lambs?
The serpent's trail has sorely crossed the Pathway of my darling ones. How can I cover
Up the stain, or keep its sting and poisoned fangs from out their hearts?
My Father, I most surely find in Christ (thy well-beloved Son)
A Savior and a Friend; and, although the serpent
Strike its deadly fang in after years, and leave
A stain, the blood of Jesus Christ can Cleanse and cure. And after I have gone
From here, dear Father, may the children walk
Within the pathways of true peace!
God, guide these youthful feet aright, and
When to manhood these dear boys have grown,
And in their strength no longer need the Mother help, and later on in life when Mother's eyes are closed in their eternal
Sleep, and mother's voice no longer warns
Along the slippery ways of life, then, if they Should forget and stray, O Father! watch
Them out upon the mountains steep, or in the Valleys low, of darkness and of sin, and some day
Call the wandering prodigals home to their Father's house.
And when thy jewels thou dost come to Gather up for royal diadem, O count my Children in, that I may spend eternity
With them within the mansion thou hast
Made for me, though not with hands,
"Eternal in the heavens!"

Put on the Check-Rein!

BY REV. THEODORE L. CUYLER.

We are living in a fast age and a fast country. There is need of the brakes as well as of the engine; there are too many young men who understand the whip better than the check-rein. When the upset comes, it is found that the head is softer than the pavement; and perhaps the idea is beaten into that soft head that prudence demanded slower driving.

On a Sabbath afternoon it is quite too common to meet a group of showily-dressed young men whose cigars and noisy talk show the rate at which they are traveling. While wiser young men are at their Bible class, these youths are out on a dress-parade, exhibiting their fast manners and habits to the public. One of the group has chosen the club-house for his Sunday resort, and another tries his good mother's heart sorely by coming home at midnight from the theatre, and a wine supper after it. Before long there will be vacant situations in the business houses where these fast fellows are employed. Prudent merchants do not care to keep in their counting-rooms the clerks who wear too much jewelry and are seen too often at the counter of the fashionable saloons. There is an upset ahead for these young Jehus if they don't put on a check-rein.

Poor Harry Rapid's young wife called in to inquire if I could recommend a "very cheap boarding-house," and knew of any place where her husband could find employment. Her face was as faded as her dress. It would have been well if Harry and his broken-down young wife had looked for plain frugal quarters when they began their matrimonial career. But they set up in ambitious style in a fine "flat," with seal-skin sacques and a box at the opera and a fast horse for the drive to the beach. Now they have been sold out and are glad to hide away in such humble quarters as they can get. I trust that the sharp lesson will not be lost on them. This capsize of their showy turn-out may teach them that when Satan has a seat "on the box" it is a short road to ruin. Extravagance is one of the devil's baits in these days. It does not only break up homes; it breaks hearts. Both sound sense and moral courage are required by young people to conform to their circumstances and live within their means. The next thing is to know how to use money as a sacred trust and not to spend it in gratifying the lust of the eye, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life.

In the same counting-room with Harry Rapid a while ago was young George Surepace. He was considered by his companions as decidedly "slow." Some of his fellow-clerks made sport of his plain tweed coat and his Puritanical ways; they never could induce [illegible] to join one of their clubs, or to go with them to Brighton Beach on Sunday, or to take a game of "poker" over a glass of wine. He married an industrious girl who, instead of studying Paris fashion-plates, studied how to make both ends meet and how to make their cozy house look tidy when husband came home. Mary Surepace will soon be bringing her two rosy children to the Infant Department of the Sunday-school, and George is already the leading man in the Society of Christian Endeavor. The other day he gave a spare ten dollars to his old fellow-clerk, Harry Rapid, in order to aid him in getting his watch out of pawn. I have watched these two young couples; it was the old race between the fast hare and the jogging tortoise; the hare has run himself out of breath and out of character; the slow and careful tortoise has won the race.

It is not only young people who need to put on the check rein in the way that we have just indicated. Older people, yes, and good Christian people, need the check-rein also. Our American business life is one of humming activity, and it brings a tremendous strain on the nerves and muscles and brains. The constant tendency is to feed the engine, crowd on the steam, and neglect the brakes. To these ever-toiling, care burdened men of business, I would venture to say, Do not allow either your worldly ambitions or your honest daily avocations to mount you as a jocky mounts a race horse, and whip and spur you through every waking hour of your existence. They will ride you to death! When your day's work is over, lock up your cares in your store or your shop; go home to your family "out of harness." Turn boy again for your own sake and for the sake of your children. If you work hard to have a home, enjoy it. The best way to keep your sons and daughters out of perilous evening resorts is to make your own fireside bright and attractive; or, if innocent entertainments offer elsewhere, go with wife and children to partake of them. Be the master of your business, and not its slave! If either covetousness or care are overdriving you, put on the check-rein!

One of the besetting snares of these times is to try to grow rich rapidly. "Slow and sure" are out of fashion. In that direction lies peril to the soul. They who make haste to be rich fall into temptations and snares and many hurtful lusts that drown men in perdition! Greed for gold drains away the sweetest and holiest affections of the heart; it dries up Christian benevolence; it robs God of his due. My long observation has been that when money flows in rapidly, grace is apt to flow out; and as a Christian mounts up as to his income, he rarely rises in piety with it. There are some happy exceptions, but they are the men who keep a check-rein on the grasping, greedy spirit of covetousness. My good brother, it is no easy thing to keep up a high tone of spiritual life amid all the atmospheric pressures that surround you; to do it you have got to take time to eat and to think and to read your Bible and to pray and to do some good work for your Master and your fellow-men. If you are running your daily life at too fast a rate for all these vital things, then I entreat you, in God's name to put on the check-rein! — The Evangelist.

Victoria and Her Children.

Her majesty kept the religious instruction of her children largely in her own hands. When Mr. Birch had been appointed tutor to the Prince of Wales, the Queen wrote:

"It is an important step, and God's blessing be upon it; for upon the good education of princes, and especially those who are destined to govern, the welfare of the world, in these days, very largely depends."

The story is told that when the Archdeacon of London was catechising the young Prince, he said:

"Your governess deserves great credit for instructing you so thoroughly." At which the boys piped up:

"Oh, but it is mama who teaches us our catechism." It is not, perhaps, generally known that the Queen occasionally taught a Bible class for the children of those in attendance at Buckingham Palace.

The Princess Royal when a child, and the Prince of Wales, too, needed the curb occasionally. Once the Princess, at a military review, was [illegible] with some officers of the escort, and took no notice of warning looks from the Queen. Finally she dangled her handkerchief over the side of the carriage and dropped it intentionally. There was a rush of young officers to pick it up, but the Queen bade them desist, and turning to the Princess, said in a stern voice:

"Now, pick up your handkerchief yourself." There was no help for it; the young Princess, with flaming cheeks and a saucy toss of her head, did as she was told.

Another time it was "Prinoie" who received a wholesome lesson. He was riding in company with his father, and for once forgot his usual politeness and neglected to acknowledge the salute of a passer-by. Prince Albert, observing it, said:

"Now, my son, go back and return that man's bow," and he had to do it.—Observer.

No Room for Drunkards.

There is very little room in the modern business and industrial world for the drunkard or habitual tippler. Sober men are wanted and the man who can not or who does not keep sober finds it difficult to rise to responsible positions. The Washington Post very truly says: "It is becoming more and more difficult for a tippler—and almost impossible for a toper—to get a situation under any corporation. Banks, insurance companies, merchants and business men generally, demand temperance as a qualification for their employees. The doctor or lawyer who drinks to excess finds that his business is decaying. The teacher who frequents saloons soon finds his occupation gone. Not many years ago there were notorious drunkards in Congress, but this nuisance has been greatly abated. The Legislatures of all the States show a similar change. Public sentiment is becoming less and less tolerant of inebriety."—Knoxville Tribune.

Charles H. Spurgeon's Experience.

When I was just fifteen I believed in the Lord Jesus, was baptized, and joined the church of Christ. This was twenty-five years ago, and I have never been sorry for what I then did; no, not even once.

I have had plenty of time to think it over, and many temptations to try some other course, and if I had found out that I had been deceived, or had made a gross blunder, I would have made a change before now, and would do my best to prevent others from falling into the same delusion.

I tell you, boys, the day I gave myself up to the Lord Jesus, to be his servant, was the very best day of my life. Then I began to be safe and happy, then I found out the secret of living, and had a worthy object for life's exertions and an unfailing comfort for life's troubles.

Because I wish every boy to have a bright eye, a clear head, a joyful heart, and overflowing spirit, I plead with him to consider whether he will not follow my example; for I speak from experience.

Ears to Hear.

When God speaks man should listen. If children are filial the voice of the parent falls on ears attent; if citizens are loyal they ponder the words of their rulers. God is to men more than father or mother, more than president or king. The present and future of a child or of a country may be involved in giving heed to the lessons addressed to them: the life that now is and the life that is to be depend upon the way we receive God's commands.

Awarded Highest Honors,
World's Fair.

DR.
PRICE'S CREAM
BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.
Free from Ammonia Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

Fruit as Food and Medicine.

As a medicine, I look upon fruit as a most valuable ally. When the body is in that hurrying up condition known as scurvy, the whole medical profession look upon fruit and fresh vegetables as the one and only known remedy. I believe the day will come when science will use it very much more largely than it does now in the treatment of many of the every-day ailments. Impure blood means gout, rheumatism, skin diseases, rickets, and other troubles. As it is proved that fruit will purify and improve the quality of the blood, it must follow that fruit is both food and medicine combined. In fevers I use grapes and strawberries, giving them to my patients in small, but frequent doses—oranges and baked apples, if the others are not obtainable. For rheumatism plenty of lemons are invaluable. White girls, with miserable, pallid complexions, want a quart of strawberries a day; where these are not obtainable, bananas, which contain much iron, are a good substitute. Probably, of all fruits, the apple stands unrivaled for general purposes in the household; either raw or cooked it can be taken by nearly everybody, and it contains similar properties to the other more delicate fruits. To my mind the pear is more easily digested than the apple, and for eating uncooked is superior to it. Dried fruits should be used when green can not be obtained. If soaked for a few hours before cooking they make a capital substitute for fresh fruit and they come cheaper to the consumer. For preserving fruit I look upon bottling in glass bottles as the coming thing. Not by the use of chemicals, such as salicylic and boracic acids and the various preservatives made from them, but simply by protecting it after cooking from the fermentative germs in the atmosphere. It keeps for years, turns out even more palatable than green fruit, is equally digestible and contains all the virtues of fresh cooked fruit. Canned fruit is not so good; the acid of the fruit dissolves up tin and lead from the tin, and I have seen very serious cases of illness as a result. Besides, fruit should be sold much cheaper in bottles than in tins, as the bottle can be returned and used again. — Popular Science Monthly.

Dr. Danet, a leading French physician, in a paper on the reign of alcohol among the principal modern nations, says: "Its ravages are almost as terrible among us as they are among the English and Irish. In France every sixth suicide has been committed in a state of intoxication. One-half of the liver complaints, two-thirds of the diseases of the kidneys, and one-fifth of the various forms of insanity have been produced by the use of alcoholic liquors."

THE CUISINE.

HOUSEKEEPER BY L. A. B.

CHICKEN SALAD.—Measure the meat, from which every last bone has been picked. (If "short" of chicken, piece out with lean fresh pork, boiled until very tender.) Add double the quantity of cabbage, celery, and lettuce, equal parts. Mix thoroughly and over all turn the liquor, or so much of it as is needed, in which the chicken was cooked. Chop in coarse pieces two hard-boiled eggs for each quart of the mixture. Salt to taste. Set away in a cool place (in earthenware or glass) until ten or fifteen minutes before wanted. Mix thoroughly with the following: For each quart of salad allow two eggs, well-beaten; a tablespoon of melted butter (salad oil if preferred), a teaspoon of mustard, and a cup of vinegar. Stir the mustard smooth, with a little of the vinegar; add the rest, and the eggs with a pinch of salt and the butter. Cook slowly, so as not to curdle. Use it cold.—Exchange.

BANANA CAKE.—Two cups sugar, one-half cup butter, whites of three eggs, one cup milk, two cups flour. Flavor and bake in thin layers. Put icing on each layer, spread banana cut into thin rings upon the icing, and thus continue until sufficient number of layers are arranged. You can, if you wish, ice the cake all over.—Selected.

Love enlarges and promotes faith; for we are more apt to believe in those we love than in those we do not.—Episcopal Recorder.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of [illegible]
Prof. W. H. P[illegible] who makes a specialty of Epilepsy without doubt ed and cured cases that [illegible] ing sicia succ asto ing. We heard of cases of 20 years' sta cured by him. He publishes a able work on this disease, whi sends with a large bottle of his lute cure, free to any sufferer may send their P. O. and Expre dress. We advise anyone wish cure to address
Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH,

Chicago Limited.
No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6.50
Solid; Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with man Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.
No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20
Through Pullman service to Memphis Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.
No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 9:30

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexc[illegible]
Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common
W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass.

Yazoo & Mississippi Val[illegible]
RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STAT[illegible] Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	[illegible]
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	[illegible]
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	[illegible]

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orl[illegible] to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memp[illegible]

Direct and favorite route to North Loui[illegible] and Arkansas. Only line through th[illegible] Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pas.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R

TO Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washingt[illegible]
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinn[illegible]
AND TO ALL POINTS

North, -:- Eas[illegible]
North-East,
AND South-Eas[illegible]

90 MILES SHORTEST
To CINCINNA[illegible]
AND
THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepe[illegible]

Full information cheerfully furnished application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A. New Orleans, L[illegible]

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Growe[illegible]

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A pure vegetable and positively harmless compou[illegible] Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it
Price, 50 cents per package, or three for [illegible]
Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY CO[illegible] PANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.
EPPS'[illegible]
GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
COCO[illegible]
BOILING WATER OR MILK.

urch
Organs

e by the Mason & Hamlin re the finest in the world.
e have them at prices from
p. They can not be equaled ne or delicacy of touch.
rite for catalogue and par-
rs.
UDDEN & BATES S. M. H.,
AL STREET, - New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Abbie Hellen Wier.

Abbie Hellen Wier, wife of W. W. Wier, of Anniston, Ala., born in Beaufort, N. C., about ear 1826. Her death on the of October, 1895, closed the career of a life beautiful and Her maiden name was Abbie When a child she came with arents to Mobile, Ala., and in ity of warm hearts she grew up manhood. While yet a child rofessed conversion and joined anklin Street Methodist Church, rly known as "the Old Bee eral years ago Dr. H. D. Moore, for the Alabama Advocate n of Methodism in Mobile, that the first infant class was in 1839, and Miss Abbie Hel- the teacher. But little more a girl herself, yet so winsome ught, so consistent and true young life, that to her was the religious training of der little children of the Sun- ol. This position she ap- have held for a number of perhaps to the time of her ge. With her sister, Mrs. Hellen, who was for some years superintendent of Franklin Sunday-school, she exerted a influence for good both in the and in the Sunday-school. A of her earlier years, who en- intimate associations with her says: "She was one of the est and most attractive Chris- I ever knew." Her home life autiful; its atmosphere genial indly. The widowed mother, rs and sisters seemed united by s of tenderest affection, and to the happiness of one another. ght up under the influence of cial and religious environ- the subject of this sketch de- a character beautiful and true ractive by many amiable virwas happily married, Dec. 9, William W. Wier, a son of Rev. William Wier, of the n Conference. The husband, the war between the States, the Southern cause, endured olships and perils of a soldier's s promoted to the rank of ant colonel, and only laid his sword with the surrender of nfederate armies. Left alone this trying period to care for tle children and manage her affairs, the wife and mother ed herself heroically, and a murmur, to the arduous of her position, and waited ly and hopefully for the storm to pass over.

all the vicissitudes of our comparatively long life she even tenor of her way, and ined an undeviating devotion to her husband, her children, friends. She was gentle in quiet and unobtrusive in man- nd her voice, responsive to the ness of her spirit, was low and never heard in high and in- ed tones, and yet she was courageous, and true. In the ircle she held the scepter of a away. She looked well to the s her household; the heart of band could safely trust in her; ildren could rise up and call ssed, and in her tongue was of kindness. Her ready wit dly humor were like flashes shine, brightening the home, g and holding as friends ho came within the charmed of her social life.

In an appropriate tribute her pastor, Rev. F. P. Culver, of Anniston, Ala., says: "Sister Wier was as free from sellishness as anyone I have ever known. She lived not for herself, but for others..... Distress and suffering awoke in her the keenest sympathy. She was never more happy than when her feet were busy upon missions of mercy..... She died as she lived—amid the triumph of the Christian faith. As gently as a child falls to sleep on its mother's breast, so she closed her eyes and 'fell on sleep.'"

Her husband, three sons and two daughters live to cherish her precious memory, and to feel the impress of her beautiful life. She being dead, yet speaketh. T. C. WIER.

OBITUARIES.

(Continued from Third Page.)

We publish obituaries of 200 words free of charge; for all over this, one cent per word must be sent. If you want the notice to appear in its order, comply with this rule. Count the words and send one cent for each word over 200. Poetry excluded from this column.

MORROW—Died in Wesson, Miss., May 22, 1896, Mrs. NEVA CARNES MORROW, wife of John C. Morrow, aged twenty-two years.

Converted in childhood and entirely sanctified more than a year ago, she passed away in the triumphs of Christian faith.

T. L. MELLEN.

LUMLY—Died in Yazoo county, Miss., Sunday, April 5, 1896, of rheumatism of the heart, W. W. LUMLY. Bro. Lumly was born in Jefferson county, Miss., Oct. 13, 1812, where he grew up to manhood. December 18, 1850, he married Miss Lucy Jane Lewis, of Murfreesborough, Tenn., and soon after settled in Yazoo county, Miss., where he lived until his death. There were born unto them eleven children, nine of whom lived to be grown, and with their now bereaved mother are experiencing the loss of a kind father.

Bro Lumly joined the M. E. Church, South, soon after his marriage, at old Hickory Grove Church, in Yazoo county, Miss., and ever afterwards lived a devoted Christian and member of the Methodist Church.

He was an honored member of both the Free Masons and the Odd Fellows fraternity, and the Masonic Lodge of which he was a member and officer passed most complimentary resolutions as to his official capacity in the Lodge, and the most beautiful eulogy upon the occasion of his death it has ever been my privilege to read—an evidence of the high esteem in which he was held in all the relations of life. He was simply loyal and devoted to his obligations as husband and father, as a Christian and a Methodist, as a Mason and Odd Fellow, as a citizen and neighbor and friend. In purity of character he stood almost without a peer in Yazoo county.

The world is richer to-day by his having lived in it. How he will be missed at Mt. Olivet Church! He has joined the church above, where all is love. We laid his body to rest in Mt. Olivet Cemetery to rest in hope until the resurrection of the just. May great grace rest upon the bereaved ones!

F. M. WILLIAMS.

ADAMS—SWAYZE MAGLINDA, daughter of Bro. and Sister T. W. Adams died at one o'clock P. M. on May 20, after a painful illness of seventy-six days, aged eight years one month and twenty-seven days.

She manifested remarkable Christian fortitude and patience through her entire illness.

She joined the church in March, 1895, a few days before she was seven years old, giving very satisfactory evidence of her acceptance with God then and during the remainder of her short Christian course, particularly through the severe ordeal of its close.

Remarkably loving and amiable in her disposition, she was ever ready to give vent to her devotion to her parents. She prized the privilege of sacramental occasions, and often expressed regret during her illness that she could not partake of the Lord's Supper with his people. The Sabbath before her decease Bro. Byers, assisted by her father, administered it to her in her sick chamber.

Our beloved pastor and family have the sincere condolence of his congregation, the community, and this writer. May their hearts be comforted by "the God of all," who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God! She is not dead, but only gone before. WM. T. HEALL.

MERCHANT—At a meeting of the second Quarterly Conference, Enterprise district, Laurel and Ellisville charge, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That with deep sorrow we learn of the death of our beloved brother, DAVID MERCHANT; but trusting in the wisdom and goodness of that God who giveth and taketh away, we submissively bow to his righteous will.

Resolved, That his death has bereaved society of a law abiding citizen, his family of a devoted husband and father, the church of an exemplary member, and our Conference of a God-fearing and God-loving minister.

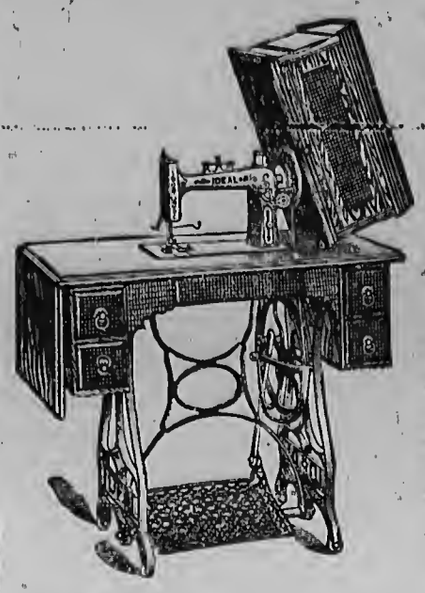
Resolved, That we offer our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family, earnestly commending the example of his Christian faith, and praying God's comforts and blessings to continue with them.

Resolved, That one copy of these resolutions be sent to his family for condolence, and another to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication. E. J. TAYLOR,
L. STAINTON,
Committee.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

However busy we may be, God will not work a miracle to save us from spiritual degeneration if we neglect our private devotions.—Young Men's Era.

All Skin Disorders
from simple Pimples to obstinate Eczema and Tetter can be quickly and permanently cured by the simple application of
HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.
It makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy, producing a clear and brilliant complexion.
50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia.



The Dixie Sewing Machine Works
Can make your old machine as good as new. No matter how old or how much worn All worn-out parts are taken out and replaced with new ones; the machine is adjusted as perfectly as a new machine.
Machines can be
Japaned and Ornamented,
making the Machine work the same as new. All work is guaranteed for 5 years, and if not satisfactory, will be repaired Free of Charge during that time. We have a lot of
- Rebuilt Machines -
for sale. Price, from $7 to $12, with attachments. We handle New Machines, Standard Makes, prices ranging from $18 to $35, with all attachments. We invite investigation. We will allow 30 days trial on our new Machines, and will be glad to open correspondence with those in need of one. We handle Needles, Shuttles, Attachments, Oils, Parts, etc., for all makes of Machines. We solicit mail orders.
Yours respectfully
Dixie Machine Works,
P. O. Box 101. WINONA, MISS.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING
CHURCH BELLS CHIMES and PEALS In The World.
PUREST BELL METAL. (Copper and Tin.)
Send For Price and Catalogue.
E. A. HANK BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD

BELLS
Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
E. W. VANDUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.
CHURCH BELLS PEALS AND CHIMES.
Best Improved Yoke and Friction Rollers. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

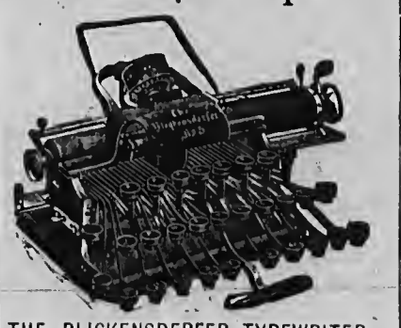
BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

CAPON Springs and Baths
Alkaline Lithia Water. Bathe any temperature. Also superior iron water. Convenient to reach. Secure rooms early at the coolest, healthiest, pleasantest place in this country at which to spend the summer and fall months. The best medical service should it be needed. Write for terms. W. H. SALE, Capon Springs, W. Va.

F. R. Hardon,
Millinery,
Old No. 29 Chartres Street—New 139.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

LOUISIANA POULTRY YARDS,
We are now ready to ship eggs for hatching, from 23 varieties. Pure Bred fowls. Young cocks for sale. Write for prices to
J. M. GOSLIN.
Ruston, La.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.
PRICE, $35.00 WEIGHT, 6 LBS.
Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT,
Cheneyville, La.
C. H. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
807 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST
Photographs
—GO TO—
-SIMON'S,-
929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle,
CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,
Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,
TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,
Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,
WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,
Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER MATCHEZ ALLEY.

L. S. WIDNEY. DAVID ZABLE.
WIDNEY & ZABLE,
COAL, HAY, CORN, OATS and BRAN,
Coal Coke and Wood Yard and Feed Store.
MAGAZINE, NEAR VALENCE STREET.
Main Office: HENNEN BUILDING, No. 802 Common Street, NEW ORLEANS

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,
Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite... Coke.
Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS

W. W. CARRE,
=LUMBER,=
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Minion, 8vo. Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels; Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"

We handle this Bible in three styles, as follows: Minion Type, $1.75; Bourgeois Type, $2.45; Emerald Type, $1.25. (The Minion Type is the one we have been offering at $1.65). In order to get any one of these at these rates, it is necessary to pay your subscription a full year in advance, viz., to June, 97. (A little later it will be July, '97.) This offer applies only to those who have not had the benefit of any other premium offer. In such cases write us for special terms.

Notice that there are three sizes—$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Miss Helen Gould, of New York, has given $100,000 to St. Louis in aid of the sufferers

The Cleveland Centennial Celebration has at last been assured by the subscription of the necessary funds, $60,000. It will be held on July 22.

The liquor dealers in Jersey City have become alarmed about an influx of liquor dealers from New York who have been driven out of business by the Raines law.

The Michigan Supreme Court has ruled that fortune tellers, soothsayers, second-sight fakirs, and all that class, are liable to imprisonment under the law of the State.

A bill has been introduced in the State Legislature at Baton Rouge, by Senator Fitzpatrick, of New Orleans, to prohibit and punish the selling of pools on horse races and other sports.

A cyclone struck St. Louis last week. About four hundred people were killed. Fully twenty-five million dollars of property was destroyed—a total loss, as insurance does not cover storms.

Contracts have been let for the erection of five new buildings at the University of Virginia—the rotunda, academical building, physical laboratory, mechanical laboratory and boiler house. These buildings were burned some time since.

The State of Tennessee, which was originally a part of North Carolina, and was admitted into the Union in 1796, just one hundred years ago, celebrated at Nashville, on June 1 (Monday), with appropriate exercises, the centennial of its organization.

The contest in the Legislature of Louisiana for the seat in the United States Senate which is to become vacant March 3, 1897, was ended on May 28 by the election of Hon. Samuel D. McEnery, now one of the judges in the Supreme Court of this State.

FOREIGN.

It cost $40,000,000 to crown the Czar of Russia the other day.

The Italian Chamber of Deputies proposes to prosecute Gen. Baratieri for failing to thrash the Abyssinians.

Queen Victoria has decided never to attempt giving another drawing room in person, as the fatigue is too great.

The British have experienced a setback in their enterprise along the upper Nile, and, as a result, the prospect for the reconquest of the Soudan does not appear as promising as it did some time back. The reverse referred to is an unfavorable decision by the mixed tribunal which controls affairs relating to the Egyptian finances.

After several years of comparative quiet, a revolution has again broken out in the Island of Crete, and the Turkish government will, in all probability, experience some difficulty in suppressing the disturbance. The Cretan population is mainly Greek and Christian; hence there has at all times existed a feeling of hostility towards the Turkish rulers, and revolutions in the past have been frequent and bloody.

The public of Spain is disappointed at Capt.-Gen. Weyler's little progress in Cuba, and the government will get 50,000 men ready to embark at the end of September, when it also expects to send to Cuba several gunboats, two cruisers and eight transatlantic steamers, each of them armed with sixteen heavy guns. The Cabinet has received an assurance that the opposition will vote for an unlimited credit for the operations in Cuba.

The frightful accident and panic which occurred outside the walls of Moscow, Russia, on Saturday, during the progress of a great public feast in honor of the Czar's coronation, appears to have been more destructive to human life than was at first supposed. The early accounts placed the number of killed at 400; but the figure has gradually swelled until the Russian authorities now admit that more than 2,000 persons were trampled to death.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.

Low ordinary	5⅞	— —
Ordinary	6¾	— —
Good ordinary	4 15-16	— —
Low middling	7 5-16	— —
Middling	7¾	— —
Good middling	7 9-16	— —
Middling fair	7 13-16	— —
Fair	8⅛	— —
Galveston middling	7⅞	— —
Mobile middling	7¼	— —
Memphis middling	7⅞	— —

SUGAR.

OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	3	3 3-16
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2⅝	2 13-16
Prime yellow	4	4 5-16
Gray white	4⅜	4⅜
Choice white	4¾	4⅜
Standard granulated	— —	— —

MOLASSES

OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —

RICE.

No. 2	4¾	— —
Good	5⅛	4
Fair	2⅜	5⅛
Prime	4⅛	4⅜
Rough, ₩ bbl	40	1 55
Polish, ₩ ton	10 00	14 00

FLOUR.

Extra Fancy	3 20	3 90
Fancy	3 50	3 65
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 20	— —
Winter wheat patents	4 15	4 25
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —

CORN PRODUCTS.

Corn meal	— —	1 55
Cream meal	1 80	— —
Grits	1 90	— —
Hominy	2 50	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	—	38
Yellow	40	41
Mixed No 2	— —	38
OATS:
Western	— —	27½
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	80	92½
HAY:
Prime	15 00	15 00
Choice	— —	22 00

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess (Standard)	5 50	5 75
Prime Mess	5 25	5 50
Rumps	5 00	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	7½	8½
Shoulders	5½	5½
Sides, short rib	5½	5½
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9	10½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4½
Sides, short rib	4½	4½
Sides, long clear	4½	4½

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	14½	— —
Common	13½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
Ho-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	15	17
Western Dairy	13	14
Common	8	11
LARD:
Refined	5½	5½
OILS:
Coal, bbls	9½	— —
Coal, cases	11½	— —
Cotton seed, crude	19½	20
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ ———	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	90	1 00
Louisiana, ₩ ———
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	1 00	1 10
Western	1 80	— —
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	1 15	— —
Western	— —	— —

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	4½	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	4¼	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	9	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	70	75

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 50	4 25
Young Chickens	3 50	3 25
Chickens, Southern	2 25	3 25
Young	1 00	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	7½	8
Southern	8	— —
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	15	19½
Louisiana	9	3½
Burry	5	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	5½	6
Dry salted	6	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	17 25	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

MUL-EN-OL is pre-eminently a Mother's Remedy, a reliable panacea for all the ills and pains of childhood.

MUL-EN-OL is a clear, pleasant penetrating Liniment. No grease, no stain.

Keep a bottle of MUL-EN-OL where you can quickly reach it, in case of emergency. Perhaps it will save a doctor's bill.

For cuts and wounds of all kinds, MUL-EN-OL has no equal. It prevents inflammation, takes out the soreness, and heals quickly.

MUL-EN-OL—Nature's Great Healer and Pain Destroyer. Often is it that lives are lost, that might have been saved by the timely use of MUL-EN-OL.

MUL-EN-OL is the greatest of all antiseptic dressings. Is a sovereign remedy for healing flesh wounds on man or beast.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month.

Beautiful Catalogue free.

MARRIAGES.

NELSON—GORDON.—At the Methodist Church, Pachuta, Miss., May 12, 1896, by Rev. N. M. Clark, Mr. R. L. Nelson and Miss Minnie Gordon.

CAMERON—WEEMS.—At the Methodist Church, Dekalb, Miss., May 10, 1896, by Rev. N. M. Clark, Mr. J. D. Cameron and Miss Willie Weems.

MAYES-RUTLEDGE.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. M. Rutledge, of Lapine, La., May 20, 1896, by Rev. W. B. Inabnet, Mr. J. L. Mayes to Miss U. O. Rutledge.

LAWLER—OURSLER.—At the residence of A. H. Tillotson, Greenville, Miss., Jan. 16, 1896, by Rev. T. Y. Ramsey, Mr. J. L. Lawler to Miss Ludie Oursler.

GARNET—BOOKOUT.—At Leland, Miss., April 21, 1896, by Rev. T. Y. Ramsey, Mr. Robert Garnet to Miss Georgie Bookout, of Sunflower county.

BERNHOLD-DAY.—At the Methodist parsonage, in Greenville, Miss., May 23, 1896, by Rev. T. Y. Ramsey, Mr. Frank O. Bernhold to Miss Della Day.

LATHAM—CHADWICK.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Franklin, La., May 27, 1896, by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. W. H. Latham and Miss Florence E. Chadwick.

The groom is president of the Franklin Epworth League, and just after the nuptials the happy couple took a Southern Pacific train for the State League Convention at New Orleans.

Ice Cream Now Made in a Minute.

I have an ice cream freezer that will freeze cream perfectly in one minute; as it is such a wonder a crowd will always be around, so any one can make from $5 to $6 a day selling cream, and from $10 to $20 a day selling freezers, as people will always buy an article when it is demonstrated that they can make money by so doing. The cream is frozen instantly and is smooth and free from lumps. I have done so well myself and have friends succeeding so well that I felt it my duty to let others know of this opportunity, as I feel confident that any person in any locality can make money, as any person can sell cream and the freezer sells itself. W. H. Baird & Co., 140 S. Highland Ave., Station A, Pittsburg, Pa., will mail you complete instructions and will employ you on salary, if you can give them your whole time.

Popular with the Republicans.

The old reliable Texas and Pacific railway will be the "popular route" for the great National Republican Convention at St. Louis, commencing June 16. No effort will be spared to provide for the comfort of all who use this line. Special trains will be run, with elegant day coaches and chair cars, and Pullman Palace Sleepers, and you will be wise to send in your name now for necessary accommodations, as the attendance promises to be the largest for any convention yet held.

Tickets will be sold via the Texas and Pacific railway at rate of ONE LOWEST LIMITED FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 8, 9, 13, 14 and 15, good until June 21, 1896.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on nearest Texas and Pacific agent, or—

GASTON MESLIER,
G. P. and T. A.,
Dallas, Texas.

But he, being dead, yet speaketh. Many hearts are moved, many minds are stirred, and soon the vision of faith, the conviction of things not seen will become reality through the liberty of those whose faith will be shown by their works.—Bishop Simpson.

Reunion United Confederate Veterans,

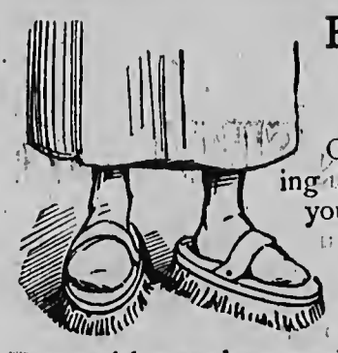
RICHMOND, VA., JUNE 30 TO JULY 2.

For this occasion the Texas and Pacific Railway Company will sell tickets from all stations in Texas and Louisiana at about ONE CENT PER MILE EACH WAY FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 26 and 27, final limit for return to be twenty days from date of sale.

This will be one of the greatest assemblages of the old veterans in the history of the organization, and an exceedingly interesting programme has been prepared.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on or address nearest Texas and Pacific railway agent, or—

GASTON MESLIER,
G. P. and T. A.,
Dallas, Texas.



Better use them this way,

if you don't use Pearline. Give your tired arms and aching back a rest, somehow, when you're scrubbing and cleaning. "An absurd idea?" Of course. But when a person has cleaned house with Pearline, year in and year out, and knows how much work it saves, and time, and rubbing, nothing seems more absurd than to try to clean house without it. Pearline—no soap with it—just Pearline—makes house-cleaning easy. 466

Millions NOW USE Pearline

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 10, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene ten days after close of Camp Meeting.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visitor from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
JNO. E. MICHAEL, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

District Conference.

The District Conference for Brookhaven district will be held at Magnolia, July 16-19. Further notice in regard to it will be given in due time.

Examining Committees are as follows:

For License and Admission on Trial—T. L. Mellen, B. F. Jones, J. M. Morse.

For Ordination—I. W. Cooper, J. D. Crymes, M. L. Burton.

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

Children's Day Collections.

As treasurer of the Sunday-school Board of the Mississippi Conference, I would make the following request of the brethren: Send in your collections at once, the full amounts; I make the divisions, as directed by the Discipline. Please don't wait, as the Board needs the money.

JOHN A. GUICE, Treas.

Natchez, Miss.

Notice.

Applicants in Durant district for license to preach will please meet the Examining Committee at the Methodist Church, Sallis, at 10 A. M., June 10, 1896.

W. D. MCCULLOUGH,
Chairman Committee.

Pickens, Miss.

Rev. H. G. Hawkins, Binnsville, writes, May 25: "We closed last Thursday a very successful meeting at Scooba, in which my brother, Rev. I. F. Hawkins, of Cullman, Ala., led the preaching in great power. We are now in the midst of the commencement exercises of Fairview Male and Female College. It is thought that the trustees at their annual meeting to-morrow may not be able to decide upon a president for next session, and that this matter will be postponed a few days. Mrs. Hawkins has not yet become well enough to come to Binnsville."

FOR IRRITATION OF THE THROAT caused by Cold or use of the voice "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are exceedingly beneficial.

Programme.

THURSDAY.

9 A. M. Organization and Pastoral Address of Presiding Elder.

11 A. M. Opening Sermon by W. B. Lewis.

3 P. M. Reports.

8 30 P. M.—Sermon by B. F. Lewis.

FRIDAY.

9 A. M.—Addresses on Christian Citizenship by D. H. Guice and J. N. Tucker.

10 A. M. Address on Foreign Missions by M. M. Black and M. J. Miller.

11 A. M.—Sermon by E. T. Breland.

3 P. M.—Address on Domestic Missions by B. S. Rayner and G. M. Hull.

8:30 P. M.—Sermon by B. S. Rayner.

SATURDAY.

9 A. M. Address on Epworth Leagues by M. M. Black and B. F. Lewis.

10 A. M.—Addresses on Sabbath-schools by R. S. Gale and R. E. Rutledge.

11 A. M.—Sermon by R. S. Gale.

3 P. M.—Miscellaneous.

8 30 P. M.—Sermon by C. L. Cole.

Let all who have been assigned subjects have well-prepared addresses or essays.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

The rapidity with which India is moving upward in the scale of civilization is evinced in her educational statistics. The University of Calcutta has matriculated during the present session 2,743 students. Last year the number was less than six hundred. There are now ninety-nine colleges that act as feeders to it. This being the case, it is likely to become in the near future one of the mammoth institutions of the world. See what Christianity does for a nation.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

If you accept a substitute, you must not fuss because its not as good as genuine HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 36c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

DISFIGURIN
HUMOU Prevented
Cutic
SOA
wh

CUTICURA SOAP purifies and be the skin, scalp, and hair by restor healthy activity the CLOGGED, IN IRRITATED, SLUGGISH, or OVERW PORES.

Sold throughout the world. British depot BARCLAY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S.

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition post money in bank till position is secured. Ca

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA endorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. ing, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, C etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equa where. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $ our books for home study is next best thing to schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention t

KNICKERBOCKE

No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair; $1.50 for Send chest measure around body under arms. Circulars free. Address KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN.

DROPSY TREATE FRE

Cured with Vegetable Remedies. Ha cured many thousand cases called hopeless, 10 days at least ⅔ of all symptoms are remove Book of testimonials of cures and 10 days tre ment free by mail. Drs. Green & Sons, Atlanta,

Seashore Camp Ground.

Front cottage to rent for the season cottage which I recently purchased fr Ahrens will be rented to suitable parties season. It has been enlarged, newly and furnished, and the doors and w screened. For particulars address,

WILMOT H. GOOD
Baton Roug

Matchless Mineral W

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HIN

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indi Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin D and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent T Local agents desired.

WANTED

Schools to write us for Teachers, Tea write us for positions.

J. A. WILLAMETTE,
Mgr. Teachers' Exchange
Nashville, T

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERE

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD RO

Holly Springs station
Byhalia circuit, at Fonatain Head
Potts' Camp circuit, at Hickory Flat
Holly Springs circuit, at Hudsonville
Waterford circuit, at Harle' Chapel
Oliva Branch circuit, at Kedley
Red Banks circuit, at Bailey's C. G.
East Holly Springs cir., at Mt Hope
Cornersville circuit, at Friendship
Mt Pleasant cir., at Marsha'l Institute
Ashland circuit at Black Jack
Pontotoc circuit
Ashland circuit

J. D. CAMERON,

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD RO

Starkville station
Sturgis
Brooksville
Starkville circuit
Tibbee
Macon station
Shuqualak (Mon.)
Heuron
Columbus circuit
Columbus station
Crawford
Cedar Bluff
West Point
Ringleton (Thurs.)
Winstonville

M. A. SUMRODDEN,

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROU

Fort Jessup, at Prospect
Pelican, at Philip's Chapel
Shreveport—First Church
Mooringsport, at Mount Zion
Jordan Street and Pine Hill, at P. H.
South Bossier, at Fillmore
North Bossier
Red River, at Campobello
Coushatta, at East Point
Wesley, at Holly Springs
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Sale
Grand Cane, at Bethel
Mansfield, at Mansfield
Caddo

District Conference will meet at Mans
9 A. M., July 2.

The Examining Committee for Lic Preach, Admission on Trial, or for Ord as follows: W. H. LaPrade, J. M. Bro W. F. Patterson.

J. L. P. SHAFFARD,

OPELOUSAS DIST.—THIRD ROU

Lafayette
Opelousas, at Bellevlew
Morgan City, at Berwick
Patterson
Abbeville, at Perry's Bridge
Franklin
District Conference, at Lake Arthur.
Crowley
Lake Arthur, at Locasta
Jeanerette
New Iberia
Pradhomme at Prairie Hayes
Iodine Baton, at Indian B
Plaquemine Brulee, at P. Brulee
French Mission, at Arnoville
West Lake and Sulphur Mine
Lake Charles—Broad Street
Lake Charles—Jackson St cir
Grand Chenieres
Rayne

The Opelousas District Conference w vens at Lake Arthur, July 16, 1896, at fi The following Committees of Examinati been appointed:

For License to Preach—E. J. Har Reames, and H. Armstrong.

For Admission on Trial, or Ordinatio Parker, D. D., A. J. Notestine, and Blocker.

H. C. WHITE,

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROU

Benton circuit, at Midway
District Conference at Camden
Jackson—First Church (8 P. M.)
Jackson—Capitol Street (8 P. M.)
Terry, at Forest Hill
Yazoo City
Yazoo circuit, at Anding
Sharon at Forest Grove
Silver Creek and B. L. at Shanbrough's
Canton
Flora at Brownsville
Camden, at
Madison, at Pocahontas
Lake City and Lodi, at Phillips
Fannin
Tranquil

E. D. HOLSWORTH,

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2077

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

NEW EVERY MORNING.

BY SUSAN COOLIDGE.

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new.
You who are weary of sorrow and sinning,
Here is a beautiful hope for you—
A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over;
The tasks are done and the tears are shed,
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;
Yesterday's wounds, which smarted and bled,
Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is part of forever,
Bound up in a sheaf, which God holds tight,
With glad days, and sad days, and bad days, which never Shall visit us more with their bloom and their blight,
Their fullness of sunshine or sorrowful night.

Let them go, since we can not re-live them,
Can not undo and can not atone;
God in his mercy receive, forgive them!
Only the new days are our own;
To-day is ours, and to-day alone.

Here are the skies all burnished brightly,
Here is the spent earth all re-born,
Here are the tired limbs springing lightly
To face the sun and to share with the morn
In the chrism of dew and the cool of dawn.

Every day is a fresh beginning;
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,
And spite of old sorrow and older sinning,
And puzzles forecasted and possible pain,
Take heart with the day, and begin again.

—From "A Few More Verses."

Communications.

The Rules We Keep.

There is only one condition required of those who wish to join the Methodist Church, which is composed of a number of societies of men who have the form and are seeking the power of godliness. The form of godliness is right living, prayer, Bible reading, and good works. The power of godliness is regeneration and sanctification, fitting the soul, or spirit, of man for the constant indwelling of the Holy Ghost. It is this that gives power to a godly life.

This one condition is "a desire to flee from wrath and to be saved from sin." A desire is more than a wish. A wish comes and goes; a desire takes possession of the mind, or soul, and dominates it. It produces an intense and insatiable longing—a longing to get free from the wrath of God, and to be saved from all sin, both inward and outward. When this desire is really fixed in the soul, it will be seen by its fruits.

There are some general rules by which all persons who profess to have this desire are expected to live, and they are the rules by which we are to know, or to judge, those who make this public profession. They are general, and not special, or specific, rules. If the general principle of them is deeply fixed in the mind and heart of the earnest seeker after holiness, the special, or specific, application of these rules may be safely left to the conscience of each individual under the enlightening and quickening influence of the Holy Ghost. The main principle of each one of these rules is, more or less clearly, taught in God's Holy Word, and they are the principles instilled by the Holy Spirit into all truly awakened hearts.

These rules are divided into three classes. The first class relates to avoiding evil of every kind, "especially such as is most commonly practiced." In a general way, they are the things we must not do. No human being who desires to be save from sin can do any of these things. The doing of any of them is proof positive that the desire to be saved from sin does not really dwell in the heart. The first is, "Taking the name of God in vain." No profane man desires to be saved from sin, and no one can be saved while he is profane. The germinal principle of profanation is respect and profound reverence for God and for his name. No truly penitent persons cease from profanity if they have been given to it. It is a very great and grievous sin. God has said, "I will not hold him guiltless that taketh my name in vain."

All who have this desire will show it by "remembering the Sabbath day to keep it holy." They will not profane God's holy day by doing any ordinary work therein. A sensitive regard for the sanctity of the Sabbath is indispensable to godliness. No man desires to be saved from sin as long as he openly and willfully breaks the commandments. The fruits indicate the quality and degree of the penitence and repentance. No man can get religion, or retain it, as long as he violates God's law in regard to the Sabbath. A prayerful study of God's Word on this subject would produce a great and much-needed awakening in regard to the duty of keeping the Sabbath day holy. Profaning the Lord's day is a common and growing evil.

Those who desire to flee from wrath and be saved from sin will not be given to drunkenness, nor to drinking spirituous liquors, unless in cases of necessity. It is never necessary for one to be given to drunkenness, or even to get drunk, and it is very rarely ever necessary for one to drink spirituous liquors at all. That which befuddles the brain and excites the baser passions is wholly incompatible with a desire to be saved from sin. This desire can not truly exist in the bosom of a man who is given to these evils. If given to them, he must give them up before he can be saved from all sin. Total abstinence from all spirituous liquors is the safest rule for all men. No man can be a true Methodist or a godly man as long as he indulges in any of these evils. A drunkard can not enjoy religion nor inherit the kingdom of God. If anyone doubts this, let him study God's Word.

It is plain to be seen that fighting, quarreling and brawling are incompatible with a desire to escape the wrath of God and to be saved from sin. Men who fight, or quarrel, or brawl, can not be penitent, and do not want to be saved. They do not want to be saved from sin while indulging in it. The profession of such a desire is false on the face of it. Nothing so strongly evinces this desire as to cease from sinning.

A brother, with a brother's heart inside of him, will not be going to law with his brother. If both want to do right, there is no necessity for going to law. Love is not contentious, is not exacting, and does not quibble over technicalities. It is open-faced, transparent, and big-hearted. A man who desires to be saved from sin will not return evil for evil, or railing for railing. This desire drives out this spirit. Longing for mercy for himself, he is willing to show mercy to others. Striving to flee from the wrath of God, he casts all wrath out of his own heart.

A man who desires to be saved from sin will use but few words in buying and selling. Too much talk in trade is sure to end in more or less lying. A brother—true brother—will not ask more than a fair price, and a brother of like spirit will not want goods for less than that. So, if seller and buyer both desire to do right, there is no use for many words. A grasping salesman and a jewing buyer are both wrong in spirit. Neither has a brother's heart for the other. GILDEROY.

How to Conduct a State Epworth League Conference.

In this day of conferences, conventions, and large public gatherings of all sorts and kinds, one has a splendid opportunity for studying the various plans in use for conducting such meetings. Out of an experience of a few years of public life the following plan has been drawn, which, in the author's humble opinion, is hardly to be excelled for a State League Conference.

After it has been decided to hold a Conference, the first thing in order is the selection of a place. This is very important. Any railroad center will do, but a large city is to be preferred. This done, committees must be appointed. Two are sufficient—homes and programme. Just here a great deal of care should be exercised, for the success of the affair depends largely upon the committees. The Committee on Homes must give notice that all delegates will be met at a certain place—some prominent church is best. No one must instruct the sexton to open the church, and the committee must not get there till, say, ten o'clock, so that delegates arriving on the early morning trains and reporting at the church will find themselves locked out. This will afford them a coveted opportunity to see the city, especially those of them that are from the country. Their baggage need not trouble them, for that can be deposited almost anywhere; or if they like, they can take it along with them.

The Programme Committee has a very difficult task on hand. But they must first arrange for several addresses of welcome. True, some claim that there should be a Welcoming Committee, but all such are old fogies. Should not a Methodist feel perfectly at home in a Methodist Church anywhere and everywhere? Besides, the addresses referred to will answer every purpose. Have a synopsis of them published in the morning papers for the benefit of late delegates and strangers. This Programme Committee must not fail to secure the services of distinguished men from home and abroad. If they should fail to get Dr. Tedious and Dr. Hairsplitter down for a paper on some important subject, the whole thing would be a failure. If possible, put three such worthies on the programme for each evening. Limit them to forty-five minutes, with the understanding that they are not to be called down under an hour and a half. After Dr. Tedious has finished his paper, which it will take him over an hour to do, treat the audience to a solo by some one in the choir. Let it be sung in the modern milk-and-mush manner, which means that not a word of it is to be understood by anyone in the house. Then let Dr. Hairsplitter follow at once with his long-winded paper. This will be tough on the auditors, but it will give the young leaguers a practical lesson in the grace of patience, which, perhaps, they very much need.

By all means have an address from some eloquent speaker on the sanctity of the Sabbath, and then wind the whole affair up by offering books for sale on that day. This will be a clincher to the address.

Carry out the above suggestions, and the impressions made on the mind of all who attend will be all but indelible. BEN THERE.

In the Living Present.

The employees of a foundry have sued our President, Grover Cleveland, for $2,000 damages. When a candidate for the presidency he had promised increase of wages if elected. This promise had induced them to vote for him. But the increase had not come. Their wages had actually decreased. Five lawyers volunteered their services gratis. Politicians look to the result of this suit with great interest.

A materialistic nabob had been cured by the waters in Carlsbad, Austria. Gratefully elated, he wrote at departure in the visitors' album:

"Life's greatest blessing in Carlsbad I found; Restored in health, I'm now homeward bound."

A noted preacher, visiting the place and reading this inscription, wrote beneath it:

"Health is life's great at blessing not by half.
Life's greatest blessing, else, enjoyed the healthy calf."

Druggists complain. Patent medicines are sold at cost price, and many physicians ceased to prescribe numerous and costly drugs. The time was when the shelves in the sick-room were filled with medicines. The suspicion was created that the true object was not the cure of the sick person, but the enrichment of the druggist. We are grateful for the change.

Extravagance, crime and poverty stalk through the land. Frugality a rarity. Many live beyond their means. Crime follows. At last poverty asserts itself. Formerly we thought with horror of the indigence found in European centres. Now it has domiciled here. Many are devoid of food, clothing, and shelter. Save, reader, save. Save, that you may have to give to the needy.

The diamond trust in South Africa, presided over by Barney Barnato, is the richest in existence. The output of the precious stones has of late years been unusually large. To place them on the market would have decreased their value. Thus the company deposit them in their large vaults in London and supply the market only at current rates.

In old age time flies, but life's afflictions multiply. Much suffering among the aged because of premature cessation of life-long employ. The idea of resting from their labor even here below is very fascinating with many. But when attempted disappointment follows. Moroseness, sullenness, grief succeed. As feebleness increases, our employment must be changed; but in heaven only can true rest be found.

Cuba libra! is the cry of idlers and demagogues. A war, with commissary and quartermaster departments, would suit them exactly. That most of the rebels in Cuba are trashy negroes does not seem to be regarded. Well, San Domingo is free. Free, and the sable inhabitants cut each other's throat. ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

Centenary's Commencement.

The closing exercises of this renowned college began on Sunday, May 31, with a sermon preached by the Rev. J. L. Pierce, of New Orleans. The text was John i, 3, 4. For thirty-seven minutes the speaker presented his subject in a masterly way, and his words fell with spiritual power upon the vast audience. All were delighted and benefited by the sermon. The annual address to the Y. M. C. A. was delivered at night by the Rev. Robt. H. Wynn, of New Orleans. The address was a study founded upon Ecc. vi, 9, and was appropriate, clear and strong, and highly appreciated.

Monday night was "Prep. night." It was the eighth time this scribe has attended the preparatory exhibition, and the exercises were the best we have ever heard. All is due to the excellent taste of Prof. C. C. Miller. Two gold medals were awarded. One for the best speaker, known as the Pharr medal, was won by Mr. G. G. Zenor. The other for the best marks was awarded to Mr. J. H. Cline.

Tuesday was the day of oratory. The graduating exercises of the Union Literary Society and Franklin Institute, held respectively at 9 A. M. and 3 P. M., were delightful occasions indeed. In addition to the speeches of the young men extemporaneous talks were made by Bishop J. C. Keener, Drs. J. J. Tigert, W. H. LaPrade, J. L. Pierce, and other distinguished visitors. At 11 o'clock A. M. the alumni address was delivered by the Hon. A. J. Murff, a former graduate of the college. Mr. Murff's subject was, "A Higher Standard of Citizenship." National safety depends upon citizenship; citizenship depends upon intellectual, moral and political instruction. Centenary's advantages to produce the highest type of citizens are unsurpassed anywhere. These ideas were given prominence in the address. The Alumni Association then elected speakers for next year with the following result, viz.: Dr. A. P. Brown, of Texas, as orator, with Rev. R. H. Wynn as alternate; Chas. Kilbourne, poet, with I. D. Wall as alternate.

Tuesday night was the occasion of the annual address to the literary societies, and also the contest in oratory for the McGehee medal. Dr. J. J. Tigert delivered the address, which is referred to in another column of this paper. The four contestants for the medal were: E. E. Wall, J. Van Carter, I. Irwin, and J. P. Drake, Jr. Mr. Wall was successful. There was awarded also a scholarship medal in the sophomore class, and this was won by Mr. D. D. Cline.

Wednesday was commencement day, and the following young men received diplomas, viz.: H. C. Barrow, C. D. Atkinson, S. C. Fullilove, and W. P. Holcombe. Mr. Fullilove was salutatorian, and Mr. Holcombe valedictorian. The Fagg medal for the best orator among the seniors was won by Mr. C. D. Atkinson. The baccalaureate address to the class was then delivered by President Carter. It had brevity, point and power.

The best, however, of all the exercises had been reserved for the last. It had been previously announced that the audience might expect to see something that day which had never been seen before nor would ever be seen again in the history of the college. Of course, expectation was high when all the regular exercises of the day were over. At this moment Dr. Carter called the entire student body to the front, and had them to occupy the raised seats which encircle the auditorium. At the same time four young men came in from the rear bearing a leather-lined easy chair that had been purchased at a cost of forty dollars. Prof. G. H. Wiley was then asked to come forward upon the stage. The students all arose to their feet while Prof. Wiley took his stand by the chair. There stood the venerable man who years ago taught some of our fathers, and at whose feet we too had sat and learned wisdom. Coming to the college as a professor in his young manhood, he had rejoiced in the days of Centenary's greatest prosperity, stood faithfully by her when minie bullet and cannon ball were defacing her walls and dyeing her floors with human blood, and through all the intervening years labored with body, mind and soul for Centenary's welfare; but, lo! it was now too plain that time had gently stolen in upon him and whispered that he must step aside from his fond employ and take a much-needed rest. The beautiful chair was presented as a token of esteem from the faculty and students. Mr. Wm. Wadsworth had the honor of delivering the present, and this he did perfectly. The sterling qualities of this heroic Christian educator made it the most touching scene ever witnessed in old Centenary. He was too full for utterance, and quietly seated himself in the chair just presented, when immediately the strong young men, seizing the chair, put it on their shoulders and carried the professor around the buildings, and left him seated on the stage in the midst of a great uproar of tears and joy.

Four new trustees were elected: Rev. W. H. LaPrade, D. D., of Shreveport; Rev. F. N. Parker and Mr. W. W. Carre, of New Orleans; and Mr. J. S. Noel, of Moorlingsport.

Several changes in the faculty were made: Tom Carter, A. B., B. D., of Vanderbilt University, was elected professor of Latin and Greek; W. J. Roberts, M. A., of Vanderbilt University, also was elected professor of Anglo-Saxon and English Literature; S. D. Wall, A. B., and J. A. Wall, B. S., were elected professors in the Preparatory Department.

The number of students this past session was above the average. Centenary's friends are more hopeful and enthusiastic than ever, and the outlook for the college is very flattering. This is good news for the Methodists of Louisiana, especially for the preachers, because, as a rule, wherever a student of Centenary is found he is a friend and life-long supporter of the Methodist itinerant. Indifference to Centenary College means indifference to our own personal interests; but honest work for this college means money in our pockets and prosperity to our Zion.

VISITING PREACHER.

Report of Visiting Committee to Centenary College.

The duties of a Visiting Committee to one of our institutions of learning are rather vague and indefinite. I presume its chief purpose is to bring before the church and Annual Conference the existing conditions of these plants, prosperous or otherwise. "Quod demonstratus," I proceed. There is an air of hopefulness and earnest zeal which is not only a prophecy of future usefulness, but a proof that even now, in the living present, true, honest, sound work is being done.

Dr. Carter and his faculty not only deserve praise, for that is often very cheap, but should receive the gratitude and backing of the entire church in Louisiana. I can not write extensively of the commencement exercises. It was a feast of reason and a flow of soul from start to finish. Some important changes in the faculty occur. Prof. George H. Wiley, much loved and honored for his ripe scholarship and strong personality, is granted the position of professor emeritus. Prof. Thos. Carter will do the active work in this department. Of his capability for teaching Latin and Greek, none who know him are in doubt. The chair of English is taken by Prof. W. J. Roberts. Prof. Sullivan will continue to hold sway among the retorts and crucibles, and Prof. Carter endeavor to impress on the impressionable freshman that "things which equal the same thing are equal to one another." Profs. J. A. and S. D. Wall will have charge of the Preparatory Department for the coming scholastic year. Taken as a whole, with Dr. C. W. Carter in the lead, we may look for marked results from this able corps of teachers.

Provision has been made by the Board of Trustees by which Dr. Carter is to canvass the State in the interests of the college. We bespeak for him a royal welcome at all the District Conferences, and also in the homes of our people.

W. H. LAPRADE,
E. N. EVANS,
S. J. DAVIES,
Committee.

Selections.

Irreverence marks our age to an alarming degree. The disposition is to make fun of everything. The temptation is great to ridicule and joke, and to get the laugh upon somebody or something. This is accounted a sign of smartness and an evidence of good fellowship. Under the prevalent spirit of mockery, levity and jocularity, sacred things suffer. The church, good men, the Bible and religion are held up to jest and witticism. As the result, regard for sacred persons and objects departs, and religious feeling and sentiment decline. Reverence is a virtue that can not be too much instilled in the young or cultivated in a community.—Presbyterian.

Joseph Hume was once twitted for his inconsistency in going to hear Dr. John Brown, the celebrated Scotch preacher, when he made reply: "I don't believe all he says, but he does; and once a week, at least, I like to hear a man who believes what he says. Why, whatever I think, that man preaches as though he felt the Lord Jesus Christ were just at his elbow."—Observer.

Ignace J. Paderewski, the great pianist, just before sailing from New York for Europe, handed a letter, in which was enclosed a check for $10,000, to William Steinway, asking him to act with two other men as trustees of the money, which is intended as a fund from which the trustees will pay prizes for musical compositions to encourage musical work in this country.—Exchange.

MY WORK.

BY JEAN INGELOW.

I am glad to think
I am not bound to make the world go right,
But only to keep accurate and to do
With cheerful heart the work that God appoints.

I will trust in him,
That he can hold his own; and I will take
His will above the work he sendeth me
To be my chiefest good.

—Exchange.

Correspondence.

From Rev. O. A. Oats.

It has been long since I have written anything for the paper you edit. Some of my old friends among your patrons and readers ask me why; and say they would all appreciate a communication on the line of my former communications descriptive of life and scenes in California.

After spending seven years pastorating and presiding eldering over Southern California, I am now spending my eighth year in the historic, salubrious and scenic town of San Bernardino, the capital of the county of the same name.

The town is noted as a great railroad center, there being two of the great trans-continental roads, the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, passing here, and also a number of local roads leading to neighboring towns, and noted scenic and pleasure resorts. The town has between eight and nine thousand population, and is well supplied with the modern appliances for convenience, comforts, pleasures, and intellectual and moral and spiritual culture. There are nine large, elegant, commodious, and well furnished school-buildings, including a large and costly high school building. These schools are supplied with numerous well-qualified teachers, and the schools are well equipped. We also have a fine, well-assorted public library, founded and maintained by the city authorities. There are eight church edifices; some of them elegant structures. The church in which our people worship is one of the most beautiful and conveniently arranged buildings I ever saw. It is well and tastefully furnished, and has a seating capacity for about six hundred.

The town is situated in a unique valley, almost surrounded by high mountains, with an area of about 160 square miles. The valley is fertile, and productive of all sorts of tropical cereals, fruits, and flowers. The orange and lemon is the principal fruit marketed, though they raise large quantities of deciduous fruits. The dairy and cattle industry is also extensive. The great profusion of tropical flowers is wonderful. The town gave a May Day celebration. All the schools turned out, with the fire company, musical bands, fraternities, trades and private citizens in a parade. The children, from each grade in the schools, were in great floats entirely covered in flowers, and so were all parties participating. An old lady, recently from Mississippi, said she was satisfied she saw more flowers that day than she had ever seen in all her life before.

San Bernardino has an interesting history. It is the first place settled in this State by people from east of the Rocky Mountains. They were Mormons sent out by Joseph Smith to look out a location for their settlement, and the establishment of their ecclesiastic hierarchy and theocratic State, when he found matters getting too uncomfortable for them in Nauvoo. Their affairs were changed by Smith's death and the Mormon settlement at Salt Lake City. Brigham Young ordered the colony at San Bernardino to break up and return to Salt Lake. The majority of them refused to obey him, and never acknowledged his authority. The consequence is that they have never practiced or taught polygamy, and are known as Josephites. They are still here, and make up a considerable proportion of the population. They have a church-building, and keep up regular worship. There is a very remarkable freak of nature on the face of one of the mountains near here, that can be seen from any part of the valley. It is the shape of an arrow head almost absolutely perfect—with head and shaft. It appears from here, a distance of about seven miles, to stand on the ground at the foot of the mountain, point down, slightly leaning backward on the face of the mountain. From the point to the end of the shaft (which appear as if broken off about three-fourths of its proportion at length) appears to be about one hundred yards. From point to point of its shoulders appears to be about thirty yards broad; the shaft going out from the center, and appears to be about one-fifth of the whole width. From each of these shoulder points to the tip each side slopes evenly and gradually. The surface looks perfectly smooth, except a small wash on one side, caused by rains in recent years. It is said, when the Mormons started on their search for a new home, the prophet told them they would see a sign that would indicate the place where they should locate, and when they saw this arrow head they took it for the sign.

There are many of the Indians still living in the vicinity, retaining their ancient customs in almost complete perfection. Their religion is nominally Roman Catholic. San Benardino is about ninety miles from the coast. The consequence is that it is deprived of the cool summer breezes enjoyed by places near the ocean. The Summers get quite warm. The thermometer often reaches 120 in the shade. It has been as high as 110 in the last few days. One peculiarity about the heat is that it is not attended with the moisture usual in sections east of the Rocky Mountains, and is not near so oppressive. The absence of the appearance of perspiration on man and beast is remarkable to one accustomed to the warm season in the Eastern States.

We were treated to some remarkable and unusual phenomena last Winter. There was about three inches of snow. The orange and lemon trees were in full bloom, and heavy laden with the fruit just ripe. They were a striking and beautiful sight, covered as they were with the virgin snow. Above the snow could also be seen everywhere geraniums and other tropical flowers in full bloom. The snow did no damage. Later frosts have killed the greater portion of the deciduous fruits not only here, but throughout the State.

The county of San Bernardine is the second largest county in the world, only El Paso county in Texas being larger. Only a small portion of it comparatively is accessible to settlers, on account of the numerous mountains, and large portion in arid deserts. The mountains and deserts, however, are full of rich minerals, as gold, silver, copper, borax, cement, coal in a few places. Coal oil, salt, saltpeter, asphalt, and many others too numerous to mention. There are hundreds of rich gold mines being operated. There has been considerable interest awakened in the last named industry by the discovery of a vast number of new and immensely rich mines within the last few months. The country around San Bernardino is possessed of numerous hot and medicinal springs, where the health seekers are always numerous. Some of these hot springs send out immense quantities of water. The indications are that mother earth is very warm-hearted, and her heart is not very far below the surface in these regions of her anatomy. In this respect San Bernardino is not unique in California—physiological formation, as this characteristic is more or less prevalent in all portions of the State.

Q. A. OATS.

W. C. T. U.

The thirteenth Annual Convention of the Mississippi Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in Jackson, May 2–5. In point of number of attendants and interest it may be said to have been the greatest success they have had for years.

It was most gratifying to those interested in the cause of temperance and the welfare of our youth to note the interest manifested by the good people of our capitol city. The convention was most heartily welcomed, not only by the local union, but by the citizens and also by the city and State officials. Their homes were thrown open, and the members of the convention, about 85 in number, and its visitors were most royally entertained. The meetings were held in the Presbyterian Church, and were largely attended by attentive and appreciative audiences. Ex-Gov. Stone was especially kind in assisting the ladies in receiving and placing the delegates in their several homes.

During the convention we had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Barker, the national treasurer, speak, which was indeed a treat. Mrs. Barker is a clear, strong and graceful speaker, and those who were unable to get seats in the house that night have much to regret. Mrs. Tomlinsen, one of our national organizers, was a visitor to the convention, and assisted in some of the services. There were quite a number of delegates present from the Y. W. C. T. U.'s which is under the direction of Miss Grace Augusta Cox, of Columbus. They held their Conferences and discharged their several duties in a most creditable manner; and on Tuesday night gave a most interesting programme, after which Miss Belle Kearney entertained the audience in her usual easy style. To have such a body of women meet in a town is a benediction, and the citizens should be proud to have the opportunity to encourage them in their good work. The convention was conducted in a most dignified and business-like manner; everything passing off in perfect harmony. In fact, with our efficient corps of State officers it could hardly have been otherwise.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Mrs. Mary Carter, of Corinth, president; Miss Madge Montgomery, of Meridian, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Somerville, of Greenville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Annie Harper, of Fayette, recording secretary, and Mrs. Mary Penteeost, of Columbus, treasurer.

Mrs. Somerville presented the advantage and almost necessity of our being represented at the Mississippi Chautauqua at Crystal Springs in very strong and convincing terms, and it was unanimously carried, that we should secure representation there at once, arrangements for which are now in progress.

Mississippians have cause to be proud of their State, as it is ahead of all the other Southern States in temperance work, and has now only ten counties where open saloons are allowed.

N. S. T.

P. AND H. M. S.

EDITORS.

Mrs. H. W. Foote, of North Miss. Conference.
Miss Pauline Stafford, of Mississippi Conference
Mrs E. E. Kennedy, of Louisiana Conference

The Parsonage and Home Mission Society of Greenville district, North Mississippi Conference, met at Rosedale, April 7 and 8. Mrs. Robert Somerville presided over each session with ease, grace and sweet dignity; and the rapidity with which she dispatched business was admired by all, and greatly added to the interest of the meetings.

The night session, held in connection with the F. M. S., was opened by Rev. J. A. Randolph with an appropriate Scripture lesson and a beautiful prayer. His words of commendation gave us a new impetus for greater work in the future. He also assisted in reading a lovely letter from Miss Belle Bennett on mountain schools. A well-prepared paper by Mrs. E. W. Phillips deserves special mention. She very forcibly urged the importance of the Ladies' Aid and sewing societies merging into the Parsonage and Home Mission. Little Helen Finlay Dunn represented the Home Builders in a very sweet recitation. Several other able papers and beautiful recitations were given, making the evening pass pleasantly to all.

The morning of the eighth the society was opened for business. Rev. H. P. Crewe conducted the devotional service with gracious words of encouragement. Several delegates answered to roll-call; many were accompanied by visitors from their towns. A full written report of the year's work was read from every auxiliary in the district. We have five old and three new connectional societies, with 124 members, and two new local societies, with 26 members. In the connectional we also have several local members. The sick have been nursed and well cared for, yet only 90 visits were reported. Dues paid for the year, $69.75; local work, $536.37; mission work, $113.35. Total amount raised for the year, $719.47.

Two barrels and three boxes were sent to the field, beside a large number of garments given to the poor around us. We also give our old ADVOCATES and other Christian papers to those who are not able to pay for them.

We have 44 subscribers to Our Homes, and promise of more. Twelve subscribers to The Evangel were secured, which will help Miss Streater toward the 600 for scholarship in the Scarritt School.

"Back in the swamp," from Greenville, a noble lady organized a Sabbath-school among her poor neighbors, composed of men, women, and children, all ages and sizes. Wishing to help them enjoy our Savior's birthday, she applied to a member of the P. and H. M. S. for aid in Christmas presents, and the generous ladies of Greenville Auxiliary filled a large box with nice, useful, and comfortable articles for the men and women and for the children there were toys of all kinds, such as they had never dreamed of. In the sweet, and yet amusing, letter of thanks from Mrs. Werley, she says: "I made a little bonnet of the pink calico, an apron of the blue, dresses of some larger pieces, a quilt of one, wrapper for a little babe, and a little crib comfort for another." And so until she had made the best use of everything.

Oh, the great good we can do with so little, and what sincere pleasure it carries to those who are not so blessed with comforts as we are! I could tell you something just as praiseworthy of each society, yet we proudly pass the auxiliary banner to the ladies of Cleveland. They have done the real home mission work. Rev. H. P. Crewe, their good and helpful pastor, found a young woman living in deepest sin and abject poverty in a lumber town near. She was in an old hut, very ill; her bed a pallet of straw; nothing to eat except what the negroes near gave her. He reported the case to the P. and H. M. S. The ladies at once rented a house at $5 per month; moved her, with her three little daughters, in town; clothed, fed, and nursed them through the Winter; tenderly cared for the sickly twin-infants until God in his wisdom mercifully took them.

The Winter seemed long to the noble workers. They had many days of sad discouragement. The work was new to them; they had never been in the slums, or taken an active part in saving fallen women. Our rescue work is by no means easy, and many naturally shun coming in contact with the degraded. But not so with our brave Christian women. They gladly took up every cross, forgot "self," and worked only as faithful servants of the dear Master. And now, by their faithful work and earnest prayers, this poor woman has at last cast her burden at the feet of Christ, craving and receiving a new and clean heart, which she says no power on earth can induce her to bury in sin again. She was given clothes and money, and sent to relatives in Louisiana. May God's Holy Spirit guide her in all her ways through life!

Our district meeting closed with a delightful prayer service led by Rev. McKeown. Some of our ministers are the greatest help to us. They meet, work, and pray with us—in fact, we could not do half the work without them; yet there are some in the district who have no society in their charge. We are trying to get all actively interested in our work, and hope ere long to wave the district banner over Greenville.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf.....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison...Shreveport.

We regret exceedingly that Miss Sallie Smylie's former communication was not received. She writes at this time: "I have held my district meeting at Lauderdale. It was a good meeting; twenty-five delegates and visitors present.—Bro. Galloway preached on Sunday. We had, I believe, the best love-feast I ever attended on Sunday afternoon. The business sessions were both profitable and pleasant. The Lauderdale people invited us to hold the next district meeting there.

"Miss Trotter, recently appointed district secretary of the Enterprise district, invited me to conduct the district meeting on her district, as she was new in the work. The meeting was at Shubuta, one of my childhood homes. I found Miss Trotter to be a very capable woman; am sure that no one more efficient could have been chosen for district secretary. Our Conference should feel proud to have her one of its members. The people on the district appreciate her very much. The meeting was a most pleasant one, and we feel that good was accomplished. It is very beneficial to the district secretary to have these district meetings.

"It is not long now before the meeting at Natchez. I hope to meet you there. How pleasant to think of meeting the workers in this grand cause once a year! You do not know how grateful I feel that my district report, financially, was the best in the Conference. There are so many noble, sweet women in the district that help and encourage the district secretary that it is such a pleasure to work with them."

"Our young lady, Miss McNemar, has progressed beautifully this session. I can not tell you all the good and encouraging reports the teachers give of her. She made fine impressions at the district meetings I have mentioned. We will be sorry when she is through school and can not be in the district any more, but will claim her for next session, anyway. Write to me some time. I love to hear from you. My life is a very busy one, etc.

"I forgot to say a letter from Bettie Hughes was read at the Shubuta meeting, written just after her severe illness. It was most interesting."

I take the liberty of publishing the following from Mrs. Chatfield: "Our year is now rapidly drawing to a close. I am so anxious to have our Conference secure enough subscribers to the Evangel to enable us to send Miss Ward to the training-school next year. Do all in your power on this line. On the third of next month I will leave for our W. B. M. convention in Washington (D. C.). I ask that you pray for me, that wisdom from above may be given, and that all may be done with 'an eye single to his glory,'" etc.

We trust that while we are observing the day of fasting and prayer appointed by Mrs. Wightman, that all will specially and earnestly pray for our representative, Mrs. Chatfield; and may we also pray that our annual meeting at Natchez will be signalled for wisdom, harmony and personal spiritual feasting from the manifest presence of the Holy Spirit! May we all pray daily for this, especially those who are to attend, and while we are in session we beg the church to continue in prayer for us! We must do better.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

From the treasurer's report we find Vicksburg district the banner district as to improvement over the former year. Dr. and Sister Weems are giving valuable help. Four new auxiliaries (not old ones added by change in the districts) remitted; all the old ones and two more not reported the previous year; thirteen in all, as Rodney is in the Vicksburg district, and not in Natchez, as recorded in our treasurer's report. One new auxiliary from Seashore and one from Jackson. No new ones remitted from the other districts.

Every district in the aggregated amounts fell below the previous year except Vicksburg, which is largely in advance (leaving out those now in Natchez district). Every auxiliary paid more in Vicksburg. All in excess in Meridian except one that fell below half of the former remittance; one old one did not remit; eight in all, as four are by the change in Enterprise. Two of Brookhaven in excess, all others behind; two did not remit; five in all reported. Two in Jackson in excess; one more than doubled the former year, the remainder far below; seven in all. Three in Seashore remitted, and fell below former report; two did not remit. Total, $34.82 short of previous year, omitting the two auxiliaries that are now in the Louisiana Conference.

This should not discourage us, but arouse us and cause us to consider ways and means for improvement. We are largely indebted to our ministers for aiding us, and we should aim to obtain more assistance, but at the same time only those deserve help who are doing their duty. We can not relegate our responsibilities and obligations to others. Have we the faith to grasp our motto, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me?" Can each of us conscientiously say that we have done our whole duty, and feel that none of the perished and perishing heathen will "be laid to our charge"? Let us heartily repent of our lukewarmness, and be sure to resolve very seriously and conscientiously at our annual meeting not to endorse resolutions that we will not keep by the help of the Lord.

MRS. E. D. JONES.

Selections.

Destroying Our Enemies.

We passed once in Georgia the ruins of a country church which had been burned down. On asking how it happened, we were told that the church being open beneath had become infested with fleas. The colored brethren, who owned the building, decided to get rid of them, and built small fires around the church, with the idea of attracting the fleas and getting rid of them. The plan succeeded admirably so far as the fleas went; unfortunately, however, the fire could not be controlled, and in a short time the building had caught, and was burned down.

Some church quarrels are having about a like result. In order to indulge certain personal grudges, and keep up some old schism, the members stand apart, criticise each other, refuse to pull harmoniously together, and while either faction succeeds in carrying out its own plans, the church of the Lord Jesus becomes a dead and inefficient institution. Better put up with a few small annoyances than run the risk of destroying the sanctuary.—Southern Presbyterian.

The altar stands in the foreground of every life, and can be passed by only at the cost of all that is noblest and best.....Anciently a man brought a lamb and presented it to God; laid it on the altar, to be consumed by God's fire. In like manner we are to present our bodies. The first thing is not to be a worker, preacher, a saver of souls; the very first thing in a Christian life is to present one's self to God, to lay one self on the altar. It is easier to talk and work for Christ than to give ourselves to him. It is easier to offer God a few activities than to give him a heart.—J. R. Miller.

If there were no other reason for generous giving, men ought to give in order that they may not grow selfish and worldly. "If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee." It is always possible to prevent the accumulation of wealth to one's hurt. Give until you have crucified your lust for gold. Learn to enjoy your wealth with God.—United Presbyterian.

To stand with a smile upon your face against a stake from which you can not get away—that, no doubt, is heroic. But the true glory is resignation to the unevitable. To stand unchained, with perfect liberty to go awny, held only by the higher claim of duty, and let the fire creep up the heart—this is heroism.—F. W. Robertson.

Only on that great day when the secrets of all hearts shall be revealed will it be fully known how many souls have been savingly touched, how many consciences have been awakened, how many prodigals brought back to their Father in heaven, by the voice of familiar hymns.

New force is given to an old truth by the fresh putting of it by Lyman Abbott, who says: "You and I are responsible not merely to do those things we can do, but to do those things that we and God can do."—Zion's Herald.

Prejudice, whatever may be its source, gets nothing out of the Scriptures. The Herods of to-day get no answer from Christ. The influence of scepticism makes the Scriptures silent—Dr. Taylor.

No soul can preserve the bloom and delicacy of its existence without lonely musings and silent prayer, and the greatness of this necessity is in proportion to the greatness of the soul.—Canon Farrar.

"I know not how many more baths God may give me, and it would be a poor preparation for the first Sabbath in heaven to have slighted my last Sabbath on earth."

To be patient under a heavy cross is no small praise; to be contented is more; but to be cheerful is the highest pitch of Christian fortitude.—Bishop Hall.

We have not the liberty to choose whether we will serve or not; but the liberty we have is to choose our master.—Sanderson.

Last Sunday a man died here in extreme old age at twenty-five.—John Newton.

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your room, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

North Mississippi Conference Notes.

Crop prospects are good.

The outlook is enconraging for success in all departments of church work.

The location of the Mississippi Methodist Orphange at Water Valley will doubtless prove to be wise. Eligible grounds for the buildings, with fifty acres of good tillable land, have been secured near the city.

The buildings will soon be erected with the expectation of being ready for occupancy by next Fall.

Children's Day has been and will be observed in most of the charges. The reports received thus far are good. It is gratifying to know that the excellent programme prepared for the occasion is being used almost universally. This is right. Its educational value will be lasting benefit to the church. Therefore they act not wisely who ignore it and substitute exercises that are better adapted to common-school occasions than to church services on the Lord's Day. They may have a nice entertainment—a gala day—but they will fail of the precious benefits contemplated in the observance of the Children's Day provided by the church.

May was a busy month for this scribe. Eleven pastoral charges were visited and three District Conferences attended, viz.: the Holly Springs, at Byhalia; the Memphie, at Collierville, and the Sardis, at Arkabutla. Eight sermons were preached, a Children's Day address delivered, and various talks made.

A goodly number of books were disposed of and more new subscriptions taken for the church papers than during any previous month of the year. Thanks to the Lord for his blessing and to the brethren who have helped us.

G. W. BACHMAN.
Kosciusko Miss.

Jubilee Token from Edwards Sunday-School to Its Superintendent.

Yesterday being celebrated with us as "Children's Day" the school took advantage of the occasion to show its appreciation of the forty-nine years of faithful service in Sunday-school work by its superintendent, Bro. H. Smith—familiarly and lovingly known as "Capt. Bob Smith." Constantly identified with Sunday-school work in this immediate vicinity, and almost the whole time superintendent of the school, it seemed quite appropriate that we should celebrate the dawn of his jubilee by a substantial token. Though verging upon "borrowed time," he does not need spectacles, for his eye is not dimmed at all. We bought a staff for his hand to lean upon, and as typing godly guidance, would be most fitting. Just after the rendition of an unusually attractive program by the officers, teachers, Bible class and little children, followed by a good collection for needy Sunday-schools, the pastor called Bro. Smith to the front of the altar, and presented a handsome ebony cane, with golden head suitably engraved, in the name of the Sunday-school and for the sake of the Great Shepherd and Bishop of all souls. Suitable words were spoken on either side, a hymn of praise to that Shepherd whose counsels guide and uphold us, the benediction and dispersal of many with hearts full of gratitude, marked "the thirty-first of May, 1896, as a red-letter day" in our annals. At night we were privileged in having a sermon to the young by our own Charles W. Butler. It was thoughtful, full of force, earnestness and tender solicitude. It will tell for good. We can not close without writing some words of praise to the kind workers of our Ladies' Aid Society. They have labored quietly, but successfully, till they have a well-equipped parsonage from kitchen to parlor bed-room. It compares favorably with any I know within our bounds. This is our fourth year. Now, brethren, "don't all speak at once," but one at a time, preach your best sermon and leave yourselves in the Bishop's hands.

J. P. DRAKE.

FROM THE WORK.

D. Harmon, Evergreen and Bunkie circuit, May 20: "I am glad to report this work in a growing condition. I think that in the near future this will be one of the best circuits in the district. Bro. R. S. Isbell, our beloved pastor, is thoroughly consecrated to the work of the Lord, and is giving the best efforts and energies of his life to this work. His congregations have greatly increased; the Sunday school interest has revived; the monthly children's services are interesting and well attended; plans for an Epworth League are being perfected; a new parsonage is being built; the Ladies' Aid Society is helping the church most wonderfully in both a spiritual and financial sense. It has collected and paid to the parsonage building committee about $600 in cash, which, with the sub-criptions yet to be collected and the material subscribed, will build a good parsonage. The membership generally is encouraged and is holding up the hands of the pastor. To God be all the praise!"

Rev. A. S Neill, P. C., Jackson street Church, Lake Charles, La., June 3: "We have had a meeting here of two and a half weeks' duration, which resulted in eighteen accessions to the church and more than that number of conversions. Bro. A. W. Turner assisted me most of the time in this meeting, and did an excellent work. Bro. W. H. Hatfield preached us three sermons in the last week of the meeting. Unfortunately the first week embraced the time of the State and parish elections, in which there was a great deal of interest, and it was hard—almost impossible—to do anything until they were all over. All honor and praise to God for what was accomplished. I found this church in a good spiritual condition when I came here, and believe it has been improving all the time. Have an increasing Sunday-school and Epworth League. The latter has doubled its membership this year, and is doing better work all the time. We have had over forty accessions from all sources to the church this year. Taking everything into consideration, we all think we, as a church, are doing fairly well."

Rev. J. A. Braswell, P. C., Water Valley circuit: "Our Grenada District Conference just closed last night. We had a most delightful Conference from first to last; especially was it such to me, and my heart is so full of joy that this morning I can not forbear writing. I am supplying the Water Valley circuit. I have a good people to serve, and plenty of work to keep me busy. My people are looking after their preacher and family; but this is characteristic of Methodism. It is no wonder to me that I have what we sometimes term 'hard times,' but the wonder is that I do not have more of them. I feel so unworthy. My call to preach was and is yet as clear to me as my conversion, and that is too clear to call into question for one moment. But it has always been a great cross, and if it was not for that precious, ever-abiding promise of Christ and his verifying that promise, I would long since have fainted by the way. But, thank God, he is all in all to me. My heart has been made to ache at times for a word of comfort from some brother. Thank God that since we met Thursday in District Conference it has been aglow with joy in the Holy Ghost. I feel this morning that surely I have been so absorbed in my work this year that I have neglected my own self. Is this possible? We are told that it is sweet and pleasant for brethren to dwell together in unity. This was truly true at our Conference. Those delightful sermons so full of the Holy Ghost, and the kind courtesies of the brethren and generosity of the citizens of Grenada will never be forgotten. We were invited as a body by Bro. Malone out to the college. Bro. Malone is happy in his work, and well he may be, for if there is anything as a means of grace in responsibility he is greatly blessed. When I looked into the faces of those young ladies that parents all over the country had placed in his care for training, I said, Wonderful responsibility. My brother, I assure you that you shall have my prayers, sympathy and hearty co-operation in trying to secure patronage for your school. I will close by saying we set out afresh this morning to win the prize and after glory run. God bless your excellent paper!"

More

More Medicinal value in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other preparation.
More skill, more care, more expense in manufacture. It costs proprietor
More but it costs the consumer less, as he gets more doses for his money.
More curative merit secured by its peculiar combination, proportion, process.
More wonderful cures, more testimonials, more sales than any other.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Women get plenty of sympathy after they are dead. Tom Hood made a very pathetic picture in his "Bridge of Sighs," but the probabilities are that the woman needed sympathy a great deal more before she died than she did afterwards. Thousands of women are enduring much worse things than death. The most distressing thing about it all is that it is needless.

Uterine troubles are considered well-nigh incurable. Women seem to think that they must go on bearing these things forever. To be sure, some of them make an effort to get well by going to their physicians, but thousands are deterred from this, both because they have seen that it was not likely to do much good, and because they knew that the first thing the physician would insist upon would be the examinations and local treatment so justly abhorrent to every modest woman. These things are generally as unnecessary as they are distasteful. Every woman can be made strong and healthy by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a most marvelous medicine for all forms of female weakness and disease. It is a wonderful purifier and cleanser. It acts directly on one set of organs, and on no other, but in doing this, it frequently cures troubles that were seemingly of an entirely different character and origin. A disorder of the distinctly feminine organs is likely to cause all sorts of symptoms, and careless doctors frequently doctor women for neuralgia, or dyspepsia, or insomnia, when the real trouble is in the organs distinctly feminine. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will make any woman well. Sometimes when disease has run on so long that the entire system is debilitated, it is necessary to use in connection with the "Prescription," Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a general tonic, blood-purifier, and blood-maker, without an equal in the world. There is no case so severe that these two great medicines will not cure it. Thousands of women have frequently testified to this fact.

WINONA MEETING.

We have just closed a fine meeting at Winona, Miss. The church was most wonderfully revived, and a large number of sinners converted. Perhaps there were not over twenty that joined the churches. Nearly everybody in Winona belongs to some church. We had the co-operation of all the pastors and all the churches. The merchants closed their stores, and large crowds attended the services both day and night. The choir, led by Mr. Smith, gave us some of the finest music we have ever heard.

We can see great improvement in the churches since we were there two years ago.

Bro. Ritchie, who is one of our most successful pastors, is doing a fine work for the church in Winona. What a pleasure it is to be with him! When we stay with him a few days we come away with a strong desire to live better lives. Our people say many nice things about his ability as a preacher. We only heard one complaint against him (and that is a very common one most everywhere)—"Don't visit enough." Out of twenty-seven years Bro. Ritchie has spent in the itinerancy twenty years have been on five charges. Very few of our preachers can say this.

We must not close without a word about Prof. Steve Ritchie's school. He has built up a preparatory school after the order of the Bellbuckle School. The preparatory work he does is very thorough. We understand that it is one of about eight in the State from which the State University admits a pupil into the full course, on a certificate from principal, without examination. Parents in the State could not do better than to send their children to Prof. Ritchie.

We are now at Magnolia, Miss., and in the midst of a gracious meeting. The stores are closed and all are taking part.

W. M. MCINTOSH.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.
Franklinton, La.

Holman Bible at $1 25.

By buying in wholesale quantities we are able to make the following reduction in our Emerald-type Holman Bible. This Bible we have sold heretofore at $1 50. We now offer it at $1.25 to those who pay their subscription a full year in advance—that is, to June, '97. We do not advise any person who has passed the meridian of life to get this Bible, on account of the smallness of the print. For young persons, however, it will answer as well as the more expensive styles. It has all the helps of the larger sizes. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75, AND $2.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to June, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2.45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for $5—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The ADVOCATE and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1.25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La

Our Oldest Citizen

Never saw the time when he could get pure, first-class Groceries as cheap as he now can at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

T. J. MURRAY,
RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is June, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

A Blessing.

THE TESTIMONIALS BELOW SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES,

AND FURTHER SUBSTANTIATE THE CLAIM MADE FOR THE ELECTROPOISE.

I got an Electropoise from Mr. Joe Foster, of Carter's Creek. Am sure I was benefited by its use.

Mrs. W. H. ROBINSON.
Williamsport, Tenn., April 6, '96.

The Electropoise has been quite a blessing in my family. It has proven all we expected from it.

L. B. HARWELL.
Friendship, Tenn., April 7, '96

We are very well pleased with the Electropoise and induced our daughter to buy one. We recommend it to all our friends who are afflicted.

MRS. J. E. T. LELAND.
Knoxville, Tenn., April 6, '96

I cheerfully recommend the Electropoise to all persons suffering with indigestion. W. L. NOEL.
Huntingdon, Tenn., Sept. 1, '95.

A book of complete information, together with reduced rental rates on the Pocket Electropoise, will be mailed free to any address.

DuBOIS & WEBB,
Chamber of Commerce Building,
NASHVILLE, : TENN.

PURIFINE.

AN ODORLESS, NON-POISONOUS AND ABSOLUTE DISINFECTANT.

Prepared For Use, 10 cents per Gallon.

Distributing Agents: A. ASCHAFFENBURG CO. | J. C. McAllister, 1432 Polymnia

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,
AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

TEXAS
EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service
BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST
SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train
SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7 25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS
HAS BEEN QUICKENED
9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.
4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.
ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS
BETWEEN
Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

Seashore Camp Ground.

Front cottage to rent for the season. The cottage which I recently purchased from Dr. Ahrens will be rented to suitable parties for the season. It has been enlarged, newly painted and furnished, and the doors and windows screened. For particulars address,

WILMOT H. GOODALE,
Baton Rouge, La.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON.
ALSO IN SYRUP.
PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,
And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.
NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER
IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

ESTABLISHED NEARLY HALF A CENTURY.

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Leading Music Store of the South.

All PIANOS and ORGANS
We Sell Have Stood the Test.

The best of Musicians endorse them. Buy no makes that have just lately been put on the market. All catalogues free.

SEND FOR PRICES AND TERMS.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM
Preachers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are our authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. AHRENS, D. D.
REV. S. B. KENNON
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. F. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WEEK, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position.	Special position.
1 inch.	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, June 11, 1896.

Heavy Tidings.

Nothing that has been served up to us recently by the enterprising journals of the day has so saddened us as the following, which we quote verbatim from a recent issue of the Methodist (Louisville, Ky.):

Bay St. Louis, Miss.—I live here at this small station, on the L. and N. railroad, near the Gulf, only fifty miles from New Orleans; population about five hundred. My little daughter and I are the only Methodists here. The people spend their Sabbaths, generally, picnicing or horse racing. Won't some one come here and preach for us? I will prepare a room and will see that they are taken care of. All glory to God, who has kept daughter and me from despair in this lonely place. We are walking and living by faith in Jesus, our great Redeemer and Sanctifier.

Yours in Christ,
MRS. MAGGIE A. STOCKTON.

Just to think that fire, flood, famine, pestilence, or some other dire disaster has suddenly visited this beautiful city and reduced it to a pitiful village of five hundred inhabitants.

Just to think, too, that all the Methodists of the town have been exterminated except two. Southern Methodism has had an organization and a house of worship there for more than forty years. During the last two years the old building has been down, and a handsome, modern structure of good dimensions has been erected in its stead, and only a little over a week ago that beautiful church and the adjacent parsonage were standing, as was also a mission church in the suburbs of the city. Less than two weeks ago we saw and conversed with the wide-awake pastor, Rev. N. B. Harmon. He and his family were then living, and there were more than a hundred Methodists living there.

Just to think that all these have been destroyed by some awful visitation of Providence, and we living in New Orleans, with its half-dozen daily papers, never heard of it until we get the news from a Kentucky weekly! We don't understand it at all.

Oh, we've just thought. Perhaps these Methodists are not dead, but have simply ceased to be Methodists. Peradventure they have gone over en masse to Rome. Maybe Harmon is a candidate for the priesthood. Harmon, if you are still living, let us know the ecclesiastical whereabouts of yourself and your interesting flock.

The collections on Orphans' Home Day in Georgia resulted in a handsome sum for that institution. Dr. Candler raised $1,500 at Trinity Church, Atlanta, while Sam Jones raised $800 at First Church and $700 at the Tabernacle.

The above clipping from a recent issue of one of our exchanges is good reading for Methodists in this section. In this matter Georgia sets a noble example. Georgia Methodism has two orphans' homes, one in each Conference, although there are several homes in the State belonging to the different denominations of Protestantism.

The Duke of Westminster has contributed $20,000 to the Armenian Relief Fund.

Evangelists in the M. E. Church.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, recently in session at Cleveland, Ohio, has taken advanced and most important action on the subject of evangelists. For two days the matter was ably discussed, the tone of the speeches indicating the same condition of things connectionally as obtains in the South. There was entire agreement that something should be done, but views widely diverged as to what should be done. All deplored the evils of an irresponsible evangelism, and agreed that it should be regulated. And on another point there was unanimity of sentiment—that emphasis should be put upon evangelistic work of each pastor.

This is the report adopted, which becomes a part of Paragraph 170, Section 3, Division 4, of the Discipline:

One or more members of an Annual Conference to do evangelistic work, on charges within that Conference if invited by their pastors, and in co-operation with them, or in neglected territory within any district, when requested, and in co-operation with the presiding elder of the district. Provided, the Conference shall determine by vote how many of its members may be thus appointed, and provided further, the said Annual Conference shall by a vote of two-thirds of its members present and voting request such appointment. No pastor shall engage an evangelist other than those appointed by the Bishop of his Conference, without first obtaining the written consent of his presiding elder.

The discussion took wide range and at times flamed to white heat. Dr. W. S. Mathews said: "In the region where I live we are in great danger from the men and the women who come to our churches unauthorized and who work in various ways: who often preach that which is not the true doctrine; who sometimes divide the church, and who cast reproach upon the name of Jesus Christ. If you authorize the evangelist, God will raise up men who will do the work effectively and to the honor of the church: and if you pass this supplementary report, you will make it possible to shut out these people who injure the church and who divide our forces."

Dr. A. B. Leonard, Missionary Secretary, said: "There have been irresponsible persons that have been roaming at large through the church and holding meetings where they could find open churches, sometimes to the damage of the cause of Christianity and to the great injury of the church where the meetings were held. Now, while this is true, there are evangelists that are helpful.....I believe that the closing item of this report should be stricken out—that it requires the consent of the presiding elder; but what goes before ought to be adopted."

Dr. Graw, of New Jersey: "I favor the report not because I favor evangelists—I do not. Why? I believe that every Methodist preacher should be an evangelist.....If we are to have evangelists, I say let us have the restrictions. Let him be authorized by the Conference."

Rev. Robert Forbes, of Minnesota, said: "This whole matter of revivalists and evangelists has been degenerating to a great extent; especially up through our Western country. Why, we have got so far along out there that you can hold up your hand for an evangelist and he will put you down as converted; they will get around pretty soon (they have in some places already), so that you can sign a card and send that in, and you are regarded as one of the converts. The next thing I expect to hear is that they will send a cabinet photograph and have it baptized by sprinkling. Pretty soon that will get it down so fine that you can join in full connection by telephone.....I am in favor of the report."

And so the debate ran on, the only opposition developed being against the last item of the report, requiring the written consent of the presiding older if any evangelist outside of the Conference boundary should be invited. But the entire report was finally adoped and by a substantial majority.

"Figures Never Lie."

Is that so? Let us see. Ten men can build a house of certain dimensions in ten days. If this be true, then one hundred men can build the same house in one day. And, allowing ten working hours to a day, one thousand men can build it in an hour. As there are sixty minutes in an hour, sixty thousand men can build it in a minute, and three million six hundred thousand men can build it in a second, and seven million two hundred thousand men can build it in half a second. According to arithmetic, all this is true; and yet it is a transparent falsehood. Whether figures lie or not depends upon how they are used. In the hands of a knave or a fool they are the best possible instrument of falsehood. If Ananias were alive and on the market for hire, and we wanted to engage his services for an unusually large job, we would place an arithmetic in his hands.

We are led into this train of thought by a newspaper publication which fell into our hands recently, a publication in which the saloon gang in a certain region used figures to prove that the saloon promotes temperance, peace, prosperity, happiness, order and morality. Shades of Gulliver, Munchausen, Jules Verne, Ananias and Sapphira, hide your diminished head. Satan, look well to your laurels. It will now be in order for some one to ransack the ponderous tomes of the world's statistics to prove that murder, theft, arson, burglary, and the like, are the best means of bringing on the millennium. Next!

The Legal Status of Women in Louisiana.

Louisiana is immensely behind the age in her legislation as regards woman. The world at large finds it hard to realize how near we Louisianians are to the dark ages in this matter. But the world moves, and even Louisiana is really thinking of taking a forward step. The following from a recent issue of the Picayune shows that there are some of our legislators who see what an absurd anachronism our present system is:

"There are pending before the Legislature now in session in Baton Rouge several bills, which, if passed, will have an important bearing upon the legal status of women in Louisiana. One of these bills provides that a woman in Louisiana shall be made competent to act as a witness for a will. As the old law stands, no matter how intelligent and able a woman may be, she is considered in law thoroughly incompetent to affix her signature to a will as a witness, but is classed with idiots and insane people, the law reading that no woman, minor, idiot or insane person shall be held competent before the law as a witness to a testamentary document. The passage of the new law will certainly remove a statute from our books that is a sore reflection upon the bright and progressive women of Louisiana.

"Another bill, and in truth a most important and serious one for our legislators to consider, is the House bill allowing a married woman the right to deposit money in banks and withdraw the same without the interference of her husband; also the right to buy or dispose of property without his consent. According to the present law a married woman in Louisiana (as has been proved by our civil courts) does not even own her own clothes; her husband is the sole proprietor of these. She owns them, even though she has purchased them with her own individual earnings, only through his courtesy. Clothes don't matter so much, but when it comes to men drawing from the banks the money which by right belongs to their wives, and selling their property, or making away with the same without her consent or knowledge, as has often been done to many a poor wife and children's sorrow, the question of proper legislation to protect the wife in her individual property is a most serious one; it is a matter of congratulation that our present Legislature has taken the subject in hand, and that these bills have already passed to their second readings. It is a simple matter of justice that they should become laws."

Sensible.

The Richmond Advocate, of May 21, has a paragraph concerning fraternal messages which is worthy of more than a passing notice. We give it to you, without farther note or comment, only asking for it an impartial reading and an impartial application:

"We are anxious to live to see a man picked out for a 'fraternal messenger' who will say a short, neat, pithy something and quit. The whole business of 'fraternal greetings' is a notorious bore and bother of business, not to say smelling of insincerity. An essay of commonplace, unreeled on and on in tiresome tameness to a body of men needing every minute of their time for legislation, is a pest verging on a nuisance. To every 'messenger' it is the 'occasion of his life,' with just a thought of his platform for 'a connectional' position. We conjure our Bishops to engage, before naming the next corps of orators, that twenty minutes shall be the limit of the intolerable eloquence. There must, at least, be six ministers in our ministry who will submit to pulling the tail feathers out of their rhetoric enough to prevent a parade of the iridescent crescent of gaudy phumago. Help, dear Bishops!"—Wesleyan Advocate.

[We nominate Rev. J. J. Lafferty, D. D., editor of the Richmond Advocate, as the next fraternal delegate to all our fraternizing churches.]

At Pearlington.

We spent last Sabbath at Pearlington, Miss. We committed an attempt at preaching in the morning; at night there was no service on account of rain. We found the pastor, Bro. W. G. Fersythe, and his interesting family in good health and good spirits. Bro. Fersythe is in high favor with his people, as is also his better half. His preaching is spoken of as excellent. He has procured since his pastorate began a very neat, comfortable parsonage, eligibly located, and with ample grounds for yard, garden and truck-patch. It is also quite well furnished. This was our first sight of the new church since its completion. It is a very tasteful structure, a real ornament to the town.

We were delightfully domiciled in the hospitable home of Bro. Sandy Orr and his amiable wife. We also enjoyed the hospitalities of the inmates of the parsonage.

Immigration Restricted.

The House of Representatives has at last passed an Immigration Law which amounts to something. It declares void all labor contracts with aliens, thus excluding the hordes of laborers who come among us every year with no intention of remaining. It has an educational test, that will prevent an increase of the great army of foreign illiterates who swarm in our cities, exercising the right of suffrage and constituting the chief instrument of debauchery in our political life. The penalties for violations of the law are quite severe. These provisions added to those of the old law will certainly reduce the volume of undesirable immigration, but will not exclude from our shores that class of immigrants whom all are glad to welcome—those who soon become assimilated and form a wholesome element in our national life.

"Among the Orientals."

I have derived pleasure and profit from reading "Among the Orientals," by the Rev. Willard W. Wadsworth, of Atlanta, Ga. The Southern Methodist Publishing House has done its work well, as the attractive volume in green and gold abundantly testifies. It is handsomely illustrated and sold for $1.50 per copy.

The book tells in an interesting way of scenery and of life and of morals among the heathen. The style is natural and ornate. You find yourself borne along with the gifted author through scenes historic and sacred, pleased with his picturesque presentation, sorrowing over the effects of superstition, and partaking of his earnest desire to have part in letting in the light. Prejudice against foreign missions will melt away from a careful perusal of this book.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Jackson District Conference.

The Jackson District Conference is hereby changed from Camden to Canton; the time (July 2–5) remains the same. Let all pastors and delegates take due notice, etc.

R. D. NORSWORTHY.

Jackson, Miss., June 8, 1896.

The Q. and C. R. R. is now running a through sleeper from New Orleans to Louisville. This car was put on June 2. It leaves New Orleans daily at 7:30 A. M. It is a standard Pullman car, and has the very best accommodations. This arrangement will be appreciated by the traveling public, as there is nothing which relieves the ennui of travel so much as a comfortable sleeper with few changes. The Q. and C. may always be relied upon to keep up with the times in looking after the comfort of its patrons.

NOTES.

Rev. R. S. Woodward, of the Mississippi Conference, has been quite ill, but is now convalescent.

***

The new St. Francis Street Church, Mobile, will be dedicated, June 21, by Bishop Galloway.

***

The Protestant Methodist Church has more than once had a layman as chairman of the General Conference.

***

The commencement sermon of McComb City Female Institute will be preached June 14 by the editor of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

***

Draughan's Business College, Nashville, Tenn., has such an extensive patronage that it has established a branch at Texarkana, Texas.

***

We learn that Rev. J. B. Stone, of the North Mississippi Conference, is quite seriously ill. Many prayers will go up for his speedy recovery.

***

The mortuary list from the recent storm in St. Louis foots up two hundred and forty-one. The loss of property is estimated at $20,000,000.

***

A movement has been started to found a chair of history in Emory College, to be called the Attiens G. Haygood Chair. Eminently appropriate!

***

A new history of Methodism, profusely illustrated, is to appear soon from the pen of Bishop J. F. Hurst. The author's name is a guarantee of merit in the book.

***

Dr. John Hall's Church, New York (Presbyterian), gave last year about seventeen dollars per member for general benevolences. If any other church has done better, we have not heard from it.

***

The recent McIntosh meeting at Magnolia, Miss., was a decided success. There were fifty-six accessions to the Methodist Church, nearly as many to the Baptist Church, and a few to other churches.

***

Miss Minnie Cowan, teacher of the classics in the North Texas Female College at Sherman, returned to her home in Oxford, Miss., last Wednesday, and will spend her Summer vacation among her many friends at that place.

***

The commencement sermon of the Louisiana State University will be preached June 14 by Rt.-Rev. H. M. Thompson; the night sermon by Rev. O. C. McGehee. The annual address will be delivered by Prof. E. A. Alderman.

***

A sketch of Bishop Kavanaugh from the pen of Bishop Fitzgerald will be included in the "Eminent Methodist" series now being published by our Publishing House. We predict that it will be one of the most popular of the series.

***

Rev. J. Boyes, of Ponchatoula, La., formerly a member of the Mississippi Conference, is at the Charity Hospital, in this city, for the purpose of undergoing a severe and dangerous surgical operation. We bespeak for him the prayers of his friends, and they are legion.

***

A recent issue of the Texas Baptist Standard states editorially that the General Conference of the M. E. Church, at Cleveland, extended the limit of the pastoral term to ten years. If the editor of that sheet is not better posted in regard to his own church than he is about Methodism, we are sorry for his readers.

***

Ohio has started "something new under the sun." One of her citizens, Lorenzo Dow McKinney (his parents evidently were Methodists), has arranged to have his funeral preached on the twenty-first. As he is eighty years old, he considers all the remaining portion of his earthly pilgrimage as "borrowed time"—in fact, considers himself as virtually dead. There is one disadvantage about this ante-mortem funeralizing, i. e., it will not give the preacher a fair chance. It will dry up the fountain of tears, clip the wings of imagination, and render impossible the extravaganzas of eulogistic rhetoric. Not many of the clergy will be anxious for the job of delivering the funeral oration of a man who occupies a seat in the audience, alive and well.

The M. E. Church, South, is called upon to mourn the death of one of her connectional officers, Rev. W. D. Kirkland, D. D., which occurred at Asheville, N. C., May 31. He was in the prime of life, being about forty-seven years of age. He was of strong intellect and great force of character. He filled the Sunday-school secretaryship with distinguished ability.

***

Reports from Baton Rouge make it almost certain that the Anti-pool-room bill will be defeated. That a bill so manifestly beneficial to good morals as this can not go through, though asked for by the better element of this city, which would be chiefly affected by it, is evidence of terrible debauchment in legislative circles. How long, oh Lord, how long shall the wicked rule?

***

The School Board of St. Louis, Mo., a short time since refused to comply with a mandate of the Supreme Court of the State, whereupon that august body sentenced each member of the obstreperous Board to a fine of $25 and an imprisonment of ten days. These gentlemen are no doubt somewhat wiser now than they used to be, upon which fact the State is to be congratulated.

***

Somewhere in Ohio a petition, said to be for a charitable purpose, was handed to a minister, who promptly signed it. His name at the head procured for it the signatures of nearly all the leading citizens of the town. Imagine his chagrin when he learned that it was a petition for a saloon. Moral: attach your signature to nothing that you have not carefully read and seriously considered.

***

A saloon keeper on the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio road, says the Christian Work, complains bitterly that the Y. M. C. A. has been the cause of the reduction in his receipts from $3,000 to less than $700 a month. In other instances along the line of the same railway business had become so dull that the saloons were finally closed, all because of the work of the association for the young men employed on the road.—Exchange.

***

The National Prohibition party, which met recently at Pittsburg, was composed of two bitterly antagonistic factions. One faction, known as "the narrow-gauge," favored a straightout prohibition platform without any deliverance on free silver, woman suffrage and other topics. The "broad-gauge" faction demanded that all these measures should be included in the platform. The narrow-gauge faction was in the majority and adopted a platform accordingly. Thereupon the "broad-gauge" crowd seceded and organized another convention. "A tempest in a teapot" so far as the presidential election is concerned.

***

The statistics of the Baptist denomination just published show total membership of 3,720,285: there are 40,064 churches and 27,774 ordained ministers; the year's record of baptisms is 176,058, less than those of the preceding year by nearly 30,000. The total membership has also fallen off about 80,000. The number of Sunday-schools reported is 23,305 with 1,779,886 pupils. The number of students preparing for the ministry is 2,910; and the Baptist denominational institutions number 169, with 2,067 instructors and 36,016 pupils. The total number of Baptists throughout the world is put at 4,447,074, including 437,805 in Great Britain, 29,000 in Germany, 37,601 in Sweden, 17,606 in Russia and Poland, and 111,177 in Asia, of whom 64,339 are in India.

***

A recent issue of the Times-Democrat has an editorial in which it is stated that theatre-going is decreasing at such a rate as to threaten dire disaster to the theatrical business. The causes assigned are (1) the inferiority of present-day theatrical performances, (2) the advent of the bicycle. We quote as follows: "It is not that Americans have lost their taste for the opera and theatre, but that these amusements have more competitors than before. Take bicycling alone. It has had a material effect on the theatres. In Washington, where there were a dozen Summer theatres, all crowded and doing a good business, not one has dared to open this year, because the audiences are now mounted on their bicycles and far away in the country in the evening, instead of seated in a theatre." Bless the bicycle if it will keep the boys and girls away from the theatre!

When You Feel Shaky

When you feel that chills and fever or malaria has singled you out as a victim, when you ache all over, feel tired and run down from head to foot

Take

CHILLIFUGE

It will rout the trouble at once. Chillifuge is guaranteed to cure the worst case of chills and fever that ever attacked a man. If it fails your money is returned. It is absolutely free from quinine and decidedly pleasant to take. Price 50c.

Sold everywhere.

Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

W. P. and H. M. S.

An interesting meeting of the W. P. and H. M. S. was held on Monday, June 1, at Rayne Memorial Church. After Scripture reading by Mrs. Stevens and prayer by Miss Werlein, Mrs. Tigert, of Nashville, Tenn., was introduced by the president, Mrs. Lyons.

Mrs. Tigert is a daughter of Bishop H. N. McTyeire, formerly of this city. "Our Stewardship," the subject of her discourse, was an able enunciation of the value and importance of "proportionate and systematic giving." The general supervision and direction of parsonage and home mission work is vested in what is known as the "Central Committee," of which Mrs. Tigert is a member. This committee held its tenth annual session at Louisville, Ky., April 28, 1896, at which time Mrs. F. A. Lyons, president of our local union, was unanimously elected a member of that representative body—a complimentary and fitting tribute to her earnest and untiring zeal in behalf of Parsonage and Home Mission work.

Three hundred dollars was appropriated by this committee to start a Working Woman's Home in New Orleans—a need that has long been felt. Its object is to provide the comforts and refinements of home, at a moderate cost, for that large class of respectable and honest wage-earners who are denied its privileges.

From all parts of the work the reports show an increase in numbers, interest and money; the receipts of the general treasurer, Mrs. Kendrick, amounting to $19,301.72, exceeding those of the previous year by $9,000.

The quarterly report of Mrs. Meekin, our city missionary, was a revelation to some of the ignorance and misery and sin in the midst of churches and Christian civilization. During the months of April and May Mrs. Meekin has made 117 visits, had prescriptions filled and medical assistance rendered, distributed 203 garments, and food and groceries 238 times. Only a frail woman, but consecrated to the Master's service! When she stands before the great white throne I doubt not the little ragged children she has clothed and led to Sunday-school and the sick and suffering she has helped and comforted will all be there and hear the Savior say, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you." "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

It was resolved at this meeting to organize a city Union Board—two members selected from each auxiliary of the different churches to constitute the Board.

This Union will meet once every month and transact all business connected with local work. Faithful work has been accomplished by Miss Mabel Fuller in Gretna and Gonaldsboro. About 107 boys and girls attend the industrial schools established by the society at those places, and lessons are given on Monday of each week.

E. R. KENNEDY,
Conf. Recording Secretary.

Reunion United Confederate Veterans,

RICHMOND, VA., JUNE 30 TO JULY 2.

For this occasion the Texas and Pacific Railway Company will sell tickets from all stations in Texas and Louisiana at about ONE CENT PER MILE EACH WAY FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 26 and 27, final limit for return to be twenty days from date of sale.

This will be one of the greatest assemblages of the old veterans in the history of the organization, and an exceedingly interesting programme has been prepared.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on or address nearest Texas and Pacific railway agent, or

GASTON MESLIER,
G. P. and T. A.,
Dallas, Texas.

Notice.

To All Whom It May Concern:

Efforts are being made by a self-constituted organization, calling themselves a camp meeting association, to establish a camp ground near Palmer Creek, in Harrison county, within the bounds of Whittington circuit, Seashore district. The enterprise is to all intents and purposes revolutionary, and is being projected without either the authority or endorsement of the Quarterly Conference of the circuit.

The parties engaged in this gratuitous and needless work are members of the Methodist Church; but they are acting independent of and in opposition to the best interests of the church in that section of the country, and, therefore, the enterprise ought to be repudiated by all persons favorable to the harmony and prosperity of the church.

C. A. POWELL,
P. E. Seashore District.

Hattiesburg, Miss., June 3, 1896.

Grenada District Conference.

The twenty-seventh session of the Grenada District Conference, North Mississippi Conference, met in the M. E. Church, South, in the town of Grenada, Miss., May 28, 1896; Rev. H. C. Morehead, P. E., in the chair. J. W. Luter was elected secretary. There was a good attendance of both clerical and lay delegates.

The first day was devoted to Sunday-school work. Bishop C. B. Galloway arrived Friday afternoon and presided the remainder of the session.

Many of the preachers made good reports on the different lines of church work. We had a goodly number of excellent speeches during the session by preachers and laymen. Taken altogether, the district is doing fairly well. Dr. R. W. Jones, I. T. Blount, T. H. Haines and Willis Golloday were elected delegates to the next Annual Conference.

Main Street Church, Water Valley, was chosen as the place for the next District Conference.

J. W. LUTER.

Minter City, Miss.

Notice.

Woman's Missionary Society of Louisiana Conference will convene in Mansfield on July 2 to 6, inclusive. It will meet in connection with District Conference. Every society is earnestly solicited to send delegates. Railroad rates will be advertised later.

L. PAXSON, Rec. Sec.

Rev. W. T. Woodward, of the Louisiana Conference, writes: "Your premium machine came in due time, and has been tested, and gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. Several persons have examined the machine, and pronounce it wonderfully cheap; scarcely any noise and perfect work."

"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are of great service in subduing Hoarseness and Coughs. Sold only in boxes. Avoid imitations.

God gives every bird its food, but he does not throw it into the nest.—J. G. Holland.

Ice Cream Made by a New Process.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream instantly. The cream is put into the freezer and comes out instantly, smooth and perfectly frozen. This astonishes people and a crowd will gather to try the cream. You can sell cream as fast as it can be made and sell freezers to many of them who would not buy an old-style freezer. It is really a curiosity, and you can sell from $5 to $8 worth of cream and six to twelve freezers every day. This makes a good profit these hard times and is a pleasant employment. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will send full particulars and information in regard to this new invention on application and will employ good salesmen on salary.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for June.

CHRIST AND THE CHURCH.

JUNE 14—HIS ATTENDANCE AT THE SYNAGOGUE.

Under the preceding topic Christ is presented as a regularly admitted and duly recognized member of the Jewish Church; and now we see him, during his public ministry, recognizing the authority of the church in various ways, especially by his own personal attendance at the synagogue and temple, and by his conformity to its prescribed forms.

(Luke iv, 16.) Near the beginning of his ministry he comes to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and, according to custom, enters the synagogue on the Sabbath, and takes part in the worship. Notwithstanding the fact that it is here where he has worshiped from childhood, his teaching is spurned, and he is ejected from the synagogue.

(Matt. viii, 4.) Here is an example of the faithfulness of Christ to comply with the law of the Jewish Church. The law of Moses, regarding the cleansing of a leper, may be read in detail in the fourteenth chapter of Leviticus. Christ, after cleansing a leper, directs him to comply with this law by presenting himself to the priest, and by offering the necessary sacrifice.

(Mark iii, 1.) It was Christ's habit to attend the synagogue in Capernaum, the place where he abode after his rejection in Nazareth.

(Luke xxii, 53.) He calls the attention of his captors in Gethsemane to the fact that during his stay in Jerusalem it was his daily habit to teach publicly in the temple.

(John viii, 12.) We have here the introduction to one of the remarkable discourses of Christ, which John recorded. This one was delivered in the temple in Jerusalem during the Feast of Tabernacles, and, on account of its lofty truth, enraged the people so that an attempt was made to stone him, from which he escaped by miracle.

(Matt. xxi, 15.) Here is a beautiful picture. The children are present with Jesus in the temple, and are shouting his praises.

More

Curative power is contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more, it costs the jobber more and it is worth more to the consumer. More skill is required in its preparation and it combines more remedial qualities than any other medicine. Consequently it has a record of more cures and its sales are more than those of any other preparation. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine to buy because it is an honest medicine, and thousands of testimonials prove that it does actually and permanently cure disease.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Mississippi Conference will convene at Paulding, Friday, July 10, 1896.

Delegates will please send their names to Mrs. S. S. Cope, Paulding, Miss. Provide yourselves with certificates from your depot agent. Conveyances will meet the trains at Vossburg, Q. and C. railroad, Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11. Let us have a full attendance.

MRS. B. F. LEWIS, Sec.

Woodville, Miss.

District Conference.

The Aberdeen District Conference meets in Aberdeen, June 25, at 2 P. M. Delegates on arrival will report at the Methodist Church. Those who expect their wives to accompany them will please notify me at once.

AMOS KENDALL.

Aberdeen, Miss., June 6, 1896.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

There is lots of pleasure, satisfaction and health corked up in a bottle of HIRES Rootbeer. Make it at home.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,
MRS A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office, Or to Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Cottage fronting the Tabernacle. It has undergone thorough repairs and is painted. Water on premises.

For particulars address,

REV. MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,
(New No. 2311 Carondelet St.,
New Orleans, La.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

Read Our Great Premium Offer!

THE STORY OF METHODISM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD,

FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE PRESENT TIME.

This book, by Rev. A. B. Hyde, D. D., is a large octavo, profusely illustrated, and most beautifully bound in silk cloth.

It is a book which should be in every Methodist household. We are making it possible for anyone to afford it. The publisher's price is $3.50. We will send it postpaid for $1.50 to any subscriber who has paid or will pay to June, '97.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans,

Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

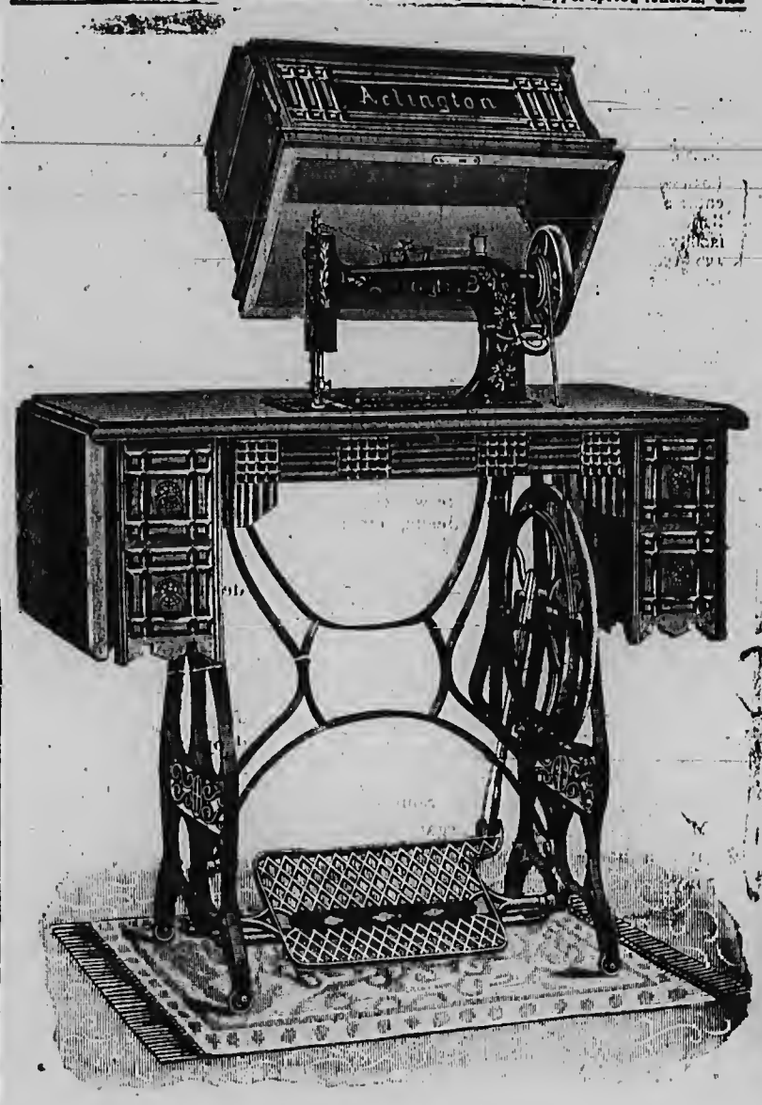
The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.



"ARLINGTON B."

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high-arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one needle-threader, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dia motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC BOBBIN WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—THE "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOOSE PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. O. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-MedineCo?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO.,
26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Right in Sight Sure Saving Shown

We'll send you our General Catalogue and Buyers Guide, if you send us 15 cents in stamps. That pays part postage or expressage, and keeps off idlers.
It's a Dictionary of Honest Values; Full of important information no matter where you buy. 700 Pages, 12,000 illustrations: tells of 40,000 articles and right price of each. One profit only between maker and user. Get it.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
511-516 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

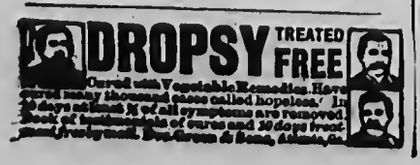
EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Car fare paid.
DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges
NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.
Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $10. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)



Cured with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases called hopeless. In 10 days at least ¾ of all symptoms are removed. Book of testimonials of cures and 10 days' treatment free. Dr. Greene & Sons, Atlanta, Ga.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE FAR-OFF LAND.

BY ROSAN COOLIDGE.

So far!—Is it so far, then, that dear country
Which hearts expectant claim as theirs,
Counting the years as slow which patient come and go,
And make no answer to reproach our prayers?

Is it so far? For, at times, it seemeth
More dear, familiar, close than aught beside,
Bounding our mortal day, lying beside our way,
Only the little veil of flesh to hide.

Is it so far? When those who have gone thither
Seem so near always—always near and sure,
Loving and aiding still, sharing our joy and ill,
Lifting our burdens, helping to endure.

Is it so far, then? I can not believe it,
When the veil parts, and rends, and lets us through,
The first surprise of bliss, I think, will be in this—
That the far-off was nearer than we knew;

That what we mourned as lost was close beside us,
Touching us every day in every spot;
While, blinded with dull tears, groping through faithless years,
We were upheld and led, and knew it not.

Let us not call it far, the heavenly country;
It bounds our little space like viewless air,
And, while we sorrowing say that it is far away,
We touch it, all unknowing, everywhere.

—Congregationalist.

Ethel's Great Mistake.

Ethel lived in Southerly, in the prettiest of white cottages, with the whitest of white-painted blinds, and the daintiest of gardens running all around the house, way out to the neat gravelled walk beyond.

Ethel was a very fortunate girl, for she was the only child of a mother who loved her dearly, and the only grandchild of an old grandfather whose only wish was to see his "little girl," as he called her, happy.

But with all her blessings, Ethel had one fault, which got her into a great deal of trouble, and which, before she was cured of it, made many enemies for her and caused her to be the most unpopular girl in school.

Ethel's great fault was selfishness. She demanded of her schoolmates so much attention that, at all the little picnics of the school, there was sure to be some one who would say: "Let us leave Ethel Grey at home! She makes us wait on her until I do not want to go if she is invited!"

Ethel was always greatly mortified when these things reached her ears, and for a few days she would be more considerate. But within a week the old habit would come back to her.

In a little while the children all learned to avoid Ethel's house, and even the boys forgot their politeness and ran until they were past her door and out of sight of her window. Thus, you see, that, by the time Ethel was fourteen years old, she was a very unpopular girl indeed; although she was very kind to the poor, and none ever called upon her to help in any church or Sunday-school work without getting a generous response. But to be thoughtful every day was more than poor Ethel could do. And it was this fault which brought to her the greatest sorrow of her young life.

One day, Ethel's Aunt Avis, an old lady from the far West, came to make a visit and was at once so pleased with Ethel's pretty manners and sweet face that she spoke her admiration in terms that delighted both Ethel and her mama.

But it was not long before Aunt Avis began to notice Ethel's indolence; and the old-fashioned aunt was so surprised that, although a guest, she spoke of it frequently.

"I wonder," said she one day to Ethel's mother, "that you permit Ethel to go on in this way. Because, my dear, you are spoiling a lovely girl who will some time blame you for not telling her of her fault. See! She is in the garden now ordering her grandfather about."

Ethel's voice came through the window:

"I have dropped my hatful of flowers. Grandpa, please pick them up!"

Ethel's mother smiled, but Aunt Avis looked very serious, indeed. The next time she saw Ethel she said gently:

"My dear, do you not think that you could be more helpful to your mother and ask less of those around you?"

But Ethel only blushed at the rebuke and went on as before. The day Aunt Avis went home Ethel was unusually domineering.

"Aunt Avis," said she, "I wish you would finish knitting my mittens before you go. And I want you to make some of that nice cake, and help me arrange these plants in the window-garden, and help me at ever so many things besides."

Aunt Avis said nothing, but if Ethel had not been so self-absorbed she could easily have seen the peculiar expression which came into her aunt's face. A week after Aunt Avis's departure there came a letter which drove Ethel nearly wild with grief and mortification.

"I am going abroad," said the letter, "and I had hoped to take Ethel with me, as I know she would enjoy a Winter in Italy. But, although the plan is a cherished one of mine, I must give it up, for I see that she would be a burden to me instead of a companion. I am an old woman, and need a pair of willing feet and clever hands. Tell her that I am as much disappointed as she."

Ethel's grief was really pitiful, for she saw that she had lost the chance of a lifetime. But, although the lesson was a severe one, it was of much help to her, for it showed how great her fault appeared to others, and it taught her to do better at once. That was a year ago. And if you could see Ethel now you would find her one of the most popular girls in school and the most helpful, and all on account of that one lesson.—New York Ledger.

Don't Cut Off Your Nose to Spite Your Face.

Anger is a short madness. The less we do when we go mad the better for everybody, and the less we go mad the better for ourselves. He is far gone who hurts himself to wreak his vengeance on others. The old saying is, "Don't cut off your head because it aches," and another says, "Set not your house on fire to spite the moon." If things go awry, it is a poor way of mending to make them worse, as the man did who took to drinking because he could not marry the girl he liked. He must be a fool who cuts off his nose to spite his face, and yet this is what Dick did when he had vexed his old master, and because he was child must needs give up his place, throw himself out of work, and starve his wife and family. Jane had been idle, and she knew it, but sooner than let her mistress speak to her, she gave warning, and lost as good a service as a maid could wish for. Old Griggs was wrong, and could not deny it, and yet because the parson's sermon fitted him rather close, he took the sulks, and vowed he would never hear the good man again. It was his own loss, but he wouldn't listen to reason, but was as willful as a pig.

Do nothing when you are out of temper, and then you will have the less to undo. Let a hasty man's passion be a warning to you; if he scalds you, take heed that you do not let your own pot boil over. Many a man has given himself a box on the ear in his blind rage, ay, and ended his own life out of spite. He who can not curb his temper carries gunpowder in his bosom, and he is neither safe for himself nor his neighbors. When passion comes in at the door, what little sense there is indoors flies out at the window.—Spurgeon.

"As Thyself."

He who rudely flings a crust to a beggar has, indeed, supplied food for a hungry body, but has robbed both himself and the beggar of what was their due—himself of the privilege of showing forth the spirit of Jesus, and the beggar of the glimpse of a noble life. Self isolation is self-destruction. We need the incitement of virtue which comes from association with the lowly and needy quite as much as they need our help. God has so ordered this world that none have greater need to beg than the self-satisfied; and none are so poor that they may not become God's almoners, if they will. All depends on the heart. If the Spirit be within, his fruits, gentleness, and goodness, the kindly heart, and the generous hand, will be manifest.—Rev. C. W. McCormick.

The Family.

Nothing else can be used with so great effect to meet the obstacles presented by distance, and the other hindrances to public worship, as the home. The home is always in contact with the vast numbers of the unchurched, both in city and country. It is, so to speak, always on the ground. It brings to its task something of more worth than mere intellectual qualifications or professional enthusiasm, and these forces await the development and the direction which the church can give, if it will apply its energies and resources to the work with anything like the way in which it has spent itself over the Sunday-school and similar institutions. In the judgment of the sociologist, that can not be a healthful or permanent arrangement of the forces of the church which does not distribute them proportionately among the three great forms of social institutions represented by the family, the congregation and the larger bodies formed out of the latter. The family is a primary social institution. It is the most universal in its inclusion of members and in its presence. It is the most constant in its influence. It comes into closest contact with persons of all ages and sex, though it touches especially the young, and it is the great channel of woman's influence. To develop into all their complex relations the other social institutions, and yet keep the life of the family sound and vigorous, is the great task of modern society.—The Century.

Recreation and Diversion.

A good rule to live by in these days when there is such a mental strain upon women, as well as upon men, is to go out in the evening as often as you stay at home, and stay at home as often as you go out. We want to alternate things a little in this world. Variety is not only the spice, but the medicine and tonic of life. A change is good for us all. Live in a rut and you will think in a rut. Going out evenings does not necessarily imply the expenditure of money if the domestic purse will not bear it. We need not go to the theatre, to a concert, to a lecture each time that we venture out. The best society in this world is that of our friends—those whom we know to be our friends, to be sympathetic with our beliefs, to be in touch with our surroundings. An evening at the house of friend; or they at our house, is relaxation and diversion from the day's thoughts. Unfortunately in our larger cities we know so little of this neighborly feeling, so little of that community intercourse that makes life in smaller places so much the better worth the living. In the greater cities it is the exception, rather than the rule, that we know those who live next door to us. The people living in the same house with us are often as far removed from us as if they lived in Honolulu. But friends we all have, some more, some less, and the very fact of seeing other faces takes us out of ourselves, lifts us into new spheres of thought, gives us new ideas, and takes us away from what we have to face on the morrow.—Selected.

A Word of Appreciation.

Dr. J. B. Young, editor of the Central Christian Advocate, says in his paper: "Recently, at a table, presided over by a young housekeeper, and surrounded by a goodly company of friends and strangers, a guest said, casually, after tasting a dainty dish: 'Mrs. Blank, this salad is delicious. Who made it?' The lady of the house replied: 'Thank you, I have been trying a new recipe. I am glad you like it.' That seemed to be all of the matter; but the next day, when the guests departed, to one of them the lady said: 'I am very grateful for what you said about my salad. I had been worrying about that dinner—it seemed too simple and plain for such an occasion, and I thought nobody was enjoying it. The salad was a new dish, and I was especially anxious that it should be nice. Your kind words went right to my heart and lifted a weight from my very soul. I am thankful.' Since a single word of appreciation may be fraught with encouragement and cheer, there ought to be many more of them spoken."

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

The Conditions of Healthful Living.

In the first place it is quite evident that due regard for the welfare of the body does not permit one to eat a full meal immediately following very hard labor, either physical or mental. The vital energy has become depleted and needs a period of rest, during which it can gather its scattered powers and prepare them for exertion in a new direction—because the labor of digestion is labor, just as much as that of digging a trench or plotting a novel, though in a different way.

The exhausted housewife who drops in her chair at the dinner table, after having prepared food for a large family, declaring that she is "too tired to eat," states in a non technical phrase a truth which students of the science of nutrition have long recognized. A suitable period of rest should intervene before any solid food is taken into the stomach. The middle-aged person who feels an unaccountable "drowsiness" soon after dinner should recognize that it is the demand, becoming imperative, of nature calling for the opportunities to do its work of digestion, and the rest of the system naturally falls into the condition of repose which will aid the natural processes.

Observe yonder group of laborers upon the public highway. They have never received technical education; but an intuitive sense directs their movements. Their dinner is at hand, awaiting their attack in a row of tin dinner pails; but they have an hour for the meal, which can easily be despatched in a fourth of the time. They throw themselves upon the grass by the roadside, resting for a few minutes—perhaps indulging in some light sport or "horse play." Then the meal is taken, and the remaining half hour is given to a post-prandial rest. These men simply realize that they feel better by dining in this way; and though their meal is probably far from attractive in its composition, yet it gives them health and strength, with plenty of brawn and muscle for their laborious occupation. Crudely, they obey nature.—Good Housekeeping.

The hereditary consequences of strong drink are something appalling. A specialist in children's diseases, who has for twelve years been carefully noting the difference between twelve families of drinkers and twelve families of temperance ones, reports that he found the twelve drinking families produced in those years fifty-seven children and the temperates sixty-one. Of the drinkers twenty five children died in the first week of life, as against six on the other side. Among the children of the drinkers were five who were idiots, five when older became epileptics; one, a boy, had grave chorea, ending in idiocy; five more were diseased and deformed, and two of the epileptics became by inheritance drinkers. Ten only of the fifty-seven were normal in body and mind. On the part of the sixty-one of the temperates, two only showed inherited nervous defects; five died in the first week of weakness, while four in later years of childhood had curable nervous diseases, and fifty were in every way sound in body and mind. There could scarcely be a more conclusive demonstration in favor of abstinence from intoxicants on the part of those who assume the responsibility of parentage.—National Temperance Advocate.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

GRITS PUDDING.—One egg beaten separately, one level tablespoon of butter, two teacups of sweet milk, one teaspoon (rounding) of baking powder, one and a half teacups of grits. After having boiled in clear water till tender, and water well drained off, salt to taste. Mix yolk of egg with the grits, add butter, milk, baking powder, and salt; stir in gently the stiff white of the egg; bake for twenty minutes, or till it looks like a corn pudding. A nice breakfast dish. At table, while hot, spread on a little more butter. What is left is very nice, sliced and fried like mush, or made into small cakes, and fried like potatoes.

I envy no man that knows more than myself, but pity them that know less.—Sir T. Browne.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

NEW ORLEANS, June 3, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have an absolute remedy for Consumption and all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also for Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Wasting. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY CURED. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Postoffice address.

Sincerely,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige.—EDITOR.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH, 1895.

Chicago Limited.
No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6.50 P. M.
Solid, Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with Pullman Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.
No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20 A. M.
Through Pullman service to Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.
No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 9:30 P. M.

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexcelled.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:05 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,
AND TO ALL POINTS
North, East, North-East, AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST
To CINCINNATI
AND
THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
R. H. GASBATT, A. G. P. A.,
No. 219 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.
Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

ROSE POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

TERRE HAUTE, IND. A School of Engineering. Mechanical, Electrical, Civil Engineering, Chemical courses. Well endowed. Extensive Shops and Foundry. Modernly equipped Laboratories in all departments. Expenses low. Address C. L. MEES, President.

Church Organs

Made by the Mason & Hamlin Co. are the finest in the world.

We have them at prices from $75 up. They can not be equaled in tone or delicacy of touch.

Write for catalogue and particulars.

LUDDEN & BATES S. M. H.,
1027 CANAL STREET, - New Orleans, La.

OBITUARIES.

DANCER—Death has visited our community again and taken from us JAMES WILLIE, daughter of James M. and Pelona Dancer. She was born March 21, 1872, and departed this life at her home in Crystal Springs, Miss., April 28, 1896. She joined the Methodist Church when quite young, under the ministry of Rev. W. B. Lewis, and was converted at the first meeting held at the Sam Jones Camp Ground. As a member of the church, she was faithful to her vows, keeping them for conscience sake. She always attended the services of the church. Her place was only vacant when sickness or absence from town necessitated. It has never been my pleasure to know a better Sunday-school scholar. Her lessons were well prepared, and she seemed to understand the import of the sacred Word. As a young lady she possessed the priceless virtues, modesty, gentleness, and refinement; and while her convictions were deep and clear still she had due regard for the opinions of others.

She had made every preparation for the change, and departed this life with a firm trust in her Savior. Her mother preceded her about two years to the spirit world. She leaves a father and sister, with a host of friends, to mourn her departure.

The death angel never removed from this world a child more faithful, or a member more loyal to the church and its institutions. Her opportunities were not great, nor advantages many, but her all was the Lord's. Trusting, as we do, in the precious promises of the Lord, we believe she has gained that rest that remaineth to the people of God, where she can spend eternity with her Christ and his angels. May the God of all grace and comfort abide with the bereaved father, sister and relatives!

M. L. BURTON.

DANCER—The following resolutions were adopted by the Sunday-school at Crystal Springs, Miss., on the death of Miss WILLIE DANCER:

Whereas, In the providence of God, on April 28, 1896, the gentle spirit of Miss Willie Dancer took its flight from earth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, as a Sunday-school, we feel a keen sense of bereavement in the removal from our midst of one so kind and gentle, so refined and unassuming, the beauty of whose Christian character was always in evidence.

Resolved, That, as a Bible class, we submissively deplore the loss of one of our members ever faithful in attendance, ever diligent in Scripture study, and cherish the hope that "some sweet day" we may meet in the bright beyond.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, and to the Meteor and NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE with request for publication.

CALIDA MORTIMER, for Com.

FLOWERS—H. C. FLOWERS died March 27, 1896. He was born May 10, 1850, near the town of Meadville, Miss.; was married to Lucy A. Simmons in March, 1873.

A good man gone, a community bereft, a church deprived of one of its best members. Our brother was a man of noble qualities. Being always kind and amiable in disposition, he drew many friends. I never knew a man whose death caused greater sorrow to a community. He joined the church and became a Christian early in life. He held the office of steward, trustee, and Sabbath school superintendent at different times, and was faithful in all these duties. He was a man noted for punctuality. I never knew him to break a promise that it was possible for him to fulfill. He valued the truth, and was greatly disappointed in anyone who would utter a falsehood.

Though active in his pursuits in life, he was never in good health; and being conscious that he must soon die, he arranged all his business in such a way that his lonely wife will not suffer for earthly comforts. But the greatest comfort that he leaves for her and all his loved ones is, that he has accomplished the work of his life; he has gained a home in heaven. He told his wife not to weep for him. While almost in his dying moment, he sang the sweet songs of Zion, which was one of the enjoyments of his life. He had already beheld something that he could not explain, but said it would be explained hereafter. Farewell; we hope to meet you.

J. M. GRIFFING.

MCKENZIE—ALICA CHRISTINE, daughter of M. L. and Rachel McKenzie, departed this life April 28, 1896, aged twelve years.

She had been sick more than a week with indigestion, but able to go about most of the time until Sunday evening before she died. She was suddenly taken worse, and died in three days. All was done for her that loving hands and physician could do, but her mission was ended, and God saw fit to call her home. She suffered more than tongue can tell, but she bore her suffering patiently. She seemed to know she was going to die. Time and again she called her parents, sisters and brothers to her, and hugged and kissed them.

It was sad to part with little Tenie, but God knows best, and we bow in submission to his will. A lovelier, happier, or more useful child I have never known, always ready to do what pips and mama told her to do, and was so good and kind to everyone.

Weep not, father, mother, brothers and sisters; she has only crossed over the river to join the angel band to sing the praise of Christ, our Savior, forever. Let us live so we will meet little Tenie in the "sweet bye and bye, on that beautiful shore."

AUNT.

WADE—After an illness of thirteen days Willis AUBREY WADE passed from a world of trouble and sorrow to the realms of eternal glory, May 18, 1896.

He was the pet of the household, and the baby child also, which endeared him so much the more. He was a child that everyone loved, because of his being such a good Christian boy. His little schoolmates all loved him. The Lord doeth all things well.

Sister, we have only a little flower plucked from this dying world to be planted in the glory land, nevermore to wither, but to shine brighter throughout eternity. The sublimest thing of all is, he never had to be reminded of his little prayers at night.

May the Holy Spirit comfort the bereaved ones, and save them all with an everlasting salvation! The Lord said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Glorious thought: the little children all have a home in heaven. Weep not, for your loss is his eternal gain, and it's only a bright jewel that should bind you closer to God, heaven, and immortal glory.

W. L. BLACKWALL, Pastor.

Gallatin, Miss.

Texas Advocate please copy.

CASTEEL—WILLIAM RENCHIE CASTEEL, infant son of W. G. and Julia Casteel, of Meridian, Miss., died May 9, 1896, in the second year of his age.

A bright, intelligent boy, he had come to that enjoyable period of childhood when lisping prattle and innocent gambol attracts and pleases most. His frequent visits to our home were as the coming of an angel. Many a time has he cheered the homesick sister, who tenderly imprinted the kiss of affection in memory of absent loved ones. When weary with the duties of the school-room he has often refreshed our spirits by his cheerful smile and loving caresses.

His days, though few, were not in vain. He lived to brighten the home circle, to dissipate the cares of the weary and cheer the lives of the sad and despondent. While we shall miss him much, how deep the sorrow and what an aching void in that home bereft of "Beoy!"

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Meridian, Miss.

CLINGMAN—MINNIE TENNELLE CLINGMAN was born July 1, 1881; was converted and received into the M. E. Church, South, in Homer, La., by J. D. Harper, in 1891; died April 20, 1896.

In many respects she was a remarkable child. Studious—she excelled in her books; kind—she was always thoughtful of father and mother; tender—she was gentle with her playmates; hence she was a universal favorite. She was good from little childhood. She must have had premonition of her death. It is said, "Death loves a shining mark." It was so in this case. The young and old were at her funeral. A large concourse of weeping people followed her remains to the grave. Surely she is in the Christian's home. We will meet her in the "sweet beyon l."

P. A. JOHNSTON.

HAVIS—WILLIAM HAVIS died May 12, 1896. The subject of this sketch was summoned by the angel of God after a long illness which he bore with patience. We have lost a good moral man—a man that will be missed by a great many. He was married to Miss F. McKenny in early life, who died several years ago. He also lost his three only daughters, which was all of his family. He was all alone in this world of sin and sorrow fighting the battle with one's self.

He leaves an aged sister, other relatives and a number of friends to grieve after his loss; but our grief is only but for a moment, for the time will not be long until we all shall meet beyond the golden shore, where sickness, sorrow and parting is no more.

I. F. G.

FORD—Mrs. MARY ETHLINE FORD was born July 24, 1870, and died May 16, 1896. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, in Homer, La., in the Fall of 1891. She was married to Mr. D. W. Ford, March 13, 1888. She was the mother of two little boys. She was a bright and cheerful Christian, a fond mother, and a devoted wife.

Her remains were followed from the church to the grave by a large concourse of people. Her end was peace. Sleep on, but not forever.

P. A. JOHNSTON.

ZINN—We, the committee appointed by the Paris circuit Quarterly Conference on memoirs, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, it has pleased the all-wise God to call from labor to rest our beloved brother A. J. ZINN, a steward of the Paris circuit M. E. Church, South. Bro. Zinn was true to every charge committed to him; one who loved the church, and dealt honestly with all men; a kind and affectionate husband and father.

Resolved, That we bow submissively to the will of God in this dispensation of his providence, and pray that his comforting grace may attend the bereaved hearts of his wife and children; that a copy of these preambles and resolutions be presented to the family of Bro. Zinn, and to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE for publication.

Respectfully submitted.

W. A. BRUNER,
G. M. LAGRONE,
J. B. COUNTICE.

HODGE—We, the committee appointed by the Quarterly Conference on memoirs, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, It has pleased the all-wise God to call from labor to rest our beloved brother, S. F. HODGE, a steward of the Paris circuit M. E. Church, South. Bro. Hodge was true to every trust committed to him. He was one who loved the church, and dealt honestly with all men; a kind and affectionate husband and father.

Resolved, That we bow submissively to the will of God in this dispensation of his providence, and pray that his comforting grace may attend the hearts of his stricken family, and comfort them in their sad bereavement; that a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of Bro. Hodge, and to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE for publication.

W. A. BRUNER,
G. M. LAGRONE,
J. B. COUNTICE.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Love is an alchemist that can transmute poison into food. Colton

We guarantee
Heiskell's Ointment
to quickly and permanently cure Eczema, Scald-Head, Barber's Itch or Tetter without the aid of internal medicine.
50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., PHILADELPHIA.

The Dixie Sewing Machine Works

Can make your old machine as good as new. No matter how old or how much worn. All worn-out parts are taken out and replaced with new ones; the machine is fitted up as perfectly as a new machine.

Machines can be

Japaned and Ornamented,

making the Machine work the same as new. All work is guaranteed for 5 years, and if not satisfactory, will be repaired Free of Charge during that time. We have a lot of

- Rebuilt Machines -

for sale. Price, from $7 to $12, with attachments. We handle New Machines, Standard Makes, prices ranging from $18 to $35, with all attachments. We invite investigation. We will allow 30 days trial on our new Machines, and will be glad to open correspondence with those in need of one. We handle Needles, Shuttles, Attachments, Oils, Parts, etc., for all makes of Machines. We solicit mail orders.

Yours respectfully

Dixie Machine Works,
P. O. Box 101. WINONA, MISS.

L. S. WIDNEY. DAVID ZABLE.
WIDNEY & ZABLE,
COAL, HAY, CORN, OATS and BRAN,
Coal, Coke and Wood Yard and Feed Store,
MAGAZINE, NEAR VALENCE STREET.
Main Office: HENNEN BUILDING, No. 802 Common Street, NEW ORLEANS

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,
Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... Coke.
Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST. Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS

W. W. CARRE,
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES and PEALS In The World.
PUREST BELL METAL. (Copper and Tin.)
Send For Price and Catalogue.
HANK BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD

BELLS
Best Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
E. W. VAN DUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.
CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES,
Best Imported Copper and E. India Tin.
Best Rotary Yoke Wheel and Friction Rollers.
Improved Construction Guaranteed. Price, Terms, etc., Free.

A BELLS all Kinds, Big and Little—for Church and School, for Fire, Factory and Farm. AMERICAN
Catalogue FREE.
BELL FOUNDRY CO., NORTHVILLE, MICH.

CAPON Springs and Baths
Alkaline Lithia Water. Baths any temperature. Also superior iron water. Convenient to reach. Secure rooms early at the coolest, healthiest, pleasantest place in this country at which to spend the summer and fall months. The best medical service should it be needed. Write for terms. W. H. GALE, Capon Springs, W. Va.

F. R. Hardon,
Millinery,
Old No. 29 Chartres Street—New 139.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

LOUISIANA POULTRY YARDS,
We are now ready to ship eggs for hatching, from 23 varieties. Pure Bred fowls. Young cocks for sale. Write for prices to
J. M. GOSLIN.
Ruston, La.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.

THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.
PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.
Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.
C. H. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
807 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST
Photographs
—GO TO—
- SIMON'S, -
929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle,
CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,
Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,
TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,
Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,
WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,
Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited,
224-230 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

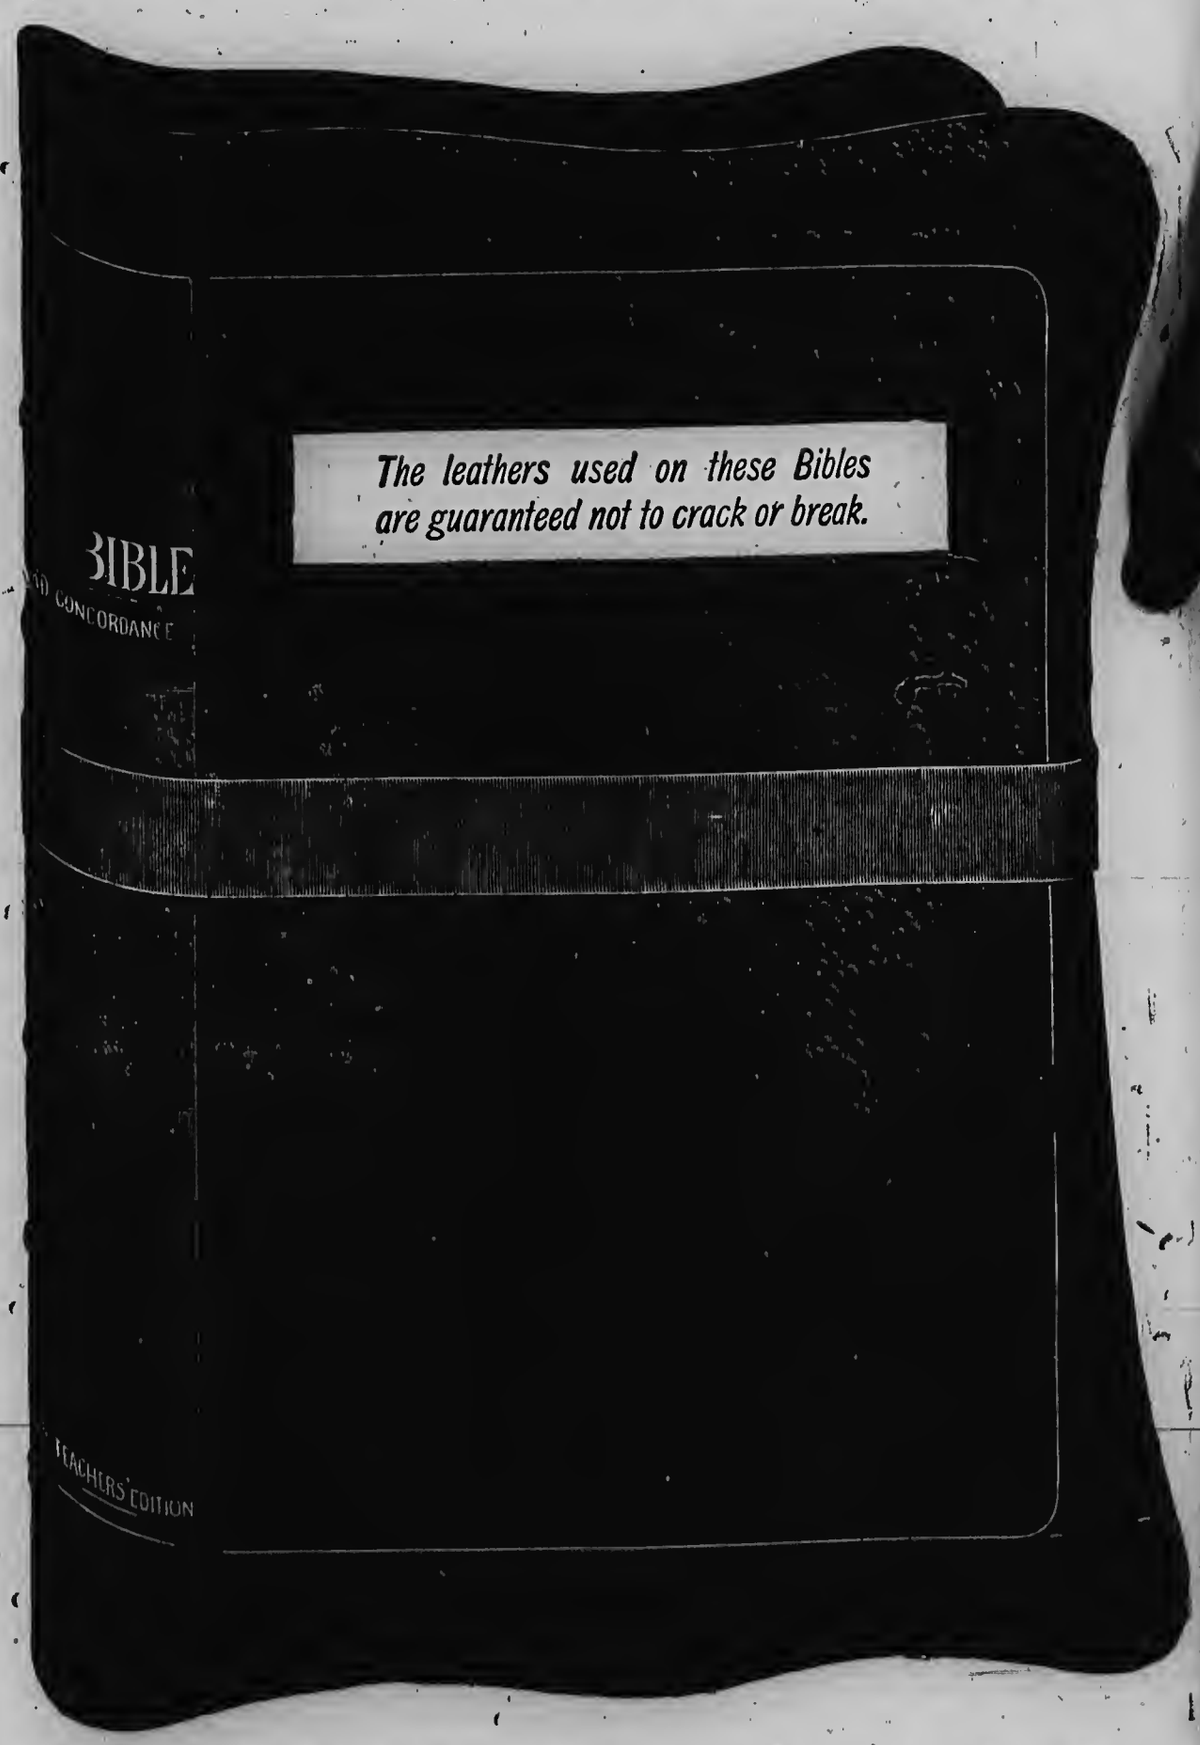
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



We handle this Bible in three styles, as follows: Minion Type, $1.75; Bourgeois Type, $2.45; Emerald Type, $1.25. In order to get any one of these at these rates, it is necessary to pay your subscription a full year in advance, viz., to June, 97. (A little later it will be July, '97.)

Notice that there are three sizes—$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 51 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The children's subscription for a monument to the late Eugene Field now amounts to the sum of $834 56. In this sum, 1 319 of the little subscribers are represented.

The Rivers and Harbors bill, which had passed the House and Senate, was vetoed by President Cleveland. It was, however, taken up again by both branches of Congress and passed over his veto.

On June 7 severe storms prevailed throughout Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Michigan, with heavy rain, and in several sections with cyclonic manifestations.

The annual convention of the Association of Y. M. C. A. General Secretaries of North America began in the Y. M. C. A. building in Cleveland, O., on June 5. Two hundred and fifty secretaries were present.

Representative Price called at the Treasury Department on June 8 to look after the sugar bounty payments. He received assurances that the bounty under the $5,000 000 appropriation would be paid by July 10.

Although Senator Morgan and a few other ardent friends of Cuban independence are endeavoring by every means in their power to secure further action by Congress upon Cuban matters, that body is not likely to do anything further prior to adjournment, which is expected to take place in a very few days.

S. Aro, one of the chiefs in the Naval Department of Japan, will arrive in San Francisco on the next steamer from the Orient with contracts in his possession for the building of two warships for Japan. One of these, it is understood, will go to the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco, and the other to the Cramps Company, in Philadelphia.

FOREIGN.

It is understood that leading Spaniards and Cuban autonomists are preparing a statement declaring their willingness to accept mediation by the United States for ending the war on the basis of autonomy, provided that the United States guarantees peace.

The Pan-American Medical Congress is to be held in the City of Mexico during November next. Two thousand physicians are expected to attend, but the difficulty has arisen as to how they are to be accommodated in the face of the scarcity of good hotels in that city.

The first serious collision between the British-Egyptian expedition advancing up the Nile into the Soudan and the forces of the Mahdi has occurred, and the result has been a heavy defeat for the dervishes. The scene of the fight was Ferket, a place on the Nile about a hundred miles south of Wady Halfa.

The committee of the Chamber of Deputies has unanimously approved the bill making Madagascar a French colony. Previous to so doing, the committee was addressed by M Hanotaux, the minister for foreign affairs, who stated that the United States government, in a firm and close dispatch, had insisted upon the necessity of a categorical declaration regarding the annexation.

At the concluding meeting of the British Woman's Temperance Association, in London, various resolutions of a temperance character and urging the government to insist upon Armenian reform were carried. Votes of thanks were accorded to Lady Henry Somerset and Miss Frances Willard amid great enthusiasm. Miss Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset are greatly pleased with the work concluded by the British Woman's Temperance Association.

OUT OF WEAKNESS comes strength when the blood has been purified, enriched and vitalized, the appetite restored and the system built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOOD'S PILLS cure nausea, sick headache, indigestion, biliousness. All druggists. 25c.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 5-16	— —
Ordinary	5 1-16	— —
Good ordinary	6¼	— —
Low middling	6⅞	— —
Middling	7 1-16	— —
Good middling	7¼	— —
Middling fair	7½	— —
Fair	8 15-16	— —
Galveston middling	7⅞	— —
Mobile middling	7	— —
Memphis middling	7½	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	2	2 3-16
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3½	3½
Prime yellow	4	4⅛
Gray white	4 5-16	4⅜
Choice white	4 3-16	4⅜
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —
RICE.
No. 1	1¾	— —
Good	3½	4
Fair	3¾	3¾
Prime	4⅛	4⅛
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 25	1 70
POLISH, ₩ ton	15 00	14 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 75	3 80
Fancy	3 40	3 50
Clinice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 10	— —
Winter wheat patents	3 35	4 00
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	— —	1 85
Cream meal	1 80	— —
Grits	1 90	— —
Hominy	3 50	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	28
Yellow	40	41
Mixed No 2	— —	38
OATS:
Western	— —	27
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	80	85½
HAY:
Prime	15 00	19 00
Choice	— —	52 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	8 00	8 75
Prime Mess	8 55	8 20
Rumps	8 00	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	7½	8½
Shoulders	5	— —
Sides, short rib	5½	5½
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9	10½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4⅝
Sides, short rib	4½	— —
Sides, long clear	4½	4½
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	13¾	— —
Common	15¾	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
No-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	17	— —
Western Dairy	15	14
Common	9	11
LARD:
Refined	4½	5
OILS:
Coal, bbls	8½	— —
Coal, cases	15½	— —
Cotton seed, crude	15½	20
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	90	1 00
Louisiana, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	1 40	1 20
Western	— —	— —
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	1 15	1 55
Western	— —	— —
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	4½	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	4½	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	8	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	72
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 50	4 00
Young Chickens	1 50	5 25
Chickens, Southern	3 50	5 25
Young	90	5 40
Turkeys, Southern	9 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	11	— —
Southern	11	11½
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	15	10½
Louisiana	2	3½
Burry	5	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	5½	4
Dry salted	8	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	5 00	— —
Meal	17 50	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

CHILLIFUGE possesses all the virtues and none of the disagreeable features of Quinine used by Physicians.

When you feel shaky, Malaria has singled you out as a victim. Take CHILLIFUGE; it will rout the trouble at once.

CHILLIFUGE is a superb appetizer, and is highly valuable for weak and sickly children, as well as the aged and feeble.

CHILLIFUGE is guaranteed to cure Chills and Fever. It makes rich blood. Children love it.

CHILLIFUGE contains Iron that does not blacken the teeth, nor constipate the bowels. Makes rich blood.

CHILLIFUGE does not require a knitting needle or a stick to mix every dose. No iron filings to settle at bottom of bottle and irritate a weak stomach.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

MARRIAGES.

SANDERS - TURNER.—At Eden Church, five miles north of Carrollton, June 3, 1896, by Rev. W. H. Sanders, Dr. J. W. Sanders to Miss Sallie Turner, both of Carroll county, Miss.

STAFFORD - STEWART.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Oak Grove, May 28, 1896, by Rev. Samuel S. Bogan, Mr. Wm. J. Stafford to Miss Nellie J. Stewart, both of Cameron parish, La.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

An American Express Co. "Travelers Cheque"

is practically a certified cheque made payable to one's order, for a fixed amount named on its face, in gold or its equivalent, at 20,000 places throughout the world, by an extensive list of Bankers and Hotels.

More available, economical, and secure than Letters of Credit, Circular Notes, or other forms of Travelers' Credit.

Cheques, rates, and further information may be obtained at any Agency of the AMERICAN EXPRESS CO., or at the principal offices of the Company.

65 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,
78 MONROE ST., CHICAGO, 45 FRANKLIN ST., BOSTON.

THE NEW SONG BOOK.

—THE EVANGELIST.—

Get It. Get It Now.

Its Contents

Supply as many songs as any Revival, Camp Meeting, Epworth League or regular service requires. Here is a list of a few songs:

COPYRIGHTS:

Christ Is All.
De Massa ob de Sheeplol'.
He Keepeth Me Ever.
Hold the Light up Higher.
I am Resting in the Savior's Love.
I'll Go with Him.
I've Been Washed in the Blood.
Say, Are You Ready?
The Stranger at the Door.
Turned away from the Beautiful Gate.
While Jesus Calls
When the Roll is Called on Yonder.
When the Beautiful Gates Unfold.
Will You Go?—and many original ones.

HYMNS:

At the Fountain.
Come, Ye sinners.
Come, Ye That Love the Lord.
Consecration.
I Am Coming to the Cross.
Is not This the Land of Beulah?
I want My Friends to Go.
Jesus, Lover, etc. (new and old tunes).
Lord, Revive Us.
Oh, Happy Day.
Savior, Breathe, etc. (new tune).
There is a Fountain.
The Great Physician.
The Child of a King, and two dozen more of the old favorites.

More than 70 songs in all.

Its Price

Is an important feature. 10 cents a copy. $4 for 50, not prepaid. $7.50 for 100, not prepaid.

A Book for Every Reader

In the congregation is made possible at this price.

Still Better!

For a few days it is offered at even lower prices: $3 for 50, or $5 for 100, not prepaid. This is only to introduce it.

Address: LYMAN F. JACKSON, Alexandria, La.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 10, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene ten days after close of Camp Meeting.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visit or from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
JNO. E. MICHAEL, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

Sunday-School Conference.

Program of Sunday-school Conference to be held during the District Conference of Jackson district, Mississippi Conference, at Canton, Miss., Thursday, July 2, 1896:

1. Sunday-school Work—Rev. A. Breland, Dr. F. Carruthers.

2. Who Should Compose a Sunday-school?—M. H. Moore, W. E. Harris.

3. How Should the Bible Be Used in the Sunday-school?—J. Wilson Brown, Lolher Narth.

4. How to Build Up and Hold a Class in Sunday-school—R. S. Rickells, W. L. C. Honulcutt.

5. Our Sunday-school Literature: Its Value and Importance—A. F. Watkins.

6. The Qualifications of a Sunday-school Teacher—H. W. Featherstun.

Brethren are requested to make preparation on the topics assigned them.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

Notice.

The Sam Jones Camp Ground is located on the L., N. O. and T. R. R., about 150 miles from New Orleans, and about 110 miles south of Vicksburg. The grounds are being beautified more and more every year. The water supply is abundant and pure. Whoever drinks from [illegible] never forgets their crystal waters. The church owns and controls this valuable property.

The camp meeting will open on the twenty-first of August, and will continue ten days. Anyone wishing to make inquiries about board and other matters can write to J. F. Camelia, secretary of the association, or to Rev. D. F. Goloe, P. C. The camp ground being located in the bounds of the Gloster charge the religious services, in the absence of the presiding elder, will be conducted by D. F. Goloe, P. C.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

CORINTH DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Booneville station	June 14, 15
Iuka station	21, 22
Gautown circuit at Double Springs	27, 28
Booneville circuit at Asbury—(Wed.)	July 1
Kossuth circuit, at Bethel	4, 5
Corinth circuit, at Mt. Carmel	18, 19
Iuka circuit at Bethel	25, 26
Marietta circuit, at Marietta	Aug. 1, 2
Brown's Creek circuit, at Siloam	8, 9
Blue Springs cir., at Sherman—(Fri.)	14
Ripley and New Albany sta., at N. A.	15, 16
Ripley circuit, at Jacob's Chapel	22, 23
Jonesboro cir. at Camp G—(Wed.)	26
New Albany circuit, at Wells' Chapel	29, 30
Saltillo circuit, at Moreesville	Sept. 5, 6

The District Conference will be held at Ripley, July 8-12.

HESLEP R. TUCKER, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Lexington and Tchula, at Lexington	June 20, 21
Pickens, at Richland	21, 28
Durant station	July 4, 5
Salem, at Salem	11, 12
Kosciusko station	18, 19
Poplar Creek, at Bethel	25, 26
Belzoni, at Lawrence Deadning	Aug. 1, 2
Falls, at Bethel	7
Ethel, at Marvin	8, 9
Ackerman at Liberty Hill	14
Walthall, at Shady Grove	15, 16
Eupora at Eupora	21, 22
Chester, at South Union	28
Ashton	29, 30
Ebenezer, at Bethany	Sept. 4
Rural Hill	5, 6
Louisville

The brethren will have their church registers and records of Church Conferences at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Greenwood station	June 6, 61
Carrollton station, at Longview	2, 3
Winona	July 4, 5
Valden, at Valden	11, 12
Indianola, at ——	18, 19
Winona circuit, at Elliott Springs	24, 25
West, at Bowling Green	Aug. 1, 2
McNutt, at Sunnyside	8, 9
Carrollton circuit, at ——	15, 16
Lillon, at Sidon	21, 22
Isabella and Brooklyn, at ——	28, 30
Black Hawk, at ——	Sept. 5, 6

District Conference at Valden, July 2. The first day will be devoted to Sunday-school interests.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Okolona station	June 20, 21
Nettleton circuit	July 3
Verona station	4, 5
Shannon circuit	11, 12
Prairie circuit	18, 19
Sparta circuit	25, 26
Houston mission	27
Rose Vista circuit	Aug. 1, 2
Houston	8, 9
Aberdeen circuit	14
Quincy	15, 16
Tremont circuit	21
Fulton	22, 23
Amory	29, 30
Okolona circuit	Sept. 5, 6

The District Conference for the Aberdeen district will convene at Aberdeen, June 25, at 2:30 P. M., Bishop Fitzgerald presiding.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—THIRD ROUND.

Water Valley—Wood Street	June 14, 15
Coffeeville, at Pisgah	20, 21
Oxford station	27, 28
Tatum at Dogwood Flat	July 4, 5
Charleston, at Tillatoba—(Tues.)	7
Slater City	11, 12
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill	18, 19
Torrance cir., at Kossuth ch'l—(Tues.)	21
Tocowpola, at Salem	25, 26
Water Valley cir., at Church G—(Tues.)	28
Water Valley—Main Street	Aug. 2, 2
Slate Springs, at Cross Roads	8, 9
Elsey, at George's Chapel—(Tues.)	11
Paris, at Pleasant Hill—(Fri.)	13
Pittsboro, at ——(Fri.)	15, 16
Chapel Hill, at ——(Fri.)	21

H. C. MORSHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Greenville	June 13, 14
Clarksdale	20, 21
Jonestown	27, 28
Coahoma and Duncan, at Friendship	July 4, 5
Hill House circuit, at Australia	11, 12
Friar's Point	18, 19
Hollandale circuit, at Stoneville	25, 26
Gunnison, at Pfalia	Aug. 1, 2
Rosedale and Bolivar, at Bolivar	8, 9
Cleveland and Shelby	15, 16
Belen circuit, at Bellevue	22, 23
Farmersville circuit, at Dubbs	28, 30
Tunica circuit, at Evansville	30, 31
Lula circuit	Sept. 5, 6
Laherton and New Salem, at Sandy B.	11, 12
Arcola circuit	13, 20

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Bolton, at Raymond	July 4, 5
Edwards, at Rieves Chapel	11, 12
Hermanville, at Sarepta	18, 19
Crawford Street—Vicksburg	25, 26
South Vicksburg	26, 27
Harriston at Hardtom	Aug. 1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	8, 9
Fort Gibson	15, 16
Utica, at Learned	25, 26
Mayersville, at Sharkah	29, 30
South Warren, at ——	Sept. 5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at ——	15, 13
Rolling Fork, at Redwood	19, 20
Anguilla at Bethel	26, 27
Warren, at ——	Oct. 3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WAMBS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Gloster, at Macedonia	June 27, 28
Jefferson Street	July 3-5
W. C.	4, 5
Roxie, at McNair	10-12
District Conference, at Fayette	13-15
Fayette, at Ebenezer	25, 26
Wilkinson at G. H.	Aug. 1, 2
Barlow, at Brandywine	8, 9
Amite, at H. G.	15, 16
Meadville, at N. P.	22, 23
Percy Creek	29, 30
Woodville	30, 31
Washington	Sept. 3, 4

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 13, at 2 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Brookhaven	June 20, 21
Wesson	27, 28
Martinville at Pine Grove	July 4, 5
Summit, at Tepinaw	11, 12
Magnolia and Osyka, at Magnolia	18, 19
McComb City	25, 26
Adams	25
Caseyville, at Bethany	Aug. 1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews	2, 3
Providence, at Providence	11
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	15, 16
Crystal Springs—(8 P. M.)	16
Hazlehurst	22, 23
China Grove	25, 26
Whitestown, at Maddy Springs	Sept. 5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Martin's	12, 13

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

THE SECRET OF A BEAUTIFUL SKIN IS FOUND IN CUTICURA SOAP

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. NEWBERY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Newton and Hickory, at Hickory	June 13, 14
Walnut Grove, at White Plains	20, 21
Lake, at Lawrence	27, 28
Decatur, at Decatur	July 4, 5
Homewood, at Zion Grove	11, 12
Carthage, at Singleton's	18, 19
Clarksburg, at Lindsey's Chapel	21, 26
Shiloh, at Bethany	Aug. 1, 2
Westville, at Goshen	8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect	15, 16
Montrose, at Cedar Grove	16
Raleigh, at Paw Springs	22, 23
Hillsboro, at New Providence	1[illegible]
Steen's Creek, at Richland	29, 30
Brandon	30, 31

District Conference will convene at Decatur, July 3.

The following Committees of Examination have been appointed: For License to Preach—H. P. Lewis, W. M. Williams, H. R. Vandenberg. Admission on Trial—J. T. Nicholson, R. Bradley, P. D. Hardin. Deacon's Orders—C. McDonald W. M. Sullivan, J. H. Foreman. Elder's Orders—R. F. Witt, C. C. Ivans, P. H. Howie.

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Lecompte	June 13, 14
White Chapel	13
Washington, at Waxia	20, 21
Simsport, at Riverside	21
Melville	27, 28
Grasse Tete, at Cottonwood	July 4, 5
Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire	18-20
Alexandria	26, 27
Pineville, at Oak Grove	27
Olla at Pollock	Aug. 1, 2
Anacoco at Holly Grove	3
Natchitoches	8, 9
Montgomery	13
Columbia at Faulk's Chapel	12, 13
Centerville, at ——	19
Boyce and Collax, at Camp Ground	21
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground	24
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	18-30

District Conference will meet at West Alexandria, July 23-28. Sunday-school Conference on the twenty-third.

The following committees have been appointed: For License and Admission on Trial J. L. Hoffpauir, R. S. Isabell J. M. Johnston. For Ordination—Wm. Schuhle, J. E. Riddle, J. R. Roy.

V. D. SKIPPER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Haynesville, at Colquit	June 13, 14
Lisbon, at Arizona	20, 21
Dunbeoly, at Mt. Zion	27, 28
Gibsville, at Gahsville (W. and Th.)	July 1, 2
Vernon, at New Prospect	3, 5
Farmerville, at Freeman Chapel	18, 19
Downsville, at Cen'l S. house (T., W.)	21, 17
Ruston, at Douglas	28, 29
Vienna	Aug. 1, 2
Homer (Wed and Thurs.)	5, 6
Valley, at Blocker Chapel	8, 9
Minden, at Pine Grove	12, 13
Arcadia, at Simsboro	22, 23
Bienville	23, 26

District Conference will convene in Arcadia, July 9. Sunday-school Conference on the eighth, at same place.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

A Chance to Make Money.

The times are hard, but there always seems to be opportunities for those who are willing to work. In the past month I have made $175 above all expenses, selling Climax Dish Washers, and have attended to my regular business besides. I never saw anything that gave as general satisfaction. One should not complain where they can make $6 a day, right at home. I have not canvassed any, so anxious are people for Climax Dish Washers that they send after them. Any lady or gentleman can do as well as I am doing, for anyone can sell what everyone wants to buy. I think we should inform each other through the newspapers of opportunities like this, as there are many willing to work if they knew of an opening. All you have to do is to send for a sample Dish Washer. This company does not ask any pay until you have them sold. For full particulars address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio. After you have tried the business a week, publish the results for the benefit of others.

Popular with the Republicans.

The old reliable Texas and Pacific railway will be the "popular route" for the great National Republican Convention at St. Louis, commencing June 16. No effort will be spared to provide for the comfort of all who use this line. Special trains will be run, with elegant day coaches and chair cars, and Pullman Palace Sleepers, and you will be wise to send in your name now for necessary accommodations, as the attendance promises to be the largest for any convention yet held.

Tickets will be sold via the Texas and Pacific railway at rate of ONE LOWEST LIMITED FIRST-CLASS FARE FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 8, 9, 13, 14 and 15, good until June 21, 1896.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on nearest Texas and Pacific agent, or GASTON MESLIER, G. P. and T. A., Dallas, Texas.

Agents Wanted.

For Manual of Bible Geography. A volume of the intensely interesting pages of Diagrams, Maps, Illustrations, and Descriptions of the Holy Land. Should be in every Christian home. An invaluable help to Bible readers. Cloth cover, $2.75. Liberal terms. Address. RAND, MCNALLY & CO., Chicago.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 25. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2078

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

MY SERVICE.

I asked the Lord to let me do
Some mighty work for him;
To fight am dat his battle hosts,
Then sing the victor's hymn.
I longed my ardent love to show,
But Jesus would not have it so.

He placed me in a quiet home,
Whose life was calm and still,
And gave me little things to do,
My daily round to fill;
I did not think it good to be
Just put aside so silently.

Small duties gathered round my way,
They seemed of earth alone;
I, who had longed for conquests bright
To lay before his throne,
Had common things to do and bear,
To watch and strive with daily care.

So then I thought my prayer unheard,
And asked the Lord once more
That he would give me work for him
And open wide the door;
Forgetting that my Master knew
Just what was best for me to do.

—Exchange.

Communications.

The Rules We Keep—No. 2.

No man who really wants to be saved from sin will do, or be inclined to do, a dishonest thing. He will not knowingly buy or sell goods that have not paid the duty or tariff. All smuggling of goods in, and all quirks and schemes to evade the tax, or to swindle the government or a corporation, will be offensive to him. There is great need for deep thought on this rule at this time. So many persons seem to think it is a less offense to swindle the government or a corporation than it is to act dishonest with an individual. The sin is precisely the same in the sight of God. There is not an iota of difference.

No good man—no man that wants to do right—will either give or take things on usury, or unlawful interest. He will be no more disposed to charge too much per cent., either for money or for goods, than he would be to give it. Men who long to be saved from sin are men of integrity. God will not dwell in a hard, grinding, penurious, avaricious heart. No man can serve God and mammon at the same time. If he loves God, he will hate mammon; and if he loves mammon, he will hate God. In this age when so many are in a mad rush to make money, to get rich quick, it becomes us to pause on this rule and to ponder it in our hearts deeply. There are multitudes of people all over the land who think they have made two cents when they get a letter with the postage stamp uncanceled. They remove the stamp and use it again. That letter does not pay the duty. The government is swindled out of two cents, and the whole people of the United States have to be taxed to make up for it. It is stealing two cents. It is an unlawful act. Men who want to be saved from sin will not do such things—they will not give or charge usurious per cent.

An earnest and honest soul, bent on salvation from all sin, will strive to avoid uncharitable and unprofitable conversation, and he will not speak evil of magistrates and ministers. These are evils commonly practiced in this country. They are very insidious and very pernicious. They do not comport with the idea of being saved from sin. Once every four years in this country we are especially given to speaking evil of magistrates and ministers of State. A heated political canvass is very injurious to souls. It should not be so, but it is so. It is right to take an interest in politics and in governmental affairs. These things are ordained of God, and they are meant for good. The right kind of participation in public affairs ought to be, would be, a means of grace. It shuns the preacher and one's own soul to speak evil of ministers.

All who desire to shun wrath and to be saved from sin will strive to do unto others as they would have others do unto them. This is a golden and a godly rule. If universally observed, it would make a paradise of our world. It would soften and sweeten all the relations of men and would settle all their differences. Think on this rule. It is God's rule.

No man or woman who really wants to be saved from sin will habitually do what is not for the glory of God. The wearing of gold and costly apparel to gratify pride, to make a show of wealth or to outshine some one else, is sinful. It is for the glory of self, and not for the glory of God. Some few, very few, run to the other extreme by seeing how shabby they can be, and they are really as proud of it as others are of fine clothes. Pride is sinful in whatever way it may show itself. If a man worships himself, he can not be a worshiper of God. No two beings can occupy the throne of the heart at the same time. Self must surrender to God.

It is manifest that all who desire to be saved from sin will shun all diversions that can not be used in the name of the Lord Jesus. In all matters of this kind it would be well for each one to ask himself this question: "Can I engage in this and maintain a penitent, prayerful, pious spirit?" If not, let it alone. Your soul is worth more to you than any form of pleasure. If you find more joy in dancing, card playing, attending theaters, or in any other diversion, than you do in Bible reading and prayer, the root of the matter is not in you. There is no fixed desire to be saved from sin. The proof of it is seen in the fact that you love diversions more than you love God.

Singing songs and reading books that do not tend to increase the knowledge and love of God hurt and wound the soul. Light, trashy, frivolous songs soon dissipate all desire to be saved from sin; and worthless and bad books drive God out of the heart. Just here our young people ought to stop and think and pray. One may sing his soul to hell, or rend his soul to hell. It matters much what kind of songs we sing and what sort of books we read. These are silent forces that tend to make us good or bad. Sing good songs or none. Read good books or none. They poison the soul or paint it with beauty divine.

No man who desires to be saved from sin will be given to softness or needless self-indulgence. He must be a sturdy, stalwart man if he really desires to do his best for God. A soft, flabby man can not be a strong Christian. Needless self-indulgence is only another form of self-worship. It is a waste of money, time, mind and strength. It hurts the soul.

A man bent on laying up treasure on earth can not lay up treasure in heaven. If the world is first, God can not be. If a man loves money more than he loves God, one had as soon expect a camel to go through the eye of a needle as for that man to get to heaven. Read the Word and see.

No man can desire to be saved from sin who borrows anything, or buys goods, without a probability of paying for them. Honesty is essential to piety. It is indispensable to good neighborhood. There must, at least, be the probability of paying before there is either borrowing or buying. It were better to beg or starve than to borrow or buy when there is no probability of paying.

As things are in this country, the failure of one to pay what is justly due may cause forty others to fail in paying what they owe. This is a far-reaching sin. It involves communities. It affects the relations and combined interests of men. The probability one has of paying may depend on the promptness and probity of those who owe him. If one fails, many fail. The Lord of all the earth will fix the guilt on the right party or parties in the great day. This rule is a good one—often broken, too rarely kept.

GILDEROY.

In the Living Present.

On the small island, Estero, in Florida, has domiciled a communistic society, the Kareshan Unity, organized on the Bellamy plan. It has two thousand members, is fanatically religious, has no family life, raising its progeny at public expense. The centre of the colony is called New Jerusalem. Cyrus R. Teed is prophet and priest. "What fools these mortals be!"

According to Dr. Carroll, in The Forum, the increase of church membership in our country during the last decade is nearly twice as large as the increase of population. Some will hold that this is encouraging; others, discouraging. Has the standard of church membership been lowered? Are pessimists correct when they assert that the world has captured the church? Well, church members are supposed to be followers of the meek and lowly Jesus.

Give to the wind your fears. Our country is not in danger because the foreign exceeds the native population in prominent cities, such as New York, Chicago, San Francisco, etc. Only thirty-seven per cent. of Berlin's inhabitants are native Germans. We advocate cosmopolitanism. A patriotism with its shibboleths and sibboleths is not of Christ.

The Pharaoh rat, imported from Egypt for the purpose of exterminating the native gray rat in West India, because the latter injured sugar cane, has accomplished the expected design. But the imported rat is still bent of extermination. It is now paying attention to the young chickens and turkeys. We in the United States have imported the English sparrow. The sparrow destroys many hurtful insects, but—ugly word—but the sparrow has driven away all song birds.

The District of Columbia, directly controlled by Congress, is sadly in the clutches of King Alcohol. For every hundred and ninety-five inhabitants, women and children included, there is a saloon. Are we a nation of drunkards? No wonder that poverty abounds. Are the churches doing their duty in combating the use of intoxicants?

The Bible is but little read. Contents familiar only to a few. Preachers take only a brief Scripture motto for their text, and base thereon their metaphysical, ethical, or politico-economical harangues. It should not be thus. Preaching should be expounding the Scriptures.

The ancient Roman author can not have meant the United States Senate, happily adjourned a few days ago, when he wrote: "Senatores boni viri; senatus mala bestia." Individually, good men; but collectively, irrationally mean. Well, it is said that Tillman, when in New York, wears a swallow-tail coat. It is only when in South Carolina that he wears his pitchfork attire. ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

Rev. T. B. Malone.

Thomas Banister Malone, son of Jordan A. and Letitia Andrews Malone, was born in Williamson county, Tenn., Nov. 27, 1852, and died of pneumonia at West Point, Miss., March 10, 1896. He received his education in the Franklin (Tenn.) High School; was converted Aug. 12, 1866, at Mt. Carmel, a Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Williamson county, Tenn.; licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of Franklin station, Aug. 16, 1873 (William Burr, P. E.); admitted on trial into the Tennessee Conference at Columbia, Tenn., Oct. 9, 1876; was received into full connection at Clarksville, Oct. 13, 1878, and ordained deacon by Bishop H. H. Kavanaugh; transferred to the North Mississippi Conference, October, 1879, and ordained elder at Columbus, Miss., December, 1880, by Bishop Robert Paine; was married at Goodlettsville, Tenn., to Miss Lizzetta C. Shivers, Sept. 22, 1880. Bro. Malone served the following charges: 1876, supply Bedford circuit, Tennessee Conference; 1877, Oakland mission; 1878, Forest Grove mission; 1879, Gallatin circuit; 1880, Austin station, North Mississippi Conference; 1881–2, Deer Creek circuit; 1883–4, Senatobia station; 1885, Corinth station; 1886, Winona station; 1887–90, Crawford circuit; 1891–2, Ripley and New Albany station; 1893–4, Grenada station; 1895–6, West Point station. This is a brief record of the twenty-one years of the man's itinerant life.

Bro. Malone was a delicate man when he joined Conference, and his reception was opposed by some very influential members on the ground that he would break down in a little while and be left a charge on the Conference. But he developed into a strong man, and after twenty years of hard work was a stronger man than when he entered.

As a preacher, he ranked with the foremost men of our Conference. He was fearless in his denunciation of sin; hence made some enemies; but the best people in his charge loved him to a man. He had many gifts. His power over children, and the young people generally, was wonderful. He was always in demand at Conference for the children's mass meetings. He was counted a revivalist among us; was fitted for revival work, and loved it, and was never happier than when his own church was in the midst of a great revival. He loved to preach the doctrines of the church, and his sermons were clear and strong. He probably had no equal in the Conference as a singer, and there are but few of us who have not been moved to tears and inspired to a better life under the power of his song. He was quick and impulsive, and sometimes sharp even toward his friends; but if he found he had wounded a friend, he was much more deeply wounded. He was as free from bearing malice as any man I ever knew; was as tender as a girl in his feelings, and loved his friends with all the fervor of his soul. He was able and eloquent in prayer, and especially in prayer at the home altar. I have not known him surpassed in tenderness and eloquence in the family worship.

In his early life he learned the printer's trade, and had a fondness and peculiar fitness for the newspaper work as long as he lived. He was a racy and entertaining writer, and was nearly always sought by the leading papers to report the work of our Annual Conferences. For a number of years he edited our Conference journal, and as to how well it was done, his work speaks for itself. He loved the life to which God had called him, and resisted many tempting offers to enter again the newspaper world. He never failed to go promptly to the work to which he was appointed, and to enter into the fight for the Master with all the strength of his soul. Sometimes he felt that his appointment was a mistake, and that he would do the best work possible, and at the end of the year ask for a location; but God so blessed him in all his work that he always went up to Conference happy.

He probably did the best work of his life in his last charge, and had a stronger hold on the hearts of the people of West Point than any other man who has served them. All places of business in the town closed for his funeral. The large new church could not accommodate all the people who wanted to attend. Bros. Kendall, Sullivan, Thames, Burroughs, Shumaker, Thomas, Gibbs, and Duncan—members of the Conference—were present, some of them taking part in the service. The pastors of all the other churches in town were present.

His last sickness was short. He conducted his prayer meeting service Wednesday evening, but told the congregation he was too sick to sing. He was not thought to be dangerously ill till Sunday night following. He was then found to be in a dying condition. When told by his loving wife that he must soon leave them, he said: "It's all right. You and the children will soon come on." When his sisters Eva and Sallie came he said to them: "It's all right. It's all right." He was too weak to talk much—gave a few directions about some private matters, and peacefully died. We buried him in the beautiful cemetery at West Point by the side of Bro. Babb, who died pastor of the church nineteen years before. He requested to be buried with the people of his own charge.

Personally (pardon me), the writer of this memoir feels that he has lost one of the truest, sweetest friends a man ever had. For more than twenty years he had been like a brother to me. Not one sharp word from his pen or lips during all those years. He had no trouble that was not made known to me. His joys also were all shared with me. I have felt no such loss in the death of any man. I knew him to be a good man. And he was ready for the call of the Master. We shall see him again, and hear him sing.

I ask a place in the affections of every member of the Conference for his wife and six children.

JNO. W. BELL.

Friar's Point, Miss., June 5, 1896.

The Seashore District Conference.

The Seashore District Conference met at Moss Point, Miss., May 28, 1896, Rev. C. A. Powell, P. E., in the chair. All the preachers in the district except two were present, and one or more laymen from several of the charges. The presiding elder announced that Rev. J. G. Sibley, pastor of Vancleave circuit, had surrendered his credentials and retired from the ministry of the M. E. Church, South. The opening sermon of the Conference was preached by Rev. P. Howard in the absence of Rev. W. H. Huntley, who had been appointed to preach the same.

It appeared from the reports from the several pastoral charges that the entire district is in a very healthy condition, spiritually and financially.

Among the visitors present were Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and Rev. T. L. Mellen, Conference secretary of the Board of Missions.

Revs. G. P. McKeown and C. W. Huff, having passed creditable examinations, were recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial in the traveling connection.

The hospitality of Moss Point can not be surpassed, and the Conference attested their appreciation of the same by suitable resolutions which were passed by a rising vote.

The next Conference goes to Lumberton.

It was resolved that the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE be requested to publish the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we are glad to have Rev. W. C. Black, D. D., editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, with us, and rejoice to know through him of the good condition of that paper; that we regret that the ADVOCATE does not visit every Methodist family in the district.

Resolved, That this District Conference believes every local preacher should be present at the sessions of the District Conference, and that non-attendance on the part of unordained local preachers will be prejudicial to the renewal of their licenses.

Resolved, That we have heard with pleasure of the establishment of a Law Department in Millsaps College with Edward Mayes, L.L.D., as professor of law, and feel assured of the success of the undertaking. The graduates will be the peers of the graduates of any other institution in this State. We commend Dr. Mayes and his Law Department to the favorable consideration of young men seeking to fit themselves for practicing law. We rejoice at the continued prosperity of Millsaps College, and endorse it as worthy of patronage. We know of no better college within reach of our people.

Resolved, further, That we are sorry the presidents of East Mississippi and Whitworth Colleges are not with us, but recommend them to the people of this district.

Whereas, The fifteen pastoral charges of the Seashore district report only two P. and H. M. auxiliaries, while the same show seven local aid societies; And, whereas, Our Discipline, par. 389, instructs the Board of Church Extension to organize a department to be known as the W. P. and H. M. Society, whose object shall be to unite the effort of Christian women and children in the collection of funds by private effort, personal solicitation, membership fees, devises and bequests, for procuring homes for itinerant preachers and otherwise aid the cause of Christ; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deplore the negligence hitherto manifested in regard to this important work; that we urge the pastors of this district, as did the last Annual Conference, to use every effort to connectionalize these local aids; that the pastors of this district be requested to furnish the district secretary with the names and addresses of the president and secretary of their local societies, and where in those charges they have no organization the names of two ladies who may be used in this way.

The following lay delegates were elected to the Annual Conference: Dr. W. R. Thompson, Gen. T. S. Ford, J. S. Allison, J. C. Clower. Suitable resolutions of sympathy were passed regarding the decease of Dr. T. S. West, formerly presiding elder of the Seashore district, and also resolutions of sympathy were passed on the afflictions of Rev. T. W. Adams and wife in the loss of their daughter, who was laid to rest but a few days before the opening of the Conference.

Rev. C. A. Powell is a capital presiding officer, dignified and genial, and keenly alive to everything that pertains to the interest of Methodism in the district. C. F. EMERY, Sec.

Columbia, Miss.

Centenary College.

Our late commencement, as the readers of the ADVOCATE know, was a complete success in every way, and everybody is encouraged with the future outlook. Our friends have helped us very much, and we sincerely hope they will not weary in well-doing. No one can do better work, or work that is more far-reaching, than to aid in sustaining a Christian college. When a man gives his money he invests it where it will bring the largest returns for the longest time. When a man induces a young man to enter the college he starts an influence which will increase and enlarge through all the future. When two such doors are open to everyone to enter and do good, the wonder is that the doorways are not crowded with eager well-doers.

I wonder that no Louisiana Methodist has ever left a legacy to Centenary College. Many have died while the college has been struggling to do its work, but as far as I know we have never had a legacy left us by a Louisiana Methodist. Still we have not been forgotten. There is coming to us this Fall a legacy of about two thousand dollars left us by Col. Mills, of Atlanta, Ga. The Board intends to use this money upon the buildings. It will take that much and more to put us in proper condition. Now, if any of our friends wish to supplement this legacy, and thus help us in our projects of repairing, we shall receive the same with gratitude. There are many who can do this and will feel the better for having done it.

I call the attention of all our preachers to the fact that between now and September we expect them to do some active canvassing for students. Remember it is your college, and to your interest to fill it with students. Take a catalogue and go out among your people and work for us. A month of earnest work on this line will be as recuperative to your jaded powers as a trip to the mountains or seaside, and will tell wonderfully on our prosperity. "Lend a hand," brethren, in this work of the Lord. We have plenty of catalogues which will be sent on application. As far as I may be able, I shall spend the vacation in canvassing; but I can not do without the help of my brethren.

C. W. CARTER.

Centenary College, Jackson, La.

MAN PROPOSES—GOD DISPOSES.

BY REV. JOEL SWARTZ, D. D.

A plan is in this life of mine,
Though what, is little known;
Shaped by a will and hand divine,
How different from my own!

For often has my pride proposed
This way my feet should tend,
To find a sovereign will disposed
The journey and the end.

Man's way, I find, is not in man,
To order and control;
There lies above his partial plan
A larger, grander whole.

—Exchange.

Communications.

"Hull-Gull."

Doubtless the above caption suggests to the reader many a delightfully spent evening in the old home circle. The game is too universally known to demand any explanation. I have my first child yet to meet who is not thoroughly acquainted with its every detail. No matter what the materials used—whether corn, peas, or the shining chinquapin—whoever throws out the challenge must hold something in his hand. It is deemed unfair to give the "hull-gull" with an empty hand.

Now, I have thought how rigidly is this principle applied among men. In no business or profession into which men enter do ye agree that the "hull-gull" shall be thrown out without an evidence of something in the hand.

It is not sufficient that the physician shall possess fine literary and professional attainments. He must also evince skill as a practitioner of the healing art. The attorney must not only be learned in the law. He must be able so to conduct a case as to secure a verdict occasionally, else he soon finds himself without a client—a phenomenon not infrequently observed. Horace Greeley could write learned volumes on "What I Know about Farming;" and yet his achievements as a tiller of the soil were the laughing-stock of the world. And Horace does not belong in a class to himself. His tribe is numerous at the present day. They theorize beautifully, but men who make a success of agriculture as a business ignore their counsels. This class of men cry out, "Hull-gull," but in vain do we look for the grain in the palm.

When our Master walked and talked on the earth he found many who made loud professions: many who said to those about them: "We are the teachers: we are the children of Abraham; we are the chosen of God;" to all of which his oft-repeated reply was: "Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." "Let your light so shine before men that others may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

The Sermon on the Mount, the Parables of the Talents and the Wine, the twelfth chapter of Romans, the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, and the entire Book of James, to say nothing of the general scope of Bible teaching, are conclusive evidence that Jesus and the inspired writers regarded the religion of our Lord as intensely practical in its bearings. Indeed, its practicalness is its life without works; faith, "experiences," and professions are dead. There must be something to show; no "hull-gull" without a seed in the hand. A profession is one thing; a corresponding life is another. An experience is valueless before God and men if it fails to carry with it all of those evidences by which only men can judge?

Our Savior announced the one great rule of human nature when he said, "Let your light so shine that men may see." "The tree is known by its fruits" does not apply to the overt act alone. Our words, our tempers, our thoughts, are all included. No wonder that David prayed, "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips."

In the one particular, that it serves as a most wonderful search-light to our own characters and dispositions, may the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians be counted the "greatest thing in the world."

Of late we have had much disputation through the papers and from the pulpit as to what constitutes Methodist doctrine and standards—as to the manner by which we come to a state of sanctification, and while the church has been thus at war, the criticising world has thrust sore at us. We have had most forcibly presented to us the sad picture of children in the same home going through with the "I know better" and the "I know better" bark. The same old story of the piping, and the dancing, and yet the priapiple that wisdom is justified of her children has been sternly applied. Not the when, where, and how; but the, What is the uncompromising demand of the world about us? Neither is it the what subjectively, but objectively. Not, How does it affect me? but, How do I affect others? Not, How much enjoyment do I drink from an experience? but, How much does my fellow-man reap from it? St. Paul says that we are "created in Christ Jesus unto good works." We are to be a "peculiar people, zealous of good works." "Who is a wise man and endued with wisdom among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness and wisdom." (James iii, 13.) "If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body." (James iii, 3.) "Judge not, lest ye be judged," etc. (Sermon on Mount.)

Every man is being measured and weighed for just what he is worth. Well did our Savior say, "A city that is set on a hill can not be hid." We are all epistles, known and read of all men. The open life is what men demand. If the seed is not in the palm, the hull-gull is rejected. The Calvinist says to me, "I am of the elect of God." My answer is, "What has your election done for the world about you?" The High-Church man says, "I am in the direct line from Peter," or some other apostle. My answer is: "What of that? Whom have you made the happier or better?" The immersionist says, "I only have the true mode of baptism." My reply is, "Who is the wiser or holier for that?" So, in the individual experience of men, the demand is for commensurate fruit. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law." The simple announcement of the possession of some superior gift, some experience of wonderful character, some elevation in the favor of God above others, is not enough. Men stand by only to criticise the more closely, and demand that the hull-gull hand be open. "Unto whosoever much is given, of him shall be much required."

To claim the possession of some superior gift or grace, and to give a practical demonstration of its reality, are two entirely different things.

Two men live in the same community; perhaps are members of the same church. One claims the possession of some superior blessing, and habitually discounts the piety of his neighbor because he does not make the same profession. In such a case the world demands, and has a right to demand, evidence of the existence of this higher grace. When, as is sometimes the case, it is not given, Christ is "wounded in the house of his friends."

Two preachers belong to the same Conference. One of them claims to have reached the very highest attainments in the Christian life. The other, though always leading a holy, blameless life, makes no unusual pretensions. These two men are sent to charges of about the same grade. The man who professes little goes uncomplainingly, while the other raises a cry of injustice and prosecution. Whether this is a merely hypothetical case, the world can decide. Is it, or is it not, true that the loudest complaints sometimes come from those who make the loftiest professions in the way of gifts and power? Here also the hull-gull rule applies. The man who has reached the topmost round of the spiritual ladder ought to be the most willing to "endure hardness" as a good soldier of Christ.

In the same neighborhood two meetings are conducted. One brother boasts of "the power"—result, a sore failure; no conversions, no visible results. The other, with no claims to special gifts or favors, is the means of many happy conversions, and leaves the community with the blessings of all God's people upon him. Which has the "hull-gull" hand? The sacredness of a brother's home is invaded, his religion questioned, his good standing with God doubted, because his children are not what another thinks they should be; yet in the home of the superior critic there is a skeleton in the closet. All there is not lovely. Think, brother, before you throw out the challenging hand.

In lack of patience, in lack of that charity which vaunteth not itself, which seeketh not her own, which thinketh no evil; in lack of that spirit of peace, long-suffering, and gentleness; in lack of that proper consideration for the feelings and opinions of others; in lack of that disposition not to take up a reproach against a neighbor, the ever-vigilant world stands by to demand that the hull-gull challenger shall mean something.

As in the childish sport, so in this most serious game of life, we must insist that when the challenge is given, there should be a corresponding kernel in the hand, or the hull-gull can not count.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Meridian, June 1, 1896.

Correspondence.

Over-the-Lake Waifs' Home.

Having just returned from quite an extensive trip through Mississippi in the interest of my over-the-lake home for poor, waif, orphan and needy children, I desire to ask space in your valuable paper to thank those ministers and laymen who so kindly and heartily assisted me in so many ways, and to give a few notes of my travels.

In my travels I visited Natchez, Vicksburg, Jackson and Meridian. At Natchez I found Bros. Lewis and Black at their posts of duty, and both of them being held in the very highest esteem by their people. I was sorry that quite a severe spell of sickness prevented me from preaching for these brethren. I found here a prosperous Sunday-school, and was much impressed with the number of intelligent, active adult workers therein.

At Vicksburg I was given a patient and profitable hearing by a very large audience. Dr. Andrews is beloved by all. Bro. Enochs is doing a good work, and needs a larger church. I was glad to see the plans of the new church for Crawford street. The good people hope soon to begin its erection.

At Jackson I met only Bro. Watkins, and for a few moments Bishop Galloway. The Bishop was looking hale and cheerful. He was about to leave for Georgia, I believe. Bro. Watkins, I was pleased to see, was very deeply interested in the establishment of the Methodist Orphans' Asylum. The Conference never undertook anything more needed. I do trust the Methodists of Mississippi will soon be ready to take care of their own. There are hundreds now in Mississippi who need this home. Many of them are in Catholic asylums, many of them are in the hands of strangers, and others are being held together by their poor widowed mothers who at the wash-tub and ironing table toil or by slow martyrdom of the sewing machine suffer to feed their little ones. These will hail with delight the opening of the doors. I have taken and housed in the last four years about 30 little ones from the State of Mississippi.

At Meridian that scholarly and estimable minister of God, Rev. T. B. Holloman, of East Mississippi Female College, showed me many favors. I found his college flourishing and in the midst of preparations for commencement. I am sorry that this good brother can not be retained here. What is the matter with the good Christian people of this country that the work of Christian education is so little felt? As I looked into the bright and intelligent faces of about 120 young ladies who make up this college, and thought of their future usefulness in the Church, the Home and the State, I did pray most fervently that God would burden the hearts of our people with the education of their own. In my visits in the States in the prosecution of my work, I find in the Methodist, Episcopal, Baptist, and Presbyterian Churches and Sunday-schools nearly all the officers and teachers are graduates of the church colleges of our land.

I was sorry to find Bro. Woodward still confined to his bed and on the verge of typhoid fever. While I was there the doctor declared the crisis over and henceforth prospect of recovery. An hour with the dear brother was profitable. He assured me that, when all seemed lost for this world, all seemed gained for the other. He had tested his faith and found the way clear. He was completely reconciled to God's will. May God spare him! I trust his parishioners will send the good man and his wife to the mountains as soon as he can safely travel. Bro. Van Hook is losing somewhat in avoirdupois, but is gaining in the esteem of his people. He is now planning for a protracted meeting. I was glad to find the Baptists of Meridian contemplating an orphanage for their church. This is as it should be. Let all the people see to it that the orphans at their own doors are fed and cared for; for it may be that He will say to many Christians in the great day: "In as much as ye did it not to one of the least of these, my disciples, ye did it not unto me."

The children of Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Jewish Churches in Mississippi have now among them about 200 mite boxes by which they are endeavoring to help me in my "Over-the-Lake work for Waifs." I shall be glad to send any child in Louisiana or Mississippi or, in fact, anywhere a box by mail with instructions if they will try and help our cause.

Address Waifs' Home, 141 Clio St., New Orleans, La.

ALFRED E. CLAY.

Revival at Magnolia.

MR. EDITOR: Some weeks ago I invited Rev. W. M. McIntosh to come to Magnolia and hold a tent meeting. He accepted the invitation and came, arriving here Wednesday, May 27. I began the meeting in our church on Sunday, the twenty-fourth. Dr. I. W. Cooper came Monday and remained until Wednesday morning, giving us three most excellent sermons. Everything had been arranged for a successful meeting, and we were not all disappointed. The tent was put up on the most eligible and beautiful lot in our little city, being also very near the business portion of town. Every business house closed for the services each day. The great tent was crowded to overflowing day and night, and scores of souls were converted and reclaimed at every service. Such displays of the saving power of the gospel has rarely been witnessed. Truly, it is one of the greatest meetings ever known in this State. Magnolia is alive as never before in all her history. Almost every person in the town and vicinity is converted. Men and women, young and old, from the highest to the lowest classes, have been saved. Feuds settled and enemies made friends, and everybody happy. Eternity alone can reveal the entire results. Fifty-four have been received into the Methodist Church, and others yet to be received. The Baptist Church received thirty-five, or more. The Presbyterian and Episcopal each received three or four. Hundreds were converted, doubtless, as the influence of the meeting was felt far and near. Our choir was simply superb, rendering faithful and efficient service. The universal voice of this people is one of praise to God and of gratitude to Bro. McIntosh.

Allow me to say for the benefit of those whom it may concern, that Bro. McIntosh is a remarkable man and a preacher of remarkable power. He is on fire with holy earnestness and enthusiasm. He is strictly scriptural and orthodox, and is unanimously endorsed by all denominations. He is a true, loyal son of Methodism. Our prayers and best wishes follow him.

The meeting closed here last Sunday night. The tent was removed from here to Glester, Miss., last Monday, when a meeting will begin this week.

I am grateful for the earnest co-operation of all the churches and all our people in our meeting. Pray for us, that Magnolia "may hold out."

E. F. EDGAR.

P. AND H. M. S.

EDITORS.

Mrs. H. W. Foote, of North Miss. Conference.
Miss Pauline Stafford, of Mississippi Conference
Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, of Louisiana Conference

Columbus District Meeting.

The W. P. and H. M. S. of the Columbus district held its annual meeting in connection with the W. F. M. S. in Starkville, Miss., May 26 and 27, one day being allotted to each society. Our Conference corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. S. Featherston, of Macon, was present, and, in the absence of the district secretary (Mrs. G. D. Harris, of Columbus), presided over the meeting. Her long and thorough familiarity with the work enabled her to impart much valuable information to the members and visitors present. Only a few auxiliaries sent delegates, but much enthusiasm was aroused in some but recently enlisted in the work.

Several excellent papers were read—on the work as a whole, on the reading course, on the demand for trained workers, and on the S. Myra Smith scholarship in the Scarritt Bible and Training-school. A beautiful and effective recitation, "The Master Is Coming To-Day," was rendered by Miss Ora Wright.

The presiding elder and pastor—Bros. Burroughs and Thomas—were present; also Bro. Gibbs, of Starkville circuit. Their words of encouragement and approval were very helpful, and it is to be hoped that their earnest exhortations in behalf of the work may result in much good.

Holly Springs District.

The P. and H. M. S. of the Holly Springs district failed to hold its meeting in connection with the W. F. M. S., as is customary in other districts; but Miss Lucy Matthews, our faithful district secretary, was in attendance, and, through the courtesy of our sister society, was invited to present the work, its methods and aims, to the assembled ladies.

Mrs. Hoskins kindly writes: "This paper was very instructive, and gave an insight into a work not clearly understood by our church women." [Not yet "clearly understood" everywhere, but firmly rooted in many places, and rapidly growing throughout the Conference.—Editor.]

"The Parsonage and Home Mission Society is fortunate indeed in having such an earnest worker as Miss Matthews for their district secretary. Already this work is beginning to bear the fruit of her labors. New auxiliaries are being formed, her zeal and enthusiasm are being felt all over the district, and it is predicted that the Holly Springs district will carry off the banner at the next annual meeting."

Motive Power.

A certain secular writer of the last generation, who is still much read, in a volume of charming essays gave us a chapter on "Motive Power," which was full of forceful thought and philosophic fancies. He impressed the absolute need of an incentive to exertion, dwelt largely upon the various forces influencing human action, and described with pathos lives in which the motive power was lacking or withdrawn. It was, from a merely human standpoint, a very strong article; but to those who knew the only real motive power, there was a painful sense of something wanting. The author had either consciously or unconsciously ignored the only true propelling force for a human soul—"the love of Christ constraineth us." What life can be a success in the eye of Heaven without that, and how can we succeed in any undertaking for our Master, no matter how great our zeal for the church and its institutions, unless that motive controls the springs of our actions?

Sisters of the P. and H. M. S., do not let us trust to our own energy and judgment, but, with these consecrated to "the Master's use," let us seek constantly for the guidance of the Holy Spirit, that there may be no waste of forces with us, but that we may be thoroughly "endued with power" to do Christ's work in a Christ-like way. "The world needs our help." Let us not fail to render that help because the motive power is not strong enough within us to propel us to Christ-like deeds.

Our Decennial Year.

The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society, organized by the General Conference of 1886, entered May, 1896, upon the decennial year of its existence. The society proposes to commemorate the event by suitable public services, and by a special effort to raise during the year $20,000 for general parsonage and home mission work.

At the last Annual Meeting of the Central Committee, sixty-eight applications for aid in parsonage building were received (three of these came from the foreign field), asking for $14,460 in donations, and $7,400 in loans, making a total of $21,860. Twenty-seven different donations and loans, aggregating $7,500, were made, including a donation of $250 to a district parsonage in Brazil. This first made to a foreign field, it is hoped, is a harbinger of many in the future.

The resignation of the loved president, Mrs. E. E. Wiley, tendered several times, was accepted at the last Annual Meeting, and Miss Belle H. Bennett was elected in her stead. Mrs. Wiley's talent and devotion is retained in her new position, as vice-president and general organizer.

Mrs. J. H. Yarbrough (of whom is sufficient praise to say that she is the daughter of Dr. John B. McFerrin) has been elected superintendent of the Department of Supplies, the value and utility of which is constantly being demonstrated, and for which she possesses especial adaptation.

Mrs. John J. Tigert, daughter of Bishop McTyeire, and wife of the Book Editor and editor of the Review, has been put in charge of mite-boxes and life membership certificates. In this work she is no novice, having formerly served in this capacity for the Woman's Foreign Mission Society.

Mrs. Frances Lyons, conspicuous in a noble band of home mission workers in New Orleans, has been elected a member of the Central Committee. An appropriation has been made to aid in the establishment of a boarding home for working women in that commercial city—an asylum where helpless immigrants, factory girls, and working women, can find a cheap and comfortable Christian home.

Experienced and capable teachers have been elected for the London and Tampa Schools, which, with the Greenville Industrial Home, have made commendable advance. Every department of the societies' efforts indicates growth.

The past has been a decade of seed-sowing. The coming decade challenges the highest and best powers of Methodist womanhood. Home missions are accorded a position of vital importance in ecclesiastical and national affairs. Let the church help the women in their commendable purpose to raise $20,000 this year for the rescue of those spiritually perishing in our beautiful home land.

MRS. R. K. HARGROVE,
General Secretary.

Selections.

Why Are We in the Church?

Are we in it only for what we can get out of it? Have we entered simply to be coddled and nursed, flattered and petted; or have we come in as Jesus came to earth—"not to be ministered unto, but to minister"? This last is the true idea of a church membership. Whenever anybody goes around whining that he does not receive attention enough to gratify his selfishness and vanity; whenever a church member fancies that it is the function of the preacher and other members to run about feeding him pap out of a silver spoon, that person has exactly reversed his true relation to the church. We are in the church to help others, to forget self, to save the world. The more we put out of thought of self out of sight, the nearer we come to being Christians.

No man enlists in an army with the prime idea that it is the army's business to nurse and coddle him. He enlists to fight, and the less hospital work there has to be done on him, the better soldier he is. Now the less do we enter Jesus' army to help on the cause of Jesus, not to court social or business attention to ourselves.

The church, by its incessant holding out of the advantages of an individual's entering it, has nourished a conception of the church's function that has well-nigh ruined it. The church, by its constant harping on how happy we are to be, how the members will give us social recognition, and buy at our coal yard, and call at our house, and grind our axe, has entirely too largely become a receptacle of people who are in it for what they can get out of it.—J. A. Jackson, Sr.

Gladstone, being asked what he regarded as the brightest hope for the future, replied: "I should say the maintenance of faith in the Invisible. This is the great hope of the future, the mainstay of civilization. And by that I mean living faith in a personal God. I do not hold with a 'stream of tendency.' After sixty years of public life I hold more strongly than ever this conviction, deepened and strengthened by long experience, in the reality and the nearness and personality of God."

An infidel preacher in one of the London parks was asked: "Why are you always attacking the Bible, and not any other book? Why can't you let it alone?" "I will tell you," he replied; "I won't let the Bible alone because it won't let me alone."

It's a slow process, usually — education, development, and growth. But it hasn't been so with Pearline. Pearline's success has been a wonder, from the start. All the more so when you consider the many poor imitations of it, which claim to make washing easy. These things tend to confuse people, of course. They're forced on the public by peddlers, prizes, substitution, etc. No doubt they're often thought to be the same as Pearline. We protest. Don't judge Pearline by the company it has to keep. 471

Millions NOW USE Pearline

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Revival.

On last Wednesday, the twentieth ultimo, a protracted meeting began at St. Maurice, under the auspices of our beloved pastor, W. T. Currie, who secured the valuable assistance of Rev. J. L. Morrill, evangelist, of Cartersville, Ga.

We had two sermons a day by Bro. Morrill (except one sermon by Bro. Currie) at 10 A. M. and at 8 P. M., lasting, as said, ten days, when our presiding elder took charge on Saturday, thirtieth ultimo, and Sunday morning, when Bro. Currie wound up Sunday night.

Before the services were inaugurated, our church, with a few exceptions, was financially and spiritually dead; there being only two or three members who prayed in public and as many more who claimed conversion, making about six members in comparatively good standing When one was requested to pay his pastor, or any church dues, he or she generally said they didn't have it and couldn't get it before the harvest of the crops. With a few exceptions to this, we see how dead, spiritually and financially, St. Maurice Church was before Bro. Morrill waked her up.

When it was stated that we were to have this meeting, it was said that St. Manrice Church had been tried too often—she was too hard a case to do anything with, and people were too busy with their crops to attend meeting; but the wonderful result, far-reaching in good done, shows how little people were appreciating the power of the gospel of Christ through a "chosen vessel." There were forty-six accessions to our church, with the reclamation of many backsliders. These forty-six accessions, as a rule, were brightly converted. There were a good many professions of sanctification. The work done by the grace of God is going to stand through time and eternity. I never saw a community come in closer touch, both saint and sinner. Old sinners melted in tears, and little children, saying, "How happy!" Men, who had been enemies for years, fell upon each other's neck in loving forgiveness. I was told by one individual, who a week previously thought religion a failure, that he never saw such undeniable and instantaneous effect and answer to prayer. Glory to God! for his manifestation of his power and the work done at St. Maurice Church. Hosanna to the King of kings! Rejoice, ye children of God, rejoice! How precious and sweet is the name of Jesus! It is no trouble now to get prayer. Nearly everyone who joined promised to hold family prayer and are doing so. From hearts of many people around the family altars is the sweet name of Jesus ascending to heaven. Amen!

Bro. Morrill, by the grace of God, is a power for great good, and he will ever live in the hearts of the St. Maurice people. May God bless him abundantly! As for Bro. Currie, can we say anything too good for him? He has endeared himself to the people of his charge, and he shall never want. May heaven's choicest blessings rest upon him and his family!

The people of St. Maurice are under many obligations to some of the sisters of Montgomery for the assistance rendered in singing, principally among whom were Misses Eva and Carrie McCain and Misses Eva Macham and Bertie Roberts. May God bless these dear sisters!

We ask the prayers of all good Christians everywhere for the spiritual welfare of the members of St. Manrice Church.

R. F. HARRISON,
J. M. HYDE,

St. Maurice, La.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. F. B. Ormond: "The second Quarterly Conference for Linwood charge passed away with the month of May, being held with Hopewell Church, May 30, 31. The Lord was present with us. Bro. Jones, our beloved presiding elder, was in the spirit of the Master, and gave us three gospel sermons which we trust will do much good."

Rev. B. P. Jaco, P. C., Olive Branch circuit, June 8: "We are moving right along; finished and painted the new church at Kelly; have two more on the way. Have just closed a gracious two days' meeting at Oak Grove; had six conversions and lots of happy testifying Christians. Bro. J. W. Lowrence was with us in abundant usefulness and full gospel. May God bless him!"

Rev R. C. Grace, Olla circuit: "I have just closed a glorious meeting at Pollock. The meeting lasted ten days. The Lord was with us in great power. There were eighteen accessions, and can not tell the number of conversions. Rev. J. R. Roy was with me, and did very near all the preaching. Bro. Roy is my sort of a preacher. 'For as he is allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so he speaks not as pleasing men, but God, which tryeth our hearts.' We expect to have two new churches dedicated on our new circuit this year. All the praise to God!"

Rev. Herman W. Knickerbocker, Lake Providence, La., June 4: "We have more public spirit and enterprise here than any town I know of in the State. Improvements going on all the time. Two large stores will be built in the near future—one, a brick with iron front. The cry of 'hard times' is heard, of course; but as an index to our financial status, ten new pianos have been sold here in the last two months. The church is keeping pace in this material progress. We have just mounted a splendid new bell—the result of the individual efforts of Bro F. H. G. Taylor. The carpenters are now at work adding a second story to the parsonage. When completed there will be two large rooms (16x16, with 11 feet ceiling) up stairs, making eight rooms in all. This work is being done by our ladies' 'Parsonage Society.' They supply every demand for the preacher's comfort and convenience. Our congregations are large and sympathetic. Have had ten accessions recently at the regular services. God is with us."

Rev. O. L. Savage, Cockrum circuit, Sardis district, North Mississippi Conference, June 4: "Some think it inconsistent with humility to publish the account of revivals. It would be did the pastor claim all the credit for accessions; but as everyone possesses some [illegible] that the church is entitled to much of the praise, and that many of the most humble members exert a powerful influence by prayer, testimony and appeal, and especially as neither church, pastor, nor both combined, can convert a single soul without the blessing of God, it would seem that the publishing of such information can involve no sacrifice of modesty. We have had 60 accessions to this charge since we were assigned to it, eighteen months ago; thirty on profession of faith. We have added $81 60 in improving the premises of the parsonage. We will do more this year. We have not experienced anything like a violent storm during our sojourn here that would cause us to write to the papers and ask the prayers of the church. But the constant breeze has been quite refreshing as the weeks and months have come and gone. We have unlimited Methodist hospitality among our people in this whole charge. We are praying and working for a gracious revival this year. Our second Quarterly Conference was held May 15 and 16 Our presiding elder, Dr. T. C. Weir, has renewed his youth and is a leader that our Methodism is justly proud of in every sense of the word, intellectually and spiritually. We are very much pleased, Mr. Editor, with the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE its new appearance and positive stand on the side of God and the right should commend it to a much wider circulation. May it live long to bless our church!"

J. K. Cobb, District Steward, Wilkinson circuit, Natchez district, Mississippi Conference: "As I have not seen anything from this part of the work, I thought I would send you a short account of the same. We are getting along nicely and on the up grade in all departments of church work. When Bro. L. T. Cole came here we had not held regular prayer meetings for three or four years; now we have four enthusiastic prayer meetings well attended, and they give unmistakable evidence of consecration. At the beginning of this year we had only one Sunday-school — the other churches on the work were indifferent in that respect; but now we have five, with a good attendance. One Epworth League organized with twenty four charter members. We have held Children's Day at two points—one at Friendship, which has for several years kept up that part of the work. The audience was larger and the collection exceeded anything of former times. We held Children's Day, the fifth Sunday, at a new place, where the people and the children have had no experience. But, through the leadership of this man of God, we made a glorious success and a day never to be forgotten in our history. We had five hundred people in attendance, and took up a very handsome collection. Glorious day—'hallelujah!' We have completed a 'parsonage well', and the indications are now that we will build a new church at Friendship in the near future. All of this work has been done under the most unfavorable circumstances. Bro. Cole is highly educated and perfectly consecrated to the Lord's work. The most indefatigable worker I have ever seen Gifted with grit, grace and knowledge, he knows no failure. Glory to God for sending us such men as Bro. Cole! His family is far away in Kentucky, and notwithstanding this absence from them the Spirit gives him contentment to work for the Master."

Nervous

People wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and

Nervous Dyspepsia. The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood feeding the nerves on refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich blood; gives natural sleep, good digestion, is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

A horse can be ridden to death. It is easy to do it if you don't feed him and if you work him when he is sick. A man may ride himself to death in the same way. Hard work is a good thing for a man whose daily nutrition repairs the daily waste. When he begins to run down hill he had better look out. When he begins to lose flesh, he will begin to lose vitality. He will have to spur himself more, and more to keep himself going. Spurs are bad things to use on either horses or men. The man who is drawing out strength and vitality faster than he is putting it into his body needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is the greatest blood maker and flesh builder in the world. It is a stimulating, purifying tonic. It fills the blood full of richness and helps all the digestive organs to do their work. It brings a good appetite, sound sleep, solid muscle. It does not—like cod liver oil—produce only flabby, useless fat. Corpulent people may take it without becoming more fleshy. The man who is not eating well, or working well, or sleeping well, or resting well frequently needs nothing else. He can get it at drug stores. He should not let the druggist persuade him to try something else which is better for the druggist's profit.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS.—When the doctor is called to see a man, woman or child, his first question is about the condition of the bowels. If they have not been freely open, he is sure to prescribe something to open them. He may do other things, but this one thing he will do surely. He knows better than any one else that nine-tenths of all human ailments come from the one cause—constipation. He may know, but he will not tell you, that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and most successful cure for constipation. He will not tell you so because his prescription brings him $2.00, and the "Pleasant Pellets" will cure you for twenty-five cents. Forty little "Pellets" in a little vial. One, a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Holman Bible at $1 25.

By buying in wholesale quantities we are able to make the following reduction in our Emerald-type Holman Bible. This Bible we have sold heretofore at $1 50. We now offer it at $1.25 to those who pay their subscription a full year in advance—that is, to June, '97. We do not advise any person who has passed the meridian of life to get this Bible, on account of the smallness of the print. For young persons, however, it will answer as well as the more expensive styles. It has all the helps of the larger sizes. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75 AND $2.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to June, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2.45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for $5—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The ADVOCATE and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1 25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK.
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If it is June, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31. GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Works Like a Charm.

RHEUMATISM, INDIGESTION, NERVOUS PROSTRATION AND IRREGULAR ACTION OF THE HEART.

ALL SUCCUMB TO THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE POWERS OF THE ELECTROPOISE.

The Pocket Electropoise worked like a charm. My wife is very much improved. Also, I have treated many other cases with success.

W. H. WATERS.
Telliala Ark., March 31, 1896.

The Electropoise did me good. I am about well of rheumatism; had it very bad in my hip and knee for three months; could not lay down on the bed, and had to sit in a chair all night. J. A. SCRUGGS.
Byrneville, Ark., April 1, 1896.

I do not wish to be without the Electropoise, as I obtain much relief from it in my affliction. Indigestion, nervous prostration and irregular action of the heart.

REV. T. J. MCCANDLESS.
Webberville, Tex., April 7, 1896

Parties to whom I have rented Electropoises report good results.

JOS. MURRAY, M. D.
St. Georges, S. C., April 3 1896.

I have a girl 12 years old under treatment. She has been paralyzed for two years. Has used the Electropoise about two months, and is able to use hands and feet and sit up alone. Before using it she was perfectly helpless.

G. L. TAYLOR.
Nevada, Mo., April 3, 1896

A book of complete information, together with reduced rental rates on the Pocket Electropoise, will be mailed free to any address.

DuBOIS & WEBB
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING,
Nashville, Tenn.

TEXAS AND PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7 25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

Seashore Camp Ground.

Front cottage to rent for the season. The cottage which I recently purchased from Dr. Ahlers will be rented to suitable parties for the season. It has been enlarged, newly painted and furnished, and the doors and windows screened. For particulars address,

WILHOPE H. GUIDRY,
Baton Rouge, La.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON.

ALSO IN SYRUP. PILLS.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

America's Greatest,

The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,

And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,

BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

ESTABLISHED NEARLY HALF A CENTURY.

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Leading Music Store of the South.

All PIANOS and ORGANS

We Sell Have Stood the Test.

The best of Musicians endorse them. Buy no makes that have just lately been put on the market. All catalogues free.

SEND FOR PRICES AND TERMS.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION . . . $1 PER ANNUM

Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, in whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. T. H. ARRENS, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENEY.
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. B. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 "	2 weeks,	1 60	2 00
1 "	8 "	2 00	2 50
1 "	1 month,	2 40	3 00
1 "	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 "	6 "	10 00	12 50
1 "	1 year,	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 "	35 00	42 00
3 "	1 "	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	60 00	72 00
5 "	1 "	75 00	90 00
6 "	1 "	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, June 18, 1896.

McComb City Institute Commencement.

We had the privilege of preaching the commencement sermon of McComb City Institute on Sunday, the fourteenth. The services were held in the Baptist Church. The audience exceeded the seating capacity of the building, quite a number of persons standing during the entire service, while others were turned away from the door. An overflow service was held in the Presbyterian Church. The college choir rendered an excellent service of song. This is comparatively a new school, being in the second year of its existence. It is fortunate in having at its head Rev. C. H. Otkin, whose well-known scholarship and fine Christian character eminently fit him for the place. The school is non-denominational.

At night we preached to an audience of about equal dimensions at the Methodist Church. The service of song was superb. Bro. Morse has a very fine choir, well trained.

We were domiciled at the Methodist parsonage, to whose inmates, Bro. J. M. Morse and his excellent wife, we are indebted for hospitable entertainment and many courtesies. Bro. Morse is keeping up his record as one of the most successful pastors in the Conference. The people are delighted with him in the pulpit and out of it. In saying this we do not include the blind-tiger fraternity. Their "craft is in danger" through his instrumentality. McComb City is one of our most prosperous charges. It has a membership of over five hundred, and a Sunday-school of two hundred and fifty. Under the wise leadership of Bro. Morse it is making progress along all lines.

Spurgeon Papers.

Charles H. Spurgeon is known throughout the Christian world as one of the greatest preachers of all time. It is not quite so widely known in this country that he was equally great as a writer on miscellaneous subjects. As a writer for young people and for the masses, he had no superior in his day. Had he chosen journalism as a profession, his preeminence would have been as marked as it was in the ministry. We begin this week in our Home Circle Department a series of short papers from his pen, which will be continued for three or four months. Feeling assured that the young folks will be both pleased and profited thereby, we have made arrangements to have most of the series illustrated.

Tough on Mississippi.

A Mormon elder, having headquarters at Jackson, Miss., stated in an interview with a Picayune reporter that there are three hundred members of the Mormon Church in the State of Mississippi. He says there are five organized churches and six wide-awake Sunday schools. He regards Mississippi as a more congenial soil for the rapid growth of Mormonism than any region he has ever visited, although he has traveled extensively through the entire West. That is about the severest thing we have ever heard said of our native State.

General Review of Our Mission Fields.

We are grateful to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed our missionaries and ourselves, which a retrospect of the year discloses. Nor are we without some signs of progress and encouragement. But we can not shut our eyes to the fact that the regular collections for foreign missions have fallen short of those of last year by the sum of about $8,000. This necessitates a further reduction in appropriations and involves an increase of our indebtedness.

After a careful study of the situation, in the light of a steady annual decrease in our collections for foreign missions for several years, we are satisfied that in all honesty we must look within rather than without for the sources of our weakness.

We are convinced that the missionary cause is not always presented on the high plane of gospel privilege and obligation. The tap-root of the church's failure in missions is the sin of covetousness. Out of this has grown up an unscriptural conception of individual rights and proprietorship. God and his fatherhood has not been sufficiently taken into the account, and in consequence we suffer his less-favored children, our brethren under a universal atonement, to perish while we fatten upon their heritage.

We are convinced, moreover, that while our disciplinary provisions are sufficient to meet the case, many of the methods in actual practice are seriously at fault.

Our pastors have become perplexed and embarrassed by a multiplicity of collections, and their attention to the great connectional claims, laid upon them by the General Conference, is diverted by the urgency of specials before the regular collections are secured. With some few notable exceptions, the effort made to awaken a missionary conscience has been inadequate. There is a marked tendency to advance the claims of work done by sight rather than that which lays demands upon our faith; in this way unconsciously undue emphasis has been laid upon domestic missions. In addition to this, apologies from the pulpit for taking missionary collections, appeals to church pride, failure to discuss and place the cause upon its own merits, unsystematic effort, and procrastination will explain many cases of failure and furnish food for serious reflection.

Our people have contented themselves with dividing and subdividing their church benevolences until the stream which supplies the great cause has in some quarters been reduced to a mere thread. Let the cause of foreign missions die, and the church will perish from heart failure.

Never in the history of the church have such magnificent opportunities been offered. The whole heathen world is undergoing readjustment. Never since missionary work was first enterprised have such vast possibilities been brought within the reach of the missionary. Our leaders on the field call for an advance; they are pledged to it. By every quality of true generalship, by every token of faith in God and obligation to the native church, they must go forward or withdraw from the field.

What is the supreme duty of the hour? Prayer to the Lord of the harvest. The whole church should come to her knees for the wisdom of God and the power of the Holy Ghost. "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God." "Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you." We need at this juncture the leadership of all our General Superintendents and the full co-operation of each member of the Board in a united effort to rid ourselves of every incumbrance. We need at the same time to persistently press the educational work already inaugurated, through our periodicals and in our missionary mass meetings, until the entire church shall be permanently grounded in the gospel idea of the world's evangelization.

Neander said in 1850, only eight days before his death: "It is a great step toward the Christianization of our planet if Christianity gain entrance into China." These words become more significant in the light of the recent communication from Consul-General Jernigan to Bishop Hendrix, in which he quotes the action of the Tsung-Li-Yamen, directing "the local authorities in all provinces of the empire to expunge from the various edicts and compilations of the Chinese Code all clauses placing restrictions upon the propagation of the Christian religion." Mr. Jernigan seems almost to have had Neander's declaration in mind when he adds: "A great step for Christian civilization has been made, and under judicious influence others will soon follow. No one act by the Emperor so distinctly heralds the coming change as this edict removing all restriction upon the propagation of the Christian religion in China."

By every token, the supreme time for action has come. Whether we study the changed relations of China with the outside world, mark the earnest attempts at reform from within, observe the effects of her recent humiliation under the trip-hammer blows of Japan, or gratefully acknowledge the gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon our workers in Shanghai and elsewhere, with a large increase in membership, we are constrained to exclaim: "The long night is past!" The day breaks in the East. The hour of opportunity has come. Let the church gird herself for the battle, for the Lord of hosts leads us on.

The visit of Bishop Hendrix to our missions in China and Japan will provoke the church at home to a more thoughtful consideration of the claims of our Eastern work. The assurances he brings back of friendship and protection from the highest officials are not altogether Eastern flowers of rhetoric. It is no insignificant fact that the American missionary is thrice welcome wherever he goes. Let it speak to us of a responsibility, national as well as individual, and God-given. Beyond it lies opportunity.

We have no field of finer promise than Brazil. Here nature has dealt with a hand so lavish that possibilities are measureless. Soil, minerals, forests, and climate unsurpassed; with perennial streams, which recall the "well-watered plains" covered by Abraham's kinsman. The great need of Brazil is the liberty of the gospel.

The Brazil Conference is a young giant. The men composing it are in the vigor of life, well equipped, and fully consecrated. The native preachers are brave and true, and the organization complete and strong. The Conference is now prepared to produce its own publications, while the spirit of self-support is vigorous and growing. This spirit found expression, during the past year, in the sum of more than five thousand dollars raised for Conference purposes.

The work in Mexico maintains a steady, though not rapid advance. Conditions and circumstances render rapid progress simply impossible; but our laborers there are true and patient, and after long toil and waiting they now rejoice, "bringing in the sheaves." Conversions are more numerous, and Christian life more decided and consistent, than ever in that field. The three Conferences aggregate more than one hundred native preachers, who are full of zeal and hope. Educational work, of a character to tell in the near future, is being done by our training-school at San Luis Potosi, and by the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, which has six strong and well-conducted school plants at as many important points in the republic.

The years of faithful work in the Indian Territory and in the West have been fruitful. The Indian Mission Conference has grown until it may now be classed with the strong and established Conferences; and, although the West has not made large progress, it has taken ground, and holds it under difficulties peculiar to no other field.

Our missionary literature is finding its way to multitudes to whom it has been hitherto unknown. The Methodist Review of Missions has a fair circulation, which will advance with a contemplated increase in its size. The World for Christ, now little more than one year old, has a circulation of over fifty thousand.

There are indications on every hand, as so many voices, assuring us that the seas of difficulty will separate before us, and bidding us, in the words of divine command, go forward.—Report of Board of Missions.

Rev. N. B. Harmon has been heard from. He is still alive and at his post. He writes that the statements made in the letter of Mrs. Stockton are correct, if Waveland be substituted for Bay St. Louis in the heading. He will have a communication in next issue concerning Methodism on the Gulf coast.

Report of the Mission Board.

Through the courtesy of Secretaries Lambuth and Morrison we are in receipt of the "Fiftieth Annual Report of the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, May, 1896," a pamphlet of one hundred and forty-three pages, filled with information concerning the missionary operations of our church.

We present on this page an extract part of its "General Review," which we hope will be carefully perused by all our readers. We wish to direct special attention to the fact that, notwithstanding our constant growth in numbers and our boast of increasing spirituality, our contributions for the spread of the gospel among the heathen are decreasing. The Board is right in saying that the cause of this falling off are within rather than without. "Times are hard," but not increasingly so. Financially, '95 was an easier year than '94, and '94 than '93. Yet we are confronted with the fact that our people give less and less for the cause which lies nearest the heart of the Savior of the world!

We gave $8,000 less for foreign missions in '95 than in '94. Fifteen and a half cents apiece was our contribution last year for the conversion of the heathen world to Christ. Add our contributions for domestic missions, and we reach only the miserable pittance of twenty-four and a half cents each. Twenty-four and a half cents in a whole year for the evangelization of the world, while we spend many hundred per capita in luxurious living.

Many a church member spends more money for cigars in one day than he gives to missions in a year. And this is only a sample of a hundred ways in which our people obey the injunction, "Honor the Lord with thy substance." But the most serious fact in connection with this whole matter is yet to be stated, viz.: that a majority of our people give nothing at all to the cause of missions. The burden falls upon the shoulders of a few, and a considerable percentage of these few give liberally. There are many thousands of our members who never put a cent into the mission treasury. This undeniable fact imposes a weighty obligation on our pastors.

Our people need to be enlightened on the subject. Many of them are ignorant of their responsibilities as disciples of Him who died to save the world, and founded the church for that express purpose. This work of enlightenment can be done in part from the pulpit, but only in part. The very best means of awakening an interest in the cause of missions is by circulating our church literature. Our church papers keep the subject of missions in one form or another continually before their readers. Investigation will reveal the fact that those who give regularly, systematically and liberally to the mission cause are, as a rule, readers of our church papers. But in addition to the Conference organs, the publications of the Mission Board should be circulated. The Review of Missions suits one class; the World for Christ, another. This last-named periodical is admirably adapted to the masses. Its cost is so insignificant that it is easier to circulate than any other one of our publications. The pastor who puts it into every home in his charge will make a sowing whose harvest will be abundant by and by.

In conclusion, we give the per capita contributions of our three patronizing Conferences for the last year: Louisiana Conference—foreign missions, $.15; domestic missions, $.07. Mississippi Conference—foreign missions, $.22; domestic missions, $.07. North Mississippi Conference—foreign missions, $.16, domestic missions, $.05.

A Noble Philanthropy.

There has been an orphans' home in St. Louis for a number of years under the control of the Southern Methodist Church. The institution, however, was unable to do the work its hands found to do for want of a suitable building. This lack Mrs. Martha C. Cupples, wife of Samuel Cupples, one of the leading laymen of St. Louis Methodism, sought to supply. With the hearty co-operation of her husband, she planned an elegant building of large dimensions which she proposed to donate to the church. Before her plans could be executed, however, she was summoned from labor and suffering on earth to her reward in heaven. Her plans were immediately put into execution by her devoted husband. The building has been completed at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars and turned over to the church. It was formally dedicated a few days since, the address being delivered by Bishop Hendrix. It is said to be one of the best equipped institutions of its kind in the country. It is called the Martha E. Cupples Memorial Home. It is well that Methodism is making forward strides in the matter of practical philanthropy.

The Sunday Law in Danger.

The long-looked-for Anti-Sunday Law Bill has made its appearance at last. It was introduced by Mr. Duggan, of Orleans parish, and is said to be backed by mammoth petitions from this city. Just as we predicted, the enemies of the Sunday law have been diligently at work getting ready for the fight. Whether the friends of the law have taken our counsel and gotten up such petitions as we know could be gotten up is very doubtful. We fear that it is as true now as it was eighteen hundred years ago, that "the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light." Good people, Micawber-like, wait for "something to turn up," while the enemies of righteousness go to roll up their sleeves and turn something up. We should not despair, however, but make up for past negligence by redoubled diligence. Let petitions be gotten up immediately in every parish and forwarded to Baton Rouge.

Millsaps College on Sunday.

At 11 o'clock Dr. John Mathews, of St. Louis, Mo., preached the commencement sermon in the College Chapel. A great throng of people came to hear the distinguished divine, and crowded every available space in the great building. His text was II. Cor. iv, 6. Any attempt to describe the sermon or the preacher would be a failure. The beaming face, the tremulous voice, the flashing eye, and the wonderful magnetic power of the great preacher can not be described. He told us of God's movements towards a human soul; how he revealed himself to us in Christ; and how it was utterly impossible for us to demonstrate anything. He said we could authenticate many things—the age of a tree or a stalk of corn; but we could not demonstrate either; so we can authenticate our holy religion. He magnified the blessed Savior. He declared that we must take the truth dogmatically. He assured us that when he was a child his sister taught him his letters dogmatically; that is, without giving a reason for it. So we must take our religion. The audience listened without weariness to this great sermon which lasted one hour and fifteen minutes in its delivery.

At night Dr. Mathews preached in the First Methodist Church, his text being II. Cor. vi, 1. His theme was, "The Divine and Human in Spiritual Success," and for one hour he poured wit and wisdom into the minds and hearts of seven hundred people. He showed that what man needed was divine reinforcement. Whoever has a lofty purpose in life will live a noble and successful life.

For fifty years Dr. Mathews has been a preacher of the gospel. In Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana and Missouri he has spent a long, useful and eminently successful ministry. Thousands of souls have been converted through his ministry, and he is more popular to-day than ever before. He uses manuscript in delivering his sermon, but does it in a most skillful manner.

The young men of Millsaps College will not soon forget these sermons.

A. F. WATKINS.

——, ——, 1896.

MR. EDITOR: Not long since a Methodist preacher was a guest for a day or two in the home of a very refined family. He chewed tobacco almost incessantly both in the parlor and in his bed-room, and squirted tobacco juice in wholesale quantities not only on the hearth, but on the floor, which was handsomely carpeted. That family do not want to entertain another Methodist preacher unless he is one whom they know to be a gentleman. Ought not such conduct to be ground for complaint at Conference? ZETA.

[Don't be too hard on the poor fellow. He was doubtless reared without a mother; probably most of the training he ever had in manners came from negroes of the lower grade. Allowances must be made for early environment.—EDITOR.]

NOTES.

Rev. J. B. Gambrel has resigned the presidency of Mercer University (Baptist), Macon, Ga.

Charbon is making sad havoc among the cattle in some of the parishes of Louisiana. It is also reported in Claiborne county, Miss.

Lafayette Park Church, St. Louis, having been unroofed by the recent storm, the congregation is worshiping temporarily in a tent.

Rev. W. M. Leftwich will spend the month of October in evangelistic work in this city, giving two weeks each to Carondolet and Felicity.

It is thought that there is now some hope of the passage of the Anti-Pool-Room Law. We will score one for the Louisiana Legislature if that bill passes.

Bishop Keener is in Nashville attending the Vanderbilt commencement. On his return he will remove to his Summer residence at Ocean Springs, Miss.

Tulane University has conferred the degree of LL.D. on Gen. S. D. Lee, president of the A. and M. College of Mississippi; ex-Senator Reagan, of Texas, and Gen. W. P. Miles, of Louisiana.

In our obituary of Mrs. R. A. Ford, published recently, several typographical errors occur. "B. A. Ford" should have been "R. A.;" "Gattney" should have been "Gaitney;" "chulms" should have been "charms."

Rev. John Boyos, Ponchatoula, La., died in the Charity Hospital in this city a few days since. He was a man of admirable character and wielded a large influence in the region where he lived.

The Texas Baptist Standard continues to repeat the statement that the M. E. General Conference, at Cleveland, extended the limit of the pastoral term to ten years. We call for proof of the statement.

W. H. McGuffie, author of McGuffie's series of school readers and spellers, died at his home in Cincinnati on the third of June in his eightieth year. Millions of his readers have been sold, and the end is not yet.

Record-breaking on the ocean still continues. The "St. Paul," an American ship, recently made the trip from Southampton, England, to New York, in six days five hours and thirty-two minutes. Good for America!

Rev. T. L. Lallance, pastor of Tchonpitoulas Mission, expects in the near future to erect a house of worship to take the place of the present hired apartments. Negotiations are now pending for the purchase of an eligible lot.

Rome modestly requests that the Louisiana Legislature give her $10,000 to pay off a debt on one of her institutions in this city. Rome is old, but she is wide awake. Of course, in a State like Louisiana she is likely to get what she asks for.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College, on Monday morning, Major Millsaps announced that he will erect at his own expense between now and the opening of the next session a new building to be called "Science Hall." We have space in this issue only for this brief notice.

By reference to Bro. Norsworthy's notice on our fifth page, it will be seen that the Jackson District Conference has been changed back to Camden. During the District Conference a fourth-of-July barbecue will be given, at which Bishop Galloway will dispense the gospel of temperance.

"Whoever wishes to see Palestine in the garb it has worn for many centuries," writes a traveler, "must visit it soon. The people are adopting European dress and ways. Our inventions are coming. The telegraph is domiciled; and soon the crooked stick will give way to the plow, the camel stand aside or run bellowing to the field, as I have seen him do, while the engine rushes on, and the Palestine of Bible days will be no more."—Church at Home and Abroad.

MUL-EN-OL

is the greatest known Remedy for Pain.

Always have a bottle in the house. Sold everywhere. Price 50c., $1.00, $2.00.

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

By Rev. R. H. Wynn.

Prayer Meeting Topic for June.

CHRIST AND THE CHURCH.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21—HIS PROTEST AT CHURCH ABUSES.

(Matt. xxi, 12-13; Mark vii, 1-13; Luke vi, 1-11.)

Among many abuses in the Jewish Church, against which Christ protested, reference is here made to three, and, by an examination of their nature, it will be seen that similar abuses still have to be guarded against in the Christian Church.

I.—MERCHANDISE IN THE TEMPLE.

Christ performed the act of temple cleansing twice—at the beginning and at the close of his ministry. John alone records the former, and the other three evangelists record the latter. Trading was being carried on, on an extensive scale, not within the sacred precincts of the temple proper, but within the court of the Gentiles, the outermost enclosure, and it was this which excited Christ's indignation, and to which he hastened to put an end, by an exercise of his miraculous power, in driving forth the traders.

1. Righteous indignation at wrong is a Christ-like quality.

2. God's house must be sacredly reserved for holy uses. "My house shall be called the house of prayer."

II.—THE TRADITIONS OF MEN.

The Jews regarded the "traditions of the elders," or the interpretations of the Mosaic law, which had been handed down, with greater reverence than the law itself. This was manifest in a superstitious regard for unimportant ceremonies, accompanied by a criminal neglect of the fundamental principles of the moral law.

An apt illustration of this abuse is given by Christ, in their evasion of obedience to the fifth commandment, "Honor thy father and mother," etc., by taking advantage of a traditional loop-hole.

In the Romish Church the terrible effects of placing human traditions over the law of God are plainly manifest. For example, eating meat on Friday is regarded by the Romanist as a greater sin than Sabbath breaking, or intemperance.

III.—MISUSE OF THE SABBATH.

In the reference here given, we find the Pharisees and Scribes very indignant; in the first place, because a work of necessity is performed by the disciples on the Sabbath, with Christ's indorsement, and, in the second place, because a work of mercy is performed by Christ in healing a man with a withered hand on the Sabbath.

Christ does not here lessen the obligation of the fourth commandment, but simply relieves it from man-imposed restrictions, the Divine purpose in the institution of the Sabbath being a benevolent one, contemplating man's highest good.

Perhaps the abuse of to-day in respect to the Sabbath lies in an opposite direction of too much laxity.

NOTE.

The Lake Charles Broad Street Epworth League was organized May 18, 1895, and, after a remarkably successful year's work, has recently celebrated its anniversary. The annual report, signed by Miss Emma McNeese, and printed in full in the Lake Charles Daily Press, contains some interesting items, a few of which we notice: "There have been five or six prayer meetings organized, which have met regularly with a good attendance.....Over $70 have been spent in buying medicines, supplies, and other necessary articles needed. .....We have a library consisting of twenty-two books.....Our membership now is ninety-five."

Suggestions for the Literary Meeting.

I.—DEVOTIONAL, HYMN, SCRIPTURE READING, PRAYER.

II.—LANDMARKS OF CHURCH HISTORY—CHS. II., III., IV., V.

The following topics should be assigned to as many members of the League who will be on hand at the meeting, and with the request that they be prepared to respond when called on at the meetings. About one week should be given for the preparation.

1. To what extent had the church permeated the Roman Empire at the close of the Apostolic age?

2. The development of the orders in the ministry.

3. Leading points in the life of Polycarp.

4. Obstacles in the way of the progress of the church.

5. Characteristics of life and worship in the early church.

6. What motives led to and what were the character and issues of the Decian persecution?

7. Growth of the Episcopacy: Canon, creed and ritual.

8. Conversion and character of Constantine.

This list of questions will be in the hands of the leader who will call them out, and the members will respond. This exercise should not occupy more than fifteen minutes.

Music.

III.—READING FROM "EMINENT METHODISTS," BY A MEMBER.

Music.

IV.—RECITATION. "MY FAITH LOOKS UP TO THEE" (HYMN 398).

Music.

V.—AMERICAN LITERATURE—CHS. IV. TO VII.

Three-minute sketches from data found in above-mentioned chapters.

1. Benjamin Franklin.
2. Washington Irving.
3. William Cullen Bryant.

VI.—RECITATION, "THE CITIES OF THE PLAIN."

Close.

J. M. Henry.

The Holly Springs District Epworth League Conference.

The first District Epworth League Conference of the Holly Springs district will be held at Abbeville, Miss., July 21, 22, 1896. The program will be prepared and furnished to the Leagues at once.

Now, we must make this meeting a success, a real benefit; so let every leaguer in the district put hand, head and heart into the effort to make it such. Abbeville has lots of nice roomy homes and as good people as there are in the world, and a pretty roomy new church; so let us all go, so many of us that there will only be room to contain us two days, when we will be off to Crystal Springs to the great State Conference. Let everybody talk and work up the District Epworth League Conference at Abbeville! Amen!

B. P. Jaco,
J. M. Moose,
W. F. Rozell,
Committee.

Reunion United Confederate Veterans,

RICHMOND, VA., JUNE 30 TO JULY 2.

For this occasion the Texas and Pacific Railway Company will sell tickets from all stations in Texas and Louisiana at about ONE CENT PER MILE EACH WAY FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 26 and 27, final limit for return to be twenty days from date of sale.

This will be one of the greatest assemblages of the old veterans in the history of the organization, and an exceedingly interesting programme has been prepared.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on or address nearest Texas and Pacific railway agent, or

Gaston Meslier,
G. P. and T. A.,
Dallas, Texas.

Brookhaven District Conference.

MAGNOLIA, MISS., JULY 16-19.

Thursday, July 16, will be devoted to the consideration of Sunday-school interests. The sermon on that day at 11 o'clock will be preached by Rev. W. G. Backus. All applicants for license to preach, for admission into the Annual Conference, or for orders, will meet the committees on that day.

Friday will be devoted to reports from pastoral charges and other matters. At 8 P. M. an educational meeting will be held, when addresses will be made by several persons.

On Saturday morning the reports from Examining Committees will be received.

A sermon on Missions will be preached Sunday, 8 P. M., by Rev. T. L. Mellen.

Let the recording stewards be in attendance upon the Conference with Quarterly Conference Records.

E. H. Mounger, P. E.

Notice.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference will be held at Natchez, beginning June 26. Each auxiliary is urged to send a delegate or delegates. All ministers are cordially invited to attend.

We would again emphasize the importance of every delegate and visitor securing a certificate when purchasing a ticket to the meeting, so as to enable us to secure reduced rates returning.

Let us all go to this meeting earnestly praying for the presence and guidance of the Holy Spirit, and we will be sure to have a profitable gathering.

Addie V. Marshall, Pres.
Mrs. A. F. Watkins, Sec.

Notice.

To the Pastors and Delegates to Jackson District Conference:

After an interview with Rev. R. A. Breland, pastor at Camden, I am satisfied I erred in changing District Conference from Camden to Canton. I hereby recall the announcement of change, and state that the Jackson District Conference will be held at Camden, July 2-5. I appeal to every preacher, local and traveling, and delegates to be present at the Conference. R. D. Norsworthy.

Notice.

To the Members of the Jackson District Conference:

The District Conference of the Jackson district will convene in Camden, July 2-5. All persons coming by rail will be met at Pickens, Wednesday, July 1, at 2 P. M.

Let every member of the Conference be on hand. Saturday, July 4, will be a great day—barbecue, basket dinner, etc.

Brethren, let us all pray for the presence and power of the Holy Spirit. R. A. Breland, P. C.

Notice.

To the Preachers and Delegates of the Brandon District

You will please notify me at once when and how you will come to the District Conference. There will be conveyances at Newton, Wednesday morning and Friday morning, July 1 and 3. We will run no conveyance on Sunday. Free entertainment will be provided at Newton for those who come on the train.

W. M. Williams.

Decatur, Miss

Corinth District Conference.

The District Conference of the Corinth district will meet at Ripley, July 9, 1896. Applicants of the district for license to preach will please meet the Committee of Examination at the Methodist Church at 8 o'clock A. M., July 8. W. J. Bunt,
Chairman of the Committee.

Kossuth, Miss.

It is only by labor that thought can be made healthy, and only by thought that labor can be made happy; and the two can not be separated with impunity.—Ruskin.

Pain in the Side and Back.

New Orleans, La., May 5, 1896.—"For several years I was troubled with my heart, and pains in my side and back. I saw Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised, and began taking it. It has relieved me of this difficulty, and I can not say enough in its praise, and I gladly recommend it to others."—Miss Margarett Bentz, 3816 Chartres street.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting aliments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,
Mrs A. W. Moore.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office, Or to Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Cottage fronting the Tabernacle. It has undergone thorough repairs and is painted. Water on premises.

For particulars address,
Rev. Mrs. P. M. GOODWYN,
(New No. 2311 Carondelet St.,
New Orleans, La.

Our Oldest Citizen

Never saw the time when he could get pure, first-class Groceries as cheap as he now can at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,

Corner Thalia.

Indian Mission.

I wish to say through the Advocate to the friends of the Indian Mission in Mississippi that we are needing a small amount of money at the earliest possible date. Who will help us in this emergency? We need much and want the friends of the mission to continue to send as before; but we need a little very bad right at once. Please send to me postoffice order on Hermanville, or registered letter send to me at Hermanville, Miss., and oblige

A. D. Miller, Agent.

Hermanville, Miss.

Ice Cream Now Made in a Minute.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream perfectly in one minute; as it is such a wonder a crowd will always be around, so anyone can make from five to six dollars a day selling cream, and from ten to twenty dollars a day selling Freezers, as people will buy an article when it is demonstrated that they can make money by so doing. The cream is frozen instantly and is smooth and free from lumps. I have done so well myself and have friends succeeding so well that I felt it my duty to let others know of this opportunity, as I feel confident that any person in any locality can make money, as any person can sell cream and the freezer sells itself. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you complete instructions and will employ you on salary if you can give them your whole time.

Read Our Great Premium Offer!

THE STORY OF METHODISM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD,

FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE PRESENT TIME.

This book, by Rev. A. B. Hyde, D. D., is a large octavo, profusely illustrated, and most beautifully bound in silk cloth.

It is a book which should be in every Methodist household. We are making it possible for anyone to afford it. The publisher's price is $3.50. We will send it postpaid for $1.50 to any subscriber who has paid or will pay to June, '97.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

The Wall and Mooney School,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

—FITS BOYS FOR THE LEADING COLLEGES.—

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt University on certificate, and take the very highest rank, there and elsewhere.

NEXT TERM WILL OPEN AUG. 25, 1896.

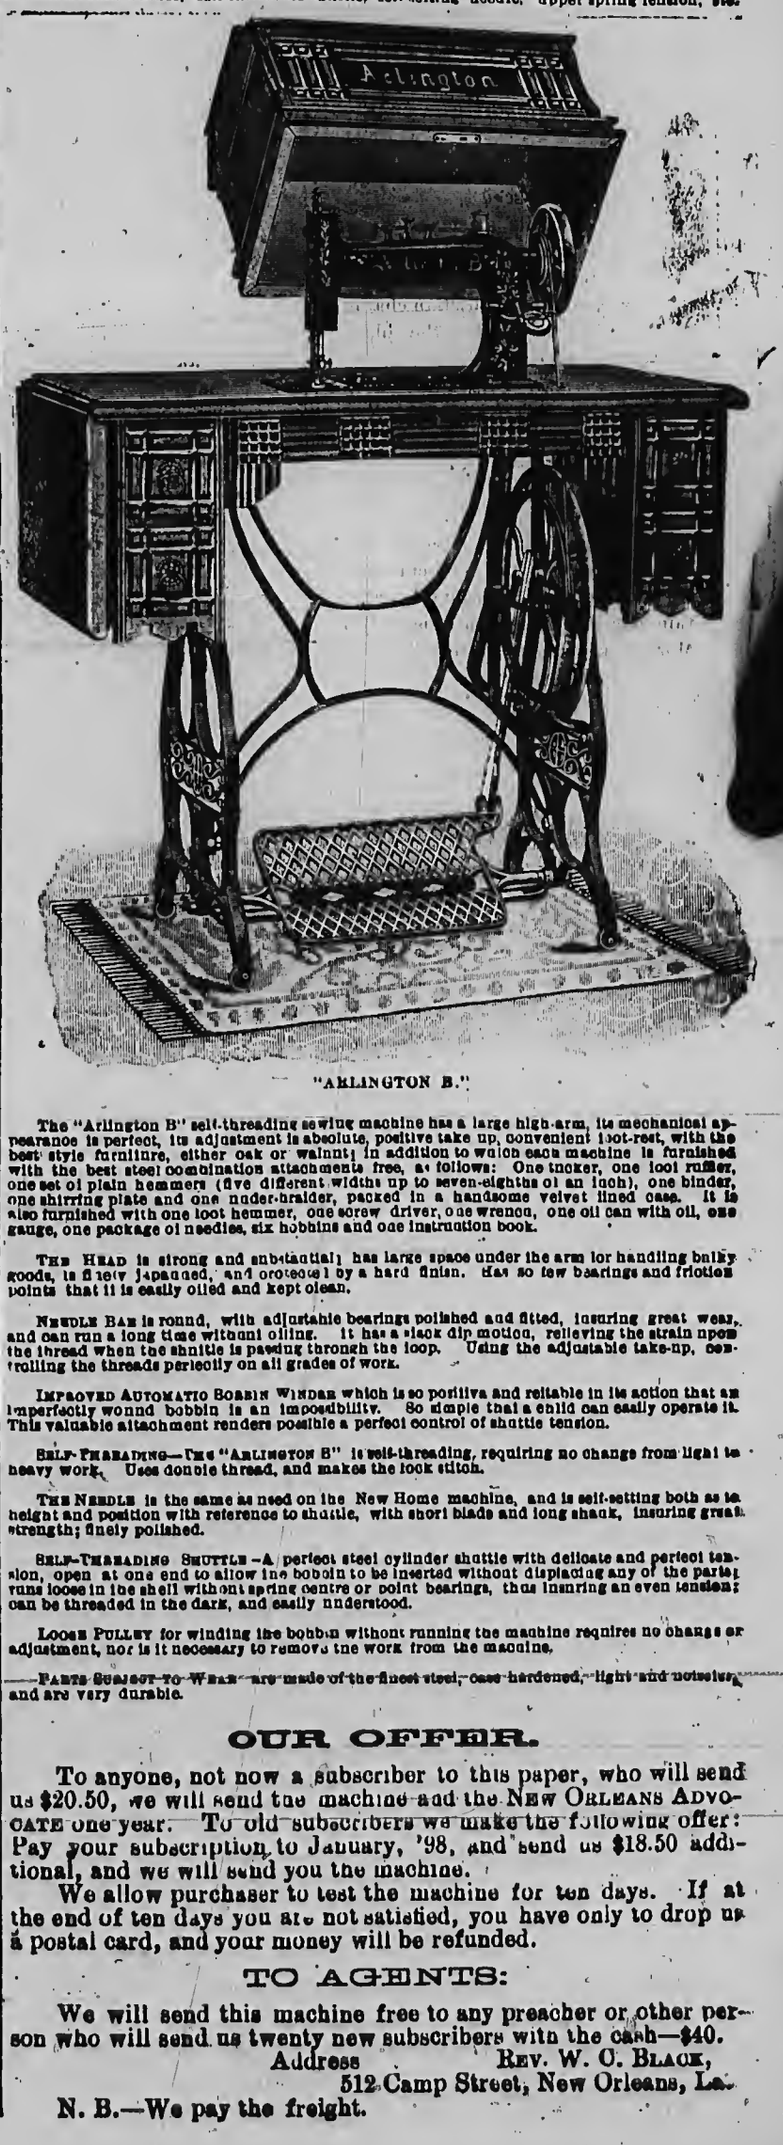
No pupil will be admitted without previous engagement. Apply early. For catalogue, address

W. D. MOONEY, Sec.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.



"ARLINGTON B."

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high-arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

The Head is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

Needle Bar is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

Improved Automatic Bobbin Winder which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

Self-Threading—The "Arlington B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

The Needle is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

Self-Threading Shuttle—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

Loose Pulley for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

Parts Subject to Wear are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the New Orleans Advocate one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

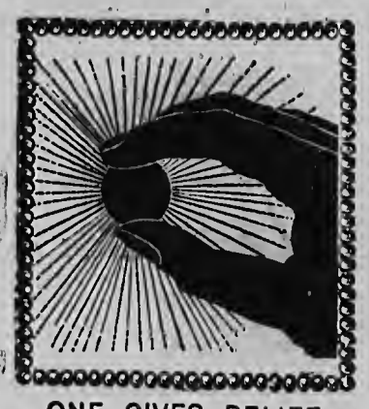
QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO.,
26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Over-Profit Paying Stop it

Get our Great Catalogue and Buyers Guide. We'll send it for 15 cents in stamps to pay part postage or expressage. The Book's free. 700 Pages, 12000 illustrations, 40000 descriptions, everything that's used in life; tells you what you ought to pay, whether you buy of us or not. One profit from maker to user. Get it

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
Originators of the Mail Order Method
111-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Car fare paid.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.

Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $10. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the customs and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free.

GLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich.
Manufacturers of Furniture for Church, Chapel, Sunday Schools and Assembly Rooms.

HOME CIRCLE.

WHEN EVERYTHING GOES WRONG.

When everything goes wrong, my friend,
And life is full of cares,
And things for which you often planned
Surprise you unawares,
Take my advice at once, dear friend,
Ere other course you dare:
Withdraw into your closet close,
And offer up a prayer.

When everything goes wrong, my friend,
And all is upside down,
When joy expected turns to tears,
A smile to ugly frown,
Take my advice at once, dear friend,
As moments slip along,
And lift your heart in praise to God
In some familiar song.

When everything goes wrong, my friend,
And nothing will come right,
When every effort you put forth,
But leaves you in a plight,
Take my advice at once, dear friend,
I know 'twill turn your fate:
Just leave it in the Master's hand,
And only trust and wait.

When everything goes wrong, my friend,
To sing and trust and pray
Will cause the sunshine to appear
Through any cloudy day,
Take my advice at once, dear friend,
And never once delay:
When everything goes wrong around,
Then trust and sing and pray.

—Sabbath Reading.

A Looking-Glass Is of No Use to a Blind Man.

He who will not see is much the same as if he had no eyes; indeed, in some things, the man without eyes has the advantage, for he is in the dark and knows it. A lantern is of no use to a bat, and good teaching is lost on the man who will not learn. Reason is folly with the unreasonable. One man can lead a horse to the water, but a hundred can not make him drink: it is easy work to tell a man the truth, but if he will not be convinced your labor is lost. We pity the poor blind, we can not do so much as that for those who shut their eyes against the light.

A man who is blind to his own faults is blind to his own interests. He who thinks that he never was a fool is a fool now. He who never owns that he is wrong will never get right. He'll mend, as the saying is, when he grows better, like sour beer in Summer. How can a man take the smuts off his face, if he will not look in the glass, nor believe that they are there when he is told of them?

Prejudice shuts up many eyes in total darkness. The man knows already he is positive and can swear to it, and it's no use your arguing. He has made up his mind, and it did not take him long, for there's very little of it, but when he has said a thing he sticks to it like cobbler's wax. He is wiser than seven men that can render a reason. He is as positive as if he had been on the other side the curtain and looked into the back yard of the universe. He talks as if he carried all knowledge in his waistcoat pocket, like a peppermint lozenge. Those who like may try to teach him, but I don't care to hold up a mirror to a mole.—Spurgeon.

Not All Alike.

A lady recently remarked to another, "I wish I was as good as Mrs. ———." Our knowledge of these women causes us to think that, considering their different temperaments and surroundings, the one was as good as the other, though their piety manifested itself very differently. One was of an equable disposition, never had children, took matters in a patient and submissive spirit, and seemed to feel that God was with her continually. She had also the gift of religious conversation. She had seen trouble, but not of an exasperating, exacting, wearing and torturing kind. On the other hand, her friend was of a nervous, excitable and sensitive nature. She had raised a large family and passed through many sore and trying experiences, and in the prime of life was a broken-down, unstrung, dyspeptic woman, disposed at times to take a very pessimistic view of things. Yet come what may, she loved the house of God, and prayer, and her Bible. Few were more regular and devout at church and prayer meeting. She was full of hospitality and generosity. She was sympathetic in sorrow. She was a devoted wife and mother. She was helpful as a neighbor. But she was self-depreciative and distrustful. She saw only virtues and excellencies in her life long companion and many defects in herself. She thought that because her piety did not manifest itself as in the case of her friend, she was a poor sort of a Christian. There are many who worry themselves in the same way. They think they must be like others whom they look upon as so good, yet they may, in the sight of God, be as good, if not better, than their models, everything being taken into account. What we want, is that we be ourselves plus grace. God has not made us all alike, nor placed us in the same conditions. He is fashioning us by his Holy Spirit in heart and life as he, in his sovereignty and wisdom, deems best for us and most for his glory.—Exchange.

Church Courtesy to Strangers.

Several years ago two strangers, well-dressed young men, entered a church in a small town and seated themselves in an empty pew. Presently an elderly woman, the owner of the pew, came to the door and motioned to them to come out until she should pass to the further end. They were offended at her discourteous manner and marched angrily out of the church, refusing to listen to any invitation to remain.

A few years afterward, the Queen of Holland, being an invalid, visited the city of Heidelberg, in Germany, for medical treatment. While there she went each Sunday to a modest little church, occupying the back seat in order to escape notice.

One day a scholarly looking man, plainly dressed, came into the church and took a seat near the pulpit. A few minutes later a haughty German lady swept up to the pew, and, seeing a stranger in it, ordered him by an imperious gesture to leave it.

The stranger quickly obeyed, and going into one of the seats reserved for the poor, joined devoutly in the services. After they were over the lady's friends gathered around her and demanded whether she knew who it was she had treated so rudely.

"No; some pushing stranger," she replied.

"It was King Oscar of Sweden," was the answer. "He is here visiting the Queen."

Her mortification may be imagined.

A correspondent, who was an eye-witness of both of these scenes, sends the story to us and asks, "Which played the more manly part, the two vain young men or King Oscar?"—Christian Observer.

Simplicity in Speaking.

Benjamin Franklin in his autobiography, lays down a canon of good breeding in conversation which is worth keeping in mind. He says that he formed the habit of expressing himself "in terms of modest diffidence," never using the words certainly, undoubtedly, or any others that give an air of positiveness to an opinion, on subjects that may possibly be disputed, saying rather: "It appears to me, or, I should think it so or so, if I am not mistaken."

This habit, he said, was of great advantage to him in persuading people to adopt his views, and also helped him to gather much valuable knowledge which otherwise would have been withheld.

For, as a rule, people do not care to impart information to one who is firmly entrenched in his own opinions. Young people are very apt to have a positive, dogmatic way of expressing themselves, and should be trained to a moderate, as well as graceful, use of language. The use of slang has a tendency toward the error which Franklin tried to avoid.—Christian Worker.

Between Father and Son.

We have a great deal to say in our literature about the confidence that should exist between a mother and her daughter, but we ignore altogether too much the frankness that should exist between a father and his son, writes Edward W. Bok in "At Home with the Editor" in the June Ladies' Home Journal. It is not right to expect that our girls shall bear the whole burden of moral responsibility. Our boys must be taught that the world expects uprightness in a man just as much as it looks for it in a woman. If the men of to day are protected by an unfair moral discrimination, that is no reason why the men of to-morrow should be so sheltered. If it is for women to elevate their conception of the moral standard for men, it is for the young men of to day to adjust themselves to that higher measurement. A healthy frankness between the boys of to-day and their fathers is the first step. This is man's part in the aim for social purity. Women must cease their winking at actions in men which they will not tolerate in women; men, to whom experience has come, must unfold to the younger men. It is a favor to a boy that his feelings shall be analyzed for him by his father; that he be taught that his self-control, or his loss of it, means an ascent or a descent in the social scale. There is no harm in a father pointing out these things to his son; the harm comes when the father neglects to do so. A young man should never be expected in any point of morality to experience what his father can explain and warn him against.—Exchange.

Have You a Boy to Spare?

The saloon must have boys, or it must shut up shop. Can't you furnish it one? It is a great factory, and unless it can get about 2,000 000 from each generation for raw material, some of these factories must close out, and its operations must be thrown on a cold world, and the public revenue will dwindle. "Wanted—2,000,000 boys," is the notice. One family out of every five must contribute a boy to keep up the supply. Will you help? Which of your boys will it be? The Minotaur of Crete had to have a trireme full of fair maidens each year; but the Minotaur of America demands a city full of boys each year. Are you a father? Have you contributed a boy? If not, some other family has had to give more than its share. Are you not selfish, voting to keep the saloon open to grind up boys, and then doing nothing to keep up the supply?—Presbyterian.

In Love with His Mother.

Of all the love affairs in the world none can surpass the true love of a big boy for his mother. It is pure and noble, honorable to the highest degree in both. I do not mean merely a dutiful affection. I mean a love that makes a boy gallant and courteous to his mother, saying to everybody plainly that he is fairly in love with her. Next to the love of a husband, nothing so crowns a woman's life with honor as this second love, this devotion of a son to her. I never yet knew a boy turn out bad who began by falling in love with his mother. Any man may fall in love with a fresh-faced girl, and the man who is gallant with the girl may cruelly neglect his worn and weary wife, but the boy who is a lover of his mother in her middle age is a true knight, who will love his wife as much in her sere-leaved Autumn as he did in the daisied Springtime.—Woman's Signal.

Religion is an unchangeable fact; it abides forever in the world, despite all assaults. We believe that there is more, far more, religious activity in the world in our times than ever existed, at any other time since Christianity was propagated. Religion is the strongest, the most enduring and the most vivacious of all the powers in our world. Firmer than a rock it stands.—Charles A. Dana.

Every temptation to evil temper which can assail us to-day will be an opportunity to decide the question whether we shall gain the calmness and rest of Christ, or whether we shall be tossed by the restlessness and agitation of the world.—F. W. Robertson.

Awarded Highest Honors.
World's Fair.

DR.
PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.
Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE

Physiological Extravagance.

Many persons whose habits of eating, drinking, dressing, bathing, etc., are unexceptionable, are so extravagant in their expenditures of vital force that they are always below par in health. We call this physiological extravagence, immoral bodily conduct.

I know there are times when we must all, as it were, take our lives in our hands and spend life's forces freely, times of emergency, sickness, etc. If, however, when the strain is over we recruit our forces by rest, sleep, recreation, food, etc., we need not be specially harmed by it; but if we do not do this, there will be danger of a permanent breakdown. It may be interesting and useful to trace some of the causes of expenditure of physiological energy which are wasteful and which may be guarded against.

In my opinion, the nervous forces are spent most rapidly through the emotional nature. The emotions and feelings are not under the perfect control of the will and so can not be managed so well as we might wish.

The emotions are of two kinds, pleasurable and painful

The pleasurable ones are love, hope, joy, peace. These are health giving, and if not in excess, not exhausting.

The painful emotions are fear, hate, anger, jealousy. These exhaust the vital forces in two ways. They diminish the generation of energy in the body by interfering with digestion and assimilation of food, and they also consume what energy is produced rapidly, and to little purpose.

There is much ill health which can not be traced to its true cause unless we turn our attention to these painful emotions. They wear out the body slowly and surely; and no one may suspect, even the sufferer himself, what secret canker is preying on the heart.

The first is fear. There is no knowing how much ill health has its chief cause in a slow chronic fear which silently corrodes the nervous system and not only shortens life, but renders it less effective.

Hate is another emotion which should find little place in the human heart. What is hate? In hate we have a great aversion to someone perhaps as good as ourselves, who may have harmed us or who does not act in harmony with our views. We are willing that those we hate should suffer; we do not sympathize with their loss and are pained at their success. But when we harbor such feelings we injure our own person more than we harm our enemies. The reaction on our own nerves lowers the standard of health and diminishes life's forces. Hate is a worse emotion than fear, affects the health more seriously. "Let not the sun go down on your wrath," was a hygiene maxim. Christ said, "Love your enemies." "Do good to them that persecute you." It is probably the hardest command he gave, but it was one which if reasonably lived up to would take a load off of many poor suffering invalids, and they might get well without further help from the physician.

Anger is the last emotion we shall name. It, too, wastes life's forces, and at the same time as do all the other evil emotions, poisons the blood. This is one of the new discoveries of hygiene. The emotions produce changes in the system which generate substances that are poisonous or not according to their character. The evil emotions, and especially anger, produce substances which are very poisonous, and if in quantities large enough they might destroy life. Even in ordinary quantities it lowers the vital tone and wastes life's forces most extravagantly.

The question now comes up, What cure have we for the evil emotions of which we have spoken? The true cure is to substitute the better ones, faith, hope and love. These all conserve health; they are remedies for the mind, as air, light, exercise and temperance are for the body. They never pall, never injure, never harm.—Journal of Hygiene.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

SPLENDID SLAW.—For one small head of cabbage, chopped fine, take two well-beaten eggs, one tablespoonful butter and eight of vinegar, salt and pepper to taste. Place over the fire and stir until it becomes like cream, then pour over the cabbage. Some add two tablespoons sugar.—Exchange.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of Medicine.
Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address
Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New York.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.
SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH, 1895

Chicago Limited.
No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6.50 P. M.
Solid, Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with Pullman Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.
No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20 A. M.
Through Pullman service to Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.
No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 9:30 P. M.

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexcelled.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.
SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE
NEW ORLEANS & NORTH EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO
Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,
AND TO ALL POINTS
North, East, North-East, AND South-East,
90 MILES SHORTEST
To CINCINNATI
AND
THE NORTH.
Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A.,
No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Established 1867.

The Great CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for churches, halls and public buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. FRINK,
551 Pearl Street, New York

Church Organs

Made by the Mason & Hamlin Co. are the finest in the world.

We have them at prices from $75 up. They can not be equaled in tone or delicacy of touch.

Write for catalogue and particulars.

LUDDEN & BATES S. M. H.,

1027 CANAL STREET, · New Orleans, La.

OBITUARIES.

ACROSTIC.

BY MRS. E. H. JONES.

To T. M. Carter and wife on the death of their little daughter.

More bright than the stars were her beautiful eyes!
In their clear depths a mild beauty lies.

Spotless her brow as the snow which caressed
Switzerland's lofty Mount Blanc at its crest.

Royal maids many there may be on earth,

Uniquely save for the accident of birth,

Their only distinction being a worthless crown.
How vile, too oft, this insignia is found.

Carried away by the Savior in the Springtime of life,
And forever freed from its worries and strife,

Resting now safely in the Paradise of God,

The Lord doeth best; meekly submit to his rod

Encircling her brow a jewsled crown is seen

Resting so lightly; God made Ruth queen.

Harriston, April 11, 1896.

GIBBS—Capt. JULIUS G. GIBBS was born at Paris, Tenn., June 27, 1826. He came with his father to Grenada, Miss., in 1836, where he has resided most of the time since. On June 10, 187, he was married to Miss Mary T. Pulliom, of Oxford, Miss. This union was blessed with a large family of children, who lived to be an honor to their parents. He entered the Confederate service in 1861 as first lieutenant, captain of Company I, Thirtieth Mississippi Regiment, and was soon afterward elected captain. He was captured at Chickamauga in September, 1863, and was imprisoned at Johnson's Island nearly a year. After the war he returned to his home at Grenada, and engaged in farming. His health had been poor for some time, and in the Spring of this year his family carried him to Jackson, Miss., where he died May 25, 1896. He was a member of the Methodist Church from his boyhood. Whenever health permitted he was always in his place—true, loyal, and sympathetic. Always a warm friend of the preacher, he could be relied on to give counsel, or do anything for the cause of the blessed Master. He was the very soul of honor. He was chivalrous, patriotic, hospitable, and charitable. He never sought popularity at the expense of any virtue, but he maintained to the end the courteous dignity and knightly bearing of a high-toned Christian gentleman. His children were reared to become models of filial devotion and when he lay upon his bed for months they tenderly cared for him to the last. His was an ideal death. All his children but two stood around his bed. His faithful wife, who, for nearly fifty years, had journeyed with him was by his side. A few friends also stood by. A sweet smile rested upon his face; his lips moved as if he would speak, but he could not describe the vision he saw. Then his soul departed, leaving the impress of the smile still upon his face. A great and a good man has gone. Bishop Galloway, Dr. A. F. Watkins and Dr. W. B. Murrah conducted his funeral service. T. W. LEWIS.

ARMISTEAD—Sister ESTHER H. ARMISTEAD, daughter of Dr. J. W. and Mrs. F. J. Hemphill, was born in Choctaw county, Miss., Sept. 28, 1861; was married to Bro. B. D. Armistead, Dec. 12, 1882; joined the M. E. Church, South, in the Summer of 1890, and died after a very brief, but painful, illness May 19, 1896, being at the time of her death thirty-four years eight months and twenty-two days old.

Thus has been removed from our midst one of our best women. She was an obedient, tender daughter; an affectionate, loving wife; a devoted sister; a tender, faithful mother; a true neighbor, a consistent church member, and, we trust and believe, a consecrated Christian; so we feel sure our loss is her eternal gain.

Farewell, Sister Armistead, but not forever. By the grace of God we will meet you where parting will be no more. We shall miss Sister Armistead in the church, in the community, but, oh, how sadly in the home! May God graciously bless the aged parents, the devoted husband, the brother and sisters, but, above all, the dear little orphan children, and help them all to so live that they may meet the dear one in the beautiful home of the soul, where she has doubtless gone! Her physician said, "She died with a beautiful smile on her face." Doubtless indicative of the sweet vision she caught of the blessed beyond just as she was passing over, where she is now, and will be waiting and watching at the beautiful gate for the loved ones. May God bless them all!

A. D. MILLAN.

Hermanville, Miss.

Southwestern Presbyterian please copy.

BRUNERS—Another flower has been plucked from earth by the death angel and borne to the city in the skies.

LILLIE EDKEN, son of J. A. and Anna Bruners, was born Dec. 24, 1894, and died May 10, 1896. Before his feet could go in the ways of sin he has risen to the home of rest and security in the celestial sphere. It was so hard to give Lillie Edken up. Sleep on, fair child; papa and ma and all the pure are coming on.

His GRANDPA.

DURRETT—Mrs. LIDA DURRETT was born April 26, 1872, and died April 23, 1896. She joined the M. E. Church while she was young, and lived a faithful member until her death. She was married to Mr. Douglass Durrett, Dec. 24, 1893. To them were born two daughters. She was a true wife and loving mother. The children were too young to realize much about their mother. The youngest was only three days old at her mother's death, and the dust was scarcely laid on dear Lida's grave until her sweet babe was laid by her side.

Lida was loved by all who knew her. She bore her long suffering with love and Christian patience, and was ready to be received at the right hand of God. While dear Lida and the sweet babe are gone from us, they have only gone to visit relatives and friends in a better land. She never forgot her prayers during her long suffering. While on her dying pillow she asked her husband not to grieve after her.

May the blessed promise of God comfort the bereaved husband, mother, sisters, brother, friends, one sweet little babe that is left behind to mourn her absence! May we so live that when the death angel calls us from this life that we, too, like dear Lida, can go on high, and rest in the arms of our Savior!

S. C.

SAVAGE—Mrs. ELIZABETH SAVAGE, aged sixty-four years, departed this life April 13, 1896. She was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, when only a girl, and lived a consistent Christian life to the day of her death, ever willing and ready to do what she could for the Master's cause. She was a kind and affectionate mother, a friend to the needy, and always loyal to her church. For a number of years before her death she devoted a portion of her time almost daily to the reading and study of the Bible. She often said, "I am only living for God and heaven." Her religion was of such a clear and positive type that it filled her heart with sadness when failing health made it impossible for her to attend church. However, her faith in God increased as her physical strength decreased, until she ripened into a sweet and abiding rest in Christ.

She leaves several children to mourn her loss. Bro. O. L. Savage, of the North Mississippi Conference, is her youngest son. The wife of Rev. W. L. Graves, of Corinth, is her youngest daughter.

May the God of all peace comfort the afflicted ones and hid them look up!

A FRIEND.

CHANCE—Miss MAGGIE JANE CHANCE was born Nov. 10, 1878, and after a long and painful suffering with rheumatism she departed this life May 17, 1896. At a protracted meeting held at Good Hope Church, Williamsburg circuit, in July, 1892, she professed Christ and joined the church. The writer baptized her and received her in full connection, and she had lived a consistent Christian up to the day of her death; and as I had served this work for four years, I was called upon to attend the funeral. I did, and delivered a short discourse from these words, "There is but one step between me and death" (I. Sam. xx, 3), which was listened to by a good congregation of friends and relatives. May parents and children so live in this world as to be prepared to meet the loved ones in heaven! J. H. E.

SIMPSON—The subject of this sketch, Bro. WM. SIMPSON, was born in Rutherford county, Tenn., Sept. 27, 1813, and died at his home near Thomastown, Miss., April 25, 1896.

When a boy, only about fifteen years old, Bro. Simpson came to Mississippi, where he lived till God called him home.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Baker, March 8, 1838. To this marriage God gave eleven children, six of whom are dead, five still living.

Bro. Simpson was a member of the Methodist Church for sixty years, and a subscriber to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE for more than forty years.

May the blessings of God rest on all his posterity! R. A. BRALANN.

TURNER—Mrs. RHETTA TURNER was born Oct. 1, 1872; was converted and joined the M. E. Church, South, while quite young; was married to Robert I. Turner, Oct. 29, 1891, and died March 28, 1896.

She was a cheerful Christian, a fond mother, a kind friend, and a devoted wife. In her last sickness she expressed herself as not afraid to die, but when dead she would be with Jesus. Many good things could be said of her, but the best is, she was a Christian. She leaves two little girls and a devoted husband. May God comfort and keep them!

P. A. JOHNSTON.

Homer, La.

ADAMS—Resolutions on the death of little MAG LINDA ADAMS, daughter of Rev. T. W. Adams.

The committee appointed by the superintendent to prepare resolutions expressive of the feelings of the Sabbath school in the death of our beloved scholar, Mag Linda Adams, report the following:

Resolved, That while we deplore an event so untimely, we bow submissively to God's holy will. Mag Linda was a bright and devoted Christian, a prompt and faithful member of our Sabbath school, prepared and always ready to perform every duty required.

Resolved, That we revere her memory, and will try to imitate the example of our beloved little scholar.

Resolved, That the Sabbath school hereby extends to our beloved pastor and family our deepest sympathy, praying God that the consolations of his grace may abound in them in this season of sorrow, and that they may realize that their beloved one is not dead, but is gone before.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent the bereaved family; also that a copy be sent to the Democrat-Star and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, that they be placed on the record of the Sabbath-school.

MRS. W. R. THOMPSON,
MRS. C. W. BOWAN,
MISS MAMIE DENNY,
Committee.

Moss Point, Miss.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies and, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The breath of prayer comes from the life of faith.—J. Mason.

All Skin Disorders

from simple Pimples to Obstinate Eczema and Tetter can be quickly and permanently cured by the simple application of

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

It makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy, producing a clear and brilliant complexion.

50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia.

The Dixie Sewing Machine Works

Can make your old machine as good as new. No matter how old or how much worn. All worn-out parts are taken out and replaced with new ones; the machine is fitted up as perfectly as a new machine. Machines can be making the Machine work the same as new. All work is guaranteed for 5 years, and if not satisfactory, will be repaired Free of Charge during that time. We have a lot of

Japaned and Ornamented,

- Rebuilt Machines -

for sale. Price, from $7 to $12, with attachments. We handle New Machines, Standard Makes, prices ranging from $18 to $35, with all attachments. We invite investigation. We will allow 30 days trial on our new Machines, and will be glad to open correspondence with those in need of one. We handle Needles, Shuttles, Attachments, Oils, Parts, etc., for all makes of Machines. We solicit mail orders.

Yours respectfully

Dixie Machine Works,

P. O. Box 101. WINONA, MISS.

L. S. WIDNEY. DAVID ZABLE.

WIDNEY & ZABLE,

COAL, HAY, CORN, OATS and BRAN,

Coal, Coke and Wood Yard and Feed Store,

MAGAZINE, NEAR VALENCE STREET.
Main Office: HENNEN BUILDING, No. 802 Common Street, NEW ORLEANS

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576. NEW ORLEANS

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE LARGEST ESTABLISHMENT MANUFACTURING CHURCH BELLS CHIMES and PEALS In The World.
PUREST BELL METAL. (Copper and Tin.)
Send For Price and Catalogue.
E. A. HANK BELL FOUNDRY, BALTIMORE, MD.

BELLS

Most Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

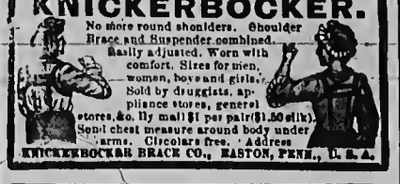
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

VAN DUZEN CO., Cincinnati, O., Phila., U.S.A.
Best Lake Copper and E. India Tin.
CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Best Rotary Yoke, Wheel and Friction Rollers.
Terms & Satisfaction Guaranteed. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

KNICKERBOCKER.



No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair ($1.50 silk). Send chest measure around body under arms. Circulars free. Address
KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN., U. S. A.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

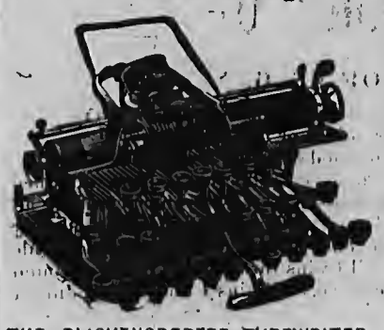
F. R. Hardon, Millinery,

No. 29 Chartres Street—New 139.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capabity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.

C. H. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 807 Common Street, (Room 403), New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle,

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS, Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes, TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS, Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes, WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS, Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

334-336 (New No.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

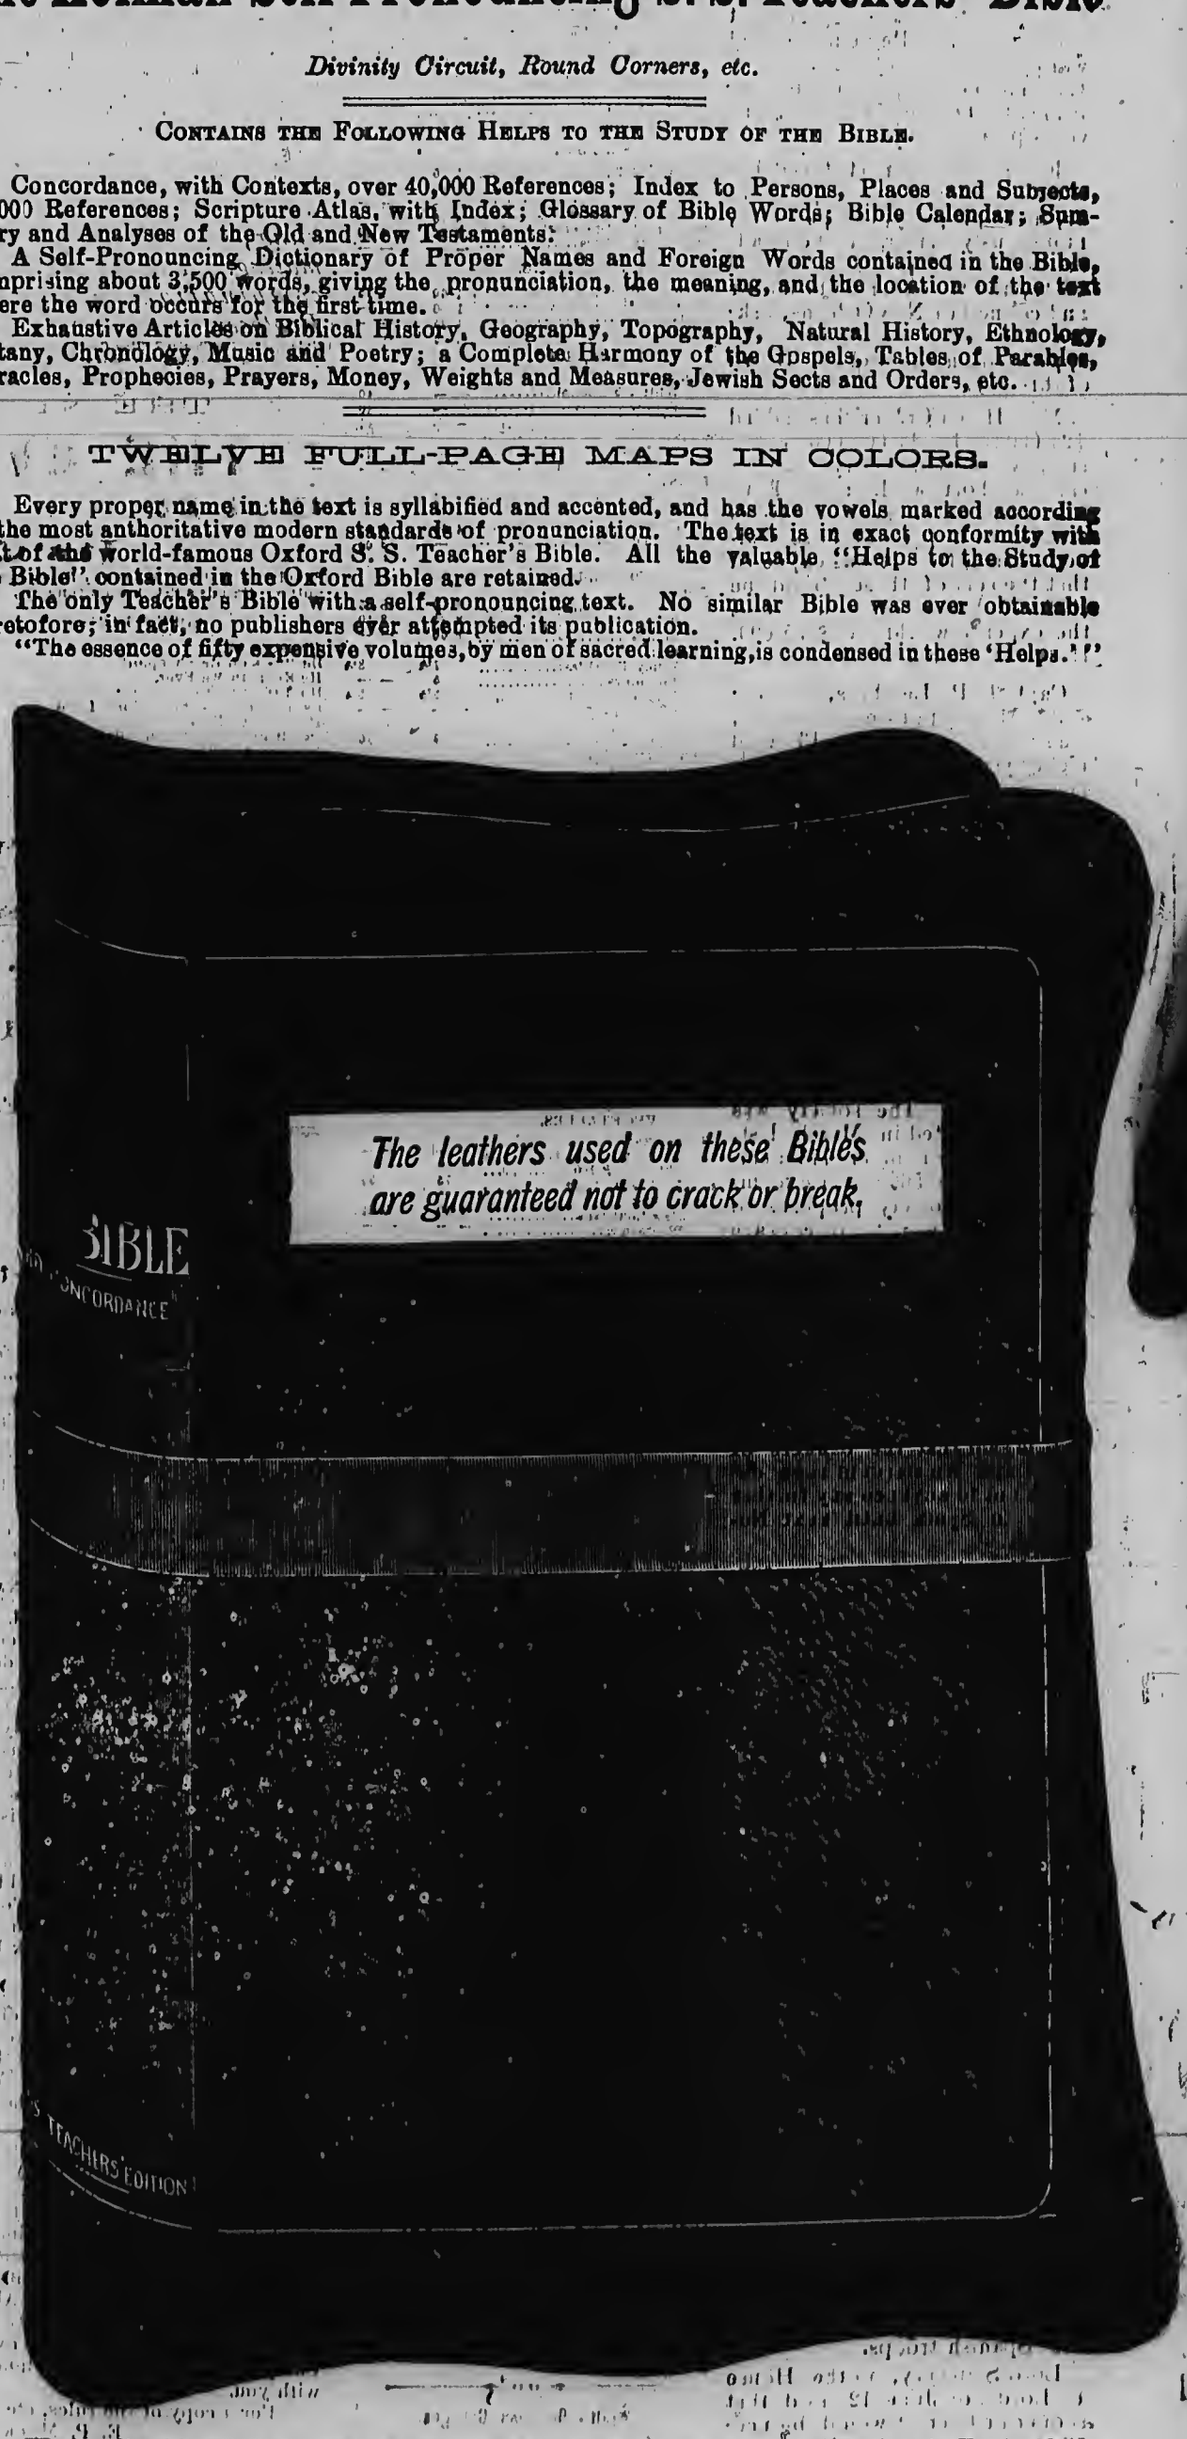
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



We handle this Bible in three styles, as follows: Minion Type, $1.75; Bourgeois Type, $2.45; Emerald Type, $1.25. In order to get any one of these at these rates, it is necessary to pay your subscription a full year in advance, viz., to June, 97. (A little later it will be July, '97.)

Notice that there are three sizes—$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

Address Rev. W. C. BOSON 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Republican National Convention was called to order on Tuesday, June 16.

The Board of Aldermen of Boston passed an order the other day appropriating $301 000 for the ventilation and sanitation of school houses.

The Rev. E. H. Richards, superintendent of the Methodist missions in east Africa, who is now visiting his old home in Ohio, has more than 3,000,000 people in his parish. He lives in Inhambane, in Portuguese Africa.

It is said in Cleveland, Ohio, that Mr. John D. Rockefeller intends to build the largest blast furnaces and Bessemer steel works in the world on the site that has been occupied by the Standard Oil Works for many years past.

For some days past there has been in circulation a petition, or, more properly, two petitions, numerously signed, one being addressed to the governor of the State, and the other to the mayor and council of New Orleans, asking that one or more women be appointed on the School Board of this city.

Miss Helen Culver has added $25,000 to the $1,000 000 which she gave the University of Chicago a short while ago. Four biological buildings were to be erected with part of Miss Culver's first gift. It was expected that the cost of these would be $300,000, but it was found that the expense would be $325,000. Hence the increased benefaction.

Capt. T. P. Leathers, the venerable Mississippi steamboatman, died in this city on June 13, aged eighty years. His first trip on a boat was in 1836. It is estimated that during his career the captain carried on his boats not less that $7,000 000 worth of cotton. After a life of stirring incident and sturdy honesty, he was killed by a bicycle which struck him two weeks ago and left him prostrate.

The Massachusetts Audubon Society for the protection of wild birds against the ravages of fashion, has met with encouraging success. The society was only inaugurated in March last, and it already numbers 773 members, of whom 566 are life members. The society proposes to do what it can to discourage the wearing of feathers of any wild bird for the purposes of ornamentation.

FOREIGN.

The national debt of Spain is now $600,000,000, and is still growing.

It is said that the bankers of Paris and Amsterdam have decided not to advance any further loans to Spain until next November.

A French engineer has conceived the idea of reproducing, at the 1900 exposition, the house in which Napoleon spent his exile in St. Helena.

The four leaders of the Johannesburg Reform Committee, who endeavored to stir up a revolution in the Boer Republic, in Africa, have been fined $125,000 each or, in default, fifteen years banishment.

President Kruger has done a great stroke of business in the Transvaal. The fines of the Johannesburg reformers total up $1,000,000, equal to one fifth of a year's income of the South African Republic.

A dispatch received from Massowa confirms the report of the acquittal of Gen. Baratieri by the court martial which heard the charges against him connected with the defeat of the Italians by the Abyssinians.

Gen. Gomez's force of 5,000 insurgents was defeated recently on the plains of Sarstoga, near Najara, province of Puerto Principe, Cuba, after a fight of forty-two hours, by Jiminez Castellanos' Spanish troops.

Lord Salisbury, in the House of Lords, on June 12, said that sooner or later it would be necessary to reclaim for Egypt the territory lost in 1882 and 1884. The objective point now terminates at Dongola; but Egypt's flag must float over Khartoum are many years.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5¾	— —
Ordinary	6	— —
Good ordinary	6 9-16	— —
Low middling	6 13-16	— —
Middling	7	— —
Good middling	7¼	— —
Middling fair	7⅝	— —
Fair	8 15-16	— —
Galveston middling	8 13-16	— —
Mobile middling	8 11-16	— —
Memphis middling	7	— —
SUGAR.
ORXN KETTLE:
Prime	2	2 7-16
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3¾	3¾
Prime yellow	3⅞	4 3-16
Gray white	4 5-16	4 7-16
Choice white	4 3-16	4 7-16
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
ORXN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —
RICE.
No. 1	4⅝	— —
Good	3¾	4
Fair	3⅜	3¼
Prime	4¼	4½
Rough, ₩ bbl	70	1 60
POLISH, ₩ ton	13 00	14 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 60	3 75
Fancy	3 40	3 50
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 10	— —
Winter wheat patents	3 60	4 00
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	1 60	1 65
Cream meal	1 90	— —
Grits	1 93	— —
Hominy	2 50	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	40
Yellow	— —	40
Mixed No 2	— —	40
OATS:
Western	— —	37
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	80	82½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	17 00
Choice	— —	18 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	5 00	8 75
Prime Mess	8 25	8 50
Rumps	8 00	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	7½	8½
Shoulders	5	— —
Sides, short rib	5½	5½
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	8	10
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4⅝
Sides, short rib	4½	— —
Sides, long clear	4½	4¼
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	13¾	— —
Common	13¼	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
No. 1	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	17	— —
Western Dairy	13	14
Common	8	11
LARD:
Refined	4½	5
OILS:
Coal, bbls	8½	— —
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Cotton seed, crude	18½	20
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ 100	75	90
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	1 10	1 20
Western	— —	— —
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	90	1 00
Western	— —	— —
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	2½	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	5½	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	8	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	75
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 40
Young Chickens	1 00	3 20
Chickens, Southern	3 40	3 60
Young	90	2 10
Turkeys, Southern	9 00	15 00
EGGS:
Western	10	— —
Southern	10½	— —
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	16	19½
Louisiana	6	7½
Burry	5	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	4½	— —
Dry salted	6	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	17 25	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

MUL EN-OL is pre-eminently a Mother's Remedy, a reliable panacea for all the ills and pains of childhood.

MUL EN OL is a clear, pleasant penetrating Liniment. No grease, no stain.

Keep a bottle of MUL-EN-OL where you can quickly reach it, in case of emergency. Perhaps it will save a doctor's bill.

For cuts and wounds of all kinds, MUL-EN OL has no equal. It prevents inflammation, takes out the soreness, and heals quickly.

MUL EN-OL—Nature's Great Healer and Pain Destroyer. Often is it that lives are lost, that might have been saved by the timely use of MUL-EN-OL.

MUL EN-OL is the greatest of all antiseptic dressings. Is a sovereign remedy for healing flesh wounds on man or beast.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

MARRIAGES.

BROCK—BAILEY. At the residence of Mr. R. T. Bailey, Holmes county, Miss., June 10, by Rev. R. G Porter, Mr. E. R. Brock and Miss Bettie F. Bailey

SHELMIRE—TUCKER. In Zachary, La., June 9, 1896, by Rev. Thos. J. Upton, Mr. John W. Shelmire and Miss Celia A. Tucker, both of East Baton Rouge parish, La.

Notice.

To the Presiding Elders of the Mississippi Conference—

DEAR BRETHREN: Please send me your second quarterly reports as soon as possible, so that my report to Dr. Lambuth may be made without delay. Yours faithfully,

T. L. MELLEN, Sec., etc.

June 10, 1896.

Jackson District Conference.

The following are the Committees of Examination for Jackson District Conference:

License to Preach—A. F. Watkins, H. W. Featherstun, W. J. Ferguson.

Admission on Trial—W. L. C. Hunnicutt, M. H. Moore, J. G. Cammack.

Deacon's Orders—R. A. Breland, H. L. Norton, J. A. Moore.

Elder's Orders—J. A. B. Jones, J. W. Brown, R. W. Bailey.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The coolness is refreshing; the roots and herbs invigorating; the two together animating. You get the right combination in HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Enterprise District Conference.

The Enterprise District Conference will convene at Heidelberg, Thursday, July 9, at 9 a. m. Rev. D. G. W. Ellis will preach the opening sermon at 11 a. m. Subject, The Necessary Qualifications for Leadership in the Ministry and Official Laity.

At suitable times during the Conference papers will be read as follows: The Spiritual State of the Church as Dependent upon, and Evidenced by, Attendance upon the Ordinances and Social Meetings of the Church—Rev. R. B. Downer. Sunday-schools—Rev. H. E. Partridge. The American Bible Society: Its History, and the Necessity of Supporting It—D. W. Heidelberg. The Duty of Supporting the Institutions of the Church, and the Best Methods of Securing Contributions—Rev. D. P. Bradford. The Epworth League: Its History and Value—Rev. F. M. Keen. The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society—Miss Anna Trotter, Enterprise district secretary. The Parsonage and Home Mission Society, — —.

These papers will be followed by discussion. Let every member do some honest thinking on these subjects before he comes to the District Conference. L. CAALEY.

Rev. W. T. Woodward, of the Louisiana Conference, writes: "Your premium machine came in due time, and has been tested, and gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. Several persons have examined the machine, and pronounce it wonderfully cheap; scarcely any noise and perfect work."

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

THE NEW SONG BOOK.

THE EVANGELIST.

Get It. Get It Now.

Its Contents

Supply as many songs as any Revival, Camp Meeting, Epworth League or regular service requires. Here is a list of a few songs:

COPYRIGHTS:

Christ is All.
De Massa ob de Sheepfol'.
He Keepeth Me Ever.
Hold the Light up Higher.
I am Resting in the Savior's Love.
I'll Go with Him.
I've Been Washed in the Blood.
Say, Are You Ready?
The Stranger at the Door.
Turned away from the Beautiful Gate.
While Jesus Calls.
When the Roll is Called up Yonder.
When the Beautiful Gates Unfold.
Will You Go?—and many original ones.

HYMNS:

At the Fountain.
Home, Ye sinners.
Come, Ye That Love the Lord.
Coronation.
I Am Coming to the Cross
Is not This the Land of Beulah?
I want My Friends to Go.
Jesus, Lover, etc. (new and old tunes).
Lord, Revive Us.
Oh, Happy Day.
Savior, Breathe, etc. (new tune).
There is a Fountain.
The Great Physician.
The Child of a King, and two dozen more of the old favorites.

More than 70 songs in all.

Its Price

Is an important feature. 10 cents a copy. $4 for 50, not prepaid. $7.50 for 100, not prepaid.

A Book for Every Reader

In the congregation is made possible at this price.

Still Better!

For a few days it is offered at even lower prices: $3 for 50, or $5 for 100, not prepaid. This is only to introduce it.

Address: LYMAN F. JACKSON, Alexandria, La.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 1st, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene immediately after close of Camp Meeting, and run through July 31. A splendid program has been prepared.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visit or from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
M. F. TUCKER, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

Program of Interstate Epworth League Conference,

AT SEASHORE CAMP GROUND, JULY 24-31, 1896.

FIRST DAY, FRIDAY, JULY 24.

8 a. m.—Bible Reading, by Rev. A. C. Hart, of Alabama.

11 a. m.—Design and Scope of the League, by Rev. J. M. Weems, D.D., of Mississippi.

8 p. m.—Has this Design Been Met? By Rev. H. R. Singleton, of Louisiana.

SECOND DAY, SATURDAY, JULY 25.

8 a. m.—Song Service and Address on Hymnology, by Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, of Louisiana.

11 a. m.—Influence of Sacred Song in the Formation of Religious Character, by Rev. J. W. Shoaff, D.D., of Alabama.

8 p. m.—The Study of the Sacred Scriptures, by Rev. W. G. Forsyth, of Mississippi.

THIRD DAY, SUNDAY, JULY 26.

8 a. m.—Prayer and Praise Service, by Rev. Thos. W. Brown, of Mississippi.

11 a. m.—The Work of the Holy Spirit, by Bishop John C. Keener.

4 p. m.—The Methodist Fathers in America, by Rev. James L. Pierce, of Louisiana.

8 p. m. Sermon to the Young, by Rev. T. F. Mangum, D.D., of Alabama.

FOURTH DAY, MONDAY, JULY 27.

8 a. m.—Prayer and Song—Voluntary Expressions (3 minutes), by Rev. C. F. Emery, of Mississippi.

11 a. m.—Young People in Revival Work, by Rev. R. M. Blocker, of Louisiana.

8 p. m.—Relation of Children to the Church, by Rev. O. C. McGehee, of Alabama.

FIFTH DAY, TUESDAY, JULY 28.

8 a. m.—Sermon to Children, by Rev. J. L. Grace, of Alabama.

11 a. m. Literary Work of the Leaguers, by Rev. W. H. Huntley, of Mississippi.

8 p. m. Devotional Work of the League, by Rev. Paul M. Brown, of Louisiana.

SIXTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, JULY 29.

8 a. m.—The Place and Work of the Junior League, by Rev. A. F. Watkins, of Mississippi.

11 a. m.—The Grace of Christian Liberality, and How the Young Should Be Taught to Give, by Rev. J. Ivy Humphair, of Louisiana.

8. p. m.—The League and its Relation to Missions, by Rev. H. U. Gannari, D. D., of Alabama.

SEVENTH DAY, THURSDAY, JULY 30.

8 a. m.—League Sociables, and How to Conduct them, by Rev. Robert H. Wynn, of Louisiana.

11 a. m.—Duty of the Church to Its Young People, by Stewart Bloch, Esq., of Alabama.

8 p. m.—The Probable Bearing of the League to the Future of the Church, by Rev. H. W. Featherstun, D. D., of Mississippi.

EIGHTH DAY, FRIDAY, JULY 31.

8 a. m.—Sermon, Christian Experience, by Rev. W. C. Bucks, D.D., of Mississippi.

11 a. m.—Christian Education, by Rev. A. J. Lamar, of Alabama.

4 p. m.—Prayer, by Rev. Harry W. May, of Louisiana.

8 p. m.—Missions, by Rev. H. W. Featherstun, D.D., of Mississippi.

Substitutes for Horsford's Acid Phosphate Are Dangerous.

Because they cost less, many substitutes are offered, some of which are dangerous, and none of which will produce the same effect as the genuine. Insist upon having "HORSFORD'S" whether buying a bottle of Acid Phosphate, or "phosphate" in a glass of soda.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Bolton, at Raymond	July 4, 5
Edwards, at Rieves Chapel	11, 12
Hermanville at Saratoga	18, 19
Crawford Street—Vicksburg	25, 26
South Vicksburg	26, 27
Harrison's Retreat	Aug. 1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	8, 9
Port Gibson	15, 16
Utica, at Learned	22, 23
Mayersville at Shiloh	29, 30
South Warren, at —	Sept 5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at —	12, 13
Rolling Fork, at Redwood	19, 20
Anguilla at Bethel	26, 27
Warren, at —	Oct. 3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Gloster, at Macedonia	June 27, 28
Jefferson Street	July 3-5
W. C.	4, 5
Roxie at McNair	10-12
District Conference, at Fayette	13-16
Fayette, at Ebenezer	22, 26
Wilkinson at G. H.	Aug 1, 2
Harlow, at Brandywine	2, 3
Amite, at H C	12, 16
Meadville, at N. P.	22, 23
Percy Creek	29, 30
Woodville	30, 31
Washington	Sept. 2, 4

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 13, at 9 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Brookhaven	June 20, 21
Wesson	27, 28
Martinville at Pine Grove	July 4, 5
Summit, at Topisaw	11, 12
Magnolia and Ceylon, at Magnolia	18, 19
McComb City	25, 26
Adams	28
Osseyville, at Bethany	Aug. 1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews	8, 9
Providence, at Providence	11
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	12, 13
Crystal Springs	(8 P. M.) 13
Hazlehurst	22, 23
Obina Grove	29, 30
Whitestown, at Muddy Springs	Sept. 5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Sartia's	12, 13

C. H. MOUSHON, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST. THIRD ROUND.

Heidelberg, at Sandersville	July 18, 19
Shubuta, at Quitman	(Wed.) 22
State Line, at Buckatunna	25, 26
Ellisville and Laurel, at Ellisville	Aug. 1, 2
Pachuta, at Carter's Mill	8, 9
Winchester, at Spring Hill	12, 13
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro Mor.	15
Leakesville, at Avera	(Tues.) 18
Energy, at State Line	22, 23
Vossburg, at Central	(Wed.) 26
Enlier	Sept. 5, 6
Williamsburg	(Wed.) 9
Mt. Carmel	12, 13
Eastabuchie, at Hopewell	19, 20
Matherville	22, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall	(Wed.) 28

L. CARLEY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Benton circuit, at Midway	June 27, 28
District Conference at Camden	July 2-3
Jackson—First Church	(2 P. M.) 7
Jackson—Capitol Street	(8 P. M.) 8
Terry, at Forest Hill	11, 12
Yazoo City	18, 19
Yazoo circuit, at Anding	22, 23
Sharon, at Forest Grove	Aug. 1, 2
Silver Creek and B. L., at Sharbrough's	2, 3
Canton	12, 13
Flora at Brownsville	22, 23
Camden, at —	26, 27
Madison, at Pocahontas	Sept. 2, 3
Lake City and Lodi, at Phillips	12, 13
Fannin	18 19
Tranquil	26, 27

E. D. MORSWORTHY, P. E.

A WORD IN YOUR EAR

THE SECRET OF BEAUTY of the complexion, hands, arms, and hair is found in the perfect action of the Pores, produced by

Cuticura SOAP

The most effective skin purifying and beautifying soap in the world, as well as purest and sweetest for toilet, bath, and nursery.

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. NEWBERY & SONS, 1, King Edward-st., London. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Walnut Grove, at White Plains	June 10, 11
Lake, at Lawrence	27, 28
Decatur, at Decatur	July 4, 5
Hillsmeadow, at Zion Grove	11, 12
Carthage, at Singleton's	18, 19
Clarksburg, at Lindsey's Chapel	25, 26
Shiloh, at Bethany	Aug. 1, 2
Westville, at Goshen	8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect	15, 16
Montrose, at Cedar Grove	22, 23
Raleigh at Bay Springs	29, 30
Hillsboro, at New Providence	30
Steen's Creek, at Richland	11, 12
Brandon	19, 20

District Conference will convene at Decatur, July 2.

The following Committees of Examination have been appointed: For License to Preach H. C. Lewis, W. M. Williams, H. B. Vandenberg. Admission on Trial—J. T. Nicholson, R. Bradley, P. D. Hardin. Deacon's Orders C. McDonald W. M. Sullivan. J. H. Foreman. Elder's Orders—R. F. Pitts, C. C. Lyells, P. H. Howie.

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Slaughter, at Ethel	June 27, 28
Wilson, at Manassas	July 4, 5
Jackson	5, 6
Fannin Sers at Tunica	(Wed.) 1
East Baton Rouge, at Pipkin	11, 12
Zachary	16, 19
Baton Rouge station	19, 20
Baton Rouge circuit, at S. R.	11, 12
Pouchatoula, at Springfield	11, 12
Port Vincent, at Sarah Barnery	11, 12
Live Oak, at Palmetto	Aug. 1, 2
Amite City, at Kentwood	9, 9
Pine Grove, at Camp Ground	(Wed.) 11
East Feliciana at Camp G. (Thurs.)	12
Greensburg, at Camp Ground. (Fri.)	13
Clinton	19, 19
Franklinton, at Pleasant Valley	19, 19

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Lisbon, at Arizona	June 27, 28
Dubberly, at Mt. Zion	27, 28
Gassville, at Gassville. (W. and Th.)	July 1, 2
Vernon, at New Prospect	4, 5
Fernerville at Freeman Chapel	11, 12
Downsville, at Con'l S. house at T. W.	11, 12
Ruston, at Douglas	11, 12
Vienna	Aug. 1, 2
Homer	(Wed and Thurs.) 1, 2
Valley, at Blocker Chapel	8, 9
Minden, at Pine Grove	15, 16
Arcadia, at Simsboro	17, 18
Blanville	11, 19

Following Committees of Examination have been appointed:

For License to Preach and for Admission on Trial—Revs. Ruhl Randle, A. D. McVoy, E. L. Shepnard.

For Deacon's and Elder's Orders—Revs J. A. Miller, J. O. Bennett, D. C. Barr.

District Conference will convene in Arcadia, July 7. Sunday-school Conference on the eighth, at same place.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Lafayette	June 20, 21
Opelousas s. at Belleview	27, 28
Morgan City, at Berwick	July 4, 5
Patterson	5, 6
Abbeville, at Perry's Bridge	6
Franklin	11, 12
District Conference, at Lake Arthur	15, 16, 17
Crowley	18, 19
Lake Arthur, at Locadia	20
Jeanerette	25, 26
New Iberia	26, 27
Pattersonmine at Prairie Hayes	12
Indian Bayou at Indian B	Aug. 1, 2
Pointe-au-Baise Brulee, at P. Brulee	8, 9
French Mission, at Arnaudville	11
West Lake and Sulphur Mine	15, 16
Lake Charles, Bread Street	22, 23
Lake Charles Jackson St cet	23, 25
Second Chenilere	26
Rayne	29, 30

The Opelousas District Conference will convene at Lake Arthur July 15, 1896, at 9:30 A. M. The following Committees of Examination have been appointed:

For License to Preach—R. J. Hall, L. T. Reames, and C. Armstrong.

For Admission on Trial or Ordination—J. A. Parker D. D., A. J. Notestine, and R. M. Blocker.

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Fort Jessup, at Prospect	June 20, 21
Pelican, at Philip's Chapel	21 22
Shreveport—First Church	July 11, 12
Mooringsport, at Mount Zion	12, 13
Jordan street and Pine Hill, at P. H.	15, 16
South Bossier, at Fillmore	19
North Bossier	Aug. 1, 2
Red River, at Campobello	9, 9
Coushatta, at East Point	10, 12
Wesley, at Holly Springs	11, 12
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Scie	18, 19
Grand Lake, at Bethel	Sept. 8, 9
Mansfield, at Mansfield	14, 15
Caddo	15, 16

District Conference will meet at Mansfield at 9 A. M., July 8.

The Examining Committee for License to Preach, admission on Trial, or for Orders, are as follows: W. C. LaPrade, J. M. Brown, and W. F. Patterson.

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Lower Coast, at Wesley	June 21
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at D.	28
Grape Street	July 5

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	June 13, 14
Delhi, at Delhi	13, 14

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Byhalia circuit, at Fountain Head	June 20, 21
Pot's Camp circuit, at Hickory Flat	27, 28
Holly Springs circuit, at Hudsonville	July 4, 5
Waterford circuit, at Harris' Chapel	11, 12
Olive Branch circuit, at Kelley	13, 15
Red Banks circuit, at Salley's C. G.	Aug. 1, 2
East Holly Springs cir. at Mt Hope	8, 9
Cornersville circuit, at Friendship	10, 11
Mt. Pleasant cir. at Marshall Institute	15, 16
Ashland circuit at Black Jack	16
Pontotoc circuit	Sept. 5, 6
Ashland circuit	11, 12

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Starkville station	July 4, 5
Sturgis	11, 12
Brooksville	18, 19
Starkville circuit	Aug. 1, 2
Tibbee	8, 9
Mason station	12
Shuqualak	(Mon.) 15, 16
Hebron	18, 19
Columbus circuit	19, 20
Columbus station	21, 22
Crawford	Sept. 5, 6
Cedar Bluff	8, 9
West Point	11
Singleton	(Thurs.) 12, 13
Winstonville	19, 20

E. A. MURROUGHS, P. E.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 26. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2079

Rev. W. G. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Communications.

The Rules We Keep—No. 3.

The second class of rules relate to doing good as an evidence of a fixed desire to be saved from sin. These rules are positive, and each one of them is clearly taught, or fairly inferred in one or more passages of God's holy Word. These positive rules, like the negative rules, are general and not special. The special and particular application of them to the every-day affairs of life must be made by each individual for himself. They contain general principles that govern all persons who have the form and are seeking the power of godliness.

Persons who desire to be saved from sin will strive to do good by being merciful to the utmost limit of their power to everybody and to every living thing. They will not miss an opportunity of doing good, of every possible sort, and as far as possible to all men. This spirit is the very soul of godliness. It makes men and women look like God. In doing this they act like God. This is practical godliness, or God-likeness. Indeed, where mercy is the most sought it is the thing most readily and freely extended. It is utterly impossible for an unmerciful man to have, or to enjoy, religion. This quality or grace shows itself to all men, white, black, red or orange-colored. It is the grace of Him who tasted death for every man.

Men of this spirit will, as far as they are able, feed the hungry, clothe the naked, care for widows and orphans, visit the sick and those that are in prison, and minister to them and keep them in every possible way. If we gave more attention of this kind to the bodily and temporal wants of men, what a door of access it would open to their souls!

Men thus striving to be saved from sin will also try to do good to the souls of men—all men. Whenever opportunity offers, as they are offering every day, they will instruct, reprove and exhort all with whom they have any intercourse. Red hot themselves to be saved from sin, they will be exceedingly solicitous for the salvation of other people. All this will be done with meekness, gentleness, and in the most loving way. No man can possibly be desirous for the salvation of his own soul without being solicitous for the salvation of other people. A strong desire always manifests itself by intense zeal. No man can be solicitous for the salvation of other people while he has no concern for his own soul. If every man and woman connected with the Methodist Church had an intense desire to be saved from sin, the whole land would soon be aflame with revival power, and the missionary treasury would be full and running over. The great trouble is not in our poverty, but in our lack of interest and of zeal. Having no longing to be saved from ourselves, we have no deep or intense desire for the salvation of others. Methodist people are fully committed to the idea of doing good anyhow—whether their hearts be free to it or not—whether they feel like it or not. They do good because it is right—because God has commanded it. There is no way in the world so well calculated to make people feel like doing good as to do good till one becomes interested in it.

The idea that one is not required to do good until his heart is free to do or till he feels like it, is an enthusiastic and damnable heresy that has sent millions of souls to perdition. Do the right thing towards God and all men, and the good feeling will be sure to follow. In any matter of duty no Methodist ought ever to say, "I do not feel like it." It violates one of the general rules of his church and the commandments of God whenever he says that, "Thou shalt not steal," however much thou mayest feel like stealing. The obligation is in the commandment of God and not in the state of one's feelings. The more we do not feel like doing right things, the greater the reason why we should strive to do them. The heart becomes free to doing good by doing good. In learning how to do good works we learn to love good works. This is the nature of man. It is true of both plowing and praying. One who prays much comes to feel like praying always.

GILDEROY.

East Mississippi Female College.

The last session of this institution was in many respects the most prosperous one within its history. One hundred and twenty-five students were enrolled, of whom twenty-eight were boarders within the college, and a number from a distance boarded in the city. There were nine young ladies graduated to the degree of Mistress of English Literature. Their personal appearance, their sessional grade, and the character of their essays, reflected honor upon their alma mater.

The Rev. Dr. Weems, the presiding elder of the Vicksburg district, delivered the commencement sermon. His discourse was well received, and was replete with wholesome teaching.

The Rev. H. A. Van Hook preached on Sunday evening. The rain prevented a large attendance, but the sermon indicated a bright future for the handsome and talented young Mississippian.

Dr. Muckenfuss, professor of science in Millsaps College, addressed the graduating class. The man, with his intellectual, English cast of features, and the address unique and thoughtful, made a good impression for the college of which he is a professor. His wish, pleasantly expressed, for a closer union between the colleges, had a more suggestive meaning than a mere official courtesy, inasmuch as the professor is a handsome, unmarried man, and the members of the senior class are attractive, to say nothing of the fascinating single ladies of the faculty.

The Board of Trustees embodied their high appreciation of President T. B. Holloman in a series of complimentary resolutions, which were ordered to be published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. President Holloman is very popular with all classes, and the regrets were general and sincere that he would not consent to remain as president. The fact was, that the Board of Trustees found themselves involved pecuniarily to that degree that it was absolutely necessary to secure a president who could relieve them of their financial embarrassment. President Holloman was unwilling to assume such a monetary obligation. Providentially, the Board of Trustees had an application for the presidency from J. W. Beeson, A. M., who, in addition to the highest educational qualifications, had also the willingness and the ability to relieve the Board of its financial embarrassment. After deliberate and scrutinizing investigations of his qualification for the position, the Board elected him president of the institution, and invested him with a lease for fifteen years. He is under guarantee to furnish to the church a first-class college for the education of females; to keep the buildings insured and in reasonable repair. In addition, he is to pay by June 15, proximo, the debt to the bank of nearly $1,700, and to pay an annuity of nearly $600.

Prof. Beeson is an A. M. graduate of the University of Alabama. He conducted a female college in Arcadia, La., with great success for five years, and with perfect acceptability to the patrons and the college authorities. He left that climate because of his wife's health. For five years succeeding he has been president of the female college in Demopolis, Ala. He brought this college to the highest conditions of success, and left it with the sorrow of all concerned, and with most flattering testimonials from the officers of the institution and from influential persons in the community.

Prof. Beeson is a man of consecrated piety, with an aptness to teach and to administer. Besides, he is a man of affairs, a success in managing his own finances and those entitled to his care.

The president announced that he would secure a faculty of skill and of repute, even if the higher salaries would involve financial loss for the present. He will have a German professor of acknowledged ability—as musical director, and will introduce a kindergarten system under the most approved methods.

All things considered, this institution has a more assured promise of success than it has had since its inception.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Vicksburg, Miss., June 12, 1896.

Mansfield Female College.

It was my duty and pleasure to attend the forty-sixth annual commencement exercises of Mansfield Female College this week. It was the first I have attended, and the first under the new management at that place.

There is always special interest and importance connected with changes in administration, whether it be of educational institutions or governments. I am sure it will be so in this case to all who are interested in the only school for women in the bounds of, and supported by, the Louisiana Conference.

The exercises began with the commencement sermon, delivered by Rev. E. N. Evans, of Monroe, Sunday, June 7. It was pronounced exceptionally appropriate.

The entertainment on Monday evening, and the alumni reunion Tuesday, at 10 A. M., were interesting and delightful occasions. After the reunion Dr. Wm. H. LaPrade, of Shreveport, La., delivered the alumni address, which, as to matter and style, was as felicitous as only one devoted to his own alma mater could make it, and was full of suggestion as to the important work of its education of the women who are to wield such influence as mothers can on the future of the family, the society and the government of the future. As well, he emphasized the value of the influence of the alumni of a college on the continued influence of the institution.

The annual concert, Tuesday evening, was a success. Commencement day was Wednesday, and the interest of the day centered in the commencement address by Mr. I. T. Moreland, Esq., of Fort Worth, Texas, once well and favorably known in North Louisiana as an educator. His address was heard with pleasure by a fairly good audience, while his spicy "asides," as he discussed practical points in politics as influencing and influenced by women, sketched a European trip, and encouraged the pupils to retain for the "new woman" all the excellencies which characterized the "old-fashioned woman," while accepting all that the former has secured and expects from the widened field of opportunity. (I may be permitted an original application of a legend with which his address was closed. A Chinaman, after passing through several successive transmigrations at wish—first emperor, the sun, a cloud, a rock—each stage marked by failure to attain the power he desired, and was in the last state subject to power of a Chinaman with mallet and chisel, concluded that, after all, a Chinaman was the greatest thing in the world, and to be, as such, content. After all the transformations which have been and are yet to be in women from the time of our mothers, or grandmothers, a "womanly woman" is the greatest thing in the world.) His address was witty and as wise as commencement addresses should be, and delighted the audience.

The art levee and president's reception closed the day and the exercises appropriately and pleasantly.

So much for the past. The last session has been a successful one, considering the difficulties which attended the change of hands in midyear; and the people of Mansfield, and the patrons of the school who were there, are cheerful, hopeful, and ambitious for the future.

One of the best indications of revived interest in this daughter of the church is the fact that at the meetings of the Board of Trustees in January, and on the commencement occasion, there were present twelve and eleven, respectively, of the seventeen members who constitute the Board. The interest taken in their sessions, and the business-like manner of handling the affairs of the college, betokens more work and better work in the future.

The faculty for the ensuing scholastic year are: Prof. T. S. Sligh, A. M. (president), natural sciences, ancient languages, and mathematics; Mrs. Adela Sligh, A. M. (vice-president), literature; Miss Lizzie May Sligh, A. B., music and elocution; Miss Ruth Sligh, A. B., assistant in music and literary departments; Miss M. F. Williams, art—the department she has ably conducted; Jno. C. Sligh, A. B., stenography, modern languages and mathematics. The preparatory department is not yet supplied.

Prof. and Mrs. Sligh have for more than twenty years stood in the foremost ranks of educators in North Louisiana, and bring to aid endowments of first order the experience thus gained. This considered, and certain other facts give promise of a successful future, and so encourages the friends of the college to enthusiasm in personal work to that end. The "other facts" are: A splendid location on one of the highest points in that section of the State for beauty, comfort and health; a substantial, "roomy" building, well adapted to the purposes of a school; well (and to be better) equipped; easy of access (the new railroad from Kansas City to the Gulf, via Shreveport, passes through Mansfield, and it and the "tap" connects it with the T. and P.); its success in the past and the encouragement for the future—all should stimulate every friend to work for it, and those who know nothing or little about Mansfield College to investigate, with a view of deriving the benefits of a safe school for their daughters, near enough to be in touch with it, and (in the case of Methodist parents) near enough to have a voice in its management.

The plans for the Summer contemplate many changes in the building that will contribute to the comfort of the pupils. The curriculum, already good, will be broadened and strengthened, increasing the value of a diploma for its mastery.

In a word, the history of Mansfield Female College is bright; in the light of promises, partially realized, its present is brighter; with the co-operation of those who should be interested in its welfare, the history that may yet be written may be brightest.

LYMAN F. JACKSON,
For the Committee.

Alexandria, La., June 15, 1896.

In the Living Present.

The bicycle craze increases. During the last twelve months New York disposed of, in wholesale and retail, bicycles to the amount of 30,000,000. Now a novel appears in London, with the bicycle as its chief theme. It is called "The Widow on Wheels." If all bicycle riders buy a copy, the sale of "Trilby" will surely be excelled.

Bismarck, not claiming to be infallible like the Roman Pontiff, is reported to have said that the Irish, as a rule, are an effeminate race. Their proverbial wit bears that characteristic. Then, too, they employ their tongue as their principal weapon—a weapon never rusty. Like women, they are led by their emotions. Masculine reason is seldom found.

"Brick" Pomeroy is no more. True, he favored the "lost cause,"—but friends and foes believed him to be devoid of principle. He looked upon his papers only as money-making machines. True, he was a fine writer, but his subjects were usually popular balderdash. Many believe that he was largely instrumental in bringing about President Lincoln's murder. A few weeks before that cruel assassination Pomeroy said in his paper: "If Lincoln will not make good the promises of his second inaugural, he will find that some poniard will be hurled in his breast."

Zola, the novelist, exposes Miss Henriette Cuedon in Paris. Said young lady pretends to receive visits from the angel Gabriel, who readily informs her of the complicated present and inscrutable future of visiting friends. Zola, unknown to the impostress, visited her under a nom de plume. The fee was enormous. The surroundings awe-inspiring to the superstitious. In matters not familiar to her she answered Zola's interrogatories in nauseating generalities and platitudes. Zola was convinced that the replies were Miss Cuedon's own manufacture.

The Outlook repeats the familiar recipe for extemporaneous preaching, "Have something to say, then say it." Without diligent study, to depend on the spur of the moment for inspiration, is the outcome of laziness or fanaticism. About extemporaneous preaching, it should be remembered that "the height of art is to conceal the art."

Harriet Beecher Stowe, eighty-seven years old, sadly exhibits the effects of senility. The charms of literature have died. Politics and social life awaken no interest in her. Dotage reigns. Only when the subject of our holy religion is mentioned her eyes once more exhibit the former lustre. "Jesus is dear to my soul," is her usual remark.

Admirers of that arch-agitator and socialist, Eugene V. Debs, are not few. But Debs is not only an infidel, but an atheist. In one of his recent harangues he said: "The churches have done very little good to the people. The saloons have done more. They have fed more people in Chicago during the last two years than all the churches in the land." No wonder that the benighted and besotted cry, "Hurrah for Debs!"

ICH DIEN.

Selections.

Woman's Board of Missions Call on the Chinese Minister.

The following from the Evening Star (Washington, D. C.) will be read with profound interest:

The proceedings yesterday of the Woman's Board of Home and Foreign Missions of the M. E. Church, South, were full of the greatest interest.

The Chinese minister and his wife, Mrs. Yang, accorded the members of the Board a reception at the legation. Although this was in response to a request from the members of the Board, the granting of the favor is thought by the members of the Mission Board to signify that China is about to open her doors more freely to the missionaries sent from this country, and is preparing to adopt more of the manners and customs of the most enlightened nations. So far as is known this is the first occasion when an ambassador of the Emperor of China in any land has received a depatation composed of ladies who were engaged in sending agents to his land for the purpose of trying to induce the subjects of the latter to forsake the religion of their ancestors and accept one that they did not want.

During the reception, the minister, in reply to remarks on the subject by the president of the Mission Board, Mrs. M. D. Wightman, told his visitors that there was no opposition on the part of the Emperor of China or of the educated upper classes to the presence in that country of Christian missionaries, stating further that the antipathy, which is known to exist, is confined to the lower classes exclusively."

The reception was a charming affair throughout and the ladies who attended were delighted beyond their highest expectations.

Judge Chambers acted as master of ceremonies, on the part of the ladies, a line of two abreast was formed, the officers of the Board leading, and in this manner the party proceeded to the large parlor where the ceremonies took place.

The introductions were made by the interpreter, Mr. Sze, first to Mrs. Yang, and then to the minister. Each of the distinguished personages was richly attired in oriental costume, and each had a pleasant word to say to the visitors. After all were introduced Judge Chambers told the minister, through the interpreter, that Mrs. Wightman, as president of the Woman's Home and Foreign Mission Board, desired to make a few remarks in reference to the work of the Board, through their missionaries in China.

The minister, replying, also through the interpreter, said he would be pleased to hear whatever Mrs. Wightman might be pleased to say.

Mrs. Wightman, addressing the minister, said she had long been an admirer of China and its people. "She had," she said, "read much of its history, and since the Board had located missions there she had become so much interested in the country that she felt that she could not willingly leave the city until she had called upon the representative of the Emperor of that great country."

The minister listened attentively to Mrs. Wightman's address, and, in reply, assured the ladies, as stated above, that there was the best of feeling existing on the part of the Emperor and the members of the educated upper classes toward the Christian missionaries in China, and that the opposition to them came from the ignorant among the lower classes.

Mrs. Hendrix, mother of Bishop Hendrix of the M. E. Church, South, then stepped forward and asked permission, which was granted by the minister, for her to present to Mrs. Yang a badge of the society, and immediately followed that with a second request to be allowed to pin the badge on the front of Mrs. Yang's dress. This was also granted, and as soon as she had secured it to its place she exclaimed, 'Now Mrs. Yang is a member of our society," and then the ladies applauded by clapping their hands.

Mrs. Yang looked at the pretty badge admiringly, but appeared to wonder what she had done that pleased the ladies so much. The action of Mrs. Hendrix created some little enthusiasm, and as soon as quiet was again restored Mrs. Wightman, holding a large and magnificently bound Bible in her hands, and addressing the ambassador, said: "Mr. Minister, we want you to allow Mrs. Yang to accept this copy of our Holy Bible and permit it to stay in your house."

The minister replied in English, the only time he used the language during the reception: "I thank you very much," and Mrs. Yang said also in English, "Thank you."

Miss Campbell, a missionary, who recently returned from China, was introduced to the minister, and for some moments the two persons carried on a conversation in Chinese. The minister seemed to be delighted that Miss Campbell was able to talk to him in his own tongue and manifested his pleasure in his countenance. Mrs. Wightman asked Miss Campbell to sing a hymn in Chinese, but she declined on the ground that in China no woman ever sang outside of the church with which she was connected.

The ceremonies being concluded, the minister and Mrs. Yang, through the interpreter, extended an invitation to all present to repair to the dining-room and partake of refreshments, and there a half hour was spent eating cake and drinking lemonade.

Before going to the dining-room, some of the ladies caught a glimpse of the little children of the minister and his wife. They fell in love with them at once, and so expressed themselves, but as soon as the little ones, who during the formal ceremonies had kept themselves half hidden behind screens in the room, found they were discovered, they scampered out of the room as rapidly as they could. The reception and luncheon lasted about an hour and a half, and upon leaving the legation the members of the Board went to Mount Vernon Place Church for the purpose of having a night session.

MY WILL.

BY F. D. MARR.

My will is like an iron bar—
Stubborn, and hard, and cold;
A thing I can not break or bend,
I can not melt or mould.
Yet in a furnace hot enough,
Beneath a master force,
It might be moulded to a form
Of beauty and of use.

My will is like a mountain stream,
That headlong rushes on,
Without a purpose or an aim,
O'er valley, crag and stone;
Containing mighty force and strength,
Great duties to fulfill—
But undirected, uncontrolled,
Only a power for ill.

Lord, take this hard and stubborn bar,
I can not break or bend,
And melt and mould it as thou will
To suit thy purposed end.
Control this wild, impetuous stream,
Till, conquered and subdued,
It moves beneath thy guiding hand
A power for thee and good.

—Exchange.

Correspondence.

Another Trip and Another Program.

Monday, May 25, by way of Jackson to Meridian, and the next day to Shubuta, and thence Motherville, near which stands Winifred Church, where I was to preach at 8 P. M. Bro. W. W. Moore and I were on time, but the congregation was thirty minutes later. For more than an hour they listened attentively to one phase of the great missionary question. Bro. Moore had taken his collection two days before, but some of the brethren promised to be liberal and do better. How cordially many of them greeted me! and how I should like to have spent a week with them!

Wednesday, 27—Bro. Moore kindly took me back across the prairies to Shubuta, where Bro. D. P. Bradford was awaiting. A sharp and sudden attack of sickness, however, necessitated my calling in Dr. Hand, "the beloved physician," and sending Bro. J. N. Ware to take my place in the pulpit that night. Not until the next afternoon did I venture to leave the parsonage. An hour or two was spent in shaking hands with the brethren and looking at the handsome buildings recently built or in process of construction. Both here and in the Winifred neighborhood there were decided signs of material progress. It was a disappointment to me not to preach to the Shubuta Church, especially since that church was the first this Conference year to forward the foreign missionary assessment to Nashville. Bro. Bradford is winding up four successful years in this delightful pastorate.

Thursday, 28—Bro. J. N. Ware and I started by train for Waynesboro, but the rain began before we had gone two miles and continued till some time after Waynesboro was reached. No preaching that night. However, I rested well in the prophet's chamber in the hospitable home of Bro. J. A. Wetherbee, where in other years I had often lodged. At 10:30 the next morning a small congregation gathered in the church to hear the message anent missions. Bro. W. S. Davis subscribed for "The Methodist Review of Missions," and Bro. Partridge, the consecrated pastor, agreed to put "The World for Christ" before his people.

Friday, 29—I was due at State Line, but as the train was two hours late (because of the recent St. Louis tornado) Bro. Ware and I agreed it would be useless for me to stop over—the hour being too late to look for a congregation. Greatly to my regret I learned after getting some miles down into Alabama, that, although the people at State Line knew the train could not reach the depot before 9:15 P. M., they had met and were holding a prayer meeting while waiting for my coming. God bless them! If a way opens, I will surely spend a day with them some time this year. They have a warm place in my heart.

Saturday, 30—Mobile was reached on time, and after a weary wait of about four hours in the depot, I boarded the L. and N. train for Scranton, the station nearest to Moss Point. A pleasant drive enabled me to reach that place in ample time for an early breakfast, which I greatly enjoyed at the parsonage. Presiding Elder Powell and the other brethren cordially greeted me. At 11 A. M. I had the pleasure of hearing Bro. T. W. Brown preach on "What think ye of Christ?" Bro. Brown and I were fellow-guests at Bro. Thus. Jackson's delightful home.

Sunday, 31—At 11 A. M. I heard Dr. W. C. Black preach on the immortality of the soul, which he did by special request. The sermon has grown in length and strength since I first heard it. A profound impression was made on an intensely interested congregation. Bro. L. N. Dantzler, that princely layman, took me home to dine with him. At 3 P. M. I had the honor to preach to the negroes of the M. E. Church. We had a good time. Their preacher is a native of Copiah county, and seems to be a man of fervid piety. I never heard any one read the hymns more impressively or pray more fervently. At 8 P. M. I preached in our church on the subject assigned me by Bro. Powell: "Missions, and How to Sustain Them." My text was Jno. x. A more attentive congregation I never saw. Several of the preachers, however, had gone home the day before, and a good many of the members had gone to the Presbyterian Church to hear Dr. Black. They knew they would hear something worth hearing there. I did not blame them.

June 1—An early start enabled Bro. Brown and myself to reach Scranton in time for the 4:15 A. M. train. Ocean Springs was reached in due time. After breakfast a call was made on Sister Nicholsen, widow of Rev. Jos. Nicholson, of precious memory. The weight of seventy-six years bears lightly upon her. Quite a congregation had gathered in the church at 8 P. M. to hear me on the great question of missions. Bishop Galloway would have called my sermon a perspiratory effort. Interest, however, was manifest.

June 2—The ride of four miles to Biloxi did not take much time by rail. Bro. J. C. Clower's horse and buggy carried us safely in and about Biloxi, to the Camp Ground and beyond. Bro. Brown and I were the guests of the Bay View House, an elegant hotel kept by Mrs. Andrews, a member of the Presbyterian Church. A little after 8 P. M. a small congregation had assembled in our church to listen to my missionary message. An entertainment for the benefit of the fire department had the crowd. I had had no idea that there was such a town on the Mississippi seashore—5,000 inhabitants; all the principal streets shelled; artesian wells and waterworks; electric lights and street cars, etc. Everything large except Protestantism. We have a small band of faithful members. I was glad to meet Bro. D. L. Mitchel and his daughters, formerly of the ADVOCATE office, now living here. Bro. Brown says they are faithful helpers, and are doing much good. He and Bro. Mitchel are two yoke-fellows.

June 3—Stepping off the cars at Bay St. Louis, I went to the parsonage and caught Bro. N. B. Harmon napping! It was an unseasonable hour, but I am never afraid of the early birds. Bro. Harmon and family greeted me most cordially. The buggy ride through Waveland and contiguous lands was most enjoyed.

At 5 P. M. the train for New Orleans was boarded. Close connection was made with the L. C. railroad by means of the trolley cars, and about 11 P. M. Wesson was reached by a very sleepy, tired mortal.

June 21 I am to be in Canton; July 2, at the Jackson District Conference; July 3 and 4, at the Brandon District Conference: July 5, Meridian—11 A. M. at East End, and at night at Central: Tuesday, July 7, at Central Church on the Pachuta circuit; Wednesday, July 8, at Vossburg; Thursday, 9, at Hattiesburg; Friday, 10, at Enterprise District Conference at Heidelberg; Sunday, July 12, Wesson. The appointments at Central (near Barnett) Vossburg and Hattiesburg are subject to ratification of the pastors to whom I have not yet written.

T. L. MELLEN,
Miss'y Sec. of Miss. Conf.

Bro. Harmon Heard from.

As to the letter of Mrs. Maggio A. Stockton, dated Bay St. Louis, Miss., published in the Methodist, I wish to say that if you substitute Waveland for Bay St. Louis, every word of that letter is true, so far as I know. Allow me a word as to the ecclesiastical policy of Methodism concerning this Gulf coast. Why is it that towns like Waveland, with a population of eight hundred or a thousand; Pass Christian, with a population of 2,000 and more, and where the Methodist Church owns two beautiful lots centrally located; also Mississippi City, an old and populous center, should be left all these years without a Methodist Church and preaching? Why is it that our connectional secretaries will weep over Montana and shed no tears for the Gulf coast? Mind you, I am glad to see and hear of tears being shed in the interest of Montana. Would that I could see them flowing for this coast. We have a Bishop in Mississippi endowed with marvelous magnetism, backed by gigantic enthusiasm—enthusiasm that seems at times like the surge of this old Gulf. Why, he can talk with the eloquence of a Prentiss or Lamar about the needs of China and Japan! Can we not engage that gifted tongue to plead the cause of the Gulf coast before the Methodists of Mississippi? Is it not known that the severest battles of evangelical Christianity in Mississippi are fought along this coast? We need the brightest, brainiest men among us right down here.

Last, but not least, we need $500 that the beautiful church you mentioned may be dedicated before the close of this year. Will you help me get it? I trust that you and all your readers know that I am still in the ring, and not at all disfigured.

N. B. HARMON.
Bay St. Louis, Miss., June 11, 1896.

Johnston Collegiate Institute.

The first session of Johnston Collegiate Institute has closed. It was only about one month before the opening of last session that the thought of establishing such a school here was conceived. Its growth has been marvelous to those who know its history. At the time of its conception we had no house and no money to build one. Furthermore, we had no organized Board of Trustees and no teachers. The first thing we did, of course, was to organize a charter Board of Trustees and employ teachers. Then we set about the task of raising money to purchase grounds and to erect suitable buildings. We were fortunate in securing a beautiful and spacious campus on a commanding elevation. Indeed, the location of the institution is fortunate in many respects. Greensburg is in the heart of the pine woods, ten miles west of Tangipahoa, on the I. C. railroad. It has plenty of cool shade and an abundance of the purest coldest well water. Its healthfulness is unsurpassed by any community in my knowledge. Not only is the physical atmosphere good, but the moral also. St. Helena has long been a prohibition parish, and St. Helena circuit is noted for the spirituality of its members. The people love their church and are true to its every interest.

Truly, I have never seen a people more responsive to the needs of a church enterprise than the good people of this vicinity have been to the calls of this institution of learning. They have given largely and liberally, and to-day we have a magnificent school building containing six large recitation-rooms and a chapel large enough to accommodate nearly one thousand people. The building is a thing of admiration to all who have seen it, standing, as it does, on the summit of a broad hill towering eighty-five feet in the air. During the Summer we will put up a boarding-house with sixteen well-ventilated rooms, each having a fireplace. This house will be under the management of Miss Hannah Raynham. Miss Raynham is a lady of large experience in the management of boarding-schools, having been for several years the principal of Kernan Collegiate Institute. We intend that all our boarding houses shall be under the care of the very best of managers. The entire management of the school shall be such as to insure to the best interest of the physical, mental and spiritual interests of the students. It is our desire to make the school a District High School for the Baton Rouge district.

The course of instruction is so arranged as to prepare students for entering the junior class at Centenary and other such colleges. We hope to encourage students who finish our course to attend some college or university where they may get higher training.

We have been experimenting on board expenses this session, and have found that we can furnish good board at six dollars per month. All school fees will not average more than three dollars per month. Washing and books will not cost over one dollar and fifty cents a month. We are earnestly laboring and planning to place the blessings of Christian education within the reach of every poor boy and girl in this district.

Realizing the full importance of having good teachers, we have spared no pains in securing the best available. For the next session they are A. R. Ladnor, J. A. Holland, H. D. Roberts, Miss Hannah Raynham, and Miss Iowa Phillips. We know personally that all these are good teachers and can insure the quality of their work. The music teacher is yet to be elected.

The commencement exercises, which were held May 31 and June 1, were good. Dr. Murrah preached the sermon Sunday, at 11 A. M., to a large audience. He preached also at night. Both sermons were excellent and both were greatly enjoyed. Dr. I. W. Cooper delivered the literary address, Monday, at 11 A. M. He was formerly pastor of this charge, and is well known to the people. He had a good audience that heard him gladly. When he was through there were very few dry eyes in the house—a thing seldom seen at a literary address. The concert Monday night was a delight to the many friends who had gathered to hear it. It began at 8 P. M. and lasted till 11:30. We have never seen such an audience at a commencement. In fact, the crowds were large at all the exercises. There must have been nearly one thousand people present Monday night.

We are confidently expecting a great company of students next session. Bro. G. D. Anders, the agent of the school, says they are coming from all parts of the district.

We were unfortunate in setting our commencement for the same date as Centenary's, but when we set the time we thought Centenary's was a week later. We hope all the delegates will come to the District Conference and see our new school and get acquainted with the teachers.

Allow me to say that St. Helena circuit is moving along splendidly.

N. J. ROBERTS.
Greensburg, La.

Edward McGehee College Commencement.

The closing exercises of Edward McGehee College began Sunday morning, June 7, with a sermon by Rev. F. N. Parker, of New Orleans, from Heb. xi, 27, "For he endured as seeing him who is invisible."

Monday morning, at nine o'clock, the Board of Trustees met, receiving the report of the president, and transacting other business. At eleven A. M. the representatives of the classes read their essays. They dealt with a variety of subjects, showing a degree of thought quite creditable to the undergraduates. The audience was disappointed in not having with it the Hon. R. H. Snider, lieutenant-governor of Louisiana, who was to have delivered the annual address. Mr. Snider telegraphed at the last moment his inability to be present. This was a double disappointment. Last year the speaker of the occasion was unavoidably detained. However, impromptu addresses were delivered by Hon. H. S. Van Eaton, of Woodville, and Hon. Leonard Barber, of New Orleans.

Tuesday was commencement day. Eight young ladies graduated. Three received the degree of A. B., and five the degree of B. S. The diplomas were presented by Hon. J. H. Jones, of Woodville, lieutenant-governor of Mississippi. Monday and Tuesday nights were occupied with the literary and musical entertainment and the grand concert.

The session just closed has been in many respects a most remarkable one. Twice during the session has the building occupied by the school been burned. Once it was the old historic building, and this Spring the synagogue which had been so kindly loaned by the Jewish friends. Notwithstanding all this, the school has had a larger attendance, both as to day pupils and boarders, than for years past. The school was moved into the new building, which was erected near the old site, just a month before the close of the session. Taking all these facts into consideration, the session was very successful, and the commencement exercises to a remarkable degree.

The college is not dead, and, with the active canvass projected by President Monroe, we look for a larger attendance next year, and greater success in the work. The faculty will be full and competent.

B. F. LEWIS.

P. AND H. M. S.

EDITORS.

Mrs. H. W. Foote, of North Miss. Conference.
Miss Pauline Stafford, of Mississippi Conference
Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, of Louisiana Conference

Summary of the Annual Report of the W. P. and H. M. S., M. E. Church, South, for 1895-96.

During the year just closed a commendable growth in membership, receipts, interest, and work, has been observable, for which grateful thanks are given to Him, who is the source of all increase.

The records show 38 Conference societies, 12,834 adult members, 2,450 young lady, juvenile and baby band members, making a total of 16,274. Three of the Conference societies report a gain of over 100 per cent.; one, a gain of 300 per cent., and one, of over 300 per cent.

The Central Committee aided 21 parsonages to the amount of $5,475. The local organizations report by vouchers 39 parsonages aided to the amount of $1,583.90.

The Department of Supplies has quietly carried on its loving service, and out of the 77 blanks received at the Central Office, it has filled 21, the estimated value of which, together with donations sent by Conference societies to preachers within their own bonds, amounts to $3,095.97.

The amount of literature printed and distributed has not been excelled in excellence. Of the ninth annual report there are 4,000 copies: of the summaries of the report, 5,000 copies; of eight-paged programs, 10,000 copies; of leaflets, 166,500, making a total of 2,050,250 pages of printed matter published and distributed free of cost, in order to disseminate a knowledge of the work.

"Our Homes" has had its most prosperous year, the subscription list being nearly 4,000. It is now domiciled in a beautiful and attractive office in the Publishing House.

Special columns are being edited in several of our church papers in the interest of our work, and woman's editions of several of our church papers have been issued by our workers. The editors of our church papers have shown the cause marked generosity, for which the society owes a debt of gratitude.

The mountain work, under the special supervision of Miss Belle H. Bennett, has been well advanced, the results of which will be more apparent another year. The building money pledged for the Sue Bennett Memorial School, London, Ky., is being collected, a well planned building is being erected, and, it is hoped, will be ready for occupancy by the coming Fall.

The Brevard Epworth School, located near Asheville, N. C., has been under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Fitch Taylor, assisted by Miss Flora Armstrong. The total attendance has been 36, seven of whom have been boarding pupils, and the remainder day pupils. The citizens of Brevard are seeking, by a gift of three acres of land, to make permanent this valuable school.

For the Holston Home and School, at Greenville, Tenn., we have 60 acres of land, and a fine building on which $2,000 have already been paid. The building will soon be ready for occupancy. The services of four capable, consecrated women have been secured to take charge of the institution, and a man has volunteered to superintend the grounds.

The Cuban Mission work, under the superintendency of Mrs. M. A. Wolff, has been blessed with a year of prosperity. Two day schools, with four teachers and 150 children, have been maintained at a cost of $1,600. The new building at Ybor City is nearing completion. Though only $2,500 was appropriated to it, yet, by special donations and skillful management, when completed it will be worth $5,000. This school is named in honor of that elect lady, Mrs. M. A. Wolff, who has labored and given so generously for the Cubans.

City mission work has been maintained with increasing interest in a number of large cities. Nine city missionaries have been employed, some of them for a portion of the year, others for the entire year. One of these missions has been organized into a church. In some of the cities the mission work is crystalizing into eleemosynary institutions.

The contributions to the several loan funds during the year have been encouraging. This important feature is eliciting the thoughtful attention of those desirous of making the wisest disposition of their means.

The receipts of the general treasury amount to $17,500, exceeding by nearly $9,000 those of the previous year. A bequest has been made to the society, which will soon be realized.

The society gratefully appreciates its indebtedness to the Board of Church Extension for its kindness and helpfulness in the prosecution of the year's work. The record of the year so fraught with blessings in every department resolves itself into a doxology of praise of Him whom we serve.

MRS. R. K. HARGROVE,
Gen'l Sec'y.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf.... Mrs. E. D. Jones.... Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.... Mrs. M. H. Morrison... Shreveport

W. B. F. M. in Washington, D. C.

After five days of arduous labors the women of the Southern Methodist Church concluded the business of the eighteenth Annual Meeting of W. B. F. M. at Mt. Vernon Church, June 11.

The meeting was a grand success throughout. The work accomplished during the fiscal year was eminently successful, and the plans formulated for the coming year promise an increase along all lines. Ninety-three thousand eight hundred dollars were appropriated; five new missionaries appointed to the foreign fields; two training-schools for Bible women projected—the Hayes-Wilkins in Shanghai, and the McGavock in Soochow.

Dr. Margaret Polk takes the place of Dr. Annie Walter at the head of the hospital in Shanghai. The Home Secretary, Mrs. Trueheart, is appointed to the vacancy left by the death of Mrs. McGavock until the election of foreign secretary in 1898.

Mrs. Campbell, our returned missionary from China, will during her stay in this country work among the societies on the Pacific coast. Her talks before the Board were inspiring.

Rev. Mr. Collier, also a returned missionary, aroused great enthusiasm by his vivid word-pictures of foreign lands.

A summary of home work shows: 34 Conference Societies, 270 districts, 3,417 auxiliaries, and 71,470 members. Amount reported by the treasurer for 1895-1896, $74,403.16.

Washington entertained the Board royally, and the humble hope of the Board is that a spiritual impress deep and lasting, has been left on the Methodist people of the great Capitol.

The sensible presence of the Holy Spirit was felt day by day, pervading, overruling and controlling the earnest workers.

Your correspondent exercised her best powers of persuasion to secure the next meeting of the Board in New Orleans; but the extreme heat of the far South was urged against the locality, and Birmingham was selected as the next fortunate city.

I need hardly mention the many and varied attractions of the nation's Capitol, visited by piecemeal during the short recesses of the sessions, and enjoyed to the full during the two days after the meeting adjourned.

A short excursion down the Potomac to Mt. Vernon and a visit to Robert E. Lee's old home on Arlington Heights were among the greatest pleasures enjoyed by the ladies.

Bishop Wilson preached a fine sermon on Sunday in Mt. Vernon Church from Revelation. Text: "The kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of our God." Bishop Hurst attended the meeting and gave us cordial words of greeting and blessing.

Space fails to mention all the items in this "feast of good things" spread before the W. B. F. M.; but I must not close without mention of one incident which we prayerfully hope is not without great significance. The Chinese legation received the ladies in a body, expressed the greatest pleasure in meeting the band of Christian women, and the minister, Mr. Yang, seemed highly pleased in allowing Mrs. Yang to accept from the Board a beautiful Bible. Every Christian woman breathed a fervent prayer that God would open many heathen hearts for the entrance of his own Word, as Mrs. Wightman, in a few loving words, presented the sacred Book into the hands of the minister's wife.

We hope to meet many of our Louisiana women in our State Conference annual meeting at Mansfield, when we will tell them many, many things of this interesting meeting of W. B. F. M., just closed.

MRS. T. P. FULLILOVE.

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

"Superannuated."

Under the above head, the Youth's Companion, of May 28, has a very sensible short editorial from which we, as a church, might do well to ponder. I will quote it, as it is short: "The 'dead line' in the ministry used to be fixed at fifty years, but a Bishop recently said that he found it difficult to secure pastorates for men over forty. In his experience—a wide one—there was a 'boycott' against ministers more than fifty years old. The short-sighted policy indicated by this remark is rebuked by an example of political sagacity. Senator Morrill, of Vermont, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday not long ago. His friends recall the circumstance that at the time of his last election to the Senate he suggested that he had best give place to a younger man. His constituents assured him that his experience made him more valuable to the State than any new man could be."

Experience ought to count in the ministry as well as in office holding. The only "dead line" to be recognized is the limit of usefulness. Until a minister is too old to say "Little children, love one another," he has not outlived his usefulness. Wesley traveled and preached until he was near ninety. John Newton continued to preach to his large congregations in London until near the same age. In our own time we see ministers of the gospel in other denominations spending the evenings of their useful lives, serving their churches, breaking the Bread of Life to the people up to the time when the Lord says to them, "It is enough, come up higher."

E. B. Partin, M. D.

Read Our Great Premium Offer!

THE STORY OF METHODISM THROUGHOUT THE WORLD,

FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE PRESENT TIME.

This book, by Rev. A. B. Hyde, D. D., is a large octavo, profusely illustrated, and most beautifully bound in silk cloth.

It is a book which should be in every Methodist household. We are making it possible for anyone to afford it. The publisher's price is $3.50. We will send it postpaid for $1.50 to any subscriber who has paid or will pay to June, '97.

"Reminiscences."

To Whom It May Concern:

At the solicitation of divers brethren, I have just succeeded in getting the manuscript of some "Reminiscences" that I published in the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and were read extensively and with pleasure as all who read express themselves. I now ask money to pay the printer.

Now, I have this proposition to make: All who want these "reminiscences" will deposit with the Capital State Bank at Jackson from one to two to an amount sufficient to pay the printer—say from one to two—and with the understanding that any surplus that may remain shall be refunded to any brother or sister from proceeds of the sale of the pamphlet. H. J. Harris.

Centerville, Miss.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. J. M. Johnston: "Our work is moving along smoothly. Congregations good; the preacher well cared for, and we are expecting a revival in church work and the ingathering of souls for Christ."

Rev. S. A. Brown, P. C., Belen circuit: "Belen circuit is moving upwards. Bro. Randolph dedicated a church for us at our last quarterly meeting, and another one is nearing completion for dedication at our next Quarterly Conference. Sunday-schools are alive. Our people are realizing more and more that 'righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.' We have just closed a meeting in Belen. Bro. E. P. Craddock assisted us. The church is revived, backsliders reclaimed, and several souls born into the kingdom of God. Received four by baptism and one on profession of faith. All the interests of the church is cared for and God is blessing this people. Pray for us."

Rev. P. Howard, P. C.: "Assisted by Bros. J. W. Tinnin and G. W. Huff, I closed on the fourth instant at Big Point, Americus circuit, a meeting of five days, resulting in three accessions and a general moving upon a higher plane of the membership, with a few additions to the number already enjoying the blessing of perfect love. These brethren both won the hearts of my people, and left the impression that they had been with Jesus."

Rev. J. W. Burton, L. E., Ramsey station, Ala., June 15: "Please say to the brethren that I have just undergone quite a severe spell of sickness. Though very weak I am able to be up again, and hope soon to be able to do work in the ministerial line; also that my time for the Summer campaign is not yet all taken; and if any of them have use for such service as I can render, to let me hear from them as soon as convenient. Success to the Advocate. Love to the brethren."

PLAQUEMINE BRULEE, LA.

Our work on this charge is very encouraging at present, and we are deriving much benefit from our Epworth League work. We, with considerable effort and misgivings, organized a League at Plaquemine Church in March with eleven members. We knew nothing of how to run a League, or what to do; but we went to the good Lord to lead, and at our first meeting the Holy Spirit was so manifested that some rose up in the congregation and praised God for the starting of the League. We have never had a dull service, and the interest has increased till we now have twenty-three members, and at our last Sunday afternoon meeting we had a full house in attendance and a real Holy Ghost meeting.

The interest has gone out and reached Church Point, and we organized there last Sunday morning with twenty members. We now have forty-three members in all, and everyone of these members are an instrument through which the Lord and the pastor can work.

My doubts as to the need and success of the League are all gone. I am sure that when operated right, they are a power for good in the church.

The general interest on our work is good. We have a revival spirit in our congregation at Plaquemine, and have had for three months. Our prayer meetings are attended with interest, and we have times of refreshing from the Lord. We hope to get a new church built this Summer for our Plaquemine congregation. We are trusting and working to get the people converted and sanctified.

J. S. Sanders.

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT.

I send you a few items from the Shreveport district. First, I would say that we have a band of earnest, faithful, consecrated preachers filling the various charges of this district, everyone of them at their posts of duty, honored and respected of all men and loved by their people. Some of them have held very successful revivals; others are engaged at this time in protracted meetings with good prospects. We have had some very gracious quarterly meetings. We have quite a number of genuine conversions and accessions, and many of our people have risen to higher and richer experiences in the divine life. Our finances, on the whole, are above last year at this date. The Epworth League movement is getting a deeper hold on our people. Some new ones have added to their rolls and working force.

Bishop came among us in April, doing us great good by his earnest and strong presentation of the needs and opportunities of our mission fields. His heart was so doubt gladened before he left us by the assurance that Shreveport Methodism would continue its support of its special missionary in China.

The interest of our people in our own Conference schools (Centenary and Mansfield) is surely deepening and widening. We have had an increase of attendance at Centenary during the past session, and we hope for double the patronage next session, notwithstanding the fact that we are more remote from Centenary than any other section of our State. Mansfield, under all the circumstances, has excelled our expections the past session, and the promise now is that a large increase of patronage will be realized at the opening of the Fall session, and its local friends and the Board of Managers are making strenuous efforts and sacrifices, that its outstanding obligations may be met, and the buildings and grounds put in excellent repairs by that time.

May the good Lord open the hearts of our people to the needs of these two great institutions—the heritage of Louisiana Methodism, the monuments to the earnest, consecrated zeal and self-sacrifice of those who have wrought before us in the cause of Christian education. Our District Conference will be held at Mansfield, July 2, and we will give you, or your representative, a hearty welcome.

J. L. P. Sheppard.

HERE AND THERE.

The writer has just returned from a pleasant visit to the hills of east and central Mississippi. To one who lives upon the bank of a muddy bayou the hill streams look inviting. I am entering upon my fifth Summer in the Delta, and have just taken the little vacation I always claim. It's a benediction to visit the old homestead, and to wander through field and wood teeming with memories of other days. The old school house, the familiar church-yard, the faces of loved ones, hallowed memories, how they touched and moved the heart!

The occasion of our visit was to be present at the celebration of Children's Day at old Friendship Church, in Chickasaw county, Miss. Hundreds of people gathered there to witness the exercises, which were highly interesting. The music would have been a credit to any of our city churches, and the recitations bespoke the praises of those who had the exercises in charge. At eleven o'clock it was my pleasure to preach to those I had known from childhood. As I looked into the faces of those I had known so long I thought of the inspiring history of that Sunday-school; how under many difficulties it had gone on doing a noble work for God and humanity. During a term of thirty years they have had the same superintendent, and it has been an evergreen school, stopping neither for Winter rain nor Summer sun. Eight preachers have been trained and sent forth by this school to help convert the world. This school has invested very largely in the salvation of this country, and the harvest will be large.

While we were enjoying our furlough we looked in upon the Grenada District Conference. Rev. H. C. Morehead was in the chair till the arrival of Bishop Galloway, Friday night. Several of the preachers were absent, but there were a goodly number of laymen and visitors. Fine reports were made from Grenada, Water Valley, Oxford and other places. The Grenada Collegiate Institute is in fine condition. It bids fair to become the leading female college in the State. Success to it!

The Greenville district is moving on. There is too much worldliness in the church, but our preachers are faithful in declaring the whole counsel of God. This has been a good year with us at Shaw station, and we are laboring for gracious revivals all over the district. Our presiding elder is moving around helping the preachers in revivals and looking after all the interests of the church of God.

E. S. Lewis.

Shaw, Miss.

Cures

Prove the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla—positive, perfect, permanent Cures.

Cures of Scrofula in severest forms, Salt Rheum, with Itching and burning, scald head, boils, pimples, etc.

Cures of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh by making rich, red blood.

Cures of Nervousness and That Tired Feeling by feeding nerves, muscles and tissues on pure blood.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

A woman's noblest work is helping a baby into life and health. She is committing a crime when she helps a sickly baby into the world. It is a crime because it is wholly within her power to make the baby strong and healthy. She can do it by the proper preparation—by taking proper care of herself during the period of gestation. Many babies die early, or at birth, or are sickly all their lives because of their mothers' ignorance or neglect. Neither is excusable.

Every woman may be strong and well, and so insure the health of her baby. If she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the period of gestation, she will find that she will have none of the discomforts incident to this condition, and that parturition will be free from danger, and comparatively free from suffering. This medicine is the greatest remedy in the world for all the forms of weakness or disease peculiar to women. It is the only medicine in the world that will make the coming of baby safe and easy. You can get it at the drug stores. If you want to know all about it, address Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

All those who suffer from biliousness, headaches, heart-burn, flatulence, palpitation of the heart, and a generally sluggish action of the digestive organs should take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Forty in a little vial. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic. By druggists.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Holman Bible at $1.25.

By buying in wholesale quantities we are able to make the following reduction in our Emerald-type Holman Bible. This Bible we have sold heretofore at $1.50. We now offer it at $1.25 to those who pay their subscription a full year in advance—that is, to June, '97. We do not advise any person who has passed the meridian of life to get this Bible, on account of the smallness of the print. For young persons, however, it will answer as well as the more expensive styles. It has all the helps of the larger sizes. Address

Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to June, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2.45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for $5—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The Advocate and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1.25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is June, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31. Gaston Meslier,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Our Oldest Citizen

Never saw the time when he could get pure, first-class Groceries as cheap as he now can at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

TEXAS AND PACIFIC ROUTE EL PASO

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7.25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

Has Been Quickened

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. Thorne, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
Gaston Meslier, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. Dashiell, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 1st, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene immediately after close of Camp Meeting, and run through July 31. A splendid program has been prepared.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visitor from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. Mackie, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. Clower, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. Daniels, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
M. F. Tucker, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. Lakin, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. Spear, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. Zable, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

School Medals —and— Class Pins.

We Make a Specialty of Designing and Manufacturing School Pins and Emblems,

And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER

IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,

Bourbon Street, - - - Near Canal.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, Corner Carondelet and Common Sts.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and widows of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. O. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La

Rev. W. O. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER
REV. F. N. PARKER.
MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. E. J. JONES.
REV. E. W. BAILEY.
NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

			Ordinary position.	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	.....	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks,	.....	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3 ..	.....	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month,	.....	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	.....	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6 ..	.....	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year,	.....	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 ..	.....	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1 ..	.....	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1 ..	.....	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1 ..	.....	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1 ..	.....	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, June 25, 1896.

A New Church.

By invitation of the pastor, Rev. J. V. Penn, we preached the opening sermon last Sabbath in the new church at Redwood, Miss. Redwood is a small station on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, ten miles above Vicksburg. There has never been a Methodist Church in the neighborhood, though services have been held occasionally in a schoolhouse. Bro. Penn began his canvass for subscriptions to this church about the first of April. It is now completed, except the inside painting and some additional furnishing. Quick work that! It is quite a handsome building. The crowd in attendance was very much in excess of the seating capacity of the building. A sumptuous dinner was served in the adjacent grove, and an afternoon service was held, this scribe again officiating. The church was not dedicated for the reason that a considerable indebtedness hangs over it. Those of our readers whom the Lord has blessed in business can make a good investment by sending a contribution in aid of this enterprise to Rev. J. V. Penn, Rolling Fork, Miss. The Methodist people of the vicinity have done what they are able to do. They are few in number, and not by any means wealthy. A Methodist Church is needed there, and Bro. Penn has built one that is eminently respectable. Think of the benefits which will accrue to the community from this temple of worship in all the years to come, and lend a helping hand.

This is the sixth church which Bro. Penn has built in four years, besides finishing another. He has during the same period built or remodeled three parsonages.

Ought he not to be named Nehemiah? We are sorry to say that his health is far from good at this time—the result, doubtless, of overwork.

During our stay in Redwood we enjoyed the generous hospitalities of Mr. B. N. Simrall and his interesting family.

The Sunday Law.

During the last few days petitions against the repeal of the Sunday law have rolled into Baton Rouge in such wholesale quantities as to produce consternation in certain circles. Let the good work go on. There is no danger of getting too many petitions. We fight a foe that is vigilant, resourceful, and untiring. We should, therefore, be on our guard and diligently at work until the Legislature adjourns.

In the Methodist General Conference, at Cleveland, a delegate appeared representing the Australasian Conference. In the course of his speech he said: "What about Fiji? Using round figures, sir, out of a population of about 110,000, more than 100,000 are professed Wesleyan Methodists. A little more than fifty years ago in all Fiji there was not one professing Christian, and to-day in all Fiji there is not one professing heathen. Every Lord's Day in Fiji one thousand pulpits are supplied by converts from heathenism." This is good, straight, square evidence for the success of missions.—Presbyterian.

Millsaps Commencement.

We went from McComb City to Jackson to attend Millsaps commencement, reaching there in time to be present at the first session of the Board of Trustees on Monday. This session of the Board was one of more than ordinary interest. President Murrah's report made an exceedingly gratifying showing. Excellent work is done in all the departments. Notwithstanding the very rigid system of marking a large percentage of the students reached a place on the honor roll. In this respect we think Millsaps can safely challenge comparison with any institution of learning in the land. The moral and religious status is also excellent. Bro. J. R. Bingham, a member of the Board, gave fifty dollars to the Martha Turner Library Fund. This donation increases this fund to $600, all of which is the gift of Bro. Bingham, who has also given largely to other funds of the college. The interest on this fund is used annually in replenishing the library. Another member of the board, R. W. Jones, Jr., gave fifty dollars to the Athletic Association to aid in paying the salary of the instructor in athletics. Maj. Millsaps announced it as his purpose to erect before the opening of the next session a new building to cost ten or twelve thousand dollars. The new building will be called "Science Hall." It will be used by the Department of Science and the Law Department, and will also contain spacious apartments for the library and reading-rooms. Plans for the building have already been prepared, and work will begin at an early day. It will be the best equipped building of the kind in the State.

At ten o'clock the Board adjourned to hear the annual address, which was delivered by Hon. A. J. McLaurin, the present governor of Mississippi. The address was able and exceedingly appropriate. It was a well-prepared, earnest, forceful plea for higher education in the true sense of the word—the full development of each of the great departments of man's nature, the physical, the mental and the moral. At the conclusion of the address, Bishop Galloway, as president of the Board of Trustees, announced the above-named donations. He also read the following resolution, which had been adopted by the Board:

Resolved by the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College, That we have heard with great gratification of the generous offer of Major R. Millsaps to erect another substantial building on the campus for the special use of the Scientific and Law Departments, and to provide modern accommodations for our increasing library. This splendid addition to his other princely gifts places us under increased obligation for his large-hearted and intelligent devotion to the cause of Christian education in Mississippi. In accepting this benefaction we express our grateful pleasure at the remarkable success of the college, now closing its fourth term, and hereby pledge anew our hearty co-operation in making the institution meet the highest educational needs of the Church and State, and in providing increasing facilities for the same.

At four P. M. the Athletic Association gave an exhibition which was very much enjoyed. The gymnasium building was erected some time since through the instrumentality of the Athletic Association without any help from the Board of Trustees. Though less spacious than it ought to be, it serves its purpose admirably. A well-equipped gymnasium is an institution of almost inestimable value, ensuring, as it does, the development of the physical along with the mental man. There is much wisdom in the adage of the ancients, "A sound mind in a sound body." To one who, like this scribe, knows something of the personelle of the present student body of Millsaps College, that athletic exhibition furnished ocular demonstration of the value of gymnastics. Youths who not long since were frail and delicate looking now perform marvelous feats of strength and agility and are almost perfect specimens of physical manhood.

At night the annual debate took place between representatives of the two literary societies. The representatives were J. W. Canada and W. H. Fitzhugh, of the Lamar Society, and S. J. Wallace and B. H. Lock, of the Galloway. Victory perched upon the banner of the Lamars.

Tuesday was commencement day. The graduates were A. J. McCormick, Vossburg, Miss.; J. A. Applewhite, Valden, Miss.; J. T. Calhoun, Mt. Olive, Miss.; S. G. Green, Jackson, Miss. Their addresses were all good. Dr. Murrah's baccalaureate was excellent. After the presentation of diplomas, medals were awarded as follows: Medal for best speech by a senior, A. J. McCormick; faculty medal for scholarship in preparatory department, W. T. Clarke, Yazoo City: Oscar Kearney Andrews medal for oratory, T. M. Lemly, Jackson; Gunning medal for Scripture and hymn reading, H. B. Hines, Rankin county; faculty scholarship for college classes, W. B. Jones, Jasper county; essay on State and County Government, J. W. Miller, Jasper county. The medals were presented by Rev. W. T. J. Sullivan, D. D., who made a very impressive presentation speech.

The closing feature of the occasion was a brief address by Bishop Galloway, in which he spoke in glowing terms of the success of the institution and of its prospects. He announced that the church at large will be called upon for contributions to furnish and equip the new building to be erected by Major Millsaps, and announced that the sum of $650 had already been contributed by members of the Board of Trustees.

Rev. T. B. Holloman, having resigned the presidency of East Mississippi Female College, has been elected financial agent for Millsaps College. The members of the Board feel that they are exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure the services of such a man.

This new donation of Major Millsaps should incite the church throughout the State to increased liberality in the cause of education. Major Millsaps has now contributed considerably more than $80,000 to this institution. This is more than has been given by all the other Methodists of the State combined. We judge that many of our people do not realize the necessity for additional contributions. Many, no doubt, think that with its endowment fund well-invested at a fair rate of interest, the college is well provided for. This is a great mistake. The building which is to be erected is badly needed. The Department of Science, the Law Department and the library are all cramped for want of room. Moreover, when the building is completed, it must be furnished. The furnishing of the Scientific Department is no small job. In order that the pupils of this institution may enjoy the facilities afforded by other institutions, a considerable outlay is necessary in the purchase of apparatus. Physics, chemistry and astronomy can not be taught in the best manner without this. A good telescope alone will cost a thousand dollars.

Besides this, money is needed to carry on the benevolent work of the college. The funds raised by the Conferences in the way of an assessment are inadequate to the demands made upon the Board in the way of free tuition to young preachers and the sons of preachers. Again, tuition has been put down to about half what it is in most institutions of like grade. Emory College, for instance, which has more than a half century of illustrious history behind it, and has an endowment fund twice as large as that of Millsaps, charges a tuition fee of $60. Millsaps charges only $25. The Board put the tuition fee at this low figure in order to bring the benefits of a collegiate education within the reach of the poor. It is the earnest desire of the Board to perpetuate the present rate. It may become necessary, however, to increase the tuition fees unless a larger sum is raised annually by the Conferences. We invite the attention of our preachers especially to this matter. We believe that a pastor can not better serve the interests of our church than by raising money for the college.

The appeal which we have made here to Mississippi Methodism in behalf of Millsaps College we also make to Louisiana Methodists in behalf of Centenary. What Millsaps is to Mississippi Methodism, Centenary is to Louisiana Methodism. All the considerations in the one case apply with equal force in the other. Louisiana Methodism should rally to Centenary as it has never done before. The claims of Centenary should not be set aside for any other claims whatsoever. Every Louisiana preacher should feel it a duty incumbent upon him to bestir himself in behalf of this cause. The future of our church depends in a large measure upon the manner in which we meet the educational issues that now confront us. Louisiana Methodism has a number of laymen whom the Lord has blessed in business. Let these give liberally of their abundance, and let those of smaller means give in proportion to their ability.

Fullness of Life.

Not all Christians enjoy fullness of life any more than all trees are of sturdy growth. In some the germ of grace given in conversion is barely alive, while in others, like grass in the shade, it has developed but feebly. The difference between plants growing in rich soil by a water course and those growing in a desert place is hardly greater than that between Christians of strong and those of weak faith. What a contrast is there between the miserable existence led by the very poor and the luxurious manner of life of the millionaires. The one class often are in want of a sufficiency of food and clothing, to say nothing of comforts. The other gratify all their wants and appetites to the full.

In spiritual things just as great a contrast exists between those who follow Christ afar off and those wholly devoted to his service. We believe it was John Wesley who said that some people have just enough love of the world in their hearts to destroy their enjoyment of religion, and just enough religion to mar their enjoyment of the world. To have fullness of life means something. For the plant it means vigorous development and an abundant fruitage. For the physical man it means abounding health and strength, great power of endurance and resistance of disease. For the intellectual man it signifies power of independent thought, quickness of apprehension, and great power of application and retention. To have fullness of life as a Christian is to have God constantly abiding in the heart, guiding our feet in the way of peace, giving victory over temptation, joy in tribulation, and hope that remaineth through storm and sunshine. It means freedom from fear, delight in the service of God, love ever increasing, sturdiness of character, the flowering of all the virtues. Just as the ability and inclination to labor are often the test of physical health, so likewise the condition of our spiritual life may be measured by what we do for the Master, as well as by the spirit with which we labor. Those who have truly "tasted the powers of the world to come" find the "yoke of Christ easy, and his burden light."

How like a neglected crop are the lives of many Christians who, not having improved the gift of God, "bring forth no fruit unto perfection." Every church has members to whom applies the exhortation: "Strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die." Every man who relies on the strength of his own will, at last comes to realize that he leans upon a broken reed. But though we are weak, and have no life in ourselves, the Omnipotent One has pledged the inexhaustible riches of his grace to supply all our need. Though sin hath abounded, grace doth now much more abound.

The acorn shoot is but a tiny thing when it first shows its head above ground. A careless step may destroy it. The heat may wither and blast it. But by and by, if no accident befall, appropriating the richness of the soil and the life-giving power of the sunlight, it becomes a large and beautiful tree, able to resist both drouth and tempest. In like manner, the Christian, if he uses the grace so freely bestowed, passes from the weakness and imperfection of babehood into the strength and knowledge which belong to manhood in Christ Jesus, being "built up in the most holy faith," and "abounding in every good work." The man "whose delight is in the law of the Lord," says the Psalmist, "shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper." Only those, however, who hunger and thirst after it shall be filled with the grace that purifies and sustains. Strength is offered, not to the strong, but to the weak; not to the self-righteous, but to the sinner.

No man has fullness of life in Christ so long as any evil temper, sinful affection or desire remains unsubdued, so long as any evil habit remains unremoved, so long as there is censoriousness of spirit or selfishness of heart and life. The Christians who are quick to raise the cry of persecution, and pose as martyrs when they meet with criticism and a small measure of opposition justly provoked by their vagaries, deceive themselves if they think they have the love that "beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." He who truly loves God will not return railing for railing. Even if assailed unjustly, he will be "As some tall cliff that lifts its awful form,

Swells from the vale, and midway leaves the storm;
Though round its breast the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

Fullness of life is far more than consciousness of pardon, or that ecstatic joy which some experience from time to time. It is independent of this world's goods and pleasures, and outlasts every other source of joy. The health of the body depends largely upon whether outward conditions are favorable or not. From the material standpoint, those only have fullness of life whose environment is propitious, whose circumstances are above the pinchings and anxieties of poverty.

But God has not conditioned happiness upon any of these things. His Word teaches that a man may have all that this world possesses, and still be "miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." Fullness of life with God is not a matter of fortune, or health, or friends, or favoring circumstances. It may and often does exhibit itself where these do not. Paul's thorn in the flesh was hard to bear, but by it he learned that the strength of God is made perfect in weakness. Anybody can rejoice in prosperity, but to "count it all joy when we fall into divers temptations" requires more than human power. It is easy to serve God when the skies are clear. To thank him for the bitter as well as the sweet, to submit uncomplainingly to the rod of affliction is to show that we are indeed united to the Master, and have his Spirit abiding in us. If so he that we have learned Christ, we shall feel that whichever way the wind blows, God is love.

"These surface troubles come and go
Like ruffings on the sea;
The deeper depth is out of reach
To all, my God, but thee."

The Christliche Apologete says that Dr. Buckley might have been elected Bishop on the first ballot had he consented to the use of his name. The reasons Dr. Buckley gave the editor of the Apologete were: First, whenever he made the subject a matter of prayer he became inwardly oppressed, and had no inner assurance. "I could, therefore," he said, "never answer affirmatively the first question at the consecration of a Bishop, viz.: 'Are you persuaded that you are truly called to this ministration according to the will of our Lord Jesus Christ?'" Second, his health is such that he could not endure the exposure incident to the holding of the Spring Conferences, as he must constantly guard against bronchial inflammation at that season of the year. Third, "A Bishop must practice the virtue of silence, and I am too old to learn new tricks." Fourth, "I believe I can be of greater service to the church on the Conference floor than in the episcopacy, for, so long as I live, no General Conference can ever adopt an unconstitutional measure without my having called attention to it and labored to prevent such legislation."

[Four years hence, perhaps, Buckley will change his mind a la Haygood. "Men often change their minds; mules never."—EDITOR.]

NOTES.

Dr. S. A. Steel is engaged for a lecture soon at Gunnisen.

Rev. J. B. Stone has sufficiently recovered to resume work on his district.

Rev. R. D. Norsworthy's youngest daughter, Jessie, is in bed with slow fever.

There was an unusually large attendance of preachers at Millsaps commencement.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney is carrying on a revival meeting at Gunnisen, Miss. He is assisted by Rev. W. M. McIntosh.

The statement that the Book Committee, at its meeting in May, ordered Dr. Steel to discontinue his "On the Wing" articles, is incorrect. No such action was taken by the committee. No more ink need be wasted about this matter.

It was our good fortune to be entertained, while in Jackson, in the hospitable homes of Maj. Millsaps and Dr. Murrah.

Mrs. Julia C. Day, of Chicago, has given two lots in that city, valued at $10,000, to Ballington Booth's American Volunteers.

Rev. James Atkins, president of Asheville Female College, has been elected to succeed Dr. Kirkland as Sunday-school Secretary. We regard the selection as a most excellent one.

We tender our sincerest sympathies to our Epworth League Secretary, Dr. S. A. Steel, who is sorely bereaved in the death of a bright daughter just merging into womanhood.

While Dr. Palmore, editor of the St. Louis Advocate, is taking his European tour, his place on the tripod will be filled by Rev. O. M. Rickman, a Vanderbilt theologue from Missouri.

Dr. Parkhurst's articles to young men in The Ladies' Home Journal have turned out to be, next to General Harrison's articles, the most profitable venture which that magazine has ever undertaken. His coming papers will deal with a young man's social life; his business success; as a citizen; his religious life and his marriage.

Instead of summoning "candidates" to the pulpits of vacant churches for trial and inspection by the pew holders, the practice is becoming more or less common of slyly sending a committee to spend a Sunday in a congregation on whose minister they have designs, and taking his measure "unbeknownst" to himself.—Mid-Continent.

The problem of "hard times" will be solved when the workingmen of America boycott the saloon and stop drinking liquor. About $400,000,000 a year goes into the saloon from the hard-earned wages of workmen. This money, turned into the channels of industry and commerce, would bring comfort and happiness and plenty to millions of households.—Exchange.

Palestine is being slowly repeopled by Jews. The colonies founded by philanthropic agencies are scattered widely over the land, and are prospering. Not all are self-supporting as yet, but they are manifestly increasing in size. Considerable difficulty has been found in training the immigrants in agricultural ways, for which they have a positive disinclination; but this difficulty is being met by the agricultural school near Jaffa, where most of the pupils are boarded free of expense, and where elementary instruction in other branches is also given. As a result, there are already many model farms in Palestine conducted by Jews which serve as an object lesson to the native population.—Zion's Herald.

The widow of Sir Francis Lycett has just died, and a considerable amount of money becomes available for Methodist Church purposes. Sir Francis was a partner in the great glove-manufacturing firm of Dent, Allcroft & Co. He possessed a large fortune, and he made no use of it. While supporting fairly well all the connectional interests, he gave himself chiefly to the multiplication of Methodist Church buildings in the metropolis. To this he gave $250,000. For it he begged nearly an equal amount. He devoted his time and skill to secure suitable sites. The money was spent in grants to meet local efforts. The result is the modern Methodism of London. Forty years ago our church was weaker in London than in any other great city of Britain; to-day it has great life and vigor. For many years past the increase of membership in the London districts has been larger than in any other throughout the connection. To Sir Francis Lycett, more than to any other one man, is this due. He died without children, and after providing for relatives left to his wife a life interest in his property, and made Methodism the residuary legatee. In addition to handsome legacies to foreign missions, the Theological College and other objects, about $450,000 will be available for Methodist Church building, of which two-thirds are to be spent in London and one-third in places, chiefly in villages and small towns, outside the capital.—Dr. T. B. Stephenson, in New York Advocate.

CHILLIFUGE CURES CHILLS

This is guaranteed. If it fails, you get your money back. It also cures Fever and all malarial troubles. It is a perfect substitute for quinine, being better to take, better in its operation, better in its effect. It's as pleasant to take as orange syrup. It purifies the blood, renovates the system, strengthens the nerves. Restores good health to young and old. Sold everywhere. Price 50c. Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Special Notice.

To the Pastors of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences—

DEAR BRETHREN: Having been appointed agent of Millsaps College, I realize the necessity of meeting as many boys and parents as possible during the next three months; and while I also appreciate the physical fact that nobody can occupy two places at the same time, I would be glad to have statements of times of holding camp and protracted meetings, that I may visit as many of them as possible to talk college and preach as you may desire.

The high tide of enthusiasm and marked interest of the students and friends of the institution at its late commencement predict for it a large enrollment at its opening in September.

A Presbyterian friend, in attendance, said to me: "This is the biggest thing in Mississippi Methodism." The comment was justly merited, and it now remains for Mississippi Methodists to make it the "biggest thing" in the State. With united effort this is an assured fact. Write me at Meridian until July 10.

Yours to command,

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

June 18, 1896.

Notice.

Delegates coming to the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of North Mississippi Conference, at Tupelo, Miss., July 4–7 next, will please send their names at once to Mrs. H. C. McGaughey, Tupelo, Miss.

Our guests on arriving here will be met in the waiting-rooms of the depots and received to our homes. You pay full fare coming. Take the agent's certificate of this on each road, and return on one-third fare. We have not yet heard from the G. P. road.

W. T. J. SULLIVAN.

Tupelo, Miss.

Notice.

All persons desiring to be examined at the Jackson District Conference are requested to meet the committies of examination Wednesday, July 1, at 4 P. M., in Camden, Miss. It is important that local preachers be present, especially those desiring their license renewed.

Brethren, if you can not be present, send your license. Preachers and delegates, be sure to attend. Pastors, please see to it that the journals are on hand.

R. D. NORSWORTHY.

Jackson, June 19, 1896.

District Conference.

All delegates and visitors to the Shreveport District Conference and Woman's Convention, over the Texas and Pacific railroad, will please ask agents for certificates at place of starting. We can get reduced rates if there are fifty over the road. All delegates will be met at depot in town, from Wednesday evening until Friday morning, and conducted to their homes. After that they can report at the church or parsonage.

B. T. CREWS.

Mansfield, La., June 20, 1896

Notice.

To the Members of the Alexandria District Conference—

DEAR BRETHREN: All of you who will attend the District Conference, which will convene at West Alexandria, July 25, please send your names to me at Lecompte, La. Preachers whose wives will accompany them will please notify me of same.

A. W. TURNER.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at $1 per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev. Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

The Ministerial Education Aid Association of the Louisiana Annual Conference.

As president of the association, I have appointed as agents the following brethren, who will present the cause at their District Conference, and try to press it home upon the conscience of the church. It is expected of these agents that they solicit membership and stir the laity; and clergy, that they do the same. These agents have an abundant supply of printed Constitutions and By-Laws, which set forth the object and purpose of the association, which they will distribute. Anyone wishing them can get them by applying to these agents, or to myself at Jackson, La.

We have been aiding three young ministers at Centenary this past session, and want to enlarge and increase our work.

The following are the agents: Rev. Paul M. Brown, Shreveport district; Rev. James A. Parker, Opelousas district; Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, Delhi district; Rev. J. M. Henry, New Orleans district; Rev. L. F. Jackson, Alexandria district; Rev. H. W. May, Arcadia district; Rev. John F. Foster, Baton Rouge district.

The applicants for aid will bear in mind that they must be recommended by the District Conference of which they are members before their applications can be considered by the Executive Committee.

JOHN F. FOSTER, Pres.

Jackson, La.

Notice.

All delegates who expect to attend the Woman's Missionary Society of Louisiana Conference, which will convene in Mansfield, July 2 to 6, inclusive, will please send me their names at once.

MRS. HATTIE MCCLANAHAN,
Corresponding Secretary.

Mansfield, La

Notice.

Reduced rates have been secured on the Texas and Pacific railroad to the annual session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at Mansfield, July 3–6. Delegates will inquire for terms of ticket agents.

MRS. C. J. FOSTER, Cor. Sec.

Notice.

The District Conference of Meridian district, Mississippi Conference, will meet in Meridian, West End, Thursday, Aug. 27, at 11 A. M.

R. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

Natchez District.

Will the pastors in Natchez district please send me the names of delegates who will attend District Conference, and oblige

JAS. G. GALLOWAY.

Fayette, Miss., June 16.

Now—The Time to Make Money.

Last month I cleared after paying all expenses, $175.46; the month before $149.93, and have at the same time attended to my regular business. I believe anyone, anywhere, can do as well, as I have not a particularly good location and no experience. When you have an article that every family wants, it is very easy selling it. It seems strange that a good, cheap Dish Washer was never before placed on the market. With the Climax, you can wash and dry the dishes for a family in two minutes, without putting the hands in water: as soon as people see the Washer work, they want one, and that is why so much money can be made so quickly. All you have to do is to send for a sample Dish Washer. This Company does not ask any pay until you have them sold. For full particulars address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio. I feel convinced that any lady or gentleman in any location can make from $5 to $10 a day, as every family will very soon have a Dish Washer. Try it, and publish your experience for the benefit of others.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for June.

CHRIST AND THE CHURCH.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28—FOUNDED A NEW CHURCH.

(Matt. xvi, 18, 19; Luke xxii, 19, 20; xxiv, 46-48; Matt xxviii, 18-20.)

This topic should not be understood to imply that the church did not exist prior to the time of Christ, for, in a very important sense, God has had a church in the world, which dates as far back as the gates of Eden, where the family of Adam assembled for worship. The existence of the church in the world has been divided into three periods, (1) the Patriarchal, (2) the Levitical, and (3) the Christian, the whole consituting a unit, and having a direct relation to Christ.

The church, since the advent of Christ, may, however, in a restricted sense, be spoken of as a new church, because of important changes in its character, due to its change in relation to Christ: and Christ may be said to have founded a new church, in that, while on earth, he revealed its underlying principles, and made known the divine plans in reference to its extension among the nations of the earth; he modified its sacraments to correspond to the changed condition of his living come; he commissioned its ministry, and he fulfilled the sacrificial work, which was the purchase price of its existence.

I.—THE FOUNDATION.

Here, in language that has been variously interpreted, and dreadfully abused by the Romanists, Christ addresses Peter, immediately after his confession of faith, both for himself and the apostles, in his divinity. He declares that Peter, not as an individual, but as a representative of the apostles associated with him, shall constitute the foundation of his church—a rock against which "the gates of hell shall not prevail." (See Eph. ii, 20.)

II.—THE LORD'S SUPPER INSTITUTED.

After the last Passover feast of Jesus with his disciples, the Lord's Supper is instituted as a perpetual sacrament of the church. The Passover feast anticipated a fulfillment in the sacrifice of Christ, and the Lord's Supper is simply a modification of the Passover feast, commemorative in its nature of the death and sufferings of Christ—the one looking forward, and the other looking backward.

III.—THE THEME OF THE CHURCH.

After his resurrection Christ, in a meeting with the disciples, illuminates their minds, so that they now fully understand that the theme of the church and of their preaching is to be faith in a crucified and risen Savior, "repentance, and remission of sin," and that this subject matter is the fulfillment of the teaching of their Scriptures.

IV.—THE FINAL COMMISSION.

Immediately before the ascension, the final commission is given. (1) Christ stamps a distinctively missionary character upon his church. (2) The sacrament of baptism is commanded as the external rite of admission into the church, and the formula of baptism is given. (3) The presence of Christ with the church is promised "even unto the end of the world."

NOTE.

A very fine book for use in the Epworth League would be "The Church: What It Is, and Whence It Is," by Rev. J. A. Parker. It is catechetical in form, and is admirably adapted for class study; besides that, it contains just the information that Epworth Leaguers should possess.

Brookhaven District Conference.

The Brookhaven District Conference is to be held in Magnolia, July 16 to 19.

Allow me to request all the pastors to send me a list of the names of all delegates, preachers and others who expect to attend, and how they will come. A cordial invitation is extended to all who desire or will come.

Preachers' wives especially invited to come and share the hospitality of our little city.

Preachers or others whose wives will attend, will please notify me by postal at once.

E. F. EDGAR.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,

MRS A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office, Or to Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good deed, to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes so unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of the Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a "veritable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended in church circles, also by state officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 463 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, the instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN TILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

EAST MISSISSIPPI Female College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for fifteen years, renovated, improvements added, director of music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and proud of the fact, officers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition town, this becomes one of the best-equipped institutions for young ladies in the South. Music, Art and Elocution Departments especially strong. Rates low. ONE SCHOLARSHIP OR FREE TUITION given to some worthy young pupil to every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder. For further information and Catalogue address J. W. BEESON, President.

JONES COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

Reunion United Confederate Veterans,

RICHMOND, VA., JUNE 30 TO JULY 2.

For this occasion the Texas and Pacific Railway Company will sell tickets from all stations in Texas and Louisiana at about ONE CENT PER MILE EACH WAY FOR THE ROUND TRIP on June 26 and 27, final limit for return to be twenty days from date of sale.

This will be one of the greatest assemblages of the old veterans in the history of the organization, and an exceedingly interesting programme has been prepared.

For tickets, sleeping-car accommodations, or any further information, call on or address nearest Texas and Pacific railway agent, or

GASTON MESLIER,
G. P. and T. A.,
Dallas, Texas.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

The Wall and Mooney School,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

—FITS BOYS FOR THE LEADING COLLEGES.—

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt University on certificate, and take the very highest rank, there and elsewhere.

NEXT TERM WILL OPEN AUG. 25, 1896.

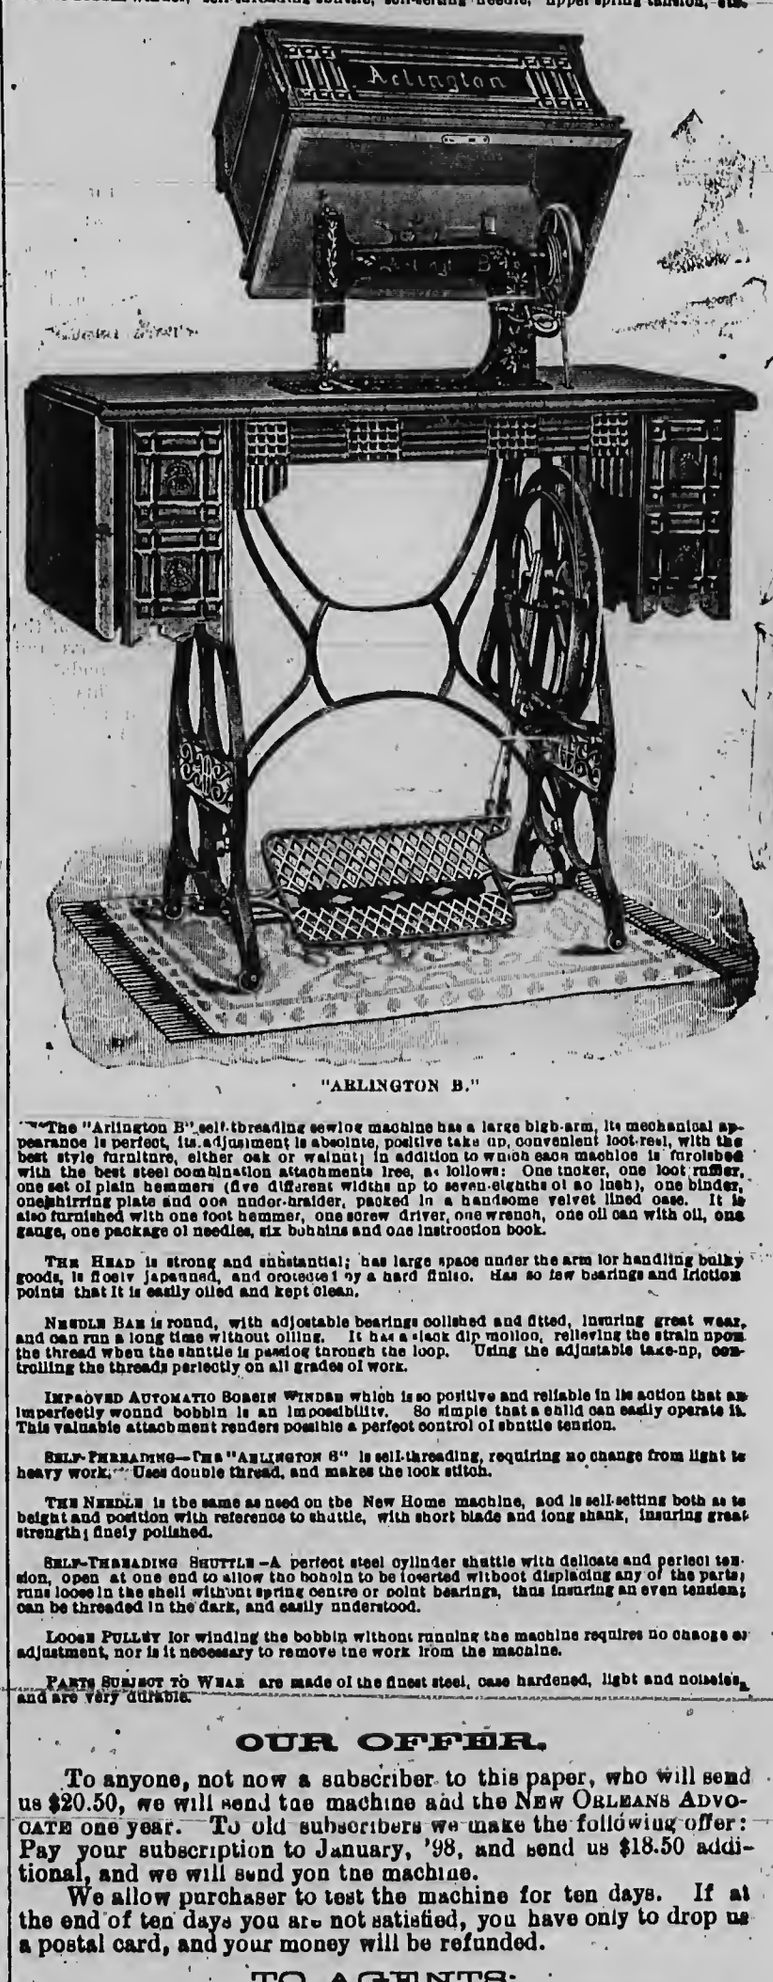
No pupil will be admitted without previous engagement. Apply early. For catalogue, address

W. D. MOONEY, Sec.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.



"ARLINGTON B."

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC SHIRRING WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—The "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOOSE PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

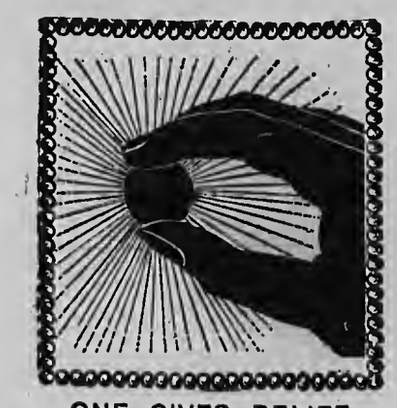
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Why not be your own Middle-man?

Pay but one profit between maker and user and that a small just one. Our Big 700 Page Catalogue and Buyers Guide proves that it's possible. Weighs 2½ pounds, 12,000 illustrations, describes and tells the one-profit price of over 40,000 articles, everything you use. We send it for 15 cents; that's not for the book, but to pay part of the postage or expressage and keep off idlers. You can't get it too quick.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
The Store of All the People
111-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Car fare paid.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.

Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $10. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)

BELLS all kinds, big and little—for Church and School, for Fire, Factory and Farm. Catalogue FREE. AMERICAN BELL FOUNDRY CO., NORTHVILLE, MICH.

HOME CIRCLE.

IF THOU CANST TELL ME SOMETHING KIND.

BY ELLA A. GILES.

If thou canst tell me something kind
That has been thought of me,
If thou canst lift my spirit up
To moods of buoyancy,
Then speak the words I pray thee, dear,
However light they seem,
Withhold not from me anything
That adds to life's sweet dream.

If thou canst tell me of some one
Whom I have chanced to aid,
If thou canst point to me some spot
That I have brighter made,
Then softly whisper unto me,
In accents fond and low,
The kind truth never hurts nor harms,
But sets the heart aglow.

So come with light and warmth and cheer
To meet me every day,
Reflect to me the world's bright smiles,
And hide its frowns away.
O hast thou follows of thine own?
Have others injured thee?
Unburden as thou will, thou'lt feel
My tender sympathy.

But, if some cruel, heedless tongue
Has uttered words of hate,
With justice or injustice onrsed
My errors, hesitate
Before thou tell'st me what will bring
But shadows in my life;
God knows we all have need of love
To calm our secret strife!

If thou canst tell me something kind
That has been thought or spoken,
If thou canst lift a spirit up
Too oft by t eachery broken,
Repeat it, dear, my faith inspire,
However vain it seems;
For I would fain be trustful still,
Nor wake from life's sweet dreams.

—Christian Register.

A Leaking Tap Is a Great Waster.

A leaking tap is a great waster. Drop by drop, by day and by night, the liquor runs away, and the housewife wonders how so much can have gone. This is the fashion in which many laboring men are kept poor. They don't take care of the pence, and so they have no ponnds to put in the bank. You can not fill the rain-water butt if you do not catch the drops. A sixpence here and a shilling there, and his purse is empty before a man dares to look in it. What with waste in the kitchen, waste at table and waste at the public house, fools and their money soon part to meet no more. If the wife wastes too, there are two holes in the barrel. Sometimes the woman dresses in tawdry finery and gets in debt to the tally man; and it is still worse if she takes to the bottle. When the goose drinks as deep as the gander, pots are soon empty, and the cupboard is bare. Then they talk about saving, like the man who locked the stable door after his horse was stolen. They will not save at the brim, but promise themselves and the pigs that they will do wonders when they get near the bottom It is well to follow the good old rule:

"Spend so as ye may Spend for many a day."

He who eats all the loaf at breakfast may whistle for his dinner and get a dish of empties. If we do not save while we have it we certainly shall not save after all is gone. There is no grace in waste. Economy is a duty; extravagance is a sin. The old Book saith, "He that hasteth to be rich shall not be innocent," and, depend upon it, he that hasteth to be poor is in much the same box. Stretch your legs according to the length of your blanket, and never spend all that you have:

"Put a little by Things may go awry."

—Spurgeon.

The Discipline of the Tongue.

I suppose that if we are to discipline the tongue, we must, first of all, endeavor to make real to ourselves the seriousness of speech. We should think about it day after day, until by God's grace we feel as we have never felt before, that our words are really a very large part of our moral life. For example, we should think of the suffering which has been inflicted on ourselves by careless and bitter words; of the injury which we know that such words have done to other men. We should think of words that have stung us to passion; of words which have filled our imagination with foul shapes, that hannted us day by day and refnsed to be banished; of words which have shaken our faith in God and destroyed our comfort in his love.

We should think of words which have created unjust suspicion of the integrity or the sobriety of other men, and have led to the loss of the confidence of their employers, and to the ruin of their families. We should think of the wretched whisperers who have quenched the love of wives for their husbands, and of husbands for their wives. We should think of how we ourselves have been misled and involved in serious troubles by the careless inaccuracy of the words of men whom we trusted. In every way that we can we should try to bring home to ourselves the truth that words which are lightly spoken may be a grave offense against justice and against charity.

We should further consider seriously the great warning of our Lord, that for every idle word that men shall speak they shall give account in the day of judgment. "Idle words" are words that are spoken carelessly, indolently, without any moral effort to avoid sin; if they are sinful, our moral insensibility to their sinfulness will be no excuse for them. These are words against which Christian people have to watch most carefully. When challenged about them they say they never thought that what they said would do any harm; but it was because they never thought, that their words were idle words. They say they never meant any harm, but they did harm; and if they had considered what they were saying they would never had said it.

And if for "idle words" we must give account in the day of judgment—and Christ himself, who warns us, will be the Judge—much more shall we give account of words which are not idle, careless, thoughtless; but which are deliberately false, uncharitable, and revengeful. And even if, through God's grace, we are not shut out of the city of God, false words, uncharitable words, revengeful words, idle words, that pained and wronged other men, will impoverish our eternal reward and lessen our eternal joy.—Dr. Dale.

The Obstacle as Opportunity.

Some people always lose heart when they come to an obstacle. They turn squarely aronnd and say, "Oh, well, that puts an end to this scheme. It does seem a pity that I can't take hold of anything without being balked!" The trouble is that most persons do not understand the true nature of an obstacle. They look upon it as something final, immovable, insurmountable. They seem to consider that it is something intended by a frowning Providence to put a stop to the particular thing which they are doing. Now, this is something quite contrary to the trne pnrpose and economy of obstacles. They are not intended to discourage, but to increase, energy.

Take a stream of water, for example. That stream understands the nature and purpose of an obstacle. It is something to pile up and amass and concentrate energy. It is something to climb upon and dash over with ten times augmented force. The same thing is true of obstacles in the human pathway; yet how many people are as wise as the stream to understand it?

Instead of regarding the obstacle as a discouragement and a sign that we are working in the wrong direction, we ought to look upon it as a providential opportunity—an opportunity to test and to augment strength of purpose; an opportunity to rise to the level of higher power; an opportunity to gather new resource and expand to wider channels of usefulness.

How often has the obstacle, attacked and surmounted, broadened a man's outlook upon what it is possible for him to do! How many great and good enterprises have widened and deepened in scope and power by being for the time obstructed and delayed! Wonderful is the revelative power of the obstacle—its power to open men's eyes to the real possibilities of what they have undertaken. Wonderful is the inspiring power of the obstacle—its power to expand vision and spur energy. Most wonderful of all is the dynamic, the strengthening power of the obstacle—its power to reinforce the strength which assails it and augment the resources which are gathered against it.

Oh, the foolishness of misinterpreting obstacles! It is as if a bird should complain against the pressure of the air which bears it up. We rise only by that which opposes. We strengthen only by that which antagonizes. Opposition is the life of endeavor. The man who succeeds is the man who makes obstacles the steps of his ladder.

Two Girls.

There is a girl, and I love to think of her and talk of her, who comes in late when there is company, who bears a pretty little air of mingled responsibility and anxiety with her youth, whom the others seemed to depend upon and look to her for many comforts. She is the girl who helps mother.

In her own home she is a blessed little saint and comforter. She takes unfinished tasks from the tired, stiff fingers that falter at their work; her strong young figure is a staff upon which the gray haired, white faced mother leans and is rested. She helps mother with the Spring sewing, with the week's mending, with a cheerful conversation and congenial companionship that some girls do not think worth while wasting on only mother. And when there comes a day when she must bend over the old worn-out body of mother lying unheedful in her coffin, rough hands folded, her long disquiet merged in rest, something very sweet will be mingled with her loss, and the girl who helped mother will find a benediction of peace upon her head and in her heart.

The girl who works—God bless her!—is another girl whom I know. She is brave and active. She is not too proud to earn her own living or ashamed to be caught at her daily task. She is studious and painstaking and patient. She smiles at you from behind counter or desk. There is a memory of her sewn into each silken gown. She is like a beautiful mountaineer already far up the hill, and the sight of her should be a fine inspiration for us all. It is an honor to know this girl—to be worthy of her regard. Her hand may be stained by factory grease, or printer's ink, but it is an honest hand and a helping hand. It stays misfortune from many homes; it is the one shield that protects many a forlorn little family from the almshouse and asylum.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

Washington Gladden, speaking from the standpoint of a citizen and patriot, regards the theater and kindred public diversions as the most threatening and insidious foe to social progress and stability. He looks into the coffers of the play house and counts the sums of money that are collected week by week from every town of considerable size in the Union, and the aggregate for a year is an amount that defies comparison. And this enormous draft of money—a tax upon the very class of people who are least able to pay it—keeps thousands of families poor and unprogressive, robs them of independence and the means for intellectual growth. Mr. Gladden looks no farther than the counting-room of the theater; what he sees there is enough to convince him that the institution is a detriment to society and the State, let alone all considerations of morality and religion. There is no need to ask what keeps the people poor when one sees the crowds that flock to the play-houses daily, both afternoon and evening.—Northern Christian Advocate.

To know that there are some souls, hearts and minds, here and there, who trust us and whom we trust, some who know us and whom we know, some on whom we can always rely and who will always rely on us, makes a paradise of this great world. This makes our life really life.—Churchman.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

Insomnia from Exhaustion.

Exhaustion of the brain is a not uncommon cause of sleeplessness. This exhaustion is usually the result of ill health such as follows dyspepsia, or is due to the lack of healthy nutrition resulting from overwork, debility, anxiety, depressing emotions, or chronic heart disease.

The brain becomes abnormally sensitive, and the slightest impression serves to arouse it. There is also an unequal distribution of blood to the brain, which makes it unstable—one part is more active than another.

In order to reach the cause of insomnia from cerebral exhaustion, a radical course of treatment is necessary, involving a complete change of habits and life. A long vacation at the shore or in the country, or, better, a sea-voyage, may be undertaken.

Various kinds of baths may be employed. Hot water to the feet with cold applications to the head in cases where the blood appears to be unequally distributed, warm sponge-baths, and especially complete immersion in warm water, are of great service in equalizing the circulation and soothing the general nervous system.

Medicines are needed for two reasons: to calm and nourish the enfeeble nervous system, and to enrich the blood. For the latter purpose, a full diet and plenty of fresh air are, of course, required. To quiet the nervous system certain sedatives may be used, but only those prescribed by a competent physician. In procuring sleep it is necessary to paralyze them with narcotics.

It is sometimes said that nothing equals alcohol in the treatment of insomnia from exhaustion, and many are deluded into setting up the habit of taking a "night-cap." It may be true that a drought of hot toddy in such cases will arouse the enfeebled heart and stimulate the circulation to a greater degree of activity; but to say that alcohol serves as a food in any sense of the word is to attribute to it powers which it never has.

The system requires such an amount of diffusible nutriment as will steady it until a change of occupation, rest and wholesome food can have an opportunity to perform that duty. This can certainly be as well done with a cup of hot milk, or hot water and milk, as with the small amount of alcohol which is usually prescribed.—Selected.

THE CUISINE.

COMPOUNDED BY L. A. B.

DATE CAKE.—Stone one pound of dates, and dust them with sifted flour until they are as white as if frosted. Beat one and a half cupfuls of sugar into one-third of a cupful of butter; beat until it "creams;" then add two eggs that have been well and separately beaten. Add two cupfuls of sifted flour into which has been well sifted either one heaped teaspoonful of best baking powder, or in its stead one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and one half teaspoonful of saleratus; beat well until it looks fine, then beat in until fine again one-third of a cupful of sweet milk. When sufficiently beaten, stir into the batter the floured dates, and bake in a steady oven. Frost the cake or not as one chooses; a bit of frosting adds a grace to the most common cake and is not a costly addition. This cake will keep moist for months like fruit cake.

LYONAISE POTATOES.—For potatoes a la Lyonaise chop an onion fine, fry it brown in a tablespoonful of butter, add another tablespoonful to the iron spider after the frying and let the butter become very hot. Then cut six whole boiled potatoes into even slices and lay them in the spider, which should be ample enough to hold them without their lapping over one another. Let them fry brown on both sides, tossing them occasionally to prevent their burning Sprinkle a tablespoonful of parsley over them, and serve them at once. They should be very hot when brought on the table.—Selected.

You will find it less easy to uproot faults than to choke them by gaining virtue. Do not think of your faults, still less of other's faults; in every person who comes near you, look for what is good and strong; honor that; rejoice in it; and as you can, try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when the time comes.—John Ruskin.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

New York, June 22, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have an absolute remedy for Consumption and all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also for Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Wasting. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY CURED. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Postoffice address.

Sincerely,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige.—EDITOR.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH, 1895.

Chicago Limited.
No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6:50 P. M.
Solid, Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with Pullman Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.
No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20 A. M.
Through Pullman service to Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.
No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 9:30 P. M.

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexcelled.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,
AND TO ALL POINTS

North, -:- East, North-East, AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST
To CINCINNATI
AND
THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A.,
No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

ROSE POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

TERRE HAUTE, IND. A School of Engineering. Mechanical, Electrical, Civil Engineering, Chemical courses. Well endowed. Extensive Shops and Foundry. Modernly equipped Laboratories in all departments. Expenses low. Address C. L. MEES, President.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON. PILLS. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

I Ought, I Can, I Will.

These are mighty monosyllables. They hold the essential secret of all true success. To utter them aright, with lips made thin, hands clenched, heart fixed, effectively solves the problem of life. Since everything that ought to be done can be done, he who adds to this the magic words, "I will do it," has passed the Rubicon which admits him to his kingdom. Let the young man say it, and he leaves foolish, helpless boyhood forever behind. Let the young convert say it, and Satan's chances of securing his defeat are gone. There is power in this sentence to scatter indecision, timidity, half-heartedness, cowardice. There is pluck in it, and snap, and grit, and push. Before him who adopts it for a motto obstacles will disappear, low excuses will fall away, love of ease will hide its head. The joy of Christ, the glory of God, the final "well done," will remain to fire his soul and make him strong.—Zion's Herald.

OBITUARIES.

DOUGLASS—Mrs. Sarah Augusta Douglass was born in Butler county, Ala., March 15 1826 and died at her residence in Durant, Miss., March 31, 1896. About the year 1837 or 1838 her father, Micajah Wade, left Alabama and came to Holmes county, Miss., settling near the village of Richland, where the subject of this sketch grew to womanhood, was educated and on the twenty-sixth day of May, 1844 was heppily married to Mr. James H. Douglass, a prosperous and most estimable young gentleman of the Richland neighborhood. For more than half a century they lived with and for each other. God blessed the union with sons and daughters. He rewarded their economy and industry with a competency of this world's goods. He gave to them a peaceful and happy old age. They realized that godliness was profitable for this life as well as the life that is to come.

Sister Douglass was born into the kingdom of God and joined the Methodist Church very early in life. Trained from infancy "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," dedicated to God in the nursery, it was but in accord with divine promise that she should shine in the sanctuary. Her Christian character was modeled after the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. She was blessed with a bright, cheerful disposition, and a warm religious experience. Her life was not all sunshine and calm. She had experienced Gethsemene and caught visions of Calvary, but these fiery trials did not consume, they only refined the pure metal. She did not murmur and complain, but, looking beyond the temporal and the perishable, she caught visions of the invisible. To him who loved her as his own soul she was a model of Christian womanhood. Her words of counsel and cheer helped to bear him over many rough places in life's uneven way.

Brother, the way will be hard without her. You feel that your strong support is taken away. Like a "bruised reed," bent by the storms and crushed by the flood, you stand before the Master. He will sustain and strengthen. Anchor your faith and hope in the eternal verities, and it will not be long before there will be a glorious reunion. The testimony of her children is, that God never gave a better mother. Some of her children had preceded her to the God-built city, and are safe within the fold. To those whom she has left let me say: See to it that your mother's virtues are reproduced in you; her God your God, her Christ your Christ; then her death will be your death, the death of the righteous.

As her pastor, I had only known her for a short time; but in her death I feel that I share with the family in the loss of a personal friend. It was a pleasure and a profit to enjoy her companionship. She was an intelligent Christian. But a short time before her departure from this world, together with her bereaved husband, we sat and discussed Bishop McTyeire's sermon on the Intermediate state. What was conjecture to you that morning is reality to you now. We hope by and by to enjoy this knowledge with you. Her sickness was of short duration—only a few days and hours, and pneumonia had accomplished its work. Her end was peace. She rests from her labors. "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord; yea, from henceforth, saith the Spirit, they rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

J. T. Mumpan.

HACKETT—George W. Hackett died at his home May 16, 1896, at 6:30 P. M. He was born in Iberville parish, La., on the Fourth of July, —. Having lost his parents when quite young, and the family Bible being destroyed, he never knew in what year he was born, but from what he learned thought his age was about seventy-three years. He was married near Moscow, Fayette county, Tenn., in 1845, to Miss Susan E. Rogers, who, with four daughters and one son (out of thirteen children born to them), live to mourn his loss.

He was connected with the Friendship Baptist Church near the place where he was married in 1845, but there being no church of that denomination in Baton Rouge when he came here in 1853, he never united with any church afterward on account of the business he adopted; but during his last illness, before becoming unconscious, he prayed God to pardon his sins and take him home to heaven. We did not think that his end was so near. The Lord's mercy is boundless, and with him nothing is impossible; and we hope that God heard and answered his prayer, and that he is now in heaven free from all sorrow and sufferings, for his suffering had been intense for nearly three years.

Farewell, dear father, we miss thee; but we shall meet again in the sweet by-and-by. May God sustain us in our sorrow!

His Daughter.

HOPE—Mrs. Rachel Finnetta Hope (nee Wilkins) passed in perfect peace from her earthly to her heavenly home at the residence of her son, Dr. C. L. Hope, in Oak Ridge, La., May 12, 1896, aged seventy years.

She was a consistant member of the M. E. Church, South, for over fifty years. She was born in Wilkinsville, S. C. She moved with her parents to Marshall county, Miss. There she married Joshua H. Willoughby, in January, 1854. Left widowed, she married Charles T. Hope, of Lafayette county, Miss., in 1858. Three children survive her—Drs. J. E. and C. L. Hope, of Morehouse parish, and Mrs. C. J. Livingstone, of Somerset, Ky.

Since June, 1895, she has made her home with her son in our midst. Uniformly gentle, patient and kind, she soon endeared herself to us, and was, as her little grandson said, "the best, sweetest, and dearest grandma in all the world."

Her illness was protracted and painful. She said to the writer: "I had prayed that it would be otherwise, but God knows best. I am slipping away. Pray for me, that, as the body weakens, I may have no doubts or fears." The day of her death she said to me "It is all right, all bright."

A Friend.

HEMETER—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hemeter (nee Coulter) was born Aug 8, 1839, and died May 31, 1896. She joined the Methodist Church at the age of fourteen, under the ministry of N. B. Young. She lived a consistent member of the church ever after. There could be no doubt, in the minds of those who knew, of her piety. Her religion was full of the sunshine of God's eternal love. She knew that she was born of God. Born of religious parents, and reared in an atmosphere of piety, she grew to womanhood an honor to them and an ornament to the Christian religion.

During her illness she was never heard to murmur, but bore all with that beautiful resignation which says in all things, "Thy will be done." Seldom is there a more triumphant death. Death had no terrors to her; Christ had extracted the sting.

On Saturday evening, before she died on Sunday, she requested them to sing. She sang the treble to each song, after which she raised her hands, and said, "Mother, it seems to me that I can almost hear the angels sing. lug."

"Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

W. J. Dawson.

OVERBY—Istalena A. Overby, daughter of Mrs. Ida Bolls, was born in Brandon, Miss., Dec. 16, 1881, and her spirit was freed from a body of intense suffering on the afternoon of May 29, 1896, at Bolton, Miss., after an illness of seven days.

Lelia, as she was called by her family, was all her life a good and affectionate child, and was more devoted to the true, the beautiful and the good than most girls of her age, attending the Sabbath-school when she was able. She had often expressed herself as being fond of things spiritual and divine. She was not a member of the church, but made a profession before those who attended her in her sickness. She sent for her pastor, that he might pray for her, evincing a deal of interest in her soul; and truly did she give thorough testimony to her faith and trust in her Lord.

One sad feature in her illness was the absence of her mother up to two days before her death, for whom she almost constantly called for four or five days.

When her spirit passed into the beyond her face was placid and composed. A mother's heart is greatly afflicted, but her daughter's soul dwells in the glory land. The Lord is gathering his lambs into his eternal fold.

Ront. Selby.

Bolton, Miss.

REEVES—The subject of this tribute, Miss Celeste Reeves, was born in Jackson county, Miss., March 13, 1880; joined the M. E. Church, South, at Poplarville, Miss., and died in Harrison county, Miss., at the home of her uncle, Mr. Lyman R. Reeves, who partially raised her, April 19, 1896.

Celeste was a sweet Christian girl. Blest with an amiable and affectionate nature, she endeared herself to all with whom she became associated. One had but to know her to love her. One of the loved ones said to the writer a few days before she (Celeste) died, in referring to her critical condition: "I have always felt that Celeste was only lent to us for a little while. She has always been so sweet and pure—too much so for this world."

How sad to see the flower cut down just when it is yielding its sweetest fragrance! But thus it is in the death of dear Celeste. Her once beautiful cheek and brilliant eye have withered in death, but the real flower is blooming to-day in the beautiful gardens of the Paradise of God.

Farewell, Celeste, we will meet you some sweet day where there is no parting.

May God comfort the sorrowing loved ones, and finally give them a home in heaven! is the prayer of their loving pastor,

G. R. Ellis.

GREENWALDT—The subject of this obituary, Mrs. Sallie Greenwaldt, was born near Camden, Miss., March 30, 1860, and died at her home Camden, Miss., May 26, 1896. She was baptized and received in the M. E. Church, South, by R. Bradley, in 1876. Sister Greenwaldt was married to John Greenwaldt Feb. 18, 1885. To them God gave two precious children—a girl and a boy. Her health was never good, sometimes very bad; but she bore her affliction with patience. Those who knew her best say she was a good woman. She leaves a father, a mother, four sisters, her husband and two children to mourn her death.

After appropriate services at the church her body was laid to rest in the Camden Cemetery. May God's grace comfort the sorrowing loved ones!

R. A. Breland.

BURNHAM—Paul Hardin Burnham, the infant son of G. M. and M. E. Burnham, was born Dec. 24, 1895, and died Feb. 10, 1896.

Only six short weeks this little jewel shed its light in the home of its parents. Christ called it to dwell in a brighter world above. It is all for the best. God alone knows how much suffering and sorrow this little one has escaped by having been called from earth so young.

May God comfort the bereft, and help them to so live that they may see this precious babe again!

Mary Giles Hannin.

Westville, Miss.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A loving heart is the truest wisdom.—Dickens.

We guarantee

Heiskell's Ointment

to quickly and permanently cure Eczema, Scald-Head, Barber's Itch or Tetter without the aid of internal medicine. 50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO., 531 Commerce St., PHILADELPHIA.

The Dixie Sewing Machine Works

Can make your old machine as good as new. No matter how old or how much worn. All worn-out parts are taken out and replaced with new ones; the machine is fitted up as perfectly as a new machine. Machines can be making the Machine work the same as new. All work is guaranteed for 5 years, and if not satisfactory, will be repaired Free of Charge during that time. We have a lot of

Japaned and Ornamented,

- Rebuilt Machines -

for sale. Price, from $7 to $12, with attachments. We handle New Machines, Standard Makes, prices ranging from $18 to $35, with all attachments. We invite investigation. We will allow 30 days trial on our new Machines, and will be glad to open correspondence with those in need of one. We handle Needles, Shuttles, Attachments, Oils, Parts, etc., for all makes of Machines. We solicit mail orders.

Yours respectfully

Dixie Machine Works,

P. O. Box 101. WINONA, MISS.

L. S. WIDNEY. DAVID ZABLE.

WIDNEY & ZABLE,

COAL, HAY, CORN, OATS and BRAN,

Coal, Coke and Wood Yard and Feed Store,

MAGAZINE, NEAR VALENCE STREET.

Main Office: HENNEN BUILDING, No. 802 Common Street, NEW ORLEANS

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... Coke.

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 578. NEW ORLEANS

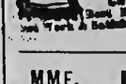
W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

VANDUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Imported Copper and E. India Tin.

CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

Rotary Yoke Wheel and Friction Rollers. Improved Hangings. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Seashore Camp Ground.

Front cottage to rent for the season. The cottage which I recently purchased from Dr. Abreus will be rented to suitable parties for the season. It has been enlarged, newly painted and furnished, and the doors and windows screened. For particulars address,

WILMOT H. GOODALE,
Baton Rouge, La.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and is an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

F. R. Hardon,

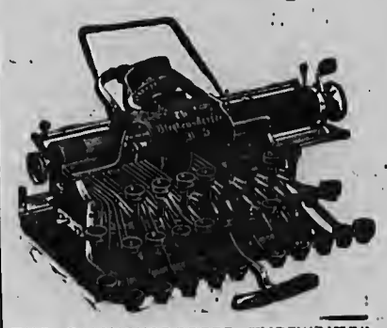
Millinery,

Old No. 29 Chartres Street—New 139.

New Orleans, La.

Millinary Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, State Agent, Cheneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 807 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

334-336 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.

CORNER MATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Advocate.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

Contains the Following Helps to the Study of the Bible.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

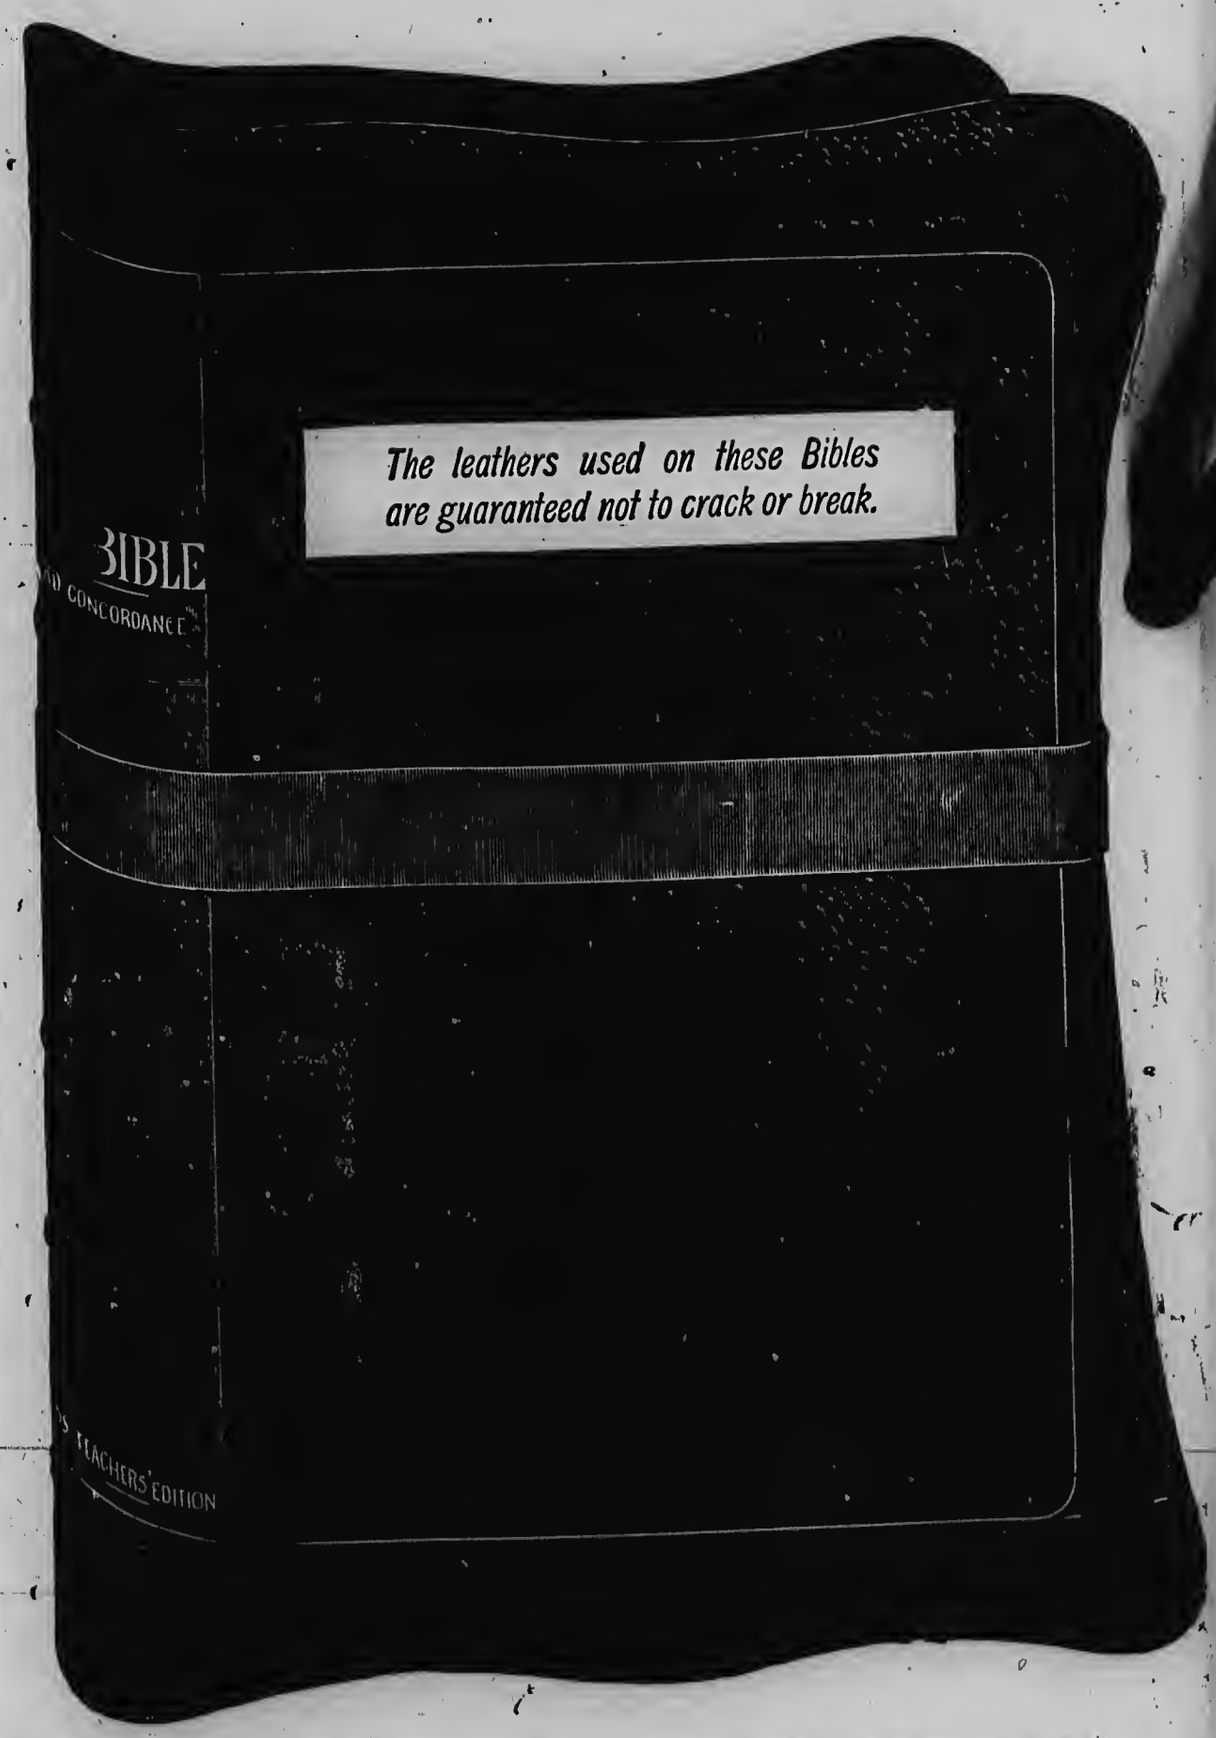
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



We handle this Bible in three styles, as follows: Minion Type, $1.75; Bourgeois Type, $2.45; Emerald Type, $1.25. In order to get any one of these at these rates, it is necessary to pay your subscription a full year in advance, viz., to June, 97. (A little later it will be July, '97.)

Notice that there are three sizes—$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

Address Rev. W. C. Black, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The timber wealth of the United States gives a yearly product of over a billion dollars, or more than twice the value of the entire output of all the mines.

At the Republican National Convention Major Wm. McKinley, Jr., of Ohio, and Hon. Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey, were nominated for President and Vice-President of these United States.

The Naval Appropriation bill, which passed Congress during the closing days of the session, provided for the construction of three torpedo boats of the highest possible speed, and ten torpedo boats of average speed.

The Michigan Agricultural Board has adopted a four-year course of study for women at the State Agricultural College. The course includes poultry raising, cooking, domestic economy, languages, music, painting and floral culture.

The failure of Congress to enact such legislation as will protect the American sugar industry from the harmful effects of the increased sugar bounties will force the home producers to a keener competition with European beet sugar during the coming season that has ever yet been experienced.

A contract has been closed with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, at Birmingham, Ala., for 500 tons of pig iron to be shipped to a foundry at Genoa, Italy, and the probability is that a contract will be closed for 50,000 tons a year for the same foundry. The iron is likely to be shipped through Pensacola.

The silver delegates to the Republican Convention, held last week in St. Louis, bolted the convention after the reading of the platform, which declared, among other things, its opposition to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, and that the existing gold standard shall be preserved.

FOREIGN.

More than 30,000 lives were lost in the great tidal wave in Japan.

The steamship "Drummond Castle," bound from Cape Town to London, struck a rock off the mainland of France and sank in about three minutes. Only three were saved out of 247 people on board.

Baron Edmond de Rothschild has established another colony in Palestine. The new colony, which is situated in Galilee, not far from Damascus, consists of a village of 3,000 acres, with many springs, and the sources of the river Jordan.

The platform adopted in St. Louis causes great uneasiness in Spain, and it is feared that a conflict with the United States has now almost a fixed date. The Spanish government has hastened to buy two 14,000-ton iron-clads at Genoa.

Fresh interest has been attracted to the Venezuelan problem by the fact that a body of troops belonging to the government of Venezuela entered the disputed strip of territory and forced a British working party to desist from work on a public road. This action will no doubt be construed by the British government as a hostile demonstration.

Long-distance telephones have been placed in the smallest Swiss villages, making it possible to communicate from one end to the other of the country on instruments kept in pefect repair, and on which one can hear distinctly. The fee varies from two to eight cents a message. Electric lighting from water power has been introduced in even small places.

The greatest concern and curiosity is shown in Spain, especially in political and military circles in Madrid, for intelligence of the movements of Consul Gen. Lee in Havana. All the papers comment on his cordial relations with Gen. Weyler, his wary and cautious replies to Spanish reporters and his prudent remarks on the relations between Spain and the United States.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5⅛	— —
Ordinary	5	— —
Good ordinary	6 9-16	— —
Low middling	6 13-16	— —
Middling	7	— —
Good middling	7⅛	— —
Middling fair	7⅜	— —
Fair	8 13-16	— —
Galveston middling	7⅞	— —
Mobile middling	7 15-16	— —
Memphis middling	7	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	2	2 7-16
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	2⅜	2⅜
Prime yellow	2⅝	2 15-16
Gray white	4⅛	4⅛
Choice white	4⅛	3⅛
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —
RICE.
No. 2	1⅝	— —
Good	2⅛	3
Fair	2⅜	3⅛
Prime	4⅛	3⅛
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 15	1 75
POLISH, ₩ ton	13 00	14 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 60	3 75
Fancy	3 40	3 50
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 10	— —
Winter wheat patents	3 93	3 09
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	1 60	1 93
Cream meal	1 90	— —
Grits	1 95	— —
Hominy	3 20	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	40
Yellow	31	43
Mixed No 2	— —	40
OATS:
Western	— —	27
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	60	93½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	17 00
Choice	— —	19 93
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	5 00	3 75
Prime Mess	3 00	3 25
Rumps	7 75	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	7⅛	8⅛
Shoulders	3	— —
Sides, short rib	3⅛	3⅛
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9	10
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	3⅛	3⅝
Sides, short rib	4⅛	— —
Sides, long clear	4⅛	4⅛
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	14⅛	— —
Common	13⅛	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
He-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	17	— —
Western Dairy	13	13
Common	9	11
LARD:
Refined	3⅛	3
OILS:
Coal, bbls	9⅛	— —
Coal, cases	12⅝	— —
Cotton seed, crude	19⅛	23
Lard, Extra No. 1	80	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ bbl	75	90
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	1 13	1 25
Western	— —	— —
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	75	1 00
Western	— —	— —
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	3⅛	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	3⅛	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	6	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	75	75
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 40
Young Chickens	75	3 20
Chickens, Southern	3 40	3 10
Young	75	3 10
Turkeys, Southern	3 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	8⅛	— —
Southern	9⅛	10
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	10	10⅛
Louisiana	2	2½
Burry	3	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	3⅛	— —
Dry salted	3	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	2 00	— —
Meal	17 25	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

CHILLIFUGE possesses all the virtues and none of the disagreeable features of Quinine used by Physicians.

When you feel shaky, Malaria has singled you out as a victim. Take CHILLIFUGE; it will rout the trouble at once.

CHILLIFUGE is a superb appetizer, and is highly valuable for weak and sickly children, as well as the aged and feeble.

CHILLIFUGE is guaranteed to cure Chills and Fever. It makes rich blood. Children love it.

CHILLIFUGE contains Iron that does not blacken the teeth, nor constipate the bowels. Makes rich blood.

CHILLIFUGE does not require a knitting needle or a stick to mix every dose. No iron filings to settle at bottom of bottle and irritate a weak stomach.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month.

Beautiful Catalogue free.

MARRIAGES.

OLSEN - BERGSTEDT. - At Calcasieu M. E. Church, South, Calcasieu parish, La., Wednesday evening, May 27, 1896, by Rev. A. S. J. Neill, Mr. Ole A. Olsen to Miss Mary E. Bergstedt, both of Calcasieu parish, La.

JINKS - FISHER. - At the home of the bride's parents, near Lake Charles, La., Sunday evening, June 7, 1896, by Rev. A. S. J. Neill, Mr. George W. Jinks to Miss Alice L. Fisher, all of Calcasieu parish, La.

DUGUE - FAVRE. - At the residence of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. J. A. Favre, Pearlington, Miss., June 11, 1896, by Rev. W. G. Forsyth, Mr. Adolfo Dogne de Livandois, of New Orleans, La., to Miss Alice Duncan Favre, of Pearlington, Miss.

COKER - HOLT. - At the residence of the bride's parents, near Yazoo City, Miss., May 27, 1896, by Rev. Jno. D. Ellis, Mr. Robt. J. Coker to Miss Mollie S. Holt.

NORMAN - FERGUSON. - In the Methodist Church, Wesson, Miss., June 18, 1896, by Rev. T. L. Mellen, Mr. R. Seymour Norman and Miss Pinkie Ferguson, all of Wesson, Miss.

SHIVERS - WIGGINS. Near Nilta Yuma, Miss., June 10, 1896, by Rev. H. P. Crowe, Mr. G. B. Shivers to Miss Lillie Wiggins.

COOPER - PANKY. - At the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. Jiles Williams, Winona, Miss., June 17, 1896, by Rev. J. H. Mitchell, assisted by Rev. J. Ritchey, Mr. R. L. Cooper, of Durant, Miss., and Miss Enby Panky, of Winona, Miss.

OAKEY - CAMPBELL. - At the residence of the bride's father, R. H. Campbell, Esq., Harperville, Miss., June 17, 1896, by Rev. Irvin Miller, Mr. J. E. Oakey, of Mobile, Ala., to Miss Eva M. Campbell.

BARNUM - VON EXE. - In the Presbyterian Church, Centreville, La., June 17, 1896, at 8 o'clock P. M., by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. Robert S. Barnum and Miss Aurelia Von Eye.

FOXWORTH - YATES. - At the residence of the bride's mother, near Udice, Miss., June 16, 1896, by Rev. W. L. Linfield, Mr. Chas R. Foxworth, of Columbia, Miss., to Miss Mary A. Yates.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Winona District.

Programme for Sunday-school Conference, Valden, Miss., July 9, 1896:

1. Give the Origin and Trace the Progress of the Sunday-school.—R. G. Porter, Harry Estes, J. F. Evans.

2. What Have Been Its Greatest Difficulties?—Eugene Johnson, R. Thayer, J. R. D. King.

3. Where There Are Failures, Who Is to Blame?—J. W. Price, W. H. Sanders, J. T. Howell.

4. How Are We to Develop the True Principles of Sunday-schools?—John Ritchey, R. O. Ransford, F. Townsend.

5. What Is Your Ideal of a Successful Superintendant?—K. A. Jones, W. H. Holmes, Fred Austin.

6. As to Its General Management—R. I. Allen, L. M. Lipscomb, W. Wiley.

Programme for District Conference, July 10 and 11:

1. How to Secure Deeper Consecration of Members, and Family Worship—J. B. Streaker.

2. How May Stewards Best Succeed in Their Work?—J. R. Bingham.

3. What of the Epworth League? Can It Be Made a Power in the Church?—J. W. Price.

4. Revivals: How to Promote Them and Conserve the Real Results—John Ritchey.

5. Why Do We Give So Meagerly to Missions, and Who Is to Blame?—K. A. Jones.

The following committees are appointed:

For License to Preach—R. G. Porter, W. H. Sanders, J. R. D. King.

For Admission on Trial into the Traveling Connection—John Ritchey, J. W. Price, J. T. Howell.

For Deacon's and Elder's Orders—K. A. Jones, J. F. Evans, Eugene Johnson.

Eugene Johnson will preach at 11 A. M., July 9. R. G. Porter will preach at 11 A. M., July 10.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

YOU CAN'T BUY HAPPINESS, but if you are suffering from dyspepsia, scrofula, salt rheum, impure blood, you may be cured and made happy by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's PILLS are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless, reliable, sure.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

In Uraemia after Typhoid Fever.

DR. B. F. HOPKINS, of the Warm Springs, Va., Member Medical Society of Virginia:

"Miss C——, 20 years of age, was prostrated by a severe attack of Typhoid Fever, which was followed by Uraemia developing itself at the expiration of two months. The attendant symptoms were such as to excite serious apprehension, and proved wholly unamenable to the treatment indicated in the case; the patient grew gradually worse, until I regarded her condition as hopeless. At this time a friend of the young lady suggested the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER. I gladly adopted the suggestion. The result was a matter of equal gratification and astonishment. Under the influence of the Water the kidneys promptly resumed a healthy action, the drowsiness disappeared, and in two weeks the patient was up and walking about the house, which she had not been able to do before for several months, and her improvement continued until she was in usual health."

This Water for sale by druggists and grocers generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles $5.00 f. o. b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent free to any address.

Springs open for guests from June 15th to October 1st. Address,

Proprietor Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va., on the Atlantic and Danville Railroad.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

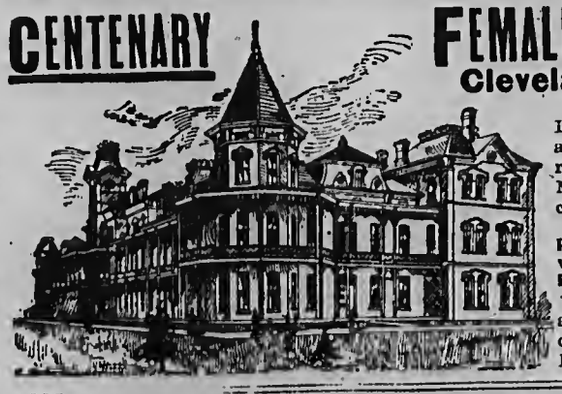
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,
Cleveland, Tenn.



Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address D. SULLINS, Pres't.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE,
BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VA.

For 175 Young Ladies. The largest and most extensively equipped in Va. Eclectic courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 Officers and Teachers; 8 male Professors. Situated in Valley of Va., on N. & W. R. R., near Roanoke. Mountain scenery. 1200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. Pupils can be met at Southern and Western points. 54th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Virginia.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Senatobia	June	20, 21
Sardis		27, 28
Como	July	4, 5
Fernando and Coldwater		11, 12
Batesville and Wesley		12, 19
Courtland	(Mon.).	20
Neath't		23, 22
Tyro	Aug.	1, 2
Pleasant Grove		2, 3
Longtown		15, 16
Wall Hill		21, 21
Oockrum	(Tues.).	25
Arashnlia		23, 30
Burgess	(Wed.).	Sept. 2
Eureka	(Thurs.).	3
Pleasant Hill		5, 6

T. C. WIER, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Guntown circuit at Double Springs	June	27, 28
Booneville circuit at Asbury	(Wed.). July	1
Kossuth circuit, at Bethel		2, 5
Corinth circuit, at Mt. Carmel		12, 19
Iuka circuit at Bethel		25, 26
Marietta circuit, at Marietta	Aug.	1, 2
Brown's Creek circuit, at Siloam		8, 9
Blue Springs cir., at Sherman	(Fri.).	14
Ripley and New Albany sts., at N. A.		15, 16
Ripley circuit, at Jacob's Chapel		22, 23
Jonesboro cir., at Camp G.	(Wed.).	26
New Albany circuit, at Wells' Chapel		29, 30
Ballillo circuit, at Mooreeville	Sept.	5, 6

The District Conference will be held at Ripley, July 9-12.

HESLEP R. TUCKER, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Pickens, at Richland	June	27, 28
Durant station	July	4, 5
Salem, at Salem		11, 12
Kosciusko station		12, 18
Poplar Creek, at Bethel		18, 19
Bellona, at Lawrence Deadning		25, 26
Sadis, at Bethel	Aug.	1, 2
Ethel, at Marvin		7
Ackerman, at Liberty Hill		9, 9
Walthall, at Shady Grove		14
Eupora, at Eupora		15, 16
Chester, at South Union		22, 23
Ashton		26
Ebenezer, at Bethany		23, 30
Rural Hill	Sept.	4
Louisville		5, 6

The brethren will have their church registers and records of Church Conferences at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Carrollton station, at Longview	June	27, 28
Wilcox	July	4, 5
Valden, at Valden		11, 12
Inulaula, at ——		18, 19
Wilcox circuit, at Bluff Springs		25, 26
West, at Bowling Green	Aug.	1, 2
McNutt, at Sunnyside		8, 9
Carrollton circuit, at ——		15, 16
Sidon, at Sidon		22, 23
Public and Brooklyn, at ——		29, 30
Black Hawk, at ——	Sept.	5, 6

District Conference at Valden, July 2. The first day will be devoted to Sunday-school interests.

J. B. STONE, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Nettleton circuit	July	3
Verona station		4, 5
Shannon circuit		11, 12
Prairie circuit		18, 19
Sparta circuit		25, 26
Houston mission		31
Bue a Vista circuit	Aug.	1, 2
Houston		8, 9
Aberdeen circuit		14
Quincy		15, 16
Tremont circuit		21
Fulton		22, 23
Amory		28, 30
Okolona circuit	Sept.	5, 6

The District Conference for the Aberdeen district will convene at Aberdeen, June 25, at 2:30 P. M., Bishop Fitzgerald presiding.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—THIRD ROUND.

Oxford station	June	27, 28
Tatum at Dogwood Flat	July	4, 5
Charleston, at Tillatoba	(Tues.).	7
Inter City		11, 12
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill		18, 19
Terrance cir., at Kossuth ch'h	(Tues.).	21
Tocopola, at Salem		25, 26
Water Valley cir., at Church G.	(Tues.).	28
Water Valley—Main Street	Aug.	7, 8
Slate Springs, at Cross Roads		8, 9
Elroy, at George's Chapel	(Tues.).	11
Paris, at Pleasant Hill	(Fri.).	13
Pittsboro, at ——	(Fri.).	13, 14
Chapel Hill, at ——	(Fri.).	21

H. O. MONKHEAD, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Jonestown	June	27, 28
Coahoma and Duncan, at Friendship	July	4, 5
Hill House circuit, at Australia		11, 12
Friar's Point		16, 19
Hollonda's circuit, at Stoneville		25, 26
Gunnison, at Phalia	Aug.	1, 2
Rosedale and Bolivar, at Bolivar		6, 2
Cleveland and Shelby		13, 13
Belen circuit, at Bellvue		22, 23
Greenesville circuit, at Dubbs		29, 30
Tunica circuit, at Evansville		30, 31
Lula circuit	Sept.	3, 2
Leberton and New Salem, at Sandy B.		11, 12
Arcola circuit		17, 20

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Potts' Camp circuit, at Hickory Flat	June	27, 28
Holly Springs circuit, at Hudsonville	July	4, 5
Waterford circuit, at Harris' Chapel		11, 12
Olive Branch circuit, at Kelley		18, 19
Red Banks circuit, at Raney's C. G.	Aug.	1, 2
East Holly Springs cir., at Mt. Hope		6, 8
Cornersville circuit, at Friendship		13, 12
Mt. Pleasant cir., at Marshall Institute		22, 23
Ashland circuit, at Black Jack		22, 30
Pontotoc circuit	Sept.	2, 2
Ashland circuit		12, 13

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Starkville station	July	4, 5
Sturgis		11, 12
Brooksville		18, 12
Starkville circuit		22, 26
Tibbee	Aug.	1, 2
Macon station		2, 9
Shuqualak	(Mon.).	10
Hebron		15, 13
Columbus circuit		20, 21
Columbus station		22, 23
Crawford		29, 20
Cedar Bluff	Sept.	5, 2
West Point		2, 7
Singleton	(Thurs.).	10
Winstonville		13, 13

E. A. SUMROUGHS, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Binnsville circuit, at Binnsville	June	20, 21
Lauderdale circuit at Marion		27, 28
Vimville circuit, at Oustis' Chapel	July	2, 3
Meridian—Side and Pipes, at S. side		12, 13
Rose Hill circuit, at Hopewell		13, 19
Porterville circuit, at Bryan's Ch'l		25, 26
North Kemper cir., at Mellen's Ch'l	Aug.	1, 2
DeKalb circuit, at Marvin's Chapel		3, 4
Dalevitz circuit at Sonia's Chapel		8, 9
Meridian—East End		13, 17
Neshoba and Mission, at Philadelphia		22, 23
Meridian—West End		20, 31
Chunkey circuit, at Concord	Sept.	3, 4
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove		12, 13
Meridian Central		20, 21

R. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Bolton, at Raymond	July	3, 5
Edwards, at Rieves Chapel		11, 12
Hermanville, at Sarepta		18, 2
Crawford Street—Vicksburg		22, 23
South Vicksburg		22, 27
Harrison & Hamilton	Aug.	1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge		8, 8
Port Gibson		15, 16
Utica, at Learned		22, 23
Mayersville, at Beulah		22, 30
South Warren, at ——	Sept	5, 2
Mt. Olivet, at ——		12, 13
Rolling Fork, at Redwood		19, 20
Anguilla at Bethel		20, 27
Warren, at ——	Oct.	2, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WARMS, P. E.

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR FROM PIMPLES TO SCROFULA

Speedily cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor cures, assisted externally by warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, and gentle applications of CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure, when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, 50c. and $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

"How to Cure Every Humor," mailed free.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Parker Chapel	(7:45 P. M.).	July 9
Tchoupitoulas Street	(7:45 P. M.).	9
Carrollton Avenue	(11 A. M.).	11
Dryades Street	(7:45 P. M.).	11
Stashore Camp Ground		11
Carondelet Street	(11 A. M.).	12-21
Morgan Street	(7:45 P. M.).	26
Algiers	(11 A. M.).	Aug. 2
Felicity Street	(7:45 P. M.).	2
Covington, at Covington		9, 9
Tallahoek and Slidell, at Camp Ground		10, 11
White Castle		13, 15
Louisiana Avenue	(11 A. M.).	16
Ravne Memorial	(7:45 P. M.).	16
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	Sept.	1, 1
Crapa Street		1
Lower Coast		13, 13

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Slaughter, at Ethel	June	27, 28
Wilson, at Manassas	July	4, 5
Jackson		9, 9, 9
Baton Sara, at Tunica	(Wed.).	9
East Baton Rouge, at Pipkin		11, 12
Zachary		12, 13
Baton Rouge station		12, 16
Baton Rouge circuit, at S. R.		13, 16
Ponchatoula, at Springfield		18, 26
Port Vincent, at Bayou Barbery		19, 19
Live Oak, at Palmetto	Aug.	1, 2
Amite City, at Kentwood		9, 9
Pine Grove, at Camp Ground	(Wed.).	11
East Feliciana, at Camp G.	(Thurs.).	26
Greensburg, at Camp Ground	(Fri.).	31
Oluton		18, 31
Franklinton, at Pleasant Valley		29, 15

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Melville	June	27, 28
Grosse Tete, at Cottonwood	July	4, 5
Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire		18, 9
Alexandria		26, 27
Pineville, at Oak Grove		28
Ola at Pollock	Aug.	1, 2
Anacoco at Holly Grove		1
Natchitoches		8, 9
Montgomery		12
Columbia at Faulk's Chapel		19, 16
Castorville, at ——		11
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground		21
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground		11
Dry Creek, at Hopewell		19, 16

General Debility from Over-Work Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. L. A. SCRUGGS, Raleigh, N. C., says: "It has been well tested in nervous prostration, atonic dyspepsia and general debility from overwork."

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.

Franklinton, La.

Money Made in a Minute.

I have not made less than sixteen dollars any day while selling Centrifugal Ice Cream Freezers. Anyone should make from five to eight dollars a day selling cream, and from seven to ten dollars selling Freezers, as it is such a wonder, there is always a crowd wanting cream. You can freeze cream elegantly in one minute, and that astonishes people so they all want to taste it, and then many of them buy freezers, as the cream is smooth and perfectly frozen. Every freezer is guaranteed to freeze cream perfectly in one minute. Anyone can sell ice cream and the freezer sells itself. My sister makes from ten to fifteen dollars a day. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you full particulars free, so you can go to work and make lots of money anywhere, as with one freezer you can make a hundred gallons of cream a day, or if you wish, they will hire you on a salary.

Some people who claim to have eyes with which they can almost look into heaven, are yet so short-sighted that they can not see that they are standing on the necks of their fellow-men.—Exchange.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HANDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

Of course it's imitated—anything good always is—that's endorsement, not a pleasant kind, but still endorsement. HIRES Root-beer is imitated.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 27. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2080

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

"THERE IS A CALM."
(Psalms cvii, 29.)

BY JOSEPH SCHENK.

There is a calm beyond the tide
Of life's o'erhanging sea;
Where golden silence seems to hide
Its smiles from you and me.

There is a stillness which prevails
The conquered foes and peace—
When spent life's furious gales
And storms forever cease.

There is a rest at last for you
When eventide draws near;
Beyond the vale burns forth the new
In that celestial sphere.

O glorious hope! O sweet delight!
Thou soul-inspiring psalm,
'Tis faith discerning day through night
Which speaks, "There is a calm."
—Exchange.

Communications.

The Rules We Keep—No. 4.

We are especially bound by these rules to do good to them that are of the household of faith, or to those who are groaning so to be. The church is a common brotherhood, and it ought to be such in fact and in practice as well as in form. Indeed, Christianity emphasizes this idea of brotherhood, and its purpose is to make us all one in Christ. The love of the brethren is one strong proof that one has religion, or that he is groaning to obtain it. In some sense the world has this common bond. How much more, and in how much higher sense, ought Christians to have it? They have had a common sorrow and have a common joy the world knows nothing about. This spirit of brotherly love will show itself by employing and paying the brethren in preference to others. A brother will sell as cheap to a brother as to others, and so make it to his interest to buy from him. Brethren of the right sort will help one another in business. This is proper and it is right. It shows a Christian spirit. I have known a wrong interpretation put upon this rule. It was made to read, "Help one and not the other." The rule is mutual. You help me and I will help you.

It is the duty of all Christians to be diligent in business, to work with a will. A lazy man can not be a good Christian. Industry and economy tend mightily towards keeping the gospel from being blamed. Men of the world are always looking for chances to lay blame on the church and the religion of our Lord. An industrious and frugal man commends the gospel of Christ, while a lazy, improvident, wasteful member of the church is a reproach to religion.

All who desire to be saved from sin will strive to run with patience the race that is set before them—the Christian race. To this end they will lay aside every weight that hinders them; and there are many weights. Most of us have some besetting sin; some well-circumstanced sin; some sin that presses us more sorely than any other. This must be laid aside. The ignorant old woman was not far wrong when she said, "My upsetting sin gets me into trouble."

Men striving to be godly will deny themselves of all ungodliness and worldly lusts. The denial of self is indispensable to the Christian life. Selfishness in every form is sinful. The gist of religion is in the surrender of self to God. This is a difficult thing to do. No man can do it without the help of the Holy Spirit. The complete and entire surrender of self to God is the condition precedent to the entire sanctification of the soul, body, and spirit. This surrender of self is our part; the sanctification is God's part. Godliness concerns the internal state as well as the outward conduct. It is salvation from all sin, internal and external. Everyone who joins the Methodist Church commits himself to holiness—entire sanctification.

A man bent on being saved from sin will take up his cross daily and bear it in the name of Christ. This cross may be in one thing to one and in another thing to another. Each one has his cross. It matters not so much what it is, so we bear it daily in the name of our Lord. He bore his cross for us; we ought to bear our cross for him. We may not step over a cross, nor go around it. Our salvation depends upon our bearing it. Christ-loving Christians are always cross-bearing Christians. We must not try to shun or shirk our duty in this matter. The heavier the cross seems to be, the sooner and more earnestly we ought to strive to take it up. If we bear the cross, the crown will be ours. The cross, whatever it may be, is the test and the turning-point in every Christian life. On this pivot the whole of personal salvation turns. To fail in this is to fail in all.

Meanwhile set for salvation from all sin cheerfully submit to whatever reproach may attach to a godly life. The more godly one is the more his life will be a standing reproach to the world. He is against the world, and the world is against him. "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake." Few of us are godly enough to attract the spite and hate of the world. Oh, that we were! Then we might claim this benediction of our Lord. Men do say ugly things about us; but, alas! they are true. They must be false before we can claim this beatitude, or blessing, of our Master. Men reviled the Master, spoke evil of him, charged him with blasphemy, and finally put him to death. He was the only perfectly innocent and absolutely holy man the world ever saw. "In him was no sin." If they treated the Lord thus, what may not the sons and servants expect?

The devil does not care how much of the form of godliness we may have, so long as we are destitute of its power. It is not the form, but the power of godliness that excites the hatred of the devil and of the world. The most decent road to hell runs through the church; the most taking shape of sin is the form of godliness. Think of this. Here we may well pause, ponder, and pray.

GILDEROY.

Belhaven College Commencement.

It was my privilege, through the invitation of President Fitzhugh, to visit Jackson, Miss., last week, and to take a part in the exercises of the commencement of Belhaven College. This institution, although a recent enterprise of President Fitzhugh, and despite the total destruction of its buildings last year, is certainly a most completely equipped and most admirably conducted college for the higher education of women. I had not seen the buildings that were destroyed by fire, and could not compare them with those that have risen to replace them; but in point of sanitary arrangement, home comfort, and convenience for purposes of instruction, the present plant, well lighted with electricity throughout, heated by steam, and furnished with all desirable appliances for health and comfort, affords all that could be desired for its purposes, and is beautiful for situation. The part of the school work most in evidence at commencements is usually that done in the line of art and music. Your correspondent, afflicted as he is with somewhat over-developed critical faculties, found himself easily dispensed from any occasion for exercising these by the perfect ease of finished art and trained taste at once evident in the performance of very full and delightful musical programs. President Fitzhugh exhibits discernment in the selection of so able and accomplished a faculty as that that must have the credit for the excellent results I witnessed.

I had the privilege of preaching to the congregation of the First Methodist Church, where Bro. Watkins is filling his fourth year, and where the distress of parting from a genuinely respected and much-loved pastor already begins to indicate one of the shadows of the itineraney. I have seldom stood before a more substantial congregation than that of the First Church, Jackson; and to a New Orleans man it was refreshing indeed to preach to a church literally full. I am told that the building, quite large and beautiful, is not ample for the congregation, and Bro. Watkins is recommending that the lecture-room be thrown into the auditorium. The musical training of Belhaven is again to the fore in the services of the Methodist Church. The Lord has the best music in his service here. I should like to enter a plea for musical culture among our young people with a special view to glorifying God in the service of song. We may sing with grace in our hearts unto the Lord; but when it comes to expressing what is in our hearts, art has an important part.

I had the pleasure of meeting again Dr. Hunnicutt, whose noble work in behalf of Christian education during his presidency of Centenary College we of the Louisiana Conference shall not forget. Dr. Hunnicutt is pastor of the Second Church of Jackson, and has a large and growing congregation.

A drive to Millsaps College with Bro. Watkins, and the beginning of an acquaintance with the faculty, and the renewal of one with Dr. Murrah, the president, were incidents pleasant to recollect. Dr. Weber, the professor of English, displayed the new college gymnasium, largely built through his own exertions, with the justifiable pride of a man who has made a contribution to the manhood of the college students so important as furnishing the apparatus for producing a sound body.

F. S. PARKER.

New Orleans, June 14, 1896.

Report of Visiting Committee to Grenada Collegiate Institute.

We have performed the duty assigned us, and with pleasure report the Grenada Collegiate Institute in good condition. The session just closed was, all things considered, we think, the best in the history of the institution. The enrollment of boarding pupils was about sixty. This was a great increase over former years.

Twelve young ladies graduated this session. We had the pleasure of examining their papers and found them excellent. There was a medal offered for the best paper on The Evidences of Christianity. The committee, in awarding the medal, said that the papers were all good, and that that class of girls ought to marry preachers and help their husbands write sermons. The Visiting Committee concur in that opinion. All the papers examined were good. Without modifying phrases, we express it as our mature opinion that the intellectual training of Grenada Collegiate Institute compares favorably with any similar institution in the land.

The healthfulness of the locality is favorably spoken of by all who were questioned on that point.

The faculty is an excellent one. All the old members were retained and three new ones added. Mrs. Neblett, who has had extensive experience in college work, comes to take control of the Music Department. She brings her daughter with her. Mrs. Hargrove enters the school next September as a member of faculty. All who know this devoted, gifted woman will immediately see the wisdom of engaging her services for the future. With the faculty as it now stands the college ought to command a still larger patronage. Let every friend of the work see that it is so.

Pressed for room, Dr. Malone has moved from place to place, painting and fitting up until the freshness and neatness delights the eye of the beholder. Anticipating a still larger attendance next Fall, other improvements will be made this Summer. Room will be made for sixteen more boarders in large, nice rooms on the second floor. The building will then have a boarding capacity of about one hundred. The Art Gallery, on the fourth floor, is an attractive feature of the building, added during the session just closed.

Commencement exercises were ushered in on Sunday, June 7, by a very excellent sermon by Dr. J. F. Sturdivant, of the North Alabama Conference. For literary finish and completeness of construction this sermon was a rare production.

The Art Levee, on Monday, was an attractive feature of the programme. Many interesting pictures were exhibited and spoke well for the industry and capacity of pupils and teachers.

The programme for Tuesday and Wednesday was especially interesting. The address of Hon. Earl Brewer is highly spoken of. The young lawyer is said to have been at his best, and handled his subject. "The Woman of Yesterday, To-day and To-morrow," with great ability.

Brethren, the Grenada Collegiate Institute is in fine condition and is doing fine work. It ought to have the sympathy and co-operation of every member of the North Mississippi Conference. Let us see to it that every room is full next session.

J. W. DORMAN,
For the Committee.

Delhi District Conference.

The Conference met in Delhi on June 18, 1896. Rev. B. F. White, P. E., was in the chair, and with patience and impartiality looked after all the interests of the church. The reports show a decided advance over last year. The Sunday-school work and prohibition cause have been especially emphasized, and the work accomplished is very encouraging. The Conference adopted strong resolutions on "Christian Citizenship." Fraud and corruption, especially in elections, we denounce, and shall put forth every effort for "the firm, honest, and equal enforcement of all the laws."

Centenary College and Mansfield were enthusiastically indorsed, and the entire Conference body pledged itself to work for these colleges.

The following brethren preached: T. H. McClendon, J. B. Cassity, R. A. Davis, J. W. Davis, W. J. Roberts, E. N. Evans, and H. W. Knickerbocker.

The following were elected delegates to the next Annual Conference: H. C. Voss, Sam Collins, S. Whited, and A. S. Helmick.

The town of Delhi entertained us royally. The next District Conference will go to Tulula.

W. J. ROBERTS, Sec.
IRA L. BRONSON, Ass't.

Durant District Conference.

District Conference for Durant district convened in Sallis, Miss., June 11, 1896. First day was devoted to the Sunday-school interest, a larger part of the time being taken up by hymns with thoughtful and carefully prepared papers. This was a day of great profit.

Thursday afternoon Bishop Galloway came and blessed the Conference with wise leadership, good counsel, a great sermon and an interesting lecture. We count ourselves wiser and better on account of his attendance.

The reports of the pastors showed an unprecedented advancement in the financial condition of the district. Though the District Conference was held a month later last year, yet the presiding elder has received twenty per cent. more than was paid by District Conference last year—the preachers' salaries showing a corresponding increase. Reports show further that $517.54 has been raised for foreign missions than was paid on all the general collections by District Conference of last year. We have already raised on foreign missions $705.60—being only $4.15 less than the amount raised for same during the entire year of '95. A pastor suggested that the material and visible advancement in this district would have been impossible under any other supervision than that of the earnest, consecrated and prudent J. H. Mitchell. Give Bro. Mitchell to the Durant district one more year, and this new district will take its appropriate place for up (near the head) in the roll of our Conference districts.

We enjoyed the presence of the following visitors: R. A. Burroughs, S. M. Thames, T. Y. Ramsey, and J. W. Malone, president of Grenada Collegiate Institute.

J. G. Hamilton, M. T. Boswell, E. J. Bridges and J. F. Wilburn were elected delegates to annual Conference.

Sallis dispensed a bounteous, open-handed hospitality.

J. C. PARK, Secretary.
Kosciusko, Miss.

Here and There.

The last thirty days have been filled with opportunities to do good. The fourth Sabbath in May we preached the commencement sermon for the Tylertown Normal Institute. We are grateful to Bro. W. W. Morse for many courtesies. We preached two days for Bro. McInjosh in his gracious meeting at Magnolia. June 1 we had the pleasure of delivering the literary address at the Johnston Institute, Greensburg, La. The trip to Greensburg was very delightful, owing to the associations with my old friends: Anders, Roberts, Newsom, Tillery, Lindsey, Pipkin, and many others.

We are now in Water Valley assisting in a glorious meeting. No one ever had more delightful companionship than I have had with Bros. Morehead, Bowen and Clifford. These brethren constitute a trio of as faithful, useful and active Methodist preachers as can be found in Southern Methodism. Their friendship and brotherly love will follow me through life. The good people of this place had a bonfire lately of blind-tiger liquor. Two prominent Presbyterians were appointed to sample the liquor to see if it would intoxicate. The Presbyterian pastor wanted to know of Bro. Bowen why his members were selected to sample the liquor. He replied that Methodists might fall from grace, and they thought it safe to appoint men who were in no danger.

Water Valley is on the side of right. Main Street Church has a new parsonage, a new house of worship, and a new baby. The happy father is thinking of naming the fine boy for a member of the Mississippi Conference, and thereby uniting the two Conferences more closely. The new church is a thing of beauty, and later on our honored and beloved Mississippi Bishop will be asked to dedicate it. Bro. Braswell, of the Water Valley circuit, has been in attendance on the services, and reports his work in a prosperous condition.

I. W. COOPER.

Water Valley, Miss., June 19, 1896.

In the Living Present.

During their recent convention in Covington, Ohio, the Dunkers, by resolution, declared that filling teeth with gold is damnable extravagance. Thus good people render Christian obligation ludicrous and create aversion against the church.

Emperor William declared against political preaching. In a telegram to a friend, which accidently acquired publicity, he says: "Political preaching is a monstrosity. Those given to this practice usually exhibit self-importance and intolerance. The true preacher of our blessed gospel is concerned about the souls of his parishioners. He encourages love to God and good-will to men."

The moon is a huge graveyard. Once teeming with life, it is now utterly devoid of animation. Sterility general. Incineration complete. The beds of seas and rivers remain, but no water in them. Vegetation impossible. And such will be the doom of our earth.

In our land perpetrators of crime are frequently excused when the foul deed was committed in a state of intoxication. When Pittacus, one of the seven wise men of Greece, was governor of Mitylene, he issued an edict that all crimes committed in a state of drunkenness should be doubly punished.

The Agricultural Department in Washington, D. C., declares that cow's milk is the cause of much tuberculosis among men. Even conversion into butter does not destroy the disease-giving bacteria. Boiling the milk reduces the danger to a minimum. Cattle suffer much from lung consumption.

The Israelites are a wonderful race. In all the departments of human operation success perches on their banner. The Republican National Convention in St. Louis was opened with prayer by a Jewish rabbi. Contention between Roman Catholics, the two branches of Methodism, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, etc., led to this result.

Dr. Whitsett, a Baptist authority, has disturbed the complacency of his brethren. Assures that immersionist succession is a myth. That prior to 1641 Baptists administered the sacrament in question by sprinkling and effusion. Even Roger Williams had been rebaptized by sprinkling, etc.

IGN DIXN.

Selections.

Bad.

The papers report that nineteen special trains, with delegates to the Republican Presidential Convention, arrived in St. Louis on the Lord's day. Nineteen on the Sabbath! Is it a wonder this country is on the brink of ruin? The men who choose our chief ruler set at naught a divine law, publicly, contemptuously. We regret to know that our Virginia Republican delegates planned to use the Sabbath on the cars. We hope the Democrats will have more regard for the sacred day, but prefer to witness their respect rather than predict it. Politicians seem to have a peculiar indifference to this religious period. We are not puritanic on the Sabbath question, rather liberal, believing in unsaddling mind and body, rest, recreation in best sense. We are not sure but one sermon on the Sabbath in cities is sufficient, with an evening service of music and social intercourse.

We know people who overdo church work on the day of rest. There are reason and limitations.—Richmond Christian Advocate.

Tried, and Found Wanting.

Last Fall the country was stirred by reports of a strange man who had appeared at Denver in the role of a divine healer. His personality was so singular that he attracted wide-spread attention. Hundreds of cures were reported, and in one instance a railway company sent dozens of its employees to be healed of their various infirmities. The craze did not last many weeks, but it had the intensity of furore while it was passing. Then the wonder-worker dropped from sight. The sequel is just now coming to public notice. The lapse of time shows that when anything was really the matter with the persons who professed to be cured, the symptoms have nearly all returned, and the patients are to-day in the same condition in which they were before they heard of the healer. This is nothing more than was expected by all sensible persons. Time is the test of all such phenomena as these.—Pittsburg Advocate.

JESUS.

BY JOHN WILFRID MCCLEAR.

I leave my burdens and my cares
To Christ's mighty hand;
I leave the answers to my prayers
To wait his own command;
I trust him on thro' sun and shade,
I trust and I am not afraid.

Tho' oft my sins as mountains rise,
And I far from him I stray,
His mercy reaches to the skies—
His love can ne'er decay;
I trust him on thro' sun and shade,
I trust, and I am not afraid

Tho' clouds obscure my path below,
And ev'ry friend be gone,
My Savior's constant love I know,
He is th' unchanging One;
I trust him on thro' sun and shade,
I trust and I am not afraid.

When Satan flings his fiery spear,
Or aims the subtle dart,
To fill my soul with paltry fear,
Or wound my wav'ring heart,
I trust him on thro' sun and shade,
I trust, and I am not afraid.

I trust, and trusting, sweet my rest,
For now I grieve no more;
His peace is mine—his comfort blest,
And all my strife is o'er.
Then come the sun or come the shade,
I trust and I am not afraid

—Exchange.

Communications.

That Editorial.

MR. EDITOR: Your rather severe, but just, criticism of Bro. Ellis' booklet calls up a question which, it seems, will not down.

For a full quarter of a century I have studied and written on the question; and, having years ago "formed and expressed an opinion," I felt pretty easy until I noticed the difference in the list of standards furnished by writers who advocate the existence of "human standards" in the matter of "the faith and practice" of the people called Methodists. No two writers on that side give the same list, or even approximate the same.

For many years I have admitted that Wesley's Notes on the New Testament, 52 Sermons, and the Minutes were, or might be, regarded as standards of doctrine. This I believe no longer. There is absolutely no historical ground upon which such an opinion can stand. It does not follow that Polycarp, Irenæus, Justin—Wesley, Fletcher, Clark—Stevens, Bangs, McTyeire, and others, are of no use as good and wise men. Not at all. It only follows that their opinion is not "the end of the law" in matters of faith. If they, or either of them, can be sustained by the Word of God, then the opinion becomes standard—but the appeal is to the Word, and not to human opinion.

But that I may not needlessly tax your space, I give briefly the later results of my historic research on this great question:

At the Conference in 1773 the following question and answer were placed in the Minutes: "Ought not the doctrine and discipline of the Methodists, as contained in the Minutes, to be the sole rule of our conduct, who labor in connection with Mr. Wesley in America? Yes."

It will be observed that this endorsement of "the Minutes" was eleven years before the church was organized, and, without re-enactment at the organization, could not bind the church.

In 1784 the Conference endorsed Mr. Wesley as a standard in these words: "During the life of Rev. Mr. Wesley we acknowledge ourselves his sons in the gospel, ready in matters belonging to church government to obey his commands."

Notice that "church government" only, and not "doctrines," is included in this utterance of allegiance. At the same session it was agreed to adopt Mr. Wesley's Notes on the New Testament, his published Sermons and the Minutes.

Thus matters stood till the meeting of the Conference in Baltimore in 1787, three years after the events alluded to above. At this session the question came up as to whether or not the action of the Conference of 1784 was in the nature of an "agreement with Mr. Wesley," or "an agreement among themselves," which they might reconsider. In this discussion (or, rather, speaking of it afterwards) Asbury is reported as saying: "I never approved of that binding Minute." The result was the repeal of the pledge to "obey Mr. Wesley," and its elimination from the Minutes. While the refusal to "obey Mr. Wesley" was not in so many words a reconsideration of the adoption of his Notes, Sermons and the Minutes, the principle is the same in each case, and neither the one nor the other ever appeared in any subsequent Minute that I have ever seen or heard of.

But let us suppose that there is still a law making Wesley's Notes, his Sermons (52) and the Minutes "standards of doctrine." Then what? Just this, and no less:

DISCIPLINE, ART. 5, P. 12	THE "MINUTES."
"Whatsoever is not read in the Bible, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man that it should be believed as an article of faith, or be thought requisite or necessary to salvation."	Wesley's Notes on the New Testament, his Sermons and the Minutes must be believed, and are necessary and requisite unto salvation.

Could so keen a mind as Asbury's fail to see the absurdity of such legislation? He says he was silent when the record was made, and he was mute when it was rescinded. With Wesley it was otherwise. He scolded Asbury soundly for not preventing the "act of 1787—"or quit the connection."

The reference in the first Restrictive Rule to "present existing standards of doctrine," we are told, refers to Wesley, Watson, Clark, etc. These authors do not agree on some of the great doctrinal questions, and hence to adopt one of them would be "contrary" to another. This no General Conference could do without a constitutional amendment. Hence our "present existing and established standards of doctrine" refers to some homogeneous compilation of doctrinal formula. Nowhere in all the range of Methodist literature can such be found apart from the XXV. Articles. These are "standards of doctrine," the force and authority of which are clearly defined by Art V.

Wesley believed in the "eternal Sonship." Clark did not. Wesley put that vagary into the first edition of the Discipline, but it went out of the second edition. I can not have Wesley for my standard, because he is "contrary" to Clark, nor can I have Clark, because he is "contrary" to Wesley, and I am not permitted to have any other than the "established" standards which the church gives me.

J. A. PARKER.

Opelousas, La

Wonderland.

MR. EDITOR: All my life the ADVOCATE has been a regular visitor to my home, and its coming greeted with pleasure, as we scanned its columns as the face of a dear old friend. These latter days we have read the discussion of subjects that have filled us with wonder. Sanctification has been changed to "second blessing," and many other amazing changes have been wrought. I found in an old book sanctification comprehends all the graces of knowledge, faith, repentance, love, humility, zeal, patience, etc., and the exercise of them in our conduct toward God or man.

How sad that many who claim to have attained this high experience do not exhibit quite all of these—humility, love, and patience, for instance.

Some people have much Scripture knowledge, but fail to receive its practical benefits. Think of one claiming perfect love who does not display the flowers and sweets of life. Some writers on this holy theme seem full of prickles outside and the bitterness of wormwood within. This is wonderful. It has been prettily observed that a Christian should be like the sun, which does good, not by noise, but by shining.

Another wonder is the manner in which woman is brought before the public. We all know woman has a mind of her own. Some of the most striking events the world has ever known have had their origin from women. But she appears in the public prints in a new role.

We delight to trace the feelings, and even some of the faults of females, when they are feminine, for when faults are found—as they are the common lot of humanity—we expect to find them less glaring than in the other sex. But when women assume the masculine character, we find them off their ground. They are out of place, although they may not act out of character. They may excite mirth from some, but the pity of refined and well-bred men surely awaits them. The stern heart of man requires delicacy and modesty in woman. She can not raise the stone and erect the pyramid, but she can give a polish peculiar and delightful. Woman has less force than man, but far more fortitude. It is Christianity that has elevated the female character to its proper dignity. A woman never shines in talking politics. And as to her religion, she always appears most elevated in action, and not in discussion. The precipitate curiosity of Mother Eve may stand as an example of feminine religious disquisition. I am in wonderland, and await developments.

S.

Correspondence.

Commencement of East Mississippi Female College.

The twenty-sixth session of this institution closed June 10, after one of the most prosperous years in its history. On Sunday, at eleven o'clock, Dr. J. M. Weems preached one of the most appropriate and impressive sermons it has ever been our good fortune to hear. Its application to mankind in general, and to the young ladies going out to do duty in a busy world especially, met with great favor. At 8 P. M. Bro. Van Hook delivered a sermon before the Missionary Society which evinced careful preparation and was good to edifying.

The alumnæ gathering on Monday night was a decided success. While we looked upon the splendid company on the stage we could but think what a power for good to their alma mater these could be. The pupils of the Music Department entertained their friends in their annual concert on Tuesday evening. The verdict of all was that our director in that department, Miss North, had done a work worthy of the highest appreciation.

On Wednesday morning the Senior Class, with essays and music, occupied the time from 10:30 to 12 o'clock. As setting forth the work done and advancement made by this class this was, perhaps, the most interesting hour of the season.

At 8 P. M., Wednesday, were the graduating exercises. The speaker of the occasion, Dr. Muckenfuss, of Millsaps College, showed his thorough acquaintance with his especial branch in a very interesting address upon the "Advance of Scientific Thought." His words were chaste and well chosen, his thoughts were of high order, and his manner easy. While, doubtless, some were listless, the thinking ones pronounced his address most excellent indeed. We rejoice to know that our Millsaps College has so strong and aggressive a scholar at the head of her Science Department.

Diplomas were delivered to nine young ladies, all of whom go out with the most hearty endorsement of the faculty. Some of them have been with us three years, and all two, and we predict for them each success in their future course.

And now, Mr. Editor, while from personal reasons it becomes necessary for us to sever our connection with the institution, we bespeak for it a hearty support from the Methodists of East Mississippi.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Baton Rouge District Conference.

The District Conference of Baton Rouge district met at Greensburg on June 18, and adjourned on the twentieth. There was a good attendance of preachers and laymen. The reports showed the different charges were progressing along right lines. Our new presiding elder, our Will Tucker, gave eminent satisfaction as "sub-Bishop." This writer was elected secretary, and W. S. Holmes, of Baton Rouge, his assistant. As Bro. Holmes is a ready penman, you can imagine who did the work. The following were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: H. C. Newsom, R. J. Thoms, W. B. Romeds, and W. T. Holland. Alternates: W. S. Holmes and R. Babingtou. Strong resolutions were adopted against the repeal of the Sunday law, which the Conference requests you to publish. The ADVOCATE and its editor were not forgotten, as the following resolution shows:

Resolved, That we give the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE a ringing endorsement, and pledge its editor our hearty aid and co-operation.

Johnston Collegiate Institute was taken under the wing of this Conference. This first session furnishes sufficient grounds for reason of its existence. A splendid building erected, and ninety-nine students in attendance, is the record for the season just closed. Here a high school education is in the reach of one with the most limited means. The Conference heartily endorsed it, and recommended it to all the Methodists of the district.

All the sessions of the Conference were pleasant, and all was done in a brotherly spirit. There was preaching at noon and evening. Bro. C. W. Carter, D. D.; J. F. Foster, J. J. Kelley, C. C. Miller, H. W. Rickey, and E. T. Denson did the preaching. Need I say it was able, instructive, and spiritual?

Could not attend Sunday's services, but was told it was a time of great rejoicing and blessing.

The hospitality of the people of Greensburg was unbounded. The Conference prayed "that the divine guidance should attend each one and the divine blessing abide in each home."

I wish you could have been with us to see what a good time we "piney-woods" Methodists can have.

ISAAC D. WALL.

Clinton, La

A Delicate, but Important Matter.

To the Brethren of the Mississippi Conference:

At our last session your Missionary Board, including all our presiding elders, requested Bro. T. L. Mellen to act as "field secretary" without salary. He was given regular pastoral work to do, or get done by others during his absences. All regretted that our financial straitness precluded employing all his time by paying him a living salary from our treasury. Unfortunately, this was heavily on the minus side of the equation. Bro. Mellen has kindly consented to travel somewhat where he is most needed and wanted. Already he has done some yeoman service in this field without reckoning the cost to himself. We ought not—we must not—let him to do this good work at his own charges. Wherever he goes he leaves deep impress and stronger conviction of duty to support our missions at home and abroad. We, and all the people he is thus serving faithfully, owe it to our self-respect that we, at least, bear his expenses. If any more come in, 'twill not be misapplied. He who is thus serving us in our Master's work should not be embarrassed by lack of means, nor by public collections for his benefit. A word to the wise is enough. This new departure is authorized by our Discipline of "1894." (See paragraph 358.) We trust it may result in a large increase in missionary contributions, wherever our "field secretary" goes.

Your brother in the work,

J. P. DRAKE,
Recording Secretary.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf..Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison..Shreveport

The Conference of the W. F. M. Society of the Holly Springs district, North Mississippi Conference, convened in Red Banks, May 8, 1896, with our loved and consecrated sister, Mary Hargrove, presiding. Welcome was written on all faces as we, the delegates and visitors, entered the depot and church. After listening to inspiring hymns by the choir, Sister Hargrove opened with devotional exercises and gave a most inspiring talk. Roll call found of the thirteen societies in the district eleven represented; all reported to be in comparatively good working order. Our district secretary reported a falling off in the finances, and two new societies organized.

The morning session now adjourned for refreshments. The beautiful grove surrounding the church was filled with people. So many gentlemen, with their families, honored this woman's Saturday meeting with their presence, that we felt greatly encouraged, thinking that they must be interested in our work to leave their crops at this busy season. Under the shade of wide-spreading oaks a most sumptuous dinner was prepared for all. While we partook of their generous hospitality we could but wish that henceforth each one would be as much interested in dispensing the Bread of Life to our heathen brothers and sisters in foreign lands as they were in ministering to our physical wants. At the evening session a good paper was read by Sistor Farr; subject: "How to Make Our Societies More Interesting." The question-box was now opened, causing animated discussion, by which we were both amused and edified as we gathered a knowledge of the needs of our work. Sister Hargrove urged the claims of the W. M. Advocate and Little Worker upon the homes of the district, believing them to be the open sesame of missionary knowledge.

At early lamp-light the new church bell again invited us to church, and we were again made welcome to this hospitable Christian community by Mrs. Honston in an address of welcome. The reply of Mrs. Carrie W. Smith echoed the thoughts of our hearts, but words could not express our feelings. The greeting by Miss Freddie Thoums warmed our hearts with new life, and we seemed to be sitting together in heavenly places. Even the children had something for our entertainment and edification; the Little Lighters shining into the darkness of heathen lands, and showing how faith, hope, love, and other Christian graces were lighting up the darkest places, closing with the hymn, "Let the lower lights be burning."

It was now in order to nominate a place for our next meeting, and Byhalia was chosen.

Sunday morning dawned bright and clear. On reaching the church, we found several classes in their places, and all seemed to take interest in the Sunday-school lesson. Bro. Oakley, of Holly Springs, preached at eleven o'clock to a large, attentive audience, from the text, "Wherefore He hath given Him a name above every other name," etc., causing us to again rejoice that we were subjects of such a King.

The evening service was particularly attractive, as it was for the children, a large number of them being present. Sister Hargrove interested them and us with specimens of the worship of heathen lands—idols, Chinese lady's foot, and marriage service. She organized a juvenile society, called the "Little Lighters," with Mrs. Power as lady manager.

Sunday night Sister Hargrove addressed the young people, comparing their rights and Christian privileges with the young people of heathen lands. Words fail to describe her touching pathos as she pictured the lives of women and girls without the elevating influences of the religion of Christ, pleading with them to join us in this work of woman for woman. May they realize their obligation to Christ, and, knowing that it is only by and through him that woman has, or ever will be, what God intended her to be, give their young, fresh lives to his service. This address closed our district meeting. While the choir sang, "God be with you," sweet good-byes were spoken, hopes expressed for better work this year, with pleasant anticipations for the meeting at Byhalia. We parted with the Christians friends of Red Banks, never again to be strangers, but co-workers together for the advancement of Christ's kingdom.

MRS. J. P. FRANKLIN.

Selections.

In God's Atmosphere.

There is an earthly, and also a heavenly, atmosphere. No true life abounds in the earthly atmosphere; the highest, purest, sweetest and strongest life thrives and throbs in the heavenly. But we do not need to go to heaven to find and enjoy the heavenly atmosphere. It has been brought down to us by the soul of Christ and the breath of the Holy Spirit. God's atmosphere is created wherever his presence finds abiding-place, and wherever a Christian soul will hold communion with him. True, God is everywhere, in the sense that he sees all things, and that all things are upheld by his power; but there are certain places where he is specially present; where he has promised to meet his loving and loved people. It is in the prayer-room, in the consecrated closet, in the hallowed sanctuary, and even in the solitary by-places where the devout heart yearns to pour out its ardent adorations into the ear of a listening Father. There is a peculiar atmosphere in such places. It is the atmosphere of God. Dr. Arnold, of Rugby, said, "We too much live, as it were, out of God's atmosphere." Indeed we do! And it often betrays itself in our speech, our lack of spirituality, and our leanness of life. Let us get into it, and keep there.—Zion's Herald.

The Spirit of Love.

There is no greater evidence of the presence of the Lord in his people than the spirit of love; and there is no sweeter testimony to God and his glorious grace than the reconciliation of strife and the healing of mutual wrongs.

"Behold, how good a thing it is, and how pleasant, for brethren to dwell together in unity; for there the Lord commandeth a blessing, even life forevermore."—Episcopal Recorder.

There are some of us old-fashioned Christians who still believe that a loving God creates dark nights as well as bright noondays; that he not only permits trouble, but sometimes sends troubles on his own children for their spiritual profit. As many as he loves, he sometimes corrects and chastens. And a truly filial faith recognizes that all his dealings are perfectly right. "Happy is the man who God correcteth; therefore despise not thou the chastenings of the Almighty." I have seen a farmer drive his plowshare through a velvet greensward, and it looked like a harsh, cruel process; but the farmer's eye foresaw the springing blades of wheat, and that within a few months that torn soil would laugh with a golden harvest. Deep soul-plowings bring rich fruit of the Spirit.... The day is God's, and night also. This is as true in the realm of grace as in the realm of nature. God orders the withdrawal of the sun at evening time, yet that very withdrawal reveals new glories in the midnight sky. Then, how the creation widens to our view! The stars that lay concealed behind the noontide rays rush out and fill the spangled canopy. So in the night seasons which often descend upon the Christian, fresh glories of the divine love are revealed, fresh power is given to our faith, fresh victories are won, and a new development is made of godly character.... Bethany had to become a dark town to two poor women before Jesus could flood it with joy. Before Gethsemane's midnight struggle Christ himself chanted a hymn; and happy is the man or woman who can go into life's hard battle singing! The ear of God hears no sublimer music than a Christian's song in the night.—Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D.

There are reasons when, for the moment at least, the power of the world seems to drop. A strange and awful sense of responsibility comes upon us. We long for a higher and holier life. The vanity of the world, the worth of virtue, the goodness of God, and the peace of a trusting and devout heart are revealed to us. It is a heavenly vision open before the soul. These hours, when the soul is freed from its bonds and holds communion with truth and God, . . . are blessed hours, which, if obeyed, shall raise the soul upward to heaven.

Delight, enthusiasm, hope, content—these are the true conditions of a Christian life, just as song is the true condition of the bird, or color of the rose. But just as the bird is still a bird although he can not sing, and the rose is still a rose although its red grows dull and faded in some dark, close room where it is compelled to grow—so the Christian is a Christian still, even although his soul is dark with doubt, and he goes staggering on, fearing every moment that he will fall, never daring to look up and hope.—Phillips Brooks.

Duty is a power which rises with us in the morning, and goes to rest with us at night. It is co-extensive with the action of our intelligence. It is the shadow which cleaves to us, go where we will, and which leaves us when we leave the light of life.—Gladstone.

Every day in this world has its work; and every day as it rises out of eternity keeps putting to each of us the question afresh: What will you do before to-day has sunk into eternity and nothingness again?—Frederick W. Robertson.

The late Charles Pratt said to Dr. Cuyler several years ago: "The greatest humbug in the world is the idea that money can make a man happy. I never had any satisfaction with mine until I began to do good with it."

A child of ordinary capacity and destitute of property, but converted to God in childhood, is frequently worth more to the church than ten wealthy men converted at the noon of life.—Selected.

A true perception of the gospel is the entire forgetfulness of self, utter absence of any pretension, and the complete and entire refusal to accept the world's praise or judgment.—General Gordon.

God never wrought miracles to convince atheism, because his ordinary works convince it.—Bacon.

National economy.

There's room for a little more of it. Too many women are wasting time and strength over a wash-board; rubbing their clothes to pieces; wasting their money. You'd be astonished if you could figure up the actual money saying in a year by the use of Pearline.

Millions of women are using it now, but just suppose that all women were equally careful and thrifty, and that every one used Pearline (use no soap)! It's too much to hope for—but the whole country would be the richer for it. 473

MILLIONS NOW USE PEARLINE

JAMES PYLE'S PEARLINE WASHING COMPOUND THE GREAT INVENTION FOR SAVING TOIL & EXPENSE WITHOUT INJURY TO THE TEXTURE COLOR OR HANDS. NEW YORK.

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO., Limited,

518-520 Camp St., New Orleans.

Resolutions on the Repeal of the Sunday Law.

Whereas, The continental Sunday is a foreign immigrant to our shores that we heartily desire to see forever excluded, while the American Sunday is the protectress of the home, the anchor of liberty, the encircling hope of the nation, and stands for the reverential recognition of the sovereign Ruler of destinies and empires. It is the ministering spirit of rest to mind, heart and body; it holds within loving embrace a priceless heritage of the noble, true and beautiful things bequeathed us by the blood of the bravest and best sons of the Revolution. The Sabbath bells mingle their notes in plaintive harmony, inviting the laborer from the field, the clerk from the desk, the sorrowing widow to God's temple, where heart beats with heart in exultant praise to the Father of spirits. The French nation abolished the Sabbath and heaped contempt on this imperial day; but the needs of the soul, the demands of wearied physical nature forced them to re-instate by legislation this day of physical, mental and spiritual re-invigoration.

Cursed be the day when we rob the toiler of his meed of rest, the family of its sacred, permeating influences, and suffer capital to turn labor into a beast, a mere machine, out of which to grind weeks of unremitting serfdom.

Resolved, As a District Conference, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session assembled at Greenshurg, La., we project, as one man, a united, burning protest against the effort to repeal the Sunday Law. We denounce, with all the earnestness of our souls, that such a repeal will be subversive of good morals and antagonistic to good government, a blow directed at the very heart of home life.

Resolved, That we call upon our representatives, in the name of God, Louisiana and home, to exert their utmost influence against this infamous effort to repeal the Sunday Law, and petition them to stand as a Leonidas hand, set for the invincible defense of the American Sabbath for Americans.

REV. H. W. RICKEY,
REV. C. C. MILLER,
COL. I. D. WALL,
Committee.

The session at the University of Mississippi, which closed on June 3, was the most successful in its history. Two hundred and seventy-one students were enrolled in all departments. There are no preparatory courses. Never before has the enrollment of students above preparatory grade been so large, and the total enrollment has not been so great since 1883, when 116 preparatory students were counted.

Read This!

I have collected by request of friends my "Reminiscences" for nearly fifty years in the ministry. Have extensive genealogies of noble families, illustrious in the history of Methodism in Mississippi.

I want those who desire these Reminiscences to aid me in raising the money by depositing one or two dollars with Capital State Bank to the amount of $70—the expense of printing. I have been at expense to accomplish this work, and I must have help.

June 25, 1896.

[We suppose the above is from Bro. H. J. Harris; but it came without his signature.—EDITOR.]

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. G. S. Morehead, Cascilla, Miss., June 15: "I am moving along nicely with my work. Have a large territory to ride over and preach, but I enjoy it. We have two Epworth Leagues organized on my charge in good working order. I think they will prove a blessing to our charge. We are moving along with our Sunday-schools nicely. Thank God for such a church as ours. I love her doctrines, rules, discipline, and all of her machinery. A young preacher has his dark hours to pass through. But our blessed Lord said to his disciples, 'Blessed are ye whomsoever shall revile you, persecute you falsely for my name's sake.' Thank God for that sweet word of that verse. How it thrills my soul with joy! We have some young ladies on my work that are consecrated to God, as much so as any I ever saw. We had a glorious time while at District Conference in Grenada. The good Bishop Galloway was there. God bless you."

Rev. H. T. Cunningham, Coldwater and Hernando, North Mississippi Conference, June 19: "By order of presiding elder and Bishop we came to Coldwater on Feb. 13, from the Tyro charge to take the place of our departed brother, Rev. T. B. Hargrove. This consecrated servant of God and his no less consecrated wife have left an abiding impress upon this people, whose hearts yet bleed over their irreparable loss. Everywhere we have seen the touch of skillful hands. Our work progresses well. Revival services have been held in both towns, with eleven accessions at Coldwater, but none at Hernando. However, the church in both places has been quickened. We needed at least another week at Hernando, as we brought the services to a close somewhat against our better judgment, because of unforeseen conditions. We mean to resume revival services there in the early Fall. Connectional claims about all provided for. All the woman's societies and woman's prayer meetings in operation. We acknowledge valuable help of W. S. Lagrone, at Coldwater, and G. H. Lipscomb, at Hernando."

OBITUARIES.

FOUNTAIN—Bro. J. B. FOUNTAIN, of Columbia, Miss., was born Feb. 28, 1821, and died June 7, 1896.

Bro. Fountain had been a faithful member of the Baptist Church for fifty-five years, and for many years was deacon; was a Mason and devout Christian. His life has written its own history.

Bro. Fountain had long been a sufferer, and had borne it all with Christian fortitude. He was laid to rest near his church door, where his body will sleep until resurrection of the just. He leaves a wife and two sons (at home), two married daughters, Dr. Fonntain, of Pearlington, and a host of friends to keep sacred his memory.

His pastor,
JNO. P. CULPEPPER.

Columbia, Miss.

SEALS—Mrs. LEONA, wife of Walter Seals, of Evergreen, Avoyelles parish, La., daughter of Rev. Fred White, long a member of the Louisiana Conference, died Dec 23, 1895. She was born Feb. 5, 1870.

Her young life was one of usefulness; the law of kindness was the law of her life. When but a child in the home of her father (it was never the privilege of the writer to visit her after she married) her face beamed with sunny smiles for all. Her husband writes: "A dear, good wife and devoted mother leaves four little girls, baby three months old, with grandparents." Ah, the sorrow of a happy home broken! "Heaven only can heal." She loved her church and preacher.

Much could truthfully be said and written of this good women. Enough for us is to know, "God took her." Let us live by faith in him. S. H. WHATLEY.

HUGHES—MARTHA F. HUGHES, wife of J. W. Hughes, was born in Kemper county, Miss., March 16, 1835; was married to Joel W. Hughes, Oct. 2, 1851, in Lauderdale county, Miss.; was converted and joined the M. E Church, South, in 1852; lived up to the faith until her departure for the home of the blessed, which occurred June 17, 1896, in Smith county, Miss. Funeral sermon and burial services by the writer, June 19, 1896, in Smith county, Miss.

Sister Hughes was very useful in the community where she lived; was a doctress; was foremost in good works as a church member; will be very much missed, not only in her immediate family circle, but in the church and community generally. Said to the writer only a short time before she passed away, that she was ready and willing to go and be with Christ. This writer was her pastor as far back as 1857 and 1858; again in 1872, and four successive years since. Always found her at the post of duty as a church member. The congregation that attended her funeral demonstrated the high estimation had for her in the community. Leaves a stricken husband, four living children, all members of their mother's church. R. A. SIBLEY, SR.

MULKEY—Whereas, God, in his all-wise providence, has visited our little flock at Gayden Church, on the Wilson circuit, of the Louisiana Conference, and taken from our church and Sunday-school to a better home and happier associations in heaven our brother, MARTIN A. MULKEY, who joined the church and Sunday-school in September, 1894, taking up his cross at once, and carrying it faithfully, doing any and everything that he could for the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom until April 4, 1896, when he was called upon to give up the toils, cares and pleasures of this life for a life that is forever freed from every anxiety and pain, a life beyond the reach of death, a life with God; therefore, be it

Resolved, That by his death the church has lost a faithful worker, the Sunday-school a good student, and the community one who bid fair to make a true citizen.

Resolved, That we tender the father, mother, two brothers and afflicted relatives our warmest Christian sympathy in this, their first sorrow, and humbly pray that God may, in his great love, sanctify this affliction to the upbuilding of his kingdom in our community.

(Signed)
D. W. McLEAN, Sup.,
For Committee.

(Continued on Seventh Page.)

Pure

Blood means sound health. With pure, rich, healthy blood, the stomach and digestive organs will be vigorous, and there will no Dyspepsia, Rheumatism or Neuralgia. Scrofula and Salt Rheum will disappear. Your nerves will be strong, sleep sound and refreshing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. That is why it cures so many diseases. That is why thousands take it to cure disease, retain good health. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

When a man goes to war he willingly and knowingly takes his life in his hands. Death waits for him on every hand, and he goes to meet it calmly and fearlessly. He has offered his life, and he is willing to give it. In ordinary affairs, a man's life is pledged in another way. He assumes obligations that he must live to fulfill. Carelessness of health in this case is worse than undue carelessness would be in war. It is every man's duty to preserve his health to the fullest, and to live as long as he can. The sick man can't do a man's full duty in the world. A man who is weak from loss of flesh, whose nerves are run down, whose blood is impure, who shows from his sunken cheeks and hollow eyes and lingering cough that he is on the direct road to death or consumption, can in no way perform the full duties of a man. If he lets these things go on, it is because he prefers disease to health—death to life. He can be cured surely and quickly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thousands and thousands of people have testified to the wonderful effects of this most marvelous medicine.

Dr. Pierce's great work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," may now be obtained, paper-covered, absolutely free, by any one who will send 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. If you desire French cloth, embossed covers, send 10 cents extra (31 cents in all) for that more handsome and more substantial binding.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Holman Bible at $1.25.

By buying in wholesale quantities we are able to make the following reduction in our Emerald-type Holman Bible. This Bible we have sold heretofore at $1.50. We now offer it at $1.25 to those who pay their subscription a full year in advance—that is, to July, '97. We do not advise any person who has passed the meridian of life to get this Bible, on account of the smallness of the print. For young persons, however, it will answer as well as the more expensive styles. It has all the helps of the larger sizes. Address

REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75 AND $2.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to July, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2.45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for $5—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The ADVOCATE and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1.25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is July, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31. GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Our Oldest Citizen

Never saw the time when he could get pure, first-class Groceries as cheap as he now can at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,

Corner Thalia.

TEXAS EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7:25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED 9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST. 4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS. ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 1st, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene immediately after close of Camp Meeting, and run through July 31. A splendid program has been prepared.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visitor from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
M. F. TUCKER, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are Authorized Agents, in whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. F. LEWIS.
REV. E. J. JONES.
REV. E. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. O. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
6 ..	1	75 00	90 00
8 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, July 2, 1896.

Who'll Be the Next?

An appreciation of the urgent necessity of a well equipped Science Hall at Millsaps College, one of the most intelligent laymen of the Mississippi Conference writes me by to-day's mail: "I will be one of sixty to raise the $3,000 needed. Put me down. Cash transaction, or as you can best arrange for others." Already we have subscriptions to that fund of nearly $600. Surely the hosts of Mississippi Methodists can not afford to allow so generous offers for such necessary apparatus to go unimproved. Out of the 250 pastors in the two Conferences, certainly there are forty who might secure from individuals, or assume and collect from church, $50 for this purpose.

The original proposition from Major Millsaps was to pay one-half of amount necessary to erect the Science Hall. Seeing the pressing need of such a building at the late commencement, he generously donated $10,000, upon which work at once begins upon the building.

After such liberality on the part of one man, how can our church refuse to respond to this meager call and respect herself? "Men of Israel, help." Brethren of the pulpit and the pew, let me hear from you soon.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Meridian, Miss., June 25 1896.

A Wise Man.

A few months ago Rev. Sheldon Jackson, a Presbyterian missionary, gave $50,000 to establish a college in Utah. Great surprise has been expressed at two things: First, that a missionary should be able to give $50,000; second, that he should put it into a college in the United States rather than into missionary enterprises.

The explanations are significant. Although Dr. Jackson had spent nearly all his life in missionary work, first in the West when it was a wilderness, and later in Alaska, where he accomplished marvels both for the souls and bodies of the natives, he had made it a rule to live within his income, and when he inherited a small fortune, instead of using it for himself, he invested it until it became a considerable sum, and then believing that it was wiser to give during his lifetime, he made a more permanent investment in a Christian college.

While he contributed of money and effort to direct missionary work, he realized that without a Christian education our country would furnish neither missionaries nor money; he therefore determined to provide for a continued supply of consecrated men and spiritualized money by founding the most enduring of institutions, a Christian college.

He that hath brains to think, let him think.—A. C. Miller, in Arkansas Methodist.

Self-denial and humility will never, perhaps, become popular, but they are, nevertheless, essential elements of true holiness.

Christian Sympathy.

Sympathy is only another name for love, being one of its various manifestations. A measure of it exists in every human breast, but not until Christ is enthroned in the heart does it blossom into fullness of beauty. Just as the sunlight when decomposed by the raindrops forms the lovely rainbow with its various colors; so love when analyzed is seen to manifest itself in the several fruits of the Spirit, such as joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, temperance. Conspicuous among these is sympathy, which may be defined as "a feeling of compassion for the sufferings or evils of others." It is that kindly interest in our fellow-men which makes us sharers of their joys and sorrows.

Worldly sympathy is hardly more than a feeling of pity for those in affliction or need, and seldom goes farther than the shedding of a few tears, or the contribution of a few dimes. It is occasional and superficial, expressing itself only when the objects of its exercise are brought immediately and persistently before its notice. Christian sympathy is habitual and spontaneous, and seeks other objects for its manifestation than simply one's own relatives and intimate friends. "For if ye love them which love you," says the Savior, "what thank have ye? For sinners also love those that love them." If we sympathize only with those who are ready in turn to sympathize with us, how much better are we than those who know not the constraining love of Christ?

Dark indeed is the life of the man or the woman for whom nobody cares or seems to care. Yet in the struggle for existence there are thousands who rarely, if ever, hear a kind word, or meet with an encouraging smile. No wonder that from time to time some lonely unfortunate, "weary of breath," takes his own life. True it is, as the poet sings, that

"Down in the human heart,
Crushed by the tempter,
Feelings lie buried
That grace can restore:
Touched by a loving hand,
Wakened by kindness,
Chords that were broken
Will vibrate once more."

Every afflicted soul longs for sympathy, but the world, cruelly cold and mercilessly selfish, gives it not. Christians must seek to rise above the miasmatic influence of selfishness, and live perpetually in an atmosphere of brotherly interest in the welfare of all, especially of those we live among. A minister was one day writing a sermon, when his little boy suddenly came in and held up a bleeding finger for his inspection. The father looked up for a moment, and then calmly went on with his writing. The little fellow's bosom heaved with emotion at being treated with such indifference, and presently he turned to go, exclaiming as he did so, "Papa, you might have said, 'Oh!'" Does it not occasionally happen in the experience of all of us that some heart remains burdened, some life remains cheerless, because we are so absorbed in our own plans and in pleasure seeking that we neglect to speak a cheering word or lend a helping hand when the opportunity presents itself? Like the father mentioned above who thought little of the wound on his child's finger, we make light of the sorrows and trials of others, and turn impatiently to our own employments.

A man may be just and honorable and clean in his life; but if he be unsympathetic, he will not have many friends, neither will he be able to wield a wide influence for good. Opportunities for the exercise of this grace are as frequent as the Gulf breezes, and as numerous as the hours.

Sympathy is more than a profession of interest in the condition of the distressed, more than the giving of relief. It means true fellowship—a courteous and cordial bearing toward the lowly and unfortunate, especially of one's own church. If, as churchmen, we are cordial and sympathetic only with the people of our set, of our way of thinking, we foster the spirit of caste and aristocracy, and do the cause of Christ infinite harm.

The extremely poor stand far more in need of work and of encouraging words than they do of alms. Oftentimes, however, our sympathy must take a more practical turn than words, wishes, and visits, however cheering these may be. A poor drayman in a large city, by an accident, lost his horse, which was his only dependence for a living. Several by-standers were expressing their pity for him, when one of the crowd took his hat and passed it around, saying as he did so: "I am sorry five dollars' worth. How much are you sorry?" The result was that the unfortunate man soon had enough money to buy him another horse. That was sympathy of the genuine stamp.

Sympathy can not always be manifested in the same way. In some instances a simple pressure of the hand, or a look of compassion may be far more efficacious than profuse protestations of interest. Some times silence is more eloquent and comforting than the spoken word. Not every professed Christian is fitted to be a comforter. Some persons are sadly lacking in tact and in the finer sensibilities, so that their words instead of being a balm to soothe, open the wound afresh. We may not have an enemy in the world, we may not wish evil to any man, and still be wanting in the power to sympathize by reason of the coldness of our hearts. The man in whom the love of God glows may not be gifted with judgment, but his sincerity and warmth will oft atone for his lack of discretion when he attempts to cheer the downcast.

The best sympathizers are those who have themselves suffered. In his second letter to the Corinthians, Paul exclaims: "Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them who are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God."

Like the other graces, sympathy is cultivable. Those who have but a small stock may increase it more and more, until their very presence is a benediction, and their faces beam with saintly benignity and tender mercy.

"The primal duties shine aloft like stars,
The charities that soothe and heal and bless
Lie scattered at the feet of men like flowers."

Keep Up the Fight.

The saloonists and their sympathizers are still doing their utmost to secure the passage by the Legislature of such an amendment to the present excellent Sunday law as will permit the grog shops to run in full blast on the Lord's day. We are sorry to say that the House Judiciary Committee has reported favorably on the said amendment, despite the fact that the majority of the citizens of this city are opposed to any change whatsoever. The matter has not yet come up for final action, but it is to be hoped that when it does the wisdom, patriotism, and moral sense of the legislators of the Pelican State will cause them to regard the appeals of the best citizens of the commonwealth, and declare unequivocally for the law as it stands.

It is high time for the bar-room crowd to be shown that they can not shape laws to suit themselves. They have had far too many favors already. Now they come wanting exemption from Sunday closing on the plea that the poor man is being discriminated against in the matter of obtaining liquor on Sunday. Does not everybody know that the law applies to club saloons, where the rich are supposed to get their drink, as well as to the low groggeries? Away with such nonsense. Great protectors of the poor are these saloon men!

The liquor business has no more right to plead for Sunday exemption than any other business. If we allow an exception to be made in their case, we might as well say, "Good bye, Sunday law." The truth is, the temptation to drink is far greater on Sunday to those so inclined, if the saloons be allowed to keep open, than on any other day, for the majority of the laboring men have just received their week's wages, and have more time to hang around the saloons.

The most astonishing thing of all is that, a few days ago, four police commissioners of this city had the audacity to appear before the House Committee and plead for the proposed amendment on the ground that the law could not be enforced. It is true that while hundreds of indictments have been filed up against the liquor sellers for violations of this law, not one case has been tried, the fault being with the higher officials who have winked at these violations all along. But have we not now a new city government and new court officials? Let the police do their duty, and the public will uphold them. If there is failure anywhere, the people will threw the blame where it belongs.

Representative Todd, of this city, deserves no little commendation for his bold stand before the House Committee in reply to the representations of the police commissioners. Among other things, he said that the reason the present law was not enforced was because the authorities have not had the courage to do so, and that if the Police Board could not enforce the laws, they had better resign. He thinks it is time the saloon men, who have been violating the law for years, were made to respect it. A pretty spectacle is this for officers of the law to be working with might and main for an amendment, in order that they may have an easy time!

The enemies of the Sunday law, in order to carry their point before the Legislature, have been circulating the report that the Sunday Rest League some time ago requested District Attorney Butler not to push the prosecution of violations of this law. The League, on last Friday, however, denounced the report as false, and drew up a strong memorial to the Legislature opposing any alteration or amendment. The grocery clerks have sent in a ringing petition, and other organizations are following suit. Let the good people all over the State, in associative and individual capacity, continue to deluge the Legislature with petitions, memorials, and appeals for the law as it is, and their representatives will not dare to go against their wishes. Let us fight it out on this line "if it takes all Summer."

Aberdeen District Conference.

It was our good fortune to attend the Aberdeen District Conference. We reached Aberdeen on Friday evening, about eight o'clock. That night we had the pleasure of hearing a good sermon, well-prepared and well-delivered, by Rev. G. W. Gordon. Next morning, at half-past eight, we found the Conference in session with Presiding Elder Thames in the chair. Bro. Thames makes a capital presiding officer. At ten o'clock the routine business was suspended in order to hear from the college men present—Drs. Standifer, Malone and Murrah; who were listened to with profound interest.

At eleven o'clock Conference adjourned for preaching. The sermon, an excellent one, was by Rev. J. W. Malone.

At the afternoon session the editor of the ADVOCATE was given a hearing. We make no attempt at reporting the proceedings, as we have the promise of a write-up from the pen of the efficient secretary, Rev. W. W. Woollard. At night we were favored with an elaborate and thoughtful discourse from Bro. Woollard.

The pulpit was filled Sunday at eleven by Dr. Murrah, who was at his best. He closed the services by taking a collection for Millsaps College. That night this scribe made "a few feeble remarks."

During our stay in Aberdeen we were most delightfully entertained in the hospitable home of Bro. F. T. Jenkins, to whom and to his charming family we are indebted for many courtesies. We also enjoyed the hospitalities of our old friends, Bro. and Sister Thames.

Bro. Jenkins was licensed to preach by the District Conference. As he is a man of large means and president of a National Bank, his entrance into the ministry is somewhat out of the usual order. The pastor, Rev. Amos Kendall, is in high favor with his flock and with the community at large. This was our first visit to Aberdeen. It is somewhat larger than we had supposed, having a population of about 4,000. It is a thrifty place in a commercial way, and is a center of culture and refinement. Our stay being very short, and our time being taken up with business matters, we were unable to do what we very much desired to do—call upon that venerable mother in Israel, Sister Paine, widow of our beloved Bishop Paine.

Bro. S. M. Broyles, of the North Mississippi Conference, is quite ill at an infirmary in Aberdeen. Fervent prayers were offered during the Conference for his recovery.

Many a man who denounces existing institutions, and abuses those who differ with him in opinion and policy, himself lacks the power to organize and build up. It is far easier to assail and destroy than to establish and perpetuate. Ridicule and vituperation are the favorite weapons of the ignorant and intolerant.

A New Book.

THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE, and Other Sermons. By [illegible], pastor of the Collegiate Reformed Church, New York. Wilbur B. Ketcham, publisher. 8 vo., crown, 381 pages.

The title of this book is, perhaps, justified by the references to be found throughout to events that are passing and to topics that are holding the attention of men, though so rapid is the course of history in our own times that it seems a little old to read of the bloody war "now going on in China," in a volume from the press but a few weeks. How far from the spirit of secularity that distinguishes the age this book is appears in the preface, from which we quote: "The supreme end of preaching is to answer two questions which throb in the universal heart, to wit, 'What shall I do to be saved?' and, 'How may I grow unto the full stature of manhood?' There is no salvation except by faith in Jesus Christ, and the only hope of character is in following him. In preaching, therefore, as in living, we must make everything of Christ. He is first, last, midst, and all in all."

The sermons are both doctrinal and practical. They will be instructive and helpful to busy men and women. They are not specially adapted to clergymen and students.

F. S. P.

NOTES.

A Jewish rabbi opened the Republican Convention with prayer. Does that mean liberality or anti-Christ?—Holston Methodist.

In the Methodist Church of Canada a young preacher is on probation five years, two of which must be spent in college and three on a circuit.

It is announced that Bishop Hendrix will soon make a visit to the Pacific Coast on important business connected with our Board of Missions.

Sister Ahrens, wife of Dr. J. B. A. Ahrens, will start in about a week for her native land across the sea—Germany. She will be absent several months.

Rev. H. G. Scudday, evangelist of Tyler, Texas, is conducting a revival at Jordan Street Church, Shreveport, La. The interest is good and increasing.

Bishop Keener is reported to have said of Bishop Vincent's recent commencement sermon at the Vanderbilt: "It took twenty years to make that sermon, and few men could make it in that time."

At the recent commencement of the Southern University, of Greensboro, Ala., the degree of D. D. was conferred on Rev. A. J. Lamar, of Selma, Ala., and on Rev. Warner Moore, of the Memphis Conference.

One of the most practical and praiseworthy things that the Salvation Army has ever done is that it has established in the United States mills and factories that give steady employment to eleven thousand persons.

There is a vast difference between the courage of the prophet who is sure he has a word from the Lord, and the bluster of a braggart who would make people believe that he has a word from the Lord.—Richmond Advocate.

Rev. Henry W. Van Hook, pastor of East End Church, Meridian, and Rev. T. W. Adams, of Moss Point, were visitors to the city last Tuesday, and favored us with a pleasant call. Both seemed to be in fine health and spirits.

Mrs. Amanda C. Campman, wife of Bro. J. H. Campman, died last week. She was a thoroughly exemplary Christian, a diligent worker in various departments of church activity. She was beloved by all who knew her. We sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lewis, of Meridian, Miss., will be greatly pained to learn of the death of their second son, John A. Lewis, Jr., which occurred on June 27 at Cooper's Wells, Miss. He was a young man of noble character and bright promise. The funeral took place at Meridian on Sunday, the twenty-eighth. May the God of all comfort sustain the father and mother and brothers and sisters in this sore bereavement!

Bishop Keener and family have removed to their summer home at Ocean Springs, Miss. Let his correspondents take note. Sister Keener's health is much improved.

A series of open-air meetings have been projected by the Epworth League of Parker Chapel and the Y. W. C. T. U. of the same church. The preaching will be done by the pastor of Parker Chapel and other city pastors whom he may invite. An organ for these services has been provided by the Epworth League. The outlook is regarded as favorable.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Mary Hopkins, wife of Dr. T. S. Hopkins, pastor of First Church, Atlanta, which occurred at their home, June 15. She was a woman of saintly character, and "abundant in good works." In her removal from earth the church, as well as her family, sustains an irreparable loss. We tender our sincere sympathy to our beloved brother and his family in this deep sorrow.

We call attention to the advertisement of Johnston Collegiate Institute, which appears in another column of this week's issue. This institution is brand-new and brimful of life, as is evidenced by its marvelous growth.

Greensburg is a beautiful little country town, ten miles west of Tangipahoa station, on the I. C. R. R., and is a good place for parents to put their children in school.

Emory College (Ga.) continues to advance. The attendance during the past session was so large that it has been found necessary to increase the faculty and facilities. Two new chairs have been added — one of biology, the other of history and political economy, to be named after the lamented Bishop Haygood. A new library building to cost $25,000 has been projected, nearly $8,000 of the amount needed being raised before the commencement was over. Rev. C. E. Dowman, of the South Georgia Conference, and Rev. C. A. Fullwood, of Florida, have just been honored by this institution with the degree of D. D.—honors worthily bestowed.

Letters just received from China by the bride's relatives, who live at Holly Springs, Miss., announce the marriage of Dr. Annie Walter, superintendent of the Women's Hospital at Soochow, to Dr. John Burrus Fearn, the medical missionary from the Mississippi Conference, in charge of the Men's Hospital at the same place. The happy event occurred about two months ago, the news, however, being rather slow in reaching us.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. L. Anderson, the presiding elder. The room, it is said, was crowded with Chinese and foreign guests, among them being the United States consul, who, in a neat little speech of congratulation, said that he considered it not only a pleasure, but an honor to witness the marriage of one who had won such an enviable name in so short a time as Dr. Annie had. The couple were the recipients of many elegant presents. Their Chinese friends presented them with two large steamer trunks full of Chinese valuables. Our best wishes go with the newly-wedded pair.

An English woman, whose husband was in India recently, called in the aid of her family physician. The doctor accused her of immoral conduct, and the lady promptly prosecuted for slander. The jury awarded her $60,000 damages, not only to compensate her, but also to punish the doctor for revealing a professional secret. The Medical Press, London, says: "It has always been regarded as a sacred and inviolable right appertaining to the profession of medicine, that the trust reposed in its members by those who consult them for their physical ills should never be betrayed. And it is one of its proudest traditions that this principle of honor should require no written law for its enforcement, and no judicial declaration to protect those who are guided by it. . . . Each medical breast is the repository of family secrets unknown to any other. To the 'doctor' alone is that dreaded 'skeleton in the cupboard' revealed, and rare indeed must be the occasions, and most exceptional the circumstances, that can justify a betrayal of that knowledge, even to a wife, much less to any interested or inquisitive outsider."

MUL-EN-OL is the most modern remedy for pain, and is free from all objectionable features of the old-time remedies. MUL-EN-OL tastes good, smells good, and does good. It soothes and cools, instead of irritating. It instantly quiets the pain, and effects a permanent cure.

MUL-EN-OL

Drives away every sort of pain—external or internal, in old or young. When you meet with an accident, or are attacked by sickness, MUL-EN-OL, if applied at once, will prevent it from becoming serious. Have it ready. Sold everywhere. Price 50c., $1.00, $2.00. Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Those Heathen Girls.

I have lately received and forwarded to Treasurer Holt, at Nashville, $20 for Lambuth Training-School at Kobe, Japan—$5 from an "incognito" friend in Greenfield, Tenn.; $5 from Rev. C. D. Cecil, of Anguilla, Miss., and $10 from Dr. Summerett and wife, of Jackson, Miss. We still have a number of subscriptions past due and waiting liquidation.

Brethren, please don't wait for any more personal appeals, but send in the checks promptly, and thus make many hearts glad. We need other subscriptions and cash about—$200. Who will rise to this great opportunity for dispensing the light and truth of Christian truth?

J. P. DRAKE.

Edwards, Miss.

Mrs. John H. Campman.

The death on Monday, June 22, 1896, of Mrs. John H. Campman, Treasurer of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference, removed from the Executive Committee one of its most efficient and faithful members. She was a model treasurer, and much of the success of our cause was due to her intelligent zeal and loving fidelity in the discharge of her duties. The Executive Committee will ever hold her memory precious, and have appointed a committee to prepare suitable resolutions regarding her decease in the midst of her eminently useful and devoted Christian career.

MRS. JOHN T. SAWYER,
For Executive Committee.

A Correction.

Please correct a mistake published in the Times-Democrat and also in the ADVOCATE. It was stated in both papers that J. W. Miller, of Jasper County, won one of the premiums at Millsaps College commencement. The J. W. Miller that won the medal, premium, is my son, and his home is Hermanville, Claiborne county Miss. Please correct and oblige.

Yours truly, A. D. MILLER.

Hermanville, Miss., June 26, 1896

If You Feel "All Played Out"
Take Horsford's Acid Phosphate.
It repairs broken nerve force, cures the brain and strengthens the stomach.

Notice.

Those who attend the District Conference, held at Ripley, Miss., July 1-2, will be returned at one cent per mile over the Gulf and Chicago Railroad.

Doctor, we expect you with us; do not disappoint us.

J. M. WYATT.

Ripley, Miss., June 25, 1896.

Announcement.

Delegates expecting to attend the annual meeting of the W. F. M. Society at Tupelo, should have their names sent to Mrs. Mattie McGaughey, Chairman of Committee of Arrangement.

MRS. S. DEAN.

Ice Cream Now Made in a Minute.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream perfectly in one minute; as it is such a wonder a child will always be around, so any one can make from five to six dollars per day selling cream, and from ten to twenty dollars a day selling Freezers, as people will always buy an article when it is demonstrated that they can make money by so doing. The cream is frozen instantly, and is smooth and free from lumps. I have done so well myself and have friends succeeding so well that I felt it my duty to let others know of this opportunity, as I feel confident that any person in any locality can make money, and any person can sell cream and the freezer sells itself. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you complete instructions and will employ you on salary if you can give them your whole time.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for July.

THE DISCIPLES OF OUR LORD.

SUNDAY, JULY 5—(RALLY SUNDAY)—CITIZENSHIP AND DISCIPLESHIP IN THE KINGDOM FOR HEAVEN. (Matt. xvi. 24, 25; Mark viii. 34-38.)

The pathway of Jesus Christ to his present state of exaltation was that of humiliation, suffering and death—the way of the cross. Just after he had plainly told the twelve that it was necessary for him to suffer and die, he speaks to them with equal plainness concerning the conditions of Christian discipleship. (See also Matt. x, 38; Luke ix, 23, and Luke xiv, 27.)

He who would follow Christ as disciple must "deny himself and take up his cross." There must be a complete renunciation of sinful desires and purposes, and an unconditional surrender to the will of Christ; and there must also be a willingness to share the suffering of Christ. Nothing less than a compliance with these conditions will constitute one a real Christian disciple or citizen of the kingdom of heaven, and it is only on the ground of suffering with Christ, taking up our cross, that we may expect reward. "If we suffer, we shall also reign with him."

Christ wanted men to know distinctly what was meant in being a disciple of Christ, before it was undertaken; and so, on one occasion when a certain man impulsively exclaimed, "Lord, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest," Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head."

Notwithstanding the apparent severity of the conditions of following Christ, the life of self-denial and cross-bearing is a life of peace and inexpressible happiness, having a hundredfold compensation in this life, as well as in the life to come. "My yoke is easy, and my burden is light." The life of consecration is a "reasonable service." The law of Christ is a "law of liberty."

Our topic presents a problem in spiritual profit and loss that is very perplexing to the man of the world, but the disciple of Christ has no trouble in its solution. "Whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it." This seems to be a reversal of ordinary conditions, but it finds easy explanation in the Christian disciple, where a higher life has taken the place of the lower. The lower life is maintained, and the higher life is lost; or else the lower life is lost, and the higher life is gained.

"What is a man profited, if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"—or, "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Where is the mathematician who can answer either one of these questions?

Have you given up anything for Christ? If not, you are not his disciple.

Have you given up all for Christ? If not, you are still not his disciple.

Have you compared well the priceless value of your soul with the value of the world?

NOTES.

Our topic for this week furnishes an excellent opportunity for a consecration service. May the Holy Spirit descend upon us in his fullness!

Read what Bro. Sanders says about his League at Plaquemine Brulee, in last week's issue. Here is an instance of a successful League being operated outside of a town. A good League will prepare the way for a revival among the young people, and, indeed, the whole church, and will conserve its results afterward.

Hon. Frank A. Daniels, United States postmaster of New Orleans, delivered a most interesting lecture to the Algiers League last week, entitled, "Eight Days in Scotland."

Read Our Great Premium Offer!

THE STORY OF REDEMPTION THROUGHOUT THE WORLD,

FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE PRESENT TIME.

This book, by Rev. A. B. Hyde, D. D., is a large octavo, profusely illustrated, and most beautifully bound in silk cloth.

It is a book which should be in every Methodist household. We are making it possible for anyone to afford it. The publisher's price is $3.50. We will send it postpaid for $1.50 to any subscriber who has paid or will pay to June, '97.

Rev. W. T. Woodward, of the Louisiana Conference, writes: "Your premium machine came in due time, and has been tested, and gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. Several persons have examined the machine, and pronounce it wonderfully cheap; scarcely any noise and perfect work."

Ice Cream Made by a New Process.

I have an ice cream freezer that will freeze cream instantly. The cream is put into the freezer and comes out instantly, smooth and perfectly frozen. This astonishes people and a crowd will gather to see the freezer in operation and they will all want to try the cream. You can sell cream as fast as it can be made, and sell freezers to many of them who would not buy an old style freezer. It is really a curiosity and you can sell from $5 to $8 worth of cream and six to twelve freezers every day. This makes a good profit these hard times and is a pleasant employment. W. H. Baird & Co., 140 S. Highland Ave., Station A, Pittsburg, Pa., will send full particulars and information in regard to this new invention on application and will employ good salesmen on salary.

Students of medicine will be interested in the announcement of the Medical Department of the Tulane University of Louisiana, in this issue. This well-known Medical College was founded in 1834, and has graduated over 3,000 students in medicine and 269 in pharmacy. The great Charity Hospital, with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually, offers great practical advantages. Write for catalogue.

Situations Wanted.

By a competent lady as matron and by a young lady as governess of small children. References cheerfully given. Address

M., This Office.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education

AT

Johnston Collegiate Institute

GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.

If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing a efficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.

OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $1.25 to $3.75; tuition in music $2.50.

Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.

The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.

A. R. LADNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

Washington College

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings on a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city.

F. MENEFEE, President
J. ROBERT GOULD, Sec'y.
Washington, D. C.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good; delight to ack nowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes so unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Tried as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of this Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a "verifiable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended to church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 468 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Sacrificed for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN TILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

T. J. MURRAY,

RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * * Yours, most respectfully,

MRS A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office, Or to Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

MARTIN COLLEGE

For Young Ladies,

PULASKI, - - - TENN.

Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.

The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds is lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zaiberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

S. N. BARKER, President.

EAST MISSISSIPPI

Female : College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for fifteen years, renovated, improvements added, director of music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best-equipped institutions for young ladies in the South.

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

RATES LOW.

ONE SCHOLARSHIP OF FREE TUITION given to some worthy young lady in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder.

For further information and handsome new Catalogue apply to

J. W. BEESON, President.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special Schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of instructors. Improved facilities. Most generous location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low.

For catalogue and announcements address

CHANCELLOR R. B. FULTON,
University, Mississippi.

Medical Department—Tulane University of Louisiana.

Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials, are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the bedside of the sick. The next session begins October 15th, 1896. For catalogue and information address

PROF. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., DEAN,
P. O. Drawer 261, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

The Wall and Mooney School,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

—FITS BOYS FOR THE LEADING COLLEGES.—

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt University on certificate, and take the very highest rank, there and elsewhere.

NEXT TERM WILL OPEN AUG. 25, 1896.

No pupil will be admitted without previous engagement. Apply early. For catalogue, address

W. D. MOONEY, Sec.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.

FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

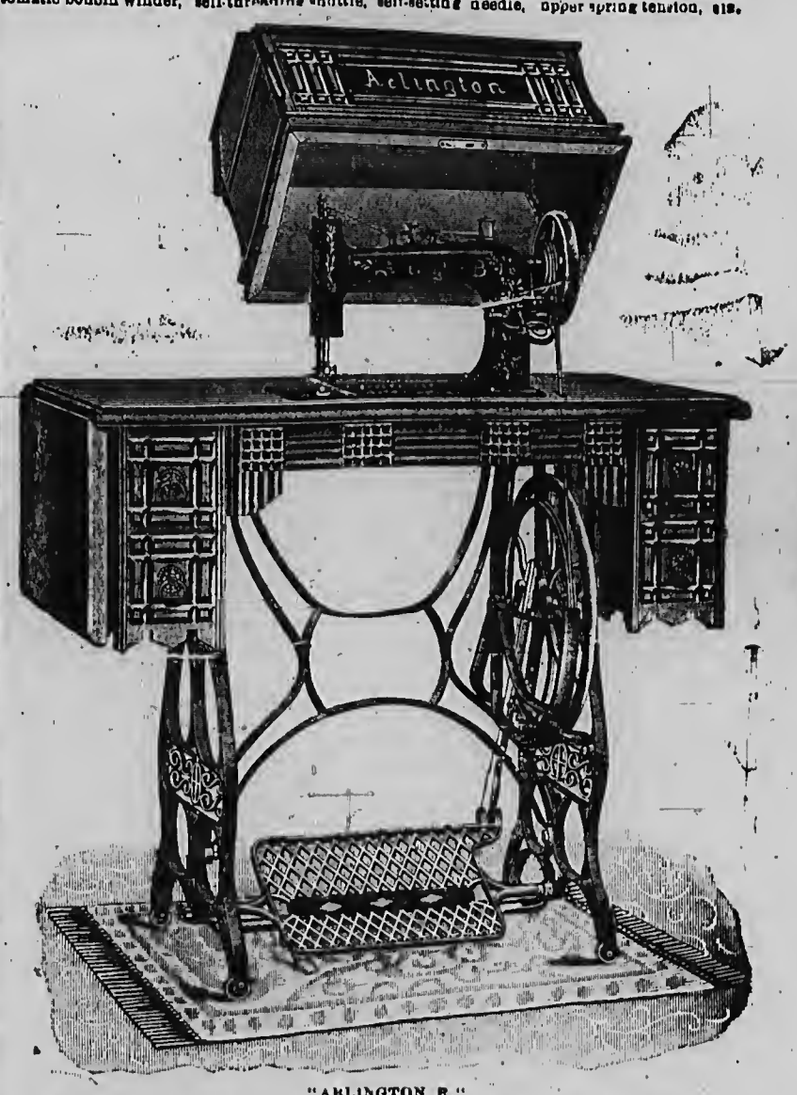
"The Ideal College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome Illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. C. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Hood and Miss Heron, Principals.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.



"ARLINGTON B."

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high-arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC BOBBIN WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—THE "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOOSE PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. O. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

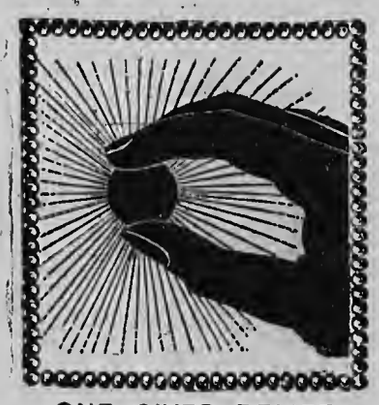
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Right in Sight Sure Saving Shown

We'll send you our General Catalogue and Buyers Guide, if you send us 15 cents in stamps. That pays part postage or expressage, and keeps off idlers.
It's a Dictionary of Honest Values; Full of important information no matter where you buy. 700 Pages, 12,000 illustrations: tells of 40,000 articles and right price of each. One profit only between maker and user. Get it.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
616 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

Guaranties Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Carfare paid.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.

Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $10. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

HOME CIRCLE.

MOTHER'S ROOM.

BY MRS. MALORY E. SANGSTER.

The core of the home, the dearest place, the one that we all love best,
Holding it close in our heart of hearts, for its comfort and rest,
Is never the place where strangers come, nor yet where friends are met,
Is never the stately drawing-room, where our treasured things are set.
Oh, dearer far, as the time recedes in a dream of colors dim,
Breathing across our stormy woods like the echo of a hymn,
Forever our own, and only ours, and pure as a rose in bloom,
Is the centre and soul of the old home nest, the mother's darling room.
We flew to its arms when we romped from school, with a thousand things to tell;
Our mother was always waiting there, had the day gone ill or well.
No other pillow was quite so cool, under an aching head,
As soft to our fevered childish cheek, as the pillow on mother's bed.
Sitting so safely at her feet, when the dewy dusk drew nigh,
We watched for the angels to light the lamps in the solemn evening sky.
Tiny hands folded, there we knelt, to lisp the nightly prayer,
Learning to cast on the Loving One early our load of care.
Whatever the world had brought us since, yet, pure as a rose to bloom,
Is the thought we keep of the core of the home, the mother's darling room.

A Horse Which Carries a Halter Is Soon Caught.

With a few oats in a sieve the nag is tempted, and the groom soon catches him if he has his halter on; but the other horse, who has no rope dangling from his head, gives Master Bob a sight of his heels, and away he scampers. To my mind, a man who drinks a glass or two, and goes now and then to the tap-room, is a horse with his bridle on, and stands a fair chance of being locked up in Sir John Barleycorn's stables, and made to carry Madame Drink and her habit. There's nothing like coming out fair and square, and standing free as the air. Plenty will saddle you if they can catch you; don't give them the ghost of a chance. A bird has not got away as long as there is even a thread tied to its leg.

"I've taken the pledge and I will not falter;
I'm out in the field and I carry no halter;
I'm a lively nag that likes plenty of room,
So I'm not going down to the 'Horse and Groom.'"

In other concerns it is much the same; you can't get out of a bad way without leaving it altogether, bag and baggage. Halfway will never pay. One thing or the other; be an out-and-outer, or else keep in altogether. Shut up the shop and quit the trade if it is a bad one; to close the front shutters and serve customers at the back door is a silly attempt to cheat the devil, and it will never answer. Such hide-and-seek behavior shows that your conscience has just enough light for you to read your own condemnation by it. Mind what you are at; don't dodge like a rat.

I am always afraid of the tail end of the habit. A man who is always in debt will never be cured till he has paid the last sixpence. When a clock says "tick" once, it will say the same again unless it is quite stopped. Harry Higgins says he only owes for one week at the grocer's, and I am as sure as quarter-day that he will be over head and ears in debt before long. I tell him to clean off the old score and have done with it altogether. He says the tradespeople like to have him on their books, but I am quite sure no man in his senses dislikes ready money. I want him to give up the credit system, for if he does not he will need to outrun the constable.

Bad companions are to be left at once. There is no use in shilly-shallying; they must be told that we would sooner have their room than their company, and if they call again we must start them off with a flea in each ear. Somehow I can't get young fellows to come right out from the black lot; they think they can play with fire and not be burned. Scripture says, "Ye fools, when will ye be wise?"

Nobody wants to keep a little measles or a slight degree of fever. We all want to be quit of disease; and so let us try to be rid of every evil habit. What wrong would it be right for us to stick to? Don't let us tempt the devil to tempt us. If we give Satan an inch, he will take a mile. As long as we carry his halter he counts us among his nags. Off with the halter! May the grace of God set us wholly free. Does not Scripture say, "Come out from among them, and be ye separate, and touch not the unclean thing?"—Spurgeon.

A Beautiful Father.

"Tell your mother you've been very good boys to-day," said a school teacher to two little new scholars.

"Oh," replied Tommy, "we hav'n't any mother."

"Who takes care of you?" she asked.

"Father does. We've got a beautiful father. You ought to see him!"

"Who takes care of you when he is at work?"

"He takes all the care before he goes off in the morning, and after he comes back at night. He's a house painter; but there isn't very much work this Winter, so he is doing laboring until Spring comes. He leaves us a warm breakfast when he goes off, and we have bread and milk for dinner, and a good supper when he comes home. Then he tells us stories, and plays on the fife, and cuts out beautiful things with his jack-knife. You ought to see our father and our home, they are both so beautiful!"

Before long the teacher did see that home and that father. The room was a poor attic, graced with cheap pictures, Autumn leaves and other trifles that cost nothing. The father, who was preparing the evening meal for his motherless boys, was at first glance only a rough, begrimed laborer; but before the stranger had been in the place ten minutes the room became a palace and the man a magician.

His children had no idea they were poor; nor were they so with such a hero as this to fight their battles for them. This man, whose grateful spirit lighted up the otherwise dark life of his children, was preaching to all about him more effectually than any man in priestly robe in costly temple.

He was a man of patience and submission to God's will, showing how to make home happy under the most unfavorable circumstances. He was rearing his boys to be high-minded citizens, to put their shoulders to burdens, rather than become burdens to society in the days that are coming.

He was, as his children had said, "a beautiful father" in the highest sense of the word.—Epworth Herald.

How to Remember.

The American Grocer gives the following advice, which every young man will do well to remember:

A successful business man says there were two things which he learned when he was eighteen, which were ever afterward of great use to him; namely, "Never to lose anything, and never to forget anything."

An old lawyer sent him with an important paper, with certain instructions what to do with it. "But," inquired the young man, "suppose I lose it; what shall I do then?"

"You must not lose it."

"I don't mean to," said the young man, "but suppose I should happen to?"

"But I say you must not happen to. I shall make no provision for such an occurrence; you must not lose it!"

This put a new train of thought into the young man's mind, and he found that if he was determined to do a thing, he could do it. He made such a provision against every contingency that he never lost anything. He found this equally true about forgetting. If a certain matter of importance was to be remembered, he pinned it down on his mind, fastened it there, and made it stay. He used to say: "When a man tells me that he forgot to do something, I tell him he might have said: 'I do not care enough about your business to take the trouble to think about it again.'"

I once had an intelligent young man in my employment who deemed it sufficient excuse for neglecting any important task to say, "I forgot it." I told him that would not answer. If he was sufficiently interested, he would be careful to remember. It was because he did not care enough that he forgot it. I drilled him with this truth. He worked for me three years, and during the last of the three he was utterly changed in this respect. He did not forget a thing. His forgetting, he found, was a lazy, careless habit of the mind, which he cured.—Exchange.

Open Doors.

Some one says that the secret of success in life is for a man to be ready when his opportunity comes. We are continually approaching these open doors, but if we pass them by they close to us forever. It is seldom, if ever, the case that an opportunity presents itself a second time in just the same way. A favorite proverb with some people is that, "All things come to him who waits," but there is just a grain of truth in this to several pounds of error. If we do not take advantage of opportunity when it presents itself, we have only ourselves to blame if life proves a failure. Waiting will not bring back the lost opportunity, nor will vain regrets atone for neglect. All that can be done is to gird ourselves for fresh effort and resolve to make the future better than the past.

The advantage of entering every open door is not alone the blessing that comes from duty well discharged, or the consciousness of doing some good to our fellow-man, but these doors always open outward. They open into unexplored fields, into larger experiences, into opportunities which a man can not fill until he has climbed the ladder. Beecher never uttered a more pregnant sentence than when he said, "Do the best you can where you are, and when that is accomplished God will open a door to a higher sphere." This is one of the natural laws in the spiritual world, and in the business world and the intellectual world as well, we will say. These opening doors are always above us, and the ladder by which we climb to them is always the same. The rungs are individual duties, well performed, and they must be mounted one by one. Birds fly, men walk. We can not ascend by one step from the bottom to the top, nor can we ignore the first rungs because they are near the ground. But faithfully doing that which is nearest to us, we will find that at the summit of every duty well done for Christ's sake opens one of these doors to other duties and larger service. And at last we will enter the highest door of all and receive from the Master the "Well done" with which he blesses his faithful children.—St. Louis Advocate.

A Chicago judge, in sentencing two men to the penitentiary for sending vile books and pictures through the mails, said: "You are vipers, and your crime is second only to murder. I would rather that a rattlesnake came into my house and crawled into my children's couch, than to have your vile literature carried to them."

It would not be a bad idea for our pastors to read from their pulpits this bit of righteous eloquence. It would serve as a good text. We are persuaded that there are thousands of parents who are not aware of the tremendous influence and deadly poison locked up in a dime novel or an obscene picture. Doubtless Mr. Ingersoll would consider the good judge's wise words fanatical, and depriving American citizens of their rights, and smacking of puritanism. These criminals are disciples of his school.—Pacific Advocate.

If every member were only in the pulpit for a few weeks, he would have more sympathy for his pastor. If every pastor were in the pew for a time, he would be a better pastor and a better preacher and a better friend of his neighbors.—The Midland.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

THE DIVINE EXAMPLE.

BY DEXTER SMITH.

When God gave man his heritage
Of tree and plant and vine,
That healthful fruit and beauteous flower
Should for his joy combine,
'Twas not that he each blessing fair
Might to a curse transmute,
And to a poison-goblet turn
The juices of the fruit.

Upon the thousand verdant plains
Where May her seed-hymn sings,
For quenching thirst of man and beast
There gush health-giving springs.
No poisoned chalice Nature holds
To thrilling mortals lips,
No maddening potion to destroy,
Or reason's powers eclipse.

Freshness of Feeling.

Freshness of feeling is one of the most charming characteristics of a middle-aged man or woman. We are all familiar with men and women, not out of the twenties, who have the air of having exhausted all the resources of delight. They appear to have been the whole round of human interests and to have explored them so thoroughly that they can not be surprised or greatly moved. Children of wealthy parents introduced too early to the life of their elders, often betray this unlovely characteristic. The zest of work they never knew, and the zest of amusement and diversion has palled upon them. On the other hand, those who have worked too long or intensely in a single line often exhaust their power of taking interest in other things, or of being strongly moved by them. The business man on a vacation, though confronting him is the loveliest landscape, sees nothing but stock quotations, or the clergyman sees nothing but the heads of sermons. It is doubtful if anything but a profound upheaval of the inner life can impart freshness of feeling to the man who has drunk so deeply of pleasure that he stirred up a muddy and impure sediment in the very fountains of happiness. But most of us have it wholly within our power by moderate living, by wholesome recreation, by occasional change of scene, and by cultivating every day a variety of interests, to preserve that emotional responsiveness, which enables us to greet the light of the morning and the glories of the heavens with keen delight, to enter into the joys and sorrows of others, to welcome the appearance of a bright book, or to refresh ourselves with the conversation of friends.—The Outlook.

A Hot Bath Will Bring Sleep.

Suppose a person be tired out by overwork of any kind to feel nervous, irritable and worn, to be absolutely certain that bed means only tossing for hours in an unhappy wakefulness. We all know this condition of the body and mind. Turn on the hot water in the bath room and soak in the hot bath until the drowsy feeling comes, which will be within three minutes; rub yourself briskly with a coarse Turkish towel until the body is perfectly dry, and then go to bed. You will sleep the sleep of the just, and rise in the morning wondering how you could have felt so badly the night before. The bath has saved many a one from a sleepless night, if not from a severe headache the next day.—Dr. Cyrus Edson, in June Ladies' Home Journal.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

LUNCHEON MUFFINS.—For a dozen muffins use a pint of flour, half a pint of cream or milk, an egg, a tablespoonful of butter, one of sugar, two level teaspoonfuls baking powder, and a half teaspoonful of salt. Mix the flour and baking powder. Beat the egg and sugar together. Melt the butter, and, after adding to the beaten egg and sugar, beat the mixture for a minute. Now add the salt and milk, and finally the flour and baking powder. Mix quickly, and, after putting into buttered muffin pans, bake in a rather hot oven for twenty-five minutes.—Selected.

LEMON PUDDING.—Beat six eggs well, boil half a pint of milk, put into it two ounces of butter, and let the milk cool. When perfectly cold, add the eggs and two tablespoonfuls of pulverized white sugar, also the juice of one lemon. Line a dish with puff paste, and pour in the mixture. Bake one-half hour in a quick oven.—Selected.

A page digested is better than a volume hurriedly read.—Macaulay.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of Medicine. Prof. W. H. P[EEKE] ty of Epilepsy, without doubt ed and cured more cases than any ing Physicians success astonishing.

We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing cure to address

Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New York

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH, 1895.

Chicago Limited.
No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6:50 P. M.
Solid, Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with Pullman Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.
No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20 A. M.
Through Pullman service to Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.
No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 1:30 P. M.

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexcelled.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1st, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:30 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:30 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cla-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham, Chattanooga, Asheville, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Cincinnati

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, East, North-East, AND South-East

90 MILES SHORTEST To CINCINNATI AND THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains, Fast Time, Close Connections, Through Sleepers

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the forms and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free.

GLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich.
Manufacturers of Furniture for Church, Chapel, School and Assembly Rooms.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE IRON PILLS

ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the most eminent celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood, and for stimulating and preserving its purity of course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD" and all Druggists. E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

Time for Bible Reading.

A class of persons who profess to ...ve the Bible excuse their neglect of ...by saying ... Bible reading. But is there any ...erson in this land who can not com... and the time to read a chapter from ...e Scriptures every day? It may be ...ubted whether there is such a per... ...n. There are many who can not ...o this and at the same time do all ...at they desire to do in other direc... ...ns. But that is not a reason for ...egleeting the Bible. Our Bible ...ading should be one of the first du... ...s of every day. A good rule is to ...ad nothing else until we have read ...portion of the Scriptnre. If we ...lopt this rule, and rigidly adhere to it, ...e shall never lack the time to read at ...st a few verses from the Bible. ...is can be done at home, and it can ...e done abroad; it can be done on a ...rney. The man of the world can ...d his newspaper on the cars; if ...e are as much interested in the ...ble as he is in the daily news, we ...all be able to read a chapter on a ...road train. And if it is always in ...nd, we shall find no day too short ...read a lesson from the Scriptures. National Presbyterian.

OBITUARIES.

(Continued from Third Page.)

ONE BY ONE.

One by one our friends are taken,
One by one they cross the stream,
And we stand bereft, forsaken,
Wrapped in life's mysterious dream.

One by one, surprised, it may be,
By the boatman's sudden call,
Or with wasting long, aweary,
"Ready!" "Here!" they answer all.

One by one, their life-work finished,
Worn by age or racked with pain,
Or with vigor undiminished,
Folded hands and painless brain.

One by one each sorrow leaves us
Richer still in faith and love,
For the same hand which bereaves us
Beckons onward and above.

One by one, thank God in heaven,
When our toiling days are o'er,
Then shall rest to us be given,
And our loved ones evermore.

L. F.

ONDS—Mrs. CORDELIA AMANDA MCCRAINE ...ps was born March 13, 1839, and died in ...e Chitto, Miss., May 21, 1896, aged fifty-...n years two months and eleven days. On ...econd day of December, 1856, she was ...rried to Paschal Borden Bonds, who died ...6, leaving her a widow, with two little ...dren—Willie Bonds, now of McComb City, ...d Gena Brister, wife of B. E. Brister, of ...gue Chitto, Miss.

...ister Bonds joined the M. E. Church, ...uth in early life, and lived a consistent ...ristian life, as all her neighbors and former ...tors can testify to. "Her children also can ...e up and call her blessed." Her two chil... ...n are honored and respectable members of ...e church.

...was her pastor in 1891 and 1892, again in ...4 and 1895, and I am sure I never had a het... ...earnestly friend among the people whom I ...e served during the thirty-eight years of ...y ministry than I had in the person of Sister ...nds. "She lived a quiet, peaceable life in ...odliness and honesty," consequently "her ...d was peace. She loved her church, na...rstood its doctrines and polity, and could ...e a reason for the hope that was here, and ...nd her chief delight and happiness in ...rking for the Master.

...s a mother, she was gentle and affection... As a friend, she was sincere and con...nt. As a neighbor, she was kind and ...ghtful. As a Christian, she was conse...ted and zealous. Her labors are ended, the ...e has been fought, the victory won, and ...s at rest. Children, let us meet her in ...aven. H. P. LEWIS

...ake, Miss.

STARLING—H. F. STARLING died at the ...me of his daughter, Mrs. M. J. Rush, near ...k, Miss., April 1, 1896, in his eighty-ninth ...ar. He was born and raised in North Caro..., and moved to Mississippi in 1841. I have ...own him intimately for thirty years. He ...fessed religion and joined the M. E. Church, ...en quite young, and was identified with the ...rch, South, after the division. He leaves ...e son and four daughters (all married and ...ttled in life), their mother having died in ... He was consistent in his walk, so that ...n took knowledge of him that he was with ...us continually. He was a man of great ...mility. He lived above reproach. His ...ildren are all following in his footsteps. ...e latter years of his life he was very much ...icted, but he bore his affliction with great ...atience and patience.

...s end with was peaceful and triumphant. In ...s last illness he was confined to his bed four ...eks, and I was conscious until the last. He ...yed a great deal as long as he was able to ...lk. It was a benediction to be at his bed...e and hear him talking of his prospects for ...aven, advising his children and grandchil...en how to live, and telling them to meet ...m in heaven. He was anxious to go and be ...st. He quietly fell "asleep in Jesus" ...th a smile upon his face.

IRVIN MILLER.

Walnut Grove, Miss.

HAUCK—Little IDA LEE, daughter of John ...d Ida Hauck, was born Aug. 4, 1895, and ...ed May 19, 1896.

...da Lee was a bright little girl, the idol of ...r home. God lent her to her parents for a ...ort time, but soon came to claim his own. ...e was a bright, fragrant flower planted in ...e affections of her loved ones, but was soon ...cked, that she might shed her perfume in ...aven. When she died a dark shadow crept ...ross the threshold of her home, but her ...ved ones entrust her to Him who said: ...uffer little children to come unto me, and ...rbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of ...aven." She was remarkably quiet and pa...ent during her sickness. Only once during ...r entire illness did she cry, and then she ...oked up into her mother's face as if to say, ...ma, can't you do something for me?"

May the Lord comfort the bereaved ones!

E. S. LEWIS.

CHASE—BENJAMIN C. CHASE, son of Benjamin Chase and Susan Knapp, was born in Cincinnati, March 12, 1833, and died at his home near Learned, Miss., Jan. 12, 1896. On the twenty-fourth of July, 1863, he was happily married to Miss [illegible], who, with four sons and two daughters, now mourn his loss. In 1865 Bro. Chase united with the Presbyterian Church and remained a member until he joined the Methodist Church in 1891.

In these few words we have the outline of a useful Christian's life. Bro. Chase's devotion to the church, especially in the last few years, was one of his marked characteristics. It was a pleasure for him to make sacrifices for his church, and his love for his pastor found expression in many kind words and acts. The neat, tasty little church which adorns the village of Learned is a monument to the untiring zeal and lasting devotion of Bro. Chase and three or four others, by whose prayers and efforts it was erected.

Of all his many excellent qualities it is not necessary to speak. To say that he was a good, true Christian covers it all.

May God's grace continue in that home and with each of the loved ones until they are all gathered home!

HIS PASTOR.

HARPER—Died Jan. 15, 1896, in Calcasieu parish, La., Miss L. HARPER, aged twenty-seven years four months and five days. She died at the old homestead, where she was living with her married sister, and where her mother died some two or three years ago.

Miss Harper was a devoted Christian girl. Though she was a member of the Baptist Church, she loved the house of God without regard to denomination. To know her was to love her. She has left a number of loved ones and friends to mourn her loss. The writer has spent many happy hours with her, and I pay this tribute of respect to her memory.

She died of consumption, so fatal in its effect upon human nature. To find a more kind and generous disposition would be hard to do. Always in sympathy with the sick or distressed, shedding light by her genial disposition through all the path of life. In a personal letter from her sister she says that her last sickness was borne with much patience and resignation, as if in death a peaceful smile spread over her face. "We can go to her."

MRS. MARY F. BANKS.

EUBANKS—JESSE EUBANKS, youngest child of George L. and Lenore Eubanks, was born in Calcasieu parish, La., March 16, 1891, and died Dec. 14, 1895.

His latenss suffering was short. A beautiful rosebud hath been plucked from the Lord's flower garden on earth and transplanted into the fair, fertile fields above to unfold itself in full immortal bloom and shed its fragrance throughout eternal day.

A sweet child was little Jesse, a delight to all who knew him, a fond hope of papa and mama. Let us not be weary in well-doing. Though Jesse can not come back to us, we can go to him. Oh, fond father and mother, don't grow weary; be true to the trust of God, and reap eternal life and enjoy the company of your sweet, sweet angel child. How sad our bereavements here below! but they may serve as incentives, drawing us heaven ward.

AUNT MARY.

SHARBROUGH—Little FLORENCE, daughter of Bro. and Sister Frank Sharbrough, was born Feb 4, 1895, and was removed from her home at Campbellsville, Miss., June 4, and transplanted in heaven by the hand that gave her.

Though her stay on earth was short, she had drawn the cords of affection so tight around the hearts of mama, papa, brother and sisters that it was hard indeed for them to give her up. She was bright and beautiful, and all who knew her—one of whom was the writer—became attached to her.

Weep not for her, dear parents, but bow in submission to His will who "doeth all things well." Her being in heaven will make that place more dear to you.

May God Almighty comfort you in this sore affliction!

T. B. CORTRELL.

Lake City, Miss.

WOOTON—Rev. A. J. WOOTON was born Feb. 19, 1839, and died April 25, 1896.

Bro. Wooton began preaching soon after his conversion, and served the Methodist Church for about thirty years as a local preacher. In his declining years his health failed so completely that he was unable to fill his appointments, but he asked God for the privilege of preaching once more. He received strength and delivered his last message in Rehoboth Church about three years ago, after which he has been confined to his bed until the twenty-fifth of last April, when the angels came to take him away. We hope to meet him on the other shore.

R. E. RUTLEDGE.

Barlow, Miss.

BOOTH—The following resolutions were ordered by the second session of the Quarterly Conference, Felicity Street Church, New Orleans district, Louisiana Conference:

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Edward Booth we realize that a valuable and useful member has been removed from his sphere of usefulness and service in our midst, and in common with a host of friends we most sincerely deplore his loss.

Resolved, That we extend our deepest sympathy to his family in their time of bereavement, and pray that his loss may be sanctified to their spiritual and eternal welfare.

Resolved, That as the official body of the church, we hereby express our sorrow and sympathy, and have these resolutions published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

JNO. T. SAWYER, P. E.
S. J. DAVIES, P. C.,
JOSEPH W. MASON, St.,
FRED W. HANNY, St.,
Committee.

New Orleans.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Our life is determined for us and it makes the mind very free when we give up wishing, and only think of bearing what is laid upon us and doing what is given us to do.—George Eliot.

All Skin Disorders

from simple Pimples to obstinate Eczema and Tetter can be quickly and permanently cured by the simple application of

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

It makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy, producing a clear and brilliant complexion.

50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia.

School Medals and Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Halls and Public Buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., New York.

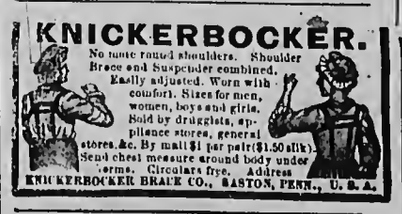
BELLS

Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

E. W. VANDUZEN CO. (Successors to Vanduzen, Tift & Co.), Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Bell Copper and E. India Tin. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Illustrated Catalogue and Price List sent free. Also Manufacturers of Genuine Blymyer Iron Works Improved Yoke and Wheel and Friction Rollers, Mountings, Gudgeons, etc. Send for Catalogue. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

KNICKERBOCKER.



No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair ($1.50 silk). Send chest measure around body under terms. Circulars free. Address KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN., U. S. A.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

F. R. Hardon, Millinery,

Old No. 29 Chartres Street—Now 139.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

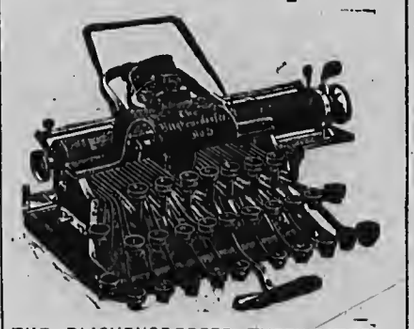
Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 807 Common Street, (Room 403), New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

I. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-326 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

L. S. WIDNEY. DAVID ZABLE.

WIDNEY & ZABLE,

COAL, HAY, CORN, OATS and BRAN,

Coal Coke and Wood Yard and Feed Store,

MAGAZINE, NEAR VALENCE STREET.

Main Office: HENNEN BUILDING, No. 802 Common Street, NEW ORLEANS.

WOOD, SCHNEIDAU & CO.,

Pittsburgh and ... Cannel COAL Anthracite ... Coke,

Wholesale and Retail. 43 CARONDELET ST., Telephone 576, NEW ORLEANS.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"

We handle this Bible in three styles, as follows: Minion Type, $1.75; Bourgeois Type, $2.45; Emerald Type, $1.25. In order to get any one of these at these rates, it is necessary to pay your subscription a full year in advance, viz., to July, 97. (A little later it will be August, '97.)

Notice that there are three sizes—$1.25, $1.75 and $2.45.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Ohio Legislature has passed a law substituting electrocution for hanging in capital offenses.

Gen. Gustavus W Smith, late of the Confederate States Army, died in New York City on June 25, aged seventy-four years.

The Secretary of the Interior has issued his requisition on the treasury for $13,325,000, to be used in the quarterly payment of pensions.

At a public reception given to Major McKinley, the Republican nominee for the presidency, at Canton, Ohio, five thousand women called upon him.

The bill to make the nineteenth of January, the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee, a State holiday has been reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee of the House at Baton Rouge.

A Baptist minister of Milwaukee has announced that any member of his church buying from a merchant on Sunday would be disciplined, and possibly expelled from the church.

The bill authorizing the city of New Orleans to take such steps as will enable it to effect the construction of a drainage system has passed the Senate, and is shortly to come up in the House.

Cardinal Gibbons has denied that he approves of the American Catholic League, a society to oppose the A. P. A. He disapproves of all secret organizations, whether religious, political or non-political.

The election of delegates to the Chicago Democratic Convention will close with the holding of the State Conventions in Georgia and North Carolina, which are expected to choose free silver men. The Chicago convention will stand 583 for silver and 345 for gold if the delegates vote as they are instructed by the conventions. The silver men lack 37 of having a two-thirds vote, which is 620. The majority of the members of the Democratic National Committee are against free coinage of silver.

Secretary Olney has given Baron Fava, the Italian ambassador, a check for $10 000 to be turned over to the families of the four Italians who were killed by a mob at Walsenburg, Colo., last year, and to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, a check for $1 800 for the relief of the Dawson family, British subjects, who were assaulted in Nebraska, and $1,000 for one Bain, the purser of an English ship, who was shot in the leg during the levee riots in New Orleans last year. The money was appropriated by Congress.

FOREIGN.

John Hays Hammond, the American mining engineer, sentenced at Pretoria to death for treason to the Transvaal, but finally liberated by the Boer government on payment of a fine of $125 000, sailed from Cape Town for Europe.

Permission has been asked the authorities of the City of Mexico to allow the change from mule power to electricity on the street railroads within the city.

The revolutionists have formally served notice on the people of Havana that plans have been completed and will be carried into execution this Summer to wipe out every vestige of the city by means of dynamite, if it be necessity to go to that extreme to drive Spain off the island.

A statue of President Kruger will soon be erected in Pretoria. It will be forty feet high and will represent the Boer statesman in the quaint garb, tall hat included, which he affects on Sundays and special occasions. The statue will be of bronze, will be mounted on a pedestal and column of granite.

Do Not Experiment in so important a matter as your health. Purify, enrich and vitalize your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla and thus keep yourself strong and healthy.

Hood's Pills are the best after dinner pill; assist digestion, cure headache. 25 cents.

MARRIAGES.

GEORGE—THOMAS.—At Black Water Church, East Baton Rouge circuit, June 7, 1896, by Rev. Wiley Brown, Mr. Ernest George and Miss Julia E. Thomas.

MILLER—HARROD.—At the residence of Mr Hardy Pitman, June 18, 1896, by Rev. F. N. Sweeney, Mr. Levi A. Miller to Miss Martha M. Harrod, both of Calcasieu parish, La.

DELARME WHITE—At Meador Chapel, Ascension parish, La., Jan. 15, 1896, at seven o'clock P. M., by Rev. W. L. Hamil, Mr. R. O. Delarme and Miss Lulia A. White.

ROWND—DAVIDSON.—At the bride's residence, near Ollo, Livingston parish, La., April 7, 1896, at three P. M., by Rev. W. L. Hamil, Mr. Wm. B. Rownd and Miss Mary E. Davidson.

McKINNEY—LITTLE.—At Huff's Chapel, Livingston, La., May 31, 1896, at ten A. M., by Rev. W. L. Hamil, Mr. Eugene McKinney and Miss Mary Little.

EBY ROBERTSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Port Vincent, Livingston parish, La., June 24 1896, at seven A. M., by Rev. W. L. Hamil, Mr. Manrice S Eby and Miss Cornelia Robertson.

PATTERSON PICKETT.—At the residence of Mr J. J. Ray, Hawnie's Hill, Wesson, Miss., June 24, 1896, by Rev. T L Melton, Mr. Thomas H Patterson and Miss Callie Pickett, all of Wesson, Miss.

MAZZENO—BROWN.—In the parsonage, Franklin, La., June 24, at 9 30 P. M., by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. Nicolas Mazzeno and Miss Helena I. Brown, all of Franklin.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5 5-16	— —
Ordinary	5 13-16	— —
Good ordinary	6¼	— —
Low middling	6⅝	— —
Middling	6 13-16	— —
Good middling	7⅛	— —
Middling fair	7⅝	— —
Fair	6 13- 6	— —
Galveston middling	7⅛	— —
Mobile middling	6⅞	— —
Memphis middling	7	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	3	3 7-16
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3 7-16	3 9-16
Primo yellow	3 9-16	4
Gray white	4⅛	4⅛
Choice white	4¼	4⅜
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES.
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —
RICE.
No. 2	1⅝	— —
Good	3⅛	4
Fair	3⅜	3⅝
Prime	4⅛	4⅜
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 85	1 90
POLISH, ₩ ton	13 00	14 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 50	3 80
Fancy	3 50	3 40
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 00	— —
Winter wheat patents	3 75	3 85
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	1 80	1 85
Cream meal	1 90	— —
Grits	3 00	— —
Hominy	2 90	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	— —	40
Yellow	41	43
Mixed No 2	— —	40
OATS:
Western	— —	38
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	80	83½
HAY:
Prime	14 00	17 00
Choice	— —	18 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	3 00	3 35
Prime Mess	3 00	3 25
Rumps	7 75	— —
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	7½	8½
Shoulders	5	— —
Sides, short rib	5½	5¾
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	8	13
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	4⅝
Sides, short rib	4⅝	— —
Sides, long clear	4⅝	4⅝
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	13¼	— —
Common	13⅜	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
He-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	16	17
Western Dairy	13	14
Common	8	11
LARD:
Refined	4⅝	5
OILS:
Coal, bbls	3½	— —
Coal, cases	16½	— —
Cotton seed, crude	13½	20
Lard, Extra No. 1	30	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ bbl	75	90
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	75	1 00
Western	1 35	1 50
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	30	1 00
Western	— —	— —
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb, ₩ yard	5	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb, ₩ yard	5½	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	8	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	30	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 50
Young Chickens	2	2 75
Chickens, Southern	2 25	2 35
Young	1 75	2 10
Turkeys, Southern	3 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	8	— —
Southern	8	8½
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	12	16½
Louisiana	8	9½
Burry	5	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	4½	— —
Dry salted	8	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	8 00	— —
Meal	17 25	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

Camp Meeting.

The Rapides Camp Meeting will begin Aug. 22, 1896. We have secured the services of Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of Mississippi, who will be assisted by brethren of the Louisiana Conference. The ground is [illegible] from Boyce, in the pine hills. Best of water in abundance. Ample hotel accommodations. Hacks, carrying passengers in and from the camp ground, will meet all trains at Boyce.

J. S. HOFFPAUIR, for Committee.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

When you come in hot and thirsty,—HIRES Root-beer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at 10c per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

An American Express Co. "Travelers Cheque"

is practically a certified cheque made payable to one's order, for a fixed amount named on its face, in gold or its equivalent, at 20,000 places throughout the world, by an extensive list of Bankers and Hotels.

More available, economical, and secure than Letters of Credit, Circular Notes, or other forms of Travelers' Credit.

Cheques, rates, and further information may be obtained at any Agency of the AMERICAN EXPRESS CO., or at the principal offices of the Company.

65 Broadway, New York,
78 Monroe St., Chicago, 45 Franklin St., Boston.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

Emory College

Oxford, Georgia.

THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.

The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.

The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Boarding Halls as low as $4 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.

The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.

For catalogue and further information address

W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD GA.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,451. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address PRES'T. WM. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Next Session opens September 16th. Full graduate as well as under graduate courses. Ten Fellowships for college graduates. Seven Departments—Academic, Engineering, Biblical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Dental, Medical. Fully equipped laboratories and museums.

WILS WILLIAMS, Secretary.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,
Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address D. SULLINS, Pres't.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,

EMBALMERS.

AND FURNISHERS OF FINE FUNERAL FURNITURE.

Fine Carriages for Hire at all times. Orders promptly attended to, night and day

TELEPHONE 697.

MAIN OFFICE: 174 Magazine Street, Corner of Julia.
BRANCH: Corner of Prytania and Washington Streets.

Board of Directors and Officers: R. O. Davey, President; F. E. Johnson, Treasurer; Henry Tharp, Secretary; F. Johnson, J. J. Kunner.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Vineville circuit at Ossila' Chapel	July	4, 5
Meridian—S. Side and Pines, at S. Side		12, 13
Rose Hill circuit, at Hopewell		18, 19
Porterville circuit at Bergan's Ch'l		25, 26
North Kemper cir., at Mullen's Ch'l	Aug.	1, 2
D. Kabel cuit, at Marsh's Chapel		8, 9
Decatur circuit at Sodie's Chapel		8, 9
Meridian East End		16, 17
Neshoba and Mission, at Philadelphia		22, 23
Meridian West End		30, 31
Chunnie circuit, at Conrord	Sept	5, 6
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove		12, 13
Meridian Central		20, 21

R. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Bolton, at Raymond	July	4, 5
Edwards, at Rieves Chapel		11, 12
Hermanville at Sarepta		18, 19
Crawford Street—Vicksburg		25, 26
South Vicksburg		26, 27
Harrison a Hard ton	Aug.	1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge		8, 9
Port Gibson		15, 16
Utica, at Learned		22, 23
Mayersville at Hannah		29, 30
South Warren, at —	Sept	5, 6
Mt. Olivet at —		12, 13
Rolling Fork, at Redwood		19, 20
Anguilla at Bethel		26, 27
Warren, at —	Oct.	3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Jefferson Street	July	3-5
W. C.		4, 5
Buxie at McNair		10-11
Daniel's Conference, at Fayette		16-19
Fayette, at Ebenezer		25, 26
Wilkinson at G. H.	Aug	1, 2
Bayou, at Brandywine		8, 9
Amite, at H. C.		16, 18
Meadville, at N. P.		22, 23
Percy Creek		29, 30
Woodville		30, 31
Washington	Sept.	6, 7

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 16, at 9 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Martinville at Pine Grove	July	4, 5
Summit, at Topsaw		11, 12
Magnolia and Osyka, at Magnolia		18, 19
McComb City		25, 26
Adams		28
Caseyville, at Bethany	Aug.	1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews		5, 6
Providence, at Providence		11
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant		15, 16
Crystal Springs	(8 P. M.)	16
Hazlehurst		22, 23
Union Grove		29, 30
White Town, at Muddy Springs	Sept.	5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Sarilla		12, 13

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Heidelberg, at Sanderaville	July	18, 19
Shubuta, at Quitman	(Wed.)	22
Stateline, at Tucsahoma		25, 26
Ellisville and Laurel at Ellisville	Aug.	1, 2
Pachuta at Carter's Mill		8, 9
Winchester, at Spring Hill		15, 16
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	(Mon.)	17
Leakesville, at Avera	(Tues.)	18
Enterprise, at State Line		22, 23
Meridian, at Central	(Wed.)	26
Fuller	Sept.	5, 6
Williamsburg	(Wed.)	8
Mt. Hermel		12, 13
Pleasant Hill, at Hopewell		19, 20
Marion ville		26, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall	(Wed.)	30

L. OAKLEY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

District Conference at Camden	July	3-5
Jackson—First Church	(8 P. M.)	7
Jackson—Capitol Street	(8 P. M.)	8
Terry, at Forest Hill		11, 12
Yazoo City		18, 19
Yazoo circuit, at Anding		25, 26
Sharon at Forest Grove	Aug.	1, 2
Silver Creek and S. L., at Shurbrough's		8, 9
Canton		15, 16
Pearl at Brownsville		22, 23
Carthage, at —		29, 30
Madison, at Pocahontas	Sept.	5, 6
Lake City and Lodi, at Phillips		12, 13
Faunin		19, 20
Tranquil		26, 27

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Decatur, at Decatur	July	4, 5
Homewood, at Zion Grove		11, 12
Carthage, at Singleton's		18, 19
Clarksburg, at Linsley's Chapel		21, 22
Shiloh, at Bethany	Aug.	1, 2
Westville, at Goshen		8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect		15, 16
Montrose, at Cedar Grove		19
Raleigh at Sky Springs		22, 23
Hillsboro at New Providence		26
Seven Creek, at Richland		29, 30
Brandon		30, 31

District Conference will convene at Decatur, July 3.

The following Committees of Examination have been appointed: For License to Preach—H. C. Lewis, W. M. Williams, H. B. Vandenberg. Admission on Trial—J. T. Nicholson, R. Bradley, P. D. Hardin. Deacon's Orders C. McDonald, W. M. Sullivan, J. H. Foreman. Elder's Orders—R. F. Witt, C. C. Evans, P. H. Howie.

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

DELHI DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Oakhoma, at Brooklyn	July	17, 21
Monroe at Monroe		26, 27
Ravville, at Little Creek	Aug.	9, (1
Lind Grove, at Bonita		24, 26
Bastrop at Colony		27, 30
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	Sept.	2, 3
Floyd, at Oak Grove		10, 13
Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg		16, 20
Oak Ridge and Sicily Island, at Peck sta		22, 23
Winnsboro, at Fourth Prairie	Oct.	3, 4
Lake Providence, at Pecan Grove		10, 13
Delhi, at Talinah		16, 20
Waterproof, at Wesley		22, 25

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

Floyd, La.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Morgan City, at Berwick	July	4, 5
Patterson		6, 7
Abbeville, at Perry's Bridge		8
Franklin		11, 12
District Conference, at Lake Arthur	15, 16,	17
Crowley		18, 20
Lake Arthur, at Locasia		22
Jeanerette		25, 26
New Iberia		25, 27
Pinehomme at Prairie Hayes		28
Indian Bayou at Indian B	Aug.	1, 2
Pinquemine Brulee, at P. Brulee		3, 4
French Mission, at Arnoville		12
West Lake and Sulphur Mine		15, 16
Lafayette at Broad Street		22, 23
Lake Charles Jackson St eet		24, 25
Grand Chenieres		26
Rayne		29, 30

The Opelousas District Conference will convene at Lake Arthur July 15, 1896, at 9:00 A. M. The following Committees of Examination have been appointed:

For License to Preach—R. J. Harp, I. T. Reames, and H. Armstrong.

For admission on Trial or Ordination—J. A. Parker, D. D., A. J. Notestine, and R. M. Blocker.

H. C. WHITE, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Parker Chapel	(7:45 P. M.)	July 3
Tchoupitoulas Street	(7:45 P. M.)	9
Carrollton Avenue	(11 A. M.)	12
Dryades Street	(7:45 P. M.)	16
Beach or Camp Ground		19
Carondelet Street	(11 A. M.)	23-24
Moreau Street	(7:45 P. M.)	26
Algiers	(11 A. M.)	26
Felicity Street	(7:45 P. M.)	Aug. 2
Covington at Covington		2
Tammany and Slidell, at Camp Ground		2, 6
White Castle		15, 16
Louisiana Avenue	(11 A. M.)	23, 23
Rayne Memorial	(7:45 P. M.)	30
Praquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.		Sept. 6, 7
Grape Street		8
Lower Coast		12, 13

JOHN T. HAWKER, P. E.

Blood Humors

Every humor, whether itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted, pimply, or blotchy, whether simple, scrofulous, or hereditary, from infancy to age, are now speedily cured by

Cuticura Resolvent

A skin and blood purifier of incomparable purity and curative power. Purely vegetable, safe, innocent, and palatable. It appeals to all, and especially mothers, nurses, and children.

Sold throughout the world. Price, Cuticura, 50c.; Soap, 25c.; Resolvent, 50c. and $1. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

"How to Cure Blood and Skin Humors," free.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. This is one of the largest and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Extensive courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in the mountains of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1,200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. Session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For Illus. Catalogue address

CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Gainesville, at Gainesville (W. and Th.)	July	4
Vernon, at New Prospect		4
Farmerville at Freeman Chapel		11
Downsville, at Cen'l S. house (T., W.)		11,
Ruston, at Douglas		11,
Vienna		Aug. 1,
Homer (Wed and Thurs.)		1,
Valley, at Bincker Chapel		8,
Minden, at Pine Grove		15,
Arcadia, at Simsboro		15,
Bienville		18,

District Conference will convene in Arcadia July 9. Sunday-school Conference on the eighth, at same place.

Following Committees of Examination have been appointed:

For License to Preach and for Admission on Trial—Revs. Robt. Randle, A. D. McVoy, R. Shepnard.

For Deacon's and Elder's Orders—Revs. J. Miller, J. O. Bennett, D. C. Barr.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Wilson, at Manassas	July	4,
Jackson		4,
Bayou Sara at Tunica	(Wed.)	11,
East Baton Rouge, at Pipkin		11,
Zachary		11,
Baton Rouge station		11,
Baton Rouge circuit, at S. R.		11,
Ponchatoula, at Springfield		11,
Port Vincent, at Bayou Barbery		11,
Live Oak, at Palmetto		Aug. 1,
Amite City, at Kentwood		1,
Blue Grove, at Camp Ground	(Wed.)
East Feliciana, at Camp G. (Thurs.)
Greensburg, at Camp Ground (Fri.)
Clinton		18,
Franklinton, at Pleasant Valley		18,

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Grosse Tete, at Cottonwood	July	4
Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire		11,
Alexandria		11,
Plaueville, at Oak Grove		11,
Cha at Pollock		Aug. 1,
Anacoco at Holly Grove		1,
Natchitoches		8,
Monigomery		15,
Columbia at Faulk's Chapel		15,
Centerville, at —		15,
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground		15,
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground		15,
Dry Creek, at Hopewell		15,

District Conference will meet at West Alexandria, July 22-26. Sunday-school Conference the twenty-third.

The following committees have been appointed: For License and Admission on Trial—Huffpauir, R. S. Isbell, J. M. Johnston. For Ordination—Wm. Schuhle, J. E. Riddle, J. R.

V. D. SKIPPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Shreveport—First Church	July	11,
Mooringsport, at Mount Zion		11,
Jordan Street and Pine Hill, at P. H.		11,
South Bossier, at Fillmore
North Bossier		Aug. 1,
Red River, at Campobello		1,
Coushatta, at East Point		1,
Wesley, at Holly Springs		1,
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Scie
Grand Cane, at Bethel		Sept. 5,
Mansfield, at Mansfield		12,
Caddo		13,

District Conference will meet at Mansfield 9 A. M., July 1.

The Examining Committee for License to Preach, Admission on Trial, or Deacon's Orders, is as follows: W. H. LaPrade, J. M. Brown, and W. F. Patterson.

J. L. P. SHAFFARD, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Como	July	4,
Hernando and Coldwater		11,
Batesville and Wesley		11,
Courtland	(Mon.)	11,
Nesbit		11,
Tyro		Aug. 1,
Pleasant Grove		1,
Longtown		1,
Wall Hill		1,
Oakrum	(Tues.)
Arabutta		15,
Burgess	(Wed.)	Sept.
Eureka	(Thurs.)
Pleasant Hill		4,

T. C. WIER, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Durant station	July	4,
Salem, at Salem		11,
Kosciusko station		11,
Poplar Creek, at Bethel		11,
Belzona, at Lawrence Deadning		11,
Sallis, at Bethel		Aug. 1,
Ethel at Marvin		1,
Ackerman at Liberty Hill
Walthall at Shady Grove		11,
Eupora at Eupora		12,
Chester, at South Union
Ashton		18,
Ebenezer, at Bethany		Sept.
Rural Hill		1,
Louisville

The brethren will have their church reports and records of Church Conferences at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. For information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

The Knickerbocker Shoulder Brace is no harness; it is easily adjusted and worn with comfort. It does the double duty of holding up and bracing up. Sold by Surgical Appliance stores, Druggists, general stores, etc., throughout this continent and abroad. See advertisement.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 28. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2081

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

NOT AS I WILL.

BY HELEN HUNT JACKSON.

Blindfolded and alone I stand
With unknown thresholds on each hand;
The darkness deepens as I grope,
Afraid to fear, afraid to hope;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That doors are opened, ways are made,
Burdens are lifted or are laid,
By some great law unseen and still,
Unfathomed purpose to fulfill,
"Not as I will."

Blindfolded and alone I wait,
Loss seems too bitter, pain too late;
Too heavy burdens in the load,
And too few helpers on the road;
And joy is weak and grief is strong,
And years and days so long, so long;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That I am glad the good and ill
By changeless law are ordered still,
"Not as I will."

"Not as I will!"—the sound grows sweet
Each time my lips the words repeat.
"Not as I will!" the darkness feels
More safe than light when this thought steals
Like whispered voice to calm and bless
All unrest and all loneliness.
"Not as I will," because the One
Who loved us first and best has gone
Before us on the road, and still
For us must all his love fulfill—
"Not as we will"

—Exchange.

Communications.

The Rules We Keep—No. 5.

The third class of rules relate to attendance upon the services of God's house, and to private and family devotion. Methodists are pledged to attend upon all the ordinances of God. This is a duty we owe to God. It is not optionary with us to attend upon this ordinance and to neglect that one. To fail in one is to fail in all. The spirit of disobedience, or of neglect, is sinful, and so, if we refuse to obey, or even neglect, the order and ordinance of God, we are guilty of sin. If guilty, we can not escape wrath.

God has ordained preaching and the reading and expounding of the Scriptures in the congregation. This is a part of the public worship of God. It is the duty of every Christian to attend this worship and to engage in it, unless providentially hindered. It is a sin to stay away. Preaching and reading and expounding the Scriptures is one of the most important of all the means of grace. It was ordained of God for the edification of believers, and for growth in grace and in the knowledge and love of God. The man who stays away sins against God and against his own soul. The object of preaching and of reading and explaining the Scriptures is instruction, and not mere intellectual entertainment. God expects us to read the Bible at home, and he expects us to read the sermons of good and great men; but this will not excuse us from attending upon that which he has ordained. We are in duty bound to hear the living preacher of the living Word. All preachers, truly called of God, are his messengers; and to refuse, or to neglect, to hear them is to refuse, or to neglect, to hear the message God sends by them. The insult and the offense is to God himself. God says so in his Holy Word. The duty of attending church is clearly and specifically set forth in the Word of God. Attendance upon the public worship of God is a gracious privilege as well as a bounden duty. When one gets into a huff and snubs the minister, he snubs God. This man is God's messenger to you. It is not the preacher, but his Master, you insult. Some people pretend to believe they can serve God at home as well as at church. This is true if they are providentially hindered from going. If they can go, and will not, they sin against God. Men and women who habitually stay away from public worship can not be saved. The spirit of loyalty to God is not in them. God saves no soul that he does not rule.

All who desire to be saved from sin attend upon the Lord's Supper, and partake of the bread and wine, the emblems of the broken body and shed blood of Christ. This simple, but sacred, feast is at once expressive and impressive. It is expressive of true and earnest repentance for sin, and of faith in the blood of Christ as the only hope of cleansing from sin. It is the means and minister of grace to all who partake by faith. It is neither dangerous nor deadly, as some foolishly imagine. The danger of damnation lies in the neglect or misuse of this feast, and not in partaking of it. The Lord has ordained it, and has commanded us to observe it to the end of time, and we dare not neglect it, or refuse to observe it. If we do either, we are guilty of sin. To stay away from the table of the Lord is to refuse to obey his solemn command.

Penitent and repentant faith always secures a high spiritual blessing at this feast. This feast, solemnly instituted and divinely ordained, is a constant repetition and reminder of the death of Christ as a propitiation for the sins of the whole world. In this act we show forth his death until he comes again. It is a memorial of the greatest fact in the history of our world—a monument to the death of the Son of God for the sins of the people. In deep humility we sit, or kneel, at his table and look in adoring wonder at his cross. What strength comes to loving hearts around this board!

All who desire to be saved from sin and desire the salvation of those committed to them will keep up family and private prayer. Family worship is a duty that grows out of the priestly relations of parents and the heads of families. We are responsible for the souls of those whom God hath committed to us. We are to teach, instruct, control and guide them. We can not shift this responsibility; we dare not shirk it. Men who pray in secret often are sure to pray in their families regularly. The duty of family worship is greatly neglected at this time. Oh, for an awakening and a revival on this subject! We ought to rebuild our altars and rekindle our fires.

Of course, all who long to be saved from sin will diligently and prayerfully search the Scriptures. The Bible is the only book that teaches us how to be saved from sin. None need be ignorant of the way who read the Word. The Word of God is always sweet and precious to anxious souls. Every man and woman in the world that loves God loves his Word. Persons who do not love the Bible know but little of experimental godliness. They may have the outward form, but they know nothing of the inward power. The Bible is the only sufficient guide for our faith and practice. It was given to us for reproof, correction, and instruction in righteousness. It is the only safe guide to holiness in this life and to glory in the world to come.

A penitent desire to be saved from sin leads to self-denial and to abstinence, or fasting. Fasting is a religious duty and a means of grace. The full man and the satisfied man rarely has a deep sense of dependence. We need to know hunger and thirst physically that we may understand what they are spiritually. Fasting and prayer bring one close to God. A fast always brings more grace than a feast. Feasting becomes dissipation; fasting expresses self-denial.

Each and all of these General Rules are taught with more or less fullness in the Holy Scriptures. They are the summing up, or condensation, of scattered truths in different passages of the Word of God.

We promise to keep these Rules, and we ought to do it. May God forgive us and help us!

GILDEROY.

In the Living Present.

Modesty and reverence adorning the character of young and old a rarity. Overbearing and arrogance almost general. Says the man of God, "Mind not high things." The remarks of Dr. Sawyer, on occasion of the late Epworth Conference, apropos. Should respect the aged. Said God through Moses, "Thou shalt honor the face of the old man."

In August it will be fifty years that the Smithsonian Institute in Washington was founded. James Smithson, of Great Britain, donated a half million dollars for this purpose. Chagrin caused the donation. Mr. Smithson had been snubbed by the royal academies of France and his native country. But, all the same, the institute has proved a great blessing to this country. Appropriate festivities are designed on occasion of the semi-centennial.

Said recently a father to his son: "My boy, learn to see correctly. Look—gratefully look backward; forward look courageously; around you look with cordial benevolence; look upward, and fear the Lord."

Music, like flowers, is the gift of God. It is the language of emotion. The martial air of the band enthuses war horse and soldier alike. Divine service without "musica sacra"—as Luther termed it—is insipid. We question the wisdom of introducing airs in Sunday-school, etc., which are familiar at the bacchanals of revelers. Sacred music should produce solemnity, not hilarity and jollity.

Farmer Lowe, in Sussex, England, by will left his entire estate, valued at twenty thousand dollars, to his wife, on condition that on the day succeeding his burial she walk barefoot through the principal streets of the town, carrying a burning taper in each hand, repeating repeatedly and loudly that, if her tongue had been shorter, her departed husband's life might have been longer. In case she should refuse to do this, she was to receive only fifty dollars. She has taken the fifty dollars.

During the recent commencement of the Home Institute, of this city, a young lady pupil received a gold medal for keeping her bed-room tidiest. A good idea! Parlor and apparel usually gaudy and grand, but kitchen and bed-room dirty and inaccurate. It should not be thus. Life is not a dress parade, but a battle.

Rightly a writer says, that if common sense could be purchased, like ribbon, by the yard, some descendants of Adam would not have sufficient understanding to buy it.

ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

Millsaps College Commencement.

It was my privilege, as a member of the Visiting Committee from the North Mississippi Conference, to attend the late commencement exercises of Millsaps College. Dr. Jno. Mathews, of St. Louis, preached the commencement sermon at 11 o'clock, June 14, in the college chapel, and at night to the Y. M. C. A. at the First Methodist Church. Bro. Watkins has already furnished you with an adequate report of the two great sermons. Those who heard them can never forget them.

Gov. A. J. McLaurin's address was a strong and eloquent appeal for a pure and noble life, a true and exalted manhood, and was worthy of the chief magistrate of the great commonwealth of Mississippi.

Dr. Murrah's baccalaureate address was very short, but pithy and strong. His administration as president has been eminently satisfactory, and each succeeding year more thoroughly establishes the wisdom of the Board of Trustees in placing him at the head of the institution. Dr. Murrah is ably assisted by a strong faculty, each a master in his department. A careful examination into the work of the college convinced the writer that the instruction and discipline are of the very best quality. A strong proof of this statement is found in the unstinted praise of the boys and faculty by the citizens of the town.

The oratorical contest gave evidence of unusual talent and careful study. Each of the four young men in the contest deserved a medal. The coveted prize was won by a gifted young man from Memphis. I expect to hear from him in the future. Four young men received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The honors were worthily bestowed. In after years the college will doubtless say of them as Cornelia of Gracchi, "These are my jewels."

The gymnastic program was very entertaining. A number of sinewy young athletes, by a variety of exercises, convinced the audience that the physical man was as carefully looked after as mental. The faculty believe in a sound mind in a sound body. Those who are in a position to know testify that the morals of the student body are equal to the very best institutions in the land. The moral and religious life of the young men is as safe here as at home.

Your subscriber is especially indebted to Dr. Murrah and his accomplished wife for most delightful entertainment.

T. Y. RAMSEY,
For Committee.

Greenville, Miss., July 4, 1896.

Robert Parvin Memorial Church.

At the last session of the Louisiana Conference a collection was taken to aid in building churches in the Indian Mission Conference, and one hundred dollars were pledged toward the erection of a building to be called the Parvin Memorial Church, in memory of the venerable Rev. Robert Parvin, late a member of your Conference.

All the pledges given have been redeemed except three, for five dollars each. We have called upon the subscribers more than once for what is yet due, but without success. We make this last appeal to your people to send us the amount still necessary in order to carry out the design and raise this monument to the memory of one so worthy of it. Do not delay, brethren; the money is urgently needed.

Please send by bank draft or postal order to the undersigned.

DAVID MORTON, Cor. Sec.
708 West Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky.

Sardis District Conference.

A report of our proceedings should have been sent to the ADVOCATE some weeks ago. The reason for the delay is that the secretary of the Conference, Bro. T. P. Hill, was taken sick immediately after adjournment, and, unable to give the matter his immediate attention, it was afterwards neglected. The secretary and his assistant, P. T. Callicott, were both compelled to leave before the close, and the writer was requested to complete the minutes. The other brethren are still silent, and so this brief report is sent in "at the eleventh hour."

The Conference met on May 27, at Arkahutla, where Bro. G. H. Jacobs and his people entertained us most royally. We have never enjoyed a larger-hearted hospitality.

The District Conference was preceded by the District Meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary and Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Societies, presided over by the district secretaries, Sisters Coleman and Wall. Wednesday afternoon and night was given to the former, and Thursday morning and night to the latter. A number of delegates from both societies were present, and the deliberations of our sisters showed woman's work in our district to be in a prosperous condition.

The first session of the District Conference proper was devoted to Sunday-school work, and an interesting discussion was had. This was followed by the other business of the Conference, which was disposed of by discussions of the various subjects, written and oral, agreeable to the published program, wisely conceived by the presiding elder, Dr. T. C. Wier.

Beside the regular program, we had, of course, the usual reports of pastors. These showed that the temporal and spiritual concerns of the district are steadily advancing. Several of the pastors were detained at home in consequence of sickness.

The following visitors were present: B. P. Jacq, of Holly Springs district; J. W. McLaurin, of the American Bible Society; J. W. Malone, of Grenada Collegiate Institute, and G. W. Buchman, colporter and Sunday-school agent.

Delegates to Annual Conference are: P. T. Callicott, T. P. Hill, W. H. Eckles (L. P.), and P. B. Jones.

We were refreshed by the presence of our beloved brother, C. N. Terry, who administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper on Sunday morning.

We meet next year at Senatobia.

H. T. CUNNINGHAM,
Sec'y pro tem.

Coldwater Miss.

Whitworth College.

It was my privilege on Wednesday, July 1, to be present at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Whitworth College. The personnel of the Board was revised and a permanent organization was effected in the election of Dr. Inman W. Cooper, president, and Dr. J. Wesley Martin, secretary and treasurer.

There has hardly been a more important meeting. Many questions of grave significance were considered. Definite action was taken looking to final settlement of old issues of serious import, and to the future success and enlargement of the college. It was decided that an agent should be put in the field whose whole time shall be devoted to an active canvass for students and means for more thorough equipment. Our next Annual Conference will be asked to make this appointment. Also a committee was appointed to effect an equitable division of our annual educational collection. There is no just reason why this should not be done. Preachers' daughters are given free tuition the same as their sons. And just why we should feel under more obligation to reimburse our college for young men, which has one hundred thousand dollars endowment, rather than our unendowed college for young women, which, to a large extent, is dependent on her tuition fees to meet current expenses, I am not able to see. This is but one phase of the question. There are others of equal importance that should be considered.

Bro. Chambers' annual report was very gratifying. It showed decided advancement over last year. He is to be congratulated on his good success. No college of the same kind in the State offers better facilties and a more thorough training in all departments of higher education for girls and young women than does Whitworth College.

Parents who have daughters to educate need no longer hesitate because of expensive colleges, for never before in the history of female education have more reasonable terms been offered to the girls and young women of our State. Write to Bro. Chambers and be convinced for yourselves.

The outlook for the coming session, which begins Sept. 9, is very promising. Brethren, remember that this is our college, and as such should receive our earnest co-operation and loyal support.

CHAS. W. CRISLER.

Hazlehurst, Miss., July 8, 1896.

Goodness expands the heart and makes it humble. The larger, the better, the nobler your heart is, the more you will be inclined to make allowance for others, and the more you will say and feel, "God, be merciful to me a sinner!"—Robertson.

Interstate Epworth League Conference.

Numerous enquiries come to me as secretary of the State Conference of Epworth Leagues as to what relation the "Interstate Conference" at Seashore sustains to the League movement in the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences.

The first State Conference was arranged for by the joint action of the Boards of the two Conferences. The second State Conference was provided for by the first State Conference, and fully sanctioned by said Boards. The time was fixed at the North Mississippi Conference, and announced both at its session and at the session of the Mississippi Conference.

What is the so-called "Interstate Conference?" The Executive Committee of the Mississippi Conference know nothing about it. The Executive Committee of the Mississippi State Conference of Epworth Leagues has no information concerning its origin and purposes. It is unfortunate that the name and date has been so chosen as to produce confusion in many minds and conflict on the calendar.

R. W. BAILEY,
Sec. Mississippi State Conference of Epworth Leagues.

[The Interstate Epworth League Conference referred to, like the Seashore Camp Meeting, is under the joint management and direction of three presiding elders of three separate Conferences, viz.: the presiding elder of the New Orleans district, Louisiana Conference; the presiding elder of the Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, and the presiding elder of the Mobile district, Alabama Conference.—EDITOR.]

Selections.

A Wonderful City.

On Sunday, May 3, the "Evening Telegram," of Toronto, Ontario, took a census of church attendance in that city. The figures were published at the time, and were filed for use by this office when opportunity should offer. The result of the census is nothing short of astounding to those persons not acquainted with the high state of public morals in the capital city of Ontario. The return showed an attendance at church of 124,000 persons out of a population of 200,000. This counts both morning and evening attendance on an ordinary Sunday. The church authorities of Toronto appear to have expected great things in erecting houses of worship, many of which seat congregations of over two thousand people. The Methodists alone have a dozen congregations of over a thousand. Those who have visited the beautiful city by the lake, and have seen its cleanliness both physical and moral, will not be surprised at the facts brought out by this census, but will see in them an adequate cause for the state of affairs which so impresses the visitor to Toronto. No city in America, indeed in the world, can rival Toronto in these points of excellence which are emphasized by the figures given above.

It gives us no small degree of pleasure to know that careful students of municipal economics place Pittsburg next to Toronto in the matter of one at least of its points of excellence, namely, Sabbath observance. Our citizens very largely feel proud of the distinction awarded to their busy home city; but when we come to compare by actual observation the highest attainments of our Iron City in Sabbath morals with the proud record of Toronto, the gap between the first and second places in the race is so great that our pride falls. Pittsburg does not have, and, we believe, never did have the perfect Sabbath which is the pride of our Northern sister. She is the queen of morality, a lively example of what a Christian city is, and what all our cities should be.—Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

"IS NOT THIS THE LAND OF BEULAH?"

BY MRS. H. W. R.

I am dwelling on a mount'ain,
Where the golden sunlight gleams
O'er a land whose wondrous beauty
Far exceeds my fondest dreams;
Where the air is pure, ethereal,
La den with the breath of flowers,
They are blooming by the fountain,
Neath the amaranthine bow'rs.

CHORUS: Is not this the land of Beulah?
Blessed, blessed land of light,
Where the flowers bloom forever,
And the sun is always bright.

I can see far down the mountain,
Where I wandered weary years,
Often hindered in my journey
By the ghosts of doubts and fears;
Broken vows and disappointments
Thickly sprinkled all the way,
But the Spirit led unerring,
To the land I hold to-day.

Oh the Cross has wondrous glory!
Oft I've proved this to be true;
When I'm in the way so narrow
I can see a pathway through.
And how sweetly Jesus whispers,
"Take the Cross, thou need'st not fear,
For I've tried the way before thee."
And the glory lingers near.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Luther Benson.

Luther Benson is an anomaly, a phenomenon, a sort of oratorical paradox. His is the worst of oratory (or elocution), the best of eloquence. Never was there a more unpromising looking creature to captivate an audience than this man when for the first time he stands before you. Beefy, thick-set, short- and thick-necked, with low brow, forbidding-looking face, a face heavy like sodden dough—nothing of the "mind's construction in the face"—coarse hair, he is next to repulsive-looking, and apparently coarse and uncouth. He has a face that would make you feel uncomfortable (if you did not know him), and met him on a dark night in a sequestered spot. Force you certainly see: but it seems the force of brutality. Power he has, and vigor; but it seems the might of mere muscularity, and seems singularly misplaced, and would be far better employed at hammering iron in a blacksmith's shop or splitting rails on the frontier.

What an illustration he is, how genius can disdain all rules: is a law to itself; works without precepts, is superior to and can even defy them. He has nothing of an orator but the heart and brain. But those, after all, are the be-all and end-all of eloquence. Elocution is mere husk or shell. It is mere sheath. If the weapon be not a true Damascus blade, what matters how gorgeous a sheath it has? If it be, the sheath is nothing.

But this man has no voice, so far as music and flexibility and charms of cadence are concerned. It is rather high-pitched, thin, narrow-toned for so burly and broad-chested a man, but with considerable reach and ring, or hitting quality, when the speaker gets tired. And in pathos it shivers and breaks all to pieces in a resistless harmony of tone to sentiment: one of those melting masterpieces of true strokes of nature—unsought, untutored, irrepressible transpiratiens of soul.

His delivery is erratic, outre, grotesque. His action is indescribable: tame, heavy, uncouth, until warmed up, and then—Luther Benson! But, when he warms up, the lofty, glorious fire breaks through all impediments, burns out all vices of style, melts all obstacles, and fires your heart with its burning glow. As he grows warmer his utterance hurries. His action becomes more and more energetic. The dull face illumines. His eye flashes. Soon you begin to wonder (if you can be cool enough to reflect upon it) how anyone can ever utter words so rapidly, and yet articulately. You feel sure he is punishing the reporters, if they are trying to take him. But he increases his pace, until he fairly takes your breath, and seems to lose his. His chest labors. His portly stomach swells and falls like a huge bellows. He seethes, and swirls, and roars, and rushes, on a mad current of volubility. Everything about him seems in storm. His arms fly up and down, right and left, cross-wise, any way, all ways, like the broken beams of a windmill whirled in a storm, in all mazes of motion. His tongue seems torn to shreds in the furious storm of words that howl through his mouth, like a sail torn to tatters in the blast. His face seems an infinite play of dazzling illuminings, like the sublime grotesqueness of lightning in the frantic play of lurid splendors. His brain is on fire in a conflagration of creativeness, lightning flashes of inspiration. Surely this speed of utterance would paralyze the swiftest phonographer; even seem to wreck a [illegible] efforts to catch all his speech.

Evidently no art here, or if so, too consummate for discovery. He seems—you seem to know he is—overborne, possessed by, surrendered to the inundations of inspiration. Hurried and harried by the storm of his emotion, his voice, particularly, seems as pliable in inflection as can be. Its infinite variety of tones is wonderful. Sometimes it clatters and rattles like a loose window, struggling and writhing in a furious gale. It shakes. It quavers. It breaks. It chokes. Tones come writhing, struggling, panting, in clashes of cadence, and rasping modulations: metallic, harsh, jangling, cracking, sputtering, gasping. And sometimes an ear-splitting, crashing peal of vociferation, as though a fierce flash of lightning had shattered the world and stunned you with thunder-peal. No one is sure it is not art. Art never gets so high, so furious. Indeed, nature seldom does, because it takes enormous physical power, prodigious virility to stand such stress of mood. Does anyone ask, does anyone expect such moods to be decorous, regular, symmetrical? Does anyone expect a cyclone to observe any precedents, or to do aught else but yield to the resistless wildness of the fury that flies its motions?

Here is a man who has Titanic moods, Titanic ways, exultations, agonies. The exhilarations of inspiration that hurry the heart-beats, throng the pulses with boiling blood, thrill the nerves, dilate the breast, inflame the eye, irradiate the face, invigorate and sublimate the intellect, empower the voice, and enable him, thus mightily equipped, thus "full, possessing, and possess'd," to melt and fire and enthrall his auditors. Truly, he is a rude, uncouth prodigy of eloquence. S. N. U.

Mrs. J. H. Campman.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Louisiana Conference a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions of regret for the loss of the Conference treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Campman, who died in peace at her home in New Orleans, June 22, 1896.

The following are the preamble and resolutions:

In this life while we are endeavoring to fulfill the different duties allotted to us, sometimes discouraged, and sometimes strengthened and uplifted, we often become conscious that there is nothing so encouraging; so helpful and convincing as the character and example of an earnest, never-tiring and consecrated Christian worker; but while we are, perhaps, being almost unconsciously thus helped and stimulated to greater effort, we never realize how great is our obligation to such an one until the strong, yet gentle presence is withdrawn. In the loss of our dearly loved friend and our faithful and devoted officer, Mrs. J. H. Campman, treasurer of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society for Louisiana, we realize all this, and more; we are sorely bereft, and words seem poor in expressing the loss to our society and to the social and religious life of our churches. Faithfulness, untiring interest in the work for many years, good judgment, gentle kindliness in the home mission work especially, and a constant readiness to do all that was asked of her in any department of church work, were among her strongest characteristics; therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we do thus realize our loss, we feel that our Father knows best, and has only transferred his faithful servant to a sphere of more beautiful service, and to the joys of the blest, and we bow in humble submission to his holy will.

Resolved, That we will seek to follow her example in serving the Master and endeavoring to further his interests in the work.

Resolved, That we extend our deepest sympathy to her sorrowing husband and children, and pray that the God of all consolation may be their strength and helper in this their great time of need.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions be sent to Our Homes, to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and that a copy be sent to the family of our departed friend.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
Chairman.
MISS MARY WEHLEIN,
MRS. LINUS PARKER.

High on the desert mountain, full described, still sits enthroned the tempter with his old promises—the kingdoms of this world, and all the glory of them. He still calls you to your labor, as Christ to your rest; labor and sorrow, base desires, and evil hope.—John Ruskin.

Correspondence.

Baton Rouge District Conference.

Hid away in a pocket of hills lies the hamlet of Greensburg. On the brow of an eminence the Johnston Institute swings into commanding view as the road sweeps off to the right. This district high school is designed as a feeder to Centenary, and its erection and equipment is a noble monument to the push, pluck and planning of its supporters. The president and his corps of teachers are consecrated, talented, and zealous for the cause of education. May the beauty of success crown their heroic efforts!

Such large hospitality, such extensive and intensive thoughtfulness, has not been exceeded in the annals of Conferences, as blessed and refreshed the hearts and bodies of the visitants. A drouth was abroad in the land, but a copious rain allayed this the first evening, thus becoming a pledge and a prophecy of the spiritual showers that fell on our dry hearts.

We count ourselves happy in possessing a genial, sweet-spirited presiding officer, full of the Holy Ghost and faith, who guided the routine business of the Conference with a loving hand. The sermons of Bros. Upton, Foster, Kelly, Miller, Denson and Tucker were forceful, stirring, and uplifting. Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., preached a masterful sermon, pregnant with heart-power, electrical in effect, and thrilled the soul with a precious sense of the distinctively personal love the Father holds for even me. The love-feast, conducted by Bro. Luster, was so satisfying that our hearts enlarged and waxed tender. Jesus was present in all the sweetness of his power.

A scene was enacted that drew tears from grateful fountains at the closing of the Saturday morning service. Word came that a little girl was hovering on the verge of death, and the prayers of the Conference were requested on her behalf by the grief-torn parents. Bro. Anders offered up a touching, persuasive petition that went home to every heart, and melted down those who had left dear ones behind. Sobs, tears and amens ascended as a fragrant incense to the Father of spirits, who delayed not an answer, for news came of a sudden change for the better.

"There is a sound of abundance of rain," because we have heard laymen and ministers proclaim that when they return to their respective charges God will take note of redoubled zeal and renewed love on their part. We have hid much grace-light in our hearts, and we shall permit it to break forth among our people.

Our transferred brethren from Mississippi deeply impressed us by their gentleness, courage, and love; consequently our hearts warmed toward such a spiritual band; therefore, we rejoice that Louisiana has numbered them among its Conference shepherds. We missed the person of the editor; but feel assured that your esteemed and helpful paper and its interests were not slighted. "We know we have passed from death to life, because we love the brethren."

H. W. RICKEY.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf..Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss.
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M.H. Morrison...Shreveport.

The Eighteenth Annual Session of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions.

The session of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, which closed on June 12, in Mt. Vernon Place Church, Washington, D. C., was, in many respects, a notable one in its history. Meeting in the beautiful Capital of our nation for the first time, confronted on all sides by monuments commemorative of our country's past glory and present prosperity, no wonder that feelings of patriotism and national pride were stirred in every heart, and praise to the God whose principles have made this great government possible welled up in each heart.

Every officer of the Board was present, and five of the managers; twenty-seven Conferences were represented by their secretaries, or alternates. Quite a number of visitors were present from various Conference Societies, all deeply interested in every proceeding. Dr. Canter, pastor of Mt. Vernon Place Church, and Bro. Knott, of Epworth Church, Washington, D. C., were most kind and attentive; Dr. Swindell, of North Carolina Conference, was with us during the entire session. Several of the ministers of the Baltimore Conference looked in upon us and bestowed their blessing; but we could not fail to miss the large number of our brethren generally present at these meetings and realized that we were on the borderland. Bishop Hurst, of the M. E. Church, visited the Board twice, and by his real interest and brotherly words and kind invitation to the body to visit the site of his proposed University, won golden opinions and genuine regard. Dr. Milburn, chaplain of the Senate, also visited the Board, and bestowed upon us fatherly encouragement and benediction.

Bishop Wilson's sermon, on Sunday, was a masterly effort. His text was Revelations xi; 15: "And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven saying, The kingdom of this world are become the kingdom of our Lord and his Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever." Lofty in thought, grand in execution, and yet withal so full of humility and a realization of the world's need of Christ and his principles, that all eyes were turned in adoration to the crucified Son of God.

The meeting was characterized throughout by deep spirituality. The first service, a consecration service, was manifestly full of the Spirit's presence, and the devout expressions, strong purposes and great faith evident in every testimony were touching and impressive. Each devotional exercise at the opening and closing of every business session was helpful and elevating.

The fact that the collections of the past year were ten thousand dollars in advance of the preceding year, and larger than for four years previous, was hailed by the Board as an indication of good import, and each member seem stirred to attempt yet greater things. "One hundred thousand members and one hundred thousand dollars the coming year" became the watchword, and so determined was the Board that this high standard should not fail of accomplishment, that a resolution was passed dividing the twenty-six thousand dollars required above the past year's collection to reach one hundred thousand dollars among the Conference Societies upon the basis of membership, and the Conference secretaries pledged their Conference Societies for the pro-rated amounts. The coming year is to be one of real activity, earnest effort and fervent prayer in the W. F. M. S.'s of the M. E. Church, South, if the high ideal and lofty standard erected at its eighteenth Annual Board Meeting is realized.

Mrs. Trueheart, Secretary of Home Affairs, was empowered by the Board to continue to discharge the duties of Foreign Secretary during the remainder of this quadrennium and to receive the $1,200 salary now accruing to the office of Foreign Secretary. Mrs. Trueheart's faithful service in both offices since the death of our Foreign Secretary, Mrs. McGavock, received its just reward in the warm thanks and loving appreciation expressed by the body. It was decided to retain Mrs. Campbell, of Soochow, China, another year in the home land, that she might act as field secretary of the W. F. M. S., and travel up and down our Southland, endeavoring to stir the consciences of our women, and arouse them to active effort in missionary work. The burden of heathen souls rests upon Mrs. Campbell's heart most heavily, and she has the happy faculty of imparting her zeal and interest to her audience. The prayers of the W. F. M. S. should daily be offered for her, that large results may follow her labors.

The new work projected in foreign fields for the coming year is the building of a girl's school in Sung Kiang, to be called the "Hayes-Wilkin's Memorial School," and also the erection of the McGavock Institute in Shanghai, for the instruction and training of native Bible women. It is a well-known fact in Southern Methodism that Clopton School, in Shanghai, was built by the gift of Mrs. McGavock's diamonds, and by a singular coincidence the first gift toward the erection of the McGavock Institute, outside the memorial fund which has been held in trust for this training of Bible women for years, was a set of diamonds presented through Mrs. Campbell by a lady of Los Angeles, who desires that her name be withheld.

The Board looked again with longing eyes toward Japan, and the memorials from Bishop Hendrix, Dr. Lambuth, and the missionaries of the Parent Board in Japan, were prayerfully considered. It was not deemed wise to undertake mission work in Japan this year; but a committee of three, Mrs. Cunnyngham, Mrs. McTyeire, and the Foreign Secretary, were appointed to confer with the Advisory Committee of the General Board, looking towards the purchase of their girls' schools in Japan another year. The W. B. F. M., however, was determined to have some part in the work done for the women of Japan this year, so (inspired likewise with a laudable desire to help the Parent Board) the sum of one thousand dollars was set aside to pay the salaries of Misses Gaines and Bryan in the Hiroshima Girls' School the coming year. The salary of Miss Worth would also have been included, but the Epworth League of Alabama have made that their care. The appropriations for the coming year amounts to $93,300—the largest sum appropriated for several years.

The crowning incident of the session was the reception given to the Board on Tuesday afternoon by the Chinese minister residing at Washington. Mrs. Wightman, our president, having a class of Chinese young men at her home in Charleston, S. C., through Judge Chambers, of Washington, requested an interview with the Chinese minister for herself. To the great surprise of all concerned, an invitation was received asking the Board in a body to call upon Mr. Yang, the minister, and stating that Mrs. Yang would receive with her husband. The deep import of this visit was felt by each member. A beautiful Bible was purchased as a gift for Mrs. Yang from the Board, and fervent prayers were offered that this Book might carry light and life to that home. Every possible courtesy was showed the visitors by the Chinese minister, his wife, and secretary. The gift of the Bible was gracefully received, and the speeches made on both sides were cordial and pleasant. One utterance of the Chinese minister, and interpreted by his secretary, is worthy of note. It was this: "Mr. Yang bids me say that in China it is only the lower classes that oppose the missionaries; that the educated classes are glad to have them come to China, and he hopes you will send yet more teachers, and do all you can for his people." The presence of the three little children of Mr. and Mrs. Yang was much appreciated by the Board.

The reception by President Cleveland had been kind and pleasant, but it was overshadowed by this visit to the Chinese minister, his wife and children, for in these the Board saw representatives of the people over whom their hearts yearn, and for whose salvation they had labored for eighteen years.

Six new missionaries were appointed to foreign fields, four of them graduates of the Scarritt Bible and Training-school. Dr. Margaret Polk goes to take charge of our medical hospital at Suchow, China. Miss Lizzie Martin, of North Carolina; Miss Johnnie Sanders, of South Carolina, and Miss Ella Leveritt, of North Georgia, were appointed to work in China. Miss Ida Schaffer, of Missouri, to Brazil, and Miss Edith Park, of Texas, to the Mexican Border work. Other candidates were before the Board, but were recommended for a course in the training-school before appointment. Each year impresses the value of the training-school yet more forcibly upon the Board, and too much can not be said of the faithful work done by its principal and her efficient helpers.

Much more might be written concerning the work of this session, but the limits of a newspaper article forbid. Suffice it to say, in conclusion, that the W. B. F. M. realizes that greater zeal, increased effort and a larger membership must be attained during the coming year, and to that end have pledged their labors and their prayers.

MARY L. HARGROVE.
Rec. Sec. W. B. F. M.

As our body casts a shadow, so does our character cast an influence. As a shadow may be either healing or hurtful, so does influence either bless or damn.—Carlos Martyn.

Selections.

The Way to the Right.

Whatever God may do, he never denies us the opportunity to do the right thing. This thing may be our going forward or our holding back, our acquiescence or our refusal. He leaves it to us to decide, and this is our opportunity. Sometimes the opportunity is to become poor, sometimes it is to become rich. Sometimes it is to live, sometimes it is to die. But it rests with us to make the circumstances in which we are placed our opportunity to do the right thing, and to take it. God often shuts the door in our face in order that we may go through another one which he has opened. He knows that the closed door is the one we meant to go through, but the open one is the door we need to go through. But sometimes he permits the opening of a door which he knows we know we ought not to enter. He thus puts us to the test by allowing us the opportunity of keeping out of it. And there are times when he closes all doors, in order that we may have the opportunity of patiently waiting and persistently knocking until one is opened. No one can complain of the lack of opportunity, for he is pretty sure to be in one or another of these cases.—Selected.

God does not open paths for us in advance of our coming. He does not promise to help before help is needed. He does not remove obstacles out of our way before we reach them. Yet when we are on the edge of our need, God's hand is stretched out. Many people forget this, and are forever worrying about difficulties which they foresee in the future. They expect that God is going to make the way plain and open before them, miles and miles ahead, whereas he has promised to do it only step by step as they move on. There is a promise which reads, "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee." You must get to the waters and into their floods before you can claim this promise. Many people dread death, and lament that they have not "dying grace." Of course, they will not have dying grace when they are in good health, in the midst of life's duties, with death far in advance. Why should they have it then? Grace for duty is what they need then, living grace; then dying grace when they come to die. When their feet are dipped in the brim of Jordan, the torrent will sink away.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

The Christian life is a growth as well as a business. While service is the business of life, growth is the manifestation and measure of life. "This year also" was the gardener's plea for the barren fig tree. The close of the year is a fitting time to consider our growth in the divine life. We measure our children year by year to see how much they have grown. The mark on the wall made last year, and the top of the head above it, tell the story of a year's growth. It may not be more than a few inches, it may not be more than one, but we know by the marks the growth of a year. If the marks tally, we are not satisfied; indeed, we are concerned, for standing still is not the sign of vigorous life. So is it in our Christian experience. "How much have you grown" during the year?—Christian Intelligencer.

A person may as well take a red-hot coal in his hand and expect not to be burned as to carry a grudge in his heart and expect to have peace. The second table of the Decalogue, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," is but an indirect way of bidding a man to be at peace with himself, which he can not be, so long as he is at enmity with his neighbor. It is amazing that so many people seem to be willing to barter away their peace of mind and serenity of heart and life for so small and ignoble a price. Many lives have been embittered to their end by nursing a feeling of ill-will toward others. Sweet charity should be more generally cultivated.—Exchange.

A man may be converted in an instant, but he must grow by the year. Every true, honest prayer that is breathed, every cross that is carried, every trial that is well endured, every good work for our fellow-men lovingly done, every little act that is conscientiously performed for Christ's glory, helps to make the Christian character beautiful, and to load its broad boughs with "apples of gold" for God's basket of silver.—Exchange.

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Slate Conference of Epworth League.

The second Mississippi State Conference of Epworth Leagues meets at Crystal Springs, July 23–26, 1896. The evening of the twenty-third will close the Mississippi Chautauqua Assembly, and usher in the Conference. The programme for the succeeding days has been tentatively arranged as follows. Changes will be made, no doubt; and they will be announced from time to time. The completed programme, as finally arranged, will be sent out in a few days.

FRIDAY.

Sunrise prayer meeting, led by T. B. Clifford.

9 A. M.—Devotional meeting.

Address by President R. W. Jones. Election of officers, appointment of committees, etc.

11 A. M.—Address by ———.

3 P. M.—W. C. T. U.

4 P. M.—Paper. The Several Departments of League Work.

4:15 to 5:30 P. M.—The Literary Department.

4:15 P. M.—The Books of the Course—Prof. Dabney Lipscomb. Discussion.

4:30 P. M.—How to Secure Study of the Books—N. G. Augustus. Discussion.

4:45 P. M.—The Course as a Means of Extending the Work of the League—Mrs. Klein. Discussion.

5 to 5:30 P. M.—Model Meeting of the Literary Department.

SATURDAY.

Sunrise prayer meeting, led by L. P. Brown.

9 A. M.—Devotional.

9:15 to 11 A. M.—The Devotional Department.

9:15 A. M.—Pledge—Miss Ormond. Discussion.

6:30 P. M.—Methods of Securing Active Participation in the Devotional Service—T. W. Lewis. Discussion.

9:45 A. M.—The Bible Studied by League Workers—Rev. A. F. Watkins.

9:50 A. M.—The League as a Training-school for Christian Workers.

11 A. M.—Address by J. R. Pepper.

3 P. M.—The Junior League—Miss Barnes. Discussion.

3:30 P. M.—The Social Department.

3:30 P. M.—Its Importance.

3:45 P. M.—How to Conduct League Socials—Rev. J. A. Randolph.

4 P. M.—League Finances.

4:30 P. M.—League in Relation to the Church.

SUNDAY.

Sunrise prayer meeting, conducted by ———.

9 A. M.—Love Feast.

11 A. M.—Sermon by Dr. Hamner.

3 P. M.—Sermon by ———.

8 P. M.—Grand rally and dismissal.

ENTERTAINMENT.

Crystal Springs proposes to entertain free of expense at least one delegate from every League in the State. Very likely more—certainly one. Send name of elected delegate as soon as possible to Rev. M. L. Burton, Crystal Springs, Miss.

Other attendants can get reduced rates for board, either on the ground or in Crystal Springs, by writing in time. Board from 75 cents to $1.25 per day. Write to M. L. Burton for full particulars.

TRANSPORTATION.

One fare round trip on the I. C. R. R., Y. and M. V., Q. and C., and probably other roads. The maximum fare on the I. C., Y. and M. V. and Q. and C. to be $5. Special excursions on very convenient schedules on the I. C., Y. and M. V. and Q. and C. For fuller information write to R. W. Bailey, Jackson, Miss.

FINANCES.

Some money will be needed to pay necessary expenses. It was resolved to raise $100 from the Mississippi Conference, and $100 from the North Mississippi Conference, in the way of voluntary contributions from the Leagues. Every League is requested to send in at least ten cents per member at once to R. W. Bailey, Jackson, Miss. More, if convenient. It is expected that $200 will pay advertising expenses and traveling expenses of speakers.

For fuller information write to R. W. Bailey, corresponding secretary, Jackson, Miss.

[There are seeming errors in the above; but we are not responsible for them. We have followed copy.—EDITOR.]

Out Again.

My first week on the road convinces me that I have neither a cool nor an easy task. Impressed by the importance of the work committed to me, I have opened the campaign for the Summer. With grip in hand, loaded with circulars and catalogues principally, I issued forth. Everywhere I find young men eager to go to college, and found them ready to accept a catalogue for future reference. The possibility of paying a year's expenses at a first-class college with the proceeds of one crop seems to be a thought never entertained, and yet such is the case. Five bales of cotton, at the minimum price of twenty-five dollars per bale, will secure such a privilege.

At Waynesboro we were welcomed by our Bro. Partridge, who is just closing a most delightful meeting, assisted by Bro. Waller, from Georgia. The most joyous feature of the meeting was the work done among the young people. I heard many of them give in most satisfactory experiences indeed.

At Shuhuta the Baptist brethren were conducting a meeting, which was being attended largely by all the town. Pastor Bradford gave me free course.

At Enterprise, where I have been pastor pro tem. for two months, I found Bro Leggett again at his post looking—well, not strong enough to withstand a St. Louis storm. He kindly allowed me his pulpit on Sabbath morning, and I preached as best I knew, and then exhorted for Millsaps. As to contributions for our Science Department—well, they were not exactly zero minus.

Already our notice in the ADVOCATE, of last week, has brought us many letters. Thank you, brethren; I'll come whenever I can. More anon.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Meridian, Miss.
Jackson, Miss., after July 10.

"Reminiscences."

To Whom It May Concern:

At the solicitation of divers brethren, I have just succeded in getting the manuscript of some "Reminiscences" that I published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and were read extensively and with pleasure as all who read express themselves. I now ask money to pay the printer.

Now, I have this proposition to make: All who want these "Reminiscences" will deposit with the Capital State Bank at Jackson from one to two dollars to an amount sufficient to pay the printer, with the understanding that any surplus that may remain after paying the printer the sum of $65 shall be refunded to any party from the proceeds of the sale of the pamphlet.

H. J. HARRIS.

Vidalia, La.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. H. Mellard, Meridian, Miss., June 30: "You will be glad to hear of our gracious revival at South Side, June 14 and 28. The church enjoys a wonderful experience of grace. Everybody has made friends, and the members that withdrew from the church a year ago have come back confessing God's power to save. We only asked that the church be reunited, but God gave us three others on profession of faith. Bro. Peebles, of West End, preached twice a day for thirteen days, and his heart-searching and soul-winning messages could scarcely be resisted. Several Baptist brethren said his sermon on backsliding could not be surpassed. Pray for us."

Rev. J. W. Dorman, Oxford, June 29: "I have for some time thought of giving you some notice of Oxford station. Since Conference we have received into the church about forty. Have organized and are running a good Epworth League. The finances are in good condition, the foreign and domestic mission and Bishop fund being paid, and all the others provided for, with fifty families yet to hear from. The preacher's and presiding elder's salaries are paid up to date, and little in advance. Now, I think this a pretty good showing for Oxford."

Rev. Henry E. Partridge, Waynesboro, Miss.: "We are just closing the services of a glorious revival. Over seventy have been converted or reclaimed, six sanctified, and nineteen joined the church. The singing of songs and testimonies of the young converts and the revived church are inspiring. Rev. Will M. Waller, of Atlanta, Ga., was my evangelistic helper, and his wife greatly helped in song and altar work. I have never known a more thorough work."

Merit

Is what gives Hood's Sarsaparilla its great popularity, increasing sales and wonderful cures. The combination, proportion and process in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla are unknown to other medicines, and make it peculiar to itself. It acts positively upon the blood, and as the blood reaches every part of the human system, all the nerves, muscles, bones and tissues come under the influence of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

You wouldn't think much of a man who remained tied when he had a knife in his hands, would you? He would be foolish to remain helpless when the slightest effort would free him. A man is made helpless and useless by other things besides ropes. Constipation will make a man helpless. His muscles and brain are so weighed down with impure, poisonous matter, useless retained in the system, that effort of all kind is distasteful; and what little work he is able to perform is not of good quality. Constipation makes a man sluggish and heavy. It gives him a headache, most likely. His "brain doesn't work." He has a bad taste in his mouth, a foul breath, and he "feels bad" all over. Constipation causes nine-tenths of all human sickness. It is the cause of sick and bilious headaches, of biliousness, sour stomach, heart-burn, palpitation of the heart, pimples, blotches, indigestion and dyspepsia. It can be cured just as easily as a rope may be cut. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it. They will do it without producing any harmful effect on the rest of the system. They are not violent in their action. They merely assist Nature. They will restore the healthy, natural action of the digestive organs. You don't become a slave to their use. You stay cured when you are cured. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative; two a mild cathartic. Get them at druggists. Nothing else is "just as good."

HEALTH FOR NOTHING.—If you knew more about your body and its needs you would be sick less often and less seriously. You may have this knowledge free. If you will send 21 one-cent stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, we will send you post-paid, a paper-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This 1,008-page, illustrated, medical work contains more information about the human body in health and disease than any other medical book printed in the English language. If you would like to have a copy bound in fine, French cloth, send ten cents additional (thirty-one cents in all). World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education

AT

Johnston Collegiate Institute,

GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.

If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing a efficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.

OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.

Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.

The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.

A. R. LADNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANDRES, Agent.

EAST MISSISSIPPI Female : College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,
MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for fifteen years, renovated, improvements added, director of music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best-equipped institutions for young ladies in the South.

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

RATES LOW.

ONE SCHOLARSHIP OF FREE TUITION given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder. For further information and handsome new Catalogue apply to

J. W. BEESON, President.

ROSE POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE

TERRE HAUTE, IND. A School of Engineering. Mechanical, Electrical, Civil Engineering, Chemical courses. Well endowed. Extensive Shops and Foundry. Modernly equipped Laboratories in all departments. Expenses low. Address C. L. MEES, President.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,
Or to
Miss P. P. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

Situations Wanted.

By a competent lady as matron and by a young lady as governess of small children. References cheerfully given. Address

M., This Office.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper, and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.

Franklinton, La.

THE HOLMAN BIBLE IN THREE STYLES.

$1.25, $1.75 AND $3.45.

We are now offering the Holman Self-Pronouncing Bible for $1.75 to subscribers who pay a full year in advance, i. e., up to July, '97. This Bible has all the Helps of the Oxford Bible, and, in addition to this, it gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.

There is a demand for Bibles with larger type than is used in the Bible we have been handling. We have made arrangements to meet that demand. We have an edition of the Holman Bible printed in bourgeois type—the largest type used in Oxford Bibles. This Bible is bound exactly in the same style as our other Holman Bibles. Those who want this Bible must meet the requirements of our offer as to subscription, and then send $2.45 instead of $1.75. This is the best bargain ever offered in a bourgeois type Bible.

We sell our large-type Holman Bible to persons who are not subscribers for 85—publisher's price. Our subscribers get it on conditions specified in our offer for $2.45. The ADVOCATE and the Bible both cost only $4.45, while the Bible alone costs $5. See the point?

We have also an edition of this Bible in smaller type than our $1.75 edition, which we sell at the low price of $1.25. Read carefully our offer on the seventh page.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is July, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For Catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Medical Department—Tulane University of Louisiana.

Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials, are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the bedside in the sick. The next session begins October 15th, 1896. For catalogue and information address

PROF. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., D. C. L.,
P. O. Drawer 261, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

T. J. MURRAY,

RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL.

Rampart and St Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS AND PACIFIC ROUTE — EL PASO

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7:25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.
4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.
ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 1st, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene immediately after close of Camp Meeting, and run through July 31. A splendid program has been prepared.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate, and renew the panting and jaded visitor from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
M. F. TUCKER, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Financial Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 519 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are Authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 519 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.
REV. S. S. KENNER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. F. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches, 1	.. ..	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
7 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, July 9, 1896.

The Mississippi Chautauqua.

The Mississippi Chautauqua, the second annual session of which is to be held at Crystal Springs, July 16 to 28, inclusive, promises to be a grand affair. Among the celebrities who are to be present and deliver lectures, or addresses, are: Dr. Alfred Wright, of Boston, who will lecture on "Methods of Bible Study;" Gen. J. B. Gordon: Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, of Nashville, Tenn., and Prof. Chas. Lane, of Atlanta, Ga. Other attractions down on the programme are: A W. C. T. U. "School of Methods"; an Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest, participated in by representatives from Mississippi College, Millsaps College, the A. and M. College, and the University of Mississippi; an Inter-Collegiate Elocution Contest, participated in by representatives from the leading female colleges of the State; and an entertainment by Prof. A. H. Merrill, the famous elocutionist of Vanderbilt University. A rich treat is in store for those who attend. The beauty of the grounds has been greatly enhanced since last year by the addition of a charming lake. Visitors are sure to be delighted with Crystal Springs, with its surroundings, and its warm-hearted and intelligent people.

The Louisiana Chautauqua.

The fifth annual session of the Louisiana Chautauqua, which began at Ruston, July 1, and is to continue six weeks, promises to be the most successful yet held. Mrs. M. H. Williams and Prof. C. E. Byrd, the energetic and efficient managers, have spared no pains to make the season one of unusual attractiveness. Possibly the most important feature of the Chautauqua is the Summer School, which affords exceptional opportunities both to teachers and students. The course of study is comprehensive and practical. The faculty comprises many noted educators, and the best of instruction is thus insured.

The notable personages who are to lecture are: Sam Jones; Harvey, of "Coin's Financial School;" Dr. Talmage; Edwin L. Burker, the great impersonator and humorist, and Dr. H. M. Du Bose, the father of the Epworth League. The lecture course alone is worth a trip to the Chautauqua.

Prominent attention will be given to the religious features of the Chautauqua.

Mrs. E. L. Hoyle, principal of the New Orleans Cooking School, will give a series of lectures and demonstrations upon scientific cookery. A class in art needle-work will be conducted by Miss Alberta Yerger. As the railroads are all giving one-fare rates to this Chautauqua, we predict a large attendance. A more delightful place to take an outing can hardly be found in the State.

Col. H. M. Taylor has been awarded the contract for putting up the new Science Hall at Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss. The work will be pushed forward at once.

The Summer Vacation.

The season has arrived when people of every class and condition seek rest and recreation. The Summer months annually witness a mighty exodus from the cities to the mountains, the country, and the seaside. Thousands of students are now exulting in freedom from the monotony of recitations and the restraints of the class-room.

The physical man undoubtedly demands occasional recreation and respite from routine duties. A bow that is kept constantly bent soon loses its spring, and becomes useless. Many a man shortens his days by refusing to take needful relaxation. An occasional outing, though it be but for a day, is vastly beneficial. The diligent toiler, after such a season of rest, can do more and better work than before. Some people find little pleasure in a vacation for the reason that they hardly know what it is to labor with might and main, and, consequently, rest does not mean what it ought to them. The old saying, "Work while you work, play while you play," contains sound philosophy. The Savior himself has set us an example in taking occasional rest. Several times during his active ministry he sought the solitudes of the desert in order that he might escape the multitudes that thronged him, and have time to commune with the Father. On one occasion he said to his disciples: "Come ye apart into the desert, and rest awhile."

Recreation, as has been well said, is as needful in its place as work. Says Dr. Cumeron Lees in "Life and Conduct:" "We speak of the waves playing on the shore, of the shadows playing on the mountain side. All this indicates that there is 'a certain play element' that rejoices in the world around us. This is the teaching of experience. Unvaried and unbroken toil becomes a sore burden; it breaks the spirit, weakens energy, and saddens the heart."

As a rule, brain workers need a longer vacation than manual laborers. The strain upon the nerves incident to teaching, preaching, editing, and certain other professions, is greatly underrated by many; nor can it be relieved all at once. Fresh air, change of scenery, and a short season of rest will often work wonders for the jaded and spiritless toiler. After such an experience he comes back a new man, so to speak, recreated in body, mind and spirit. Medicine alone could never accomplish such blessed results. In general, the more complete the relaxation, the more rapid the recuperation.

Not the least of the blessings of modern civilization is that of cheap and rapid transit. The poor of our cities, while they can not tarry as long by the seaside or in the country as the wealthy, have advantages in this respect which the common people of other days never dreamed of.

While many vacation excursionists go mainly for rest, quite a large per cent.—we may say the majority—go for the sake of pleasure, leaving all serious thoughts and aims behind. One great reason why some of our camp meetings are not more successful in a spiritual way is that so large a number of those in attendance are more intent upon having "a good time" boating, fishing, visiting their friends, etc., than they are upon being benefited spiritually. Thirty or forty years ago, when preaching was not so frequent, and religious books and newspapers were scarce, the people were far more hungry for religious instruction than they are now, and consequently came together for more distinctly religious aims. Conditions have greatly changed since then.

It is a lamentable fact that many of those who go on an outing think themselves privileged to do things that they would hardly think of doing at other times. To not a few vacation is the occasion of hurtful frivolity and dissipation. Others, again, if they do not engage in questionable amusements and practices, wofully neglect their religious duties, particularly, private prayer, Bible study and church attendance. Young people away from home at a fashionable watering place, or other Summer resort, need to be on their guard against desecrating the Sabbath and too close companionship with the utterly worldly. Students on their return home are in many instances in danger of slothfulness and intemperate indulgence in pleasure.—Light literature is, of course, in place during the warm days; but if newspapers, novels and magazines be read exclusively, one's literary taste is sure to become vitiated.

Above all, taking a vacation should never mean, as it does with some, rest from serving the Lord. The devil never takes a holiday. To be a Christian means that we must show our colors always and everywhere. It is astonishing how selfish and unsympathetic some people become while on an outing. They want the best of everything, growl like bears at slight inconveniences, and are not satisfied unless everybody yields to their wishes. Nothing is truer than that the unselfish and obliging are the ones who enjoy themselves most on a vacation. Their fountain of happiness being within, is little affected by environment. The pleasure-seeker who ignores the rights and wishes of others, and makes his own gratification his chief aim, is sure to come back from his outing dissatisfied with himself and with the world. Cicero rightly said "that he is not worthy to be called a man who is willing to spend a single day wholly in pleasure."

No one needs amusement so much as he who is always at it, for he soon loses the power of real enjoyment. To quote from another: "The amusements that send us back to toil with a lightened heart and a vigorous body are those only we should engage in; all others are detrimental, and should be shunned." The devoted Christian, whether at home or seeking recreation, will recognize and utilize opportunities of doing and getting good.

In some instances the daughters of a family, though in vigorous health and exuberant spirits, go to the mountains or to the seaside for a month or two, while the over-worked, self-sacrificing mother remains at home, enduring uncomplainingly the heat and loneliness, and the burden of never-varying duties. A little more thoughtfulness on the part of sons and daughters would revolutionize many a plan for Summer pleasure.

Says an exchange: "The charming story of the young girl who 'gave mother and herself a vacation' by exchanging places with her, and becoming mistress, housekeeper, and caterer, while mother played tennis and read and studied, showed a beautiful truth. The motive of the pretty play was love, and it gave both mother and daughter a broader mental outlook as well as a needed variety."

Those fortunate enough to get away from the dust and heat and din of the city for a short while should not forget their fellow-men who are denied such pleasure. By no means all who need to recruit their wasted energy will have an opportunity to do so. The class who labor hardest and longest are, for the most part, the ones to whom the blessing of rest and relaxation is but a picture of the mind, destined to be unrealized. Were these possessed of means more liberal and thoughtful, many of the poor could get a short vacation who now are not able. In nearly all the large cities now-a-days funds are raised yearly for the purpose of giving an outing to the waifs and children of the very poor. A noble benefaction it is. Dr. Clay, of this city, is doing a splendid work along this line, and the cause he represents should receive liberal contributions from the charitably disposed.

Let not the can't-get-away, however, make his life more miserable by fretting over his own lot, and picturing what other people enjoy. Keeping steadily at one's tasks is a great preventive of the blues and of discontent.

The Mississippi State Epworth League Conference.

Elsewhere in our columns appears the programme of the State Epworth League Conference, to be held at Crystal Springs, July 24 to 26, inclusive. The meeting at Grenada last year was a splendid success, but we shall be greatly disappointed if this year's Conference does not go beyond the first one both in attendance, enthusiasm, and helpfulness. The prospect is bright for "a big time," socially, intellectually, and spiritually. If the programme is carried out, it will indeed be "a feast of fat things." Let every League in the State send one or more delegates. Every pastor who can do so should attend. Let everybody interested in the growth of the Epworth League in Mississippi work and pray earnestly for the success of the coming Conference.

Notes by the Way.

AT DECATUR.

Seven o'clock, Thursday morning, July 2, found us at Newton on our way to the above-named place. Here we fell in with Bros. R. W. Bailey and J. W. McLaurin, who were also on their way to the gathering of the brethren.

The trip of ten miles over a country road was slowly and surely made. We could not enter into the feelings of one of our company in his complaints against our faithful team.

Think of it, Mr. Editor; three agents behind our span. I rather felt a sympathy for the dumb brute. I said well done for any team that could land such a cargo safe. We found the Preachers' Institute in session. We were sorry to have missed any of the proceedings. Bro. J. T. Nicholson was just closing a stirring argument on the financial obligations of the church. The loud amens from the brethren were evidence of its acceptance.

"Woman's True Relation to the Church" was presented in a strong, masterly speech by Bro. Bradley. For good argument, appropriate illustration and elegance of diction it was happily and pleasingly presented. It would make delightful reading should he see fit to present it to the press.

On Friday morning the District Conference was called to order by the presiding elder. Though a young man in the office, Bro. Simmons presided with perfect ease, and dispatched the business with a quickness that was most satisfactory, and yet with a thoroughness that brought out all that was of interest or necessary to be known.

Every pastor in the district, except one, Bro. L. J. Jones, who was kept at home because of sickness in his family, was present. A large percentage of laymen were present, and took active part in the proceedings. More and more I am convinced that the Summer is the time and our smaller towns and country villages are the places to hold our District Conferences.

Large audiences at every service and a welcome in every home gave evidence of the appreciation of the good people of Decatur and surrounding country at the coming of the saints.

The Conference sermon preached by Bro. R. A. Sibley, Sr., was well received. His review of forty-five years of itinerant work, beginning on the Decatur circuit, was touching, and held his audience from beginning to end. When he told of the hundreds of souls converted under his ministry I could but exclaim, "How rich, how rich;" and thought with what delight he will soon enter into his inheritance. When he recounted the hardships of the early itinerant, the small salaries, etc., I said, "Truly the lines have fallen to us of this generation in pleasant places."

Bro. Mellen was present and gave us his best, which was good to edify-ing, on the great subject of Missions. If we, as people and preachers, could only have a good portion of his spirit upon us, that missionary debt would soon be a thing of the past, and the church could send forth more laborers. When, oh, when, will the church arouse to its highest and greatest work?

We were given the right of way Saturday, at eleven, to present the claims of education in general and Millsaps College in particular. We were accorded a very respectful hearing by the large audience assembled. We did our best. Talked with several young men, answered many questions concerning the advantages offered, received much encouragement, and were assured again and again of the growing interest of our people in Millsaps College. The enthusiasm of our last commencement had preceded me, and I heard naught but words of praise. A collection on the floor resulted, in cash and good subscriptions—just such as Methodist preachers can and do give—to more than fifty dollars. Besides this, we had cordial invitations from the pastors to visit their charges and talk college and take collections to our heart's content.

Brethren, we shall run in on you some of these fine days.

We were disappointed in the proportions of Decatur, having heard of the place from our childhood. Judge McCune, my venerable host, says that it has never recovered from the visit of Gen. Sherman about 33 years ago.

Pastor Williams is in high favor with his people, and has the gratitude of every visitor for a most excellent home. We bade the good people good by Saturday. Our next point is Vaiden, in the Winona district.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

July 4, 1896

A New Book.

ECHOES OF BATTLE. By Bushrod Washington James, member of the Sons of the Revolution, etc. Philadelphia: Henry T. Coates & Co. 8 vo, crown, 222 pages.

This is a beautiful volume containing fourteen poems, mostly of a martial character, and dealing with scenes and battles of the war of the Secession and the Revolution. These poems do not belong to a very high order of poetry; they depend for their effect upon the sentiment of the heroic so easily stirred in youthful breasts, and upon the power of awakening associations in the minds of those to whom war has been a stern reality. There occur in some of the poems, or pieces, passages of very great descriptive beauty, and these justify the author's having written in verse. The following is a fair sample:

"The sea looks up, its surface polished bright,
And paints in the rarest, purest hues
Of sky and cloud, of shade and dazzling light,
And living pictures of its shore-line views.
Its waves less restless move, its mooning tone
Is almost silent as the day draws near
To evening, with its shadows, which alone
Can make the night-wind's song so sad to hear."

Five descriptive prose chapters occupy the greater part of the volume, and are by no means superfluous. In reading we have some conception "at what fearful cost the independence of the United States and the preservation of the Union were attained." That we might more fully realize this, and thus "always protect the country from a recurrence of distrust and rebellion," seems to be the design of the author in giving his book to the world.

F. S. P.

What Are We Coming To?

Greatly to the astonishment of the public and to the chagrin of thousands of our best citizens, the General Assembly of this State has just passed a bill licensing pool-room gambling. We sincerely hope that the governor, who was elected some time ago on an anti-lottery reform ticket, will not dishonor himself, nor the people he represents, by giving this infamous measure his signature.

NOTES.

Rev. T. L. Lallance has moved his gospel tent from Gouldsboro to the east side of the river, and is still continuing the meetings.

***

While Rev. I. W. Cooper, of Harlehurst, Miss., is taking a three-weeks' vacation, his place is being supplied by Rev. C. W. Crisler.

***

Prof. J. F. Boydston, formerly of Whitworth College, has just been elected president of Fairview College at Binnsville, Miss., and has accepted.

***

Among the graduates for 1896 in the Biblical Department of Vanderbilt we notice the name of Rev. Perry O. Lowry, A. B., of Louisiana.

***

We are pleased to note that Mr. F. B. Cutchings, a man of sterling worth, has been elected a member of the Board of Trustees of Whitworth Female College.

***

We congratulate our talented young brother, Rev. Henry B. Carre, of this city, upon his success in winning the A. L. P. Green medal at the Vanderbilt University commencement.

***

Do to-day's duty, fight to-day's temptation, and do not weaken and distract yourself by looking forward to things which you can not see, and could not understand if you saw them.—Charles Kingsley.

***

S. H. Werlein, Jr., son of Rev. S. H. Werlein, D. D., of St. Louis, achieved the distinction at the recent commencement of winning the Crawford $100 prize for best scholarship in the Academic Department of Vanderbilt University.

***

In a private note Bro. J. A. Randolph, P. E., of the Greenville (Miss.) district, says: "We have just closed the greatest revival at Gunnison that we have had in the Delta in six years. Dr. Steele is making a tour of the district. He is to lecture at nine places within its bounds."

On June 28 Rev. J. D. Ellis, of the Mississippi Conference, was married to Miss Minnie Holt, of Yazoo county, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. J. Smylie. We congratulate Bro. Ellis on his good fortune. May the wedded life of this young couple prove as "pleasant as May!"

***

Rev. R. L. Webb, a worthy young preacher who has been in attendance upon Millsaps College the past session, requests us to say to the brethren that during his vacation he is ready to assist in meetings, and otherwise, any who desire his services. His address is Daleville, Miss.

***

We regret to learn that Rev. Dr. Palmer, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of this city, is having trouble with his eyes, and has gone to New York City to have an operation performed upon them. His congregation is at present without a pastor. We sincerely hope that the Doctor will soon be all right again.

***

On the sixth instant Bishop Galloway delivered a masterly address on prohibition to a large and enthusiastic audience at Melvin's Mill, in Madison county (Miss.). Splendid speeches were also made by Rev. A. F. Watkins and Dr. W. L. C. Hunnicutt. We hope soon to see old Madison freed from the saloon curse.

***

The W. F. M. Society of the Mississippi Conference, at its recent annual session held in Natchez, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Miss Addie V. Marshall; vice-president, Miss Addie Purnell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. N. Chatfield; recording secretary, Mrs. A. F. Watkins; treasurer, Miss Mary Andrews; auditor, Mrs. Annie DeMoss; editor, Mrs. E. D. Jones.

***

Those contemplating the purchase of musical instruments of any kind will do well to take heed to the advertisement, which appears elsewhere in our columns, of the old and reliable music house of Philip Werlein, which was established in 1853. During the forty-three years of its existence 25,000 pianos have been sold and placed by this firm in the homes of people of every rank. A remarkable showing this! Such wonderful success is but the inevitable result of low prices, fair dealing and the sincere desire to give perfect satisfaction. We take great pleasure in commending this famous music house to the favorable consideration of the public. Bro. Werlein conducts his business on Christian principles. If you want a bargain, call on or write to him.

***

Grenada Female Institute, presided over by the energetic and talented J. W. Malone, is a school of which North Mississippi may justly be proud. It has already made a splendid record for itself as a school of high grade, where thorough work is done, and with its present able faculty not only will its previous reputation be sustained, but we expect also to see its usefulness greatly enlarged. This institution offers the very best facilities in art, music, and elocution in addition to the regular branches. The buildings are large, in neat repair, and are equipped with the latest improvements. The college has a beautiful, well-kept campus of six acres, and is an attractive, home-like place. Fortunate is the young lady who has a chance to attend this institution. Grenada is noted for its morality, healthfulness, and refinement.

***

We are in receipt of the catalogue of Vanderbilt University for the session of 1895-'6. Among the seventy-two students in attendance upon the Biblical Department of the University we notice the names of N. E. Joyner, a graduate of Centenary College, and H. B. Carre, a graduate of Tulane University. The students represent twenty-six different Annual Conferences and graduates from twenty-six Southern colleges and universities. Many of the latter enjoyed the benefit of the free scholarships which are open to college graduates, and which are of sufficient value to cover the cost of board in Wesley Hall. A Sustentation Loan Fund, in connection with free tuition and room rent, places it within the power of every young minister in the church to get the benefit of a course of instruction at Vanderbilt University if he desires to do so. During the past year the alumni and other students of the Biblical Department have raised in subscriptions fourteen thousand dollars towards establishing and endowing a new chair of Biblical Theology and English Exegesis. It is proposed to raise forty thousand dollars for this purpose.

CHILLIFUGE

CURES CHILLS

This is guaranteed. If it fails, you get your money back. It also cures Fever and all malarial troubles. It is a perfect substitute for quinine, being better to take, better in its operation, better in its effect. It's as pleasant to take as orange syrup. It purifies the blood, renovates the system, strengthens the nerves. Restores good health to young and old. Sold everywhere. Price 50c. Prepared by

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Epworth League.

By Rev. R. H. Wynn.

Prayer Meeting Topic for July.

THE DISCIPLES OF OUR LORD.

SUNDAY, JULY 12—THE CALL OF THE DISCIPLES.

We do not know what were the circumstances of the call of all the twelve disciples, but we have some very interesting information concerning the first acquaintance of some of them with Jesus, and his selection of them as disciples.

I.—FIRST ACQUAINTANCE (John i, 29–51).

The place is the scene of the preaching and baptizing of John the Baptist, at or near the river Jordan, and the time soon after the temptation of Jesus in the wilderness, whence he returns to the scene of his baptism. It seems that a circle of true friends from Galilee were in attendance upon the ministry of John, and, as the result, were in a state of eager expectation of beholding the Messiah. Two of the number heard John testify concerning Jesus as he passed, "Behold the Lamb of God," and they immediately follow him, and accept an invitation to abide with him during the day. One of these was Andrew, and the other was almost certainly John, the beloved disciple, though, through characteristic modesty, his own name is not mentioned in the narrative. This was quite an event in the life of John, marking, as it did, the beginning of the beautiful personal friendship between himself and his Lord. Andrew finds his brother Simon, and brings him also to Jesus. On the day following Jesus finds Philip, and Philip, in turn, finds Nathanael, who was probably the Bartholomew mentioned by the other three gospel writers. By a mutual attraction Jesus and the five become attached to one another, and they return to Galilee together, though none of them have yet been called to abandon their vocations in life to become his disciples.

(1) What a happy moment when one first becomes acquainted with Jesus!

(2) Those who seek Jesus will always find him, and will be heartily welcomed.

(3) Those who find Jesus always seek to bring others to him.

II.—CALL OF THE FISHERMEN (Mark i, 16–20; Luke v, 1–11).

These two passages are supplemental, and, by comparing them, it may be seen that the call of the two pairs of disciples was immediately after the miracle of the draught of fishes, which is the occasion and illustration of the words of Jesus, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Simon and Andrew, James and John, are now regularly called to be disciples; to abandon their humble, yet honorable, employment as fishermen, and to engage in the great work of soul-saving. They do not need to continue mending their broken nets, as nets of a higher character will be supplied to them, and they will be made proficient in using them.

(1) The call of Christ to followship with himself is a call to the highest sphere of usefulness.

(2) We should be ready to give up all for Christ without hesitation.

III.—CALL OF MATTHEW, THE PUBLICAN (Matt. ix, 9–13).

Matthew was not a man of social prominence. He was simply a collector of customs in Capernaum, and, as such, belonged to an unpopular class. He, too, manifested the spirit of prompt obedience when called to become the disciple of Christ.

NOTES.

The Leagues of Meridian are organized into a Union League, which is being operated with good results.

The monthly meeting of Union League, of New Orleans, will be held at Algiers Church, Thursday evening, July 9.

East Mississippi Female College.

Prof. J. W. Beeson, the newly elected president of East Mississippi Female College, is a man of wide experience and scholarly attainments, and has already achieved remarkable success as an educator. For the past five years he has been president of the Marengo Female Institute, of Demopolis, Ala., where he gave eminent satisfaction. Previously he was at the head of Arcadia Seminary, La., which school he built up from almost nothing to 300 pupils. He is an A. M. graduate of the University of Alabama, and is highly commended not only by the faculty of that institution, but also by a number of prominent teachers, preachers and patrons of Alabama and Louisiana.

The announcement for the ensuing session says: "We intend to have the strongest faculty the institution has ever had in its history. Teachers especially trained for their work are being employed in every department." The Music, Art, and Elocution Departments will each be in charge of specialists of marked ability and success. A Kindergarten Department is to be added in connection with the primary work. Physical culture will also receive due attention.

The college buildings, which are commodious enough to accommodate eighty or more boarders, and are fitted up with gas, water, and sewer connections, are now undergoing a thorough repair and renovation. Meridian, the place of its location, is noted for its healthfulness, accessibility, and wholesome religious atmosphere. A scholarship of free tuition is to be awarded to one young lady in each presiding elder's district.

Bro. Beeson's rates are, considering the advantages offered, extremely low. We predict a large attendance for the next session. Write to the president for a catalogue.

Notice.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, W. P. and H. M. Society, Louisiana Conference, Mrs. S. S. King was elected Conference treasurer to fill the place of our deceased co-worker, Mrs. J. H. Campman. Auxiliaries will forward reports and dues to Mrs. S. S. King, No. 1527 Camp street, New Orleans, La.

MRS. FLORENCE E. RUSS,
Conf. Cor. Sec.

Catarrhal Cold Cured.

New Orleans, La., June 22, 1896.—"I have had a catarrhal cold, and have tried several remedies without benefit. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I am now entirely cured."—Miss Julia I. Black, 928 Montegut Street.

HOOD'S PILLS cure all liver ills.

Official Notice.

Rev. Lyman R. Roberts has been appointed preacher in charge of Vancleave circuit, Seashore district.

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

Marry This Girl—Somebody.

MR. EDITOR:—I stained a blue silk dress with lemon juice; what will restore the color? I am making lots of money selling the Climax Dish Washer. Have not made less than $10 any day I worked. Every family wants a Dish Washer, and buy quickly when they see the dishes washed and dried perfectly in ONE MINUTE. I generally sell at every house. It is easy selling what every family wants to buy. I sell as many washers as my brother, and he is an old salesman. I will clear $3,000 this year. By addressing J. H. Nolen, 60 W. Third Ave., Columbus, Ohio, anyone can get particulars about the Dish Washer and can do as well as I am doing. All you have to do is to send for sample Dish Washer. This Company does not ask any pay until you have them sold. Talk about hard times; you can soon pay off a Mortgage, when making $10 a day, if you will ONLY WORK; and why won't people try, when they have such good opportunities?

For the Mississippi Orphans' Home.

Since my last report, May 15, I have received on Orphans' Day collections as follows: Grenada circuit, $2.30; Cornersville circuit, $7.90; Blue Springs circuit, $6.35; Sidon circuit, $7; Pickens, $49.30; Oxford station, $14. Other charges will report soon.

The interest in the Home is growing among the preachers and people. A good woman of Corinth station sends the only diamond she possesses to be sold and used for the orphans. A good man and his family have asked the privilege of adopting an orphan child soon as the Home is opened.

Brethren of the North Mississippi Conference, I believe you are as good friends to the orphans as I am. Will you please give all the people an opportunity to help build a Home for the homeless? Remember, this institution is located in the bounds of our Conference.

Yours fraternally,

J. A. BOWEN, Treas.

Water Valley, Miss., July 2, 1896

Roanoke College.

The forty-third year of Roanoke College closed on June 10 with a brilliant commencement. Secretary J. Sterling Morton and Hon. Andrew D. White, LL.D., were among the speakers.

The session was very successful in the increased enrollment, unusually good order and diligent work of the students. A large proportion are candidates for the ministry, representing six denominations. The students came from seventeen States and Territories and three foreign countries. A Korean is a member of the next Junior class. Roanoke College offers unusually good advantages at a very moderate cost. The catalogue may be had free by addressing Dr. Julius D. Dreher, President, Salem, Va.

Notice.

Delegates and ministers who expect to attend the District Conference at Lake Arthur, La., July 15 to 17, must get off at Mermentau, Tuesday, July 14. We will have a steamboat to meet the day trains only on that day and convey the brethren to Lake Arthur.

Any who should come after Tuesday must get off at Jennings and take the mail hack which leaves Jennings at 12 o'clock and arrives at Lake Arthur about 2:20 P. M.

ROBT. P. HOWELL, P. C.

Do You Know? That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities cannot be remedied by changes of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 26, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,

MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

MARTIN COLLEGE

For Young Ladies,

PULASKI, - - - TENN.

Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.

The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zelsbarg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

S. N. BARKER, President.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of instructors. Improved facilities. Most healthful location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low.

For catalogue and announcements address

CHANCELLOR R. B. FULTON,
University, Mississippi.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.

A select home training school for boys. Aim Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address

WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

The Wall and Mooney School,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

—FITS BOYS FOR THE LEADING COLLEGES.—

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt University on certificate, and take the very highest rank, there and elsewhere.

NEXT TERM WILL OPEN AUG. 25, 1896.

No pupil will be admitted without previous engagement. Apply early. For catalogue, address

W. D. MOONEY, Sec.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.

FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

"The Ideal College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Hood and Miss Heron, Principals.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,

Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address.

D. SULLINS, Pres't.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

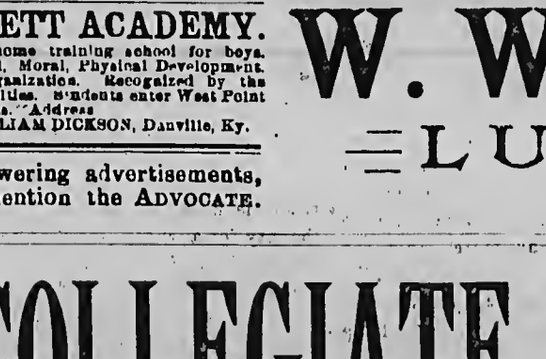
GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.



Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

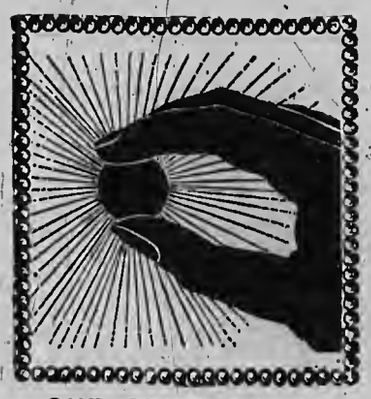
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT IS THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Over-Profit Paying Stop it

Get our Great Catalogue and Buyers Guide. We'll send it for 15 cents in stamps to pay part postage or expressage. The Book's free. 900 Pages, 12000 Illustrations, 40000 descriptions, everything that's used in life; tells you what you ought to pay, whether you buy of us or not. One profit from maker to user. Get it.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
Originators of the Mail Order Method
111-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Car fare paid.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.

Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping will us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $10. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)

BELLS all kinds, big and little—for church and school, for fire, factory and farm. Catalogue FREE. AMERICAN BELL FOUNDRY CO., NORTHVILLE, Mich.

HOME CIRCLE.

IN OLD AGE.

BY F. L. PERKINS.

I know that I'm nearing the shore
Of that seemingly bound ocean,
Where the sailors return no more,
And they call it Eternity.

But that sea has another shore,
Where the blood-washed millions abide;
And the good that have gone before
Will welcome me over the tide.

There all the dear loved ones will meet
Amid joys that can not be told;
Where the young forever look sweet,
And the aged cease to look old.

Let me sing the praise of the sea
As I start for the other shore;
Though loved ones are left behind me,
There are more that have gone before.

Burn a Candle at Both Ends, and It Will Soon Be Gone.

He came into old Alderman Greedy's money, for he was his nephew; but, as the old saying is, the fork followed the rake, the spender was heir to the hoarder. God has been very merciful to some of us in never letting money come rolling in upon us, for most men are carried off their legs if they meet with a great wave of fortune. Many of us would have been bigger sinners if we had been trusted with larger purses. Poor Jack had plenty of pence, but little sense. Money is easier made than made use of. What is hard to gather is easy to scatter. The old gentleman had lined his nest well, but Jack made the feathers fly like flakes of snow in Winter time. He got rid of his money by shovelfuls and then by cartloads. After spending the interest he began swallowing the capital; and so killed the goose that laid the golden eggs. He squandered his silver and gold in ways which must never be told. It would not go fast enough, and so he bought race-horses to run away with it. He got into the hands of blacklegs, and fell into company of which we shall say but little; only when such madams smile, men's purses weep; these are a well without a bottom, and the more a fool throws in, the more he may. The greatest beauty often causes the greatest ruin. Play, women and wine are enough to make a prince a pauper.

Always taking out and never putting back soon empties the biggest sack, and so Jack found it; but he took no notice till his last shilling bade him good-by, and then he said he had been robbed; like silly Tom who put his finger in the fire and said it was his bad luck.—Spurgeon.

Gossiping in the Presence of Children.

A habit of indulging in gossip is pernicious in its influences and results over us all. "Pity 'tis, 'tis true," that we oftentimes give a willing ear to the stories circulating about our friends and acquaintances, and more is the pity that we are tempted too readily, and yield to the temptation, to tell these detrimental reports over again to other willing ears.

It is astonishing how thoughtless mothers often are of their speech before children. Children are very attentive listeners. They may seem to be interested in their play or their books, but nevertheless nothing said by their elders escapes their ears. Children like to hear what their elders are talking about, especially if the talk is carried on with a show of mystery.

Friends may speak deprecatingly of some other friend, without a thought of the consequences, and perhaps without even a remembrance of the words spoken, a few days afterwards, but the child who hears it makes a memorandum of the sins of commission or omission which mother and her friend talked over, and thus an unjust prejudice is acquired, which the mother is astonished to hear expressed perhaps weeks afterwards. "What mother says must be so," is the argument the child uses to reason out the wrong and right of things. Mother is the ideal of all that is true and just and good.

Think of this, mothers! What wonderful trust your little child places in you and your judgment and actions. Is it not a very serious matter to be a child's ideal of what is best and truest in motherhood? "Mrs. So-and-So must be a dreadful woman," reasons the child, who has heard that neighbor spoken of in a depreciatory manner. And if that neighbor has a child, what a show of superior goodness the child of the gossiping mother carries about with her hereafter when she mingles with Mrs. "So-and-So's" child! How pitifully she regards her in the light of her mother's depreciating estimate—it is such a dreadful thing to have a mother who does things which, mother thinks, are so bad! Two-thirds of the gossip circulated about persons is libellous, because it is untrue, and if legally followed up would prove a crime. The sad results of scandalous stories are often pitiful in the extreme.

We try to have our children acquire habits of truth and justice that will help them on in right living, but are we particular to teach them not to speak untruthfully or unjustly of their little playmates? When they come to us with a story which depreciates the good qualities of some little friend, do we counsel them not to tell over anything which will hurt the reputation of that child? Do we help them to acquire the habit of that charity which thinketh no evil of one's neighbor?—The Evangelist.

He Did Not Think.

Down in the fire-room of a big steamer that was lying at the wharf in New York, a young man was told to do a certain piece of work in connection with the pumps. There were two pumps close together in the room; one for feeding the boiler, the other to use in case the ship should take fire. This latter one was capable of throwing a volume of water as large as a man's body.

The young man, who had been employed on the ship for three years, and had always proved himself efficient and reliable, was the only person left in charge of the fire and engine rooms. After the order was given to attend to the work necessary for the engine-pump, he removed the cap from the fire-pump. In a moment he discovered his error, but the force of the water was so great that he could not replace the cap on the pump. Without a word, he ran to the deck, jumped ashore and took the cars for his home in another State. The water soon filled the hold of the vessel, and in spite of every effort the steamer sank. Thousands of dollars of damage was done to the furniture of the cabin and state rooms, and the vessel was prevented from sailing on the usual date, thus causing another loss to the owners and great inconvenience to the public.

What do you suppose was the man's answer to the question as to the cause of the accident? "I did not think."

You see, he had not learned, when a little boy, to give his whole attention to the work in hand. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." And to do with all the power of which a man or woman is capable, it is necessary to learn to give full attention when a child, whether it be work or play; if it is worth doing at all, it is worthy of the whole attention. Never make "I did not think" an excuse for a stupid action.—Selected.

"What Will Mother Say?"

"Where did you get such a nice apple, Fred?"

"Never mind where I got it; you may have half." But the big brother shook his head. Fred had not bought the apple, he knew, for they had started out without a cent in their pockets, and it was still early morning, so that they had not earned any money. Sandy did not like the look of things.

"Oh, well, don't be cross; I'll tell you where I got the apple—I picked it up under Goody Black's stand; under it, mind you, on the ground. No harm picking up apples out of the dirt, I reckon?"

But Sandy shook his head again. "No matter where you got it, Fred, it ain't yours: it's Goody Black's; she didn't sell it to you, nor lend it, nor give it. How came she to part with it?"

"I s'pose you mean I stole it, Sandy Brune; but you'd better mind how you call me a thief; and if the apple will stick in your throat, you needn't eat any; that's all."

Fred raised the apple to his lips, but the next minute he felt Sandy's arms across his shoulders. "Stop, Fred!" said the big brother; "what will mother say?"

Instantly there came to the boy's eye a picture of that dear mother, brave and kind and loving, saying, "Keep yourselves clean inside, boys, and I'll keep you clean outside."

Goody Black's apple went back to her stall, but I hope she gave our boys one apiece, don't you?—Sunbeam.

How Much Owest Thou?

The will of a wealthy man who died not long ago was found, when opened, to contain these words: "I desire my executors to pay all my just debts." It seemed at first thought an easy thing to follow his directions, for the estate was large and the claims against it apparently unimportant.

Yet this man, who all his life possessed a perfect horror of unpaid bills, had, nevertheless, been constantly contracting debts which a thousand times his wealth could not begin to pay. He owed to his God love and gratitude and devotion. He owed to him the years he had spent following his own ways. "Ye have robbed me," was God's reproach against the children of Israel, equally true of this man, whose debt to God must go unpaid through all eternity.

To his fellow-men, as well, he owed something not to be paid by money, nor to be settled by executors. He owed them help in difficulty, sympathy in hours of trouble, and love at all times. He owed it to them to set a good example, to do justice and love mercy. "I desire my executors to pay all my just debts." Alas, for him who leaves to others the duties which he alone can perform! Such debts we must pay ourselves and must pay when they are due, or not at all.

Dear young people, how much do you owe your Lord? Our past indebtedness he is ready to forgive, fully and freely. For the present he claims the full love of our hearts. And only by giving ourselves up to him, with our time and our talents, can we begin to pay our "just debt."—Young People's Weekly.

Be Christians Now.

We see more clearly than ever the vital importance of our girls and boys giving their lives to the Savior. Very few persons are converted after they pass middle life. Indeed, not many begin the service of Christ after they have passed the limits of youth.

I am glad that in our days there is so much anxiety for the salvation of the girls and boys. Just now, how many fathers and mothers are praying for their children! How many Sunday-school teachers are earnestly asking for the conversion of their pupils! How many Junior superintendents are praying and longing to have the members of the Junior society become true Christians! Dear girls and boys, will you not decide now to become the Lord's own obedient children? God is love. He loves you. He wants your love. He wants your glad service. He hears the feeblest cry of the sincere soul. He waits to receive you. I hope all the members of our Junior societies everywhere who have not already become sincere followers of the Master will do so now. Now is the best time. Now may be the only time. Now is your time.—Epworth Herald.

Gruff old Carlyle says: "The older I grow, and I now stand upon the brink of eternity, the more come back to me the first sentence in the catechism which I learned when a child, and the fuller and deeper its meaning becomes: 'What is the chief end of man? To glorify God and enjoy him forever.'"

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

May Women Wear Corsets?

This is an old subject, yet ever new. That they do wear them is very true. That they will continue to do so is also true. There are abundant exceptions, of course. Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton is one, Miss Francis Willard is another; Mrs. Dio Lewis another; Sarah Bernhardt also is one of the number. Multitudes could be named. All of these are well-known women, whose achievements have been of importance to the world. They could not have done their work as well had they worn corsets.

What does the corset do to a woman? It does several things. Let me enumerate a few of them:

1. It alters the character of the breathing. Men, women, boys and girls, all have by nature what is called abdominal respiration; that is, the respiratory movement is greater in the abdominal region and least in the thoracic region. Study this for yourselves when the child is asleep; when a man or a boy, or a girl, unfettered, is lying or sitting comfortably on a lounge or chair. At every inspiration the abdomen is pushed down and the region around the waist expands.

Study now the respiration of a woman in corsets, even loosely fitting ones. The abdominal movement during inspiration is lessened very much, and the movement of the upper part of the chest increased. It is now just the reverse of what it was before.

Does this alteration of the respiration movement do any harm? It is pretty certain that nature's ways are best. Evolution would not have developed the race that way if it was not the best way. It was the Creator's way of doing his work.

What harm does it do? It prevents the stomach, liver and intestines being moved up and down, gently churned with each breath, an exercise very necessary to health. Liver, stomach and intestines need this movement to keep the blood flowing and to insure the work they have to do being well done. Dyspepsia, liver torpidity and constipation are all more or less caused by it.

2. The next point I will mention is the effect of the corset on the heart. The business of the heart is to pump blood. If it is strong and has free activity it keeps the blood well circulated, and this is very important for health. If weak, or hampered by tight clothing, it can not do its work well and the body suffers. The corset constricts the size and diminishes the flexibility of the chest and its walls, so the heart can not work so well as when free. Dr. Sargent once tested this at his school for physical culture. He chose twelve healthy girls with an average pulse of eighty-two beats per minute and had them run a race of about a quarter of a mile in two and a half minutes, in a gymnastic costume, with no restrictions on the chest. At the end of the race the pulse had reached 152 beats per minute.

The next day, after the girls had become well rested, he had them make he same race as before, only they had on corsets, which were so loose as to diminish the measurement of the waist only one inch. They ran the same race in the same time as before, viz., two and a half minutes. The pulse was at once counted and the hearts of the girls were beating 168 times per minute, or 16 beats faster than when no corset was worn. The muscles in this case had the same amount of work to do in running and it required the same amount of blood to do it. The heart was obliged to beat faster because it was so cramped it could not pump so much blood with each beat. Such an added strain on this muscle takes in a lesser degree, we may infer, whenever it is worn.—The Journal of Hygiene.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

METROPOLITAN CAKE.—Whites of seven eggs, one cup of butter, two cups of sugar, three and one-half of flour, one cup of water or sweet milk, one tablespoonful of baking powder, one cup currants, one cup seeded raisins. Bake in layers.

FILLING.—One pint sugar, four tablespoons of water, boil until it strings on a spoon and pour boiling over two beaten whites of eggs.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

New York, July 6, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have absolute remedy for Consumption and Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Wast By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY Cured. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Post Office address. Sincerely,

T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige.—EDITOR.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT OCTOBER 6TH, 1895.

Chicago Limited.

No. 4, Lve. 9:00 A. M. | No. 3, Arr. 6.50 P. M.
Solid, Vestibuled, Gas-lighted train with Pullman Cars.

Chicago Fast Mail.

No. 2, Lve. 7:00 P. M. | No. 1, Arr. 8:20 A. M.
Through Pullman service to Memphis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

Local Mail and Express.
NEW ORLEANS AND MEMPHIS.

No. 26, Lve. 7:00 A. M. | No. 25, Arr. 9:30 P. M.

ALL DAILY.

Speed Unequalled. Service Unexcelled.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen Pass Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1st, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:30 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,
AND TO ALL POINTS
North, -:- East,
North-East,
AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST
TO CINCINNATI
AND
THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
E. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A.,
No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A.,
New Orleans, La.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON. PILLS. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption) Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood, and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

Passion of Money-Getting.

Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., in writing of "The Passion of Money-Making," in The Ladies' Home Journal, says concerning the prevalent idea regarding the value of an education for boys: "We are considering the effect which is going to be had upon the boy by being led to feel that the value of his training, whether it be obtained in a business college or in any other kind of a college, is determinable by the amount in cash, stocks, and securities in which it may be expected ultimately to eventuate. That is an indirect—but none the less effective for being indirect—way of telling the boy that money is so transcendently great a thing that the only value anything else can have is its efficiency in contributing to that end. It is an indirect way of telling him that the only value of an idea, the only value of a mental energy, the only value of a disciplined brain, in fact, is its cash value; which amounts substantially to listing intelligence, and putting it upon the market in mercantile competition with wheat, leather, and railroad stock. Of course, there is no such intention as this on the part of parents when they hurry their sons into the store, or the banking-house, or on to the exchange, but the effect just stated comes, is bound to come, and is damning in its consequences."

OBITUARIES.

McCALEB—Died at Hermenville, Miss., May 25, Mrs. KATIE McCALEB, wife of Jos. T. McCaleb, and daughter of the late Capt. P. C. Hall.

Home without wife and mother is like the midnight Winter tempest—cold, bleak, and dreary. The broken hearts of husband and children cry out in their blackness of despair, and wail for the precious one whom God has sent for, and would fain call her back to life; but alas! their wailing is only echoed back from the black rock of sorrow, and mock them in their grief; but suddenly through the veils of tears comes gliding gently the angel of God who says unto the stricken ones: "I will wipe your tears away. I have come on a mission from my God once before, and plucked the brightest flower that earth ever held, and bore safely home her across the river of life into the beautiful city, and now here come back to comfort you in your sorrow. I bid you watch and pray only a short time, and I will again come for you, and bear you away to join the loved one in heaven."

Oh, beautiful knowledge of our Savior! How sweet it is in sorrow! How it heals the broken heart! Once home on earth was so bright and so happy, for she reigned as only a loving wife, mother and sister and pure Christian should to make home so sweet; but now, ah now where is the once happy smiles of contentment and love? Gone, forever hushed; no light, no hope on earth; only living out the few years, perhaps days, when life's journey will come to an end, and the angel will again visit the old home to relieve us of our sorrow.

All that medical skill, kind and gentle nursing was done to ward off the chilly hand of death, but in vain, for God had bid this pure and gentle soul to come home, and as the sun slowly sank to rest, so her soul sank to rest forever in the arms of her Savior. Perhaps the last message was to the writer while on her dying bed. She said: "I am very weak and am near death, but my soul grows stronger in faith for my God, and I am not afraid to die."

In the old family graveyard our sister lies at rest,
And her soul is now above us in the city of the blest.
She is so happy in the land beyond the skies,
Where the harps of angels ring and the soul there never dies.

A. H. D.

KNIGHT—ROBERT RAY KNIGHT was born in Yalobusha county, Miss., near Water Valley, May 26, 1872. He moved with his mother to St. Landry parish, La., in 1887. He spent two years in Texas, in which time his mother died. After his return to Louisiana he made his home with his sister and her husband, Mr. J. C. Murry, and acted as collector for Dr. J. E. Hawkins.

He met his death April 20, 1896, by an accidental shot from his revolver. He had just returned from town, watered and fed his horse. He then stooped to wash his hands in the bucket from which his horse had been watered, when, without a moment's warning, his revolver fell from his inside vest pocket and struck the edge of the bucket, causing it to fire. The ball took effect in the region of the heart, and in five minutes his young life was ended.

He leaves an only sister to mourn her loss. He had never united himself with any church, nor made any profession of religion. He never lost an opportunity to do a friend a favor. Not long before his death it was his privilege to confer a highly appreciated favor upon the writer. I feel that I have lost a true and tried friend. WILLIAM D. PICKENS.

BENTON—EUNICE JONES, wife of Bro. J. H. Benton, died at her home near Madison Station Miss., April 29, 1896. She was born in Yazoo county, Miss., June 18, 1865; married Mr. J. H. Benton, March 31, 1891. While yet a child she joined the Methodist Church, of which she remained a consistent member until her death.

Her cheerful disposition and gentle heart secured to her the friendship of all.

As a daughter, she was thoughtful and tender. As a wife, she was considerate and loving. As a friend, she was always true. Her death brings sorrow to many hearts. She leaves two little girls, who will miss her tender care, and a fond husband, whose heart is sorely grieved. We shall miss her in the old home and among those who gather at the house of God. T. B. HOLLOMAN.

RAY—On April 30, 1896, we laid to rest in the graveyard in the little town of Tronpe, Texas, all that was mortal of our friend and brother, J. A. RAY, son of Rev. Anderson Ray, who was born near Tuscaloosa, Ala., Sept. 5, 1853.

Bro. Ray moved with his family from Madison county, Miss., to San Marcos, Texas, in hopes of regaining his health, as he had been a sufferer from that dreadful disease, consumption, for quite a long time. Finding he was not being benefited, he moved with his family to this place, where he only lived a few days.

The writer has known him for a number of years, and knew him to be a good neighbor, a kind and affectionate father and husband. He was a consistent member of the M. E. Church. Just before his spirit took its flight he told his wife to meet him in heaven, as he was going there, and that all was well with him. He leaves a devoted wife and eight children to mourn his loss. May God, who has promised to be a father to the widow and orphans, bless and take care of them! is the prayer of their true friend, J. W. M.

PRESLEY—Mrs. LAURA F. PRESLEY was born in Smith county, Miss., in 1861 or 1862, and departed this life June 1, 1896. She was the daughter of Mr. William and Louisa Holbrooks. She was married to Mr. George Presley (year unknown to the writer), from which time they lived happily together until death separated them. She joined the M. E. Church, South, in childhood, and lived a devoted Christian up to the time of her death. She was as gentle as a lamb; never known to fret over (or at) anything; always in a good humor. The day before she died she would talk to everyone about how to live, and make them promise to meet her in heaven. She called her husband the second time, and made him give her his hand and promise to meet her in heaven. She then called all her children, beginning with the eldest, and bade them good-by, and would say, "Meet me in heaven." Her husband and friends would insist on her eating something, but she would say, "God is feeding me." She said she would soon be with her three precious little angels.

B. P. FELLOWS.

GAYDEN—Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call our beloved teacher, Miss IVA MAY GAYDEN, from earth to heaven; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Gayden Sunday-school, that we offer our deepest sympathy to the bereaved ones. She was one of earth's noblest. Sweet-tempered, unselfish, and Christ-like, her young life was a blessing to all who knew her. Her gentleness and patience with her pupils caused them to love her dearly. Her acts of charity, kindness to the poor, sympathy for the bereaved and suffering, endeared her to all. In her long suffering she bore her affliction with the submission and meekness of her Savior. He was her example in life and health, and her support in death. Even when God touched her beautiful, patient eyes and turned light into darkness, like Job, of old, she made no complaint, but said: "The Lord gave, the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

Though her young life was brief, her influence will linger in the hearts of those who knew and loved her. Utterly unselfish, she, like her Savior, was willing to die that others might live.

God sent an angel to bear her to the "beautiful home of the soul." In the calm hush of morning the white-winged messenger crossed the threshold, "loosed the silver cord, and the golden bowl was broken, . . . and the spirit returned to God who gave it."

C. C. MILLER, Pastor,
For Committee.

STRICKLAND—Whereas, It has pleased the all-wise God to take from us our brother, friend and co-worker, Bro. JNO. S. STRICKLAND, and while we bow in reverence and in perfect submission to the will of God; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, as a Sabbath-school worker, he was earnest, faithful, and true. As a man, he was honest, upright, and true—true to his country, church, his family, and his God. He was safe as a counselor. As a watchman, he was wide awake, waiting for the coming of the Lord. As a Christian gentleman, his virtues are well worthy our emulation. Around his family circle there is a vacant chair, in his church an empty pew, in this convention a place that will be sadly missed. In the field of labor he was an earnest and zealous worker, never shrinking from the discharge of any and all duties. We pause with sadness and solemnity as we are called upon to note the vacancy left by the transplanting to a heavenly home of our beloved brother.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved family, that the convention hauner be draped in mourning for three successive meetings, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our Minutes, and that a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

J. L. PERRYMAN,
PRATT SMITH,
REV. W. A. POWELL.

ALLEN—Whereas, It hath pleased God, in his all-wise providence, to remove from our Sunday-school one of our beloved pupils, NEELY ALLEN; And, whereas, We lament his sad death, and mourn with his parents and loved ones; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Gayden Sunday-school take this method of extending to his grief-stricken family and friends its sincerest sympathy. He was one of our most faithful pupils, ever candid, genial, cheerful, and reverent. Young, ambitious, and courageous, he was striving to make a place for himself among the noblest and truest of God's creatures. He was honorable, a dutiful son and affectionate brother, whose coming to the family was like the first rays of the morning sun. All about him was sunshine. He embraced religion early in life, and rejoiced in the hope of the glory of God.

Resolved, That while we are bereaved, we mourn not as those who have no comfort, but rejoice in the bright hope that we shall see him again in that beautiful beyond, where there is no more sorrow, and God shall wipe away all tears. We offer to his sorrowing parents, brothers and sisters the sweet consolation that while we can not bring him back to us we can go to him. "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

C. C. MILLER, Pastor,
For Committee.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

There is no sweeter repose than that which is brought with labor.—Chamfort.

We guarantee
Heiskell's Ointment
to quickly and permanently cure Eczema, Scald-Head, Barber's Itch or Tetter without the aid of internal medicine.
50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., PHILADELPHIA.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,
And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.
NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER
IN GREAT VARIETY.
Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.
AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.
Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT
FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Halls and Public Buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., New York.

BELLS
Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
E. W. VAN DUZEN CO., Cincinnati, O., U.S.A., and E. India Tin. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Rotary Rotary Tea Steel and Friction Rollers. Mounting Scientific and Guaranteed. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower
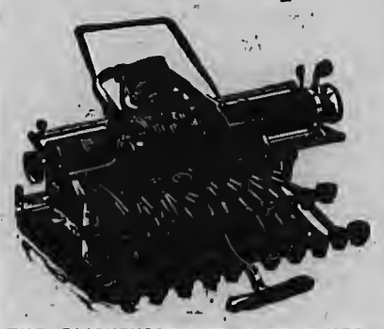
will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.
Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Washington College
FOR YOUNG LADIES
Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings in a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city.
F. KNEFLER, President.
J. ROBERT GOUGH, Secy.
Washington, D. C.

Matchless Mineral Water
FOR SALE BY
WM. B. HINES,
AT SUMMIT, MISS.
Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

F. R. Hardon, Millinery,
Old No. 29 Chartres Street—Now 139.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.


THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.
PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.
Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.
H. I. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 807 Common Street, (Room 43), New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST
Photographs
—GO TO—
-SIMON'S,-
925 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle
CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,
Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,
TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,
Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,
WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,
Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.
I. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good; delight to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes so unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of his cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and left me satisfaction, which, to one who endures such affliction as long and severely as I have is a "veritable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended to church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 463 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN PILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES
GADSDEN, ALABAMA.
ON THE HIGHLANDS!
SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.
A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high-arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a sleek dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC BOBBIN WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—THE "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOOSE PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

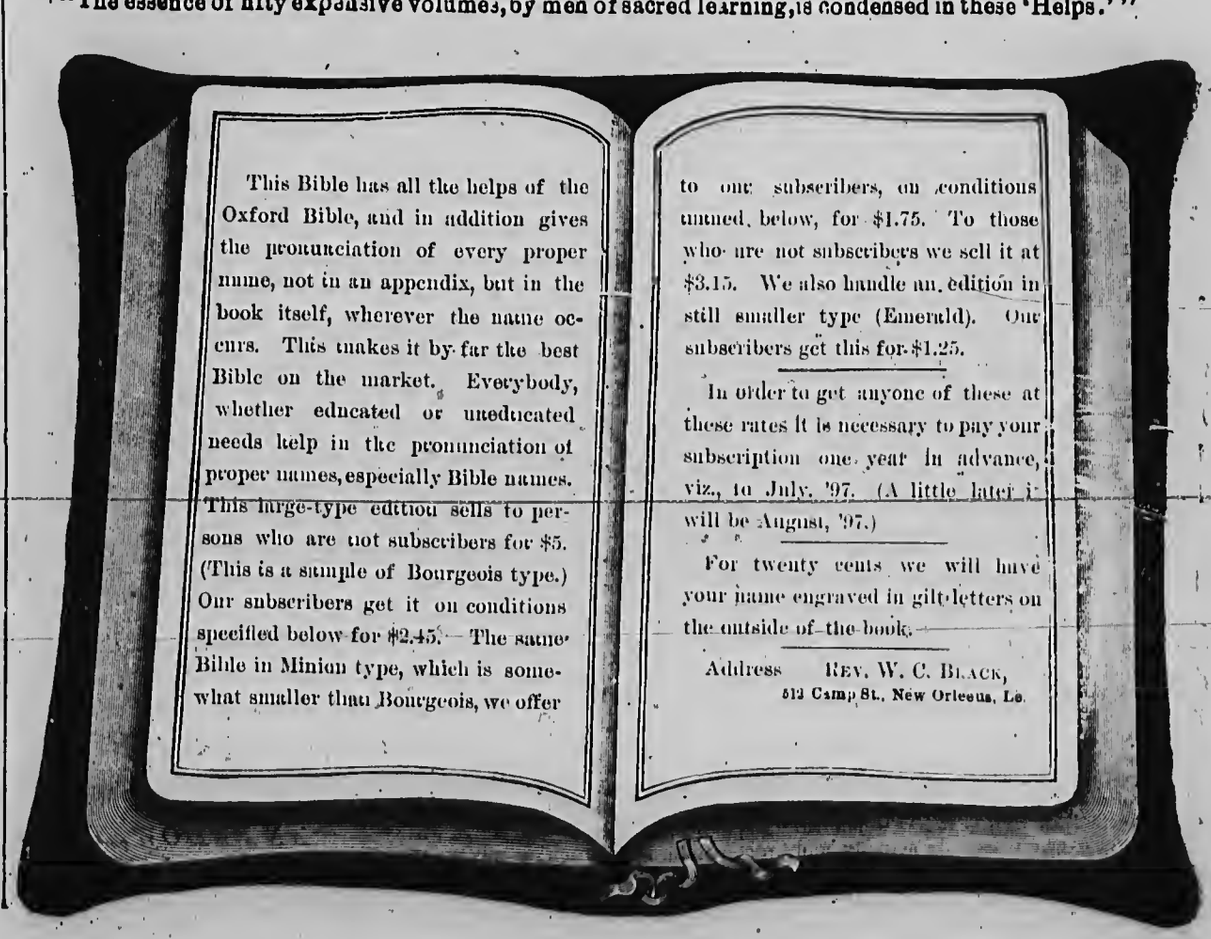
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



This Bible has all the helps of the Oxford Bible, and in addition gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself, wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names.
This large-type edition sells to persons who are not subscribers for $5. (This is a sample of Bourgeois type.) Our subscribers get it on conditions specified below for $2.45. The same Bible in Minion type, which is somewhat smaller than Bourgeois, we offer to our subscribers, on conditions named below, for $1.75. To those who are not subscribers we sell it at $3.15. We also handle an edition in still smaller type (Emerald). Our subscribers get this for $1.25.
In order to get anyone of these at these rates it is necessary to pay your subscription one year in advance, viz., to July, '97. (A little later it will be August, '97.)
For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.
Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The "Jim Crow" car law has been declared unconstitutional in Kentucky.

The Democratic National Convention, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President, met in Chicago July 7.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," died at her home in Hartford, Conn., July 1. She had attained a ripe old age.

Two Chinese girls have recently graduated from the Medical Department of the University of Michigan. Both have a fine record for scholarship.

I. N. Marks, a patriarchal citizen of this city, died on July 2, aged seventy-nine years. No man had been more completely identified with the public affairs of this city at one time than the deceased.

A fire occurred in Galveston on July 2, in which two large warehouses and sheds on the water front were burned with their contents. Thirty railroad cars were also burned. The total loss is about $250,000.

The wearing of corsets has been prohibited in the electrical department of a California High School. The steels were found to have an effect on the instruments, and in consequence delicate experiments were found impossible.

The city of Cleveland, O., was the scene of riot and disorders on July 2. Strikers in that city attempted to mob non-union workmen, which was prevented by the police, who used their clubs on the strikers, making many sore heads.

The enactment of an election law in which the Australian ballot system is adopted is one of the most important acts of legislation that has passed the Louisiana General Assembly this session, and it effectually prevents, as near as possible, the stuffing of ballot-boxes.

The foundation-stone of the monument to Jefferson Davis was laid in Richmond, Va., last week. The United Confederate Veterans were present in great numbers. It is believed a hundred thousand visitors were present. Gen. Stephen D. Lee was the orator of the day.

According to the reports from Washington, the Internal Revenue Department is making good progress in expediting sugar bounty claims. Up to date, 230 claims have been passed upon and sent to the Auditor. This is very nearly half the total number of claims; hence it is reasonable to expect that within another week all the 502 claims will have been turned over to the Auditor.

FOREIGN.

It is said that Spain has spent $19,321,000 in the effort to subdue the Cuban insurgents.

The election without opposition of electors favorable to the choice of Gen. Porfirio Diaz as President to succeed himself insures to the sister Republic of Mexico the continuance of the present prosperous and enlightened regime for another period of four years beginning with Dec. 1 of the present year.

Ex-Premier Crispi has telegraphed to the "Riforma" from Naples an explanation of the Triple Alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy. He says that the alliance is a defensive and not an aggressive one, and that the three powers who are parties to it mutually guarantee the maintenance of the territorial status quo. The Triple Alliance, Ex-Premier Crispi says, was renewed for twelve years in 1889.

All the People

Should keep themselves healthy and especial care should be given to this matter at this time. Health depends upon pure, rich blood, for when the blood is impure and impoverished diseases of various kinds are almost certain to result. The one true blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. By its power to purify and vitalize the blood it has proved itself to be the safeguard of health, and the record of remarkable cures effected proves that it has wonderful power over disease. It actually and permanently cures when all other preparations fail to do any good whatever.

MARRIAGES

WHYTE-DERDEN.—At the "Brown House," Water Valley, Miss., June 10, 1896, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr S. J. Whyte, of Kosciusko, Miss., and Miss Mirtie Derden, of Water Valley.

HAGGARD-ROBERTS.—At Wood Street Methodist parsonage, Water Valley, Miss., June 23, 1896, by Rev. J. A. Bowen, Mr. John B. Haggard and Miss Maud E. Roberts, all of Water Valley.

REDFIELD-RATLIFF.—In the Methodist Church, Edwards, Miss.; June 30, 1896, by Rev. J. P. Drake, Mr. John L. Redfield to Miss Eva Ratliff, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Ratliff, all of Edwards.

WILLIAMS-ORRELL.—At the residence of the bride's father, June 28, 1896, by Rev. P. Howard, Rev. Rains G. Williams, of Vernal, Green county, Miss., to Miss Leslie C Orrell, of Americus, Jackson county, Miss.

WALTHALL-PARNELL.—At Gibbs, La., June 23, 1896, by Rev Thos. J. Upton, Dr. James M. Walthall, of Monroe, La., and Miss Laura P. Parnell, of Gibbs, La.

STRODE-ROANE.—At the residence of Mr. Farmer, near Jeanerette, La., June 25, 1896, by Rev R. M. Blocker, Mr. Jno. E. Strode, of Elliot, Ohio, and Miss Ida Roane, of Olivier, La.

TROWBRIDGE-HANKINS. At the residence of Mr. John Ibert, June 27, 1896, by Rev. H. Armstrong, Mr. William Trowbridge and Miss Mattie Hankins, all of Franklin, La.

HOSKINS-WRIGHT.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Meridian, Miss., June 25, by Rev. Hervie Mellard, Mr. Chas S. Hoskins to Miss Lula D Wright

BARBER-McREE.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Clarke county, Miss., June 10, 1896, by Rev D. P. Bradford, Mr. W. E. Barber to Miss Lucie McRee.

HEIDELBERG-SKIPWITH.—At the Floyd Hotel, Shuqualak, Miss., June 10, 1896, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, M. L. Heidelberg, Esq., of Waynesboro, Miss., to Miss Annie L Skipwith, of Virginia (sister-in-law of R. E. Halsell, Esq., of Shuqualak).

FERRILL-OBERBECK.—In the Methodist Church, Quitman, Miss., July 1, 1896, by Rev D. P. Bradford, Mr. Ollie S. Ferrill (a salesman for the Simmons Hardware Co., of St. Louis) to Miss Ernestine Oberbeck, of St. Louis, Mo.

ELLIS-HOLT.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Yazoo City, Miss., June 28, 1896, by Rev J. J. Smylie, Rev. Jno. D. Ellis to Miss Minnie Holt.

Ice Cream Made by a New Process.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream instantly. The cream is put into the freezer and comes out instantly, smooth and perfectly frozen. This astonishes people and a crowd will gather to see the freezer in operation and they will all want to try the cream. You can sell cream as fast as it can be made and sell freezers to many of them who would not buy an old style freezer. It is really a curiosity and you can sell from $5 to $8 worth of cream and six to twelve freezers every day. This makes a good profit these hard times and is a pleasant employment. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will send full particulars and information in regard to this new invention on application and will employ good salesmen on salary.

Rev. O. E. Goddard, one of our missionaries to China from Arkansas, has been advised by his physicians to return to the United States on account of the long-continued and serious illness of his wife. He is now in correspondence with the Board of Missions and the Bishop in charge of the China work, and will abide the decision of the authorities. Bro. Goddard says, in a letter to the Arkansas Methodist: "To surrender our life plans and turn our backs to those millions starving for the truth is inexpressibly sad." May the Lord be gracious to our brother and sister in their affliction!—Nashville Advocate.

For Brain Fag

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. W. R. Lowman, Orangeburgh, S. C., says: "I have used and prescribed it with beneficial results in brain fag and nervo exhaustion."

University of Mississippi.

Not only has the number of students been large, but, what is more gratifying, the work done and the deportment of the student body has been most excellent. Among more than two hundred young men, of course there will be some who fail to appreciate their opportunities. This number has been very small at the University. The chancellor reported that fully eighty-five per cent. of the grades given during the session were satisfactory.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. Hardy, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SARDIS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Batesville and Oakwater	July 11, 12
Batesville and Wesley	18, 19
Courtland	(Mon.).. 20
Nesbit	25, 26
Tate	Aug. 1, 2
Pleasant Grove	8, 9
Longtown	15, 16
Wall Hill	21, 23
Cockrum	(Tues.).. 25
Arkabutla	29, 30
Burgess	(Wed.).. Sept. 2
Eureka	(Thurs.).. 3
Pleasant Hill	5, 6

T. C. Wier, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Hill House circuit, at Anttralia	July 11, 12
Friar's Point	12, 19
Hollands's circuit, at Stoneville	25, 26
Gunnison, at Phalia	Aug. 1, 2
Rosedale and Bolivar, at Bolivar	8, 9
Cleveland and Shelby	15, 16
Belen circuit, at Bellevue	22, 23
Gainesville circuit, at Dubs	28, 30
Tunica circuit, at Evansville	30, 31
Lula circuit	Sept. 2, 3
Lebanon and New Salem, at Sandy B.	13, 13
Arcola circuit	15, 20

J. A. Rawdolph, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—THIRD ROUND.

Water City	July 11, 12
Grenada circuit, at Spring Hill	18, 19
Torrance cir., at Kossuth ch'k (Tues.).	21
Tocopola, at Salem	25, 26
Water V. cir., at Church G. (Tues.)..	28
Water Valley—Main Str. et	Aug. 2, 3
Slate Springs, at Cross Roads	6
Riley, at George's chapel (Tues.)..	11
Paris, at Pleasant Hill	(Fri.).. 13
Pittsboro, at —	(Fri.).. 13, 13
Chapel Hill, at —	(Fri.).. 21

H. C. Morehead, P. E.

Business Notices

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle

Sparkling with life—rich with delicious flavor, HIRES Rootbeer stands first as nature's purest and most refreshing drink. Best by any test.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

CORINTH DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Corinth circuit, at Mt. Carmel	July 18, 19
Iuka circuit at Bethel	25, 26
Marietta circuit, at Marietta	Aug. 1, 2
Brown's Creek circuit, at Siloam	8, 9
Blue Springs cir., at Sherman (Fri.)..	14
Ripley and New Albany sta., at N. A.	15, 16
Rienzi circuit, at Jacob's Chapel	22, 23
Jonesboro cir. at Camp G	Sept. 5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Wells' Chapel	29, 30
Ratliff's circuit, at Mooresville	Sept. 5, 6

The District Conference will be held at Ripley, July 8-12.

Hesley R. Tucker, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Valden, at Valden	July 11, 12
Indianola, at —	18, 19
Winona circuit, at Big Springs	25, 26
West, at Bowling Green	Aug. 1, 2
McNutt at Sunnyville	8, 9
Carrollton circuit, at —	15, 16
Sidon, at Sidon	22, 23
Yabbus and Brooklyn, at —	28, 30
Black Hawk, at —	Sept. 5, 6

District conference at Valden, July 8. The first day will be devoted to Sunday-school interests.

J. E. Stone, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Shannon circuit	July 11, 12
Prairie circuit	18, 19
Sparta circuit	25, 26
Houston mission	31
Bee a Vista circuit	Aug. 1, 2
Houston	8, 9
Aberdeen circuit	14
Quincy	15, 16
Tremont circuit	21
Fulton	22, 23
Amory	29, 30
Okolona circuit	Sept. 5, 6

S. M. Thames, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Waterford circuit, at Harris' Chapel	July 11, 12
Olive Branch circuit, at Kelley	18, 19
Red Banks circuit, at Bailey's C. G	Aug. 1, 2
East Holly Springs cir. at Mt Hope	8, 9
Cornersville circuit at Friendship	15, 16
Mt. Pleasant cir., at Marsha. Institute	22, 23
Ashland circuit at Black Jack	28, 30
Pontotoc circuit	Sept. 5, 6
Ashland circuit	12, 13

J. D. Cameron, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Salem, at Salem	July 11, 12
Kosciusko station	18, 19
Poplar Trees, at Bethel	18, 19
Belzoni, at Lawrence Deadning	25, 26
Pallis at Bethel	Aug. 1, 2
Ethel at Marvin	1
Ackerman at Liberty Hill	2, 3
Walthall at Shady Grove	14
Eupora at Eupora	15, 16
Chester, at South Union	22, 23
Ashton	28
Ebenezer at Bethany	22, 30
Rural Hill	Sept. 4
Louisville	5, 6

The brethren will have their church registers and records of Church Conference at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. Mitchell, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Sturgis	July 11, 12
Brooksville	18 19
Starkville circuit	22, 26
Tibbee	Aug. 1, 2
Macon station	2, 9
Shuqualak	(Mon.).. 10
Heflin	15, 16
Columbus circuit	21, 22
Columbus station	22 23
Crawford	28, 30
Cedar Bluff	Sept. 5, 6
West Point	8, 9
Singleton	(Thurs.).. 10
Winstonville	12, 13

R. A. Rowbotham, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Columbia station	June 21
Purvis, at Purvis	July 4, 5
Hattiesburg station	11, 12
Seashore C. M	15
Ocean S. and Biloxi A. B	(Wed.).. 19
Pearlington and Lentown, at P	Aug. 1, 2
Vancleave, at Pine Grove	8, 9
American, at Tanner's	15, 16
Escatawpa, at Scranton	22 23
Moss Point station	29, 30
Whitington, at Poplar Head	Sept. 5, 6
Bay St. Louis and Long Beach, at Bay	12, 13
Augusta, at Galloway	19, 20
Black Creek, at Smith's C	(Mon.).. 21
Nicholson, at McNeil	22, 27
Marion, at Advance	(Wed.).. 70

C. A. Powell, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Meridian—S. Side and P Spgs, at S. Side	July 12, 13
Rose Hill circuit, at Hopewell	18, 19
Porterville circuit, at Bogan's Ch'l	25, 26
North Kemper cir., at Mellen's Ch'l	Aug. 1, 2
DeKalb circuit, at Marvin's Chapel	8, 4
Decatur circuit at Bonita Chapel	8 9
Meridian East End	15, 17
Neshoba and Mission, at Philadelphia	22 23
Meridian West End	30 31
Chunkey circuit, at Concord	Sept 5, 6
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove	12, 13
Meridian Central	20, 21

R. J. Jones, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Edwards, at Rieves Chapel	July 11, 12
Hermanville at Sarepta	12, 13
Crawford Street—Vicksburg	26, 26
South Vicksburg	26, 27
Harrison & Harrison	Aug. 1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	8, 9
Port Gibson	15, 16
Utica, at Learned	22, 23
Mayersville at Shaliah	29, 30
South Warren, at —	Sept 5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at —	12, 13
Redwood Ford, at Redwood	19 20
Anguilla at Bethel	26, 27
Warren, at —	Oct. 3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. Weems, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Roxie at McNair	July 10-14
District Conference, at Fayette	18-19
Fayette, at Ebenezer	25, 26
Wilkinson at G. H	Aug 1, 2
Barlow, at Brandywine	8, 9
Amite, at H. C	15, 16
Meadville, at N. P	22, 23
Percy Creek	24, 30
Woodville	30, 31
Washington	Sept. 1, 2

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 18, at 9 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. Jones, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Heidelberg, at Sandersville	July 12, 13
Shubuta, at Quitman	(Wed.).. 22
State Line, at Tuscumbia	25, 26
Ellisville and Laurel, at Ellisville	Aug. 1, 2
Pachuta, at Carter's Mill	8, 9
Winchester, at Spring Hill	15, 16
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	Mon.).. 17
Leaksville, at Avera	(Tues.).. 18
Enery, at State Line	22, 23
Vossburg, at Central	(Wed.).. 23
Fuller	Sept. 5, 6
Williamsburg	(Wed.).. 8
Mt. Hermel	12, 13
Eastabuchie, at Hopewell	12, 13
Mathersville	23, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall	(Wed.).. 30

L. Carley, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Summit, at Topisaw	July 11, 12
Magnolia and Osyka, at Magnolia	12 13
McComb City	25, 26
Adams	26
Caseyville, at Tilhany	Aug. 1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews	8, 9
Providence, at Providence	11
Gallman, at Mt. Pleasant	12, 13
Crystal Springs	(8 P. M.).. 15
Hazlehurst	22, 23
China Grove	28, 30
Whitetown, at Muddy Springs	Sept. 2, 3
Pleasant Grove, at Sarah's	12, 13

E. H. Mounger, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Terry, at Forest Hill	July 11, 12
Yazoo City	18, 19
Yazoo circuit, at Anding	23, 26
Sharon at Forest Grove	Aug. 1, 2
Silver Creek and S. L., at Sharbrough's	9, 9
Canton	15, 16
Ferna at Brownsville	22, 23
Camden, at —	29, 30
Madison, at Pocahontas	Sept. 5, 6
Lake City and Ludi, at Phillips	12, 13
Fannin	19 20
Tranquil	26, 27

R. D. Nonsworthy, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Homewood, at Zion Grove	July 11, 12
Carthage, at Singleton's	18, 19
Clarksburg, at Lindsey's Chapel	25, 26
Shiloh, at Bethany	Aug. 1, 2
Westville, at Goshen	6, 8
Trenton, at New Prospect	13, 13
Montrose, at Cedar Grove	13
Raleigh at Sav Springs	22, 23
Hillsboro, at New Providence	23
Steen's Creek, at Richland	28, 30
Brandon	30, 31

W. W. Simmons, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Tchoupitoulas Street	(7:45 P. M.).. July 2
Carrollton Avenue	(11 A. M.).. 12
Dryades Street	(7:45 P. M.).. 13
Seventh Camp Ground	15-26
Carondelet Street	(11 A. M.).. 26
Morgan Street	(7:45 P. M.).. 26
Algiers	(11 A. M.).. Aug. 2
Felicity Street	(7:45 P. M.).. 2
Covington, at Covington	3, 5
Tallahees and Slidell, at Camp Ground	15 13
White Castle	22, 23
Paquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.	29 10
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Sept. 2, 3
Napoleon Street	3
Louisiana Avenue	(11 A. M.).. 13
Bayne Memorial	(7:45 P. M.).. 13

John T. Sawyer, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Shreveport—First Church	July 12, 13
Mooringsport, at Mount Zion	13, 13
Jordan Street and Pine Hill, at P. H.	22, 26
South Shreveport, at Fillmore	29
North Bossier	Aug. 1, 2
Red River, at Campobello	8, 9
Coushatta, at East Point	13, 13
Wesley, at Hosston	14, 15
Pleasant Hill, at Halpa Sele	22, 23
Grand Plane, at Rentzel	Sept. 5, 6
Mansfield, at Mansfield	12, 13
Caddo	12, 20

J. L. P. Shappard, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire	July 12, 13
Alexandria	28, 27
Pineville, at Oak Grove	28
Olla at Pollock	Aug. 1, 2
Apacoco, at Holly Grove	2
Natchitoches	2, 3
Montgomery	13
Columbia at Faulk's Chapel	12, 13
Centerville, at —	13
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground	13
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground	23
Dry Creek, at Hopewell	22, 20

District Conference will meet at West Alexandria, July 22-26. Sunday-school Conference on the twenty-third.

The following committees have been appointed: For License and Admission on Trial J. L. Hoffpauir, S. E. Isbell J. M. Johnston. For Ordination—Wm. Schable, J. E. Riddle, J. R. Roy.

V. D. Skipper, P. E.

America's Greatest,

The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,

1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,

UNDERTAKERS.

OFFICES: Julia and Magazine, Washington and Prytania.

TELEPHONE 697.

We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

CAN YOU TELL

Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1895-'6?

It is the Memphis Conference Female Institute,

Of Jackson, Tennessee.

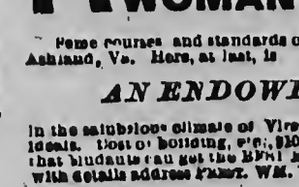
A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.

Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal to Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Barker and Mad Dribl. Teaches natural bird tones. Thoroughly equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany. Taught last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist stocked with Boioli, Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League. Studied in Paris with M. Bisson. Scholarship in N. E. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.

Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never lost a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record justifies us in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.

Water of Jackson proclaimed absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,

Rev. Hoss Abd W. Kay, A. M. Ph.D.



Nashville College

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Privilege of Lectures, Museum, Apparatus, to Vanderbilt University. Three large buildings. Faculty of 30; pupils from 18 States. Highest advantages in Music, Art, Calisthenics, Health, Dressmaking. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Tennessee Centennial, May 1897. Provisions for pupils to see the Exposition. Address Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Pres., Nashville, Tenn. Rev. W. F. Melton, A. M., Ph. D., Vice-President.

Emory College

Oxford, Georgia.

THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.

The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.

The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $5 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.

The Location of the College is one of health, quiet and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is nurtured on religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.

For catalogue and further information address

W. A. CANDLER, President,

OXFORD, GA.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of boarding, etc., $103.50. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address Pres't. Wm. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Eczema ON BABY

Grew Worse under Treatment of Physicians

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Great Change in Five Days and To-day is Entirely Cured.

My baby had Eczema in its worst form. One of the best physicians in the city attended her, but she continued to get worse all the time. He finally admitted he was at his wits' end. I then got Cuticura Remedies, and in a few days noticed a great change in her condition. She continued to improve and to-day is entirely cured, has nice head of hair, and is lively and hearty. I spent considerable money for drugs and doctor's bills, which was useless.

J. B. JACOBS, 2031 Wilkins Ave., Balt., Md.

Speedy Cure Treatment.—Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, greatest of humor cures.

Sold throughout the world. Price, Cuticura 50c.; Soap, 25c.; Resolvent, 50c. and $1. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

"How to Cure Every Skin Humor," mailed free.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. The large and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Extensive courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in Valley of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1,500 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. 58th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address

CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

ROANOKE COLLEGE SALEM, VA.

Course for Degrees, with Electives; high standard. Also Com'l and Prep'y Courses. Library 3,500 volumes; working laboratory; good morals and discipline; six Churches; no bar-rooms. Special terms to candidates for ministry and sons of ministers. Increasing patronage from many States, and several foreign countries. Healthful mountain location. Very moderate expenses. 44th year begins Sept. 9th. Catalogue, with views, free. Julius D. Dreher, Pres.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED

Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with

LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART

By Hon. Henry H. Russell, their chosen biographer. 550 pages, elegantly illustrated. Only three ones $1.00. The best and cheapest, and outsells all others by tens of thousands. 50 per cent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Only Books now ready. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Save time by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn.

HARDIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 29 States. 23 professors from 6 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $1,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory, Scharwenka, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

Washington and Lee

UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.

Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

G. W. C. LEE, President.

1846 The Academy. 1896

CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE.

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. (Number of students limited.) Elegant rooms elegantly furnished. Hot and cold baths. Wholesome diet. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced pupils from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals. Rates reasonable. Free tuition in Collegiate course to children of active Ministers. Next session begins Sept. 1. Hall the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., Prin.

LAW SCHOOL

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY,

Lexington, Virginia.

Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

FOR SALE.

Cottage on Seashore Camp Ground, fronting the beach, known as the Campman Test. Seven rooms, hall, etc., all well furnished. This is the best-located tent on the ground. Inquire of the keeper on the grounds, or to

J. H. CAMPMAN,

619 Poydras St., New Orleans.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour,
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,

Corner Thalia.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at $1 per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev. Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

Sometimes by unrecognized answer God makes reply to special prayer. You pray, and apparently nothing comes of it; but, as the days go, you find that surely something has come of it. The causes for your trouble have dissipated slowly, perhaps, but steadily and really. You have been answered, though at the time you knew it not.—Wayland Hoyt.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 29. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2082

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WAITING.

I know not what the future hath
Of marvel or surprise.
Assured alone that life and death
His mercy underlies.

And so, beside the Silent Sea,
I wait the muffled oar;
No harm from him can come to me,
On ocean or on shore.
I know not where his islands lift
Their fronded palms in air—
I only know I can not drift
Beyond his love and care.

—Whittier.

Communications.

Conservatism.

Contemporaneous essayists of the conservative school usually cover with this term all the ground between fogyism and radicalism, leaving no room for the action of reform. They repudiate fogyism and its consequences, but appropriate the progress which is the increment of reform. Conservatism is exalted into a sort of universal censorship where it weeds out the bad and preserves the good in the established order, and also appropriates the good in any measures contemplating innovation. As a matter of fact, it has nothing whatever to do with the goodness or badness of existing institutions, and far less with the incorporation of good from reform measures. It is simply "the desire and effort of preserving what is established." The elements of conservatism and radicalism are found in every man, and no matter what his estimation of himself may be, when he oversteps the boundaries of this definition he ceases to be conservative. A ready explanation of the above erroneous view may be found in the desire of conservatives to strengthen their comparatively weak position. Finding the defenses of conservatism "per se" to be vulnerable, they thus enlarged their fortifications so as to include the process of reform and at the same time contracted them so as to leave out as much as possible of their own indefensible territory, which is now called "fogyism." Nothing can be said against the advocacy of this idea; but the idea is much too large to be covered by the name they give it. After gaining the respectability and justification that this larger definition conservatism may shrink against its etymological limits and spend itself in behalf of institutions regardless of their quality. But to say the least of it, to allow a word of opposite significance thus to swallow another and arrogate to itself stolen virtues, is misleading and illegitimate. Much may be said in favor of conservatism within its proper limits; but as this field has been so amply covered, I desire to point out some of its weak places.

While it can not be denied that it deepens and broadens the stream of human progress, neither can it be denied that at times it has impeded its flow; that at times conservatism has flung a mighty dam of circumstance across this stream, checking it, not permanently, it is true, but till the waters, piled mountain high behind the obstruction, have with irresistible force borne it down before them. The American Revolution, the French Revolution, and the Civil War lay tremendous and unmistakable emphasis upon this truth. The American colonies fought against the existing law of "taxation without representation," the French against the monarchy and priestcraft, and in 1860 the Union against the institution of slavery. In each of these cases progress demanded reformation, conservatism, devotion to existing institutions. War followed. Progress conquered. The dams were broken and the stream rolled onward. Here we have eminent examples of the culmination of the principle and processes of conservatism.

But that conservatism is at work in the commonplace affairs of life, in the Church as well as in the State, in every department of human activity. It always seeks to accommodate the forces of life to existing channels; to put the new wine of growth—physical, mental, spiritual—into the old bottles of custom, institution, and dogma, and it but reaches its legitimate ultimatum in the history of nations when the battles burst, and the earth is reddened with the bloody wine of revolution. Conservatism affords the permanent conditions upon which growth depends, and is good as long as these conditions do not limit development. The cocoon is good for the grub, but would hinder and kill the butterfly.

"Let well enough alone," is the dictum of conservatism. "The better is enemy of the good," is a handy proverb. It is true that the man who is satisfied with the good may accomplish more along practical lines than the man who is reaching after the better; that the conservative devoting himself to affairs within the established order may do more there than the reformer; but he is limited by the established order. I have seen this proverb quoted backward, "The good is enemy of the better," and it is equally true this way. Men are frequently contented with the "good" when the "better" is within reach of their hands. Shall we let well enough alone then? The good of the sixteenth century was enemy of the better of the Reformation. Had Luther been satisfied with it, we would still be working within the narrow confines of Romanism and an accordant civilization. Erasmus undoubtedly accomplished more within the compass of the old church than did Luther; but Luther set back the limits to human usefulness and enlarged the world's possibilities of good, and history accords him the higher place. Had the genius of the nineteenth century been satisfied with its heritage, we would still be riding in the stage coach instead of our palace cars, making forty miles a day instead of six hundred. This augmentation of distance possible in a day's journey is typical of what has taken place in every department of our life. Would it have been well to "let well enough alone"? I believe in the possibility of eternal growth. We are not omniscient, but we can forever grow in knowledge. We are not omnipotent, but we can forever approximate it. We are finite, but our limits should recede like the horizon as we climb the altitudes of being. Conservatism tends to perpetuate present conditions and to solidify our partiens. Reform to change present conditions and push back our limits.

Why are men conservative? Unquestionably a great many are so because they think it right. But there are some reasons that hide beneath this respectable shelter that do not look so well when dragged into the light. Emerson says, "Men are conservatives when they are least vigorous," etc. Some men are conservative because they are too lazy to be anything else. Reform demands action. This is too much for them. They can sit still, or lie down, and be conservative, and therefore they are conservative. Bigotry is another reason. It is blindfolded ignorance. The bigot is hard to deal with. He has a "corner" on knowledge. To him there is no need for growth. The only way to reach him is to saturate the atmosphere in which he lives with mental pabulum, hoping that he may, like his prototype, the oyster, by a sort of unconscious absorption take in some of it. Some men are conservative because they will not see. While I can not subscribe wholly to Emerson's sentiments when he says, "The rabid democrat, as soon as he is a senator and a rich man, has ripened beyond the possibility of sincere radicalism," yet I believe in many instances this is true. Selfishness is a very prolific source of conservatism. When a man has grown rich under present conditions, when he is trenched within existing institutions, or when he is a beneficiary of a system or policy, he very rarely wants a change. Why are you conservative? I am not a conservative, yet I would not be revolutionary. "It were good that men in their innovations would follow the example of time, which innovateth greatly, but quietly and by degrees," says Bacon, and I agree with him.

HERMAN W. KNICKERBOCKER.

In the Living Present

The Episcopal rector who opened the first session of the Democratic National Convention, in Chicago, with prayer, read said prayer. Well, well. Perhaps to give the copy of the prayer to a favorite reporter. Suppose, the Lord has been grateful for the exact diction and perfect rhetoric. If a man has not sense enough to pray extemporaneously, he ought to memorize his written petition.

A sermon may be long, if proportionally thick. Some sermons, though very short, are too long. "Vox, et præterea nihil." It was not Franklin who said: "Sweetness, long drawn out, maketh the heart sick." Empty phraseology abounds. Nauseating balderdash empties the pews. It is neither lack of intelligence nor spirituality that congregations object to long sermons of a certain kind. They want thought, gospel thought.

So you meditate a vacation. It is aristocratic. But Satan takes none. Neither do the poor. It is said that those physicians are the most successful who prescribe for the ailing wife and daughters a few months' abode at the sea-side. Some preachers may be consulting this class of physicians. And Satan has it all his own way.

Gold or silver? That is the political question. But to some loquacious declaimers we would say, that silence is golden. Cease wrangling. Say what you will, "honesty is the best policy." Besides, "what would it profit a man if he should gain the whole world and—lose his own soul?"

The so-called Raines Law in New York went into effect on July 1. Said law raises the annual saloon license to eight hundred dollars. In New York City and Brooklyn alone 3,500 saloons have been compelled to close. This leads some secular papers to shed bitter tears. Lachrymosely they calculate that thus 24,500 persons have been deprived of their usual employment. Including their families, 100,000 people are without the necessaries of life. Wiping their eyes with the unwashed bandanna, they conclude with

"'Tis true, 'tis sad.
'Tis sad, 'tis true."

"Have mercy on the poor and afflicted!" some dolorously pray. As if the good Lord could possibly be merciless to said parties. The trouble lies with the petitioner. The Lord does his duty, but frequently the petitioner does not. Do. Give to the needy; help the helpless; relieve the distressed.

"De sun—he do move." In San Francisco an "Anti-Woman's Suffrage Society" has been organized. The well-known philanthropist, Mrs. Carrie Murray, is president. The society aims at encouraging women to perform well the part which the Bible assigns them. They hold that meditated innovations would disrupt society. ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

The Brandon District Conference

The Brandon District Conference of the M. E. Church of Mississippi was convened at Decatur, Miss., July 3, 1896, and was called to order and opened with religious services conducted by Bro. W. W. Simmons, P. E., at the close of which he addressed the Conference in a short talk full of instruction and timely hints. The secretary of last Conference was requested to call the roll. Fifteen traveling preachers, one superannuate, four local elders, three local deacons and eighteen lay delegates were found to be present. J. S. Melvin was re-elected secretary, and P. D. Hardin assistant secretary. The usual committees were then appointed. Report of pastors was called for. They reported their charges in fair spiritual condition; some excellent. Congregations large and attentive. In the district fourteen prayer meetings, forty-one Sunday-schools, thirteen parsonages, sixty-four church-houses, four ladies' P. and local mission societies, one juvenile society, were reported.

At eleven o'clock A. M. Bro. R. A. Sibley, Sr., superannuate, preached an interesting and feeling sermon. Bro. Sibley commenced here his forty-four years of service as an itinerant in the Mississippi Conference. At the conclusion of his sermon the congregation contributed a snug little sum to the aged brother.

At 3:30 o'clock P. M. Rev. T. L. Mellen delivered a most excellent address upon the subject of foreign and home missions.

Bro. R. F. Witt preached at 8:15 o'clock P. M.

SECOND DAY.

Conference met at 8:30 A. M.: presiding elder in chair; religious services conducted by Rev. J. H. Foreman. Reports of committees were called for. Committee on District High School at Montrose reported favorable thereon, and Conference instructed presiding elder and trustees to secure a suitable person as principal, pledging their influence and to do anything to advance its welfare and success. The Committee on Literature made an extended report commending our church papers, etc., and offered the following resolution, which was adopted, to-wit:

Resolved, That we, the preachers and laymen of Brandon District Conference, will do all in our power to increase the circulation of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE within our bounds.

Committee on Quarterly Conference Records reported that they had performed that duty and found said records kept in good order.

At 10:45 Conference adjourned, and at 11 A. M. Rev. T. B. Holloman, agent of Millsaps College, delivered an able and interesting address on the subject of Christian education, at the close of which a collection was had for the benefit of Millsaps College. Fifty dollars in cash and subscription was raised.

At 2:30 P. M. Conference met; presiding elder in chair; religious services conducted by Rev. P. H. Howse.

Rev. Irvin Miller, D. D.; W. M. Thornton, W. B. Price and S. D. Miller were elected delegates to the next Annual Conference, and M. E. Caddenhead and G. B. Harper, alternates.

The licenses of the following local preachers were renewed, to-wit: J. J. Childree, J. W. Thompson, H. B. Hines, F. A. Lane, W. H. Lane, J. E. Williams, E. P. Partin, Amos Kendall, W. P. Donnel, J. M. Corley, J. H. McDonald, G. W. Huddleston, J. W. Simmons, M. A. Thurman, H. P. Lewis, Jr., and P. A. Jeter.

Morton was selected as the place for holding the next District Conference.

Bro. Howse, who was appointed to look after the Woman's P. and H. M. Society, reported only one in the district. Bro. Holloman addressed the Conference in behalf of the society.

The following resolution was adopted and ordered sent to the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, to-wit:

Resolved, That we have heard with pleasure of the opening of a Law Department in Millsaps College, and the election of Edwin Mays, LL.D., to the professorship of this department. We commend this department to every young man contemplating the study of law, feeling assured that none in our State are superior to this.

Resolved, That we appreciate the liberal donation of $10,000 by Major Millsaps for the building of Science Hall at the college with which his name is identified.

The following resolution, offered by Bros. Miller, Hardin and Sullivan, was unanimously adopted, to-wit:

Whereas, The good people of Decatur and vicinity have so kindly received and so hospitably entertained this District Conference; And, whereas, The people of Newton have assisted in this work; And, whereas, The good brethren of the Baptist Church have opened their church to us: therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of this District Conference, do hereby extend to all concerned, and all that have in any way endeavored to make us so comfortable and happy, our full appreciation and heartfelt thanks for the same.

The Committee on Public Worship made the following appointments for Sunday, July 5: Love-feast at 9:30 A. M., conducted by Rev. M. L. White at M. E. Church: 11 A. M., preaching by Rev. W. W. Simmons; 2:30 P. M., W. M. Sullivan, followed by sacrament of the Lord's Supper, and at 8:15 P. M., W. D. Dominick. At Baptist Church, 11 A. M., J. T. Nicholson. At colored church, 11 A. M., P. D. Hardin.

Rev. W. W. Simmons, P. E., addressed the Conference in behalf of district work in general. Bro. R. F. Witt made an address in behalf of Conference Claimants' Fund.

Large and attentive audiences attended the services throughout the sessions.

After reading the Minutes the Conference adjourned by singing hymn No. 918, and benediction by Presiding Elder Simmons.

J. S. MELVIN, Sec.
W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

The Vicksburg District.

This has been a year of much labor and of great joy of heart to this presiding elder, the pastors, and to the people of the Vicksburg district. For two years I have labored in and out of season to bring the salaries of the faithful pastors up to the living point; and this year we have accomplished this desire, with good prospects, at the close of the second round, that all the assessments on the charges will be paid in full. The matter of houses of worship and homes for the preachers has also been on our hearts and minds, and our success along these lines has been most gratifying.

At Mayersville the parsonage has been greatly improved, and they are now paying an old debt on the Beulah Church, and are finishing the house.

On the Anguilla charge we are building a new house of worship, to be known as Sunflower Chapel.

At Rolling Fork the nice new parsonage has been finished and furnished at a cost of about $2,000.

At Redwood, in this charge, they have just completed a pretty church at a cost of $800. There is yet a debt on this house, but we hope to pay it before Conference. This gives us three pastoral charges, with as many parsonages, and eight houses of worship in this Delta country. Methodism is now firmly established there, with fine prospects of development.

At Oak Ridge, on the Warren circuit, they are replacing their old house of worship with a new and handsome building.

At Phenix, in the same charge, they have so changed, renovated and added to their property as to give it the appearance of a new structure. They are much in need of a new parsonage on this work, and there is a hopeful move in that direction.

The parsonage property at Saturtia has been greatly improved, and they are now at work on a $1,000 house of worship at that place.

A thorough renovation, with necessary additions to the house, and shade trees, attest the interest of the people on the South Warren circuit in the home of their pastor.

Rieve's Chapel, on the Edwards charge, has been re-covered and otherwise improved.

The interior of our house of worship at Clinton, on the Bolton circuit, has been repaired and remodeled, and is now a thing of beauty. We are much in need of a new church at Bolton, and thought and effort is moving in that direction.

Our brick church at Rocky Springs has been re-covered and refitted with new sash, doors, floor, seats, pulpit and organ stand, at a cost of several hundred dollars. The parsonage is sadly in need of repairs, and we hope it will receive attention at once.

The parsonage at Utica has been repapered and otherwise added to and improved.

The people at Learned, on this charge, are painting their house of worship.

Methodism very much needs a new house of worship at Utica, and we hope to have it in the near future.

On the Hermanville circuit they are building a handsome church, and are preparing to pay the debt on their nice parsonage this Fall.

Our property on the Harriston circuit is in fairly good condition, except at Russom, and we hope for needed improvements there.

At Port Gibson they are repairing the church at a cost of several hundred dollars, and are arranging to pay the debt on their new parsonage.

At Crawford Street, Vicksburg, we are sadly in need of a house of worship worthy the Methodism of the past and the present. Our pastor and people are struggling hard to meet this demand, and before the close of the year we hope to see the beginning of an $18,000 house of worship. We are also sadly in need of a parsonage. The time is upon us when, if we expect to hold our own in this city, and to have "added unto us daily such as are saved," the Methodists of Vicksburg must bestir themselves.

Our South Vicksburg church is in good condition, but without a parsonage. We are also greatly in need of a district parsonage, which we hope to secure next year.

While we are thus making material improvements, the spiritual is not neglected. Pastors and people are expecting gracious revivals, and the work through the year has been most encouraging.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

The Mansfield District Conference.

Our District Conference and the Conference of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Louisiana Conference was royally entertained at Mansfield. Brotherly and sisterly love prevailed from beginning to end. Not a harsh expression uttered to mar the peace and harmony of the occasion. Quite a number of distinguished visitors were present with us, representing the various interests of our loved Zion, all of them receiving marked attention, and I doubt not their earnest presentation of their interests will produce much fruit. John C. Sligh, a very promising young man, was licensed to preach and recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial. Bro. P. O. Lowery, fresh from Vanderbilt University, with a recommendation for admission on trial, was also with us. And just here I will say that Bro. Lowery will be at the service of brethren who may need him either as a supply or in revival work until Conference, and I heartily commend him to the brethren. His address is Mansfield, La.

The outlook for Centenary and Mansfield Colleges is brightening every day. A little self-denial on the part of our people just now in behalf of these institutions will put them where they belong—at the front with the best institutions of our country.

The long-protracted drouth is being broken now by occasional showers, and hope is beginning to spring up in the hearts of our despondent people. How fitting just now to give substantial expressions of gratitude to God, who sends the rain upon the just and unjust, by making liberal donations to these two grand old institutions, both of which are in need of substantial aid! How it would gladden the hearts of those who are bearing the burdens and making the sacrifices (which should be equally shared) to sustain Centenary and Mansfield Colleges if the twenty-eight thousand Methodists of Louisiana would forward at once to Dr. Carter, at Jackson, and myself, at Mansfield, a free-will offering, to be applied to these institutions as the Boards of Trustees may direct!

We missed you, Mr. Editor, at our District Conference. However, your place was filled by Bro. S. J. Davies. We regretted the necessity of his leaving us so soon. He missed some good things, and, no doubt, so did we, by his going when he did. God bless the ADVOCATE, and may it abound more and more!

J. L. P. SHEPPARD.

A HYMN OF PRAISE.

[illegible] HOUSE.

Author of love and life, to thee
I lift my hymn of praise;
Help me to know and feel and see
The beauty of thy ways.

The groves, the hills and rippling streams,
Proclaim thy goodness lent;
Each starry world with grandeur beams
Above our firmament.

Each sparkling gem or tiny flower,
The coral from the sea,
Each grass or fern from Nature's bower
Sings praises unto thee.

Shall I be dumb while Nature sings
Thy royal sovereignty?
Burst forth my soul on lofty wings
In praises, Lord, to thee!

—Exchange.

Communications.

Requisites to Successful Sunday-School Teaching.

(A paper read before the Starkville District Conference May 29, 1896, and published by request of the Conference.)

I have been reading recently a little book entitled, "Manual for Sunday-school Workers," and to the author, Mr. F. M. Greene, I am indebted for some of the suggestions presented in this paper.

The Sunday-school is nothing more nor less than the church studying the Word of God. It has been defined "that department of the church of Christ in which the Word of God is taught for the purpose of bringing souls to Christ, that they may come into Christ, to be built up in Christ, and finally they may be with Christ." If then, it be true that the end of all Sunday-school work is the salvation and spiritual instruction of souls, all methods of teaching must be made obedient to, and be directed to this end. "Requisites to successful teaching," therefore, are such alone as achieve the supreme object of soul-saving and soul-feeding. The inquiry is, What are the qualifications that constitute this success on the part of the teacher?

For the sake of abbreviating and simplifying, I think the question may be reduced to two leading thoughts, and that these may be expressed in as many words, viz.: Faith and Love.

I. The first grand principle without which no teacher can be successful is faith—faith in himself that he has ability to impart instruction; faith in God; faith in the Word of God; and faith in the children, or the class.

II. The second grand principle is love—love for himself? Yes—such a love for himself as that he would scorn to do anything wrong for any reason; love for God; love for the Word of God; and love for the children.

(1) No one will do his best in anything unless he profoundly believes in it. Coupled with this, he must have the conviction that, under God, this is his work; and, therefore, he can, and must do it.

(2) And not only faith in his own ability, but especially faith in God. He must realize that all his own efforts will be futile and unavailing without the daily presence and help of the One who is mightier than he. Under this conviction, he will constantly look out of, and away from self; and with the strong, firm hand of faith, lay hold upon God. The true teacher will never dare undertake the work in his own strength; but each day during the week—through the whole interval between the Sabbaths—will cry to God for help; and, then, on Sunday morning he will stand before his class strong in the strength of the unseen One, and those to whom he comes will recognize in him a teacher sent of God, and will "take knowledge of him that he has been with Jesus."

(3) Faith in the Word of God. The teacher is the interpreter of the Bible to his class. Perhaps this qualification should have come before the other two just named; for he who has a true impression of the unutterable greatness of divine things, has the first and grandest qualification of a teacher. Without this it will be useless to make the attempt to inspire him with any very deep love for the work. He is to open to their minds the character and contents of that sacred volume whose authority they must be taught to reverence, and whose treasures of truth they should learn to consult. If the teacher's work is well done, the Bible will become to them, in its main features, a familiar book.

(4) He must have faith in the children, or the class. He must believe that the material upon which he works will yield, under his patient and prayerful touch, a rich and abundant harvest; for it bears the stamp and image of the divine.

Secondly, the successful teacher must have love—for himself, for God, for the Word of God, and especially for the souls of his pupils. The source and secret of all his power is this love, centering in God and the Word of God, and delivering itself upon the souls committed to his instruction. It has been wisely said that nothing can be mean or unimportant which helps to shape a soul for its eternal destinies. This the Sunday-school teacher does. It is impossible to over-estimate the importance and power of early impressions.

"Behold the green rind, and the scarred oak
Will tell of it self for centuries to come."

The material upon which the teacher works is not wax, or marble or granite, but the heart of a child. Touch that heart, and your finger-prints will be found upon him ages hence. This is no vision—it is the simple truth. The world has its pundits and its honors for conquerors and kings, expositors of laws, successful artists, popular poets, and even skillful potters, but has no honors or praise for him who has given his life to restore the golden days of which poets sing, and has sought to fashion immortal minds after the image of the one Perfect Man. But the Sunday-school teacher needs no praise or honor from them, for his image is enshrined in the hearts of those whom he taught the way to paradise, and their lives shall be his everlasting memorial. If these considerations will not persuade him to his work, then one risen from the dead could not persuade him.

Besides these general fundamental principles, there are others of scarcely less practical importance; but they all stand directly or indirectly related to these two primary fundamental thoughts of faith in and love for the work.

1. A knowledge of the art of teaching, or the best methods of communicating instruction.

2. A thorough understanding of the mental and moral characteristics of children, especially of those whom he instructs; a general knowledge of human nature, but a special knowledge of his own pupils.

3. Clearness of expression. The rule of the Roman orator was to speak so plainly that all could understand him, and none could misunderstand him. In the choice of words, let such terms be used as clearly convey the thought. "Never use a hard word where an easier one will answer the purpose."

4. In conclusion, the true teacher who has a profound faith in, and a passionate love for, his work, will be a man or woman of deep personal piety, growing out of a deep, genuine religious experience. For the time being, at least, he is to be the counselor and adviser of his class in spiritual things. He can not impart that which he has never learned; therefore, he must himself be a saved man in order to answer intelligently the burning question which is ever asserting itself, even in the thought of the child, "What must I do to be saved?" It is enough to make an angel weep to see a cold-hearted, unchristian man, or a giddy, worldly-minded woman at the head of a class of intelligent, eager young minds as their guide and instructor in spiritual things. The teacher must develop in his pupils a healthy and vigorous spiritual life. In order to this, his own Christian character must be strong and robust. His must be the experience of those who, being led to the Master by the woman of Samaria, declared: "Now we believe not because of thy saying, for we have heard him ourselves, and know and are persuaded that this is the Christ, the Savior of the world." With our Lord he must be able to say, "We believe that we do know, and testify that we have seen;" and with Charles Wesley to triumphantly sing:

"What we have felt and seen,
With confidence we tell;
And publish to the sons of men
The signs infallible."

H. T. CUNNINGHAM.

Coldwater, Miss.

Education Day!

In compliance with resolution on page 19 of Louisiana Conference Minutes, we observed Education Day on Simsport charge with most gratifying results. Assessment paid in full. It is true, I had some little trouble in getting up suitable data for the sermon. But just before I went to press, a very timely article from the gifted pen of Rev. J. D. Hammond, D. D., reached me through the Methodist Review. That one article was worth the whole year's subscription to me. When a man is out of soap, one cake in due time is worth a good deal. Another thing I learned in preparation of this sermon. We Methodist people of Louisiana are not doing our duty for Christian education. I tell you, brethren, unless we go to work in dead earnest we are going to wane educationally in Louisiana. If we expect, as a church, to keep pace with all other denominations, and to war a successful warfare against wickedness in high places, our Methodist boys and girls must be scientifically educated. In our church institutions are the places to have them properly trained for the great conflict of life. For there they are educated, physically, intellectually and spiritually. No parent can boast himself of having educated his son or daughter, if either of these three essentials have been neglected. It takes the three proportionally developed to constitute true education. We must take a livelier interest in the cause of Christian education.

The Methodists of Louisiana number 28,101. We paid last year for education (as a Conference) the small sum of five hundred seventy-four dollars and two cents ($574.02)—not quite two and a half cents per member. Thirty-eight works in the Louisiana Conference reported nothing for this claim. The Minutes show every third work nothing for education. These thirty-eight works represent a membership of 8,755. This multitude of people promised to support the institutions of the church. By referring to the Minutes of 1894 we find that some of these works paid to the claim. I hope that their failure to do so in 1895 was not brought about by any of the pastors failing to present the assessment. However, let us strive to do so no more.

I think we ought to feel a little ashamed of last year's record. It reminds me of the old brother who thanked God very heartily for a free religion. Upon being asked how long he had been a member of the church, and what it had cost him, replied: "I have been a member of the church for thirty years, sir; and it has cost me nairy red." Education is getting rather cheap with some Methodists in our Conference. At the rate of last year, I wonder how long they expect the Conference to continue to send them educated men? They support other causes very well, and it does look like they could give a little now and then for this claim. Here is what they contributed for other claims of the church, viz.: Assessed for pastor in charge, $15,088.45, and paid $9,716.19; assessed for presiding elders, $1,712.48, and paid $1,208.05; assessed for Bishops, $176.50, and paid $96.45; assessed for Conference claimants, $786.10, and paid $313.05; assessed for foreign missions, $1,388,75, and paid $390.50; assessed for domestic missions, $527.05, and paid $197.15; assessed for church extension, $331.70, and paid $60.45; assessed for education $200.50, and paid $000.00. The above figures show that the above thirty-eight paid last year the sum of $11,353.84. I am very sorry that my own district contributed so little. Ten works out of sixteen paid nothing. The Alexandria district has 3,016 members.

Brethren, we must do better; we could, with the proper interest, pay more than $34 any morning before breakfast. Cold facts and figures like these may not be very interesting. I trust, however, it will provoke a deeper interest along the line of bringing this needy collection up in full.

W. T. WOODWARD.

Simsport, La.

Bible Reading with Rules a Means of Grace.

Private prayer is pre-eminently a means of grace. No one can maintain a true semblance of Christian character without something like daily private prayer. Public prayer, whether in the pulpit or pew, largely loses its force without the training of the closet or the grove. Daily private prayer will certainly do much to preserve one in Christian life. Some Christians are diligent in prayer, but neglect Bible reading, or, at least, do not pursue a course of systematic reading or searching of the Scriptures. A daily system of reading the Holy Scriptures especially trains one for prayer and communion with God. In the Book is to be found the very spirit and character of God himself, and as we take in "the great things of the law" and the great things of the gospel, we take in more of God's own nature, and become more and more like him. No training can be more helpful in the formation of Christian character than humble, prayerful Bible reading. Occasional dipping into the Bible—say once a week, on Sunday morning—in the opinion of faithful Bible readers, does not meet the necessities of the case. Daily reading cultivates an association of the mind with sacred things and sacred thought. In searching through the Book in every day's reading for the truth, the mind learns to take hold of some great doctrine for the day's meditation. This habit soon grows into such force as to exclude evil and idle thoughts, and holds a supremacy in the mind. Many things come up in our daily business seeming to demand close and prompt attention, and are allowed to crowd out devotional and Bible reading. But certainly the regular business of the day should not exclude the reading and study of God's Word. The excuse of not having time for such reading simply means that it is given no place among our duties. It should be given its place in the regular routine of daily duties. While it may be necessary to attend to some things in the early morning, there should come up a time in each day's business when the Bible should have the precedence of everything else. It should have its place as a part of all household and domestic duties, claiming attention amid the work of the farm and of the shop, the duties of the office, the counting room, and the store. As its teachings should be a safeguard or a rudder, let it come in the early hours of the day.

I have observed among the old and the young that daily Bible lessons are the most effectual method of maintaining a regular daily habit of reading and searching the Scriptures. A rule to read the Bible through once a year sounds well, and is good; but if it is pushed as some other reading is pushed, it may be finished up long before the close of the year. Then months may elapse before the reading is resumed, when a habit of neglect may set up, and the Bible is laid aside. I have known some to adopt five chapters a day as a lesson. This will take the reader through the Book in about eight months, which leaves some four months, in which time fatal neglect may intrude.

Another method of Bible reading which I have found profitable is to read three chapters a day for each day in the week, and five chapters on Sunday. This will carry the reader through in ten days less than twelve months.

A method known to work profitably is what I call an endless lesson system, which is pursued without direct reference to reading the Book through. This is to take the Bible in its four grand divisions. The historical part from Genesis to Esther, inclusive; the poetical part from Job to Songs of Solomon, inclusive; the prophetical part from Isaiah to Malachi, inclusive; the New Testament then makes the fourth division. To read two chapters a day in the first part, reading through this division and commencing again at the first of Genesis, reading daily two chapters interminably. In each of the other divisions read one chapter a day, turning back at the conclusion of each, respectively, to the beginning again without any reference to the place of reading in the other divisions. This method grows into an endless system, and seems like traveling a circle within a circle. This method of reading by lesson gives the promise and prophecy in one part of the lesson, and their fulfillment in another. Sometimes the promise and prophecy are read in one division, and their fulfillment read in another division of the same morning's lesson. This suggests how the study of subjects in Bible reading might almost imperceptibly grow up in the mind of the attentive reader.

Any system may come to be a choice one by long-cultivated habit, and will certainly result in profit. But certainly I never knew a method more fixed in the mind by habit, nor followed with more profit, than this I choose to name an endless system.

J. D. NEWSOM.

Whatever touches the nerve of motive, whatever shifts a man's moral position, is mightier than steam or caloric or lightning.—Chapin.

Correspondence.

Aberdeen District Conference.

Our Conference has just closed its twenty-seventh session at Aberdeen. All of the preachers were present except one, who was detained on account of sickness. The laymen of the district were well represented. The presiding elder has things well in hand, and is wisely directing them. The reports show the district to be in very good condition. The report of the Committee on Books and Periodicals, showing the amount of church papers taken and books bought, was very gratifying. The finances are far ahead of what they were at this time last year. Nearly every charge reports fifty per cent. of the collections raised, and that the preacher's salary is in good shape—i. e., "up to date." All are hopeful that the final report will show the district to have met its obligations better than ever before. The reports were conspicuous on account of the small number of conversions and additions to the church. It seems that we have reached the point where we do not expect conversions except during the protracted meetings.

The laymen took a decided interest and part in the discussions before the Conference. The Aberdeen district has as many good laymen as any district in our Conference. They are intelligent, religious and thoroughly loyal to the church. A good delegation was elected to membership in the Annual Conference: F. J. McDonnell, G. J. Leftwich, S. P. Harkey, J. A. Mayfield.

We had quite a number of visitors, amongst whom were Drs. Murrah, Black, Malone and Standifer, who represented their several interests.

Two were granted license to preach: J. E. Cunningham and F. P. Jenkins. Two were recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial: J. E. Cunningham and W. R. Williams. H. C. Parrott was recommended for readmission, E. C. Sullivan for deacon's orders.

The next Conference goes to Houston.

W. W. WOOLLARD, Sec.

Revival in Gunnison, Miss.

We have just closed a great meeting here. The people prayed, talked, and sung, and I preached for a week at night, and Bro. W. M. McIntosh preached a week in power and demonstration of the Spirit. Bro. McIntosh is a great preacher, because God has him under control.

Bro. C. W. Smith, the musical director, and Bro. — Butte, the cornetist, both contributed much to the success, because of their earnestness and spirituality. Our own choir is superb. We need Holy-Ghost singers as well as such preachers. We received about 60 in the Methodist Church; 15 will join other churches. Not less than 100 were soundly converted. No one can tell in mere figures and words what God hath wrought. It is wonderful.

Dr. S. A. Steel delivered his lecture to a crowded house, Thursday night, to the delight of all; especially did he charm the Leaguers.

R. H. B. GLADNEY, Pastor.

July 2, 1896.

P. AND H. M. S.

EDITORS.

Mrs. H. W Foote, of North Miss. Conference.
Miss Pauline Stafford, of Mississippi Conference
Mrs R. E. Kennedy, of Louisiana Conference

Baby Roll.

We give below our North Mississippi Baby Roll up to date. It will be seen that Como boasts the longest list, though it is possible that other auxiliaries have sent dues to the Conference treasurer without reporting names to this editor.

Como Auxiliary—Mildred Taylor, Edwin McGehee Taylor, James Walker Smith, Crystal May Whittaker, Clara Maxwell Wesson, Puttie Magruder Sullivan, Joel Albert Fulmer, George H. Lipscomb, Jr.

Macon Auxiliary — Nollie Minor Smith, Charles Leonard Jones, Charles Hardin Murphey, Spratley Calvert Jones.

Holly Springs Auxiliary — Albert Spicer Cox, Mary Lue Walker.

Pleasant Grove Auxiliary—Helen Rosalie Young, Bessie Soucl Mitchell, Pinkie P. Gunn, Lizzie Elam Gunn.

There is nothing so small but that we may honor God by asking his guidance of it, or insult him by taking it into our own hands.—John Ruskin.

Selections.

True Prayer.

True prayer quickens the soul without agitating it; as the river is most interesting when there is a ripple upon its surface to show that it is moving; as the sky is most beautiful when there is enough of breeze to clear away the mists and damps that have been exhaled from the earth, but no storm to disturb its serenity. Prayer when engaged in, in spirit and in truth, free from pride and the troublings of the passions, contains within itself its own answer, in the heavenly calm and repose which it communicates.—James McCosh, D. D.

There is not a spider hanging on the king's wall but hath its errand; there is not a nettle that groweth in the corner of the church-yard but hath its purpose; there is not a single insect fluttering in the breeze but accomplisheth some divine decree; and I will never have it that God created any man, especially any Christian man, to be a blank and to be a nothing. He made you for an end. Find out what that end is; find out your niche and fill it. If it be ever so little, if it is only to be a hewer of wood and drawer of water, do something in this great battle for God and truth.—Spurgeon.

Who is it that, when years are gone by, we remember with the purest gratitude and pleasure? Not the learned or clever, but those who have had the force of character to prefer the future to the present, the good of others to their own pleasure. Give us a character on which we can thoroughly depend, which we are sure will not fail us in time of need, which we know to be based on principle and on the fear of God, and it is wondorful how many brilliant and popular and splendid qualities we can safely and gladly dispense with.

The author and giver of all good things expects us to grow and improve. He offers to increase in us true religion, to nourish us in all goodness. The gospel is a call to progress and improvement: it bids us never to tire in our works of charity, but as fast as one kind purpose is accomplished, set about another. Let charity, gentleness and love be as the breath you draw.—John Keble.

Be not over-anxious? But, if hitherto thou hast not been quite happy, reflect that things are ever changing. If darkness reign around thee at present, be comforted: in a few days all will be brighter. Take a full survey of thy present painful position, reflect on thy tribulations, and then see whether thou hast lost all. Nay. And even hadst thou lost all else, thou hast not lost God. Why, therefore, despair?—Zschokke.

Obedience to God is a wonderful tranquilizer. Rest to a true Christian is simply the unhindered permission to do his perfect will..... Peace is not dull stagnation: it is the deep, strong current of a soul flowing in harmony with God.—T. L. Cuyler.

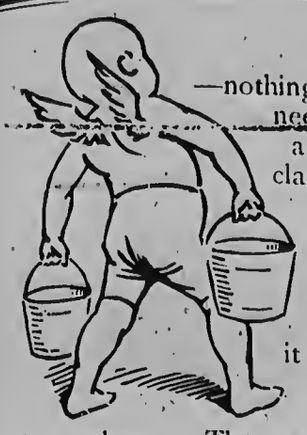
I find the great thing in this world is, not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it—but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

I would not even ask a Hindu to give up the religion that he has, so great is the sacrifice, unless I could supersede it by a more comforting, more glorious religion, the religion of light and liberty, of life and truth.—Dr. Cumming.

The soul must sometimes [illegible] blood. Nothing great is achieved without the severest discipline of heart and mind; nothing is well done that is done easily.—Bayard Taylor.

It is important to think right, more important to feel right, but more important to do right, but to be right is most important of all.—Lyman Abbott, D. D.

Cultivate a loving manner. It is a sad thing to be disagreeable; to fold up in a napkin the social graces; to lose the keys of the hearts of those about us.



Water

—nothing but water. That's all you need with Pearline. Don't use any soap with it. If what we claim is true, that Pearline is better than soap, the soap doesn't have a chance to do any work. It's only in the way. Besides, some soaps might cause trouble—and you'd lay it to Pearline. You'll never get Pearline's very best work till you use it just as directed on the package. Then you'll have the easiest, quickest, most economical way of washing and cleaning. 457

Millions NOW USE Pearline

WALL PAPER

Describe and state number of your rooms, so that we can select intelligently, and we will send you suitable samples from our immense Spring line, with prices, free of charge. We have over 500,000 ROLLS from

3 CENTS PER ROLL UP TO $3.

We want one agent only in each town to sell from our large sample books. Entire equipment, $1.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

FROM THE WORK.

WAYNESBORO STATION.

After six months of earnest labor in this pleasant little place, I am prepared to report progress. Many things I found here to be commended and which gave foundation for my labors. We had a nice church, a snug parsonage, a fine Sunday school, a live woman's prayer meeting, an active Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and a fair official Board. The congregations have been excellent, and the members seemed generally interested in the church. I have established a most interesting weekly pastor's class for children, in which I discharge in part my obligation to faithfully instruct the children. This is well attended, and is yielding rich fruit already. In our meeting recently held a number of these dear little ones were happily consecrated and have united with the church.

I secured the services of Rev. Will M. Waller, of Atlanta, Ga. (evangelist), with whom I had worked in Florida and knew well, and have just closed the special services of a gracious revival. We expect the revival to go on. Conviction was deep, work thorough and conversions clear. Seventy-one confessed openly to being saved from sins or backsliding; six to entire sanctification, and twenty-three joined the church, with several more to follow. The old-fashioned altar work was done, thorough repentance from all sin insisted on, and the seeker urged to "pray through" until he received the witness of the Spirit. I never have known more thorough work done in a revival. Bro. Waller is small in stature, but mighty in prayer, faith and the Word; is strong, clear and pungent, yet sweet-spirited withal in his presentation of the truth, using constantly the Sword of the Word. He is one of the best—if not the best—revivalists for a cold, formal or backslidden church I know. While clear on the doctrine of perfect love, he stresses mainly the necessity of repentance, regeneration and right living. His wife goes with him, and is very efficient in song and altar work and in holding children's meetings. We have a quickened membership, a bright-faced band of young witnesses and workers and a stronger influence for good in the community than I have known here. Our Epworth League is now fully organized and starts out with bright promise. We thank God and take courage.

HENRY E. PARTRIDGE.

July 1, 1896.

Rev. Jno. D. Ellis, Hilton, Miss., July 2: "The wheels of Zion are being unclogged on the Yazoo circuit, notwithstanding the world, the devil and the flesh, and the gospel chariot is moving on to conquest. We came to the work early in the year, finding a general state of spiritual sterility and barrenness; but the Christ who said, 'Lo, I am with you alway,' has been with us to direct, comfort and sustain, and, with an abiding peace, we are moving around the circuit watching the crumbling walls of opposition, worldliness and sin. Congregations and interest have increased from the beginning, and there have been accessions to the church all during the year. A most wonderful meeting has just been closed at Fletcher's Chapel, assisted by Rev. J. J. Smylie, evangelist. Notwithstanding the busy season among the farmers, the attendance was large and several times the house was filled to overflowing. While some did not feel the saving power of the meeting, yet the results were most glorious and very gratifying. There were more than 100 who renounced their sins and pledged allegiance to Christ, 55 accessions to the church, several seekers after entire sanctification, old feuds and difficulties settled between members, new family altars erected and a good feeling disseminated throughout the entire community. An evangelist never did more completely capture an audience than Bro. Smylie. Assuredly the Lord has called him to this work. With his heart sanctified and all on fire, the people would hang upon his words, rarely missing a sentence that fell from his lips. At times the assembly would be moved to convulsions by the sanctified wit; then to tears and emotions by his pathetic and dramatic incidents and word pictures. Take him as a whole, there are very few men whom it has been our privilege to hear that can beat him preaching. Anyone wishing a revival, where there is 'new ground' work to be done, with old roots and stumps and logs to dig up, Bro. Smylie can meet the want. He will help us again soon. Though the providence of God, the Methodist Church at Anding, which has been in an unfinished condition since its erection, has been completed, and efforts are being made to liquidate the indebtedness. We are endeavoring also to build a parsonage, which we hope to see under headway by Conference. Several hundred dollars have been raised in cash and subscription. Upon a whole, our work looks promising and we are expecting a good year. The people are kind, intelligent and hospitable, and have pledged us their support and encouragement. Pray for us."

Rev. C. F. Emery, Columbia, Miss., June 3: "Our third Quarterly Conference, held June 21, found this charge in a very healthy condition. The salaries of presiding elder and pastor are paid up to date, and more than four fifths of the Conference collections have been remitted. Last Saturday evening, just as it was getting dark, a large number of people marched up to the parsonage, literally overflowing the premises. They came loaded with all manner of good things calculated to bring joy to the hearts of the pastor and his family. After a few hours pleasantly spent in music and conversation, they left us with emotions that can better be imagined than described. Godbless these noble people! The pastor began a series of revival services last Sunday, attended with increasing interest during the week. Dr. I. W. Cooper is expected to be with us to-morrow and continue the meeting."

Rev. H. G. Hawkins, Binnsville circuit, July 3: "At our last service at this place we took advantage of the presence of Prof. W. W. Wasson, president of the Fairview College, and started a subscription for a new church. Our presiding elder, Rev R. J. Jones, was with us, and after a strong sermon on holiness by him Bro. Moore made his appeal and the congregation present subscribed over six hundred dollars. Since then others have subscribed, and it is proposed to build a thousand-dollar church. This will be good news to preachers who know the old building. Prof. J. F. Brydston, formerly of Whitworth College, has been elected president of Fairview College, and he has accepted."

Rev. F. N. Sweeney, P. C., Dry Creek circuit, Louisiana Conference, July 1: "I have just closed a meeting at Hopewell. Was disappointed in getting help, but the Lord was with me in every service. There were 4 accessions and the church greatly revived. I have received up to date 13 members and baptized 22 children. Will begin a meeting at Dry Creek, July 18. Bro. R. M. Blocker is expected to be with me. Pray for us."

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.

Franklinton, La.

Woman's Work

Is never done, and it is especially wearing and wearisome to those whose blood is impure and unfit properly to sustain the wasting of nerve, muscle and tissue. The only remedy for tired, weak, nervous women is in building up by taking a good nerve tonic, blood purifier and vitalizer like Hood's Sarsaparilla. For troubles Peculiar to Women at change of season, climate or life, take

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills do not cause pain or gripe. All druggists. 25 cents.

When a man gets his blood and nerves in perfect order, he shuts the door against disease and death. Germs have no effect on a perfectly healthy body. It is when the body is weak and the blood impure that disease germs lodge and develop. A man may get well and keep well by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the one reliable cure for all pulmonary complaints. Its effect upon throat, lungs and bronchial tubes is immediate and pronounced. It is a wonderful blood purifier. It works upon the blood first. It stimulates the action of all the digestive organs, promotes assimilation, and makes nutrition perfect. It contains elements that work directly on the nerves, giving them steadiness and strength. It is for this reason highly recommended to those suffering from brain fag, overwork and loss of sleep. Thousands of people have testified to the wonderful benefits received from this great medicine. Among them, Mrs. Ella Howell, of Derby, Perry Co., Ind., who writes:

"I was so weak I could not walk across the room without assistance. I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his Favorite Prescription, and one bottle of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I began to improve very fast after the use of a few bottles. The physicians who attended me said I had 'dropsy,' and that my disease was leading into pulmonary consumption. I had quite a cough, and the home physician gave me up to die. I thank God that my cure is permanent. I do not feel any symptoms of my old disease. I cannot praise Dr Pierce and his remedies too highly. The medicines come the nearest to 'raising the dead' of any that I have ever known about. They are worth their weight in gold."

THE STARTING POINT of almost all diseases is in the digestive organs. Constipation leads to more diseases than any other one cause. It is not looked upon as a serious thing, but it is. It means that poisonous, effete matter, that should be excreted, is retained in the body, and some portions of it must, of course, be reabsorbed by the blood. It is thus carried all over the body, and has its effect in producing headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, foul breath, heart-burn, flatulence, palpitation of the heart, and many other serious symptoms. It can be quickly and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. A little vial contains forty "Pellets." At druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,
Or to
Miss P. P. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

FOR SALE.

Cottage on Seashore Camp Ground, fronting the beach, known as the Campman Tent. Seven rooms, hall, etc., all well furnished. This is the best-located tent on the grounds. Inquire of the keeper on the grounds, or to

J. H. CAMPMAN,
619 Poydras St., New Orleans.

HARDIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 23 States. 24 professors from 8 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $1,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory, Scharwenka, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.

A select home training school for boys. Aim Mental, Morel, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address

WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee

UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.

Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

G. W. C. LEE, President.

1846 The Academy. 1896

CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. (Number of students limited). Elegant rooms elegantly furnished. Hot and cold baths. Welsbach lights. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced teachers from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals. Rates reasonable. Free tuition in Collegiate course to active Ministers. Next session begins Sept. 1. Halt the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., Prin.

LAW SCHOOL

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY,
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education

AT

Johnston Collegiate Institute

GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.

If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing sufficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.

OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.

Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.

The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.

A. R. LANNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

EAST MISSISSIPPI Female : College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for fifteen years, renovated, improvements added, director of music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best-equipped institutions for young ladies in the South.

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

RATES LOW.

ONE SCHOLARSHIP OF FREE TUITION given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder.

For further information and handsome new Catalogue apply to

J. W. BEESON, President.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is July, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Medical Department—Tulane University of Louisiana.

Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials, are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the bedside of the sick. The next session begins October 15th, 1896. For catalogue and information address

PROF. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., DEAN,
P. O. Drawer 261, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

T. J. MURRAY,

RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL

Rampart and St Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers

TEXAS AND PACIFIC ROUTE — ELPASO — PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leave Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m. Arrives St. Louis, 7:25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

U. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,

UNDERTAKERS.

OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.

TELEPHONE 697.

We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CAN YOU TELL

Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1895-'6?

It is the

Memphis Conference Female Institute,

Of Jackson, Tennessee.

A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.

Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal in Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Banks and Mad. Dethi. Teaches natural bird tones. Thorough equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany. Pupil last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist studied with Botoli. Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League. Studied in Paris with M. Rigan. Scholarship in N. F. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.

Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never lost a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record justifies us in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.

Water of Jackson pronounced absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,

REV. HOWARD W. KEY, A. M. Ph.D.

Emory College

Oxford, Georgia.

THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.

The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.

The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $8 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.

The Location of the College is one of health, morals and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.

For catalogue and further information address

W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $1 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are Authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.
REV. S. S. KENNER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. F. LEWIS.
REV. E. J. JONES.
REV. E. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. O. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 "	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 "	3 "	2 00	2 50
1 "	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 "	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 "	6 "	10 00	12 50
1 "	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 "	35 00	42 00
5 "	1 "	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	60 00	72 00
6 "	1 "	75 00	90 00
8 "	1 "	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, July 16, 1896.

Crystal Springs the Rallying Point.

Let not the Mississippi Epworth Leaguers forget about the approaching State Conference to be held at Crystal Springs. Every pastoral charge should be represented there, whether it has a League or not. The leaders are doing their best to make it an occasion of great interest and profit. Bishop Galloway, Dr. Steel, Dr. Tigert, and Rev. J. R. Pepper, of Memphis, are all expected to be present, and everybody who attends is sure to be greatly benefited. Between 150 and 200 homes have been provided. After the homes are all exhausted, reduced rates of board can be secured. Those who wish free entertainment should write at once to Rev. M. L. Barton. The I. C., Y. and M. V., and Q. and C. railroads offer one fare for the round trip.

The Best Investment.

A short time ago John D. Rockefeller, referring to the large sums of money he has contributed at different times to the Chicago University, said: "It is the best investment I ever made." It means much for the cause of progress for a man possessed of such fabulous wealth thus to testify. The generous-hearted man who endows or helps to endow a hospital, college, orphan asylum, or other like institution, puts his money where its returns are perpetual, and its beneficent influence continually increases like an ever-wideuing circle.

We wish, however, that Christians everywhere could feel that in giving to the cause of missions they are making an investment that will prove even more profitable and glorous. We hope to see the day when rich men will give just as liberally to send the gospel abroad as they do toward founding colleges and hospitals here at home. The cause of humanity is one.

Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

The South boasts many excellent schools, but it has none superior to the Randolph-Macon Woman's College, located at Lynchburg, Va., and presided over by that prince among educators, W. W. Smith, D.D., LL.D. Having an endowment (a rare thing for a female college) of over $100,000, buildings which cost $115,000, and employing teachers of the same grade as those in our best male colleges, this school is enabled to give a superior education at half cost for tuition.

An A. B. degree from Randolph-Macon is an indorsement of incalculable value. The Department of Pedagogy offers teachers just the training they need. Students not caring to try for the A. M., A. B., or B. L. degree, may receive diplomas on special subjects, as Latin, music, or chemistry. Its connection with the Randolph-Macon Male College, which is sixty-two years old, causes it to share the prestige and influence of that famous institution.

What the General Assembly Did.

The Louisiana General Assembly adjourned on the ninth instant after having been in session just sixty days. A more important session has not been held for many years. While not all was done that should have been done, and while blunders were made in several directions, on the whole, our legislators deserve much praise for the good work accomplished. Much time was consumed at the beginning in deciding the contested gubernatorial election, and in the election of a United State senator; but these matters having been attended to, the Assembly settled down to real legislative work in earnest.

We have not time to review the various measures that were passed, many of them, of course, being of minor importance. The measures of most significance are: First, the provision for the calling of a constitutional convention, which unfortunately is to be hampered by certain unwise limitations. The present State Constitution is sadly deficient in many respects, but the convention when it meets will find itself unable to make all the needed improvements, and carry out fully the wishes of the people. "Half a loaf, however, is better than no bread." Next, the enactment of new election and registration laws, the granting of a new charter to the city of New Orleans, and the raising of the age of consent from 12 to 16 years. What a shame that this evil, now in a measure righted, has been tolerated so long in Louisiana! We are sorry that the age was not raised to 18 years, as has been done in New York and a number of other States. Reforms, however, are of slow growth.

New Orleans was a great gainer by the recent session. Under her new charter, which contains the most wholesome civil service provisions, permanent good government is well nigh assured, and she ought to make rapid strides forward. Thanks to the efforts of those interested in putting down fraud, an honest election law was secured for the city at least, and no longer are political bosses, corruptionists and boodlers to have things their own way. A drainage bill, long-desired, but long-delayed, has at last been secured, and the Crescent City is in due time to be delivered from the horrible evils of the present system. The port bill, which does away with wharfage dues and makes this a free port, will be of the greatest advantage to commerce. These reforms all go to show what can be effected when the best citizens set themselves to work to secure what the public needs and demands.

The report of the Penitentiary Committee called attention to several abuses that ought to be righted at once. Some of the food served to the convicts, it is stated, is unfit for human beings, and is calculated to engender disease. The need of investigating the convict camps was also emphasized. The way prisoners are treated in some States is a standing disgrace to modern civilization. Because a man is a criminal working out a sentence is no reason why he should be maltreated. We hope that those in authority will use their good offices in righting these matters.

As might have been expected, the saloon men and their sympathizers worked hard to have the Sunday law amended in their favor; but, to their great disgust, they met with ignominious defeat. Now, let the police and other officials do their duty, and Sunday in this city will no longer be a day of revelry and debauchery. If the Sunday law can be enforced in New York City, why not in New Orleans? Unless the friends of the Sunday law, however, had been active in getting up petitions and in sending delegations to Baton Rouge, there is hardly a doubt that the proposed amendment would have carried. Vigilance is worth something, after all.

The General Assembly made a great "faux pas" in passing the bill licensing pool-room gambling, and the members who voted for this disgraceful measure deserve no little censure. For a short while it seemed as if the flood-gates of iniquity were to be turned loose upon us, and another foul stain was to be added to Louisiana's already dark record. But the Governor, we are glad to say, had the courage and the manhood to veto this iniquitous bill, and now the chuckling of the gamblers and sports will cease. The honor of the State has been saved, and the righteous everywhere will rejoice at the final failure of this scheme of the gamblers. In the name of thousands of the best people of this city and of the State at large, we thank Gov. Foster for his wise and manly action in this matter.

To the Friends of Millsaps College.

It gives the Board of Trustees great pleasure to report that another very satisfactory session of our college has closed. In almost every respect it has been the best in the history of the institution. Our organization is more thorough, and the work accomplished has been of a high order. Four young men were graduated, from whom the college has reason to expect great things in the future.

Our faculty is composed of accomplished specialists, whose conscientious devotion to their work is only equaled by their laudable professional ambition. One professor has been absent on leave during the past year, engaged in professional study in Rome and Athens. He will return before the beginning of next term to resume his class work. The year before, another was granted leave of absence to complete his graduate course and take his degree as doctor of philosophy in Johns Hopkins University. Three or more are engaged in special work in the University of Chicago this Summer. Thus the patrons of our college are assured that their sons will receive most thorough instruction, and after the most approved modern methods. And, after all, the test of a college is the character of work done.

We are greatly gratified to announce that, by the large-hearted liberality of Major Millsaps another substantial building is in process of erection on the campus, to be known as "Science Hall." It will be modern in all its appointments, and admirably adapted to all intended uses. In it will also be accommodation for our large and increasing library. As our generous friend will erect this building at his own expense, it is very little to ask the church to furnish and equip it. This will only require several thousand dollars, and the new agent, Rev. Thomas B. Holloman, is specially charged with the duty of securing this amount. Will not every friend of the college make a contribution thereto?

We make special appeal for the educational collection, assessed by Conference authority. The tuition fees were fixed at a nominal sum, with the distinct understanding that the two Conferences would provide an educational assessment. The cause to which this fund is sacredly devoted—the payment of fees of candidates for the ministry and the sons of ministers—is already in need. The claimants exceed the payments. Every dollar of the assessment is needed, and we urge our people to a larger liberality. By a conscientious adherence to the educational policy deliberately and prayerfully adopted by the two Conferences in Mississippi, and the hearty co-operation of pastors and people, we will soon make this college rank the foremost in its beneficent work for the church and country. We beg the pastors in the two Conferences to make special effort to secure the full assessment for education, and earnestly hope that the Conferences will see the wisdom of largely increasing this assessment.

As heretofore announced, we have established a Law Department in the college, and elected the Hon. Edward Mayes, LL.D., professor of law. His acknowledged scholarship, great ability and long experience give assurance of the best possible instruction in that department.

We offer, therefore, to all patrons of our college the very best academic work under wholesome and positive Christian influences.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY, Pres.
J. B. STREATER, Sec.

Jackson, Miss., July 9, 1896.

To do a good act with a bad grace is to negative the beneficent effect it ought to have upon your own soul.

"If you don't accept my opinions, you are wrong, and must step down and out." So says ignorant intolerance.

Every Christian needs and should pray for the baptism of the Spirit; but we pray to be delivered from the baptism of self-glorification and censoriousness that some professing Christians are baptized with.

Notes by the Way.

AT VAIDEN.

Came in Jackson last Wednesday, and on route to Vaiden, we made a hasty visit to Millsaps College, where we found workmen and teams busy. Will our 80,000 members allow the Science Hall to be finished before the small sum of $3,000 asked for its furnishing shall have been collected? Certainly we have the right to expect that our Mississippi Methodism will not be wanting in this matter. Already $700 is in hand. Two men propose to give $50 each, provided a number of others will do likewise. Brethren, let us hear from you rapidly.

The District Conference proper was opened in due form Friday morning by Presiding Elder Stone, who is looking rather feeble. We were glad to learn, after leaving, that Bishop Galloway came to his relief.

Those faithful laymen, Bros. Bingham and Streater, were on hand. The latter was elected president of the Sunday-school Conference, and the former was chosen as secretary of both bodies. We regretted to note the absence of a number of both preachers and laymen. The Conference treated us very kindly. A delightful home was provided for us in the family of Bro. Colmery, of the Presbyterian Church. Of necessity, our stay was short, having to leave on Friday at noon for the Enterprise District Conference at Heidelberg.

This writer addressed the Conference for about thirty minutes, after which the brethren sent me on my way rejoicing with a handsome collection of nearly $70.

Pleasant memories shall ever follow our visit to the good people of Vaiden, and our prayers shall continue for their success.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

July 10, 1896.

The League Conference at the Seashore.

We desire again to call attention to the Inter-State League Conference, to be held at the Seashore Camp Ground, beginning July 24 and continuing till July 31, the programme of which appeared in a recent issue. We see no reason why this meeting should interfere with the State Conference at Crystal Springs. They are a considerable distance apart, and each will be attended by people who could not well attend the other. A more delightful place for such a gathering it would be hard to find.

Among others, the following able speakers are to be present: Rev. J. W. Shuaff, D. D.; Bishop John C. Keener; Rev. T. F. Mangum, D. D.; Rev. J. M. Weems, Rev. A. F. Watkins, Rev. H. W. Featherstun, Rev. J. L. Pierce. This meeting bids fair to be quite a success. We hope there will be a large attendance and deep interest.

The writer heard last week a minister of another denomination in a public address make a point and illustrate it in a way that left an abiding impression. He was speaking upon the subject of "prayer for power," and said:

I have learned that what I need is to use the power provided, rather than to pray for more, and I have stopped teasing the Lord for power. Suppose that I wanted to go from Old Orchard to Boston. What good would it do me to go down to the station and sit or stand there and plead for power to go to Boston? The Boston and Maine Railroad has provided the power, and all I have to do is to fall in with their provision and use it. If I go into the right train and take my seat, and thus fall into the swing of the power provided, I shall have no trouble in getting to Boston.

And then in a close personal address to the congregation he said:

What would you do with the power you ask for, if it were granted to you? If it were given in the measure that you desire, you would not be able to use it. You want a locomotive; you want to hear it sing, to ring the bell and pull the throttle, but what do you know about running a locomotive? It would wreck you and everybody else with you, if put in your possession. Your mission is a humbler one. God is the engineer, and he alone can manage wisely this locomotive of power that you talk and pray so much about. This power is everywhere furnished for you. Connect with it, fall into its momentum, and you shall receive strength to do all that God asks of you.—Zion's Herald.

There is somewhat of a difference between saying what we believe and living what we believe.

Local-Option Victory.

We take great pleasure in publishing the following item from the Nashville Advocate of last week:

Here in Central Kentucky, the hotbed of distilleries, "we have met the enemy and they are ours." Saturday, June 27, at a city and county election, local option was carried by a majority of 628. It carried in the town and in the county. Our local-option people were thoroughly organized, published a paper, had auxiliary leagues at every precinct in the county, and moved forward with the swing of conquest. The Christian ministers of the place, with the exception of the Catholic priest, were a unit in the matter; the Christian women played a prominent and heroic part; the laymen figured conspicuously, and the brother in black contributed largely to the results of the election. Ministers stumped the county, and were in the van from first to last. This is a significant triumph. Clarke is the seventy-fifth county in Kentucky to go for local option. Grant went dry last week. In other counties the fight is on, and it looks like in a few more years our proud old Commonwealth will rid herself of the saloon.—Rev. H. G. Henderson, A. M.

The oft-echoed pretense that the prohibition of liquor selling on Sunday is hard upon the poorer classes, who are thereby deprived of the privilege of enjoying themselves on that day, is answered by a poor mother in New York, who voices the feelings of thousands of others elsewhere, in regard to the efforts of Mr. Roosevelt at enforcement of the Sunday closing law against the saloons in that city. She says:

"I tell you, we are living a new life here. There are children who never saw their fathers sober on Sunday, who see them sober now. There are women, God bless them! who have never seen the men they love sober on Sunday since they married them. I tell you, many a woman goes to the butcher with a bill in her fist Monday morning, who felt herself lucky with a quarter before the saloons were closed."

The testimony of that mother refutes the hypocritical complaint of thousands of liquor men and their friends.—Exchange.

NOTES.

The Epworth League Union of Nashville recently passed a resolution against bicycling on Sunday. Commendable resolution that!

What some preachers call "bold preaching" and "hewing to the line" is only the exhibition of a lack of brotherly love and grace to control their tempers.—Arkansas Methodist.

Bishop Galloway has appointed Rev. J. B. Mitchell, a Vanderbilt student, and an applicant for admission into the North Mississippi Conference this Fall, in charge of the Enpora circuit until next Conference.

Rev. John O. Wilson, editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, by the grace of Wofford College, South Carolina, now wears the honors of D. D.—another illustration of the truth that merit does not always go unappreciated.

The indifference with which Europe looks on while the Turk puts some of his Christian subjects to the sword and starves others, is a striking testimonial to the materialistic and selfish spirit of this age.—Central Advocate.

It comes on straight authority that the Romish priests kept the entire bar-room force busy at one of those recent Kansas City hotel "banquets," in honor of the new Bishop. And that bar is said to be well-manned, too.—Mid-Continent.

In one of the poor districts of New York City it is estimated that the saloons cost every year an average of seventy-five dollars to each individual. The churches of the city cost their members an average of thirty dollars a member.—Exchange.

For the first time in this century the English House of Commons has refused to adjourn for the Derby Day. An incident of this sort is not without significance. It shows that there is a growing sentiment among civilized people against patronizing amusements that are clearly of a demoralizing character. A great many individual members of Parliament doubtless went to the races; but it is a cause for congratulation that the body did not give its official sanction to such a proceeding.—Nashville Advocate.

Dr. W. M. Baskervill will have charge of a class in English at Chautauqua, N. Y., the present season.

Rev. S. H. Babcock has resigned the presidency of Searcy College, Arkansas. His successor has not yet been elected.

In West End and East Side, Nashville, the Campbellite, Presbyterian, Baptist, Cumberland Presbyterian, and Methodist congregations have inaugurated union Sunday night services for the Summer months. "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

It is announced that Prof. A. B. Warwick, M. A., late principal of the Fogg High School of Nashville, Tenn., will succeed Dr. Atkins in the presidency of Asheville Female College. He has had considerable experience in teaching young ladies, and is spoken of as a man of ability and fine Christian character.

The Rev. A. C. Banc, of the Los Angeles Conference, and pastor at San Diego, Cal., has withdrawn from the M. E. Church, South, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. This, we suppose, is the outcome of the refusal of the brethren of the Los Angeles Conference to grant their brother a location at his own request.

The recent advancements made by medical science in the discovery of disease germs is one of the greatest marvels of the age. The latest news is that some experts at the St. Lawrence State Hospital, New York, have found the germ which produces acute delirious mania. It is predicted that this discovery, if verified by further experiment, will revolutionize the treatment of this disease.

In a recent gathering some speaker was commiserating the woes of stricken Nebraska. Another speaker arose and said that during the last year stricken Nebraska had spent over five million dollars for intoxicating drinks, and that it was not in need of free silver so much as of freedom from whisky. We are not cognizant of the facts in this instance, but the moral is good.—Pittsburg Advocate.

Dr. James Atkins, the new Sunday-school Editor, arrived in Nashville last week, and took charge of his office in the Publishing House. His family will not leave their home in North Carolina before the first of October. The impression that he has made upon everybody hereabouts is most pleasant. The church may feel sure that a strong, sensible, and consecrated man is at the helm.—Nashville Advocate.

The Board of Supervisors of Madison county (Miss.) have ordered a local-option election for July 30. We hope the friends of temperance in that county will one and all do their utmost to defeat the forces of liquor. It is a fight of right against wrong, of purity against corruption, of sobriety against debauchery, of decency against toughism, of truth against falsehood, of home protection against the snares of the devil.

The canvass for funds to rebuild the Lafayette Park Church is being rapidly pushed and the pastor is meeting with good success. Dr. Werlein took subscriptions in his own congregation Sunday morning for the project and with gratifying results. In spite of the fact that many of the members had been rendered homeless by the tornado they came up with liberal contributions to carry forward this good work.—St. Louis Advocate.

A while ago somebody suggested with a touch of scorn that preachers ought to be "paid by results." "Paid by results"—how the money would roll in upon us! To speak the word at a critical moment which shall turn a faltering young man or woman into the path of life—how much for that? To utter thoughts which widen and purify a man's soul, and which save him for lapsing into a sordid, sensual life—how much for that? To inspire with fresh hope one sinking into grief and unbelief and despair—how much for that? Men with religious insight and utterance are to be valued as gifts of God—they are the stars in the hand of the Great Head of the church, to guide, to cheer, to enlighten, until the shadows flee away.—W. L. Watkinson.

CRAMPS

Colic, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, and for all complaints of children,

MUL-EN-OL

is a positive specific. In ordinary cases it will quickly effect a complete cure. In the most severe cases it will ward off the danger until the Doctor comes. Always keep it in the house. In case of an emergency it will be found invaluable. Sold everywhere. Price 50c., $1.00, $2.00. Prepared by

Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

By Rev. R. H. Wynn.

Prayer Meeting Topic for July.

THE DISCIPLES OF OUR LORD.

SUNDAY, JULY 19—THE GROUP, AND CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TWELVE.

(Matt x, 1-4; Mark iii, 13-19; Luke vi, 12-14; Acts i, 13.)

We have here four complete catalogues of the apostles, with only very slight variations in names and in order. In some cases the surname is given, sometimes the given name only, and sometimes both.

In the preceding topic we had account of the calling of a number to leave their occupations, and become disciples, but it is at a later date, and immediately before the preaching of the Sermon on the Mount, that the twelve are formally selected by Christ as apostles. The night preceding was spent by Christ in prayer on the mountain top, and in the morning they are selected and commissioned. In a condensed form we will mention all their names and their personal characteristics, where they are known.

(1) Simon Peter, son of Jonas. The name Cephas, equivalent of Peter, was also given him by Jesus. He was a fisherman of Bethsaida, in Galilee; was afterwards married, and resided in Capernaum. He was a disciple of John the Baptist, and first became acquainted with Jesus at the scene of John's preaching; was afterward called to leave his employment in Capernaum, and follow Jesus. He was naturally impulsive, self-confident, and made many mistakes, but afterwards became a courageous leader in the Christian Church. He figuring more prominently, perhaps, than any other apostle. Incidents recorded of him while with Jesus are: his walking on the water, his strong confession of Christ, his ecstasy on the Mount of Transfiguration, the rebuke of his self-confidence, his wounding the high priest's servant, his denial of Christ, and subsequent restoration. He was first to open the door of the church to the Gentiles. He is supposed to have suffered martyrdom at Rome, but there is no foundation for the historic claim of the Romish Church that it was founded by Peter. He was the author of two New Testament epistles.

(2) Andrew, brother of Simon Peter. Also son of Jonas, a fisherman, and a native of Bethsaida. He was one of the very first to believe in Jesus, on the testimony of John the Baptist, and introduced Peter to the Lord. He was not very prominent as an apostle, being mentioned only three times: Mark xiii, 3; John vi, 8, and John xii, 22.

(3) James, son of Zebedee. He was a fisherman, and a native of Bethsaida. Together with Peter and John he was specially honored by being permitted to witness certain events in the life of the Lord, from which all others were excluded. Together with John he had to be rebuked at one time for ambition, and at another time for misdirected zeal. (See Matt. xx, 20, and Luke ix, 54.) He was put to death by Herod Agrippa. (Acts xii, 2.)

(4) John. He was a brother of James, and had the same occupation. He was one of the first group who believed on Jesus, and very soon became the beloved disciple. He and James were called to leave their occupation at the same time and place, with Peter and Andrew. The two brothers were styled "Sons of Thunder," probably by reason of their zeal and eloquence. John was the most prominent apostle next to Peter. He lived to quite an old age in Asia Miner, and wrote five books of the New Testament.

(5) Philip. Also a native of Bethsaida, and one of the first group of five who met Jesus. He is to be distinguished from Philip, the deacon and evangelist. He seems to be possessed of little spiritual insight. (See John vi, 5; John xii, 21, and John xiv, 8, 9.)

(6) Bartholomew, or son of Tolma. He is supposed to be identical with Nathanael, the "Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile," and the last one of the group of five who met Jesus at the Jordan.

(7) Thomas, or Didymus. He possessed a courageous spirit. (See John xi, 16.) He manifested a skeptical spirit regarding the resurrection of Christ, which was followed by a sublime confession. (John xx, 24-29.)

(8) Matthew, or Levi, the publican. He was the son of Alpheus, and was called to follow Jesus from the receipt of custom in Capernaum. He prepared a feast in honor of Jesus. He was the author of the first gospel.

(9) James, son of Alpheus, or Cleophas. He is also called James the Less, and must be distinguished from James, son of Zebedee, and James, brother of our Lord. He was a cousin of Jesus, being a nephew of the Virgin Mary.

(10) Tibbens, surnamed Thaddeus; or Judas, also called Jude. He was probably a brother of James the Less, and cousin of Jesus. He was the author of the Epistle of Jude.

(11) Simon, the Canaanite, or Simon Zelotes. Nothing is known of him, except that he had probably been a member of the sect of Zealots.

(12) Judas Iscariot. He must be distinguished from Judas Thaddeus. He was a Judean, probably a native of Kerioth. He was the betrayer of the Lord.

For Heavy, Sluggish Feeling Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

It produces healthy activity of weak or disordered stomachs that need stimulating, and acts as tonic on nerves and brain.

At Caseyville.

The tent meeting just closed at this place was of most remarkable power. The people came in large crowds and from long distances. Sister Snell was never in better spiritual condition. Her faith was on sublime heights and took hold and cried, "It shall be done." She was consumed with a zeal for the Father's house; her enthusiasm was so intense that she became oblivious to physical comfort. Her spiritual discernment was so clear that no mistake in anything was made that we could see. The Holy Spirit was seen in his inception into the soul of the surrendered penitent. In the devil-possessed Satan was beheld enthroned, keeping his palace. In wooing the soul from Satan to God the insight was good; the degree of conviction and various stages of approach were discerned, and at the crucial point the Savior was introduced and the devil put to flight.

It is impossible to state the full results of this meeting; but the greater danger lies in under-estimating. There were twenty-three accessions by faith, one hundred or more conversions and reclamations, and forty sanctifications. Some of the greatest sinners came home, and the deepest wounds were healed.

J. D. Crymes.

University of Mississippi.

The work done at the State University should be judged by the estimate of those who have personal knowledge of it. There are thousands of its old students in the State, some in every county, and within the last three years fully one thousand teachers from all parts of the State have visited the institution and mingled with its students and instructors. Anyone desiring reliable information about the University ought to be able to get it from these.

Life is a short day, but it is a working day. Activity may lead to evil, but inactivity can not lead to good.—Hannah More.

Notice.

My address is Jackson, Miss. P. and H. M. Society please govern themselves also as above in addressing Mrs. Holloman.

T. B. Holloman.

July 6, 1896.

Revival at Slaughter, La.

I wrote you several weeks ago about the revival meeting held at Ethel, La. I now write to tell you about our revival at Slaughter, La. Some of the people say it was the best meeting they have had in several years. The attendance at night services was very large. Rev. A. S. Lutz did the preaching, and Rev. J. F. McClellan conducted the singing. The results of the revival were as follows: eleven persons united with our church, about 25 or 30 conversions, the organization of a Junior Epworth League, and a ladies' prayer meeting.

Chas. D. Atkinson.

Money Made in a Minute.

I have not made less than sixteen dollars any day while selling Centrifugal Ice Cream Freezers. Anyone should make from five to eight dollars a day selling cream, and from seven to ten dollars selling Freezers, as it is such a wonder, there is always a crowd wanting cream. You can freeze cream elegantly in one minute, and that astonishes people so they all want to taste it, and then many of them buy freezers, as the cream is smooth and perfectly frozen. Every freezer is guaranteed to freeze cream perfectly in one minute. Anyone can sell ice cream and the freezer sells itself. My sister makes from ten to fifteen dollars a day. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you full particulars free, so you can go to work and make lots of money anywhere, as with one freezer you can make a hundred gallons of cream a day, or if you wish, they will hire you on a salary.

The Virginia College, Roanoke, Virginia.

The Virginia College for Young Ladies, located in the beautiful city of Roanoke, Virginia, is one of the foremost schools in the South. Its magnificent new buildings with all modern improvements, on a campus of ten acres, amid gorgeous mountain scenery in the Valley of Virginia, famed for health; its ample course of study, European and American teachers, make the Virginia College for Young Ladies one of the most attractive and beautiful college homes in the Union. It is attended by pupils representing twenty States. Opens Sept. 10th. For descriptive catalogue address

Mattie P. Harris,
Roanoke, Virginia.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sir:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. • • •

Yours most respectfully,

Mrs. A. W. Moore.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

MARTIN COLLEGE

For Young Ladies,

PULASKI, - - - TENN.

Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.

The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, "well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zelsberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Courses reasonable. Send for catalogue.

S. N. BARKER, President.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of instructors. Improved facilities. Most healthful location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low.

For catalogue and announcements address

Chancellor R. B. Fulton,
University, Mississippi.

TEACHERS' BUREAU. TEACHERS VACANCIES

We have at present several hundred more vacancies than teachers. Address Rev. Dr. O. M. Sutton, A. M., Manager,

Southern Teacher's Bureau,
Louisville, Ky.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

The Wall and Mooney School,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

—FITS BOYS FOR THE LEADING COLLEGES.—

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt University on certificate, and take the very highest rank, there and elsewhere.

NEXT TERM WILL OPEN AUG. 25, 1896.

No pupil will be admitted without previous engagement. Apply early. For catalogue, address

W. D. MOONEY, Sec.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.

FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

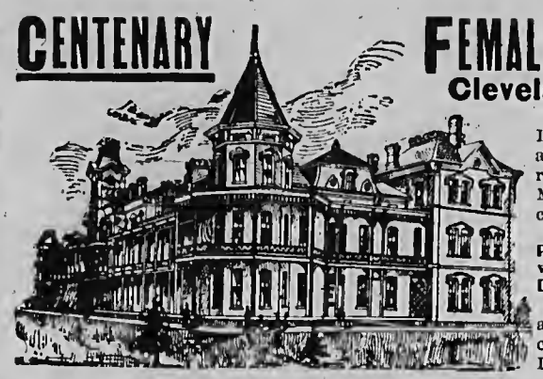
BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

"The Great College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools (taught by skilled specialists). Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Hood and Miss Heron, Principals.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,

Cleveland, Tenn.



Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address, D. SULLINS, Pres't.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

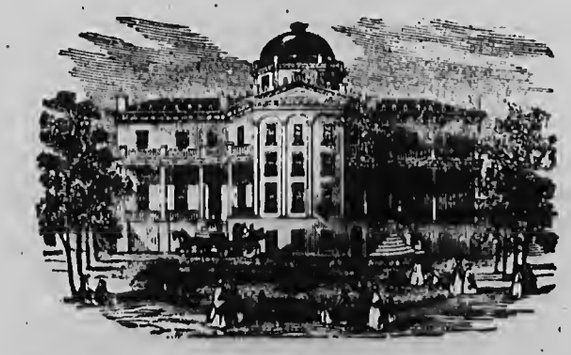
GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.



Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-MedineCo?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert.
Kramich & Bach,
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

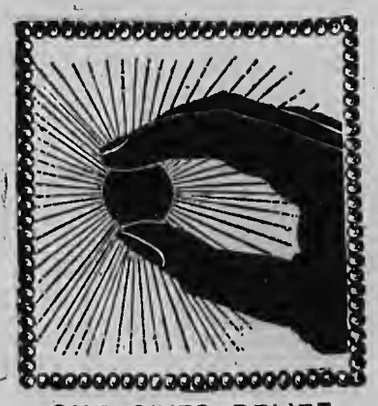
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the 1 cent form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Why not be your own Middle-man?

Pay but one profit between maker and user and that a small just one. Our Big 700 Page Catalogue and Buyers Guide proves that it's possible. Weighs 3¼ pounds, 12,000 Illustrations, describes and tells the one-profit price of over 40,000 articles, everything you use. We send it for 15 cents; that's not for the book, but to pay part of the postage or expressage, and keep off idlers. You can't get it too quick.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
The Store of All the People
111-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

Guarantee Position. Accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank till position is secured. Car fare paid.

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL Business Colleges

NASHVILLE, TENN., and TEXARKANA, TEXAS.

Indorsed by Bankers, Merchants, and others. Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. Four weeks in Bookkeeping with us equals 12 elsewhere. No vacation. Enter any time. Board $16. To order our books for home study is next best thing to entering our schools. Write us at Nashville. (Mention this paper.)

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

HOME CIRCLE.

Building.

We are building every day
In a good or evil way,
And the structure as it grows,
Will our inmost self disclose—

Till in every arch and line
All our faults and failing shine;
It may grow a castle grand,
Or a wreck upon the sand.

Do you ask, what building this,
That can show both pain and bliss,
That can be both dark and fair?
Lo! its name is Character.

Build it well, whate'er you do;
Build it straight, and strong, and true,
Build it o'ean and high and broad;
Build it for the eye of God.

—Selected.

He Looks One Way and Pulls Another.

He faces the shore, but he is pulling for the ship. This is the way of those who row in boats, and also of a great many who never trust themselves on the water. The boatman is all right, but the hypocrite is all wrong, whatever rites he may practice. I can not endure Mr. Facing both ways, yet he has swarms of cousins.

It is ill to be a saint without and a devil within, to be a servant of Christ before the world in order to serve the ends of self and the devil, while inwardly the heart hates all good things. There are good and bad of all classes, and hypocrites can be found among ploughmen as well as among parsons. It used to be so in the olden times, for I remember an old verse which draws out just such a character. The man says:

"I'll have a religion all of my own,
Whether Papist or Protestant shall not be known;
And if it proves tronblerome I will have none."

In our Lord's day many followed him, but it was only for the loaves and fishes. They do say that some in our parish don't go quite so straight as the Jews did, for they go to the church for the loaves, and then go over to the Baptist chapel for the fishes. I don't want to judge, but I certainly do know some who, if they do not care much for faith, are always following after charity.

Better die than sell your soul to the highest bidder. Better be shut up in the workhouse than fatten upon hypocrisy. Whatever else we barter, let us never try to turn a penny by religion, for hypocrisy is the meanest vice a man can come to.—Spurgeon.

The Art of Overlooking.

BY JULIA H. JOHNSTON.

The discriminating art of forgetting is invaluable, but the art of overlooking may take precedence even over this distinct aid to happiness. It is well to put aside the annoyances of bypast time, dropping the remembrance of disagreeables, but it is better still to pass them by in the beginning without taking them up. Prevent the impression, and there will be no occasion to erase it. All mollifying ointment is good for a hurt, but better no hurt in need of healing.

Do not dwell upon unpleasantness long enough for it to take a place in the convolutions of the brain. Do not scrutinize what is unseemly, obnoxious or disquieting, if nothing is to be gained by it save a disturbing memory. Don't stop and stoop to examine displeasing things along the life-path. Keep the eyes at higher levels, and overlook the thorn-hedges at the sides, taking care to keep the middle of the track, so as not to brush against them.

Even the excellent people that one meets, constantly are sometimes rather trying. Some of them are positive and persistent in opinions which we, in our wisdom, know to be wrong, of course, though, strangely enough, our convictions fail to be convincing to them. Our way is crossed when there seems to be no need for it; small domestic calamities are legion; carelessness is actually culpable, and a moment's thoughtlessness may cost great inconvenience; yet, after all, these things, either in themselves or in their consequences, are not vital. If no principle be involved, let them pass. Do not mar the day with futile struggle to mend them, nor the morrow with their memory If they can not be righted, nor even resisted, never mind them. This one bit of advice is so hard to follow that it will be good discipline for a sensitive soul to practice the precept. Even disappointments and hindering interruptions the resolute sunshineseer will not lay to heart, but will look over and beyond them to the next bright thing to be seen.

Sometimes the mere recognition of a thing seems to give it force and form; therefore do not notice the apparent slight, the covert criticism or the tokens of impatience. Overlook also the little inadvertence, the unintentional mistake, and the small disaster that can not be retrieved. To take note of such things brings confusion to others and discomfort to one's self. The spirit that is too acutely observant is unquiet and over burdened. The constant accuser, who calls one to account for every slip, and demands endless explanations, is a very uncomfortable sort of a friend. Overlook the unmeant offense, and, with no chance to fester in the memory, it will leave no scar behind.

It is amazing how the vexing things of the moment, that seem to grow large while we look, sink into insignificance by and by. Why give them an opportunity to disturb the present? Gauge them, sensibly, by the measure certain to be applied in the moment of calmer afterthought, and forbear the excited protest, forego the resentful expression. One can not always be sensible, say you? Well, one can at least emulate the example of the old lady who was "determined to endeavor to try."

A discriminating observer of the "method" of a mother who trained a large and very energetic family, a diverse and tumultuous set, indeed, said that one secret of her marvelous success was the "judicious amount of letting alone." The mother never brought on a controversy, or clash of wills, when by prudent overlooking and good management matters would presently right themselves.

Some people, it is true, have a happy faculty of overlooking, but all may attain a certain facility, through love which "beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things," and "never faileth." An "art" we know, thanks to our bulky "Webster," is knowledge applied to practical purposes. It is aptitude, skill, dexterity acquired by experience. What hourly opportunities common life affords for such acquirement! The art of overlooking may not belong to arts liberal, polite or fine, but it is a kindly and useful one for every day. Cultivate it in life's intimate associations, and thus foretell, in a measure, the need of the art of forgetting. —Exchange.

"No!"

"No!" clear, sharp and ringing, with an emphasis which could not fail to arrest attention.

"I don't often hear such a negative as that," remarked one gentleman to another as they were passing the playground of a village school.

"It is not often anyone hears it. The boy who uttered it can say, 'Yes,' too, quite as emphatically. He is a new comer here, an orphan, who lives about two miles off with his uncle. He walks in every morning, bringing his lunch, and walks back at night. He works enough, too, to pay his board, and does more toward running his uncle's farm than the old man does himself. He is the coarsest dressed scholar in school, and the greatest favorite. Everybody knows just what to expect of him."

"Quite a character; I should like to see him. Boys of such sturdy make-up are getting to be scarce, while the world never had more need of them than now."

"All that is true; and if you wish to see Ned, come this way."

The speakers moved on a few steps, pausing by an open gate near which a group of lads were discussing some exciting question.

"It isn't right, and I won't have anything to do with it. When I say 'No,' I mean it."

"Well, any way, you needn't speak so loud and tell everybody about it," was responded impatiently.

"I am willing everybody should hear what I've got to say about it. I won't take anything that don't belong to me, and I won't drink cider, any way."

"Such a fuss about a little fun! It is just what we might have expected; you never go in for fun!"

"I never go in for doing wrong. I told you, 'No,' to begin with, and you're the ones to blame if there's been any fuss."

"Ned Dunlap, I should like to see you a minute."

"Yes, sir;" and the boy removed his hat as he passed through the gate and waited to hear what Mr. Palmer might say to him.

"Has your uncle any apples to sell?"

"No, sir; he had some, but he has sold them. I've got two bushels that were my share for picking; would you like to buy them, sir?"

"Yes, if you can agree upon the price. Do you know just how much they are worth?"

"Yes, sir."

"All right, then. I will call for them, and you may call at my house for the pay."

This short interview afforded the stranger an opportunity to observe Ned Dunlap closely. The next day a call was made at his uncle's, and although years elapsed before he knew what a friend he had gained that day, his fortune was assured. After he had grown to manhood and accepted a lucrative position which was not of his seeking, he asked why it had been offered him.

"Because I knew you could say 'No,' if occasion required," answered his employer. "'No' was the first word I heard you speak, and you spoke it with a will. More people, old and young, are ruined for want of using that word than from any other cause. They don't wish to do wrong, but they hesitate and parley until the tempter has them fast. The boy or the girl who is not afraid to say 'No' is reasonably certain of making an honorable man or woman."

"Yes" is a sweet and often a loving word; "No" is a strong brave word which has signaled the defeat of many a scheme for the ruin of some fair young life. —Exchange.

What Christians Are For.

I remember hearing of a blind man who sat by the wayside with a lantern near him. When he was asked what he had a lantern for, as he could not see the light, he said it was that people should not stumble over him. I believe more people stumble over the inconsistencies of professed Christians than from any other cause. What is doing more harm to the cause of Christ than all the skepticism in the world is this cold, dead formalism, this conformity to the world, this professing what we do not possess. The eyes of the world are upon us. I think it was George Fox who said that every Quaker ought to light up the country ten miles around him. If we are all brightly shining for the Master, those about us would soon be reached, and there would be a shout of praise going to heaven. —D. L. Moody.

The out-and out Christian is a joyful Christian. The half-and-half Christian is the kind of Christian that a great many of you are—little acquainted with the Lord. Why should we live half way up the hill and swathed in mists, when we might have an unclouded sky and a visible sun over our heads if we would climb higher and walk in the light of His face?—Alexander Maclaren.

Like flakes of snow that fall unperceived upon the earth, the seemingly unperceived events of life succeed one another. As the snow gathers together, so are our habits formed. No single flake that is added to the pile produces a sensible change; no single action creates, however it may exhibit, a man's character.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

The Joy of Living.

BY JENNIE CHANDLER.

Joy is a passion or emotion of the mind caused either by good expected or already received. It is the opposite of those painful emotions which are felt on the receipt of intelligence of misfortune. The old Greeks used to speak much of the "joy of living," and the only inference we can draw from this oft-repeated phrase is that they were the recipients of much good, or in expectation of it in the future. Christians whose hope in a world of happiness after death are, or should be, a joyous people, because there is so much in store for them. Those who are familiar with the Salvation Army have remarked the joyfulness in the faces of these people. Many of them have lived hard and fast lives and lives of pain and sorrow, and, believing as they do that they have escaped evil and are heirs to a kingdom, it can not fail to give them joy.

Those who believe that life is worth living, notwithstanding the fact that it is accompanied with trials and pains, also have cause for joy, which should be an unfailing spring of delight.

Joy is not only a product of faith and hope, but it is also a product of temperament and of health. We have most of us seen persons always serene, always happy, yet they could not tell why; they had no particular faith or hope to buoy them up. It was simply constitutional. The brain was organized to feel the joys of life at every point.

Joy promotes health and health promotes joy. Each acts on the other.

Joy can be cultivated just the same as reason, or a knowledge of art or mathematics can be. Let any woman resolve to live a joyous life and she will be sure to be happier and better and make those around her happier also. The best rules I know are to maintain the health, to perform the real, not the imagined, duties of life faithfully and without complaining, and to cultivate faith, hope and charity, and also to cultivate the mind and the heart.—The Journal of Hygiene.

The Curative Value of Sleep.

Every sleeping apartment should be so arranged that a current of fresh air will enter and keep the air in motion and pure all night; without this precaution the carbonic acid gas exhaled from the lungs will in the stagnant air hug the bed from its own weight and spread over the sleeper a blanket of impurity, and the rebreathed air will, before morning, be foul beyond belief.

The requisites for that beauty of tint and complexion which health gives are not many, and are in the reach of all who care to take a little pains. Give yourself plenty of sound, restful sleep—from seven to nine hours, according to your avocations and the tax upon your body and brain.

If sleep, on a good bed, in a well ventilated room, does not come readily, try a cup of hot milk or of hot water, the last thing before getting into bed, and acquire a habit of relaxing all the muscles when you lie down, and banish thought. Don't take sedatives and narcotics to banish worry, but have sufficient faith in the temporariness of all worries to realize that dwelling upon them does much harm, no good.—Demorest's Magazine.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

SWEET PEACH PICKLE.—Take four pounds of sugar and make a syrup of it. Remove the down from eight pounds of large clingstone peaches (the white heath is best). The peaches should not be quite ripe. Put a few peaches at a time into the syrup, and cook until a fork will readily enter them. Take these out and put in more until all are thus prepared. Then put them into jars, and boil the syrup until quite thick, then add a pint of good vinegar and pour over the peaches. Boil with the syrup, allspice, cloves, cinnamon, and mace. After three days let the syrup come to a boil once more and pour over the peaches. —Exchange.

I am always in haste, but never in a hurry; leisure and I have long taken leave of each other. —J. Wesley.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of Medicine. Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address

Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New York.

SUMMERING IN THE NORTH AND EAST

The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Resorts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

ST. LOUIS CHICAGO
CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE

maintained by the

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask local Railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1st, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrive
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:55 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:45 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Tensas-Mississippi-Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, -:- East, North-East, AND South-East

90 MILES SHORTEST

To CINCINNATI AND THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

E. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

BLANCARD'S IODIDE OF IRON PILLS.

ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the most celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Tuberculosis, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood, and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour,
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

OBITUARIES.

GAYDEN—Sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, June 7, 1896, Miss Iva May Gayden, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Gayden, of East Feliciana parish, La.

The voice is hushed, the heart is still, the sparkling eye hath closed forever on all of earth to open with celestial beauty and angelic sweetness in the temple of the New Jerusalem. It is well. In the full fruition of a perfect womanhood, tried in God's furnace of suffering till the undimmed gold of her Christian armor shone with a sevenfold effulgence, she hath answered the mandate, "Come up higher." So perfect, so beautiful, so gifted by God with every grace that could enhance high social position, and lend to gayety and mirth their chief charm, she resolutely turned from pleasure's giddy whirl, gave her hand to the church and her heart to the Prince of Righteousness. Her every act proclaimed her new vow, "From henceforth to holier purposes I pledge myself." The hour of suffering brought her at once to the couch of pain. The humble cottage of the poor and the palatial abode of the rich knew no distinction in her gentle ministration. How mesmeric those soft white fingers to soothe the aching brow!—and the sweet cadence of that gentle voice grew sweeter still as it told the wonderful story of Jesus and his love to the dying sinner who knew not God.

In her avocation as an educator she daily dispensed the pearls of that wisdom whose price is far above rubies. She gave of her time and substance, not one-tenth, but all; all to her God. Was one halting at the temple of knowledge without the golden key to open? Iva's was the hand to thrust ajar the portals, and bid them enter, pointing ever onward and upward. When will her influence end? When her work be done? Time answers, "Never," and eternity catches up the refrain as it reverberates along the corridors of the golden city, and echoes, "Never."

Six long weeks of suffering, smitten with blindness for days before her release came, her faith never faltered; and when a holy man of God knelt in prayer for her, she begged that he would pray, especially, not for her recovery, but that she might be sustained and strengthened unto the end. To the agonized mother, who bent over her to catch the faintest sound, the pale lips whispered, "When I awake I shall be satisfied with thy likeness."

Oh, may God, who has constituted and filled the human heart with that love that is stronger than its very being, comfort her bereaved parents! Aunt Millie.

HAYS—Bro. J. H. Hays was born Aug. 28, 1860; was married by the writer to Miss Virgie McCrary, Oct. 25, 1881, and died April 1, 1896.

Bro. Hays joined the M. E. Church, South, at Byhalia, Miss., in September, 1894, during a meeting held by Bros. Lowe, Perkins, and Dye, and remained a consistent and loyal member of the church until the time of his death. For years he had been the child of affliction, but rest came at last. His "light afflictions were working for him a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

A few nights before his death he notified his devoted wife that "the time of his departure was at hand;" sent for his brother and kissed him good-by. He soon, however, became unconscious, and remained in that condition until the angels caught his spirit up and bore him away to his immortal home.

Bro. Hays was a good man. He loved the church and his pastor; was a kind father and a devoted husband. His friendship was a blessing which will not soon be forgotten by his pastor.

He leaves a devoted wife and two children to mourn their loss. But Sister Hays is trusting in that God who has promised to be a friend to the widow and a father to the fatherless.

May God bless the widow and precious children, and finally bring them to the land of everlasting life, where they shall find dear Bro. Jake watching and waiting for them! We have lost a friend, but "we know where to find him." L. D. Workman.

HOLLOWAY—J. Robert Holloway was born in Wake county, N. C., July 4, 1829; moved to Cookram, DeSoto county, Miss., in 1835. He has been a faithful member of the M. E. Church, South, for several years. He was made a Mason in 1852, and has been a faithful tyler till the day of his death, June 12, 1896. He is the last of the old landmarks. A good man is gone. We will miss him in the home of Bro. H. B. Laughtor, who has so tenderly cared for him in his declining years. The church and lodge will miss him.

His remains were interred in the cemetery at Cookram, Miss., with Masonic honors, June 13. May the blessings of Heaven be with his loved ones! "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord!" O. L. Savage, P. C.

CHAPMAN—Mrs. Lenora Chapman (nee Clark) died near Westville, Miss., May 5, 1896. She joined the Baptist Church when but twelve years old, and lived a consistent Christian until she received the summons to "come up higher." She was happily married to Mr. S. J. Chapman in February, 1893. This union was blessed with one sweet little girl, who lives, we trust, to perpetuate her mother's good name and loving deeds.

For quite a while she had been an invalid. Consumption marked her for its victim. Her sun went down ere it had reached its meridian height, but she was ready, and its setting was but its earlier rising in the realms of eternity.

A few days before her death she sang that sweet hymn, "Oh, come, angel band." Just as she neared the open portals she said: "Lord, wash me whiter than snow. Watch me! watch me! watch me!"

Oh, these precious words as her spirit took its flight from earth and swept through the open gates of pearl! Nineteen years she served him below; through eternity she will praise him above. May God bless the lonely home! Her Friend.

LONGMIRE—Mrs. Mary C. Longmire was born in Franklin county, Miss., Jan 27, 1843, and died at her home in Gloster, Miss., May —, 1896.

She did not postpone her coming to Christ until the best years of her life were passed, but in girlhood gave her heart to him, and joined the Methodist Church.

She possessed all of those characteristics which constitute true Christian womanhood. As a neighbor, she was kind, obliging, and charitable. As a member of the church, she was always at her post until disease undermined her constitution. She loved the Word of God.

She expressed herself as being willing to go at her Lord's command. Peacefully and quietly she passed away, and has received the welcome plan lit: "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." She sleeps by the side of her son, who had preceded her into the heavenly city. She leaves eight children and a devoted husband to mourn her loss. Weep not, dear friends, as those who have no hope, for some day there will be a glorious reunion.

Her pastor, D. F. Guice.

HUTCHINS—Thos. J. Hutchins was born near Rocky Springs, Claiborne county, Miss., July 10, 1816, and died at his home near Reganton, Miss., May 23, 1896. He joined the M. E. Church, South, at Cayuga, Hinds county, Miss., under the pastorate of Rev. P. B. Bailey, Aug. 11, 1846, and never severed his connection with this church until he was taken into the bosom of the Father and made a member of the triumphant church in heaven. His conversion was clear and unmistakable, and his life worthy of imitation. He served the church he loved dearly as steward, class leader, Sunday-school superintendent, etc., faithfully until age and infirmity disqualified him for these responsible positions.

We miss Bro. Hutchins very much, and his wife, children, and grandchildren, and a host of friends mourn his loss. He was rational until the last, and gave positive evidence of his acceptance with God. "Our loss is heaven's gain." It has been said of him that, "The main object of his life was to promote the happiness of others by words of kindness and bestowal of charitable gift." "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors."

GIBSON—Sister Hattie E. Gibson was born in Pike county, Miss., Aug. 16, 1859, and died in Summit, Miss., March 12, 1896, being thirty-six years eight months and twenty-eight days old. She was a daughter of Major and Harriet Gibson. Her father died in 1883. Her mother, several sisters and one brother still live to mourn the loss of a devoted daughter, a sweet and affectionate sister.

In the year 1872, under the ministry of Rev. Ira B. Robertson, of the Mississippi Conference, she was converted and joined the church.

During the two years I was her pastor I found her the same pure-minded, sweet-spirited Christian, patient under affliction and resigned to God's will. Her end was peace. May God bless and abundantly support her precious mother and other loved ones, and guide them safely "through life's tempestuous sea, where angry tempests blow, and anchor them in that port above, where dashing billows never move, where tempests never roar," is the sincere prayer of their friend and brother, H. P. Lewis.

Lake, Miss.

FORBES—Belle Brown, beloved wife of J. J. Forbes, departed this life April 30, 1896, aged thirty-three years.

She was a member of the Baptist Church, and led an exemplary Christian life. During her illness she bore her suffering with great fortitude, and was conscious all the time of her approaching end. A while before her death she sang in a clear, sweet voice, "When shall I see Jesus?" She then requested those present to sing, "Sweet by-and-by." Then she bid them good by, and asked them not to grieve for her, for she was willing to go. She has left the joys and sorrows of earth with an assurance of a glorious crowning in heaven, and the hope of a reunion will be a balm and consolation to the bereaved husband. The future may seem dark and dreary, yet we have every reason to believe that the beloved one is enjoying the radiance of that light ineffable that admits of no night nor cloud of grief. May the good Lord give the bereaved husband strength to bear this burden of affliction in the serenity of a faith that takes hold on eternity. One Who Loved Her.

LEE—Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God, the supreme Ruler of the universe, to remove from our midst our brother and co-laborer in God's vineyard, Geo. W. Lee; therefore, be it Resolved, By the second Quarterly Conference of the Lower Coast Mission, Louisiana Conference, that we bow in submission to the divine will, recognizing the fact that our loss is Bro. Lee's gain.

Resolved, That by the death of Bro. Lee there is a place made vacant in the Quarterly Conference that will be difficult to fill.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the Minutes, and a copy sent to the New Orleans Christian Advocate for publication.

W. P. Simmons,
J. F. Scurlock,
L. Enoroomb,
Committee on Resolutions.

Wesley Church.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

One may live as a conqueror, a king, or a magistrate; but he must die as a man.—Daniel Webster.

All Skin Disorders

from simple Pimples to obstinate Eczema and Tetter can be quickly and permanently cured by the simple application of

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

It makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy, producing a clear and brilliant complexion.

50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia.

School Medals —and— Class Pins.

We Make a Specialty of Designing and Manufacturing School Pins and Emblems,

And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER

In Great Variety.

Frantz & Opitz,

Bourbon Street, - - - Near Canal.

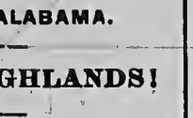
LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, Corner Carondelet and Common Sts

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Halls and Public Buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., New York.



BELLS

Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for Catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

E. W. VAN DUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A.

Best Imported Copper and E. India Tin.

CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

Best Rotary Yoke Wheel and Friction Rollers.

Best Work & Satisfaction Guaranteed. Price, Terms, etc., Free.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Washington College

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings in a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city.

F. McNeffe, President.
J. Robert Gould, Sec'y.
Washington, D. C.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

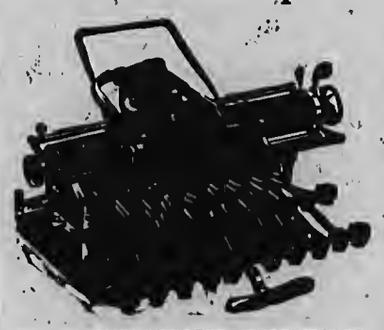
F. R. Hardon, Millinery,

Old No. 29 Chartres Street—New 139.

New Orleans, La.

Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

Price, $35.00. Weight, 6 lbs.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, State Agent,
Cheneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
307 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

For the Best

Photographs

—Go to—

-SIMON'S,-

929 Canal Street.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Seales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

234-236 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
Corner Natchez Alley.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Advocate.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good delight to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes as unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of this Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a "veritable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended in church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 468 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN TILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

A. B. JONES, President.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recorded certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments free, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

The Head is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

Needle Bar is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

Improved Automatic Bobbin Winder which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

Self-Threading—The "Arlington B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

The Needle is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

Self-Threading Shuttle—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

Loose Pulley for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

Parts Subject to Wear are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20.50, we will send the machine and the New Orleans Advocate one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

Contains the Following Helps to the Study of the Bible.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

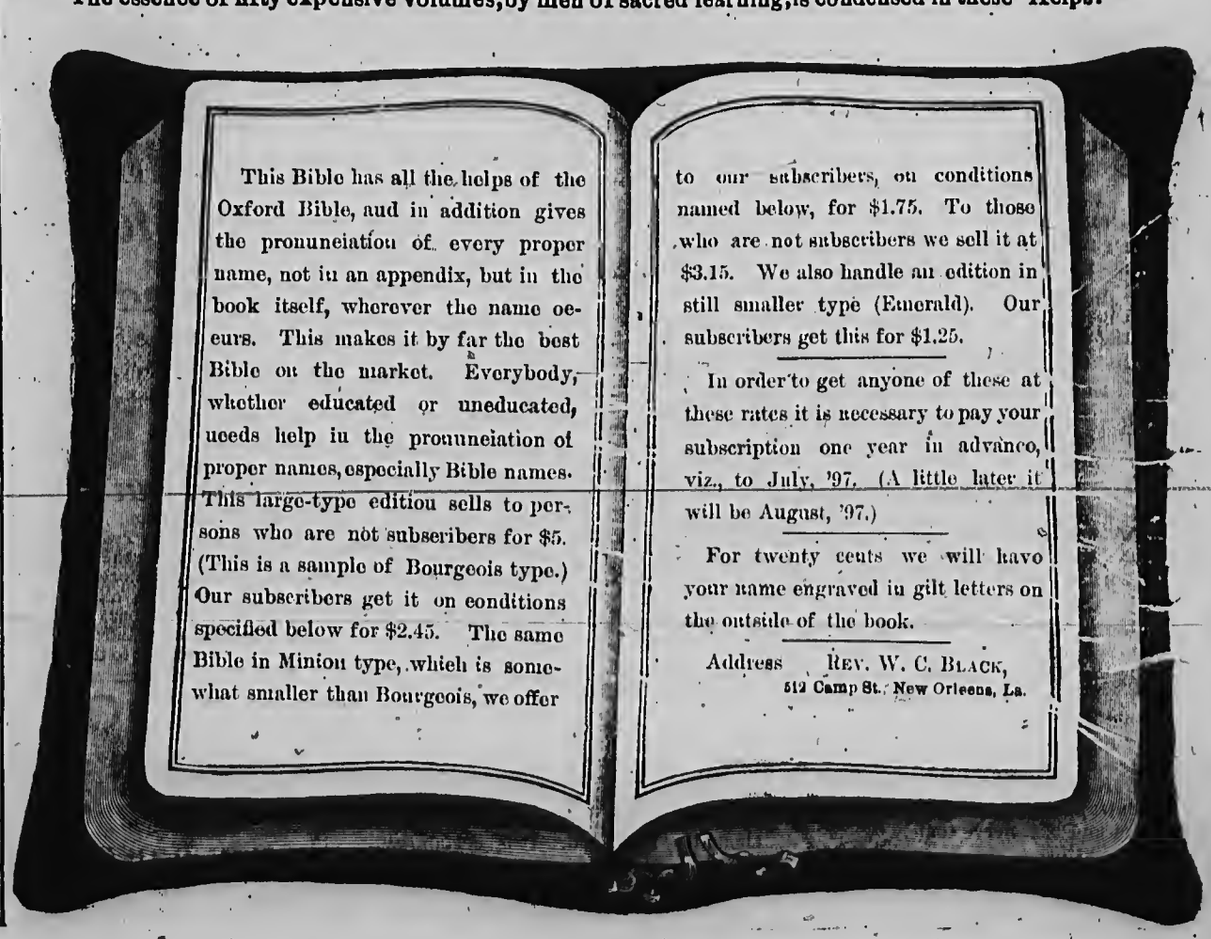
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



This Bible has all the helps of the Oxford Bible, and in addition gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself, wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names. This large-type edition sells to persons who are not subscribers for $5. (This is a sample of Bourgeois type.) Our subscribers get it on conditions specified below for $2.45. The same Bible in Minion type, which is somewhat smaller than Bourgeois, we offer to our subscribers, on conditions named below, for $1.75. To those who are not subscribers we sell it at $3.15. We also handle an edition in still smaller type (Emerald). Our subscribers get this for $1.25.

In order to get anyone of these at these rates it is necessary to pay your subscription one year in advance, viz., to July, '97. (A little later it will be August, '97.)

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Detroit has 202 miles of street railroad tracks. The fare has just been reduced to three cents.

A terrible railroad collision occurred in Logan, Iowa, on July 11, in which twenty-seven people were killed and many wounded.

The New York Sun repudiates the national Democratic platform and supports William McKinley for the presidency.

The sugar planters of Louisiana have formed a league, which will include all interested in the sugar industry, to exert influence in national legislative halls.

From all parts of the sugar belt come reports of excellent crops. The cane, although not exceptionally high for this time of the year, is very vigorous and the stands are excellent.

July 9 was the opening day of the great Christian Endeavor Convention at Washington, D. C. The throng was so great that twenty places were used to hold the opening services.

The mayor of this city, on July 9, appointed three commissioners of civil service reform, whose offices were created by the new city charter which was enacted by the State General Assembly just closed.

The late Godfrey H. Payssant, of Windsor, N. S., who was president of the Commercial Bank of that place, left $100 000 to the Acadia College to endow two new chairs, one of them in theology, and $20,000 to the town of Windsor for improvement purposes.

The Democratic National Convention has nominated Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, for President. The gold standard men left the convention after the nomination. The selection, it is said, pleases the Populists and Silver Republicans, while the Eastern Democrats are dissatisfied, as they can not support the platform or the ticket. The issue is silver against gold; the West and South against the North and East. Arthur Sewall, of Maine, was nominated for Vice-President.

FOREIGN.

In Japan, it is said, 50,000 people have perished in a recent tidal wave.

The foundation stone of the great exhibition which is to be held in Paris in 1900 was laid on the fourteenth.

By a vote of 13 to 5 the directors of the Melbourne (Australia) hospital recently appointed two female physicians as assistants.

The University of Calcutta is said to be the largest educational corporation in the world. Every year it examines over 10,000 students.

The American Board of Missions has ten stations among the Zulus, with thirty missionaries, sixty-four native teachers and 160 helpers.

Yellow fever is epidemic in Cuba just now. Many of the Spanish officers and privates are stricken with the fever. About 30 per cent. of those attacked die of the disease. There is a panic and the hospitals are crowded.

It is stated that Emperor William, of Germany, proposes to so plan the season's maneuvers as to show the German people the weakness of their navy and thereby frighten the Reichstag into making extensive grants for additions to the fleet.

English bicycle makers are experimenting with a metal composed of ninety-six per cent. of aluminum and four of alloy. The cycle frames are cast in one piece, in tubular shape, and without joints. The tests have shown that the tubes could withstand a pressure of 3,000 pounds without deflecting, and the metal is said to be of equal strength to the best wrought iron, but only one-third of the weight.

FEED THE NERVES upon pure, rich blood and you will not be nervous. Pure blood comes by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is thus the greatest and best nerve tonic.

HOOD'S PILLS cure nausea, sick headache, indigestion, biliousness. All druggists. 25c.

Resolutions of Endorsement.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Board of Trustees of E. M. F. College at recent annual session:

Whereas, It has become necessary in consequence of the inability of Rev. Thomas B. Holloman, for the past three years president of the East Mississippi Female College, to meet the conditions of re-election, to-wit: The assumption of payment of the debts of the Board of Trustees, to make a change in the presidency of said institution; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Board of Trustees of East Mississippi Female College, in annual session assembled, that this Board most heartily and unreservedly endorses the administration of President Holloman as president of this college; he having taken charge of this institution three years ago, upon the earnest solicitation of this Board, under circumstances and conditions absolutely discouraging, and succeeded in greatly improving its conditions, influence and power for good.

Resolved, That while our friend and brother does not need, where he is known personally, or by reputation, that his character as a Christian minister, or as a citizen, should be endorsed, yet we count it a privilege to say and spread upon our records, that we know so far as it is given mortals to know, that Rev. T. B. Holloman is one true man of God, possessed in an eminent degree of those characteristics and virtues which distinguish him as a man among men—at all times and under all circumstances doing that which he believed to be right, and we feel justified in saying that this estimate of our President is shared by all without regard to sect or creed, with but few, if any, exceptions.

Resolved, That in Bro. Holloman's severance of his connection with the college, and the removal of himself and his excellent family from our city, we realize that we and this community sustain an absolute loss, and we invoke the blessings of our heavenly Father upon him and his wife, who has been his inestimable helper in the management of the college, and upon his children, and we most heartily commend them to the Christian fellowship of the brotherhood among whom their lot may be cast.

A Lesson from Africa.

Rev. Bishop William Taylor, for several years Methodist Bishop of Africa, says that the red label of the Royal Baking Powder, so familiar to every housekeeper in America, is quite as well known and the powder as highly prized in every part of that continent to which civilization has extended. The Royal Baking Powder was taken to South Africa a great many years ago by Mrs. Robinson, a missionary. But its use soon spread beyond the Missions, and it came to be regarded as a necessity by all classes. It was found particularly valuable in the mines and upon the ranches, and frequently sold at interior stations for a dollar a pound.

Another interesting fact is that no other baking powder will stand service in that country. Rev. Ross Taylor, the agent for African Mission, says: "During the past ten years we have shipped Royal Baking Powder regularly to our African missions, and for the last four years to the exclusion of all other brands, because of the testimony of our missionaries that it maintains its strength, freshness, and purity in the tropical climate, which others do not. For instance, the superintendent of our mission in Angola, a work that is financially maintained on commercial lines, reported that he could not hold his trade with anything else but the Royal. We are using it in forty mission stations in Africa."

Here is a suggestive fact of value to American housekeepers. Though the presence of this keeping quality in the Royal and the lack of it in other powders is developed more conspicuously in the hot, moist climate of Africa, it exists in the Royal and is deficient in the others as they are sold in this country in exactly the same ratio. This natural test demonstrates more forcibly than a chemical analysis could the wide difference that exists between the different baking powders in their combination and actual practical value. The maintenance of its strength and freshness under all climate conditions is evidence that the Royal Powder is more accurately made and composed of purer and better ingredients. Such a powder only will give uniform results in perfect foods and prove of the greatest economy in the saving of flour, butter and other articles used in their production.—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Learn to say no and it will be of more use to you than to be able to read Latin.—Spurgeon.

Washington College for Young Ladies.

The announcement of the above school will be found in another column of this paper. It is the first institution of a college grade for young ladies established at the National Capital, and promises to be one of the leading schools of the country. It is a new school as to its present charming location and surroundings, but experienced as to its management and faculty. For beauty and healthfulness, the buildings and grounds are said to be unsurpassed within the District of Columbia. The buildings are on the crest of a hill located in a lovely park of ten acres, and command a most exquisite view in every direction. The location is beautifully enhanced by the large, graceful trees and charming blue grass lawns that cover the park. The buildings are most perfectly adapted to the purposes of the school—heated by steam, lighted by electricity, and elegantly furnished. It is certainly an ideal place for a young ladies' school, and richly deserves the bright prospects that it is already said to have.

MARRIAGES.

RENFROE—YOUNG.—At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. J. Young, Shreveport, La., June 20, 1896, by Rev J. M. Alford, Mr Arthur Renfroe, of Bessemer, Ala., to Miss Alice Young, of Shreveport, La.

Camp Meeting.

The Sam Jones Camp Meeting will begin on the twenty-second of August and continue ten days. All the preachers of the Natchez district are requested to be in attendance.

D. F. GUICE, P. C.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Don't take substitutes to save a few pennies. It won't pay you. Always insist on HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.

SEASON OF 1896.

The twenty-fifth annual Camp Meeting will be opened on Wednesday evening, July 15, next, and continue for eight or ten days.

Arrangements have begun for accommodating the multitudes that annually visit these delightful grounds. Reduced rates have been obtained from the various connecting railroads with the L. & N. system, enabling all persons desiring to attend the Camp Meeting to begin their journey on July 6, and remain on the grounds until the end of August. Tickets on sale from July 6 to August 10, inclusive. All trains to stop at Camp Ground station from July 15 to August 1st, inclusive. Trains 1 and 6 from June 1 to October 1.

The three presiding elders of the three patronizing District Conferences have charge of the religious exercises, and eminent preachers will assist in the services. An Interstate Epworth League Conference will convene immediately after close of Camp Meeting, and run through July 31. A splendid program has been prepared.

The Camp Ground is located on the Mississippi Sound, having a frontage of nearly 1,400 feet, and a depth of nearly two miles. The Louisville and Nashville railroad trains pass through the grounds, and the station is about 100 yards from the enclosure. A fine artesian well furnishes the grounds with a bountiful supply of excellent water. The sea bathing in front of the grounds is unsurpassed by any other resort on the coast. An abundance of beautiful shade trees afford shelter from the Summer's sun, while pure, refreshing zephyrs from the Gulf of Mexico exhilarate and renew the panting and jaded visitor from our smoked-enveloped and dust-stifling cities and towns.

Persons wishing to secure accommodations, before the rush, at the opening of the Camp Meeting, should address communications to Col. D. Zable, chairman Tent and Lodging Committee, New Orleans, La. Communications concerning transportation should be addressed to E. P. Mackie, chairman, New Orleans, La. Check baggage to Camp Ground from July 1 to August 31.

All preachers will be admitted into the grounds, and provided with lodging accommodations, free of charge. Board will be furnished them at Restaurant, at half-rate, as heretofore.

As the property of the Southern M. E. Church, only its members can own cottages on the grounds. Members of other evangelical churches may rent accommodations, under the rules of the Board of Trustees, and are heartily welcome.

Private boarding tents also furnish accommodations to visitors. Their addresses may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the Tent and Lodging Committee.

The entrance fee exacted from each person, from ten years old and upward, is in the nature of an "individual contribution" toward defraying the "expense" of the "camp meeting" and caring for this valuable property with its extensive improvements. No gate fee will be exacted on the Sunday of the Camp Meeting. All the time and attention devoted to the grounds by the trustees is gratuitous and in the interest of the salvation of souls. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to visit the Camp Meeting. Bring the Standard Hymn Book and Gospel Hymns 1 to 6 with you.

For a copy of the rules, etc., apply to

E. P. MACKIE, President, New Orleans, La.
J. C. CLOWER, Vice-President, Biloxi, Miss.
A. S. DANIELS, Chairman Ex. Com., New Orleans, La.
M. F. TUCKER, Mobile, Ala.
J. H. LAKIN, Montgomery, Ala.
H. W. SPEAR, Fin. Secretary, New Orleans, La.
D. ZABLE, Rec. Secretary, New Orleans, La.

Belhaven College for Young Ladies,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Celebrated for its high standard of scholarship. Teachers progressive and enthusiastic. A thorough musical education after the method of the foremost Conservatories. Elocution and Art taught as specialties. Best home influences. Careful physical training. Beautiful campus of twelve acres. Elegant Buildings with steam heating apparatus, Electric Lights and Hot and Cold Baths. Perfect sanitary arrangements. Third session begins September 16. Send for handsomely illustrated catalogue.

L. T. FITZHUGH, A. M., President.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

STATE METHODIST INSTITUTION.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Send for Catalogue.

T. S. SLIGH, President.

Nashville College —FOR— Young Ladies.

108 Vauxhall Place, NASHVILLE, TENN.

Rev. GEO. W. F. PRICE, D. D., President.
Rev. W. F. MELTON, A.M., Ph.D., Vice-President.

Leading Southern College for Women.

Three grand buildings, amply lighted, thoroughly heated, finely ventilated. Curriculum extensive. Twenty resident officers; seven Vanderbilt lecturers. Scientific experiments in the Laboratories of the University. Languages, Literature, Musical Conservatory, Art, Gymnasium, Dress-making, Stenography, Typewriting. Admirable climate. Health unexcelled. Tennessee Centennial Exposition, May-November, 1897. Ample provision made for pupils to attend. College located on the grandest thoroughfare of the city, along which all public parades pass. Cars direct to the Exposition in few minutes. Send for Catalogue.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,441. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address PRES'T. WM. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

SEASHORE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Ocean S. and Biloxi, at B....	(Wed.)..July	19
Pearlington and Leiptown, at P.....	Aug.	1, 2
Vancleave, at Pine Grove.....		8, 9
Americus, at Tanner's		15, 16
Escatawpa, at Scranton.....		22 23
Moss Point station.....		29, 30
Whitington, at Pooler Head.....	Sept.	5, 6
Bay St. Louis and Long Beach, at Bay.		12, 13
Augusta, at Galloway		19, 20
Black Creek, at Smith's C....	(Mon.)..	21
New Colson, at McNuil.....		26, 27
Marion, at Advance.....	(Wed.)..	30

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Rose Hill circuit, at Hopewell.....	July	18, 19
Porterville circuit, at Sugan's Ch'l...		25, 26
North Kemper cir., at Mullen's Ch'l..	Aug.	1, 2
De Kalb circuit, at Marvin's Chapel..		8, 9
Danville circuit at Soule's Chapel...		8 9
Meridian East End.....		18, 17
Neshoba and Mission, at Philadelphia.		22 23
Meridian West End.....		30, 31
(Hunker) circuit, at Concord.....	Sept	5, 6
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove..		12, 13
Meridian Central.....		20, 21

B. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Hermanville, at Sarepta.....	July	18, 19
Crawford Street—Vicksburg.....		25, 26
South Vicksburg		26, 27
Harrison & Harrington.....	Aug.	1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge.....		8, 9
Port Gibson.....		15, 16
Utica, at Learned.....		22, 23
Meyersville, at Beulah.....		29, 30
South Warren, at —.....	Sept	5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at		12, 13
Rolling Fork, at Bidwood, ...		19, 20
Augusta at Bethel.....		26, 27
Warren, at —.....	Oct.	3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

District Conference, at Fayette.....	July	16-19
Fayette, at Ebenezer.....		25, 26
Wilkinson at G. H.....	Aug.	1, 2
Barlow, at Brandywine.....		8, 9
Amite, at Il O		12, 16
Meadville, at N. P.....		22, 23
Percy Creek.....		29, 30
Woodville.....		30, 31
Washington.....	Sept.	5, 6

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 16, at 9 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST. THIRD ROUND.

Hildelberg, at Sandersville.....	July	16, 19
Sonbuta, at Quitman.....	(Wed.)..	22
State Line, at Tuscumbia.....		25, 26
Ellisville and Laurel, at Ellisville....	Aug.	1, 2
Pacouta, at Carter's Mill.....		8, 9
Winchester at Spring Hill		15, 16
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro..	Mon.)..	17
Isaacville, at Avera.....	(Tues.)..	18
Energy, at State Line.....		22, 23
Vossburg, at Central.....	(Wed.)..	28
Fuller	Sept.	5, 6
Williamsburg.....	(Wed.)..	9
Mt. Hermel		12, 13
Eastabuchie, at Hopewell.....		19, 20
Mathersville.....		26, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall...	(Wed.)..	30

L. CARLAY, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Magnolia and Osyka, at Magnolia....	July	19, 19
Methomb City.....		25, 26
Adams		28
Caseyville, at Bethany.....	Aug.	1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews,.....		8, 9
Providence, at Providence.....		11
Calhoun, at Mt. Pleasant.....		19, 19
Crystal Springs.....	8 P. M.)..	18
Hazlehurst.....		22, 23
Union Grove.....		29, 30
Whitestown, at Muddy Springs.....	Sept.	5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Martin's.....		12, 13

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Yazoo City.....	July	16, 19
Yazoo circuit, at Anding.....		22, 23
Sharon at Forest Grove.....	Aug.	1, 2
Silver Creek and S. L., at Sharbrough's.		8, 9
Canton		12, 16
Forest at Brownsville.....		22, 23
Camden, at —.....		29, 30
Madison, at Pocahontas.....	Sept.	5, 6
Lake City and Lodi, at Philips.....		12, 13
Fannin.....		19 20
Tranquil.....		26, 27

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Carthage, at Singleton's.....	July	16, 19
Clarksburg, at Lindsey's Chapel.....		22, 23
Shiloh, at Bethany.....	Aug.	1, 2
Westville, at Goshen.....		8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect.....		12, 13
Montrose, at Cedar Grove.....		15
Raleigh, at Bay Springs.....		21, 22
Hillsboro at New Providence.....		26
Steen's Creek, at Richland.....		29, 30
Brandon.....		30, 31

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Seashore Camp Ground.....	July	15-24
Carondelet Street.....	(11 A. M.)....	26
Moreau Street.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	29
Algiers.....	(11 A. M.)..	Aug. 2
Felicity Street.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	3
Covington, at Covington.....		8, 9
Talisheek and Slidell, at Camp Ground.		15 13
White Castle.....		22, 23
Pasquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.		29 30
Lower Coast, at Wesley.....	Sept.	5, 6
Crepe Street.....		9
Louisiana Avenue.....	11 A. M.)..	12
Rayne Memorial.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	19

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Mooringsport, at Mount Zion.....	July	16, 18
Jordan Street and Pine Hill, at P. H..		19, 20
South Bossier, at Fillmore.....		26
North Bossier.....	Aug.	1, 2
Red River, at Campobello.....		3, 4
Coushatta, at East Point.....		19, 19
Wesley, at Holly Springs.....		24, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Scie.....		29, 29
Grand Cane, at Bethel.....	Sept.	2, 3
Mansfield, at Mansfield.....		12, 13
Caddo.....		19, 20

J. L. P. SHAFFARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire..	July	18, 19
Alexandria		26, 27
Pineville, at Oak Grove.....		28
Olla at Pollock.....	Aug.	1, 2
Anacoco, at Holly Grove.....		4
Natchitoches.....		8, 9
Montgomery.....		10
Columbia at Fanik's Chapel		18, 19
Centerville, at —.....		12
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground..		22
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground.....		24
Dry Creek, at Hopewell.....		29, 30

District Conference will meet at West Alexandria, July 21-23. Sunday-school Conference on the twenty-third.

The following committees have been appointed: For Licenses and Admission on Trial: J. L. Hoffpauir, E. E. Isbell, J. M. Johnston. For Ordination—Wm. Schuhle, J. E. Riddle, J. H. Roy.

V. D. SKIPPER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Farmerville at Freeman Chapel....	July	18, 18
Downsville, at Can'l B. house, (T. W.).		21, 22
Ruston, at Douglas.....		25, 26
Vienna.....	Aug.	1, 2
Homer.....	(Wed and Thurs.)..	5, 6
Valley, at Blocker Chapel.....		8, 9
Minden, at Pine Grove.....		12, 13
Arcadia, at Simsboro.....		21, 20
Bienville.....		29, 30

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Baton Rouge station.....	July	19, 23
Baton Rouge circuit, at B. R.....		19, 20
Ponchatoula, at Springfield		26, 26
Port Vincent, at Baton Barbery.....		29, 30
Live Oak, at Palmetto.....	Aug.	1, 2
Amite City, at Kamiwood.....		8, 5
Pine Grove, at Camp Ground. (Wed.).		19
East Feliciana, at Camp G. (Thurs.)..		20
Greensburg, at Camp Ground. (Fri.)...		21
Clinton.....		22, 24
Franklinton, at Pleasant Valley.....		29, 30

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

For Tired, Aching, Irritated Feet is a warm bath with and a gentle anointing with CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure.

CUTICURA SOAP

This treatment allays itching and irritation, soothes inflammation and painful swellings of the joints, softens hard, roughened skin, and purifies the perspiration.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG & CHEM. CORP., Props., Boston.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. The largest and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Eclectic courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in Valley of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1,200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. 54th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For Illus. Catalogue address

CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

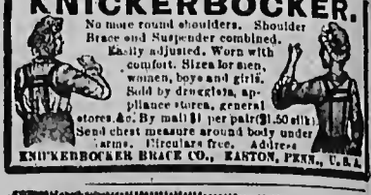
5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED

Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with

LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART

By Hon. HENRY B. RUSSELL, their chosen biographer. 550 pages, elegantly illustrated. Price only $1.00. The best and cheapest, and outsells all others by tens of thousands. 50 percent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Bookmen ready. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Save time by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address, A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

KNICKERBOCKER.



No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair ($1.50 silk). Send chest measure around body under arms. Circulars free. Address KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN., U.S.A.

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the customs and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free.

GLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich.

Manufacturers of Furniture for Church, Chapel, Lodge Rooms and Assembly Rooms.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Next Session Opens September 16.

Full graduate as well as under graduate courses. Ten Fellowships for college graduates. Seven departments Academic, Engineering, Biblical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Dental, Medical. Fully equipped laboratories and museums.

WILS WILLIAMS, SECRETARY.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Rose Hill circuit, at Hopewell.....	July	18, 19
Porterville circuit, at Sugan's Ch'l...		25, 26
North Kemper cir., at Mullen's Ch'l..	Aug.	1, 2
De Kalb circuit, at Marvin's Chapel..		8, 4
Danville circuit at Soule's Chapel...		8 9
Meridian East End.....		18, 17
Neshoba and Mission, at Philadelphia.		22 23
Meridian West End.....		30, 31
(Hunker) circuit, at Concord.....	Sept	5, 6
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove..		12, 13
Meridian Central.....		20, 21

B. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Hermanville, at Sarepta.....	July	18, 19
Crawford Street—Vicksburg.....		25, 26
South Vicksburg		26, 27
Harrison & Harrington.....	Aug.	1, 2
Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge.....		8, 9
Port Gibson.....		15, 16
Utica, at Learned.....		22, 23
Meyersville, at Beulah.....		29, 30
South Warren, at —.....	Sept	5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at		12, 13
Rolling Fork, at Bidwood, ...		19, 20
Augusta at Bethel.....		26, 27
Warren, at —.....	Oct.	3, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

District Conference, at Fayette.....	July	16-19
Fayette, at Ebenezer.....		25, 26
Wilkinson at G. H.....	Aug.	1, 2
Barlow, at Brandywine.....		8, 9
Amite, at Il O		12, 16
Meadville, at N. P.....		22, 23
Percy Creek.....		29, 30
Woodville.....		30, 31
Washington.....	Sept.	5, 6

The District Conference will convene at Fayette on July 16, at 9 A. M. Let the members come prepared to remain over Sabbath. Mr. Editor, come and be with us.

L. S. JONES, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST. THIRD ROUND.

Hildelberg, at Sandersville.....	July	16, 19
Sonbuta, at Quitman.....	(Wed.)..	22
State Line, at Tuscumbia.....		25, 26
Ellisville and Laurel, at Ellisville....	Aug.	1, 2
Pacouta, at Carter's Mill.....		8, 9
Winchester at Spring Hill		15, 16
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro..	Mon.)..	17
Isaacville, at Avera.....	(Tues.)..	18
Energy, at State Line.....		22, 23
Vossburg, at Central.....	(Wed.)..	28
Fuller	Sept.	5, 6
Williamsburg.....	(Wed.)..	9
Mt. Hermel		12, 13
Eastabuchie, at Hopewell.....		19, 20
Mathersville.....		26, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall...	(Wed.)..	30

L. CARLAY, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Magnolia and Osyka, at Magnolia....	July	19, 19
Methomb City.....		25, 26
Adams		28
Caseyville, at Bethany.....	Aug.	1, 2
North Wesson, at Matthews,.....		8, 9
Providence, at Providence.....		11
Calhoun, at Mt. Pleasant.....		19, 19
Crystal Springs.....	8 P. M.)..	18
Hazlehurst.....		22, 23
Union Grove.....		29, 30
Whitestown, at Muddy Springs.....	Sept.	5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Martin's.....		12, 13

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Yazoo City.....	July	16, 19
Yazoo circuit, at Anding.....		22, 23
Sharon at Forest Grove.....	Aug.	1, 2
Silver Creek and S. L., at Sharbrough's.		8, 9
Canton		12, 16
Forest at Brownsville.....		22, 23
Camden, at —.....		29, 30
Madison, at Pocahontas.....	Sept.	5, 6
Lake City and Lodi, at Philips.....		12, 13
Fannin.....		19 20
Tranquil.....		26, 27

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Carthage, at Singleton's.....	July	16, 19
Clarksburg, at Lindsey's Chapel.....		22, 23
Shiloh, at Bethany.....	Aug.	1, 2
Westville, at Goshen.....		8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect.....		12, 13
Montrose, at Cedar Grove.....		13
Raleigh, at Bay Springs.....		21, 22
Hillsboro at New Providence.....		26
Steen's Creek, at Richland.....		29, 30
Brandon.....		30, 31

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Seashore Camp Ground.....	July	15-24
Carondelet Street.....	(11 A. M.)....	26
Moreau Street.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	29
Algiers.....	(11 A. M.)..	Aug. 2
Felicity Street.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	3
Covington, at Covington.....		8, 9
Talisheek and Slidell, at Camp Ground.		15 13
White Castle.....		22, 23
Pasquemine and Donaldsonville, at P.		29 30
Lower Coast, at Wesley.....	Sept.	5, 6
Crepe Street.....		9
Louisiana Avenue.....	11 A. M.)..	12
Rayne Memorial.....	(7:45 P. M.)..	19

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Mooringsport, at Mount Zion.....	July	16, 18
Jordan Street and Pine Hill, at P. H..		19, 20
South Bossier, at Fillmore.....		26
North Bossier.....	Aug.	1, 2
Red River, at Campobello.....		3, 4
Coushatta, at East Point.....		19, 19
Wesley, at Holly Springs.....		24, 22
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Scie.....		29, 29
Grand Cane, at Bethel.....	Sept.	2, 3
Mansfield, at Mansfield.....		12, 13
Caddo.....		19, 20

J. L. P. SHAFFARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Evergreen and Bunkie, at B. Claire..	July	18, 19
Alexandria		25, 27
Pineville, at Oak Grove.....		28
Olla at Pollock.....	Aug.	1, 2
Anacoco, at Holly Grove.....		4
Natchitoches.....		8, 9
Montgomery.....		10
Columbia at Fanik's Chapel		18, 19
Centerville, at —.....		12
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground..		22
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground.....		24
Dry Creek, at Hopewell.....		29, 30

District Conference will meet at West Alexandria, July 21-23. Sunday-school Conference on the twenty-third.

The following committees have been appointed: For Licenses and Admission on Trial: J. L. Hoffpauir, E. E. Isbell, J. M. Johnston. For Ordination—Wm. Schuhle, J. E. Riddle, J. H. Roy.

V. D. SKIPPER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Farmerville at Freeman Chapel....	July	18, 18
Downsville, at Can'l B. house, (T. W.).		21, 22
Ruston, at Douglas.....		25, 26
Vienna.....	Aug.	1, 2
Homer.....	(Wed and Thurs.)..	5, 6
Valley, at Blocker Chapel.....		8, 9
Minden, at Pine Grove.....		12, 13
Arcadia, at Simsboro.....		21, 20
Bienville.....		29, 30

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Baton Rouge station.....	July	19, 23
Baton Rouge circuit, at B. R.....		19, 20
Ponchatoula, at Springfield		26, 26
Port Vincent, at Baton Barbery.....		29, 30
Live Oak, at Palmetto.....	Aug.	1, 2
Amite City, at Kamiwood.....		8, 5
Pine Grove, at Camp Ground. (Wed.).		19
East Feliciana, at Camp G. (Thurs.)..		20
Greensburg, at Camp Ground. (Fri.)...		21

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 30. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2083

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

PART IN THE ETERNAL PLAN.

God has assigned to every man
Some part in the eternal plan—
Some part, that all his powers of will,
Working in faith, by faith fulfill.
To every man a door is shown
Whose key is his, and his alone.
—Selected.

Correspondence.

Notes by the Way.

HEIDELBERG AND PAULDING.

In consequence of railroad connections we did not reach Heidelberg (seat of Enterprise District Conference) until 11 o'clock Saturday morning. We were informed that the District Conference had already adjourned. Bro. Downer was just beginning a most excellent, soul-stirring sermon. It was good for all to edify-ing. After the sermon we were allowed to represent the great work which we have in hand, and were told that we were more fortunate in the hour than if we had been given the usual invitation of a hurried Conference session. The idea is absurd, and carries with it a smile, that one hour should suffice for the satisfactory representation of this work by two or three men. The truth is in our Annual and District Conferences alike: we allow too little time for the proper discussion of our great church interests. A half day to missions, the same time to papers and discussions on church extension, a like time to Sunday-schools and education, would not be too much. The subjects are usually discussed in committee, reports are formulated, presented at a late hour, hurried through, and the body of our Conference hears little of the interests.

Heidelberg and community has a good company of young men, and we have hope of an increased patronage from that section another session. Indeed, we were positively informed that such would be the case.

Heidelberg entertained the Conference comfortably. The number in attendance was fair.

We heard naught but good words of Pastor Brown. His people show their appreciation of giving him one of the most comfortable homes I have yet entered. Hearing the cry of distress as it came from the good women of the P. and H. M. Society for a preacher for the Sunday, I responded, and was taken by Bro. J. C. Ellis to Paulding, Sunday morning. Here we met several godly women met to look after the great work they have in hand, and to plan for the future. Brother preachers, we ought to help those women. Their work is directly for the comfort of our own families. Their work is truly one of love; more than simply a room on the wall; but a comfortable home for every itinerant's family. Just now the writer appreciates very keenly the great comfort and relief in a home ready prepared. We should read the resolutions of our last Conference, and work to their fulfilling. Twenty preachers in the Mississippi Conference without homes (parsonages, I mean)! You who are more fortunate should think of the less comfortably housed.

The reports from the auxiliaries showed a considerable increase in collections, disbursements and general interest over last year. A total of $700 has been expended in local work and aiding the weak. Four parsonages have been aided, and there were four applications for help.

Paulding is one of the oldest towns in the State, and has had a very interesting history. It was once the center of civilization in the east of Pearl river. Much of its glory has departed. It is now little more than a village, though the county seat of Jasper county.

We were delightfully entertained in the home of Bro. S. S. Cope, who is known for his zeal and hospitality. Here we met our venerable brother, J. W. Harmon, in fine spirits, though needing the comforts and quiet which he gets in the home of his daughter, Sister Cope.

When we left Monday the brethren were gathering in. We hope they may receive the tire, and go home to work zealously for this worthy cause. T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Jackson, Miss., July 14, 1896.

Arcadia District Conference.

The District Conference, Arcadia district, Louisiana Conference, convened at Arcadia, July 9, 1896: Rev. J. D. Harper, P. E., presiding. Prof. R. A. Smith was elected secretary, and J. W. Dawson, assistant. The roll being called, sixteen preachers answered for their respective charges, and thirty-seven delegates were present. The visitors were Rev. C. W. Carter, of Centenary College; Mrs. T. S. Sligh, vice-president of Mansfield College; Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, P. E., of Shreveport district, and Rev. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of First M. E. Church, South, Shreveport. The reports of the preachers on their respective works showed a uniformly good spiritual condition and regular attendance upon the public worship. The social meetings fairly attended. There is no mission territory that is accessible at this time. There are forty Sunday-schools doing fair work, using our literature; and mostly using our hymns. There are seven Epworth Leagues in the district, but there is a lack of information on the work of the League. Dr. LaPrade made a very plain and instructive talk on the subject, and we expect an onward move along this line. The houses of worship, with a few exceptions, were reported in good condition. The parsonages, on the whole, are not so good, several being reported not comfortable. Collections all along the line are behind, showing only about twenty-five per cent. of salaries, and less on Conference collection. Our church paper is not as generally circulated as it should be. "The World for Christ" has been introduced in some of the charges with good success. The ordinances of the church are fairly observed, and our hymn books are used in all the charges at public preaching, though at some points there is a disposition to use lighter songs. There is a lack of fullness in the W. M. Society, though there are several organizations, with some aid societies, that are doing good work. There was not a full report on the observance of Children's Day; one charge reported $20.50 collected from two churches. The work for the Bible Society was quite meager. Only one charge reported anything done, and that was a collection of $15 made by Bro. McLaurin. The Quarterly Conference Records Committee reported only fifty per cent. present, and that only fairly kept. These were licensed to preach: A. A. Cornett, Dubberly circuit; A. F. Vaughn, Farmersville; H. B. Thomason, Homer; G. R. Uhlig, Arcadia. These were recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial: H. W. Ledbetter, Dubberly; A. F. Vaughn, Farmersville; G. R. Robinson, Vienna, and H. W. Thomason, Homer. The licenses of these were renewed: J. M. Manley, Arcadia; H. W. Ledbetter, Dubberly; Geo. R. Robinson, Vienna; D. F. Turner, Homer, and C. A. Hammil, Homer. Rev. Geo. R. Robinson was recommended to the M. E. Aid Associations as a candidate for educational aid. These were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: R. T. McLendon, J. T. Baker, Rev. T. J. Martin, and F. C. Hodges. As alternates: R. A. Smith and J. W. Dawson. Dr. LaPrade made a most zealous missionary talk, laying stress upon the "love for Christ" as the key-note to the missionary cause. Dr. Carter preached an edifying sermon upon Christian education, and very zealously represented the advantages of Centenary College. Mrs. T. S. Sligh, in a short talk, laid claims upon the district in behalf of Mansfield College, and Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, president of the Board of Trustees, set forth the improved advantages of Mansfield College, and congratulated our Conference upon the good fortune in securing the services of such Christian teachers as Mr. T. S. Sligh and wife. Mansfield College has a bright future. There is a need of information on the part of our people about our schools. Let our preachers ventilate them on every occasion.

Harmony Chapel, Summerfield circuit, was selected unanimously as the place for the next District Conference.

After a vote of thanks to the good people of Arcadia for their kind hospitality, the presiding elder expressed his great delight and happiness in the remarkable harmony and love that had characterized the Conference throughout the entire session, there not having been a single jar, not even a stiff debate upon any subject, all being of one mind in Christ.

The Conference adjourned with benediction by Rev. J. L. Wright, the oldest preacher in the Conference.

There was public preaching each day, and the administration of the sacrament at 4 P. M. Sunday.

R. A. SMITH, Sec.

Corinth District Conference.

The Corinth District Conference met at Ripley, Miss., July 9, 1896; Rev. H. R. Tucker, P. E., in the chair. J. E. Young was elected secretary. All the preachers in the district were present, and quite a number of laymen from the several pastoral charges. The opening sermon was preached by T. Cameron. Among the visitors present were Dr. W. B. Murrah, president of Millsaps College; Dr. J. W. Malone, president of Grenada Collegiate Institute; Rev. J. W. Bell, of Friar's Point, Miss., and G. W. Bachman, colporter and Sunday-school agent.

The Conference was a signal success. The well-conceived program was carried out much to the delight and profit of all. Especially would we mention the thoughtful and well-prepared papers read by Mrs. J. M. Wyatt and Mrs. Annie B. Thrasher.

The reports of the preachers indicated material progress in each charge in the district. Some have already had revivals, while all are praying that many more may follow. The district is ahead of last year at this time on all lines. With our judicious and efficient presiding elder, and by the co-operation and hard work of the preachers, it is coming to the front.

Rev. R. A. Tucker, having been duly examined, was recommended to the Annual Conference for admission on trial in the traveling connection.

The lay delegates elected to the Annual Conference were: J. E. Young, J. B. Jeffries, Hon. J. A. E. Pile, and J. B. Sanders.

Ripley gave us a cordial welcome and a delightful entertainment. They attended the Conference well, too.

We meet next year at Baldwin.

It was resolved that the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE be requested to publish the following resolutions:

Resolved, That every local preacher of the district is hereby urged to attend the sessions of the District Conference.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Conference that it is out of harmony with the church and perilous to her interest for our local preachers to depend on their work as preachers for a support for themselves or families.

Please publish the following, which was also adopted:

Resolved, That we are very much gratified to know that every traveling preacher in the district is free from the use of tobacco, and recommend that all our local preachers and officials refrain from this useless habit.

W. L. GRAVES, Assistant Secretary.

Corinth, Miss., July 16, 1896.

Winona District Conference.

The Winona District Conference met at Vaiden, Miss., in the twenty-seventh annual session, July 10, 1896.

Thursday, July 9, was devoted to the Sunday-school interest.

Rev. J. B. Stone, P. E., was at his post and presided till the Bishop arrived Friday at 4 P. M. The reports from the various charges of the district showed the work to be progressing. Five of the pastors were absent: Rev. J. W. Price, Rev. John Ritchey, Rev. K. A. Jones, Rev. Eugene Johnson and Rev. C. C. Rausford. The finances of the district some in advance of previous years.

Rev. T. B. Holloman, agent for Millsaps College, was present and preached a delightful sermon Friday night, and on Saturday morning addressed the Conference, took a collection to furnish Science Hall, and departed.

Rev. H. C. Morehead, P. E., of the Grenada district, was present and presented the claims of Grenada Collegiate Institute. The prosperous year which has just closed, the improved facilities for board and teaching, and the fact that two members of the faculty are taking a post-graduate course during vacation, shows that the president is determined to make the school what it should be.

Rev. T. W. Lewis, of Grenada, was with us on Saturday and spoke in favor of the above institution and about the State Epworth League, which is to meet at Crystal Springs, July 23-26, 1896.

J. R. Bingham, J. B. Streater, H. H. Estes and Rev. W. H. Holmes were elected delegates to the next Annual Conference.

The next District Conference meets at Acona, a place in the country. This is a wise departure, and we hope other districts will do likewise, for we should come in contact with our country people.

Bishop Galloway's presence and wise counsel was a benediction to the Conference. He preached twice—Saturday, 11 A. M., and Sunday, 11 A. M. The Bishop was fully at himself and met the expectations of his many warm and admiring friends. The Bishop's first pastoral charge was in the bounds of the Winona district, and nowhere in the bounds of the church has he more of the love and esteem of the people than here.

We missed you, Mr. Editor, and your "remarks," and we also missed Bro. Bachman.

We were royally entertained by the kind people of Vaiden, and will be glad to return when the time comes.

W. H. SANDERS, Assistant Secretary.

Carrollton, Miss.

Resolutions Adopted by the Brookhaven District Conference.

The enclosed resolutions on temperance and education were adopted at Brookhaven District Conference, and were ordered sent to you at once for the next week's issue of your (our) excellent paper.

W. W. MORSE, Sec.

Resolved, That we appreciate the fact, and are grateful to Almighty God, that nowhere within the bounds of this district is there a saloon licensed under the law of the State for the selling of spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors.

Resolved, That we commend the efforts which have been made in Magnolia, McComb City, Wesson and Beauregard for the suppression of the illegal traffic in strong drink, and rejoice in the success which has attended those efforts.

Resolved, That our sympathies are with the good people of Madison county in the fight they are making against "the monster evil of the age," and pray that God may give them the victory, and the open saloon, which has so long cursed that fair county, may soon be a thing of the past.

Resolved, That we are more than pleased to have had with us the Rev. T. B. Holloman, agent of Millsaps College, and have heard with interest his address to-us, and we rejoice at the continued prosperity of our Conference college.

Resolved, That we commend to all young men contemplating or engaged in the study of law the Law Department recently established in Millsaps College, and under the charge of Edward Mays, LL.D., an accomplished educator and a thoroughly accomplished and experienced lawyer, in the full assurance that they will there have such advantages as no other institution in the State can furnish.

Resolved, That we appreciate the liberality of Major Millsaps in contributing $10,000 for the building of "Science Hall" in connection with the college that bears his name.

Selections.

Church Schools.

[The following, from the pen of Rev. J. F. Sturtivant, we clip from the Nashville Advocate. Bro. Sturtivant was for many years a member of the faculty of Southern University. He is a broad-guage, scholarly man, whose opinions concerning educational matters have weight with all who know him. North Mississippi will, no doubt, appreciate the high compliment he pays to the management of Grenada Collegiate Institute. —EDITOR.]

This is an exceedingly practical age, and there is a great demand for a quick education—one that will fit the pupils in a little while for a lucrative position in active life. This system can not make great men or great women. The old plan, and the one pursued by our fathers of twenty-five and fifty years ago, was to lay broad and deep the foundations, and when our young people were through college they had something upon which to build. They were ready for almost any position because their minds were trained and their culture wide. To an intelligent man, who understands the nature of a true education, the work done by many of the schools of the present time is very unsatisfactory. The ordinary mind is developed slowly, and the great majority of boys and girls must spend years in hard study, or else remain uneducated. As a general thing, it is a mistake to hurry through school. The true idea is to begin a thorough course of instruction, master perfectly everything as you go, and persevere to the end. Many of us would be better off if we had taken an additional year or two to finish the course upon which we were graduated.

In this fast age, when I find a school which is doing solid work for our young people, I feel like advertising it through our church papers. I have this Summer attended the commencement exercises of two schools which impressed me most favorably—one a college for girls, and the other a college for boys and young men. I will speak of the North Mississippi Conference college for girls and young ladies, located at Grenada, Miss., and under the presidency of Rev. J. W. Malone, A. M. The closing exercises indicated that the best of work is done in this institution. There was every evidence that the highest standard of excellence is maintained in all the departments. The teachers have all had experience, and by actual work have learned how to teach. The art exhibit was fine, the recitations were of a kind to make one wish to hear more, and the college orchestra was most excellent. If the Methodists of North Mississippi are wise, they will patronize their own institution, and give it their undivided support. If they will unite on the "Grenada Collegiate Institute and Conservatory of Music, Art, and Elocution," and keep Mr. Malone and his gifted wife in charge, they will have one of the best schools in the connection—if not the best. It has grown so much in the last two years that the trustees authorized the president to increase his boarding facilities before the opening of the next session. Grenada is a beautiful little city of cultivated people and excellent churches, and is in a good, healthful section of country. The college girls and teachers all seemed to be in fine health, and are evidently well fed and cared for every way. The Board of Trustees impressed me as wide-awake and sensible men. Several prominent members of the North Mississippi Conference were present looking after the interests of the school and attending the commencement exercises. Among them I remember Dr. Sullivan, and Bros. Morehead, Thames, Burroughs, Bowen, Lewis, Dorman, Park, and others. Rev. W. M. McIntosh, agent of the college, is greatly appreciated in Mississippi, and is a true man of God. He and his excellent wife are a blessing to all who associate with them, and are active and useful in their efforts in behalf of the college.

Communications.

In the Living Present.

Properly, the Czar of Russia may be called "Cæsario-papistic." He is the chief head of State and Church. Though not ordained a priest, he is chief among them. The ceremonies of his coronation commenced with the recital of the Apostolic Creed. The Czar of Russia was made ecclesiastical chief of the Greek Church at the time Byzantium fell into the hands of the Turks. The Czar partakes of the Holy Eucharist the same as priests.

The London Methodist Times believes Gladstone to be at heart a Roman Catholic, and would have followed in the wake of Newman and Manning if political preferment and age had not had more dominant influence. The paper charges that Gladstone's coquetting with the Pope had emboldened that prelate to issue the recent encyclical, once more inviting all Christians back to the Roman fold. The "grand old man," as the Irish cut-throats have first called him, is at last found out.

"Only a pen in God's hand," said Harriet Beecher Stowe, she had been in writing Uncle Tom's Cabin. Next to the Bible, no other book has been more frequently translated into foreign tongues. Without this book Ulysses S. Grant would have died an unknown tanner. But the authoress, who died on July 1, declared that she sought no fame when she wrote that crude and imperfect story.

John B. Gough, who died in 1886, was a most successful temperance lecturer. He delivered in all nine thousand six hundred addresses on the one theme. He amassed a large fortune. At first his lectures netted him only about one dollar each. During the last ten years of his life he would not appear on the boards for less than six hundred dollars a night. His annual income was about $50,000. Other perambulating lecturers find their efforts equally lucrative.

A most ambiguous term is "free." We have freedom and free lunch. Many agitate free trade and free coinage. Some do not agree with Thomas Jefferson that all men are born free and equal. "I'm a freeman," says the enslaved toper. In his freedom the anarchist sees privilege of wrecking society. Rightly says Garrick, "Corrupted freemen are the worst of slaves."

Bishop Taylor, the eccentric missionary, displays censurable weakness. His superannuation afflicts him. Since he has been superseded as Bishop in Africa, he is reported preparing to work in the Dark Continent under the auspices of the British Wesleyans. Wonder if those who love to do something out of the way, though frequently neglecting their duty in the way, will continue to support the obstreperous missionary.

No, the millennium has not yet come. At Kijoto, Japan, a monster statue of Buddha has been erected in commemoration of the recent victories over China. It has cost a million dollars. ICH DIEN.

ONE STEP AT A TIME.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

There's a mine of comfort for you and me
In a homely bit of truth
We were tenderly taught, at the mother's knee,
In the happy days of youth.
It is: what if the road be long and steep,
And we too weak to climb;
Or, what though the darkness gather deep,
We take one step at a time.

A single step, and again a step,
Until, by safe degrees,
The milestones passed, we win at last
Home, when the King shall please.
And the strangest thing is often this,
That the briery, tangled spots
Which cumber our feet should be thick and sweet
With our Lord's forget-me-nots.

It matters little the pace we take,
If we journey sturdily on,
With the burden-bearer's steady gait,
Till the day's last hour is gone;
Or if, with the dancing feet of the child,
Or the halting step of age,
We keep the goal in the eye of the soul
Through the years of our pilgrimage.

And what of the hours when, hand and foot,
We are bound and laid aside,
With the fevered vein and the throbbing pain,
And the world at its low ebb tide?
And what of our day of the broken heart,
When all that our eyes can see
Is the vacant space where the vanished face
Of our darling used to be?

Then, waiting and watching, almost spent,
Comes peace from the Lord's own hand,
In his blessed will, if we rest content,
Though we can not understand;
And we gather anew our courage and hope,
For the road so rough to climb,
With trial and peril we well may cope,
One single step at a time.

—Congregationalist.

Communications.

Water Valley and the Orphans' Home.

The writer had occasion to go to Water Valley a few days since, and the visit was somewhat of a surprise to him in several ways. The Mississippi Methodist Orphans' Home is located in this place. On this account more than usual attention was paid to those things which might have an influence, good or bad, on our Home. I am persuaded had the entire State been at our command, it would have been hard to make a better selection than this one.

It is hard to keep from being enthusiastic over Water Valley. I found the place not over three-quarters of a mile from the depot. The spot upon which the Home will stand is an elevation about the highest in the vicinity. It is covered with an open forest of oak, hickory, and yew trees. In this plot there are twenty-five acres. Close to this, but not adjoining it, are twenty-five acres of bottom land, which are for agricultural purposes. We have in all fifty acres of the very best land to be found anywhere in the vicinity; all of it our own selection, splendidly adapted for the purpose for which it is to be used. This is the gift of Water Valley to the Orphans' Home.

I found the entire community interested in it, and from all sides came words of encouragement and cheer. Our orphans will fare well at the hands of the people of Water Valley.

Now, a few words as to the town. It is in all respects "up to date," and is getting ahead of many places that are larger and more pretentious. An electrical plant lights up the streets and houses. Their system of waterworks and sewerage is complete. The water is cold, clear, pleasant to the taste, and comes from a number of artesian wells. The supply is inexhaustible. These industries are all owned and operated by the city, which is as it should be. The rates are so reasonable that they are within reach of all. On all sides are the evidences of thrift. New buildings are going up in all directions.

Those who know best say that it is the "dryest" dry town in the State. You can not buy a bottle of "white hops" even. The "blind tiger" does not have a chance to make its den.

Methodism in Water Valley is not behind. Wood Street Church, under the leadership of Rev. J. A. Bowen, is in vigorous condition. One can not stay long in the town and not find this out. Nearly every member of his church is at work. The Epworth League and Sabbath-school are lively affairs.

From Wood Street Church has gone out the new Main Street Church, but a few months ago an old red clay hillside. Now it is a beautiful place, one of the prettiest churches in the State, completed, only wanting its permanent pews.

Alongside of this new church is a new parsonage, finished with the church. You don't often see that. But the thing that struck me most of all was the care that had been bestowed upon the yard about this church and parsonage—all neatly leveled off, terraced, and sodded. Ere long it will be covered with a coat of living green. How little care is taken for these things by the large majority!

Main Street Church is under the charge of the Rev. T. B. Clifford. The boys of Water Valley call him "Cyclone" Clifford, because he is such a hustler.

Water Valley is the only city of the North Mississippi Conference that supports two Methodist Churches. I do not know that two are needed anywhere else; but they were needed here. The strong, active, earnest Methodism of the old church saw the need, and so Main Street Church was projected. With them to resolve to do is to do.

One sees the same signs of life and the same energy in all of the other denominations. The Presbyterians lost their church by fire not long since, but they will have a new $10,000 building there by the end of the year.

The best of all is, that all of them are brethren indeed. They live together in harmony and peace, and work together for all the good, and against all the bad.

Now, brother, your trustees have located the Orphan's Home in this live, stirring Christian town. They have performed all that was promised, and did it well. The deed to the property has been made, signed, and recorded. As soon as we have three thousand dollars in bank, the building will be started. If you will do your part, the Orphans' Home will be a reality by the time our Conferences meet. Take your collections, and remit to your respective treasurers: Rev. J. A. Bowen, Water Valley, or Rev. M. L. Burton, Crystal Springs.

W. A. GUNNING,
Chairman.

Correspondence

Delta Dots.

Dr. Steel has finished his tour of the Greenville district. He came, he saw, and was conquered. He had not dreamed—and he does sometimes dream—that in his native State there was such a section as he found here. If he and the Book Committee do not arrange their differences, I think he can be persuaded to take an appointment in the Delta next year. He gave us "Home Life in Dixie During the War," and as the scenes he describes occurred in the upper part of the Delta, the lecture was of peculiar interest to our people. One of the objects of Dr. Steel's visit was to interest parents who have daughters to educate in Epworth College at Holly Springs. The enthusiasm with which our people have received this new candidate for favor is gratifying to the proprietors and their friends.

Bro. W. M. McIntosh has been holding revivals at Gunnison and Rosedale with phenomenal success. The Lord has been with him in mighty power, and the hosts of evil have trembled in his presence. The whisky men who had secured a petition to the Board of Supervisors asking for an election in Bolivar county, abandoned their project. Many gamblers burned their implements and surrendered to Christ.

The hardest people to reach here, as elsewhere, are the class we denominate worldly-minded. Gamblers, drunkards, whisky sellers and sinners of almost every class came trembling and begging for mercy, while young girls, whose greatest sin, perhaps, has been to preside at a punch bowl, teach some young man how to play cards or dance are unmoved. This is hard to understand. McIntosh is a great man in his way. I love him. He does and says nothing to which any sensible man can object.

The brethren of the district are doing a fine year's work. We confidently expect the greatest report in the history of the district. Greenville will entertain the Conference in November handsomely. We are glad that our own Bishop Galloway will preside. Come to see us.

J. A. RANDOLPH.

Jackson District Conference.

The Jackson District Conference held a pleasant session, July 2 and 3. The attendance of preachers, itinerant and local, was good; that of lay delegates unusually small. Presiding Elder Norsworthy was diligent in business, while not neglecting to give prominence to public religious service. At 11 o'clock A. M., 3:30 and 8:15 P. M. large congregations attended upon the preaching of the Word. The pulpit was filled by Bros. Brown, M. H. Moore, T. J. Norsworthy, Ferguson, Watkins, and our genial visiting brother, T. W. Adams, of Moss Point, who furnished an excellent report of our proceedings to the New Orleans Picayune.

The opening service on Wednesday evening was conducted by Bro. T. L. Mellen, Conference Missionary Secretary, who made a strong plea for greater missionary zeal and activity in the church.

Thursday was devoted to Sunday-schools. In addition to the customary reports of pastors, papers were read and brief addresses were made upon various features of the work. The chronic discussion arose upon the use of the Bible in the Sunday-school, and with the time-honored result—that the brethren differed. He will accomplish a great thing for the church who shall teach us how to use lesson helps without abusing them, and then get us to do it. Reports showed a gratifying interest in Sunday-school work throughout the district. Epworth Leagues have been organized and are working well in some of the charges, and Children's Day has been generally observed with good results.

On Friday the spiritual state of the church was carefully inquired into. In this respect there are signs of improvement, but a general revival with permanent results is greatly needed. As the protracted meeting season approaches, the question comes up whether we shall rely upon the old-fashioned methods of preaching by the pastors, prayer by the church, and earnest work by all for the conversion of sinners, or adopt extraordinary means, evangelists, tents, horns of brass and frequent show of hands, if that in any way some may be saved, and many counted.

An encouraging report was made of Millsaps College. The liberal gift by Major Millsaps of a building for the Law and the Scientific Departments was recognized in appropriate resolutions. Other improvements are contemplated, and an increased patronage expected next session.

The unavoidable absence of President Chambers was regretted; but the claims of Whitworth College were presented by the presiding elder, and the work of the past two sessions highly commended.

By courtesy of the Conference, President Fitzhugh spoke briefly for Belhaven College, which has just closed its second session with marked success.

The Conference, with hearty goodwill, remembered the ADVOCATE, resolving, after regrets at the editor's absence, "that we would take this opportunity to express our appreciation of Dr. Black's efforts to promote the usefulness of our Conference organ, and we would urge upon our preachers and people the importance of giving it a more generous support."

Madison county is just now exercised over an approaching local-option contest. Strong resolutions were passed expressing the sympathy of the Conference and the church with those noble men and women who, against great odds, are fighting to redeem their county from the curse of the open saloon. Pending the discussion of this subject, our Baptist brother, Dr. Holland, chairman of the Madison County Prohibition Executive Committee, was introduced to the Conference, and made a stirring report from the field of battle. Dr. Hunnicutt responded feelingly, and a fervent prayer for the success of the prohibition cause was offered by Rev. L. H. Kimmons, pastor of the Camden Presbyterian Church. On Saturday an immense barbecue meeting, held in this interest at Melvin's Mill, was addressed by Bishop Galloway and others. The Bishop also preached in the Camden Methodist Church on Sunday morning.

Lay delegates to the Annual Conference were elected as follows: Wm. M. Clanton, W. E. Harris, J. W. Sharborough and E. Middleton. Alternates: F. Carruthers and R. S. Ricketts.

The hospitality of Camden, to quote from our resolution of thanks, was "royal." The local Epworth League showed us many kind attentions.

Flora was selected as the place for next session.

Bro. Norsworthy presided well, but insisted like an editor upon brevity. This was possibly due to the fact that he had left his own long speech at home. Bro. W. J. Ferguson was assistant secretary, and did all the work.

R. S. RICKETTS, Sec'y.

Another Trip.

To Camden, the seat of the Jackson District Conference, July 1, I went by invitation of our good Bro. Norsworthy, the presiding elder, who gave me "one hour and sixty minutes" for a sermon on missions the night before the convening of the Conference.

July 3 found me at Decatur, the seat of the Brandon District Conference. Presiding Elder Simmons was in the chair, and everything moving along smoothly. Only one preacher in charge was absent. The reports were the most encouraging I have ever heard from the Brandon district. In the afternoon Bro. Simmons kindly gave me one hour, but did not complain when nearly an half hour more had been consumed. Everybody seemed attentive and interested. But one Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was reported in the district, and I listened in vain for a single Sunday-school Missionary Society to be named. Nevertheless, Bro. Simmons has the affairs of the district well in hand. Preachers were all hopeful. I listened with no ordinary interest to the sermons of Bro. R. A. Sibley in the morning and of Bro. Witt at night. Forty-four years before Bro. Sibley had preached in Decatur, since which time he had traveled 35,000 miles in going to his preaching appointments, besides unnumbered miles traveled in pastoral visiting; received 3,000 people into the church, married scores, baptized and buried more—and all on an average salary of $150 a year! Only three years out of forty-four had been spent in a parsonage. God bless the old hero, and have mercy on those who so poorly paid him!

The time spent at East End, Meridian, Sunday morning, was delightful. At night an attractive congregation in Central Church listened to one of my missionary messages. I trust good was done.

The trip to Bennett on the local freight was not pleasant, but the visit to Dr. Krouse's home atoned for all that, and the privilege of preaching to friends at Central Church was a blessing to my own soul. The smallest congregation I ever saw assembled in Vossburg greeted me that night, and listened to me with more or less attention.

Thursday also was spent at Vossburg instead of Hattiesburg.

I next stopped at Heidelberg, where I found Presiding Elder L. Carley conducting a missionary meeting. Miss Annie Trotter, district secretary of the W. B. F. M., was reading a carefully prepared paper before the District Conference. In due time an opportunity was given me to speak. Only two of the pastors were absent. Four Sunday-school Missionary Societies were reported in this district.

Three District Conferences visited and addressed, and five sermons elsewhere for good measure, made up my third extended trip.

This week the Brookhaven District Conference will be attended, and in August the Meridian, making seven out of the eight in our Conference.

As I never force my way into any district or pastoral charge, brethren must write if they wish me to come, and especially should they answer my letters or postal cards. I never take up a collection unless requested by the pastor so to do, and never interfere with any of his plans. If brethren will consult their Disciplines and the published Minutes of our last Annual Conference, they will see the scope of my authority and the purpose of my appointment by the Board of Missions. I am surprised to see how few of our preachers, traveling as well as local, take "The Methodist Review of Missions." (These last sentences are for the benefit of whom they may concern.)

T. L. MELLEN,
Miss'y Sec. of Miss. Conf.

July 13, 1896.

To be dependent on others for sympathy and comfort makes you weak; to be self-dependent, makes you weaker still, for that fails you in the day of your greatest need; to become independent is a dream of your pride, for no such thing is possible; to become dependent on God makes you strong; yea, clothes you out of his own almightiness, and draws you up into his safety and refuge.—E. H. Sears.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M.H. Morrison...Shreveport

Annual Meeting of W. F. M. S., North Mississippi Conference, at Tupelo, Miss.

The seventeenth annual meeting of W. F. M. S., North Mississippi Conference, convened at Tupelo, Miss., July 4; and it was throughout a truly delightful occasion. The good people of Tupelo surely covered themselves with glory, for never was hospitality more grandly dispensed nor courtesies more lavishly extended by any people upon any occasion.

Saturday evening a praise service was enjoyed by a large number, though many delegates had not gotten in because of delayed trains.

Sunday morning, a large congregation listened with intense interest to a grand and impressive sermon by Rev. Geo. Lipscomb, of Como. He presented in a most effective manner the great need of laborers in the Master's vineyard, urging the Christian people to "pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest."

Sunday afternoon the children were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Addie Gordon Burke, of China. She had with her many Chinese curios, with which she was able to give the children a very clear insight to Chinese life and customs. She spoke of the darkness and ignorance and superstition in which the little Chinese children live, and then of the great help that could be rendered by our own dear American children, who are surrounded by every comfort and luxury, and know so little of the needs of the poor, godless heathen of China.

Sunday evening, at 8:30, the doors of the city of Tupelo were thrown, if possible, wider open than before by Miss Vic Thompson, who delivered the address of welcome. Miss Thompson's address was beautiful, even eloquent, and assured us a welcome we could not mistake; but may I say of Tupelo, her hospitality of deeds far outmatched any hospitality of words that could have been spoken. The response to welcome address was delivered by Mrs. G. C. Jones, of Boleu, who, in a graceful manner, expressed, on behalf of the entire society, the sincerest appreciation of our cordial reception.

Monday morning, with our beloved president, Mrs. M. L. Hargrove, in the chair, reports were heard and business dispatched in a judicious and creditable manner. Monday afternoon business continued.

Monday evening we had an interesting glimpse of life in the "Land of the Noon-day Sun," given by Miss Viola Blackburn, our missionary from Mexico. We little realize that just across the Rio Grande, from our own grand republic, is a people who need the sympathy and help which we are so able to give.

No feature of the entire meeting was more attractive, more interesting, more instructive, than the beautiful message brought by our president from annual meeting of Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, which recently convened at our national capital. The points of interest in the city, the trip to Mount Vernon, the visit to the Chinese minister, the work of that "Congress of Women," all beautifully presented, made the evening a delightful one.

Tuesday morning business resumed, and concluded afternoon. Miss Mollie Clarke, who has so faithfully and satisfactorily performed the duties of treasurer, was not able to longer fill the office, and Mrs. Clara Faut, of Holly Springs, was elected to supply her place. The reports of the year's work showed great progress and advance over last year's work. Great things have been accomplished, but greater things yet remain to be done, and certainly grander efforts are necessarily required.

Greenville will be our next place of meeting, and we trust our reports will then show a grander forward movement than has yet been known.

Tuesday afternoon having completed all business, there remained only one other meeting, and it was truly a fitting climax, as all will declare who heard Mrs. Addie Gordon Burke's life as a Chinese missionary.

MISS ELLA GUIDER.

Selections.

Don't Fret.

Don't fret, for a fretful Christian is like a prickly pear, bitter within and irritating without. God says, "Cast your care on me, for I care for you." "No, you don't," says the fretting Christian, "and so I'll fret over my cares."

Don't fret, for you are a witness for Christ. What is your testimony worth if your fretting contradicts his words, "My yoke is easy and my burden light."

Don't fret, though your lot is hard and your troubles many, for your Lord was oppressed and afflicted, yet, as a lamb led to the slaughter, "he opened not his mouth."

Don't fret, for fretting, instead of relieving from trouble, will lay on you heavier burdens. As fear slays more people than cholera, so fretting kills more than real care.

Don't fret, for God controls all things that are or will be, and among these are your troubles. Instead of fretting, "count it all joy when ye fall into divers trials," for "tribulation worketh patience; and patience experience; and experience hope; and hope maketh not ashamed, because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts." Instead of fretting study that logic—and rejoice in God.—Exchange.

Never Give Up.

Never sit down and confess yourself beaten. If there are any difficulties in the way, struggle with them like a man. Use all your resources, put forth all your strength, and "never say die." The case may seem hopeless, but there is generally a way out somewhere.

Are you bound and fettered by hurtful habits? Do not despair. You can't do much to help yourself, it is true, but there is One who never fails to strengthen the young man when he makes an honest attempt to overcome temptation and master every evil passion. "He brought me up also out of a horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings." That is the experience of thousands of our fellows who have felt their feet slipping, who have began to sink in quick-sands of sin, and have reached out a hand to accept the loving help of the strong and gentle Christ. While he lives and loves, no man need ever give up.—Selected.

Determination.

It can not be too often repeated or too urgently insisted upon, that one of the essential parts of faithfulness is a strong determination of the will to do what ought to be done, and to refrain from doing what ought not to be done. This is indispensable in any business career. A merchant ascertains that promptness in filling orders is one of the essential parts of his business methods, and if he is a man of force of character at all sufficient to make a successful business life, he will determine to be prompt, and make that the fixed, unalterable principle of his life. There will come occasions when ease, convenience, desire, and friends will all conspire to make him break that principle; but his success or failure depends much upon his determination to be faithful. Precisely this same principle enters into all Christian faithfulness. Men must set all the power of the will in a determination to serve God.—Wesleyan Methodist.

Obedience must be the struggle and desire of our life; obedience not hard and forced, but ready, loving and spontaneous; ..... the doing of duty not merely that the duty may be done, but that the soul in doing it may become capable of receiving and uttering God.—Phillips Brooks.

Dr. Cuyler says that if a convert to Christ does not during the first thirty days of his religious life speak of his faith before others, he is likely to remain silent during the rest of his life. Young converts commence at once to "declare what God has done" for you.

The surest method of arriving at a knowledge of God's eternal purposes about us is to be found in the right use of the present moment. Each hour comes with some little fagot of God's will fastened upon its back.—F. W. Faber.

WALL
Paper.
—SAMPLES FREE—
Of Our Magnificent Fall Line of
Over 500,000 Rolls
Of the Richest and Most Artistic Papers out This Season.
Prices; 3 cents to $3.00.
We pay the freight on $10 orders.
HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

FROM THE WORK.

PLAIN DEALING, LA.

We have just closed a most glorious meeting at Concord, on the North Bossier circuit, which resulted in twenty-three accessions to the church, and the church greatly revived. As an evidence of the genuineness of the revival, a number of the brethren agreed to erect family altars, and a prayer meeting was organized to begin the following Sunday. We had no ministerial help, but the Lord was with us in great power. Glory to his name for having given us the victory over sin and Satan.

H. J. BOLTZ.

PONCHATOULA, LA.

Our church here is aflame with a powerful Holy-Ghost revival. While the meeting has been ended some days, the revival continues with us. Old feuds have been settled, family altars have been erected, sinners that have been the subjects of prayer for years have been gloriously saved; nearly whole families brought into the kingdom of God. Streaming eyes of penitence and exultant shouts of new born souls have rejoiced the people of God. A woman's weekly prayer meeting has been organized; the church, Sunday-school, League and prayer meeting all revived. Fifteen accessions to the church and as many conversions and reclamations. Nine ADVOCATES have been taken and a number of Dr. Black's premium Bibles sold.

Bros. Albert Lutz and Will Howell did the preaching. I never had better help. These young men have power with God. May his blessings attend them!

J. J. KELLY.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT CANE RIDGE CHURCH.

Many of the readers of the ADVOCATE doubtless would like to hear something from Cane Ridge, on the Harriston circuit. Bro. J. W. Crisler is pastor here now, and much loved by his people.

Children's Day was held on the fourth Sabbath of June, and it was a joy to see the glad young faces gathered there. So many came that all could not get into the house.

The day was clear and beautiful. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens. The exercises passed off with perfect success; the essays, orations, songs and recitations were appropriate and well delivered. I hesitate to mention names where all did so well. Each one deserves praise. There were tears in many eyes more than once during the exercises. The music was delightful. The collection taken up by the bright little money gatherers amounted to sixteen dollars and seventy-five cents. The pastor then made the children a short address, which was interesting and instructive.

After dinner, of which there was an abundance, Bro. Crisler preached a good sermon to a large and attentive audience. He has five Sunday-schools on his circuit in working order—one for each church. Much credit is due Miss Anna Jones and her lady assistants for the pleasure and success of the day. C.

GUNNISON, MISS.

Rev. W. M. McIntosh has just closed one of the most wonderful revivals ever witnessed in the Delta. Over one hundred souls professed Christ. Our Epworth League figured largely in the success of the meeting. We took hold of the work before Bro. Mac came, and held prayer meeting every night for a week, our pastor assisting us. We distributed tracts, religious papers and periodicals, your own valuable paper being used in goodly numbers. We had a choir of twenty-five—most all professors of faith, and those that were not professed, during the meeting. Over half of this choir were League members. Our leaguers had many of their dear friends upon their hearts, and constantly took them to God in prayer, when nearly everyone was saved. It was a common thing to see a leaguer leading some soul to Christ. Some went round to private houses and held family prayers, and God, through his mercy, in every instant sent a blessing. As a result many souls were brought to Christ. Over fifty families promised to hold family prayers, among whom were leaguers, and a goodly number joined our League. We have heard it said that a League never brought a soul to Christ. Where this is the case, it is because the League is a social gathering, and not a spiritual one.

Dr. Steel lectured to the League here last night (July 2) on "Home Life in Dixie," and, as usual, was greeted by a crowded house. It was grand, and added more fuel to the fire that is already burning. Best of all is, our pastor, Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, is an enthusiastic worker for the League and uses it to the glory of God. A League can do but little without the support of its pastor, and a pastor can succeed far better in his spiritual work if he has an Epworth League to hold up his hands.

J. B. PEASE, JR.,
First Vice-President.

FROM JORDAN STREET, SHREVEPORT, LA.

We have recently closed a most glorious revival here conducted by Rev. H. G. Scudday, of Tyler, Texas. He was with us ten days, and left us with the impress of his own Christ-like character stamped upon the hearts and minds of our people. We all learned to love him.

Entire sanctification was preached, and, many seeing and feeling the need of a deeper work of grace, the need of heart purity, and that they were "yet carnal even as babes in Christ" (I. Cor. iii, 1), sought earnestly and obtained that blessing. The necessity of "groaning" after and receiving the pentecostal baptism of the Holy Ghost was urged, and quite a number bore testimony to the Spirit's sanctifying power.

Bro. Scudday does not criticise and abuse any brother who differs with him in his religious views. With patience, Christian humility and love, and a heart burdened for souls, he fearlessly preached Christ as a complete Savior from all sin, even in this life.

Our church is greatly revived. May the good work go on until many more shall be saved and sanctified! What we want everywhere is a people ready for the coming of our Lord. Let us pray for it.

So far we have had a successful year. We have every hope for a good report at Conference. Our Conference assessments this year are four times those of last year. But our people do not murmur, and assure me that I shall not be subjected to the mortification of giving in a delinquent report at Conference. God bless this dear people! I believe I have the best people in Louisiana Conference to serve. We have already raised and expended $250 on a parsonage, or rather a study, which is the preacher's home.

J. M. ALFORD.

A BIG DAY AT COLEVILLE CHURCH, WHITTINGTON CIRCUIT.

Through the efforts of zealous women, and faithful brethren, a magnificent bell has been purchased for Coleville Church, Harrison county, Miss.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, July 5, it sent forth for the first time its sweet tones to call together old and young to celebrate Children's Day. By eleven o'clock the church was packed, scores having to remain outside for want of sitting room. The congregation numbered about three hundred.

The programme was carried out to the letter, the children all delivering their recitations in a most creditable manner. The interludes by the choir were grand. The sweet intonations of a dozen or more well-trained voices blended with those of the organ were indeed enrapturing.

Much credit is due Bro. Homer Cowart, the skillful leader of the choir for the good music, and Bro. E. D. Fayard, superintendent of the Sabbath-school, for the admirable manner in which the scholars acquitted themselves. At the conclusion of the services a collection was taken, and a very creditable sum realized, after which a bountiful dinner was served under the beautiful trees which surrounded the church.

At three o'clock P. M. the chiming of the bell again called together the multitude for divine service. No other preacher being present, it fell to this scribe's lot to preach, his text being Jer. xii, 5.

At 8 P. M. we again stood before a full house and preached on the subject of "Old-Time Religion," from the fifteenth Psalm. Notwithstanding the extreme heat, however, the congregations were orderly and attentive.

All in all, the first Sunday in July, 1896, will be pleasantly remembered in Coleville many years hence.

G. R. ELLIS.

Stonewall, Miss.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.

Franklinton, La.

More
Medicinal value in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other preparation.
More skill, more care, more expense in manufacture. It costs proprietor
More but it costs the consumer less, as he gets more doses for his money.
More curative merit secured by its peculiar combination, proportion, process.
More wonderful cures, more testimonials, more sales than any other.
Hood's
Sarsaparilla
The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hopelessly lost to happiness is the woman who neglects the health of the most important and delicate organs of her body. If she is weak and sick and nervous, she cannot be cheerful and amiable; she cannot make her home pleasant for herself, or for her husband, or for her children. Health is the thing most worth having in all the world. It is the thing that makes all other good things good, and yet four out of five women are sick and weak and make no real effort to get well. Every one of them can be well, if she wants to. Women go on for years suffering in silence, and then some day they find out about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—and they take it and get well. It is a positive specific for all weakness and disease of the female organs. Thousands of women have testified to this fact. Among them Mrs. Maud Pearce, of Stoutsville, Fairfield Co., Ohio, who writes:

"Please accept my thanks for the good your medicines have done me. I truly believe that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved my life. It is a sure and certain cure for female troubles. I am having perfect health. I am stout and can do all my housework. Nothing did me any good until I heard of you. Now I am well at last by taking your medicines. My good health pleases me and pleases my husband. He wants me to give you his good wishes. Every invalid lady should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

Headache, heart-burn, sour stomach, foul taste in the mouth, biliousness, pimples, and palpitation of the heart are all caused by constipation, and constipation is cured positively and permanently by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe and are perfectly natural and easy in their action. Druggists sell them.

For Sale—A Bargain.
A TWO-STORY TENT at the
Seashore Camp Ground.
Apply to MISS T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,
Or to
MISS P. P. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

FOR SALE.
Cottage on Seashore Camp Ground, fronting the beach, known as the Campman Tent. Seven rooms, hall, etc., all well furnished. This is the best-located tent on the grounds. Inquire of the keeper on the grounds, or to
J. H. CAMPMAN,
619 Poydras St., New Orleans.

LAW SCHOOL
WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY,
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.
Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

HAROIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 23 States. 24 professors from 8 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $7,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory, Scharfenberg, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.
A select home training school for boys. Aim Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address
WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee
UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.
Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
G. W. C. LEE, President.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education
AT
Johnston
Collegiate Institute,
GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.
If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing sufficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.
OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.
Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.
The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.
A. R. LANNER, President.
Rev. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

Martin College
For Young Ladies,
PULASKI, - - - TENN.
Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.
The ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors, fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zeisberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.
S. N. BARKER, President.

TEACHERS' BUREAU. TEACHERS VACANCIES
We have at present several hundred more vacancies than teachers. Address Rev. Dr. O. M. Sutton, A. M., Manager,
SOUTHERN TEACHER'S BUREAU,
Louisville, Ky.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is July, '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail
The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full information in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,
REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Medical Department—Tulane University of Louisiana.
Its advantages for practical instruction, both in ample laboratories and abundant hospital materials, are unequalled. Free access is given to the great Charity Hospital with 700 beds and 30,000 patients annually. Special instruction is given daily at the bedside of the sick. The next session begins October 15th, 1896. For catalogue and information address
PROF. S. E. CHAILLE, M. D., DEAN,
P. O. Drawer 261, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

T. J. MURRAY,
RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.
Ash, oak and pine cord wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS
EL PASO T AND P ROUTE
PACIFIC
OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE Best Passenger Service
BETWEEN
Texas
AND THE EAST
SOUTHEAST.
Cannon Ball Train
SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.
Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7:25 a. m. next day.
LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS
HAS BEEN QUICKENED
9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.
4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.
ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.
ONLY TWO DAYS
BETWEEN
Texas and New York.
Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.
Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.
For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.
E. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest,
The Emerson Piano.
Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.
JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.
TELEPHONE 697.
We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.
6-Year Guarantee.
WRITE
Philip Werlein.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CAN YOU TELL
Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1893-'97?
It is the Memphis Conference Female Institute,
Of Jackson, Tennessee.
A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.
Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal to Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Banks and Mad. Deihl; teaches natural third tones. Thorough equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, taught last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist studied with Boioli. Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League. Studied in Paris with M. Rigan. Scholarship in N. E. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.
Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never lost a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record just it as in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.
Water of Jackson pronounced absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,
REV. HOWARD W. KEY, A. M. Ph.D.

Emory College
Oxford, Georgia.
THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.
The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.
The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $5 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.
The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.
For catalogue and further information address
W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate

[illegible] STREET, NEW ORLEANS

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 519 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. F. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position.	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, July 23, 1896.

A Fallacious Argument.

The late General Assembly of this State, it will be remembered, passed a bill licensing pool-room gambling, which, however, failed to become a law by reason of a pocket veto given it by the Governor. When the matter first came up before the House the friends of the gamblers secured the adoption of a resolution thus phrased:

Whereas, The experience of years has shown the inability of absolutely eradicating vice by prohibitory legislation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the judgment of the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, it is expedient that proper police surveillance should be by law attempted, that the evils consequent upon the vicious habit may be minimized, and that a license tax be imposed upon such practices and callings as pool selling, etc.

The promoters of the license scheme kept the matter quiet until a short time before adjournment, knowing that then they would have a chance to use for all it was worth the excuse that it was too late for adverse legislation concerning the evil; and so to license it was the next best thing to be done.

This excuse aside, but one argument, if it can be called such, was advanced in favor of the license measure, namely, "that prohibitory legislation fails to eradicate the vice absolutely!" Hard pushed indeed is the cause that has to resort to such a plea! Yet not only gamblers, but the friends of the saloon also, are wont to harp loudly on this same strain. And there are people just silly enough to listen to just such fallacious reasoning. Who has been foolish enough to argue that prohibitory legislation would accomplish the wonder of doing away with vice and crime all at once. The veriest tyro ought to know that no law prohibiting any form of crime or evil stamps it out at one fell blow. From time immemorial civilized nations have all had laws against murder, and other crimes, but still they continue to be committed. There is not a law on the statute books that goes always unviolated. Because murders are of frequent occurrence in spite of the punishment threatened by law, shall we, therefore, say that laws respecting this crime are useless, and then attempt to reduce the number of murders by licensing the shedding of man's blood? Thieves abound in spite of the strict laws against stealing and embezzling, but who would have the hardihood to favor on that account abolishing such laws, hoping to get rid of theft and burglary by legalizing them.

Because whisky drinking still goes on to some extent in prohibition towns, because the old soaks and bums and their friends have jugs sent to them, the cry is raised that prohibition is a failure. If so, then every law we have is a failure. But what does the jug trade amount to as compared with the open saloon? What if "blind tigers" do prowl around occasionally? Moreover, everybody knows, or ought to know, that the antis, in many cases, magnify the number of violations, so as to make it appear that the law is less effective than it really is. Is it to be expected that the liquorites will become teetotalers all at once, and that they will be such honorable men as never to violate the law? The saloonists, where the license system prevails, frequently violate the Sunday law, and the statute against selling liquor to minors. What folly then to expect that they will respect a prohibitory law, unless they are forced to do so! If the police and prosecuting attorneys, however, would do their duty, in most places, such violations would be exceeding infrequent.

The liquorites and gamblers will, most of them, violate the laws prohibiting their business whenever they think they can do so with impunity. But because of occasional infractions of these laws, shall we, therefore, repeal them, and thus open the flood gates of iniquity? Just in proportion as any law is backed by public sentiment, just in proportion will it be enforced and observed. Gamblers, saloonists, and all other breeders of vice must accommodate themselves to the laws, not the laws to the lawless.

The Value of Ideals.

An ideal may be defined as a model of excellence or perfection for imitation, realization, or attainment. No man ever achieved any greater success than he pictured to himself, nor does any one dream of rising above the level of his aspirations. A marksman never hits higher than he aims. His aim must always be a little higher than the mark or object to be hit.

In every line of effort, whether it be the legal profession, teaching, preaching, medicine, farming, merchandising, or carpentering, a certain standard or degree of excellence is pictured by the mind and sought after. Without such idealization, mediocrity would constantly characterize all human achievement. An old legend tells of a king and a queen who had a fair son, to whom twelve fairies each brought a blessing, such as wisdom, beauty, strength, the last bearing the gift of discontent. The king became angry with the twelfth fairy, and drove her away. The prince grew with great promise, but manifested no eagerness or ambition or disposition to develop his talents. So it is with the man who has no ideals.

Not every ideal, however, is a worthy one. Sometimes it may be but an "ignis fatuus" leading on to destruction. Such is true of an overweening desire for wealth, for when money-getting becomes the supreme passion, life is degraded, and the spiritual nature is deadened. A man may aspire to be the best billiard player, the best saloon keeper, the best ward-room politician, the best gambler, or the most cunning thief; but because he attains a measure of success, he is not, therefore, great or noble. "No jugglery of thought, nor gorgeousness of trappings, can make the low high, the dishonest honest, the vile pure." As a man's ideal, so will his life be.

Many a young man has suffered moral shipwreck by modeling his life after that of the gifted, but dissolute, Lord Byron. The highest ambition of some men seems to be to secure enough money to enable them to get on a spree, and have what they call "a good time." Other people, again, aspire to dress finer than their neighbors, caring little or nothing for mental and spiritual improvement. 'Twere folly indeed to expect anything great or noble of such people.

A noble ideal lifts us up and brings out the best that is in us. "'Tis not what a man does which exalts him," says Browning, "but what man would do." The loftier the ideal, the greater its transforming power. Every great invention is but the partial realization of an ideal in the mind of the inventor. Plato took Socrates for his teacher and model, and the influence of that grand old philosopher largely made him what he was. Peter Cooper began business in New York City with the distinct purpose to found, if he could ever get money enough, an industrial institution for the poorer classes. By means of indomitable industry and perseverance he succeeded in realizing his purpose, and when he died he was perhaps the best known and loved man in that great metropolis.

Though our ideals may never be realized, still they are almost as essential to us as the air we breathe. In the words of Emerson: "Every really able man, if you talk sincerely with him, considers his work, however much admired, far short of what it should be. What is this better, this flying ideal, but the promise of his Creator?" Every man who strives to make the most of himself finds that his ideal is constantly changing, the standard being carried from height to height, onward and upward. Herein lies the permanence of its power to elevate.

There is danger in the religious life that our ideal will be too low, and consequently our experience will fall far short of what it should be. Such will be the case if we compare ourselves with other Christians, or if we regard the world's standard of morality. But it will not be so if we keep our eyes fixed upon Christ. The Christian who congratulates himself upon having realized the most blessed experience possible in this life, who believes that he has all the Christian virtues in their fullness, is in great danger of suffering from arrested development, if not the loss of all that has been gained. Nothing short of "the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ" should be the aim of every believer. Whatever be our experience, we ought to say with the Apostle Paul: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

"I wonder if ever a song was sung,
But the singer's heart sang sweeter!
I wonder if ever a hymn was rung,
But the thought surpassed the metre!
I wonder if ever a sculptor wrought,
Till the cold stone echoed his ardent thought!
Or if ever a painter, with light and shade,
The dream of his inmost soul portrayed!"

The Louisiana Chautauqua.

"Where shall we go for our Summer outing?" is a question that annually presents itself to hundreds, if not thousands, of our best families. It is a question of no little importance, and deserves more sincere consideration than it very frequently obtains. The popular idea of a summer resort has been, and very largely still is, that of a pleasantly situated place where one may be perfectly free to spend the whole time in absolute idleness, except so much of it as may be devoted to amusements. But is there not something better than this? Our people are becoming more and more convinced that the various Chautauquas that have been established all over the land afford just the opportunity that is needed for combining healthful recreation with intellectual and spiritual advancement.

The Louisiana Chautauqua, situated near Ruston, on the V., S. and P. R. R., is by no means an exception to the rule. The large number of people in attendance from different parts of this and adjoining States make the social feature an enjoyable one. The youth, beauty and intelligence of Ruston and adjacent cities and towns appear almost daily on the beautiful grounds, largely augmenting the numbers of those regularly domiciled in the comfortable hotels on the grounds. Every physical comfort is here at hand. The beech and oak trees cast shade everywhere, while the fragrance of the pines and the waters from the several mineral springs so whet the appetite that even that dread monster, dyspepsia, loses its power, and the former possessor of this unwelcome companion can enjoy the excellent fare provided by the management and so efficiently served by their employees.

No place is, however, perfect as a Summer resort that provides only for the physical and social sides of man's nature. The intellectual and spiritual should also be considered. Here again the Louisiana Chautauqua is no exception to the rule, for to these studiously inclined opportunity is offered to beneficially pursue any chosen line of work. Included in the curriculum of study may be found the English, Latin, German and French languages; Literature, both American and English; Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene, Psychology, Pedagogy, Mathematics, Vocal Music, Drawing, Business Course, Physical Education and Scientific Cookery. An attractive, as well as most desirable and instructive, feature of the Chautauqua work introduced this year for the first time in Louisiana is the systematic study of the Bible by Prof. C. K. Crawford, of Dansville (Ky.) Theological Seminary. Mr. Crawford lectures daily to a large and interested class on the subject of Messianic Prophecy.

A unique feature of the Chautauqua is the course of lectures given by our capable and popular New Orleans woman, physician and surgeon, Dr. Mary A. G. Dight. The lectures are delivered in a manner which shows the Doctor is thoroughly conversant with the human anatomy and its function, and her audience, which is one of the largest of any of the classes, takes great interest in the "proper study of mankind."

On July 3 Dr. Dight was chosen by the Board of Managers as physician in charge of the Woman's Hospital in Philadelphia. This is but another proof of Dr. Dight's ability; and while we appreciate the honor that staid old Pennsylvania pays Louisiana by desiring her one "Kohinoor"—the only thoroughly educated and legally qualified woman physician of which we have record practicing medicine and surgery in Louisiana—yet it is earnestly hoped on all sides that Dr. Dight will not desert her beloved Southland by accepting this most high and honorable position. Her professional attainments can be as thoroughly appreciated in our own State as elsewhere, and the women of Louisiana are loth to relinquish her.

Every Sabbath religious services are conducted at the Ruston Chautauqua by the resident minister, Rev. John Foster, assisted by prominent visiting divines. On Sunday, the twelfth, Dr. C. W. Carter, president of Centenary College, preached one of those magnificent discourses which have made him famous throughout the Southwest. Dr. Black delivered on last Sunday evening his famous and convincing sermon on "The Immortality of the Soul." This was a rare treat to the Chautauquans and guests.

The platform lecturers are some of the most talented men in that work. Rev. Sam P. Jones has already lectured here twice, and he will be followed by W. H. Harvey. July 22, Dr. Talmage will lecture, and he will be followed by the popular impersonater, Edwin L. Barker. The lecture course closes with Dr. H. M. DuBose, the founder of the Epworth League, and of whom it is said, "He says something every time he opens his mouth." He is one of the most eloquent men engaged in this work.

The railroads give half-rate fares. This, together with the inexpensive, but good, accommodations furnished at the hotels and cottages on the Chautauqua grounds, render the Ruston Chautauqua a most desirable and inexpensive place for a Summer outing. The location of the grounds is high, free from malaria, and the entire absence of mosquitoes can scarcely be realized until one actually experiences this blessing by spending a night there. Then they need no inducement to remain longer and bring their families. When the planters once begin to bring their families to the Chautauqua, they will ever afterwards make it an objective point as an ideal place to spend the Summer vacation.

The Louisiana Chautauqua is the outcome of the most untiring energy and most unselfish devotion on the part of its managers, Prof. Byrd and Mrs. Mattie H. Williams, the mother of the Chautauqua, as she is affectionately termed. The work already accomplished by this Chautauqua has been great, and the prospects for its future usefulness are very bright. XX.

At Ruston.

We wish to endorse heartily all that our correspondent, "XX," has said in praise of the Ruston Chautauqua. We spent a week on the grounds, and were delighted with the place, the people, and everything connected with the institution. We regard the Ruston Chautauqua grounds as one of the very best health resorts in Louisiana. In addition to many favorable climatic conditions, it has mineral springs whose health-giving qualities are unsurpassed in the State. The Chautauqua is under admirable management, and is steadily growing in popular favor. The number of students in attendance on the various schools is larger this year than ever before. And this increase, we verily believe, will continue from year to year as the people in different parts of the State become acquainted with the advantages here offered. This is just the place for that large and constantly increasing class of people who have aims and aspirations higher than those that are ministered to by the frivolites and trivialities of the average fashionable watering-place.

We have visited a number of Chautauquas and many watering-places besides, and we have never found anywhere more genuine, hearty, high-toned sociability, or more universal bonhomie, than at Ruston. If there are any cynics or growlers there, we failed to meet them. We know of no place where it is easier to form acquaintanceships that easily ripen into friendships. The State of Louisiana owes a debt of gratitude to Mrs. Mattie H. Williams and her coadjutors for their self-denying labors in founding this centre of culture, refinement, and sociability.

Let our readers not make the mistake of supposing that the Chautauqua is a place for teachers only. While it is true that a large percentage of those who attend are teachers, yet many others attend these schools. Just think what an uplifting and inspiring force a six weeks' attendance upon these various schools would be to thousands of men and women in the various walks of life all over the State! Louisiana has, perhaps, as large a percentage of persons who spend the Summer away from home as any State in the Union. These, whether they dwell in the cities or in the swamps, can find at the Ruston Chautauqua an admirable health resort, and such facilities for self-culture as can be found nowhere else in the State. In addition to the advantages offered by the several schools referred to by our correspondent, "XX," one has an opportunity to hear from year to year many of the leading lights of the American rostrum. Last year W. J. Bryan, the nominee of the Democratic party for President of the United States, was on the platform at Ruston, as were a number of other celebrities.

Let it be noted that all these advantages can be had for a much smaller outlay of money than is required for board at any respectable watering-place. We most heartily commend the Ruston Chautauqua to the people of Louisiana as a Summer home. Those who prefer to keep house rather than board can make arrangements to build cheap cottages and occupy them as long as they choose. A number of persons have already done this, and many more will doubtless do so as the years roll on.

We would like to say much more, but can not spare the space in this issue. We had intended to "look in" on the Arcadia District Conference, but a temporary indisposition prevented. We had the pleasure of meeting several brethren of the Louisiana Conference: J. A. Miller, T. B. White, J. F. Foster, C. R. Montgomery, F. Vaughan, and C. W. Carter. We also exchanged greetings with Rev. S. P. Jones, and heard two of his inimitable lectures. The region round about Ruston is suffering from drouth. The corn crop is ruined, and the cotton crop will be exceedingly short, unless rain comes very soon.

The Power of Oratory.

The Democratic nominee for the Presidency of the United States owes his nomination to a speech. He was not seriously thought of as a candidate. He had put himself almost, if not quite, out of the party by coquetting with the Populists. Mr. Bland was the logical nominee, the favorite of the managers, and had nearly a third of the convention instructed in his favor. Mr. Bryan, of Nebraska, was permitted to speak. He had all the concomitants of an orator, handsome in person, classical in feature, graceful and forcible in action, a voice mellifluous, full-volumed, penetrating enough to be heard by 25,000 people. He literally captured the immense multitude. They could not resist his witchery of words, voice and manner. He wove them around his fingers. He moved them up and down at will. When he finally ended by saying that "the crown of thorns should never be pressed upon the brow of labor," and that "humanity should not be crucified upon a cross of gold," the excitement and demonstration have scarcely been equalled in the world's history of great assemblages and orations. From all accounts, Bryan is one of the greatest orators that, from time to time, have arisen to show that the human voice is more effective in moving men than the blare of trumpet, the clashing concord of brass instruments, and the resounding swell of cathedral organ.

The Democrats of Chicago felt somewhat as did the Athenians, when, after Demosthenes had delivered one of his philippics, they shouted, "Let us go against Philip." If the convention had not been forced to adjournment by the leaders, Bryan would have been immediately nominated by acclamation. Adjournment, however, could not weaken the impression of his matchless oratory, and at the next session the tide of votes turned towards him irresistibly as the tides of the sea.

For ourselves, we have no opinion to express concerning the wisdom of Mr. Bryan's nomination. We are glad, however, that his speech exploded an opinion which has been growing the last few years, and which, we think, has been harmful to many young preachers. The opinion is that oratory has become a lost art. The newspapers have rather led in the matter. It is said that a reading age is not a speaking age. That men liked to be "talked to," and not "shouted at;" that the conversational style is now "the thing." So it has come to pass that congregations complain of preachers because they "preach too loud." On their part preachers falling into the conversational tone are apt to become monotonous, dull, lifeless. The lawyers, statesmen, and preachers of the past that have greatly moved their audiences have been, generally, speakers of great lung and vocal power. Thunder may not kill, but it has much to do in adding to the grandeur and effectiveness of the storm.

There are different kinds of orators and oratory. One may not have the volcanic utterances of Toombs, the rolling periods of Webster, the splendid climaxes of Clay, the cataract-like swiftness of Bascom, the gulf-stream limpidity and majesty of Pierce, the magnetic attractiveness of Marvin, and the cyclone sweep of Bryan, yet everyone has in himself latent powers of oratory; which, if brought to the surface as miners dig for gold, would make him immeasurably more influential as an orator. Is it not a public speaker's duty, especially a preacher's, to become as effective as possible? One should take lessons of a good teacher in elocution; he should practice in the open air; he should read aloud by the hour, he should expand his chest by deep and full inspirations; in every way he should develop his vocal organs, so that his speech shall charm the ear, persuade the will and, like Anthony over the body of Cæsar, steal away the hearts of his listeners.

Read how Demosthenes made himself an orator from a stammerer.—Louisville Methodist.

NOTES.

The press reports indicate a very prosperous session of the Crystal Springs Chautauqua. Secretary Bailey will, doubtless, see that we are furnished with a write-up of the proceedings.

* * *

According to the reports in the secular papers, the Seashore Camp Meeting this year is a decided success. We suppose President Mackie, or some one else, will write a report for the ADVOCATE.

* * *

Edwin Linfield, brother of Rev. W. L. Linfield, of the Mississippi Conference, died a few days since at Jackson, Miss. The bereaved family have our profound sympathies in this their hour of sorrow.

* * *

We learn that a meeting is in progress at Holly Springs, with favorable prospects. The popular pastor, Rev. J. S. Oakley, is assisted by that talented and enthusiastic layman, Judge Estes, of Memphis. Dr. Cameron is doing fine work on the Holly Springs district.

* * *

We hear that the outlook for the East Mississippi Female College is very promising. People are pleased with the idea of a fifteen-year lease by a practical school man with ten years' experience. President Beeson is having the college painted and put in fine condition. Hot and cold baths will be added, and many improvements made. He promises the best faculty the college has ever had. This looks like business.

THROW AWAY
YOUR QUININE PILLS

and all the other cure-or-kill medicines you have been taking for chills and fever. One bottle of will do you more good than anything in the world. Its good effects are felt immediately, chills and all malarial troubles disappearing like magic. It is free from quinine, and is as pleasant and sweet to take as orange syrup. It enriches the blood, and builds up the system. Sold everywhere. Price 50c. per bottle.

CHILLIFUGE

Every bottle sold under a guarantee to cure, or money refunded.

Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

To the Preachers in the Vicksburg District.

DEAR BRETHREN: Continuous labor, with a malarial attack, has brought me to a condition where my doctor says I must take needed rest, or run the risk of nervous fever. So I go to the country to-day, to remain until the first of August, when I expect to return to my work. My address until that date will be Gilbert, Miss.

J. M. WEEMS.

Vicksburg, Miss., July 17, 1896.

Children's Day.

Let me urge the brethren of the North Mississippi Conference to be faithful in the observance of this day. In many charges the collection has fallen short, and unless all observe this day and take the collection our cause will suffer. Send full amount collected to me as soon as possible.

GEO. H. LIPSCOMB,
Treas. Sunday school Board.

Como Miss.

For Debilitated Men,
Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. J. B. ALEXANDER, Charlotte, N. C., says: "It is not only pleasant to the taste, but ranks among the best of nerve tonics for debilitated men."

The tenth annual self-denial week of the Salvation Army produced more than $150,000, with many countries to hear from. The United States contributed $80,000 and Australia $65,000.—Christian Guardian.

A Chance to Make Money.

It seems strange that people will not improve their opportunities; they all want to get rich, but have not enough enterprise to succeed. I believe any man or woman can clear $20 a day in the Dish Washer business, as it is just booming now; but not one in 500 has push enough to enter the field and reap the harvest. I have been in the business over a year, and have cleared over $20 a day, without canvassing any. I have examined all the Dish Washers, but none equal the Climax. Address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you how to proceed, and you can do well in city or country, as every family wants a Climax Dish Washer. When we know of opportunities like this, I think it our duty to inform others, as this is a chance for all to make money honestly and easily.

A READER.

Memphis Conference Female Institute.

We call the especial attention of our readers to the advertisement of this popular school. It is thorough and progressive. No loose methods, nor running in old ruts. The teachers are selected from the best conservatories, universities and colleges, and high grade of work is done. The demand for teachers from among the C. F. I. graduates is greater than the supply. This shows in what estimation this school is held by those seeking competent teachers. Send to Key, at Jackson, Tenn., for catalogue.

Hogsett Academy, Danville, Ky.

Parents who are undecided where to place their boys at school can not do better than to send them to this splendidly conducted and equipped boarding-school. The stand its boys have taken in Eastern colleges and universities, at Annapolis and West Point, and the recognition accorded to these colleges and universities, speak the standing of this college, which ranks far above the average.

University of Mississippi.

The Law School of the University, under the instruction of Hon. G. D. Shands, prospers as it never did before. The last two sessions have shown respectively 40 and 39 students enrolled. Young men intending to study law are appreciating the importance of the thoroughness which characterizes this school. Gov. Shands is not merely a lecturer; he is a teacher.

Washington and Lee University.

We call attention to the advertisement, in another column, of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. The Academic Departments, as well as the professional schools of Law and Engineering, open Sept. 10.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for July.

THE DISCIPLES OF OUR LORD.

SUNDAY, JULY 26—THE TRIBULATIONS AND ENCOURAGEMENTS OF DISCIPLES.

(Matt. x, 40-42; Luke xxii, 30; John xv, 18-27.)

Many were to be the tribulations of Christ's disciples. The message of the gospel would not be pleasing to the sinful world, and it would manifest bitter hatred against the bearers of the message. The world, that is out of sympathy with God, is ever out of sympathy with the true Christian disciple, and is ready to raise the hand to persecute.

So Christ tells the disciples plainly that they need not expect worldly honor, but precisely the opposite. "The servant is not greater than his lord," and, therefore, if Christ suffers at the hands of wicked men, his disciples may expect similar treatment.

But Christ also tells them, by way of encouragement, that, in the varied experiences that await them, he will be closely identified with them; their sorrows will be his sorrows, their joys his joys; their successes will be his successes, their failures his failures. Indeed, any act of love shown to his disciples ("these little ones"), even so small an act as the giving them a cup of cold water, will be regarded by him as the expression of a personal love to himself, and will be rewarded.

He tells them also that though they will not occupy prominent earthly positions, nevertheless they will hold positions of authority in his own kingdom, which is greater than any earthly; and that they shall be privileged to sit down to the royal spiritual table, furnished them on earth, and which is typical of the richer banquet, to which they shall sit down in heaven.

He tells them that he will send the Comforter, "even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father," and in bestowing upon them this gift, he will supply all that they need to sustain them amid their dark hours, and to give them joyous confidence.

Notice.

By request I have received up till July 13 the following donations from brethren at a distance to help us build a church here at Smyrna, Miss.: W. T. Hamer, Salem, Miss., $1; Dr. F. L. Dickerson, Salem, Miss., $1; J. A. Roan, Grenada, Miss., $1.

I hope all the brethren who have received letters from me asking for a small amount will kindly favor us with a little something—from five cents up to five dollars will be received thankfully. It is expedient that we get a church built here. We need it. This is the place to have a church. Methodism has been suffering the past fourteen years for the want of a church at this place. The time has come when we must build a church here or let go all that we have. Brother, in the name of God, help us just a little.

J. A. WILSON, P. C.

Smyrna, Attala county, Miss.

Ice Cream Made by a New Process.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream instantly. The cream is put into the freezer and comes out instantly, smooth and perfectly frozen. This astonishes people and a crowd will gather to see the freezer in operation and they will all want to try the cream. You can sell cream as fast as it can be made and sell freezers to many of them who would not buy an old style freezer. It is really a curiosity and you can sell from $5 to $8 worth of cream and six to twelve freezers every day. This makes a good profit these hard times and is a pleasant employment. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will send full particulars and information in regard to this new invention on application and will employ good salesmen on salary.

Indian Mission.

MR. EDITOR: Please publish the inclosed letter from Bro. F. B. Ormond. Surely the Lord is doing great things for us. Let the people send on money to pay the balance due on the land. Postoffice money order on Hermanville, or registered letter to me at Hermanville, Miss. The sooner the better.

A. D. MILLER.

Hermanville, Miss., July 15, 1896.

Rev. A. D. Miller, Hermanville, Miss.—

DEAR BROTHER: Rejoice with me. The prospects for the mission are brighter than ever in its history; so say those who have lived here all the time since our people began work among them.

Last Saturday (4th) was a great day at the Talichulok. Satan with his agents concocted an Indian ball play within a mile of the church.

The Lord put it into the hearts of the friends of the mission to fight this effort of Satan, and to keep our members away from the "ball play." In this we succeeded admirably; only two of our members went. They all came out to the church in full force, and such a gracious time we did have. Four applications for church membership. The mission is on a boom. One of the four mentioned above was Simpson Tubby. He has come back to the church. Glory be to God! the prodigal has returned. Your brother,

F. B. ORMOND.

Toles, Miss., July 7, 1896.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1893.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,

MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special Schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of Instructors. Improved facilities. Most healthful location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low.

For catalogue and information address

CHANCELLOR R. B. FULTON,
University, Mississippi.

Buffalo Lithia Water [SPRING No. 2]

In Gouty Dyspepsia.

Dr. J. S. Wellford, Professor of Diseases of Women and Children, Medical College of Virginia: "In Gouty Dyspepsia I know of no mineral water which I consider at all equal to that of Spring No. 2."

Dr. J. O. Eggleston, Wareham, Va., Member Medical Society, Virginia:

"BUFFALO LITHIA WATER promotes Digestion, relieves Nausea, and Acid Fermentation, and in disordered conditions of the digestive organs is a remedy of uniform adaptation and unsurpassed excellence."

Dr. T. Griswold Comstock, A. M., M. D., St. Louis, Mo.: "In Gouty Dyspepsia I have known the action of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER to be very happy."

This Water is for sale by druggists and grocers generally, or in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles $3 00 f. o. b. at the Springs. Descriptive pamphlets sent free to any address. Springs open for guests from June 15th to October 1st.

Proprietor, Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va., on the Atlantic and Danville Railroad.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,411. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address

PRES'T. WM. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y
OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

Nashville College
FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Privilege of Lectures, Museum, Apparatus, in Vanderbilt University. Three large buildings. Faculty of 30; pupils from 18 States. Highest advantages in Music, Art, Calisthenics, Health, Dressmaking. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Tennessee Centennial, May 1897. Provisions for pupils to see the Exposition. Address Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Pres., Nashville, Tenn. Rev. W. F. Melton, A. M., Ph. D., Vice-President.

Bowling Green Business College

THE GREAT BUSINESS TRAINING SCHOOL OF THE SOUTH.

A School of Business, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy & Typewriting

ADDRESS

CATALOGUE and JOURNAL FREE.

HUNDREDS OF GRADUATES HOLDING FINE POSITIONS. RECOMMENDED BY THE LEADING BUSINESS MEN OF THE COUNTRY. MENTION COURSE WANTED.

Cherry Bros. Bowling Green, Ky.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.
FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

"The Great College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Hood and Miss Heron, Principals.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,
Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address,

D. SULLINS, Pres't.

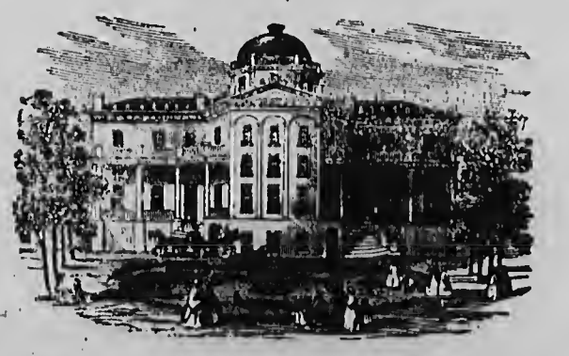
W. W. CARRE,
—LUMBER,—

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
—AND—
Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation



Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-MedineCo?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

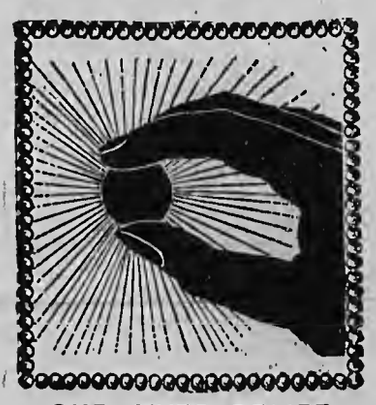
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Right In Sight Sure Saving Shown

We'll send you our General Catalogue and Buyers Guide, if you send us 15 cents in stamps. That pays part postage or expressage, and keeps off idlers.

It's a Dictionary of Honest Values; Full of important information no matter where you buy. 700 Pages, 12,000 illustrations: tells of 40,000 articles and right price of each. One profit only between maker and user. Get it.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
216 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK

HOLLINS INSTITUTE
BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. The largest and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Eclectic courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in Valley of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. 84th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED
Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with
LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART
By Hon. HENRY B. RUSSELL, their chosen biographer. 640 pages, elegantly illustrated. Price only $1.00. The best and cheapest, and outsells all others by tens of thousands. 50 per cent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Books now ready. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Save time by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

HOME CIRCLE.

DOES ANYONE CARE FOR FATHER?

Does anyone care for the father?
Does anyone think of the one
Upon whose tired, bent shoulders
The cares of the family come,
The father who strives for your comfort,
And toils from day unto day,
Although his steps ever grow slower,
And his dark locks are turning gray?

Does anyone think of the doctor bills
He's called upon daily to pay?
Milliner bills, college bills, book bills—
There are some kind of bills every day.
Like a patient horse in a treadmill,
He works on from morning till night;
Does anyone think he is tired?
Does anyone make his home bright?

Is it right just because he looks troubled,
To say he's as cross as a bear?
Kind words, little actions, and kindness
Might banish his burden of care.
'Tis for you he's ever so anxious,
He will toil for you while he may live;
In return he only asks kindness,
And such pay is easy to give.

—Selected.

An Old Fox Is Shy of a Trap.

The old fox knows the trap of old. You don't catch him so easily as you would a cub. He looks sharp at the sharp teeth, and seems to say,

"Hollo, my old chap,
I spy out your trap.
To-day, will you fetch me?
Or wait till you catch me?"

The cat asked the mice to supper, but only the young ones would come to the feast, and they never went home again. "Will you walk into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly, and the silly creature did walk in, and was soon dead as a doornail.

What a many traps have been set for some of us. Man-traps and woman-traps; traps to catch us by the eye, by the ear, by the throat, and by the nose; traps for the head and traps for the heart; day traps, and night traps, and traps for any time you like. The baits are of all sorts, alive and dead, male and female, common and particular. We had need be wiser than foxes, or we shall soon hear the snap of the man-trap and feel its teeth.

Beware of beginnings: he who does not take the first wrong step will not take the second. Beware of drops, for the fellows who drink take nothing but a "drop of beer," or "a drop too much." Drop your drop of grog. Beware of him who says, "Is it not a little one?" Little sins are the eggs of great sorrows. Beware of lips smeared with honey; see how many flies are caught with sweets. Beware of evil questions which raise needless doubts, and make it hard for a man to trust his Maker. Beware of a bad rich man who is very liberal to you; he will buy you first and sell you afterward. Beware of a dressy young woman, without a mind or a heart; you may be in a net before you can say Jack Robinson.

"Pretty fools are no ways rare:
Wise men will of such beware."

—Spurgeon.

The Angel in the House.

I am going to tell you of a girl who, from being one of the most careless girls it was possible to meet, became a gentle follower of Christ, and, as her mother often said, "An angel in the house." A friend and I were staying at a little village by the sea, and in the house next to where we were lodged lived a mother and her daughter, of whom we heard the following:

The mother, a widow, was very delicate, but she worked for her child from morning till night. Before she left for school in the morning Bessie would go to her mother, and say: "I don't like the way you have done my hair; you must do it over again." Then she would pull off the ribbon and tangle her hair, and worry her mother until it was to her liking.

She would play on her way from school, and reach home at the last minute, late for dinner. Then she would call out: "Oh, mother, I must have my dinner this minute, or I shall be late for afternoon school. What is there for dinner?" And if it was not what she fancied, she would put herself into a terrible temper, and go to school dinnerless.

I can not repeat the many ways in which she proved to be a trouble, rather than a blessing to her invalid mother, whose failing health made her unable to cope with the ill tempers of her self-willed child. At last, just after Bessie's fifteenth birthday, and when her chief thoughts were of going out, reading and dressing, the doctor called her aside and spoke seriously to her: "For years," he said, "your mother has waited on you, and in this way she has increased her illness. Now she will never walk again, and it is your turn—you wait on her. There is One whom your mother knows and loves, who will take all you do for her as done for him; it is the highest service—are you prepared to enter it?"

Bessie was ashamed. In a moment her heart was touched. "Oh! I see how willful and selfish I have been!" she cried. "Oh! Dr. Blair, is it true what you say of my mother?"

"Every word of it," was the reply. "Just ponder on it."

Bessie crept upstairs weeping, with a feeling in her heart that the world had somehow suddenly come to an end.

She listened outside her mother's door, and she heard her praying: "Dear Father, who lovest my child more and better than I can ever love her, soften her young heart and help her to bear this burden. O Jesus, open thine arms very wide that I may more closely lean upon thee, for I need thee in my helplessness more than ever."

Bessie heard, and rushing into the room, she fell at her mother's bedside, and, in a fit of remorse, exclaimed: "Oh, mother, my heart is broken! Forgive me all the past, and by God's help I will devote myself to you every hour."

Mother and daughter became united in the sweetest bonds, for Jesus was their Savior and Comforter, and it was beautiful and touching to see them together in the days of the mother's dependence on her daughter—the elder leaning on the younger.

"What first touched you most?" we asked Bessie.

"Mother's gentle trust in God and the way she prayed for me," was the reply. "I had often heard her pray before, but the doctor's words, 'She will never walk again,' seemed to break my heart, and I felt as if God had put her into my idle arms to fill them."

We used to watch Bessie wheel her mother into the sunshine, and the mother's happy smile would follow her as she went in and out, and waited upon and cheered the invalid every hour of the day.

A letter came one day from an uncle in America, asking Bessie to go out to him and his wife, and they would make her heir to all they had, for they were childless. Bessie wrote: "I have a most blessed charge in a sick mother, whom I would not leave for all the wealth in the world. For fifteen years she spent her life for me, and God had to lay her aside before I could be brought to see the evil of my heart and ways, and the selfishness and uselessness of my robust health."

This so stirred up the uncle and aunt that they came to England to see the widow and Bessie, and the perfect unity and sweet Christian life of mother and daughter won them both for Christ.

Bessie's is a bright example. Many careless daughters have seen Christ in her so really that they have been caught by the beautiful likeness, and in the desire to be like him have been "transformed by the renewing of their minds." I wish you could know Bessie. But perhaps you know Bessie's Savior? Ah! if you do, I need say no more, as your happy mothers would tell me, for "Who teacheth like him?"—London Christian.

One Girl's Work.

A few years ago a little girl applied to a pastor in one of our large cities for admission into his Sunday-school. She was told that the classes were so full there was no room for her, and that the church was so small that no more classes could be organized. Much disappointed, the little girl began to save pennies (her family was poor) for the purpose of enlarging the church in order that she and other children like her might be accommodated. She told no one of her ambitious purpose, however, so that when the pastor of this church was called to her bedside a few months later, to comfort her in her severe illness, he saw nothing unusual, only a frail child of six and a half years. The little sufferer died, and a week later there were found in her battered red pocket book, which had been her savings bank, fifty-seven pennies, and a scrap of paper that told in childish print the story of her ambition and the purpose of self-denial.

The story of that little red pocket book and its contents, and the unfaltering faith of its little owner, got abroad. It touched the heart of saint and sinner alike. Her inspiration became a prophecy, and men labored and women sang and children saved to aid in its fulfillment. These fifty-seven pennies became the nucleus of a fund that in six years grew to $250,000, and to day this heroine's picture, life size, hangs conspicuously in the hallway of a college building at which 1,400 students attend, and connected with which there is a church capable of seating 8,000, a hospital for children named the Good Samaritan, and a Sunday-school room large enough to accommodate all the boys and girls who have yet asked to enter it. A fairy story? It reads like one; happily it is not one. The little girl's name was Hattie May, and the splendid institutions described are located in Philadelphia.—Harper's Young People.

It Is Worth While to Take Pains.

The careful work of revision done by a young writer, who has aspirations for literary excellence, is a work that will pay in every sense of the word. If it is worth while to write at all, it is worth while to make the contribution clear, terse, correct; and to put it into neat, legible, attractive form. The appearance and legibility of a manuscript are two important elements of its value. Other things being equal, an article that can be easily read, and that is ready for print, is much more likely to be accepted by an editor, than another which might have some higher intellectual qualities in it, but which is loose jointed, imperfectly punctuated, illegibly written, and which contains words spelt after fonografik rather than according to dictionary rules. One secret success in the literary art is painstaking care. Patient, plodding, faithful study of words, their meaning and uses; of literary models and masters; of the little things in the literary art—such as correct spelling, the rules of punctuation, the science of chirography, which means in old English "a good hand-write"—is a slow, but sure, road to excellence as a writer. Those who are above these little things need not be surprised if they never get there. —Central Christian Advocate.

Too Late.

A man who had rejected Christianity and thought it all trash came to die. He was in the sweat of great agony, and his wife said, "We had better have some prayer." "Mary, not a breath of that," he said. "The lightest word of prayer would roll back on me like rocks on a drowning man. I have come to the hour of test. I had a chance, but I forfeited it. I believe in a liar, and he has left me in the lurch. Mary, bring me Tom Paine—that book that I swore by and lived by—and pitch it into the fire, and let it burn and burn as I myself shall soon burn." And then, with the foam on his lips and his hands tossing wildly in the air, he cried out: "Blackness of darkness! Oh, my God, too late!" And the spirits of darkness whistled up from the depth and wheeled around and around him, stripping the slain.—Talmage.

Do good constantly, patiently, and wisely, and you will never have cause to say that life was not worth living.—George W. Childs.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HYGIENE.

Hunger and Susceptibility to Infection.

It is a well known fact that when hungry or tired one is more apt to take scarlet fever and other infectious diseases than after any early day and a good dinner. Experimental observations have recently been made by some Italian observers, which are spoken of in the Hospital Gazette, and which tend to show that hunger may play a very important role in the spread of infectious diseases. Pigeons and fowls are not usually susceptible to the infection of malignant pustule or charbon. When, however, pigeons were kept without sufficient food for several days, both before and after inoculation with charbon virus, they became susceptible to the disease, and died from it like other animals; and when they were kept without sufficient food for some days before inoculation, and for two days only afterward, food being then supplied in proper quantity, the disease, though not prevented, was visibly affected, its course being much more chronic than when birds were kept hungry for a week or more after inoculation. Another interesting point observed was, that if an ordinary well-nourished and, therefore, insusceptible pigeon was inoculated, and complete starvation commenced eight days later, the disease appeared, showing that the charbon virus, though stored in the subcutaneous tissues of an insusceptible animal, retains its virulence for several days. Some experiments were likewise made on pigeons from which the pancreas had been partially or entirely removed. These appear to become susceptible to the charbon virus for some time after the operation. — Medical Times and Register.

Well Pollution.

At the meeting of the State and local Boards of Health at Columbus, O., Jan. 25, a very interesting and valuable paper was read on "Well Pollution in Relation to Typhoid Fever," by Mr. Josiah Hartzell, of Canton. After saying that contaminated wells were a prolific cause for the spread of typhoid fever, he cited a number of interesting cases which proved the truth of this statement. One point brought out was that well contamination had occurred in New York at the depth of 1,000 feet, owing to the dip of the underlying rock formation. Several cases were cited of the awful effects of well pollution. Among the interesting facts brought out was that every well dug is a drain for the reception of water from the surrounding earth; every foot of the well's depth will drain from three to six feet in width according to the nature of soil. In the way of caution the speaker said: "Don't drink water that comes from under the city or the barnyard or the cesspool or the factory. Eliminate surface wash and impurities by filtering and sterilize by boiling. If the typhoid poison is in the vicinity, boil and filter—distill if possible. In case of doubt get the opinion of a chemist. There is no chemical or patent nostrum which, by the addition to a polluted water, will make it pure and wholesome." A most interesting discussion followed in which some prominent cases of well pollution were cited.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

CELERY SALAD.—Wash three bunches of celery, and chop with three hard-boiled eggs; place in your salad dish and pour over it a cream dressing made as follows: Heat one cupful of milk and half a cupful of cream almost to boiling; stir in a tablespoonful of flour, previously wet with two spoonfuls of cold milk; boil two minutes, stirring all the time. Add half a cupful of sugar, and take from the fire. When half cold beat in the whipped whites of two eggs. Set aside to cool. Heat two tablespoons of soft butter, add one teaspoonful made mustard, one-half teaspoonful pepper and salt each, whip the whole into the made cream. If the salad is ready to be served, whip in three tablespoonfuls of vinegar and pour at once over it; if not ready set both in the icebox till wanted. In salad everything depends in having it crisp and cold. If you do not need all the cream dressing set in a cool place and it will keep a week or longer; but take it out before you add the vinegar.—Housekeeper.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

New York, July 20, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have absolute remedy for Consumption and Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also for Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Wasting. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY CURED. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Post Office address. Sincerely,

T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige—EDITOR.

SUMMERING IN THE NORTH AND EAST

The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Regions of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

ST. LOUIS CHICAGO
CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE

maintained by the

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R.R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask your local railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, Asst. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	11:45 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, East, North-East, AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST TO CINCINNATI AND THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

BLANCARD'S IODINE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP. PILLS.

Specially recommended by the most eminent celebrities of the World for Scrofula, Consumption, King's Evil, and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood, and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD" and all Druggists. E. Fougera & Co., N. Y.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour,
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

OBITUARIES.

ROBERTS—Miss TENAH A. ROBERTS, daughter of F. F. and M. A. Roberts, was born Feb. 23 1880, and her sweet, amiable spirit was freed from a body of intense suffering on the morning of June 11, 1896

Tenah, in all the relations of life, was good and pure, bright and unselfish, endearing herself to all with whom she associated She became a member of the M. E. Church, South, at the age of ten, at Sartin's Church, under J. M Pugh's pastorate.

As a Christian, she was faithful and true, never taking part in anything that she knew was wrong, and was always ready to do what she could for her Master At the time of her death she was a member of a little band of Christian workers collecting money for the cause of missions. She was devoted to her parents, always obedient, and gentle and unassuming towards her brothers and sister

She was a model as a Christian, as a daughter, as a sister, and as a student and classmate. Would to God we had more like her. Her pure life has stamped its imprint upon us all.

May the Lord help each of us so to live as to reach that bright world to which Tenah has gone! May the Lord send his comforting and consoling power to the bereaved ones!

B W. LEWIS, Pastor.

Fair River, Miss.

The following resolutions were adopted by Sartin's Church:

Whereas, In the providence of God the sweet, gentle spirit of Tenah Roberts took its departure from our midst Sartin's Church, M. E. Church, South, June 11, 1896; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as a band of Christian workers, feel a deep sense of bereavement in the removal from our little band of one so kind and gentle, so refined and unassuming, so faithful and true the beauty of whose Christian character was always an evidence of the reality of the Christian faith.

Resolved, That we how submissively to the will of God in this dispensation of his providence, and pray that God's comforting grace may attend the bereaved loved ones in consoling power.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family; also to the Lawrence County Press and NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

B. W. LEWIS, Pastor.
SUSAN HOLMES, for Committee.

CROSSLEY—Mrs. L. J. CROSSLEY was born in Louisiana in 1832, and died in Whitestown, Miss. March 27, 1896; joined the Methodist Church in early life, and was ever true to the trust committed to her. She was married to Mr. Andrew Crossley, of precious memory, in 1852. Her life was bright, cheerful and happy, fraught with many good deeds. As a wife, she was true to all the interests of her husband, sharing with him the burdens of life. As a mother, it could be truly said she was a model, patiently and lovingly watching after the interests of her children. It was by the faithful prayers and motherly counsel of this saintly woman that the writer was held in check and finally brought to Christ She was a good neighbor, and her words of wisdom and love will be greatly missed. As a Christian, she was an "Israelite indeed, in whom there was no guile." She was a great sufferer for many years, but was never heard to murmur; and with that calm and meek spirit which characterized her life she glorified the Master in suffering his will. She seemed to live in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, using the mantle of charity in dealing with those who were overtaken in a fault. It was the writer's privilege to be with her some days before she died. It has never been my privilege to meet one whose faith was stronger and whose vision was clearer, with her eyes fixed, as if beholding, as John of old, the holy city, the New Jerusalem; would raise her hands heavenward and exclaim, "Blessed Jesus! oh, how sweet!" Thus victoriously she passed into glory to sing the triumphant song, and bathe her weary soul in seas of heavenly rest. May God bless and save the precious loved ones who mourn their loss! X.

SIGREST—Mrs. ALICE SIGREST (nee Manning) was born in the State of Georgia, March 1842. When quite young her parents moved to Mississippi. November 24, 1859, she was married to E. E. Sigrest, and died Dec. 24, 1895. She professed religion and joined the Baptist Church in 1859. Her conversion was bright, and retained its brilliancy and fervor to the end. Her work was not confined to her own church, but she was perfectly at home in the Methodist meeting, pleading with sinners, weeping with the penitent, and shouting with the victors. She was able in prayer. Sick, well, or when dying, religion was the theme of her soul. She was greatly moved to pray for the conversion of her youngest son, which prayer was answered a few months before her death.

Some months before she died she joined the Methodist Church. The community will miss her light, the church her work, the husband will miss her life, her four children the best of mothers, and the writer a true friend. She lived as she lived, talking about Jesus and heaven. She sleeps in the cemetery at Hillsboro, Scott county, Miss. "Blessed sleep, from which none ever wakes to weep."

L. P. MEADOR.

TRAMMELL—G. W. TRAMMELL was born in Georgia, March 20, 1813, and died July 7, 1896; hence he had lived out his threescore years and ten, and more. A sheaf fully ripe has been gathered for the great garner above. He lived in Georgia until he was fully grown, then came to Alabama, where he met Miss Orrilla E. Abney, daughter of T H. Abney, whom he loved, wooed, and married, who proved to be a wife indeed, walking by his side as a true yoke-fellow, bearing faithfully her end of the burdens of a long pilgrimage. Seven children were the fruit of this happy marriage. He knew what it was to see three of these dear ones [illegible] to bury an honored and aged father; and no words that man can offer will calm and still the troubled heart of his true and tried mate.

Bro Trammell remained in Alabama until after the smoke of the late war had cleared away; then he came to Panola county, Miss, where he lived until his death, dying in Sardis, his county town. Here, where he has lived for more than thirty years, we find him greatly honored and loved; a good citizen, an industrious, high-minded, generous and kind neighbor.

Wednesday morning a large number of friends and relatives assembled at the residence and heard Dr. T. C. Wier, his former pastor, read our beautiful burial service and offer some words of comfort and hope to the sorrowing ones.

He loved and served the Methodist Church for many years; but the warfare is over, the last battle has been fought, and the grand old soldier has gone to his reward.

W. S. SHIPMAN.

Sardis, Miss.

COLLINS—LOYD ERNEST COLLINS, son of Dr. R. M. and C. E. Collins, was born Aug. 16, 1886, and died Jan. 26, 1896.

Another flower has been plucked from earth by death angels and borne to the city in the skies Before he got old enough to know the bitterness incident to this life he was called to enter the home of eternal bliss and perpetuel youth far away in the celestial sphere. He was blessed with Christian parents, who, in his tender years, taught him that there was a home beyond the grave where the pure and good were crowned with eternal life by Jesus, the Savior; hence he had learned to look to Jesus and to trust him. He spoke of Jesus and the home that awaited him during his last illness, and expressed his willingness to go.

Little Ernest was a bright, promising boy, and it was indeed a severe trial to separate from him; but our Father in heaven knoweth best.

May the God of all grace comfort the bereaved parents, relations, and friends; and may they so live that they will be allowed to live with him in the 'home of the soul!"

N. J. R.

FARNHAM—Died at Gloster Miss., May 3, 1896, and was buried at Brandon, Mrs. JANE FARNHAM, who had reached the age of seventy years and ten days; born in Marion county, this State, April 23, 1826. At the age of three years her father, Hiram Hathorn, with his family, moved into Covington county, where she spent sixty years of her life. She was twice married: first to Thomas Loflin in 1844, who died in 1859. This union was blessed with seven children, all of whom have preceded the mother across the river except the writer. Her second marriage was to B. W. Farnham in 1860, who died six years later, leaving as the fruit of this union three boys, all of whom are still living. She joined the M. E. Church, South, during her girlhood, and lived a consistent member to the day of her death.

As a wife, she was faithful and true. As a mother, we know there was none better, always ready and watching to do something for the comfort of her children. Not only was she watchful for the comfort and well-being of her children, but was so with everyone with whom she was associated It was never too cold or hot for her to go and minister to the distressed and suffering ones. She lived not for herself, but for others.

For nearly three months before her death she suffered greatly, caused from a fall received about Feb. 10, dislocating her left hip and otherwise injuring her. Her death was due to this fall. We feel—yes, we know—that if we live as mother lived for years and as she died, we shall meet again where there is no failing, broken limbs, or sorrowing. All is well with mother. W. A. LOFLIN.

LOFLIN—We have been called again to weep over a little white casket. On Oct. 13, 1895, little THOMAS was born, and after nine months patient suffering (for he was sick a great deal) God took him to live with Jesus and his little sister, Bon Illeo, who died eleven years ago These two little stars shine brightly in the kingdom of God, and one day we hope to meet them, with all of our loved ones, around the great family altar of God in heaven W A. LOFLIN.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The herbage of the field was nipped off close, and the shepherd wanted to get his sheep up to a higher place, where there was good pasture. The way led over a steep bluff, however, and the poor things did not want to go over it. Then the shepherd seized a lamb and carried it in his arms up the nipped way to the higher ground. The little thing ran to the edge and looked down, bleating and calling for the older sheep. In a few moments the mother had gone up, and all the flock had followed her.

We are like sheep, and are slow to follow our Shepherd up the steep way towards the heavenly life. Then the Shepherd has to use loving urgency. Sometimes he takes a child to heaven to lead thither the mother or the father. Or he takes away a man's riches to save the man's soul. Or he lays us on a sick bed and shuts us away in the darkness to compel us to think of spiritual things. Or he sends trouble in some form to get us to walk in holy paths. If we can be saved in no other way, it is better that we lose out of our life all the flowers and the sunshine, and walk amid thorns and in darkness, reaching home at last. —J R Miller, D D.

We guarantee
Heiskell's Ointment
to quickly and permanently cure Eczema, Scald-Head, Barber's Itch or Tetter without the aid of internal medicine.
50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., PHILADELPHIA.

School Medals — AND — Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER
IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz.
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT
FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, the softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Halls and Public Buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. I. C. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., New York.

BELLS
Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
E. W. VANDUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Ingot Copper and E India Tin. CHURCH BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Rotary Tower and Friction Rollers. Write for Catalogue and Special Offer. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower
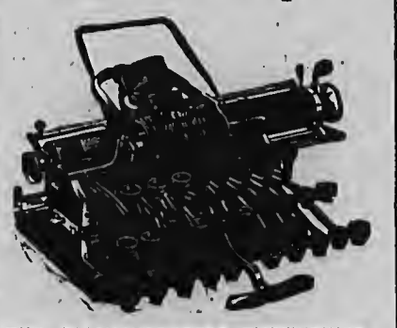
will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.
Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Washington College
FOR YOUNG LADIES.
Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings in a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city
F. MENEFEE, President.
J. ROBERT GOULD, Sec'y.
Washington, D. C.

Matchless Mineral Water
FOR SALE BY
WM. B. HINES,
AT SUMMIT, MISS.
Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

F. R. Hardon,
Millinery,
Old No. 29 Chartres Street—Now 139.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.
PRICE, $33.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.
Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.
H. I. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
807 Common Street, (Room 43), New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST
Photographs
—GO TO—
-SIMON'S,-
929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle
CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,
Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,
TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,
Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Stoves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,
WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,
Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.
J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.
334-336 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good delight to ack knowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes as unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of the Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and delight as to satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have, is a "veritable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended to church circles, also by state officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 403 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate. MRS. LILLIAN FILMAN,
403 W. Hill St, Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES
GADSDEN, ALABAMA.
ON THE HIGHLANDS!
SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers Everything new. Every department of female education taught New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.
A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

Our Machine Offer.

New Improved High-Arm "Arlington B" Self-Threading Sewing Machine.

A recordad certificate of warranty for 10 years accompanies each machine. The "Arlington B" is complete in every detail, combining all modern and late improvements, such as automatic bobbin winder, self-threading shuttle, self-setting needle, upper spring tension, etc.

The "Arlington B" self-threading sewing machine has a large high arm, its mechanical appearance is perfect, its adjustment is absolute, positive take up, convenient foot-rest, with the best style furniture, either oak or walnut; in addition to which each machine is furnished with the best steel combination attachments tree, as follows: One tucker, one foot ruffler, one set of plain hemmers (five different widths up to seven-eighths of an inch), one binder, one shirring plate and one under-braider, packed in a handsome velvet lined case. It is also furnished with one foot hemmer, one screw driver, one wrench, one oil can with oil, one gauge, one package of needles, six bobbins and one instruction book.

THE HEAD is strong and substantial; has large space under the arm for handling bulky goods, is finely japanned, and protected by a hard finish. Has so few bearings and friction points that it is easily oiled and kept clean.

NEEDLE BAR is round, with adjustable bearings polished and fitted, insuring great wear, and can run a long time without oiling. It has a slack dip motion, relieving the strain upon the thread when the shuttle is passing through the loop. Using the adjustable take-up, controlling the threads perfectly on all grades of work.

IMPROVED AUTOMATIC BOBBIN WINDER which is so positive and reliable in its action that an imperfectly wound bobbin is an impossibility. So simple that a child can easily operate it. This valuable attachment renders possible a perfect control of shuttle tension.

SELF-THREADING—THE "ARLINGTON B" is self-threading, requiring no change from light to heavy work. Uses double thread, and makes the lock stitch.

THE NEEDLE is the same as used on the New Home machine, and is self-setting both as to height and position with reference to shuttle, with short blade and long shank, insuring great strength; finely polished.

SELF-THREADING SHUTTLE—A perfect steel cylinder shuttle with delicate and perfect tension, open at one end to allow the bobbin to be inserted without displacing any of the parts; runs loose in the shell without spring centre or point bearings, thus insuring an even tension; can be threaded in the dark, and easily understood.

LOCK PULLEY for winding the bobbin without running the machine requires no change or adjustment, nor is it necessary to remove the work from the machine.

PARTS SUBJECT TO WEAR are made of the finest steel, case hardened, light and noiseless, and are very durable.

OUR OFFER.

To anyone, not now a subscriber to this paper, who will send us $20 50, we will send the machine and the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE one year. To old subscribers we make the following offer: Pay your subscription to January, '98, and send us $18.50 additional, and we will send you the machine.

We allow purchaser to test the machine for ten days. If at the end of ten days you are not satisfied, you have only to drop us a postal card, and your money will be refunded.

TO AGENTS:

We will send this machine free to any preacher or other person who will send us twenty new subscribers with the cash—$40.

Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp Street, New Orleans, La.

N. B.—We pay the freight.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING HELPS TO THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

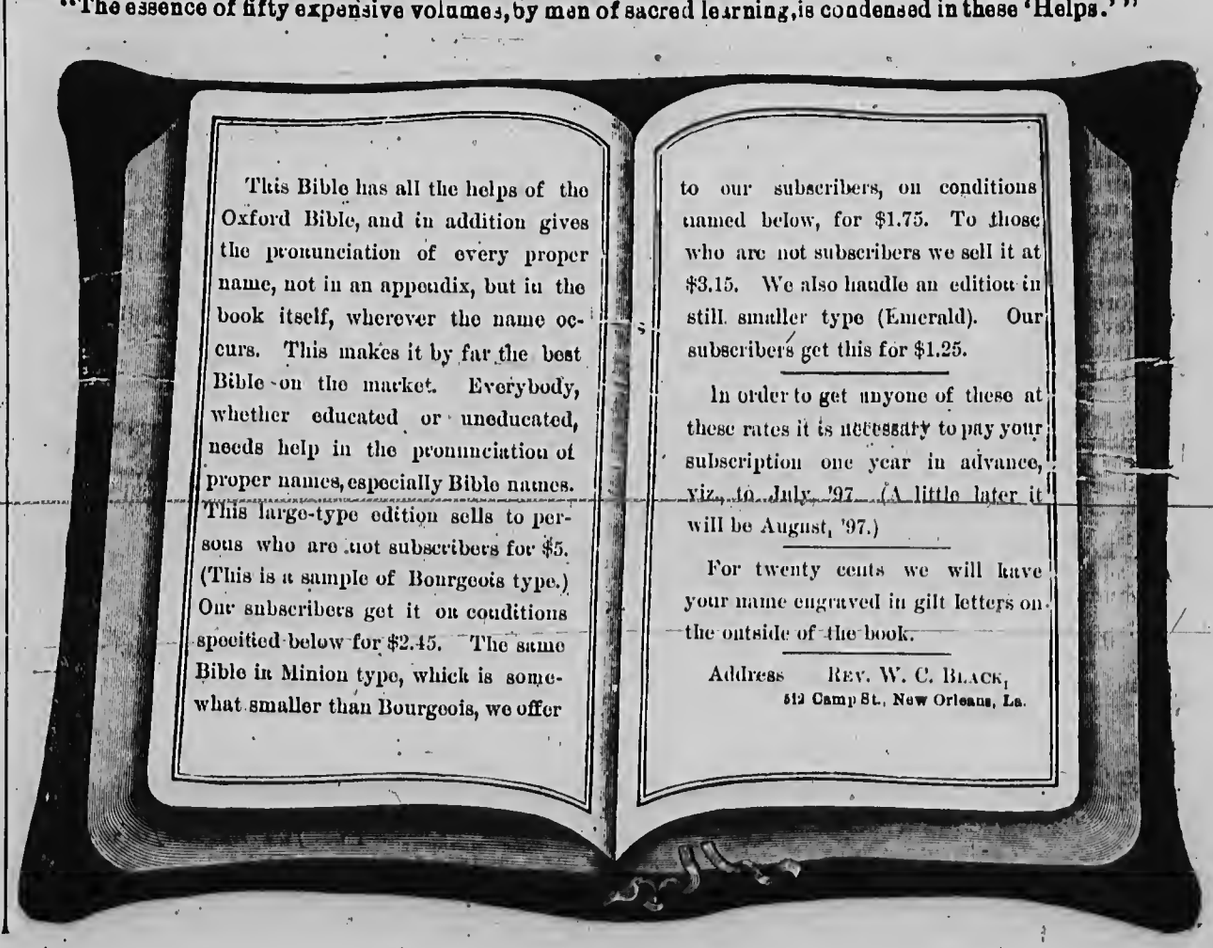
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



This Bible has all the helps of the Oxford Bible, and in addition gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself, wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names. This large-type edition sells to persons who are not subscribers for $5. (This is a sample of Bourgeois type.) Our subscribers get it on conditions specified below for $2.45. The same Bible in Minion type, which is somewhat smaller than Bourgeois, we offer to our subscribers, on conditions named below, for $1.75. To those who are not subscribers we sell it at $3.15. We also handle an edition in still smaller type (Emerald). Our subscribers get this for $1.25.
In order to get anyone of these at these rates it is necessary to pay your subscription one year in advance, viz., to July, '97. (A little later it will be August, '97.)
For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.
Address REV. W. C. BLACK,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

Hon. Wm. E. Russell, ex-governor of Massachusetts, died in a Caradian fishing camp on July 16. Heart disease the probable cause of death.

The eight principal railroads running out of New York handled 75,000 bicycles belonging to out going passengers during the first two weeks of this month.

Malvern, Ark., was almost destroyed by fire on July 18. Only one business house in the city left standing. The loss amounts to about $400,000. There was but little insurance.

The American Bible Society issued 1,750,283 copies of the Scriptures during the year ending March 31. The society has issued during the eighty years that it has been in existence 61,705,841 copies.

Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, Democratic nominee for President, has received a letter from Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado, who bolted the Republican National Convention, assuring him of his support.

Mr. Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President, met with a continuous ovation in his journey through Missouri last week. The people gathered at every station to greet him. A rousing demonstration was made in his honor at Jefferson City.

The silver men do not find much encouragement in the fact that while they are striving to place the United States on a silver basis the Central and South American republics are adopting the gold standard as fast as they can. Colombia will follow the example of Chili, and now Costa Rica is to join the gold standard countries.

Two hundred and sixty-three thousand seven hundred and nine immigrants landed at the port of New York during the fiscal year ending June 30. Of this number 66,445 came from Italy, of whom 30,728 were classed as illiterates. The total sum brought to this country by the immigrants was $3,534,999. The immigrants who failed to meet the requirements of the law numbered 2,624, and were accordingly deported.

FOREIGN.

The Indian government has resolved to establish a bacteriological laboratory at Agra and a chemical laboratory at Calcutta. It is expected that 1,900 municipalities will appoint trained men for sanitary work.

The Greek government has decided to send re-enforcements of troops to the Græco-Turkish frontier, owing to the strained relations between Greece and Turkey, immediately growing out of the Cretan insurrection.

The Marquis of Salisbury has laid before the House of Lords papers on the subject of arbitration. His lordship said that the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain were not complete, but they are advancing amicably.

Yellow fever has become epidemic in Cuba, and that terrible scourge which the rebels counted on to aid them, by decimating their unacclimated foes, has also attacked the insurgent ranks, striking down foreigners enlisted among the patriots, and also attacking Cubans who have been out of the country for a protracted period. Both contending forces are badly crippled by the fever, which promises now to be quite as demoralizing to the patriots as to their oppressors.

IT IS A FACT that Hood's Sarsaparilla, the One True Blood Purifier, has proved, over and over again, that it has power to cure, even when other medicines fail to do any good.

HOOD'S PILLS are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

If trouble drive you to prayer, prayer will drive away trouble.—Melanchthon.

Drink HIRES Rootbeer when you're hot; when you're thirsty; when callers come. At any and all times drink HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 5c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at $1 per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

HOLLY SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Epworth College

(Formerly M'ALONE)

is located in Holly Springs, which is situated at the intersection of the Illinois Central and Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroads, into which ten passenger trains come and go every day.

Holly Springs is the highest point in the State of Mississippi, according to the geological survey, and the highest point on the railroad between New Orleans and Chicago; hence it is noted for its healthfulness. The success of the college for the last five years has been unprecedented under the circumstances. We expect still greater success under my successors, A. A. STEEL and REV. R. M. STAFFORD, who will make such improvements as time and experience may suggest. I shall remain in the college as business manager until December, and will take great pleasure in giving to the patrons of the college any information they may desire.

I call special attention to our very reasonable terms.

TERMS PER MONTH.

Board, fuel, lights and laundry	$11 00
Tuition in Collegiate department	5 00
Tuition in Academic department	4 00

EXTRA EXPENSES.

French, German or Greek (each)	1 50
Instrumental music	4 00
Voice culture (private lessons)	4 00
No charge for chorus training or use of piano.
Crayon, pastel, water colors and oil	4 00
Elocution (private lessons)	4 00
Elocution in class	1 00
Diploma (graduation fee)	5 00
Violin, mandolin, guitar (each)	4 00

Payments must be made quarterly in advance.

For preachers' daughters everything will be divided by two.

Catalogue furnished on application.

J. W. HONEYCUTT, Business Manager.

Holly Springs, Miss., July 15, 1896.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.,

Is prepared for practical thorough work in educating girls. A corps of efficient teachers is in charge, and the curriculum is fully equal to that of any first-class college. Cultured community. Health unsurpassed. Terms to suit the times. For further particulars, address

MRS. M. H. MECK, Business Manager.

SILLIMAN INSTITUTE

For Young Ladies,

CLINTON, LA.

If you are interested, let us send you a handsome illustrated catalogue to prove that in standard of scholarship, general equipment, healthfulness, beauty of location and buildings, home comforts, and refining influences this college ranks with the VERY BEST and, advantages considered, with the cheapest in the South. Address

GEO. A. RAMSEY, M. A., President.

Millwood Female Institute,

NEAR JACKSON, LA.

A SCHOOL OF HIGH GRADE.

Beautiful location, and health record unsurpassed. The fall session will begin Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1896. Offers superior advantages to young ladies who desire thorough equipment for life-work. Faculty complete and competent. Some of the higher branches will be taught by members of the faculty of Centenary College. For particulars, as to board tuition, etc., address

MISS A. M. C. PEARCE, Principal.

Jackson, La.

AS AN EDUCATOR

CENTENARY COLLEGE has done as much for Louisiana as any school in the State. It has done more for the church than any school in the Southwest. The good work is still going on, and getting better all the time. The next session begins Sept. —. Send for catalogue and see our easy terms.

REV. C. W. CARTER, Pres.

Jackson, La.

Edward McGehee College for Girls

Has just been rebuilt in latest modern style, in the midst of one of the most beautiful and healthful parks on earth.

COURSE OF STUDY equal to the best.

BOARD AND TUITION to suit the times.

FACULTY all true and tried successful specialists.

Fall session opens Sept. 2, 1896.

Before placing your girls, write

J. A. MONROE, A. M., Pres't,

Woodville, Miss.

DROPSY TREATED FREE. Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases called hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. 10 Days Treatment Free by mail. DRS. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

MARRIAGES.

STOKES—STEELE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Amos Steele, July 2, 1896, by Rev. J. N. Tucker, Mr. Lamar L. Stokes to Miss Maggie Steele, both of Amite county, Miss.

CRABTREE—RUSHTON.—At the Methodist parsonage in Homer, La., July 7, 1896, by Rev. P. A. Johnston, Mr. J. L. Crabtree to Miss Izora Rushton, all of Arkansas.

Forty-two tenements, capable of housing 1,700 persons, were condemned by the New York Board of Health the other day.

Wyatt's Business Colleges,

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

The old order of Dunkards, at its recent session, decided against the bicycle, and also against gold fillings for the teeth, on the ground that they are an adornment, and must be eschewed.—Baltimore Advocate.

THE

WALL AND MOONEY

School for Boys,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

Discipline rigid, expenses reasonable. instruction thorough.

CHANCELLOR J. H. KIRKLAND, of Vanderbilt University, says:

"The academy of Messrs. Wall and Mooney is one of the very best training-schools, so far as my knowledge extends, within the Southern States."

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt and other leading Universities without examination. Engage a place beforehand.

For catalogue address

W. D. MOONEY.

Mention this paper.

Southern Seminary and Conservatory of Music

BOWLING GREEN, VA.

1867-1896.

REV. E. H. ROWE, President. (Late Pres't Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.)

PROF. J. B. GRASS, Director of Music. (Graduate of Conservatory of Munich, Bavaria, and Fellow Royal Society of England.)

DEPARTMENTS: Language and Literature, (Besides Ancient and Modern Languages, etc., rare advantages in English under Specialist in English from Vassar.) Science—Art—Music—Elocution and Business. SOCIAL CULTURE: Through systematic efforts and association of officers and teachers with students. Distinguishing feature of this institution. LOCATION: Northern Virginia near Washington, D.C., offering rare advantages to young ladies from lower Southern States. (See Prospectus.) HEALTHFUL; picturesque; accessible. No change of cars from Atlanta, Ga. Terms reasonable. Special rates to ministers and to teachers. Session opens Sept. 9. Write for prospectus and further information.

Camp Meetings.

The Bethel Camp Meeting will meet Aug. 13-23. Rev. W. M. McIntosh will be with us, as well as others. All ministers cordially invited and conveyed to camp ground free of charge. Leave the Y. and M. V. R. R. at Whittaker's station.

H. F. LEWIS, Sec'y.

The Topisaw Camp Meeting, 0½ miles east of Summit, will begin Saturday before second Sunday in August, and continue through the third Sunday. Ministers of the gospel invited to come and help us. They will be met with conveyance at McComb City free of charge. Unite with us in praying for a great camp meeting.

W. G. BACKUS, P. C.

Summit, Miss.

The St. Tammany Camp Meeting, located 0¾ miles from Covington, La., will begin Sept. 17, to continue eight or ten days. Hacks will run between Covington and the camp ground. There will be a public tent for the accommodation of those who come prepared to defray their own expenses. All ministers will be provided for. No gate fee will be charged. The one aim in view is the salvation of precious souls.

Let preachers and people come praying and believing.

W. A. CLARKE, P. C.

JNO. T. SAWYER, P. E.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

COVERED WITH HUMOR

When I was thirteen years old I began to have sore eyes and ears, and from my ears a humor spread. I doctored with five different skilful doctors, but they did me no good. My disease was Eczema. By this time it had gone all over my head, face, and body. Nobody thought I would live, and would not have but for CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used four boxes of CUTICURA, five cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. My hair all came out at that time, but now it is so thick I can hardly comb it. I am sixteen years old, weigh 136 pounds, and am perfectly well.

Miss IREAN GRANDEL, Clayton, N. Y.

SPEEDY CURE TREATMENT.—Warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle applications of CUTICURA (ointment), and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor cures.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, 50c. and $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.

"How to Cure Every Skin Humor," mailed free.

ROANOKE COLLEGE

SALEM, VA.

Course for Degrees, with Electives; high standard. Also Com'l and Prep'y Courses. Library 3,000 volumes, working laboratory; good morals and discipline; six Churches; no bar-rooms; Special terms to candidates for ministry and sons of ministers. Liberal patronage from many States and several foreign countries. Healthful mountain location. Terms moderate expenses. 44th year begins Sept. 23. Catalogue, with views, free. JULIUS D. DREHER, Pres.

BELLS

all kinds, big and little—for Churches and School, for Factory and Farm. AMERICAN BELL FOUNDRY CO., NORTHVILLE, MICH.

Catalogue FREE.

Belhaven College for Young Ladies,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Celebrated for its high standard of scholarship. Teachers progressive and enthusiastic. A thorough musical education after the method of the foremost Conservatories. Elocution and Art taught as specialties. Best home influences. Careful physical training. Beautiful campus of twelve acres. Elegant Buildings with steam heating apparatus, Electric Lights and Hot and Cold Baths. Perfect sanitary arrangements. Third session begins September 16. Send for handsomely illustrated catalogue.

L. T. FITZHUGH, A. M., President.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

STATE METHODIST INSTITUTION.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Send for Catalogue.

T. S. SLIGH, President.

1846. THE ACADEMY 1896.

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. Number of students limited. Elegant rooms, elegantly furnished. Hot and cold water baths. Welsbach gas lights. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced teachers from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals, health and social advantages. Rates reasonable. FREE TUITION in Collegiate Courses to relatives ministers' daughters. Next session begins Sept. 1. Half the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., PRINCIPAL.

East Mississippi Female College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for Fifteen Years.

Renovated, improvements added, Director of Music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best institutions in the South.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, ART AND ELOCUTION.

RATES LOW.

One Scholarship of Free Tuition

given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder

For further information and handsome new Catalogue, address

J. W. Beeson, President.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 31. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2084

Rev. W. G. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

HOW GRACIOUS AND HOW WISE!

BY PHILIP DODDRIDGE.

How gracious and how wise
Is our chastising God!
And oh, how rich the blessings are
Which blossom from his rod!

He lifts it up on high
With pity in his heart,
That every stroke his children feel
May grace and peace impart.

Instructed thus, they bow
And own his sovereign sway;
They turn their erring footsteps
To his forsaken way.

Communications.

The Influence of Methodism.

The Methodist Church bears within the folds of its communion the heart and hopes of this South-land. Preaching a pure gospel, her ministers go through the length and breadth of the land as flames of fire. A martial spirit animates the church, and with dauntless courage she challenges the hosts of sin to combat. The bugle notes of her advancing legions wake the echoes of the most distant climes, and her mighty armies march under that banner against which the gates of hell shall not prevail. Her gallant knights wear emblazoned on their shields the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valley. The church in all her beauty, in all the pomp and splendor of her panoplied array, goes forth as the bride to meet the bridegroom. Under her high commission she is the great factor in evolving from the stupendous struggle a glorified humanity. Bright o'er the hills dawns the morning star which ushers in the day of her victory; the night of her sorrow has past; the day-dawn of her triumph appeareth. The heart of her first great preacher was fired and burned with a desire for a deeper spirituality, and he touched the world at many points.

The Methodist Church, the best exponent, as we believe, of the everlasting gospel, is at the same time best suited to the genius of our people. The "mint, cummin, and anise," the dry technicalities of a dead formalism, find in the Methodist Church no sure resting-place. She is broad, deep, and ever-flowing. To a generous, free-hearted and noble people she offers a generous, free and soul-warming religion. Believing that the essential principles of the gospel are so plain that he that runneth may read, and that a wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein, she discards all superstitious observances of men and everything that would keep out the light of the Sun of Righteousness.

Some churches teach their communicants to lean on the priest, and take religion, as it were, second hand. Our church teaches its people to rest their weary heads on the bosom of the Savior, and drink in the words of life from his holy and divine lips. Our people are in the possession of a land from which they drove the fierce savage. They won and hold it by the valor of their arms and their military achievements. So our church teaches its people that the Christian life is a warfare against the powers of sin; that each man must work out his salvation with fear and trembling under the blessing and mercy of God; that none are predestinated to be saved; that, falling, they must rise again and pursue the holy way; that he who falleth, and remaineth in sin, will be lost.

The Savior, whilst on earth, frequently animadverted on the literalism, the narrowness, and "the losing of the spirit in the letter" of the Jewish Church; so our church, following its Divine Master, seeks to condemn the giving of undue importance to formalities, but calls aloud for the spirit in pentecostal showers. Methodism develops the highest and best type of man or woman. The true Methodist is pious, without cant. His soul overflowing with love to God and man beams from his face, glows in his eye, and mellows his voice. His religion is a part and parcel of the man, and sanctifies all the faculties and powers of both soul and body. From the continued employment of his mind with ennobling thoughts, everything low, small or mean has been eradicated. Anything that constantly affects the nervous system soon forms a habit. The mind is the great centre of the nervous system, or rather the brain is the centre of the nervous system. The mind is only the effect and result of the brain in action. The brain secretes thought as the liver secretes bile, and the manifestation of brain-action is called mind; so it is that the constant living of a noble and pious life becomes a habit from long indulgence, and the man stands among his fellows exalted; an influence goes out from him not only to his family, but is felt among his friends and acquaintances. A few such men in a neighborhood give it the character of a good community, a good neighborhood; and when one of these die, a mighty man, it is said, has fallen from the walls of Zion.

What need has such a man for cant? It would seem out of place; it would not comport with the man or his life. Observe this man at his home. His wife watches for his coming, and marks his first footfall. She adorns herself and hastes to meet him, and looks up with loving eyes into his noble countenance. She has crowned him as her king; on his strong arm she leans for protection. His love to her is more precious than rubies; than the fairest gem Golconda's mines can boast. His wish is to her a law. To please him she spares no toil or pain, and his words of commendation and approval she cherishes in her heart. To be the wife of such a man is to be honored among women. The children of this family are like olive branches around his table. They bear the impress of their noble sire. With pride they behold their father respected and honored among men. Night and morning, when assembled around the family hearth, they hear his benevolent voice as he leads his family in prayer and invokes the blessing of Almighty God on his family, his church, and his country. On the Sabbath these children attend their father to the Sabbath-school, and there they see him leading the children of his friends and neighbors in ways of righteousness. Afterwards they behold him in the great congregation raising his voice in songs of praise to a merciful God, or responding with hearty amens as the minister prays for the people. In the business meetings of the church their father they again see, directing the policy of the church, or managing her secular concerns as a wise steward, who looketh for the coming of his Lord. In after years we will find coming from the bosom of these pious Methodist families the men who are to direct the affairs of State, to guide the helm of government, and wield the scepter of authority; and to such families will the church look for the pillars which are to support her mighty edifice.

The neighbors of this good Methodist bless him. By his wise counsel they are guided in matters of doubt and difficulty; in his generosity and bounty they find help and pecuniary assistance, and his friendship they esteem among their most valued possessions. This man has no hobbies. It is not of the genius of Methodism to produce fanatics. When the Methodist Church discovers a sore evil abroad in the land—such as the sale of intoxicating liquors—she does not cast around to see what other churches propose to do in the matter, but, like a Hercules, she at once grapples with the monster, and when the sharp conflict is ended, it is ended, and the church seeks other enemies of its Christ. A narrow church, giving great prominence to an exclusive sectarianism, will produce narrowness and a lack of broad philanthropy in its membership, and such churches are the hot-beds of religious intolerance and persecution should they become dominant and controlling in the State. Methodism, on the other hand, is, I believe, as broad as the gospel and as free as the gospel. She "invites all alike to become fellow-citizens with the saints and of the household of God."

May our grand old church move on in her highway of blessing and benefit to mankind! May she advance and ever advance until her spires and minarets may gleam and glisten in the light of effulgent glory! May the church militant stand in the shock of battle, armed with the shield of faith, the helmet of salvation, and all the panoply of God, until the great Captain shall himself descend, and, crowning her with the immortal wreath and chaplet of victory, shall say unto her: "You have fought a good fight; you have kept the faith," etc. "Esto perpetua."

LAYMAN OR SEXTUS.

My Serenader.

On an old dead peach tree, gnarled and ugly, that stands at my southern window, grows a honeysuckle vine. In its younger days the old tree bent low with luscious fruit, whose soft cheeks were mantled with rosy blushes by the kisses of the sun; but now the sap is dried, the life is gone, and not a single pink blossom responds to the tenderest caresses of Spring. "Then cut it down," you say. "Why cumbereth it the ground?" Not so, not so. Would you blot out the memory of the strong and useful human life upon which posterity climbs and clings because that posterity bears not fruit, but flowers? Verily, humanity needeth both the flowers and the fruit; and so I'll cherish my old tree, though its day of fruit has gone, for it supports this clinging vine that is always filled with flowers. To me it is now more beautiful than ever, and tells a sweeter story. It comes like a visitor from the land where dwells the breath of the morning, the midnight silence of the forest, and the fading light of evening; from the encircling horizon of the emotions, and speaks to the heart in its own language. The woodbine's tangled tendrils twine themselves about the naked trunk and weave for it a dark green garment, and then, wrapping every branch and twig in their verdant meshes, they hang a skirt of yellow-tinged crimson bugles over the whole. Here the bees, butterflies and humming-birds congregate from far and near to sip the nectured sweets, and, hovering round, they seem listening to dulcet music played by fairy lips upon the tiny flower-horns. In the topmost fork of the tree, and right in the center of this red-roofed, leafy bower, a pair of mocking birds have built their nest and make their home. This is the home of my serenader, and he seems never to leave it, for even in the dead of Winter, when the snow crystals broider the leaves, his song flows forth, sweet and warm, in strange and weird contrast with the world. I have rarely heard him singing in the day, but oft at night he's waked me, and I've listened to his lay. During the nights of early Spring, when the moon looked down upon a silver-frosted world, the work of her own airy fingers, he would sing as if he wished to compensate her in music for the gift of her mellow radiance. Oh, what a song! What sympathy! what compass! what abandon, sweetness, pathos, love, joy, ecstasy! Who can describe it? When you imprison a dancing sunbeam then you may try to fetter with language a mocking bird's song. . . . In June our baby was taken sick. For weeks we nursed the little sufferer; watched and waited, hoped and feared, till at last all hope was gone, and we watched and waited for the dread messenger. We watched the dimples leave his hands and the roses leave his cheeks. We watched his tender little body grow poor and thin. We watched him grow weaker and weaker, till at last death came and God took him. One night before he died, when every breath was a feeble moan, that went like a dagger-thrust into my heart, I was startled by a rippling stream of music that burst from the throat of my songster, and poured its tiny waves of golden melody out upon the atmosphere. At first I was shocked and hurt at what seemed the cruel mockery. Singing merrily, when my boy was struggling in the agony of death; when my poor heart was filled with unspeakable anguish! Oh, how bitter! I thought of the careless world that would laugh and dance and sing while I wept. But, then, my heart grew softer when I remembered that the world, too, has its sorrow; that, laughing to-day, it, too, would weep to-morrow; that man is but a "pendulum 'twixt a smile and a tear;" that always there is bitter mingling with the sweet, sorrow with the joy, and that the gushing bird-song, blending with the moans of my dying child, but typified and marked the compass of universal human life; and, thinking thus, all the bitterness left my heart, and in its place came sympathy—sympathy for all the sorrowing world that now seemed so close to me. Viewing all the sorrow and heartache, sickness and dying, I felt that man needs heaven to stimulate and comfort here as well as for a home hereafter; and I thanked God that I could look across the storm-drenched plain of the present to the gleaming jasper walls of the eternal city. Seen from the depth of the death-shadowed valley, how glorious is the New Jerusalem! The sorrow of existence unites man in a brotherhood of sympathy, emphasizes his need of heaven, and, like the darkness of night, while hiding the beauty of earth, it reveals the glory of the skies. God sent the bird with a purpose that night, and from him this lesson I learned.

HERMAN W. KNICKERBOCKER.

In the Living Present.

Judge Sage, of Cincinnati, Ohio, United States District Court, upon motion of counsel to refuse the testimony of two clergymen in a famous gambling suit, refused said motion and remarked that ministers of the gospel did not, on account of their vocation, cease to be citizens. Though sumptuary laws would not reform society, preachers have a perfect right to see to the enforcement of laws against gambling, Sabbath desecration and lotteries.

Said the late Baptist divine, Dr. Gordon, that proper preparation for the pulpit should be more subjective than objective. Very wise. Some preachers are not more than gas pipes, transmitting means for illumination. A preacher should not only be a lighthouse, but also a light. Set the preacher on fire, and soon, according to the adage, "like priest, like people," the congregation will be spiritually ablaze.

Canon Farrar believes that soon Christianity would be universally adopted. Everywhere the missionaries meet with unprecedented success. Denies that the missionary enterprises of the churches caused corresponding deterioration at home. Infidelity is not increasing. Real agnostics not numerous. We are deceived as to their number because of their incessant clamor.

The Hospital laments that most of the teachers of bicycle riding are coarsely ignorant. None but such as are thoroughly familiar with physiology are competent for that position. Cycling is injurious to persons of incipient heart disease. While cycling injures carriage manufactories and horse trade, it will benefit physicians and druggists.

The Daily Standard, of Boston, the only daily paper of the American Protective Association, has ceased to be unfurled. It has lived only eighteen months. Creditors, receiving only twenty per cent. on their investment, will long feel "the long-felt want."

The Epworth League is of vast benefit to Methodism. It retains our progeny for the church, and frequently revives fossilized churches. But the preacher must not fail to be the power behind the throne of the president. To surrender the affairs of the church to the League is dangerous. Says the man of God: "Woe unto thee, O land, when thy king is a child."

Many congregations seem to be afraid that their preacher becomes unduly opulent, a bloated bond holder, as it were. Hence their infallible means of prevention. Preacher's salary with them is a sacrilegious term. Motives of pity are their sole impellant. Keep the preacher from starving. Extend charity. But, on the other hand, do preachers properly organize their congregations and instruct them lovingly, yet firmly, as to their obligations? Too many preachers assume the attitude of beggars. A preacher, but, all the same, a man. ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

North Mississippi Conference Notes.

This writer is enjoying a few days' rest at home after four weeks of incessant travel and toil. During that time he attended District Conferences at Aberdeen and Ripley, and the Woman's Missionary Conference at Tupelo; visited twelve churches, preached nine sermons, delivered four Sunday-school addresses, and distributed not a few good books and papers. Sunday-school mass meetings were held at Shiloh, Saltillo circuit, and at Jonesboro, which occasions, we trust, were promotive of good.

Wherever he went the right of way was accorded to the colporter, and he had the hearty co-operation of the brethren of the ministry. With such fellow-laborers as Thames, Kendall, Tucker, Wyatt, etc., to introduce and commend our colportage work to their people, we always have reason to expect success.

The District Conferences have all been held, and I have been able to attend all but three, and would, doubtless, have met with them had they not been held at the same time with others. Reports have shown the various lines of church work to be well up, and the outlook for the future of the year is encouraging.

We are anticipating great results during the protracted meeting season which is now at hand. I hope to be in several of these meetings to render service and to enjoy "times of refreshing from the presence of the Lord."

We deeply sympathize with Rev. J. P. Moore, preacher in charge of Okolona circuit, in the death of his wife, which occurred recently. May the consolations of divine grace abound to the bereft husband and little daughter!

Rev. L. M. Broyles is yet prostrate with his broken leg, but we hope he will soon be able to resume his work.

Let us have orders rapidly for the church hymn book to be used in the protracted meetings. There is nothing so good with us for these occasions. G. W. BACHMAN.

Kosciusko, Miss., July 23, 1896.

The Second Mississippi State Epworth League Conference

Was held at Crystal Springs, July 24-26. About 75 delegates were present, and 40 of these came from North Mississippi, and 20 of the 40 came from the Grenada district. There were 22 preachers present—11 from the bounds of each Conference. From Mississippi: Chambers, Burton, Bailey, Watkins, Van Hook, Breland, Mounger, Cooper, Nicholson, Moore, Lewis (B. F.). From North Mississippi: Randolph, Standifer, Clifford, Dorman, Augustus, Park, Mimms, Shipman, Patterson, Lee, and Lewis. While some of the big fellows whom the committee selected to make addresses were absent, others were put in their places. The papers of Misses Laura Lipscomb, Elenor Ormond and Annie Williams were very fine. The love-feast was a season of great spiritual power. Three things operated against us. First, the League Conference was tacked on to the Chautauqua, which, we believe, was unwise. Second, the Inter-State League Conference at Seashore Camp Ground. Why our brethren should have arranged for their Conference at the same time of the State Conference is strange. Third, the indifference of some of our preachers.

The next Conference at Water Valley. T. W. LEWIS.

Selections.

The Church Unity Business.

Certain miscarrying schemes in reference to church unity have afforded us some reflections recently. In negotiations between our Presbyterian committee and the bench of Episcopal Bishops, we were given distinctly to understand as preliminary, and a postulate to be assumed at the outset, that Presbyterians, as not being in the "historic episcopate," have no ministry that can be formally, or even courteously, recognized. But, then, what develops? Why, some of the Episcopal lights of the Church of England, from whence has come the consecrating digital touch which has preserved the true episcopate for our American Bishops, sound the Pope of Rome on the matter of recognition of the "orders" in the interest of church unity. But now the Pope speaks in an "encyclical," the purport of which is, that all priestly and episcopal orders which are not in line from Peter alone (such as the Anglican and American episcopate) are invalid. The medicine our Episcopal brethren administered to us is put to their own mouths, and they find themselves classed as no more "historic" nor truly "episcopate," Rome, being judge, than are the rest of us, but are simply one of the unauthorized "sects," and with only "uncovenanted mercies" in which to trust. Very speedily has come the application of the Word, "What measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again."

But yet further in this chain of ecclesiastical judgments. The Vatican itself has in turn experienced something of that same kind of treatment which it has long so arrogantly measured out to others, for the Pope, too, dreams of church unity—the unity which consists in all churches submitting themselves to his sway, and acknowledging the occupant of the papal chair as the true successor of St. Peter and the one ruler of Christendom. But these sentiments embodied in his encyclical letter the Greek Church has replied to in the person of its Patriarch at Constantinople. And his letter denies the lordly claims of Rome, refuses to make any conciliatory or compromising statements, and declares that the Pope must first return to the Eastern Church if he wants union.—Mid-Continent.

A Proof of Inspiration.

BY H. L. HASTINGS.

We have proof of the inspiration and truth and power of the Bible within the circle of our own acquaintances. We know what it can do; we know what it has done. We see men who can tell us of the changes that have been wrought by it in them. Here is a man who says: "Once I was an outcast, a drunkard, a criminal, sunk in sin and wretchedness, without God and without hope. My parents were disgraced; my wife's pale cheeks and tearful eyes reproached me; my home was the abode of poverty and misery and squalor, till I read that Book." And he will tell you that since that time there is peace in his dwelling, plenty in his store, and food and raiment and comfort and delight in his home. Now, if our skeptical friends have any book which will work like miracles, let them produce it. We want a copy of it at once. We want to circulate it far and wide. An eloquent infidel is reported to have said in an address, "I could make a better book than the Bible;" and a woman spoke out in the meeting and said, "You had better do it, Colonel; there is money in it!" When that better book comes, we shall be glad to see it, but meanwhile we will hold fast to the one we have.

SUNRISE ON THE HILLS

BY HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

Was the hills when heaven's wide arch
Was glorious with the sun's returning march.
And woods were brightened, and soft gales
Went forth to kiss the sun-clad vales.
The clouds were far beneath me; bathed in light,
They gathered midway round the wooded height.
And, in their fading glory, shone
Like hosts in battle overthrown,
As many a pinnacle, with shifting glance,
Through the gray mist thrust up its shattered lance
And rocking on the cliff was left
The dark pine, bleached, bare and cleft.
The veil of cloud was lifted, and below
Glowed the rich valley, and the river's flow
Was darkened by the forest's shade,
Or glistened in the white cascade;
Where upwar', in the mellow blush of day,
The noisy bittern wheeled his spiral way.
I hear'd the distant waters dash,
I saw the current whirl and flash,
And richly, by the blue lake's silver beach,
The woods were bending with a silent reach.
Then o'er the vale, with gentle swell,
The music of the village bell
Came sweetly to the echo-giving hills;
And the wild horn, whose voice the woodland fills,
Was ringing to the merry shout,
That faint and far through glen rent out,
Where, answering to the sudden shot, thin smoke,
Through thick-leaved branches, from the dingle broke.
If thou art worn and hard beset
With sorrows, that thou wouldst forget,
If thou wouldst read a lesson, that will keep
Thy heart from fainting and thy soul from sleep,
Go to the woods and hills! No tears
Dim the sweet look that Nature wears.
—Exchange.

Correspondence.

Notes by the Wayside.

MAGNOLIA.

We reached the pleasant little town of Magnolia, the county seat of Pike county, Miss., just at sunrise. At nine A. M. we found ourself at the Methodist Church in the midst of a District Conference. Were it not for the cordial welcome received from the brethren, these gatherings might become monotonous. This is the fourth one attended within three weeks, and more to follow.

The attendance upon this Conference was equal to any I have seen this season save one—the Brandon. We regret to have missed Thursday's proceedings, as we also missed the smiling countenance of President Chambers and the excellent missionary address of Secretary Mellen. We have heard it three times, and yet it always interests us.

The hour fixed to hear from Millsaps College was four P. M. Friday, but other matters postponed the time until after five, when many of the members and visitors had quietly taken their leave; so our audience was disappointing. However, we were allowed an extra chance from the pulpit at 8 P. M.

We were pleased to learn that our church is to be moved to a more central portion of the town, and to be replaced by a more modern, sightly building. We are due thanks for a delightful home with Bro. T. B. Robertson in the family of Dr. Wroten, who made us feel entirely at home.

Sunday we had the pleasure of preaching for the good people of McComb City in the absence of Bro. Morse.

A few hours' visit to Millsaps College to-day (20th) enabled us to see the diligence of the workmen on Science Hall. Already the walls are assuming shape, and the first of September will find them ready for the supervising care of Dr. Muckenfuss in putting in the apparatus. We unload and fill up the satchel, and are off again to-morrow morning.

Mr. Editor, I'm taking a thorough course in hustling.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

July 20, 1896

Very impressive silence reigns on Millsaps campus, except for the clink of the mason's trowel as they proceed with the walls of "Science Hall," which is rapidly growing apace. The very name of this new building is suggestive to this writer, whose training and education in the scientific branches consisted of text-work altogether, there being no suitable buildings and apparatus with which to demonstrate. A term in the school-room teaching these branches has thoroughly convinced me of the utter impossibility to make them intelligible to the student of nature and nature's movements. Were our Methodist people posted as to the absolute necessity of this outfit for the better teaching of our boys, we would not find any difficulty in raising the amount asked of them. However, Mr. Editor, we would not appear ungrateful for what has already been done. Within four weeks one-third of the amount has been paid or subscribed, so that we have good prospects of meeting the demand at the time of opening on Sept. 23.

A delightful visit to Hermanville of two days, where we were due to help the pastor, and where we were allowed to talk Millsaps College, proved also remunerative, and secured demands for catalogues. Millsaps ought to get a half dozen boys from that point.

We are next off to work with Bro. Guice among the friends of my childhood.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

July 21, 1896

The Natchez District Conference.

The Natchez District Conference convened at Fayette, Miss., on July 16, 1896. In absence of any Bishop, the presiding elder, Rev. L. S. Jones, called the Conference to order, and, after prayer service, made a short, but telling exhortation to preachers that they pray with faith for a baptism of the Holy Spirit upon the Conference. He quoted many passages from the Scriptures by way of encouragement, and urged all, both preacher and layman, to avail themselves of these promises, and pray for an outpouring of power all over the district.

There were ten preachers and twenty-four delegates present. We also had the pleasure of having Dr. Murrah, J. W. Chambers, A. D. Miller, H. M. Ellis, J. W. Crisler and J. W. McLaurin, visiting brethren, present.

Reports were called for, and all of the works were represented as being in very good condition. Sunday-school work was reported as on the up-grade. About fifty per cent. of our homes have wholesome religious literature in them. The Epworth League work is making fine progress in our towns, but little in the country. Finances were reported as behind, but the pastors all make hopeful reports. There have been some fine revivals in the district, and more are expected.

There were but two local preachers present, and in examining the characters they were passed; but the presiding elder and pasters were instructed to exhort them to more activity, if they expect to continue, to retain their licenses, as the district stands greatly in need of their help in waste places, where the regular pasters can not reach.

The report of Committee on Religious Literature was encouraging. It appears that our people, for the most part, are reading our own literature.

The Committee on Missions made an earnest appeal for our church to look after the places where people have no preaching. Bro. Jones was instructed to make appointments and send preachers and godly laymen of his district into these places to hold revival services and obtain necessary missionary information concerning these places. There were several fine speeches on the subject.

The reports of the other committees were about the same as usual.

The following are the names of the Educational Committee: E. A. Enochs, H. B. McGehee, L. W. Carradine, P. A. Richardson and L. S. Jones.

The Special Committee on District Parsonage recommended that the Conference confirm the action of Bro. Jones and the Board of District Stewards in buying a parsonage at Gloster, and also recommended a plan for paying for the same, which was adopted.

Bro. H. B. McGehee, arbitrator for our district, to meet like arbitrator from Baton Rouge district in regard to settlement of claims to the former Woodville district parsonage, reported no settlement made, and was instructed to proceed to settlement, as the Discipline provides.

Dr. Murrah preached a very fine sermon on Friday night, and addressed Conference on Saturday, at eleven o'clock, in the interest of Millsaps College, after which a collection of $99.90 was taken for same.

Bro. J. W. Chambers represented Whitworth College in his usual energetic style in a short speech.

Bro. M. M. Black, that worthy son of an honored father, made a short, but telling speech in the interest of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Rev. J. W. McLaurin was present, and in a strong speech represented the American Bible Society.

On Sunday, at eleven o'clock, Bro. Jones preached a very fine sermon, which was loudly praised by the good citizens of Fayette.

It would not be fair to fail to mention the old-time Southern hospitality of the citizens of Fayette. Every one attending can recommend Fayette as a fine place to feel at home and enjoy yourself, and Bro. J. G. Galloway as one of the most [illegible] of hosts.

G. M. HULL, Secretary.

Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference.

The second round of Quarterly Conferences has been completed, and we are now in the third quarter. All the preachers of the district are in good health except Bro. L. M. Broyles, who had the misfortune to get one of his limbs broken about one month ago. It is thought that he will not be able for work for some weeks, perhaps months. The prayers of his brethren are asked in his behalf. The records show a good increase of pastors' salary and collections ordered by Conference over this time last year, which is due to the fact that the country is in a better condition than it was last year.

We have had some good revival meetings, and many are expected in the near future.

It is our purpose to pay all the collections, and to this end the pasters are urged to press this matter until every cent is in hand.

The Sunday-school cause is in a healthy condition. Several Epworth Leagues have been organized during the quarter, and bid fair to run well.

Children's Day was observed pretty well in every charge (except one or two) with good results. I think we will report at least one hundred dollars raised by this means.

Brethren, one and all, please do all you can to make a clear record at Conference. As I have said before, if you have any work that I can do aside from my regular duties, please call on me.

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

Sunday-School Conference, Arcadia District.

The Conference convened at Arcadia, July 8, 1896. Rev. J. D. Harper was elected chairman, and R. A. Smith, secretary. The organization perfected, the following program was executed:

"The Sunday-school" was ably discussed by Rev. H. W. May, followed by others. In the discussion various definitions were given of the Sunday-school, as the nursery of the church, in which the scions were kept and trained to be transplanted in the orchard to bear fruit for the Master; as a training-camp, where the young soldiers were drilled and equipped for the royal army; as an internal help of the church, by which she accumulated and prepared her forces for the accomplishing of her work; as the friends of God assembled to study his Word, and as a mint where the metal was prepared and stamped with the image of Christ. Render unto Cæsar his, to Christ his.

"The Sunday-school Teacher" was discussed by Rev. B. H. Sheppard, followed by others, in which the prime idea of entire consecration and sanctification of the teacher for the work in hand was stressed. A thorough preparation must be obtained from on high by seeking it in secret upon the knees. There can be no leading to Christ without this preparation; otherwise, they be blind leading the blind.

"Singing in Sunday-school, and the Songs Used," by J. W. Dawson, who insisted that there is a lack of spirituality in the songs commonly used in our Sunday-schools, which unfitted our children for singing our standard hymns in the public services. Our children should be indoctrinated by singing the fundamental truths lodged in our hymns. Let our superintendents see to the selection of these songs that contain spiritual food; let the parents in their homes set examples and encourage the singing of the songs of Zion, and then our congregations will swell the hallelujahs of our King.

"How to Interest and Hold the Young People," by Rev. A. D. McVoy, who elaborated these: 1. The use of the Bible pictures with the lesson reviews. 2. The use of the blackboard designs to impress the lesson through the eye. 3. By entertainments, picnics, and innocent amusements, given by the teachers of individual classes. 4. By studying and making yourself attractive through the fullness of the divine truth which attracts all men.

"The Superintendent," by J. W. Tooke, who set forth the superintendent as a creature of the Quarterly Conference, wielding the authority delegated to him by the pastor, who is the head of the Sunday-school. The superintendent should be as good a man as the pastor.

"The Pastor's Relation to the Sunday-school" was discussed by Rev. R. Randle, who brought out the thought that the Sunday-school is an internal help of the church, to be dominated by the pastor to aid in bringing souls to Christ, through the superintendent as the under-overseer.

"Doctrines to Be Taught in the Sunday-school," by Rev. J. O. Bennett, who said, without doubt, all the fundamental doctrines of our Methodist Church should be taught in such gradation as would lead the children into Christ. This should be done through the Scripture lessons, catechisms, the songs, and by the examples of the teachers.

The program completed, the president expressed his pleasure in witnessing the interest manifested by those who had been appointed to open the discussions, as well as that by so many participating. He urged a deeper interest in the work, because it is the most vital force of the church to win the world for Christ. The work of a thoroughly prepared teacher in the Sunday-school was hardly second to the work of the pastor.

R. A. SMITH, Sec.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss
Miss. Conf.....Mrs. E. D. Jones.....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison...Shreveport

Mexico as a Mission Field.

(Read before the W. F. M. S. of North Mississippi Conference, in annual meeting at Tupelo.)

In speaking to you this evening of the country of my adoption, and of our sister republic, Mexico, it is my purpose briefly to review with you some of the facts concerning her situation, her customs, her religion, her necessities, and our obligations. Situated, as she is, on the southern border of our great republic, some one has very fittingly said, "like a huge cornucopia, opening towards the United States as if inviting entrance," it behooves us, as Christians, to do all in our power for the enlightenment, civilization, conversion and sanctification of her people.

It is not necessary for anyone to go across the ocean to see a foreign country. Just on the other side of the Rio Grande, in the land of the Aztecs, is a country as unlike the United States as any place beyond the seas. The cities, with their narrow streets, low adobe houses, with flat roofs, and the inevitable patio in the centre; broad, beautiful plazas, where the flowers bloom, the birds sing, and the orange and other tropical trees flourish; the Alameda, with odd-looking seats of stone, rows of trees, neatly trimmed, and extensive grounds; and last, but by no means least, the immense churches and magnificent cathedrals, are all sources of wonder to the foreigner.

The people, too, in their odd costumes, engaged in various kinds of traffic on the streets, in the markets, and on the plazas, are no less objects of interest. The attention of the stranger is arrested by the constant ringing of the church bells, and the great crowds of people attending mass at all hours of the day. The poverty of the country is shown by the multitudes of beggars, men and women and children of all ages and sizes, that throng the streets. The people strolling leisurely along, or lounging and sitting around on the streets, many of them with no other place to call home, give ample demonstration of their careless and indolent habits. Farmers are using the primitive wooden plow common to Egypt centuries ago; the men gathering straw for the brick, to be dried in the sun, and other queer sights are strangely suggestive of ancient Egypt. In passing through the streets one is constantly reminded of scenes in the life of our Savior; when the wells walled up with brick or stone just as they were in Palestine, in which the cities and villages abound, are seen; the picture of Jesus talking with the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well is vividly brought to mind, and we seem to hear the words of our Savior as he said in answer to one of her questions, "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

When we see every day the women coming to the wells with their water-pots of stone, and going away bearing them on their shoulders, we can almost see this first missionary—as she took up her water-pot and went into the city to tell the people of this great man who had told her of the wonderful "well of water springing up into everlasting life."

We think of the warnings of our Savior concerning the last day when we see the people walking, or lounging, on the housetops, as is their custom. The marriage at Cana of Galilee is recalled as the large water-pots, sometimes containing more than two or three firkins apiece, are seen sitting around on the stone floors in nearly every home we visit.

It has been said, "Why send missionaries to Mexico; they have a religion." Yes, they have a religion, and are a very religious people, but know nothing, absolutely nothing, of true worship. If there are any present who have entertained this belief, I am sure they would banish the thought forever if they could see the blind superstition, ignorance and idolatry of this people. Mexico is considered a Catholic country, but it is in reality a half-heathen country. When the people were forced to accept the religion of Spain, many of the Aztec customs were retained, and are still practiced everywhere. The worship of the Virgin Mary is carried to a greater extreme in Mexico than in any other country. Churches bearing her name are seen in every city in the republic. The month of May is devoted to rites and ceremonies in her honor. It is called the month of Mary. Every day during the month children attired in bridal array are carried to church, where flowers are offered by them at the shrine of the Virgin.

In December the week observed by Protestants in the United States to commemorate the birth of our Savior is spent by them largely in doing homage to the Virgin Mary.

The Second and Fourth Commandments are ignored in Mexico. Images of Christ, of Mary, the apostles and heroes of the church, are made in life-size and placed in all of their temples, and they bow down to them and worship them by day and by night.

No attention is paid to the Sabbath day. They are taught to keep the feast days instead of a Sabbath, and very religiously are they observed. Perhaps it would not be placing the estimate too high to say that one hundred and fifty out of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year are kept by them as sacred to the memory of some event in the lives of the Virgin Mary, St. John, St. Andrew, or some other saint in their church, of which the name is legion.

To these people the Bible is a sealed book. Only where it has been distributed by missionaries do they have the privilege of reading its precious truths. Many have already been led to the light of a Savior's love, but countless multitudes are still in darkness, and must so remain, unless the Christian Church in the United States goes to their rescue. Other nations expect the United States to evangelize the people on her own borders, and consequently send their workers to other needy fields. True, many in our own home churches have already been awakened to a sense of their duty concerning this work, and much good has been accomplished, but more workers and larger facilities for carrying forward the work are greatly needed. When our Savior said, "Go and teach all nations," he did not mean go to Japan alone, or China, or South America, or Mexico, or to the South Sea Islands, but he meant literally what the words imply, "Go and teach all nations," and that broad command takes in every people, and kindred, and nation, and tongue in this universe of ours who have not a saving knowledge of the truths contained in the glorious gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

VIOLA BLACKBURN.

(The following postscript to an article in last week's issue was received too late for insertion in that issue.—EDITOR.)

The following details may be of interest, and are surely facts of which we may feel proud:

Pledges taken for another year, $850. Extras: Columbus district, Winona district, Grenada, Tupelo and McGehee's Chapel each support a Bible woman; Corinth and Holly Springs districts and Como station each a scholarship; Greenville, Kosciusko and Aberdeen districts each a bed in hospital—Mrs. Yorke, of Amory, bed in hospital—all amounting to $1,209.

Selections.

Each Member Responsible.

Some people expect the pastor of a church to do all the work, arguing that he receives his salary, and should perform his duties; but they forget that a church has many departments, and that while a great deal of the work must necessarily devolve upon the minister, yet each member has his or her quota, and is held responsible for it in the "Bureau of Earth" up in heaven. Others, again, recognize that they have work to do, and would do it gladly if they only knew how. You can do work in the church first by bringing some friend to the services, or by giving up your seat to a stranger. Perhaps the new visitor is an earnest seeker after God, and a little kindness and courtesy may win him to your church, and thence to the church everlasting. How glorious to think that you were the one to extend the successful courtesy. You may also do work in the church by seeking out strangers, making yourself pleasant to them, saying a few words upon the sermon, and by showing an earnestness to see them again. These are simple things, easy of accomplishment. More anon. Many people are looking for something great to do. Life is made up of little things; it is only once in a while a herculean task presents itself.—Temple Magazine.

Bristling Orthodoxy.

There are other good souls as orthodox as the man of bristles. Sheep feed on grass and produce soft and fleecy wool, while certain other animals feed on products almost akin, and produce bristles. One of these animals invites; the other repels. So one kind of man will win a soul to the right way of thinking, while another will lend the soul to give up all thinking about the right way. Orthodoxy is a staff to guide, not a stick to beat with. It is the hedge that defines the pleasant pastures within, and saves from perilous crag and dangerous swamp. We must bear with the man who bristles, but none the less is it a fact that the heart is greater than the head, because only with the heart man believeth unto righteousness. The man who bristles may be clear and well pointed on all doctrines, he may have them well defined in his head, but if they do not mould and make his heart, he has no more life or vital piety in him than there is in the catechism or the confession itself. These, punctuated as they may be with Scripture texts, are inanimate things, after all, and the man who merely knows his catechism must be placed in the same category.—N. Y. Observer.

Miserable Misunderstandings.

O, my dear friends, you who are letting miserable misunderstandings run on from year to year; you who are keeping wretched quarrels alive because you can not quite make up your mind that now is the day to sacrifice your pride and kill them; you who are passing men sullenly upon the street, not speaking to them out of some silly spite, and yet knowing that it would fill you with shame and remorse if you heard that one of those men were dead to-morrow morning; you are letting your neighbor starve till you hear that he is dying of starvation; or letting your friend's heart ache for a word of appreciation or sympathy, which you mean to give some day—if you could know and see and feel all of a sudden that "the time is short," how it would break the spell! How you would go instantly and do the thing which you might never have another chance to do.—Phillips Brooks.

The wealth of the present, in more things than gold, is in a large degree a heritage of the past. Most of our boasted advancement is largely due to the services and sacrifices of men whose bones are dust, and whose names, if remembered at all, are carved on tombstones. "Men of whom the world was not worthy" are the giants upon whose shoulders we stand and claim the world.—Selected.

Your sink, basins, tubs, etc., never become clogged with grease, if the washing that's done in them is done with Pearline.

A small matter, perhaps—but remember that Pearline saves trouble and annoyance in a great many just such small matters. And the truth is that these little things alone ought to be enough to lead any quick-witted person to use Pearline—even without taking into account the big things, the saving in work, and wear and tear, and time, and money. 478

Millions NOW USE Pearline

WALL Paper.

—SAMPLES FREE—

Of Our Magnificent Fall Line of

Over 500,000 Rolls

Of the Richest and Most Artistic Papers out This Season.

Prices: 3 cents to $3.00.

We pay the freight on $10 orders.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO., Limited,

518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. P. Howard, Americus, Miss., July 18: "We have had a good meeting at Caswell Springs, resulting in 10 accessions and the church much revived. Bros. Garland, Goff and Russell, Jones—local brethren—were all the assistance a sick pastor had; but the Lord came to our relief and greatly blessed our labors. To him be all the praise!"

Rev. J. H. Foreman, P. C., July 17: "We have just closed a glorious meeting at Pine Grove Church. Seventeen conversions, seven additions to the church, and the church wonderfully revived. Ten new family altars erected; prayer meeting organized. We were assisted by Bro. Wm. Donald and Bro. Griffin, of Clarksburg circuit. Anyone wishing help in a protracted meeting will do well to secure Bro. Griffin's help. Pray for us."

Rev. W. J. Porter, P. C., Indian Bayou, La., July 18: "Closed a good meeting at Perry's Point last night. Bro. Drake, of Crowley, preached once for us, and Bro. Cheny, of Ebenezer, five times. Bro. A. E. Vail, of the Gospel Mission, New Orleans, was with me eight days. The meeting lasted 14 days, and visible results are thirteen additions to the church, twenty-five conversions and nine sanctifications. Praise the Lord."

Bessie Rawls, Secretary: "The St. Tammany Parish Sunday-school Convention held its second annual session in the M. E. Church in Covington, July 9 and 10. Reports showed that there are only 15 schools in the parish, and 325 officers, teachers and scholars. In face of these facts it is not hard to see the need of work along this line. All who attended the convention went away determined to have a better showing for the parish another year. We are under many obligations to Bro. C. A. Tiebout, field secretary of the Louisiana State Sunday-school Association, for valuable services rendered."

Rev. C. F. Emery, Columbia, Miss., July 15: "Last Sunday night we closed a revival meeting that lasted two weeks. The pastor preached for the first week, when Dr. Inman W. Cooper came to the rescue and held the fort for the rest of the time. The last night there was not room in our large church to accommodate the audience. From first to last great interest was manifested in the services. Dr. Cooper preached with great power, and to every proposition there was a ready response. Not only did we have the hearty co-operation of our own people, but our Baptist brethren joined forces with us, though this was in no sense a union meeting. I have never seen greater unanimity among people, and brotherly love prevails. The entire church was greatly revived, and fourteen members were received on profession of faith. Dr. Cooper is a tower of strength. He has left a host of friends and admirers here who rejoice in the great good accomplished under his plain and forceful presentation of the plan of salvation."

Rev. W. T. Currie, P. C., Montgomery, La., July 16: "My work is moving on nicely. Up to date 173 have joined the church, a great number converted, a good many professed sanctification. Last night was a glorious time at the prayer meeting. The altar was soon crowded with penitents. One accession to the church. I am looking forward to greater things at the camp meeting. I find in the Minutes of the Louisiana Conference of 1893 this advertisement: 'The Sunday Picayune is especially interesting in its literary features, containing Tales and Poems from the best writers. Special Contributions from Pen and Pencil of Talented Authors and Artists, in Addition to the News of The Day.' It seems to me that this ought not to be in the Minutes. It has the 'appearance of evil.' Paul, writing to the Thessalonians, exhorts them to abstain from all appearance of evil. I believe this is a mistake of the head, and not of the heart. Pray for us, that God may still use us to the upbuilding of his kingdom and the salvation of immortal souls."

Rev. Wm. G. Evans, Patterson, La., July 15: "My third Quarterly Conference was held on July 6, and the reports showed the work to be in a healthy condition. The presiding elder is paid up for three quarters, and the preacher is more than paid up to date. We have paid about $235 on parsonage debt and repairs, $83 for incidentals, and $43 on the Conference collections. The Sunday-school, although badly handicapped in some respects, is doing a good work. The attendance averages about 50, divided into nine classes. We have raised $31 for Sunday-school supplies, $77 20 for missions, and $6 25 on Children's Day. The Epworth League grows in interest and numbers. More interest has been taken in the Literary Department lately than heretofore. A move is on foot now to provide a library for the League. The Charity and Help Department is doing a good work among the needy and the sick. The prayer meetings are well attended and are very interesting. The Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society is doing a good work in paying off the debt on the parsonage, thanks to the impetus given it by Mrs. J. J. Lyons on a recent visit to her daughter who lives here. The preacher is being well cared for in other ways than the paying up of his salary. I have now been in bed for five days with continued (or typhoid) fever. So far the fever has been very light, and I hope to be up soon. The one thing we need here is a revival of old-time religion."

ROSEDALE AT THE FEET OF JESUS.

On the fourth instant Rev. W. M. McIntosh planted his battery at the fort of sin in the town of Rosedale. Volley after volley was turned loose, and finally the walls fell, the enemies' camp was invaded. Men and women cried out, "What must we do to be saved?" And the response was, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." In and out of the churches there must have been at least 150 conversions; 95 joined the different churches—70 the Methodist Church. On the last night of the meeting we took up a collection for the purpose of building a parsonage and realized $728 75. Bro. Smith, the sweet singer, and Bro. Batte, the cornetist, contributed largely to the success of the meeting. We are also indebted to the following brethren for valuable services: Revs. T. Y. Ramsey, N. G. Augustus, R. H. B. Gladney, J. A. Randolph, and Bro. Penn, of Rolling Fork.

Rev. S. A. Steel, on the night of the third instant, delivered his famous lecture, "Backbone," to the delight and edification of a large audience. He also preached for us next day.

We have just completed a nice church at Bolivar. We have put twenty-one NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATES in the homes of our people, sold three Bibles, and several other good books. The Lord has greatly blessed our labors, whereof we are glad. Success to the ADVOCATE! It is a great factor in the preacher's success. Praise the Lord!

J. C. MIMMS,

P. C. Rosedale and Bolivar.

Bolivar, Miss., July 17, 1896.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct. 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,

(Mrs.) W. H. BENTON.

Franklinton, La.

Nervous

People wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and

Nervous Dyspepsia. The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood feeding the nerves on refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich blood; gives natural sleep, good digestion, is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure Liver ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

The dreamer finds himself at the edge of a cliff. He stumbles, falls, and grasps frantically at a rope, which breaks uselessly, letting him fall straight down the precipice. He awakes with a start and a struggle. If he has a little spot of superstition in him, he tries to figure out the meaning of the dream. If he is not superstitious, he looks for the cause, finds it in indigestion and nervousness, and then heeds the real meaning. It is a good thing to believe in dreams, but to believe in them in the right way. A bad dream is a warning. It is a sign that all is not right in the dreamer's body. It means that his digestion is out of order; and that means that his blood is not receiving sufficient nourishment; and that has its effect on the nerves; and the nerves, on the brain. Imperfect digestion means imperfect nutrition. It means that the strength and food that ought to go into the blood from the digestive organs—that should go to build the tissues that waste every day—is being perverted and is doing no good. It means that there will be loss of solid, strengthful flesh; that the nerves will be uncovered just that much; that debility will ensue; and that the man's body is ready for the reception of disease germs. That is the real meaning of the man's dreams, and such dreams should always be taken to mean that the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is urgent and imperative, if health would be preserved. The "Discovery" is a certain cure for indigestion, dyspepsia and liver complaint.

When constipation is present, it is frequently necessary to supplement the "Discovery" by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They greatly facilitate the action of the "Golden Medical Discovery," by ridding the system of poisonous, effete matter, increasing the activity of the lower bowels so that the impure matter forced out of the blood by the "Golden Medical Discovery" may find quick egress. Both the "Golden Medical Discovery" and the "Pellets" may be obtained at any drug store. Complete information concerning them may be had by addressing the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,

Or to

Miss P. C. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

LAW SCHOOL

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY.

LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

SILLIMAN INSTITUTE For Young Ladies.

CLINTON, LA.

If you are interested, let us send you a handsome illustrated catalogue to prove that its standard of scholarship, general equipment, healthfulness, beauty of location and buildings, home comforts, and refining influence this college ranks with the VERY BEST and, advantages considered, with the cheapest in the South. Address

GEO. A. RAMSEY, M. A. President.

HARDIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 23 States. 24 professors from 8 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $1,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory. Schumvervlan, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.

A select home training school for boys. Aim Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address

WILLIAM HICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee

UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.

Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

G. W. C. LEE, President.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education

AT

Johnston Collegiate Institute,

GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.

If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalogue and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing sufficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.

OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.

Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.

The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.

A. R. LADNER, President.

REV. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

Martin College

For Young Ladies,

PULASKI, - - - TENN.

Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.

The ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zeisberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

S. N. BARKER, President.

TEACHERS' BUREAU. TEACHERS VACANCIES

We have at present several hundred more vacancies than teachers. Address Rev. Dr. O. M. Sutton, A. M., Manager,

SOUTHERN TEACHER'S BUREAU,

Louisville, Ky.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is Aug., '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full tuition in the Collegiate Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,

Fort Worth, Texas.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.,

is prepared for practical thorough work in educating girls. A corps of efficient teachers is in charge, and the curriculum is fully equal to that of any first-class college. Cultured community. Health unsurpassed. Terms to suit the times. For further particulars, address

MRS. M. H. MEEK, Business Manager.

T. J. MURRAY,

RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL

Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS

EL PASO T AND P ROUTE

PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST AND SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7:25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED EVENING EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,

1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,

UNDERTAKERS.

OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.

TELEPHONE 697.

We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CAN YOU TELL

Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1893-'6?

It is the

Memphis Conference Female Institute,

Of Jackson, Tennessee.

A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.

Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal to Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Banks and Mad. Dethi teaches natural bird tones. Thorough equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany, taught last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist studied with Rotoli. Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League, studied in Paris with M. Rigan. Scholarship in N. E. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.

Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never lost a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record justifies us in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.

Water of Jackson pronounced absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,

REV. HOWARD W. KEY, A. M. Ph. D.

Emory College

Oxford, Georgia.

THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.

The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.

The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $8 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.

The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.

For catalogue and further information address

W. A. CANDLER, President,

OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 "	2 weeks,	1 60	2 00
1 "	3 "	2 00	2 50
1 "	1 month,	2 40	3 00
1 "	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 "	6 "	10 00	12 50
1 "	1 year,	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 "	35 00	42 00
3 "	1 "	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	60 00	72 00
5 "	1 "	75 00	90 00
6 "	1 "	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, July 30, 1896.

Beware of the man who claims that he never makes a mistake.

Every man is prone to think that his own way is the best way.

Obstinacy and self-conceit often pose in the garb of wisdom and piety.

The Christian who strives to correct his own faults has little time to attend to the faults of other people.

Many are the Christians who talk too much: but we have yet to see one who prays too much or who gives too much.

Sneers at culture will not atone for lack of it, neither can sensationalism always take the place of deep spirituality.

Paul's exhortation to "do all things without murmurings and disputings" is just as applicable now as when he wrote it.

Some Christians seem never to have learned the meaning of the passage, "Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another."

Many people imagine that the sin of covetousness is confined to the rich. A man might be as poor as Lazarus, however, and yet be as covetous as the days are long. The Lord does not let every worshiper of mammon obtain his heart's desire.

Thousands of the noblest and most faithful of God's servants toil for years in obscurity, "unhonored and unsung;" but they shall not lose their rewards. The Christian who does the most is not always the one who parades his deeds before the public.

Rev. Wm. B. Johnson.

MR. EDITOR: Bro. William B. Johnson, familiarly known as "Uncle Billy Johnson," for many years a member of the Mississippi Conference, but later a local preacher of this county (Jefferson), died at the residence of his son, Mr. L. B. Johnson, near here, yesterday at 12 o'clock. He was in the eighty-eighth year of his age. His last moments were peace. Though unconscious for some hours before his death, he left the assurance that all was well with his soul. With a strong faith, a glorious hope, he passed away in triumph. The writer buried him, assisted by Rev. J. G. Galloway, at old Bethel, where his wife sleeps. He was also buried with Masonic honors. A more extended notice of his death will appear later.

Yours in Christ,
JOHN W. CRISLER.

Harriston, Miss., July 22, 1896.

We have known Bro. Johnson since our childhood. He was one of the best men we have ever known. A triumphant death is a fitting sequel to such a life. We hope to meet him by and by.

According to the Mid-Continent, St. Louis churches find the plan of union evening services to be better and better each Sunday. Pastors and people commend it.

The Uprising in Crete.

Historic Crete, the largest and most fertile of the islands of the Grecian Archipelago, is in the throes of a rebellion against Turkish authority. The immediate cause of the outbreak is said to have been the recent deposition of the Christian governor and the appointment of a Mohammedan in his place, since which time numberless murders and gross outrages have been committed by the Turkish soldiers with entire immunity from punishment. Goaded to desperation, like the Cubans under Spanish rule, the inhabitants of the island have several times before rebelled, and now seem more determined than ever to free themselves from, perhaps, the most oppressive government that ever cursed the earth, and have appealed to the European powers for help and recognition.

This island is about 150 miles long, from six to thirty-five miles wide, and has an area of less than 3,000 square miles. Its present population numbers about 300,000, only 40,000 of whom are Mahometans. On account, however, of being poorly equipped and organized, the Cretans, though famous for their bravery and perseverance, are making but little headway against the 20,000 Turkish soldiers who are now burning, pillaging and murdering as they go. Without the intervention of the powers, it is very improbable that the revolt will be successful. Greece, which has many Cretans among its population, strongly sympathizes with the uprising, and is on the eve of taking sides against the bloody Turk. Geographical situation and race affinities both conduce to bring the Greeks and Cretans into close relations with each other.

The horrors now being suffered by the people of this fair island are only equalled by those visited upon the poor Armenians. Says Dr. Du Miller, who was recently sent to Crete by Emperor William to make a report on the condition of affairs: "Civilized people can scarcely credit the outrages which the Turks have perpetrated on Christian women and children. Europe has but a faint idea of the horrors which has taken place. The powers must absolutely intervene to prevent a renewal of such scenes. There is but one course to pursue—that is to turn the Turks out of Europe."

Notwithstanding the fact that all this is going on right under the nose of the so-called Christian nations of Europe, it will be a wonder if any of the powers interfere. Where there are so many clashing interests, and while selfishness and petty jealousies prevail as they do now, concerted action is almost out of the question. Nor is it likely that any one nation is courageous enough to face alone the complications which might arise from taking the part of the Cretans. Armenia has been left to take care of herself, and Crete will, in all probability, share a like fate. Alas! that greed and indifference should be so powerful in Christendom.

Few are aware of the commercial importance and historic interest of this Ægean isle. In the time of Homer it was famed for its wealth and civilization, and, it is claimed, supported a population of 1,200,000. The "Iliad" tells much about the deeds of Idomeneas, the last king of Crete. Says one writer: "From Cretan institutions and the code of its great law-giver, Minos, Lycurgus borrowed many features of his celebrated code of laws, and that Athens herself in early times was compelled to pay tribute to Crete is abundantly shown in the fable of Theseus and the Minotaur."

Possessed of a soil wonderfully fertile and a climate unsurpassed, this island for many centuries "blossomed as the rose" under the successive rule of the Romans, Saracens, and Venetians; but with the coming of the Turk in 1669 its woes began, and its population steadily decreased. During the last fifty-six years especially, or since 1840, when the island reverted from Egypt to Turkey, it has hardly known the blessings of long-continued peace and prosperity.

It is a significant fact that this isle was once visited by the Apostle Paul, and that here Titus labored for some time endeavoring to plant Christianity, he becoming the first Bishop of Crete. Though the ancient Cretans bore the most savage reputation as to character, the labors of Paul and Titus seem not to have been in vain, for Christianity is still a vital force upon the island, and the majority of its inhabitants to-day are Christians.

The struggle of the Cretans for independence is in many respects [illegible] tired of the Spanish yoke. Lovers of liberty everywhere will sympathize with these islanders in their effort to achieve self-government and freedom from oppression. What a pity that the sympathy felt among the Christian nations for them should not materialize into something more helpful than good wishes! God-speed the day when the nations of Christendom shall unite in making to cease the desolations and outrages wrought by the merciless Turk! "And shall not God avenge his own elect, who cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily."

Sectarian Appropriations.

The Roman Catholics have for years been receiving grants of money from the federal government to run their sectarian schools in Indian Territory. The same outrage was for a long time perpetrated upon the people of New York, but at last the Protestants succeeded in having a stop put to such injustice. We regret to note that Congress has again favored the Church of Rome in the matter of appropriating money to her Indian schools, although other denominations, for the sake of the principle involved, have for some time declined such aid.

When the matter came up in Congress the House, we are glad to say, favored decisive action by a vote of 154 to 22, declaring most emphatically its disapproval of the further granting of such subsidies. While the vote in the House was thus decisive, it is a matter of regret that the list of absentees and dodgers was so large, the non-voters on this important issue numbering 179.

The Senate rejected the Linton amendment passed by the House prohibiting sectarian appropriations, and voted in favor of the continuance of the appropriations for two years more, on the plea that their immediate discontinuance would be greatly to the disadvantage of the institutions that have been receiving aid from the government. Hardly any one doubts, however, that at the end of the two years the Church of Rome will again call for the continuance of such grants. As one of her boasts is that she changes not, we may be sure that she will not in this instance depart from her settled policy to grasp all within reach.

The two Houses of Congress finally agreed upon the following compromise: "And it is hereby declared to be the settled policy of the government of the United States to make no appropriation of money or property for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding, by payment for services, expenses, or otherwise, any church, religious denomination, or religious society, or any institution, society, or undertaking which is wholly or in part under sectarian or ecclesiastical control; and it is hereby enacted that, from and after June 30, 1897, no money appropriated for charitable purposes shall be paid to any church or religious denomination."

Sixty men in Congress—twenty-two in the House, and thirty-eight in the Senate—voted to compel the citizens of the United States to furnish contributions of their money through the national treasury to the Roman Catholic Church. Let all who are opposed to such favoritism see to it that their representatives in Congress put themselves squarely on record in future against these un-American appropriations. Thomas Jefferson uttered a great truth when he said: "To compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves, is sinful and tyrannical." We rejoice in the fact that Congress has at last declared plainly against this evil.

An Example In Agriculture.

In these days, when political demagogues and socialists are doing their utmost to create discontent among the laboring classes, and array them against the rich, it gives us genuine pleasure to note that not all millionaires are as selfish and unscrupulous as they are made out to be. It has become popular in certain quarters to denounce holders of wealth indiscriminately. We are well aware that many capitalists are entirely unscrupulous, and care little or nothing for the public good. Yet it should be borne in mind that but for the capitalists of the country, the great railroads, manufacturies, [illegible] could not be carried on, would be impossible. Says a recent editorial in the Youth's Companion:

Biltmore, the magnificent estate of George Vanderbilt, at Asheville, North Carolina, is not, as many persons have supposed, merely a rich man's fad. On the contrary, its ninety-five thousand acres are intended to show what cultivation may do. Mr. Morton, the Secretary of Agriculture, recently spent a week at Biltmore.

On his return to Washington the Secretary told his colleagues that he had seen the most perfect system of roadways; an exhibition also of landscape gardening that can not be paralleled; and buildings which for fitness as dwellings, stables, barns, dairies, propagating houses, henneries and other uses surpass any within his knowledge.

"I consider Mr. Vanderbilt's work there," said the Secretary, "just as important to the agricultural interests of this country as the Department of Agriculture at Washington. He employs more men than I have under my charge, and I think he is spending more money every year than Congress appropriates for this department. His men are promoted for efficiency according to the most practical civil service rules.

"Mr. Vanderbilt is building up an educational institution that will be of the greatest value to scientific farmers and teachers for the instruction of others in domestic architecture, in agriculture, forestry, viticulture, dairying, road-making and other useful sciences.

"It is one of the grandest undertakings that individual enterprise ever attempted, and I understand that it is the owner's intention to leave it as a legacy to the public.

"The people down there talk about the enormous amount of money that Mr. Vanderbilt is spending to gratify his pride and appetite. They do not comprehend the first letter in the alphabet of his ambition. While they imagine that it is all due to selfishness, he is working for them."

Status of Methodism.

We have been requested to reproduce an article published in our issue of Nov. 21, 1895, entitled "Status of Methodism," from the pen of Dr. H. K. Carroll, Superintendent of the Census. We cheerfully do so. As these figures are official and entirely reliable, it would be well for our preachers and others interested in such matters to clip the article and preserve it for reference.

"The glory of Methodism is, that it won its membership, not from other churches, but from the unconcerned and unconverted. The census of 1890 shows that we have organizations in 2,205 of the 2,709 counties in the United States. Wherever there are sinners, we must have converts; wherever converts, societies; wherever societies, churches.

"Thus we have more societies than any other division of Christianity. For all branches of Methodism there are 51,489 societies. The Baptists have, in all, 42,909. No other denominational family has a number equaling one-fourth of the total of Methodism except the Presbyterian, which returns 13,476; the Roman Catholic bodies stand next, with 10,276. The total for all bodies is 165,177.

"The Methodist family has nearly one-third of all the societies of all the denominations in the United States. It has also 30,000 itinerant preachers. In the value of church property, $132,140,179, including only church edifices, furniture, and grounds, the Methodist family also stands first, the Catholic family, which reports $118,371,366, coming second.

"In number of communicants, 4,500,000, we take the second place, the Catholics standing first, with 6,250,000. This, however, is due to the fact that the Catholic Church reckons eighty-five per cent. of the Catholic population as communicants, while Protestants counts only thirty per cent. of the Protestant population as communicants. If this difference be kept in mind, the discrepancy between the 4,500,000 Methodists and the 6,250,000 Catholic communicants will not be so great. As a matter of fact, the Methodist population is twice as great as the Catholic."

Marshall Field, of Chicago, who is reported to have made $7,000,000 in the dry goods business last year, will not allow a line of his advertising to appear in the Sunday newspapers.—Pittsburg Advocate.

A New Book.

THE STORY OF MY LIFE. By Bishop William Taylor. Royal octavo, 750 pages. Profusely illustrated. Fine silk cloth, $3; [illegible] 25 [illegible]. Hunt & Eaton, 150 Fifth avenue, New York.

William Taylor, Bishop of Africa, was seventy-five years of age on May 2, 1896. In 1888 the publishing agents of the Methodist Book Concern said to him: "Bishop, the Christian people of this country and of the world generally would like to read the story of your life." And the response of the great missionary was, "I have done nothing that the world wants to read about." But the world did want to read about him. From far and near came inquiries for the story of his life, and finally he was prevailed upon to write it. It is a unique history of a great career. A record full of inspiration and personal heroism. One of the most soul-stirring narratives of missionary labors ever published. It gives an account of what he has purposed, said and done in his ministry of fifty-four years in Christian lands and among the heathen of our four continents. It is a book for every Christian household in the world, and all who are interested in the story of world-wide missions will read with pleasure and satisfaction what the greatest missionary of the modern world has accomplished in preaching the gospel and in planting churches in heathen lands.

Bishop Taylor tells in his remarkable book of his experience in the streets and along the wharves of San Francisco, in the rough mining camps and criminal towns of Australia, in the wilds of Zululand and Kaffraria, in the ancient cities and along the rivers of India, in the West Indies and South America, and in the untrodden pathways of Africa.

This good man, now relieved from the cares of office, but undaunted by old age, has just departed for South Africa to renew his work among the Kaffirs, and he leaves the story of his life as a legacy to his friends in America and to all mankind.

During his life he has been so thoroughly unselfish as to not lay up a dollar for himself. He will receive from the Missionary Society a stipend, or pension, such as the government would pay to an old soldier, but this amount will not be sufficient to support him comfortably in his old age; therefore, everyone who purchases a copy of his book will also contribute to the sustenance of this man who for more than fifty years has given himself to the cause of God and humanity.

A few days before Bishop Taylor was declared "non-effective" by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the publishers requested him to sit for his portrait. The portrait was taken by G. C. Cox, of New York City, one of the best photographers in the United States. The publishers have had the portrait finished in photogravure, and we have received a copy of it and can testify to its excellence. The size of the portrait is 8 by 9. It is as near perfect as we have ever seen a picture of this kind. A copy of this standard likeness, on plate paper, 12 by 15 inches, is sent free with every copy of the book.

"The Story of My Life" is handsomely and profusely illustrated, more than one hundred of the illustrations being drawn by the famous American artist, Frank Beard. The publishers will send it prepaid with portrait to any part of the world on receipt of price.

Rev. T. J. Duncan, writing of our work on the Pacific coast, in the Nashville Advocate, says: "The money appropriated and the men appointed to this work can never build it up. This fact grows out of another. The population is not understood properly. A more difficult field in which to save a soul and build up the church was never assigned to Methodist preachers in a Christian land. In the East, in rural and remote regions, almost any man who will live right can exhort and invite penitents to the altar, can report conversions and accessions, and actually build up the church. Not so here. There the great mass of people know comparatively little about the isms that stalk abroad in the land; here they know little else. They run the gauntlet from 'flawless perfection' to the sale of the vilest indulgences. The seemingly everlasting mistake is in sending men here who can do but little, if anything, at home or abroad. Yet the appropriations are as far from the needs of the work as the appointments made to it."

NOTES.

Bishop Granbery is soon to bring out a volume of select sermons.

Rev. F. N. Parker is assisting Rev. B. S. Rayner in a meeting at Centerville, Miss.

Rev. F. M. Keen is carrying on a meeting at Laurel, assisted by Rev. N. M. Clarke.

We regret to note that Rev. A. J. Jarrell, D.D., formerly of St. Louis, has been partially paralyzed.

Rev. N. B. Harmon passed through the city last week en route to Baton Rouge, where he spent the Sabbath.

Rev. S. J. Frank, of the Northwest Texas Conference, has been suspended until the next session of the Annual Conference.

Rev. J. B. Cumming, pastor of the Methodist Church at Prattville, Ala., has been elected to the presidency of the Athenæum at East Lake, and has accepted.

We hope to receive a report of the proceedings of the Mississippi Epworth League Conference and also of the Seashore Conference in time for our next issue.

The new parsonage projected a few months since by Rev. H. H. Ahrens, pastor of Parker Chapel, will be completed within two or three weeks. It will be one of the best in the Conference. Total cost about $2,500.

Rev. C. W. Crisler, of the Mississippi Conference, has accepted a professorship in Epworth Female College. His wife has also accepted a position in the Music Department. The patrons of the institution are to be congratulated.

The Rev. Dr. Robertson, a Canadian minister of note, states that in the Canadian Church $20,000 are now given annually to foreign missions by congregations that were founded as home mission stations within the last twenty years.—Pittsburg Advocate.

Mrs. M. E. Mullins, widow of the late Rev. Hardy Mullins, of the Mississippi Conference, was buried last Sabbath at Hazlehurst, Miss. She was a life-long Methodist and was ardently devoted to her church. A suitable memoir will doubtless appear in due time.

In the inter-collegiate oratorical contest, which took place at the Crystal Springs Chautauqua on July 22, the medal was won by Mr. J. W. Canada, of Memphis, a student from Millsaps College. His subject was, "Realism in Religion." There were eight contestants in all.

It was a wise thing for the East Mississippi Female College that President Beeson employed a director of music of such broad experience and skill and wide reputation. It gives this institution an advantage over many of our female colleges. A strong Music Department means much to a college.

We have just been informed by Rev. W. H. Huntley that Mr. John A. McLeod, of Purvis, Miss., has announced his intention to give $50 a year for the endowment of a free scholarship in the Kobe (Japan) Industrial School founded by Sister Lambuth. This is a most worthy benefaction, and one for which the church should be profoundly grateful. Such liberality to the missionary cause is as encouraging as it is commendable. We sincerely hope that the noble example set by our good brother will stimulate others to make like offerings.

Bishop Hendrix, in a letter to the Nashville Advocate, dated July 7, announces the following good news: "It gives me great pleasure to report a successful issue of my mission to the Pacific coast. On yesterday Bro. W. M. Winters, of Hollister, Cal., conveyed to the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, property estimated by him to be worth $25,000." How inspiring it is to hear of such a splendid offering to the great missionary cause, which should be dearer than all others to our hearts! Who else will do likewise? May God richly reward the giver, and bless the gift to the good of humanity.

MUL-EN-OL is the most modern remedy for pain, and is free from all objectionable features of the old-time remedies. MUL-EN-OL tastes good, smells good, and does good. It soothes and cools, instead of irritating. It instantly relieves the pain, and insures a permanent cure.

MUL-EN-OL

Drives away every sort of pain—external or internal, in old or young. When you meet with an accident, or are attacked by sickness, MUL-EN-OL, if applied at once, will prevent it from becoming serious. Have it ready. Sold everywhere. Price 50c., $1.00, $2.00. Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Edward McGehee College.

This excellent school has just closed a remarkably prosperous session, despite the unfortunate burning of the old building last September, and, under the presidency of the cultured and enterprising Prof. J. A. Monroe, bids fair next year to eclipse all previous records. Since the fire a splendid and spacious new building, with all the modern improvements and conveniences, has been erected in the center of a beautiful park, and neatly furnished. The president has been most fortunate in his selection of superior teachers. The Music Department will be in charge of a full graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music. The college is located in Woodville, which is famed for its healthfulness, cultured society, beautiful surroundings, and moral atmosphere. Prof. Monroe's rates are quite reasonable.

For cuts and wounds of all kinds, MUL-EN-OL has no equal. It prevents inflammation, takes out the soreness, and heals quickly.

MUL-EN-OL, Nature's Great Healer and Pain Destroyer. Often is it that lives are lost that might have been saved by the timely use of MUL-EN-OL.

MUL-EN-OL is the greatest of all antiseptic dressings. Is a sovereign remedy for healing flesh wounds on man or beast.

MUL-EN-OL is a clear, pleasant, penetrating Liniment. No grease, no stain.

The time is again at hand when the dear brother whose health has been too delicate to permit him to venture out to the prayer meeting in the night air, will march for miles in the torch-light procession and shout himself hoarse at the political meeting.—Epworth Herald.

Ice Cream Now Made in a Minute.

I have an Ice Cream Freezer that will freeze cream perfectly in one minute; as it is such a wonder a crowd will always be around, so anyone can make from five to six dollars a day selling cream, and from ten to twenty dollars a day selling Freezers, as people will always buy an article when it is demonstrated that they can make money by so doing. The cream is frozen instantly, and is smooth and free from lumps. I have done so well myself and have friends succeeding so well that I felt it my duty to let others know of this opportunity, as I feel confident that any person in any locality can make money, as any person can sell cream and the freezer sells itself. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143½ St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you complete instructions and will employ you on salary if you can give them your whole time.

MUL-EN-OL is pre-eminently a Mother's Remedy, a reliable panacea for all the ills and pains of childhood.

Keep a bottle of MUL-EN-OL where you can quickly reach it, in case of emergency. Perhaps it will save a doctor's bill.

Seashore Camp Meeting.

For the twenty-fifth time the Methodists of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi gathered at the Seashore Camp Ground for the purpose of holding their annual meeting. A very great number of persons attended, and from the opening sermon by Rev. Dr. John T. Sawyer to the last discourse by Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, large congregations greeted the preachers. There is no exaggeration in putting the converted at more than half a hundred souls, in addition to whom very many backsliders were reclaimed and the spiritual life of hundreds of others were mightily quickened of the Holy Spirit. Bishop Keener was at his best in his two sermons, which were crowded with immediate and blessed results.

There was spiritual power in all the services, though at times unexpected incidents seem to threaten the harmony of the meeting. God met and blessed his people at the first service and all along gave them victory over all opposition, culminating in complete and splendid success. The last day was the best, the communion service at 8 A. M. being most delightful and gracious and every sermon in demonstration of the Spirit and in power.

There has not been of late years a better meeting than that of 1896 at Seashore Camp Ground, and its tears of joy, shouts of new-born souls and hallelujahs of saints will not soon be forgotten by those who were there.

J.

For Results of Excesses
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. R. H. PEPPER, Huntington, W. Va., says: "In nervous prostration from excesses, I find it par excellence."

Do You Know?

That when you the results are disordered and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1892.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *

Yours, most respectfully,
MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.
Sold by All Druggists.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special Schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of instructors. Improved facilities. Most healthful location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low.

For catalogue and announcements address
CHANCELLOR B. B. FULTON,
University, Mississippi.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y
OF NEW YORK

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS

Bowling Green Business College

THE GREAT BUSINESS TRAINING SCHOOL OF THE SOUTH.

A School of Business, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy & Typewriting

HUNDREDS OF GRADUATES HOLDING FINE POSITIONS. RECOMMENDED BY THE LEADING BUSINESS MEN OF THE COUNTRY. MENTION COURSE WANTED.

ADDRESS Cherry Bros. Bowling Green, Ky.

CATALOGUE and JOURNAL FREE.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.

FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

"The Ideal College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Heed and Miss Heron, Principals.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

URIC ACID TROUBLE.—PURE TABLE WATER.

REV. MOSES D. HOGE, D. D., of the Synod of Virginia, Richmond, Va. (Spring No. 2): "I have used BUFFALO LITHIA WATER with highly beneficial results for Uric Acid Trouble. Indeed, I now use no other water, and since using it have enjoyed the best health of my life."

Proprietor, Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.

Sold by Druggists. Pamphlet free.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,

Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address D. SULLINS, Pres't.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

For the Higher Education of Boys and Young Men.

Beautiful situation. Jackson, the capital of the State, is easily accessible by four lines of railway. The college buildings occupy a commanding elevation with perfect drainage and admirable health conditions.

The very finest educational advantages are offered. The members of the faculty are thoroughly competent and progressive in their several departments of instruction.

The students are constantly under superior moral and religious influence.

Young men preparing for the profession of Law in Mississippi will find unequaled advantages in the LAW DEPARTMENT.

Expenses very moderate. Many of the students, by boarding themselves, reduce the cost of living as low as $8 per month. Board in students' homes and private families, $12 per month.

Next Session Begins September 23d, 1896.

For Register, giving detailed information, apply to

President W. B. MURRAH or Rev. T. B. HOLLOMAN, Agent.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE,

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VA.

For 178 Young Ladies. The largest and most extensively equipped in Va. Eclectic courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 Officers and Teachers; 8 male Professors. Situated in Valley of Va., on N. & W. R. R., near Roanoke. Mountain scenery. 1200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. Pupils can be met at Southern and Western points. 54th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Virginia.

1846. THE ACADEMY 1896.

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. Number of students limited. Elegant rooms, elegantly furnished. Hot and cold water baths. Welsbach gas lights. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced teachers from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals, health and social advantages. Rates reasonable. FREE TUITION in Collegiate Courses to active ministers' daughters. Next session begins Sept. 1. Halt the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., PRINCIPAL.

LaGrange Female College

Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, Gymnasium. Conservatory advantages in music. Elegant pipe organ. ART AND VOICE CULTURE specialties. Elocution free. Bookkeeping and harmony free. Sight singing daily. Dressmaking, typewriting, stenography. Economical uniform. Health unsurpassed. Best social surroundings. Pupils board with Faculty in College Home.

Rufus W. Smith, President,

LAGRANGE, GEORGIA.

Asheville Female College,

ASHEVILLE, N. C. "IN THE LAND OF THE SKY."

REV. A. B. WARWICK, M. A., (University of Virginia,) President.

This famous school will open its Fifty-fourth Session September 10, 1896. Beautiful Campus. Modern Buildings, elegantly furnished, and Steam-heated. Hot and Cold Baths. Excellent and abundant table fare. Fully equipped Gym nasium. Location for healthfulness and grandeur of scenery unsurpassed on the continent. Elevation 1,300 feet. No Mosquitoes. No Malaria. Thorough and broad instruction, under best American and European teachers, leading to Degrees. Conservatory advantages in Music. Rates reasonable. Send for catalogue.

LOGAN FEMALE COLLEGE,

In closing her fiftieth year, sends greeting to all of her children and extends a cordial welcome to them and their daughters. With a broad curriculum and teachers from the great institutions of this country and Europe, she invites the patronage of those seeking a liberal culture for their daughters under refining influences. Address

A. G. MURPHY, PRINCIPAL, Russellville, Ky.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED.

Will accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank until position is secured. Car fare paid. No vacation. Enter at any time. Cheap board. Send for free illustrated catalogue. Mention this paper.

Draughon's Practical Business Colleges, Nashville, Tenn., AND Texarkana, Tex.

Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. The most thorough, practical and progressive schools of the kind in the world, and the best patronized ones in the South. Indorsed by bankers, merchants, ministers, and others. Four weeks in bookkeeping with us are equal to twelve weeks by the old plan. Their President is author of "Draughon's New System of Bookkeeping," which cannot be taught in any other school.

$600.00 given to any college if we cannot show more written applications for bookkeepers and stenographers, received in the past twelve months, than any other five Business Colleges in the South, all "combined," can show to have received in the past five years. We expend more money in the interest of our Employment Department than any other Bus. College in Tenn. takes in as tuition. $500.00—Amount we have deposited in bank as a guarantee that we have in the past fulfilled, and will in the future fulfill, our guarantee contracts. HOME STUDY.—We have prepared, especially for home study, books on Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship. Write for price list.

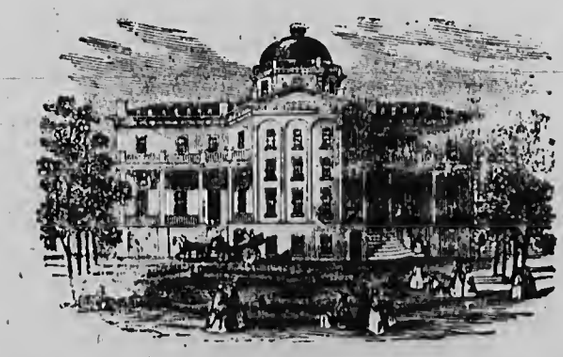
PROF. DRAUGHON—I now have a position as bookkeeper and stenographer for the Southern Grocery Company, of this place; salary, $75.00 per month. I owe it all to your books on bookkeeping and shorthand prepared for home study.—Irl Armstrong, Pine Bluff, Ark.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.



Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.

Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

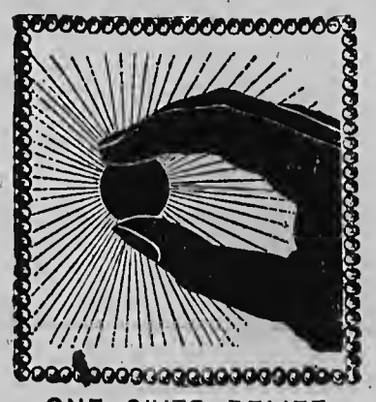
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Over-Profit Paying Stop it

Get our Great Catalogue and Buyers Guide. We'll send it for 15 cents in stamps to pay part postage or expressage. The Book's free. 700 Pages, 12000 illustrations, 40000 descriptions, everything that's used in life; tells you what you ought to pay, whether you buy of us or not. One profit from maker to user. Get it.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
Originators of the Mail Order Method
311-116 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

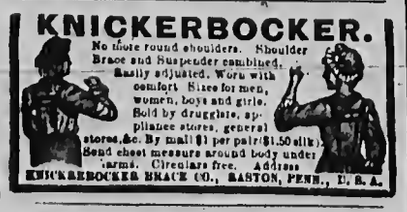
EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK

KNICKERBOCKER.



No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair ($1.50 silk). Send chest measure around body under arms. Circulars free. Address KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN., U. S. A.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED
Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with
LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART
By Hon. HENRY B. RUSSELL, their chosen biographer. 500 pages elegantly illustrated. Price only $1.00. The best and cheapest and outsells all others by ten of thousands. 50 percent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Books now ready. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Save time by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

HOME CIRCLE.

A QUEER HOLE.

I have heard of a boy who lived long ago—
For such boys are not found nowadays, you know—
Whose friends were as troubled as they could be
Because of a hole in his memory.

A charge from his mother went in one day,
And the boy said, "Yes," and hurried away;
But he met a man with a musical top,
And his mother's words through that hole did drop.

A lesson went in, but—ah me! ah me!
For a boy with a hole in his memory!—
When he rose to recite he was all in a doubt,
Every word of that lesson had fallen out.

And at last, at last!—oh, terrible lot!—
He could speak only two words, "I forgot."
Would it not be sad, indeed, to be
A boy with a hole in his memory?

—Advocate and Guardian.

You May Bend the Sapling, But Not the Tree.

Ladder and pole and cord will be of no use to straighten the bent tree; it should have been looked after much earlier. Train trees when they are saplings, and young lads before the down comes on their chins. If you want a bullfinch to pipe, whistle to him while he is young; he will scarcely catch the tune after he has learned the wild bird's note. Begin early to teach, for children begin early to sin. Catch them young and you may hope to keep them.

Ere your boy has reached to seven,
Teach him well the way to heaven;
Better still the work will thrive
If he learns before he's five.

What is learned young is learned for life. What we hear at the first we remember to the last. The bent twig grows up a crooked tree. Horse-breakers say,

"The trick a colt getteth at his first backing,
Will whilst he continueth never be leaving."

When a boy is rebellious, conquer him, and do it well the first time, that there may be no need to do it again. A child's first lesson should be obedience, and after that you may teach it what you please, yet the young mind must not be laced too tight, or you may hurt its growth and hinder its strength. They say a daft nurse makes a wise child, but I do not believe it; nobody needs so much common sense as a mother or a governess. It does not do to be always thwarting; and yet remember, if you give a child his will and a whelp his fill, both will surely turn out ill. A child's back must be made to mend, but it must not be broken. He must be ruled, but not with a rod of iron. His spirit must be conquered, but not crushed.—Spurgeon.

Use Your Eyes.

BY L. E. KEELER.

Just one hundred years ago an artist and engraver walked the streets of Munich supperless, breakfastless, and too poor to buy the metal plates on which to produce the work of his pencil. He paused a moment on the threshold of his dwelling. It was early Autumn, and there had been a storm over night. The morning sun glittered upon the yet undried puddles in the street, and the leaves shorn from the old lindens were scattered upon the sidewalks. One large leaf lay upon the stone step at the artist's feet. Mechanically he stooped and picked it up. Where it had reposed he beheld its perfect outline, with every rib and vein, drawn upon the smooth surface of the stone in the rain-dissolved dust.

For a moment he stood twirling the leaf in his fingers, studying the impression on the stone with eyes in which the light of a new hope glowed and deepened. Then he turned about and hurriedly re-entered the house. He had conceived an idea. It was simply to use smooth slabs of cheap stone, similar to the door-step, in place of the costly metal plates. Thus was born the art of lithography, by which process all our finest color-printing is done. Thousands of persons before this day had seen leaf impressions on wet pavements, and many had admired their beauty, but he was the first with powers of observation sufficiently trained to make use of the discovery.

A workman one day set a basin of water, the interior of which was covered with plaster of Paris, upon a red-hot stove. His purpose was to warm the water with which he wished to wash his hands, but when he lifted the vessel from the fiery stove he found its contents almost as cold as when placed there. The majority of persons would have been satisfied with an exclamation, "How odd!" but this man was an observer. He perceived that the plaster of Paris was so perfect a nonconductor of heat that it preserved the water's temperature against the effects of the glowing stove, and he at once applied his observation in the construction of fireproof safes. Hitherto the safe made of iron, lined with wood, became, in a conflagration, as hot within as without, and the contents were always scorched and often burned to a crisp.

Anthony Trollope, the novelist, was for many years a post-office official, and his efficiency was largely due to his trained habit of observation. He once visited the office of a certain postmaster in Ireland, formed an unfavorable opinion of the man and observed him in the course of the interview carefully took a large desk in the office. Two days afterward there came from headquarters an urgent inquiry about a lost letter the contents of which were of considerable value. It was late in the night, but Trollope hired a horse and, riding hard, knocked up the postmaster who he had interviewed a few days before. He walked straight into the office and said, "Open that desk." The key, he was told, was lost. With one kick he smashed the desk and there found the stolen letter.

When President Washington visited Harvard College he was observed to "fix his eye" upon a framed drawing on the museum wall. It was a copy of the Dighton inscription, hitherto supposed by historical students to be the work of the ancient Phœnicians, and to establish the fact of early voyages by that people to America. Washington smiled at the information thus given him and said he believed that the learned gentlemen were mistaken. His early life had taken him much into the wilderness, and given him the opportunity to become acquainted with the customs of the Indians. He had often seen them strip off the inner bark of a tree and on the smooth surface leave some record of their rude inscriptions, and could not fail to notice the resemblance of the characters to those copied from the rock. The President's accuracy of observation thus first suggested what has since been abundantly proved.

Prof. Palmer once told a class of young ladies that in order to make their future life interesting the first rule was not to look only, but to observe; to put themselves into their situation and understand it on all sides. "Observe, observe in every direction," he urged; "keep your eyes open. Go forward, understanding that the world was made for your knowledge, that you are to enter in and possess it."—Congregationalist.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD

Worth Repeating.

'Last Fall the witty Dr. Lafferty, of Richmond, was invited to lecture in the capital of West Virginia. The big governor of the mountain State, who stands head and shoulders above most men, and weighs accordingly, got up to introduce him, but instead of the cut and dried sentence, 'I have the pleasure,' etc., he began to tell a story that seemed to have nothing to do with the occasion. It was of a widow's hard and scanty life after the war (in Rockbridge county, Virginia), of her sturdy boy trying to keep the wolf away, and get an education at the same time. 'God raised up a friend for that mother and son,' said the governor, 'one who gave help and encouragement to both, keeping the widow's cruse from failing, while he cheered the boy in his tremendous effort. By this gracious help the lad won his diploma, the open sesame to future success. That boy, my friends, stands before you to-day, the unworthy recipient of West Virginia's highest honor, and he has the pleasure of introducing to you'—but here the big governor's voice almost failed him—'the friend and helper of his boyhood, who has kept this story a profound secret for twenty five years!'

"Did the audience cheer? Wait till you hear a West Virginia audience! And it was well they gave Dr. Lafferty time to recover his poise, for his native wit was for once entirely put to rout by the unexpected introduction. But he did not disown his connection with the story told. It is refreshing to come upon these green spots in the lives of our men of prominence, and to know that brotherly helpfulness often goes on when the world knows it not."—Exchange.

THE

WALL AND MOONEY

School for Boys,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

Discipline rigid, expenses reasonable, instruction thorough.

CHANCELLOR J. H. KIRKLAND, of Vanderbilt University, says:

"The academy of Messrs. Wall and Mooney is one of the very best training-schools, so far as my knowledge extends, within the Southern States."

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt and other leading Universities without examination. Engage a place beforehand.

For catalogue address

W. D. MOONEY.

Mention this paper.

HYGIENE.

Don't Go to Extremes.

BY DR. DIO LEWIS.

Several chapters of a book I was writing were read to a little gathering of physicians, and they said: "Don't go to extremes."

"Is it not right, gentlemen? Would not the change I advise lead to most beneficient results?"

"Oh, certainly," they replied, "but don't go to extremes."

If you float with the current, no matter how languidly and good-for-nothingly, the world will say: nice, proper, genteel, elegant, respectable. But if you turn your prow up stream you will be astonished to find how many dear friends you have, and that they all think and say the same thing to you, "Don't go to extremes." Your life, your honor, everything else will take care of itself.

Suppose a person does not take sufficient exercise. He goes to extremes just as much as if he took more than he ought to take. Or suppose a person pays no attention to the laws of hygiene. He, too, is an extremist. Or suppose a patient is always demanding of his doctor some medicine instead of some hygienic advice, is he not an extremist? When we talk about not going to extremes let us be fair and look at the subject from all points of view. We should discriminate. The word is often abused. If a man goes to the farthest point, the verge of any matter, he goes to extremes, to the end of a subject, goes just where he should go. It is when he goes beyond this point that harm comes. Then he goes beyond extremes, which he should never do. Going to extremes in paying your debts is paying all you should and no more. Going to extremes in eating is eating exactly what you require. Going to extremes in exercise is exercising just enough. Going to extremes in sleeping is sleeping enough and no more. I am aware this is not the sense in which the word is generally used, but it is the correct sense. Let us then not be afraid of going to extremes, but of going beyond them.

Self-Development.

Parents often feel in doubt as to how to educate their children; but of one thing they should never doubt; that is, that everyone must in the main educate himself, no matter how many or how capable his teachers may be. Herbert Spencer puts it correctly when he says: "In education the process of self-development should be encouraged to the fullest extent. Children should be led to make their own investigations and to draw their own inferences. They should be told as little as possible, and induced to discover as much as possible. Humanity has progressed solely by self-instruction; and that to achieve the best results each mind must progress somewhat after the same fashion, is continually proved by the marked success of self-made men."

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

SALADS AND RELISHES.—To make a new and delicious salad, select large ripe tomatoes, cut a circle from the stem end of each one, and take out the pulp with a sharp knife, being careful not to break the skin. Chop up the pulp together with one fresh cucumber, peeled, and a slice of onion; season with pepper, salt, and a little nice oil, and set in the ice-box with the skins to get quite cold. Make at the same time a thick mayonnaise, and set that also in a cold place.

Just before serving-time fill the skins with the chopped mixture, draining off all superfluous liquid, and put a large spoonful of the mayonnaise on top of each one.

Olives are also improved in taste and appearance by being placed on a bed of cracked ice, and, in Summer particularly, attention to all these little details makes part of the difference between a good table and one which is carelessly and indifferently served. It takes time and forethought, but many women consider this not too large a price to pay for the enjoyment which the dinner hour brings to the tired workers of the household.—Mary F. Harman, in Harper's Bazar.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of Medicine. Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address

Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New York.

SUMMERING IN THE NORTH AND EAST

The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Resorts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

ST. LOUIS CHICAGO CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE

maintained by the

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask your local railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley

RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:05 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex.....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, East, North-East, AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST AND

TO CINCINNATI AND THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A. New Orleans, La.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON.

ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood, and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y., and all Druggists.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour,
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401-1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

OBITUARIES

ASHFORD—Lelia V Ashford, wife of S. A. Ashford, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A Emmett Jackson, died April 5, 1896, in the forty-third year of her age. She was laid to rest in Old Scooba Cemetery scarcely two months before her younger sister. She was the eldest child, and her father makes the following lament:

"Well do I remember the time when this, the first sweet and bright little bud of future promise made its advent into this sinful world. With what tender care and anxiety we watched o'er it in all the vicissitudes which follow us from the cradle to the grave! I have seen them all, from the time when the peer was first found in the mother's eye until the weary pilgrim halted at the entrance of the dark valley, and for the last time fondly embraced the loved ones she was leaving behind. Little did I think that I, too, would be a tiring witness on this occasion. But such is life; we know not the path that lies before us.

"Lelia from a child, had as few faults as anyone we ever knew. She became a member of the Methodist Church at the age of fifteen years. She loved her church, and lived up to its requirements.

When she became conscious that her last hour was drawing nigh, she requested that her children be called to her bedside; then, after kissing them and directing a message to her daughter, Kate, who was absent attending school, and pronouncing God's blessing upon them she lingered for a little time upon the verge of earth, and then the immortal spirit calmly took its flight to the God who gave it.

"As we bend above the dark 'arcana' of the grave the 'still, small voice' is some way tells me that we will see each other again."

H. G. Hawkins.

WHITSETT—Mrs. Emma Loutea Whitsett, wife of Jno. C. Whitsett, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs A Emmett Jackson, was born Dec 4, 1835 and died May 23, 1896. She was born and spent her life in Kemper county, Miss. She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church from her thirteenth year until death. She was married to Mr. Jno. C. Whitsett in the year 1860, and by this marriage they were blessed with six children, four of whom survive her. She died calmly, and we never saw the last hours of a mortal on earth more peacefully serene. Willing and even desiring to live, if it were God's will, for the sake of her husband and children, especially the little baby one, yet, by a meek submission, she was truly well prepared to meet her God, and be transmitted from earth's cares and toils to the happy eternal realms.

She called her husband, the four little children, and her relatives around her dying couch, bade each an earthly farewell, and hopefully besought them to meet her in heaven where her Savior was calling her, and ere long the waiting angels bide her welcome to her heavenly Father's home "that home not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

We buried her, amid sad, but glorious song, in the family graveyard of Old Scooba Cemetery, where her earthly remains rest, awaiting the sound of the resurrection morn.

H. G. Hawkins.

BROWN—Johnnie Q. Brown, Jr., oldest son of Jno. Q. and Mary Elizabeth Brown, was born March 22, 1883, and died Sept 3, 1895, of typhoid fever, having been sick two weeks. He never participated in any quarrel with his schoolmates; was of quiet disposition and industrious habits. He joined the church under the pastorate of Rev. D. C Lengford several years ago, and his death was the occasion of his parents joining the church.

George Washington Brown was born March 29, 1887, and died of congestion June 7, 1896. He, too, was a good boy, with a disposition much like that of his brother. They were buried side by side in the graveyard at Blansville, Miss. George's death was at first a severe blow to the faith of the father, who prayed an earnestly that his son be spared. But God's will was done Scarcely a year were the brothers separated, and now methinks they enjoy each other's company in the other land. We would not call them back to earth's toil and trouble if we could.

H. G. Hawkins.

TURNAGE—Mrs. M F. Turnage (nee Stewart) was born Nov. 13, 1860; was married to J. C. Turnage, Aug. 14, 1894, and died Jan. 1 1896.

Sister Turnage was a kind and genial friend to all in youth, an obedient child, a true and faithful wife, and a loyal member of the M. E Church, South, for twenty-one years. Her love for the Savior brought pleasure in his service, and in that service she found resources for her own spiritual growth and living power which she used to advance the cause of Christ.

In the Sunday-school work she was a ready, willing helper, for she fully appreciated the possibilities of this arm of church effort in shaping moral character, which, in turn, would exert a controlling influence for good in the church and world. Her life was pure throughout, and its end calm, peaceful, triumphant.

Her companionship with Bro. Turnage, though short, was altogether such as becomes a devoted wife and step-mother, being always painstaking and careful for every interest of the domestic circle, making home cheerful, happy, and desirable.

To her aged mother, two brothers and other sorrowing friends, I would say: "Weep not as those who have no hope," for our "Mollie" has passed out of the troubles of this and rejoices in the light and glory of a better world. I knew her in youth, married her and Bro. Turnage, and was with her during her last hours on earth, and expect to meet her in heaven.

G. W. Brown.

OUSLEY—Mrs Rachel Ella Ousley (nee Powell) was born in Attala county, Miss., April 4, 1878, [illegible] 1898, and died in Holmes county, near Thornton, May 15, 1896, and was buried in Attala county, May 17. She joined the Protestant Methodist Church in August, 1809; but during her last illness, which confined her to her bed six or eight months, she united with the M. E. Church, South, together with her husband.

Her suffering was long and severe, but she was patient and submissive. She showed great interest, even in her weak and helpless condition, in the welfare of the church of which she had just become a member, and often expressed a desire to recover, so that she could be a regular attendant at preaching. The writer rejoices indeed that it was his privilege to know her and be with her as pastor before she died She had all the attention that was necessary, and medical skill seems to have been exhausted in trying to restore her. She leaves no children, but a devoted husband and other relatives and a host of friends May they all meet her in that land where such parting is unknown!

T. B. Cottrell.

Lake City, Miss.

TANKERSLY—Mrs. J. O. Tankersly (nee Blackwell) was born in Georgia, Aug. 17, 1834; moved to Louisiana in 1851; was married to Jno. O. Tankersly, Dec. 24, 1856, who preceded her to the grave and beyond five years She was the mother of four children. A son and daughter went on before. Two daughters remain—Mrs. A. K Clingman and Mrs. J. L. Ferguson. She died at her home in Homer, La., June 14, 1896. She was a member of the M. E. Church, South, nearly fifty years. In all these years she exemplified the Christian life in a remarkable way. She was a lover of the sanctuary when well. She was nearly always in her place in the house of God. She was helpful to her pastor. She was a good hearer of the Word. She was a bright and hopeful Christian. She met death bravely and without a fear. She measured up to the standard of a true woman in all the spheres of life, being a true and good wife, a fond and loving mother, and a faithful friend. A large and weeping multitude followed her remains from the church to the grave Asleep in Jesus, she rests.

P. A. Johnston.

Homer, La.

TURNER—Mrs. M E Turner was born in Alabama, Sept. 17, 1815. She moved to Louisiana when quite young. She was twice married first to Harry Ikeker; afterwards to Silas Turner. She was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church. She was a good and true woman. Two sons and a daughter survive her. All of them are members of the M E. Church, South As the Savior has said: "Come, ye blessed of my Father; when I was sick ye ministered unto me," we believe she is in that number. She was helpful, indeed, unto the sick. In the sick room she was as an angel of mercy; hence, when she was sick, the whole community vied with each other to minister unto her.

She died in her home in Homer, La., triumphantly, June 30, 1896. The whole community of Homer feel that they have lost a true and tried friend P. A. Johnston.

Homer, La.

MULLENNIX—Mayhew Mullennix was a native of South Caroline; born June 15, 1815; moved to Alabama while young, and from there to Calhoune parish, La., in 1854; was twice married; both of his companions preceded him to the spirit land. He was the father of seven children; four of them survive him. He was a member of the M. E. Church, South, over fifty years. He was a great sufferer. He died June 27, 1896, aged eighty-one years and twelve days. He was fond of and appreciated his pastors. He spoke frequently of Bro T. J. Upton, and has enjoyed his pastoral visits. We laid him in the grave in Talip Graveyard, June 28, with the hope of meeting him in heaven, where parting is no more.

P. A. Johnston.

Homer, La.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

It is instructive to notice how each living thing takes from the sunbeam what it wants—one its aroma, another its color, a third its luscious taste. So should we extract from Christ whatever we require to complete our character. The short-tempered must take patience; the passionate, purity; the cowardly, moral strength; the domineering, patience; the downcast, comfort. We must not simply pray for them, but take them.—F. B. Meyer.

All Skin Disorders

from simple Pimples to obstinate Eczema and Tetter can be quickly and permanently cured by the simple application of

HEISKELL'S OINTMENT.

It makes the skin soft, smooth and healthy, producing a clear and brilliant complexion.

50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.

JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., Philadelphia.

Edward McGehee College for Girls

Has just been rebuilt in latest modern style, in the midst of one of the most beautiful and healthful parks on earth.

Course of Study equal to the best.

Board and Tuition to suit the times.

Faculty all true and tried successful specialists.

Fall session opens Sept. 2, 1896.

Before placing your girls, write

J. A. MONROE, A. M., Pres't,
Woodville, Miss.

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the customs and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free.

GLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich.

Manufacturers of Furniture for Churches, Chapels, Sunday Schools and Assembly Rooms.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

We Make a Specialty of Designing and Manufacturing School Pins and Emblems,

And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER

IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,

Bourbon Street, - - - Near Canal.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,000. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address

Pres't. Wm. W. Smith, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

BELLS

Steel Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

E. W. VANDUZEN CO., Successors to the Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Selected Copper and E. India Tin. CHURCH BELLS PEALS AND CHIMES. Rotary Hangings and Friction Rollers. Improved Mountings. Entire Outfit. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Washington College

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings in a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city.

T. McKEE, President
J. ROBERT GOUGH, Secy.
Washington, D. C.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and is an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

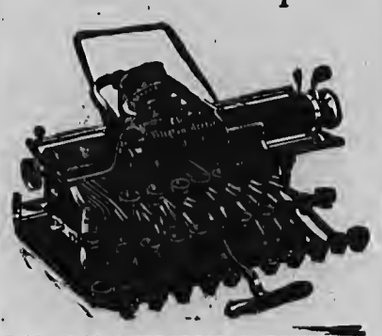
F. R. Hardon, Millinery,

Old No. 29 Chartres Street—Now 139.

New Orleans, La.

Millinery Novelties a specialty—always the very latest style. Prices moderate. Particular attention paid to Country orders.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

Price, $35.00 Weight, 6 lbs.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, State Agent,
Cheneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
807 Common Street, (Room 43, New Orleans.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

I. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

324-330 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.,
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Advocate.

Something Good in Dixie.

"Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good delight to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes so unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of this Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a "veritable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended in church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 468 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN GILMAN,
403 W. Hut St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

Successor to Huntsville Female College. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers Everything new. Every department of female education taught New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue

A. B. JONES, President.

Southern Seminary and Conservatory of Music

1867-1896 BOWLING GREEN, VA

REV E. H. ROWE, President. PROF. J. B. GRASS, Director of Music.
Late Pres't Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. (Graduate of Conservatory of Munich, Bavaria, and Fellow Royal Society of England.)

Departments of Languages and Literature, (besides Ancient and Modern Languages, etc., rare advantages in English under Specialist in English from Vassar) Science—Art—Music—Elocution and Business. Social Culture: Through systematic efforts and association of officers and teachers with students. Distinguishing feature of this institution. Location: Northern Virginia near Washington, D.C., offering rare advantages to young ladies from lower Southern States (See Prospectus.) Healthful: picturesque; accessible. No change of cars from Atlanta, Ga. Terms reasonable Special rates to ministers and to teachers. Session opens Sept. 9 Write for prospectus and further information

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

STATE METHODIST INSTITUTION.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Send for Catalogue.

T. S. Sloan, President.

Belhaven College for Young Ladies,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Celebrated for its high standard of scholarship. Teachers progressive and enthusiastic. A thorough musical education after the method of the foremost Conservatories. Elocution and Art taught as specialties. Best home influences. Careful physical training. Beautiful campus of twelve acres. Elegant Buildings with steam heating apparatus, Electric Lights and Hot and Cold Baths. Perfect sanitary arrangements. Third session begins September 16. Send for handsomely illustrated catalogue.

L. T. Fitzhugh, A. M.,
President.

Nashville College —FOR— Young Ladies.

108 Vauxhall Place,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Rev. GEO. W. F. PRICE, D. D., President.
Rev. W. F. MELTON, A.M., Ph.D., Vice-President.

Leading Southern College for Women.

Three grand buildings, amply lighted, thoroughly heated, finely ventilated. Curriculum extensive. Twenty resident officers; seven Vanderbilt lecturers. Scientific experiments in the Laboratories of the University. Languages, Literature, Musical Conservatory, Art, Gymnasium, Dress-making, Stenography, Typewriting. Admirable climate. Health unexcelled. Tennessee Centennial Exposition, May-November, 1897. Ample provision made for pupils to attend. College located on the grandest thoroughfare of the city, along which all public parades pass. Cars direct to the Exposition in few minutes. Send for Catalogue.

The Holman Self-Pronouncing S. S. Teachers' Bible

Divinity Circuit, Round Corners, etc.

Contains the Following Helps to the Study of the Bible.

Concordance, with Contexts, over 40,000 References; Index to Persons, Places and Subjects, 16,000 References; Scripture Atlas, with Index; Glossary of Bible Words; Bible Calendar; Summary and Analyses of the Old and New Testaments.

A Self-Pronouncing Dictionary of Proper Names and Foreign Words contained in the Bible, comprising about 3,500 words, giving the pronunciation, the meaning, and the location of the text where the word occurs for the first time.

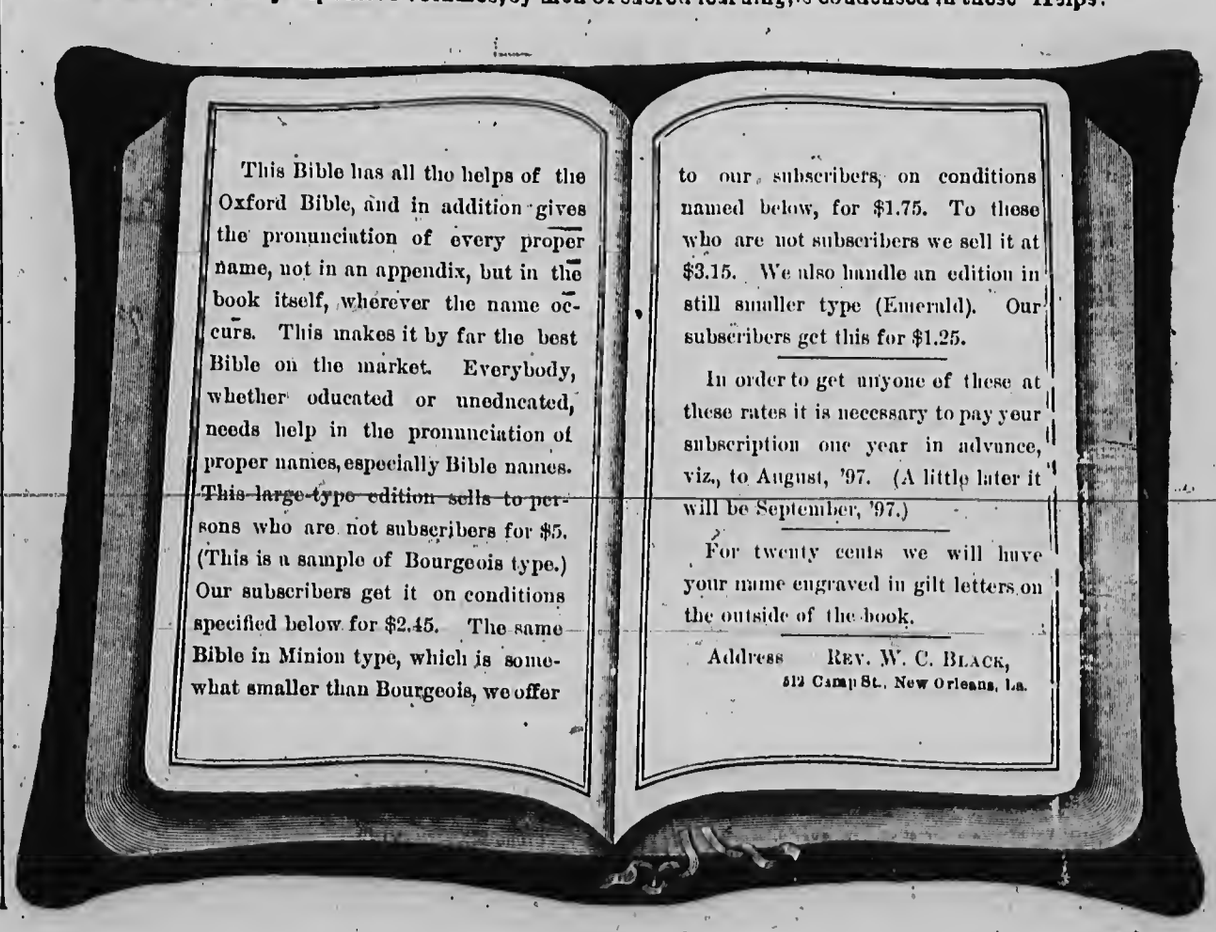
Exhaustive Articles on Biblical History, Geography, Topography, Natural History, Ethnology, Botany, Chronology, Music and Poetry; a Complete Harmony of the Gospels, Tables of Parables, Miracles, Prophecies, Prayers, Money, Weights and Measures, Jewish Sects and Orders, etc.

TWELVE FULL-PAGE MAPS IN COLORS.

Every proper name in the text is syllabified and accented, and has the vowels marked according to the most authoritative modern standards of pronunciation. The text is in exact conformity with that of the world-famous Oxford S. S. Teacher's Bible. All the valuable "Helps to the Study of the Bible" contained in the Oxford Bible are retained.

The only Teacher's Bible with a self-pronouncing text. No similar Bible was ever obtainable heretofore; in fact, no publishers ever attempted its publication.

"The essence of fifty expensive volumes, by men of sacred learning, is condensed in these 'Helps.'"



This Bible has all the helps of the Oxford Bible, and in addition gives the pronunciation of every proper name, not in an appendix, but in the book itself, wherever the name occurs. This makes it by far the best Bible on the market. Everybody, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in the pronunciation of proper names, especially Bible names. This large-type edition sells to persons who are not subscribers for $5. (This is a sample of Bourgeois type.) Our subscribers get it on conditions specified below for $2.45. The same Bible in Minion type, which is somewhat smaller than Bourgeois, we offer to our subscribers, on conditions named below, for $1.75. To these who are not subscribers we sell it at $3.15. We also handle an edition in still smaller type (Emerald). Our subscribers get this for $1.25.

In order to get anyone of these at these rates it is necessary to pay your subscription one year in advance, viz., to August, '97. (A little later it will be September, '97.)

For twenty cents we will have your name engraved in gilt letters on the outside of the book.

Address Rev. W. C. Black,
512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The court house in Kosciusko, Miss., was burned on the twenty-fifth. Loss partly covered by insurance. Most of the records were saved.

Monsignor Satolli will retain his functions as papal delegate in the United States until the next papal consistory, when he will go to Rome and receive the cardinal's hat.

The Silverites, in convention in St. Louis last week, nominated the Democratic ticket, Bryan and Sewall, and adopted a platform quite in line with that adopted by the Democratic party.

The steamboat "Paul Tulane," which ran between this city and Bayou Sara, struck a log and sunk on her return trip last week. No lives were lost and no one injured. Value of boat, $45 000.

Wm. J Bryan is the nominee for President of three parties, and represents Democracy, Populism and Silverism. The Populists have ignored Sewall, the running mate of Bryan, and have nominated Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, for Vice-President.

The gold standard Democrats will hold a national convention not later than Sept. 2. Where this convention will be held and how the delegates will be selected remains to be decided. The national committee, in whose hands will be left the selection of the place of holding the convention, will meet in Indianapolis in August.

The seventh annual encampment of the Mississippi National Guard will take place at Jackson, Miss., beginning July 30, and lasting until Aug 8. This will be the first annual encampment for which a direct appropriation has been made by the Legislature, showing the growth in popular favor of the National Guard.

Insist Upon Hood's Sarsaparilla when you need a medicine to purify your blood, strengthen your nerves and give you an appetite. There can be no substitute for Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation. 25c.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Tibbee	Aug. 1, 2
Macon station	8, 9
Shoqualak (Mon.)	10
Hebron	15, 16
Columbus circuit	20, 21
Columbus station	22, 23
Crawford	29, 30
Cedar Bluff	Sept. 5, 6
West Point	8, 7
Singleton (Thurs.)	10
Winstonville	12, 13

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Marietta circuit, at Marietta	Aug. 1, 2
Brown's Creek circuit, at Siloam	8, 9
Blue Springs cir., at Sherman (Fri.)	14
Ripley and New Albany sta., at N. A.	15, 13
Ripley circuit, at Jacob's Chapel	22, 23
Jonesboro cir., at Camp G (Wed.)	26
New Albany circuit, at Wells' Chapel	28, 30
Saltillo circuit, at Mooreville	Sept. 5, 6

HESLEP R. TUCKER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

West, at Bowling Green	Aug. 1, 2
Mehnit, at Sunnyside	8, 9
Carrollton circuit, at —	15, 13
Sidon, at Sidon	22, 23
Dublin and Brooklyn, at —	29, 30
Black Hawk, at —	Sept. 5, 6

J. B. STONE, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Houston mission	July 31
Bonna Vista circuit	Aug. 1, 2
Houston	8, 9
Aberdeen circuit	14
Quincy	15, 16
Tremont circuit	21
Fulton	22, 23
Amory	29, 30
Okolona circuit	Sept. 5, 6

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Red Banks circuit, at Bailey's C. G	Aug. 1, 2
East Holly Springs cir., at Mt Hope	8, 9
Cornersville circuit, at Friendship	15, 16
Mt. Pleasant cir., at Marshall Institute	22, 23
Ashland circuit, at Black Jack	29, 30
Pentotoc circuit	Sept. 5, 6
Ashland circuit	12, 13

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Salem, at Bethel	Aug. 1, 2
Ethel at Marvin	7
Ackerman at Liberty Hill	8, 9
Walthall, at Shady Grove	14
Eupora at Eupora	15, 16
Chester, at South Union	22, 23
Ashton	28
Ebenezer, at Bethany	29, 30
Rural Hill	Sept. 4
Louisville	5, 6

The brethren will have their church registers and records of Church Conferences at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—THIRD ROUND.

Water Valley—Main Street	Aug. 1, 2
Slate Springs, at Cross Roads	8, 9
Etney, at George's Chapel (Tues.)	11
Paris, at Pleasant Hill (Fri.)	13
Pittsboro, at — (Fri.)	15, 16
Chapel Hill, at — (Fri.)	21

H. C. MORREHEAD, P. E.

The federal census of Mexico, which has just been completed, shows a population of 12 542,057. The City of Mexico has a population of 339 935.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at $1 per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

University of Mississippi.

The number of persons graduating from the University at the close of the last session was just fifty. This is the largest graduating class in any year since the founding of the University, excepting the year 1881, when fifty-one diplomas were issued.

Wyatt's Business Colleges,

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

BUSINESS NOTICES

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Next Session Opens September 16.

Full graduate as well as under graduate courses. Ten Fellowships for college graduates. Seven departments Academic, Engineering, Biblical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Dental, Medical. Fully equipped laboratories and museums.

WILS WILLIAMS, SECRETARY.

HOLLY SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Epworth College

(Formerly MALONE)

Is located in Holly Springs, which is situated at the intersection of the Illinois Central and Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroads, into which ten passenger trains come and go every day.

Holly Springs is the highest point in the State of Mississippi, according to the geological survey, and the highest point on the railroad between New Orleans and Chicago; hence it is noted for its healthfulness. The success of the college for the last five years has been unprecedented under the circumstances. We expect still greater success under my successor, S. A. STEEL and Rev. R. M. STANDIFER, who will make such improvements as time and experience may suggest. I shall remain in the college as business manager until December, and will take great pleasure in giving to the patrons of the college any information they may desire.

I call special attention to our very reasonable terms.

TERMS PER MONTH.

Board, fuel, lights and laundry	$11 00
Tuition in Collegiate department	5 00
Tuition in Academic department	4 00

EXTRA EXPENSE.

French, German or Greek (each)	1 50
Instrumental music	4 00
Voice culture (private lessons)	4 00
No charge for chorus training or use of piano.
Crayon, pastel, water colors and oil	4 00
Elocution (private lessons)	4 00
Elocution in class	1 00
Diploma (graduation fee)	5 00
Violin, mandolin, guitar (each)	4 00

Payments must be made quarterly in advance.

For preachers' daughters everything will be divided by two.

Catalogue furnished on application.

J. W. HONSOLL, Business Manager.

Holly Springs, Miss., July 15, 1896.

Millwood Female Institute,

NEAR JACKSON, LA.

A SCHOOL OF HIGH GRADE.

Beautiful location, and health record unsurpassed. The fall session will begin Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1896. Offers superior advantages to young ladies who desire thorough equipment for life-work. Faculty complete and competent. Some of the higher branches will be taught by members of the faculty of Centenary College. For particulars, as to board tuition, etc., address

MISS A. M. C. PEARCE, Principal.

Jackson, La.

AS AN EDUCATOR

Centenary College has done as much for Louisiana as any school in the State. It has done more for the church than any school in the Southwest. The good work is still going on, and getting better all the time. The next session begins Sept. 2. Send for catalogue and see our easy terms.

Rev. C. W. Carter, Pres.

Jackson, La.

Established 1857.

The Great LIGHT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for churches, halls and public buildings. Send size of room. Book of light and estimate free. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, New York.

Camp Meetings.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting under the auspices of the Henington Camp Meeting Association will begin on Thursday, [illegible] and continue for ten days. Rev. Geo. B. Smart, of Tennessee, will conduct the services the greater part of the time. Better arrangments then ever have been made for the accommodation of all who attend.

Ministers of the gospel are earnestly invited to attend and will be provided for free of expense. The usual reduction of rates of railroad fare will be made by the I. C. R. R. from all points of the line. A cordial invitation is extended to all who desire to come.

M. L. Burton, Secretary.

Crystal Springs, Miss., July 15, 1896.

The Palmer Creek Camp Meeting will begin on Thursday before the first Sunday in October, 1896, and will continue from four to six days. Those coming by rail will get off at Redmond, and crossing on the Gulf and Ship Island R. R., 2½ miles from camp ground, where there will be met by hack, &c.

A public tent will be kept by Mr L. R. Reaves, who will furnish meals at 25 cents and lodging at 20 cents. Ministers of the gospel, as well as all others, are cordially invited to attend.

G. R. Finch, P. C.
Preacher in Charge

Camp meeting at French Settlement, Livingston parish, will commence Aug 28 Ministers are invited to attend. Board and lodging will be furnished them free Place can be reached by steamer "Louise" from New Basin, New Orleans, she leaving there at 3 P. M. on Thursdays.

MARRIAGES.

BRILEY—STOWERS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Hon. James Stowers, near Feyette, Miss., July 19, 1896, by Rev. Jas. G. Gallowey, Mr. C. F. Briley to Miss Annie J. Stowers.

ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

RELIEVED BY ONE APPLICATION OF

Cuticura

Speedy Cure Treatment.—Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, gentle applications of Cuticura (ointment), and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, greatest of humor cures.

Sold throughout the world. Price, Cuticura, 50c. Soap, 25c. Resolvent, 50c. and $1. Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

"How to Cure Itching Skin Diseases," mailed free.

MARY BALDWIN SEMINARY

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA.

Term begins Sept. 2d, 1896. Located in Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Unsurpassed climate, grounds and appointments. Board, etc., with full English course, $250. Music, Languages, Elocution, Art, Bookkeeping, and Physical Culture, extra. For Catalogue address

M. ST. BALDWIN, Principal.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.

Letters, Science, Engineering, Law, Medicine.

Session begins 15th September.

Mild climate. Excellent gymnasium. For catalogues address

WM. M. THORNTON, LL.D., Chairman.

BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.

UNLIKE OTHER BELLS, SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICED. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.

Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

East Mississippi Female College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for Fifteen Years.

Renovated, improvements added, Director of Music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best institutions in the South.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, ART AND ELOCUTION.

RATES LOW.

One Scholarship of Free Tuition

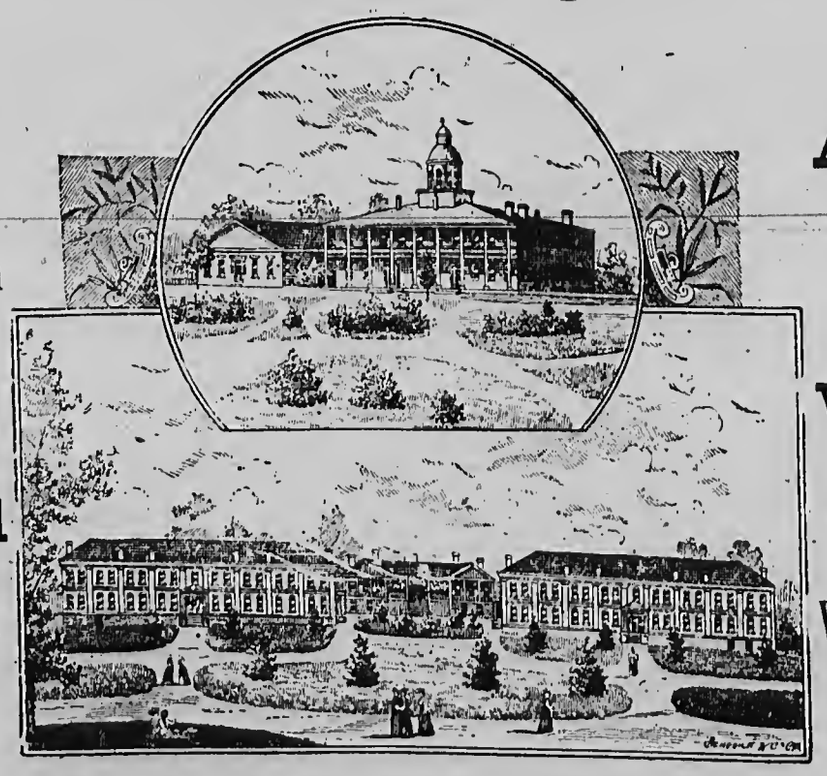
given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder.

For further information and handsome new Catalogue, address

J. W. Beeson, President.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE

"I want a Christian Education for my daughter. Where shall I send her?"



Anxious fathers and mothers will make no mistake if they send to Whitworth College

BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

Because it is an old institution with an honorable history and a glorious future.

Because it has a healthful location, pure water and delightful accommodations.

Because it has a faculty abreast of the times, sound in head and heart.

Because it has a Christian atmosphere. The Epworth League, the prayer meetings and the revival fires are what my child need

Because nowhere else do you find better advantages in Art, Elocution, Voice, Piano and Violin.

Last, but not Least, the price is within the reach of all.

BOARD, WASHING AND TUITION FOR TEN MONTHS TO

14	Young Ladies (who do not object to work)	$ 40.00
40	Young Ladies (under certain conditions)	100.00
50	Young Ladies (Johnson Hall)	125.00
90	Young Ladies (Margaret Hall)	150.00

Write at once for Catalogue and other information to the President,

Rev. John W. Chambers, Brookhaven, Miss

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 32. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2085

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

THE SEA.

BY BERNARD BARTON.

Beautiful, sublime and glorious!
Mild, majestic, foaming, free,
Over time itself victorious,
Image of eternity!

Sun and moon and stars shine o'er thee,
See thy surface ebb and flow,
Yet attempt not to explore thee
In thy soundless depths below.

Whether morning's splendors steep thee
With the rainbow's glowing grace,
Tempests rouse, or navies sweep thee,
'Tis but for a moment's space.

Earth her valleys and her mountains,
Mortal man's bereals obey;
The unfathomable fountains
Scoff his search and scorn his sway.

Such art thou, stupendous ocean!
But, if overwhelmed by thee,
Can we think, without emotion,
What must thy Creator be?

—Exchange.

Communications.

What of the Convents?

BY SCOTT F. HERSHEY, PH.D.

The very safety of the government rests on the supremacy of law. One power has always opposed the supremacy in the United States over a certain class of institutions. This power is the Roman Catholic Church. Its institutions are conducted in violation of both the principle and letter of our laws, and the church coolly nullifies the law at pleasure. This right to abrogate civil law is clearly expressed in the organic law of that church. According to the latest issue of her canon law, bearing the authorization of the Pope (that of Smith), it is expressly held that the church alone can define the jurisdiction of the civil power, and warn the State off the domain of the Church.

Nowhere is this shown more than in the management of her conventical institutions. They are run contrary to law in every particular. Long ago we should have taken this Spanish importation of the Romish Inquisition into hand. The convent is subversive of rights and liberties, and ought to be made subject to law, or abolished altogether. They are rivals of the working classes, of conducing, in the larger cities, extensive industrial enterprises, and so reducing their field for a livelihood. In some of the countries of Europe this has contributed to the cause for their suppression. There is a bad odor about the convent. There are too many tales of wrong, crime and vice issuing from these places. No Protestant Church in the land could survive under a like unsavory odor. Have we a lower standard for the Roman Catholic Church?

The convent is Spanish and cruel. It is more like the Spanish Inquisition in its cruel methods than anything we have in this country. According to the latest issued canon law of the Roman Church, the church has the right, and irrespective of any civil law, to punish by fines, whippings, imprisonment, and even death. No reasonable person, informed with the facts of convent life, doubts that this law is enforced behind the convent walls. Some of us know of actual cases investigated. The convent establishment is contrary to our law in every particular. We have two fundamental principles of constitutional law bearing upon this subject of individual rights. The one is that of those "certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;" the other declaring that "no person shall be deprived of liberty without due process of law." Out of these have sprung an elaborate system of statutory provision to protect the just liberties of the individual. Thousands are held by restraint behind convent keys, deprived of all show of these guaranteed rights. It is a thing wonderfully strange to contemplate that our people submit to such wrongs against their fellow-beings.

The most recent report issued by the Roman Catholic Church covering these institutions, which happens to be at my hand, is for the year 1894. In that year is reported seventy convents for the diocese of Boston alone, with twenty-two monastic institutions, which are fully as bad as the convent, and quite as un-American in their character.

In the entire United States there were, in 1894, 1,405 convents. Each of these is a prison, not established by law, but forcibly holding in confinement women who have committed no crime. If certain calculations and estimates made are not wholly misleading, these places hold about sixty inmates. This makes an aggregate of 84,300 conventical prisoners in the United States. Close by this statement I desire to make that made by a Catholic authority, that there are only three hundred total abstainers from strong drink among the 6,000 priests in the United States, and refers to the provision made in the law of that church for a lighter penalty against ecclesiastics who keep concubines than for having wives.

The convent door should be opened for civil inspection and the call of any friends of the inmates, or the thing abolished. In every country in Europe, except Great Britain, the convents have been made subject to State inspection, or made liable to suppression. In some countries they have been abolished. I think it was some twenty years ago they were all suppressed in Italy but about two. Mexico has had to take up the convent and monastery evil with a strong hand.

The gigantic fault of the American people is, that we allow an evil to grow until it becomes entrenched in power almost equal to that of the national government.

Boston.

In the Living Present.

Mentone, France, was formerly much frequented by consumptives. The atmosphere specially beneficial to such visitors. Up to that time the inhabitants unusually healthy. Now pulmonary ailments general. Waiting so much on visiting invalids has left them a heritage of consumption. The atmosphere, earth and water pregnant with the destructive bacilli.

In New Orleans three fashionable club houses, each of which costs more than fifty thousand dollars, are in process of erection. Invaded the residence portion of the city. Club life and family life are antipodes. Whither are we drifting? "Watchman, what of the night?"

Worry is the poison of our age. It destroys soul and body. Religious and pecuniary bankruptcy the result. Pessimism supreme. Even the rainbow is veiled in black. Thoughts obtuse, opinions confuse. Brooding, chafing. Sighing, crying. Stop. Your trouble is largely subjective, not objective. We suggest medical treatment. Do your best, and leave the seemingly impossible to God.

One of our Advocates recently suggested that one sermon on Sunday would be enough. A song service would best answer the purpose at night. Yes, if pigmies fill pulpit and pew. We admit that scientific treatises a man can not prepare more than one a week. But sermons should not be such. Where are the followers of John Wesley? Even in our day the "old story" is relished.

". . Those who know it best
Seem hungering and thirsting
To hear it."

Bishop McCabe talked very flippantly about sermons; sermons which may have brought thousands to Christ. He commenced his lecture on "The Bright Side of Life in Libby Prison," delivered on the eve of his election to the episcopacy, with: "This lecture is thirty-two years old. It is, in fact, the oldest chestnut in Methodism—unless it be some sermons of our Bishops."

The Catholic Church secured the privilege of erecting and maintaining a Charity Hospital in Dallas, Texas. Ground for same was donated by the city. The building used for said purpose hitherto has been transferred to that same church for a "House of Good Shepherd." Thus Romanism prospers. The Sisters of Charity are its misleading advertisement. Protestants suffer themselves to be duped.

Many neglect little things. Deeming themselves great, they wait for the accomplishment of something great. But they wait in vain. Have greatness thrust on them only as on the lean little man in a crowded street car by a fat, tall fellow-passenger, who, in order to obtain a seat, almost sat on his lap. Up, and doing. Little drops of water make the mighty ocean. Steven Foster, a farm-hand in Pennsylvania, yearned to write an oratorio superior to any of Beethoven and Mozart. He tried, and miserably failed. He was advised to attempt something inferior. This he heeded. Thus he produced "Old Folks at Home," and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginy, My Home."

ICH DIEN.

Correspondence.

Seashore Inter-State Epworth League Conference.

At 8 A. M., of Friday, July 24, after religious services, led by Rev. Geo. D. Parker, of Centenary College, the Rev. J. Perry Drake conducted a most interesting Bible reading on "Early Piety." At 11 the Rev. J. M. Mason, D.D., of Alabama, spoke eloquently upon the "Design and Scope of the League." At 8 P. M. a paper prepared by Rev. H. R. Singleton, of Baton Rouge, La., was read by Dr. Featherstun, on "Has This Design Been Met?" That closed the first day.

Saturday the talented young Louisianian, Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, rendered a most delightful song service and address on "Hymnology." At 11 the eminent Mobile divine, Dr. J. W. Shonff, entranced his audience by his wonderful discourse on "The Influence of Sacred Song in the Formation of Religious Character." At 8 P. M. Rev. W. G. Forsyth, of Pearlington, Miss., one of the foremost of Mississippi's young preachers, delivered a thoughtful address on "The Study of the Sacred Scriptures."

Sunday was the royal day. Rev. T. W. Brown, of Mississippi, held an inspiring prayer and praise service at 8, and Bishop J. C. Keener preached at 11 on "The Work of the Holy Spirit." Such a theme, handled by such a preacher, marked that service as the best of the Conference. Rev. J. L. Pierce, of New Orleans, and Dr. T. F. Mangum, of Alabama, did splendid work, the one telling of "The Methodist Fathers in America," and the other preaching a noble "sermon to the young." Had Dr. Mangum called the mourners, doubtless many might have been saved that night.

The Rev. C. F. Emery, of Mississippi, had in hand at 8 A. M., of Monday, the holding of a prayer, song and voluntary expression meeting, and that service will be remembered as a most delightful and profitable one. At 11 the Rev. J. M. Henry, president of the Louisiana Conference Epworth League Board, delivered himself in a thoughtful and effective way on the important topic of "Young People in Revival Work." At 8 the Rev. Dr. O. C. McGehee, of Government Street Church, Mobile, Ala., spoke in a thoroughly practical manner of "The Relation of Children to the Church."

At 8 A. M., of Tuesday, Dr. H. W. Featherstun, of Mississippi, delighted his audience by a very scholarly and able discourse on "The Probable Bearing of the League to the Future of the Church." At 11 Rev. W. H. Huntley, also of Mississippi, made a masterly and lucid talk on "The Literary Work of the Leaguers." At 8 P. M. Rev. Paul M. Brown, of Keatchie, La., discoursed on "The Devotional Work of the League." His thoughts were clear and solid, and delivered with an earnestness that produced conviction.

Wednesday, the last day of the Conference, was no whit behind the previous days in the high character of the speeches made. Rev. Robert H. Wynn, of Algiers, La., made a most sensible and thoroughly spiritual talk on the difficult subject of "League Sociables, and How to Conduct Them." He was followed by Bros. Shonff, Mangum, McGehee, Featherstun, Zable, and Sawyer. At 11 Rev. Dr. H. Urquhart, of Alabama, gave the Epworthians one of the strongest and wisest addresses made during the Conference. His subject was, "The League, and Its Relation to Missions." It was indeed refreshing to hear him insist upon loyalty to the church in all things. At night Dr. A. J. Lamar spoke grandly on "Christian Education," and was followed by Stewart Brooks, Esq., of Mobile, on "The Duty of the Church to Its Young People." That young Christian lawyer and leaguer was very conservative in his views, and, like Dr. Urquhart, spoke strongly as to the necessity for loyalty upon the part of old and young to Southern Methodist doctrines and polity. His able address should be published in the NEW ORLEANS and Alabama Advocates. The League hymn, "When the general roll is called," was sung, Rev. C. A. Powell led in prayer, and then the entire audience joined in "God be with you till we meet again," during which there was general handshaking and sincere congratulations on the grand Conference held. Dr. Lamar pronounced the benediction, and the second Inter-State Epworth League Conference became a precious and inspiring memory. It was the declared opinion of men capable of correct judgment in such matters, that the Seashore Conference reached the highest standard of excellence.

J.

Notes from Japan.

THE KWANSEI GAKUIN (OUR MISSION COLLEGE) AT KOBE.

This school, planted in 1889 by Dr. Walter R. Lambuth, about two miles east of the city of Kobe, started with eighteen pupils. It has steadily, but slowly increased in numbers till now, when the number of matriculates are about eighty. Consisting of two distinct departments from the beginning—a biblical and an academic—the success in each has been very gratifying. The course of study for the biblical students is as full as in Wesley Hall, Vanderbilt; and already several well-equipped men have graduated and joined the Conference, who are doing good work.

Last Monday, the twenty-ninth of June, the school closed its seventh year by the graduation of five young Japanese preachers. This is the largest class the Biblical Department has ever had. These also will go in a few days to their assigned fields of labor, where they will work till October, when they will join our Conference on trial. On the same day four young men were graduated from the Academic Department. One or two of these may hereafter enter the ministry.

There is to us a strong conviction that our Kwansei Gakuin is to be instrumental in doing a great work in Central Japan. Recent events here only make more evident the call of God to us to plant here around this beautiful Inland Sea a thoroughly evangelical form of Christianity.

THE GREAT TIDAL WAVE.

On the fifteenth of June, early in the morning, a great tidal wave swept in from the sea at Sendai and northwards, killing about 30,000 people. As is usually the case in Japan, the coast in that northern part of Japan is lined with towns and small villages; hence the inundation that came rolling in without previous warning suddenly drowned whole families. It is an awful calamity. Collections are being taken everywhere to help the sufferers in those districts. Besides the unprecedented loss of life, many houses and other property have been destroyed. The origin of the wave tide was away out in the sea, being evidently an earthquake.

It is gratifying to note with what splendid liberality the foreigners in the open-port settlements have responded to the relief of the Japanese in this great distress. The Queen of Great Britain has telegraphed through the British minister here her sympathy to the Emperor of Japan.

The loss of life is much greater than that of the terrible Gifu earthquake, which took place in 1891. As then, so now, missionary committees have been organized, and all will be done by the missionaries that can be done. These are strange dispensations of God's providence, but we shall better understand the reasons hereafter.

J. C. CALHOUN NEWTON.

Kobe, Japan, July 3, 1896.

Selections.

Sanctified Ingenuity.

The fact is, that many pastors and people spend too much time in lamenting the obsolescence of "old-fashioned Methodism," and in trying to galvanize into the semblance of life rovival usages and formulas which were once fraught with remarkable power, but which have to a great extent throughout large districts of the country become devitalized. Instead of using their strength in vain to resuscitate old methods they might better employ their sanctified ingenuity to devise new methods appropriate to the tastes, needs and activities of the current age.

The essential principle of Methodism in Wesley's day was "Adaptation." He found old ecclesiastical methods inert; he used his inventive genius to discover and apply new means for reaching the people. The genuine follower of Wesley will not slavishly imitate the methods of "the fathers." He will rather seek to invent modern methods for attracting the attention of unconverted men, for reaching their consciences with the truth, and for bringing them to Christ. Can anyone doubt that if Wesley were alive to-day he would be the very first to drop old-time methods which have plainly lost their timeliness and their value?—the very first to devise new means for adapting the gospel to the current needs of the age? We need a revival of sanctified enterprise, of holy and courageous ingenuity; such a quickening of the mind of devout and zealous men and women as will prompt them to be fertile and enterprising in the creation of modern methods of reaching the people.—Central Advocate.

The Party Lash.

There is no sadder commentary upon the manhood of our time than the respect in which the party lash is held among us. We abolished the whipping-post because it was felt to be degrading, but we have set up in its place an instrument of torture, from which one might look to the whipping-post as a post of honor. The whipping-post was tolerated as a terror to men who would violate their consciences; the party lash is countenanced, and by many held in honor, as a terror to those who would follow the dictates of their consciences. It is the whipping-post for respectability. We know that it is the custom of men who handle the lash to pooh-pooh the idea of its existence, just as it is the custom of ring-leaders to deny the existence of rings; but hardly a day passes during a campaign that we do not have an opportunity to see it at work. It is hard to understand why, in a country like ours, men of character, intelligence, and high social standing should be subjected to the humiliation of having a notice served upon them by some little measly, party whippersnapper to the effect that they have been "spotted," and had better look out if they vote the other way. We do not refer to any particular party. If there is a party that does not handle the lash, it is because it is not yet big enough to crack it.—Richmond Advocate.

There are few sciences more difficult to master than political economy. Probably not one in a hundred Americans has ever seriously tackled it. Of those who have at one time or another read a text-book on the subject, probably not one-half could give a clear definition of money. Of these perhaps not one-third could state the functions of money. It is doubtful whether there are a thousand Americans who could speak as one having authority on the subject. To understand the money question requires a well-balanced and thoroughly trained mind, years of wide observation and reading, and a perfectly calm judgment. In view of these facts, is it worth while for a Christian citizen to allow himself to fly into a passion, to insult his friends, or to make himself and those around him utterly wretched because everybody will not agree with him on the leading political question of the day? Would it not pay in peace and good temper to exercise the virtue of modesty, and to confess, to ourselves at least, that possibly there are some things about it which we do not understand, and then hand over the business of quarreling and raving and panic-making to those who think they know all, that we may have a better opportunity to seek the needed light?—Richmond Advocate.

A case recently tried in the Court of Queen's Bench presents several points of interest to the neurologist. A railway signal-man received a message from a box farther down the line telling him to stop an express train which was just due. Leaning out of his window and waving a red flag he saw the train approaching, with sparks and dust flying from the track and a carriage apparently off the line. The train in this condition was approaching an arch, in going through which it appeared certain that it must be wrecked; and although, fortunately, it was brought to a stand, and no one was materially hurt, the sudden horror of what he had seen, and the shock produced by the vision of a peril so imminent, so utterly unnerved the signal-man that he was unable after that to resume his work. The clinical interest of this case arises from its being an instance of a fact which is well known, but is very apt to be forgotten, viz., that "mere nervous shock," without any suggestion of physical injury, will sometimes produce so deep an impression on the nervous system as to incapacitate a man for his ordinary work for a considerable length of time, and may be to have a permanent influence on his mental life.

Judge Bryan, father of the Democratic candidate for President, is said to have been a devoutly religious man. According to Thomas E. Merritt, brother of Gen. Wesley Merritt, of the United States Army, Judge Bryan was dangerously ill shortly after reaching Illinois, and at that time made a vow that if the Lord would spare his life he would bow his head in prayer and thanksgiving to him three times a day as long as he lived, and the judge kept his word. Said Mr. Merritt: "I have seen him many and many a time when a case in court was being argued before him take out his watch at noon, stop the proceedings, get down on his knees before the bench and offer up the prayer in silence. It became so common that we never thought anything of it, but it used to cause some comment among strangers when they would happen to be in the court-room."—Northwestern Advocate.

EXAMPLE.

BY JOHN KEBLE.

We scatter seeds with careless hand,
And dream we ne'er shall see them more;
But for a thousand years
Their fruit appears,
In weeds that mar the land,
Or healthful store.

The deeds we do, the words we say,
Into still air they seem to fleet,
We count them ever past;
But they shall last -
In the dread judgment they
And we shall meet.

I charge thee by the years gone by,
For the love's sake of brethren dear,
Keep thou the one true way,
In work and play,
Lest in that world their cry
Of woe thou hear.

- Exchange.

Correspondence.

Mississippi Epworth League Conference.

The second State Epworth League Conference met at Crystal Springs (Miss.), Camp Grounds on Friday morning, July 24. After devotional exercises conducted by Rev. T. W. Lewis, of Grenada, the following officers were duly elected and installed: President, Rev. T. B. Clifford, Water Valley, Miss.; first vice-president, Miss Vie Thompson, Tupelo, Miss.; second vice-president, Dr. J. C. Ballard, Natchez, Miss.; third vice-president, J. C. Cavitt, Meridian, Miss.; recording secretary, Miss Eleanor Ormond, Meridian, Miss.; assistant secretary, W. N. DeLoach, Grenada, Miss.; corresponding secretary and treasurer, Rev. J. A. Randolph, Greenville, Miss.

The president delivered a very strong and logical address. The address of welcome in behalf of the good people of Crystal Springs was delivered by Rev. M. L. Burton, pastor of the Methodist Church, and was very ably and eloquently responded to by W. N. Magrader, of Starkville.

The various committees completing the organization were duly appointed. The Committee on Credentials reported thirty-eight Leagues from the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences, represented with many of our ablest ministers present. About an hour was spent in discussing the different subjects of League work during the morning session.

At the afternoon session the different departments were taken up and very ably discussed by different members of the Conference. Rev. J. C. Parks, of Kosciusko, entertained the assembly most admirably with an address on "The Books of the Course." Dr. J. C. Ballard read a most excellent paper on "The Course as a Means of Extending the Work of the League," which was discussed.

At eight o'clock P. M. the capacious tabernacle was filled with an interesting and appreciative audience, and as that learned and talented man of God, Rev. Inman W. Cooper, stepped upon the platform, the audience knew there was a rare treat awaiting them. His subject was, "A Successful Character," and for about fifty minutes he handled his great theme very ably, drawing his listeners close to him with his deep thoughts and mighty eloquence, telling the young leaguers the importance of building up a successful character—something to be prized more than glittering gold.

The next morning the published programme was taken up and carried out to the letter. Miss Eleanor Ormond read an excellent paper on "The Pledge." Next came one of the ablest divines of the North Mississippi Conference, Rev. T. W. Lewis, of Grenada, who held his audience almost breathless with his logical thoughts and flights of eloquence in pointing out the successful way to get the young hosts of the Master to take active part in the service of the Lord. Rev. A. F. Watkins, of Jackson, delivered an address on the importance of leaguers studying the Bible closely.

"Employment for Each Little Hand," was taken up by Miss Laura Lipscomb. When this noble and pure Christian young lady stepped upon the platform everyone knew something rich was in store for them, and truly there was—telling of how the little hands could be trained in the service of the Lord.

Although the crowds expected that grand man, Dr. John J. Tigert, D. D., Sunday morning, no one had any complaints to make after Rev. A. F. Watkins had finished one of his masterful sermons. Rev. Jno. Dorman preached in the afternoon.

Everyone seemed sorry for Sunday night to arrive, as that was to be the last service. After a delightful rally, "God be with you till we meet again" was sung and every League left full of enthusiasm and with a determination to go home and arouse all the interest possible in the great work, and to make our next Conference, to meet at Water Valley in May, 1897, a greater success than ever before attained.

WM. DELOACH, Ass't Sec.

Fifty Years Ago!

I attended the District Conference for the Natchez district, held at Fayette, in Jefferson county, embracing the counties of Jefferson, Amite, Franklin, Wilkinson, on Thursday, the seventeenth, 1896—rather, I was present from Friday till Monday morning, when the Conference adjourned. It was indeed a feast of "fat things"—spiritually—of "wines on the lees."

I had traveled Fayette circuit fifty years ago. Then it was known as Cole's Creek circuit, and embraced Cane Ridge, Rodney, Rock Hill—now known as Belle Grove—Flower Hill, Fayette, etc. (I can not recall.)

I attended all the business and religious exercises. The renewal of acquaintance with the children of the third and fourth generation of these that I used to know "fifty years ago" was indeed an unspeakable pleasure. There was no man present but myself who worshiped in the old church at Fayette with me "fifty years ago," except Bro. E. A. Flowers, nor any woman except Sister Aumanda Youngbleed. I met many of the children and grandchildren of these I used to know and love in my semi-centennial year.

It was an oasis in the desert of time that I will never forget. I have no hope of being spared for fifty years more. Indeed, I do not desire it. Whatever is the will of the Lord, let that be known. He will take care of what I have committed to his "sure trust whom earth and heaven commands." Oh, what a joy there will be in heaven when we all meet to part no more!

H. J. HARRIS.

Opelousas District Conference.

The usual railroad trip was varied, in the journey to the Opelousas District Conference, by a wagon ride of ten miles from Jennings to the beautiful village of Lake Arthur. The little town lies beautifully nestled among groves of giant live oaks, upon the bank of the lake of the same name. The country surrounding is largely cultivated in rice, for which it is naturally adapted. The population of the community, aside from the original Creole inhabitants, consists of thrifty Western farmers, who have immigrated to this delightful climate. Most of these settlers are Methodists who have "federated" on coming South.

The Conference was not largely attended, there being only a dozen preachers present, and not many more lay representatives. It ought not to need saying that pastors and delegates appointed ought to attend District Conference. The Conference discussed the usual subjects with considerable interest. The plan was that of statistical reports by the pastors, a committee of one being appointed to prepare a report on each subject to be discussed by the Conference. The reading and filing of reports was dispatched the first day, leaving two days for discussion. The statistical tables show more than 500 accessions and more than 300 conversions. There are 15 Epworth Leagues, with 528 members, and two Junior Leagues. Only 3 Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies and 5 Parsonage and Home Mission Societies were reported—by no means a creditable showing. The report on missions exhibits very encouraging results in the French missionary work, and the need of several more similar missions within the district, and of help in building houses of worship where congregations have already been gathered. The Board of Missions ought to realize that we have a mission field nearer home than Mexico or Brazil, surrounded by similar conditions and just as needy.

A resolution was adopted "earnestly recommending to our preachers and people to discourage, by precept and example, the use of tobacco in any form." This was a substitute for a resolution asking the Annual Conference to refuse to receive preachers addicted to the tobacco habit. The Conference was about equally divided between the substitute and the original resolution. It is matter of congratulation that the sentiment against this needless self-indulgence is growing among us.

J. N. Pharr, A. M. Mayo, S. N. Carr, and R. Bradbury were elected delegates to the Annual Conference, and Jeanerette was chosen as the seat of the next District Conference.

Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard was present representing Mansfield Female College and Centenary College. He collected nearly $50 for Mansfield.

The preaching was done by Revs. T. K. Faunt LeRoy, A. S. J. Neal, I. T. Reames, H. W. Wallace, J. L. P. Sheppard, H. Armstrong, R. M. Blocker, and W. W. Drake.

One unusual feature of the Conference was a sermon in French by Bro. H. W. Wallace. A large number of Creoles from the surrounding country were present, and listened with apparent interest to the sermon.

The people of Lake Arthur, being Southerners by adoption, dispensed a hospitality as hearty as that of any old-time Southerner to the manner born.

A slow trip in a barge, pushed by a tug-boat for twenty miles up the picturesque Mermentau river, ending in a narrow missing of the train and a twelve-hours' lay-over at Mermentau, is a memorable feature in the journey home for most of the Conference.

W. WINANS DRAKE, Secretary.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison...Shreveport

Seventeenth Annual Meeting W. F. M. S., Mississippi Conference.

Our working band of thirty in number gathered in Natchez.

An executive meeting was held in Jefferson Street Church, June 25, preparatory to business of regular session. All Conference officers present except auditor, with three district secretaries.

A praise service was held June 26, at 9:30, by Mrs. R. R. Parker, vice-president. After reading Luke xxiv, she warmed our hearts by a beautiful inspiring talk introducing Mrs. Baker, whose words of encouragement and loving welcome from the Presbyterian sisters left the forcible impress upon our hearts that we are all one in the faith of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Our hearts were attuned to notes of grateful praise that our heavenly Father had preserved the lives of all of our members; also for blessings accruing from the consecrated lives of our honored leaders, Mrs. Huys and Mrs. McGavock, whose deaths were so pronouncedly triumphant. Most fervently did we pray that a double portion of the spirit of our sisters should rest upon every member of our society.

The beautiful, sad, but sweet recall of the past by Sister W. B. Lewis evoked loving echoes from our hearts as she welcomed us in behalf of the Jefferson Street Church, presenting the claims of the city so rich in historic interest, refreshing the memory of these of us who met there seven years ago so full of enthusiasm and joyous pride, for then and there our sainted Clara Chrisman said: "Here am I; send me." She and our faithful recording secretary, Bessie Fearn, and our ardent lover of the work, Mrs. Cornelia Gunning, responded to our roll-call for the last time. How beautiful the recollection that Clara and Mrs. Gunning were made life members of the auxiliary at that session. Our genial, sweet-spirited brother and kind host, Rev. W. E. Ballard, now dwells in that "city which hands have not piled," singing praises of redeeming love.

In the midst of so much warm-hearted hospitality, enchanting music, varied beautiful scenery, accompanied with hallowed memories of the past, it is not strange that we claim this as our best work.

Miss Bessie Willson, the faithful, earnest worker of Wesley Chapel, in behalf of the three noble bands of laborers, made assurance doubly sure that we were welcome. Miss Mary Andrews elegantly voiced the gratitude of our hearts. The auxiliary very thoughtfully prepared a most happy social, with refreshments and music, that our Conference could become acquainted with the members of the auxiliaries of both churches. Our president's address was both profitable and enjoyable. Our corresponding secretary read a report of the Board meeting, teeming with valuable information, very interesting and most encouraging.

REPORTS.

We have increased in number of societies and members, but our treasurer reports $34.82 short of the former year (omitting the Louisiana auxiliaries). Total amount, $1,074.79.

Miss Sallie Smylie, the untiring, zealous secretary, as usual, with a number of delegates from Meridian district, presented fine reports: 9 public meetings had been held on the district; 3 children clothed at Laredo Seminary (14 in the Conference); two boxes sent annually, valued at from $15 to $40. At Daleville one person clothes a child. She had attended 2 District and 4 Quarterly Conferences; held 1 district meeting and aided in another; wrote 117 letters, 175 postal cards; distributed 1,072 leaflets. Central Church, Meridian, sometimes has 40 members in attendance at regular meeting—never less than 25 or 30; 9 life members.

Dr. and Mrs. Weems kindly aided Mrs. Crymes on the Vicksburg district, who was removed to another district, and a very fine report was presented.

Mrs. R. R. Parker, who aided Mrs. Howell, with some representatives in the absence of Mrs. Howell, reported improvement, good work done, most encouraging prospects.

Mrs. Siebe, elated with the prospect, forwarded an excellent report to the Conference editor for first quarter. Representatives at the annual meeting had good reports. Brandon suffered from removal of the secretary, and Seashore from sickness of the secretary.

Miss Trotter most faithfully discharged her duty, and brought full report to the meeting. She did not serve the full time, as she supplied the place of one who resigned. Her work, Enterprise, is in excellent condition.

Mrs. Robt. Reed, with representatives from all of the auxiliaries except one, reported improvement.

One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the sweet little girl who represented the juveniles of Wesley Chapel most beautifully.

Our young friend, Norman Grice, was with us a part of the time, to our delight.

STATISTICS.

As obtained from reports at annual meeting, and one reported since: Raymond—17 active, 2 honorary members. Districts: Vicksburg—15 pastoral charges, 14 auxiliaries; Meridian—17 pastoral charges, 13 auxiliaries; Jackson—17 pastoral charges, 8 auxiliaries; Brookhaven—17 pastoral charges, 7 auxiliaries; Enterprise—18 pastoral charges, 6 auxiliaries; Natchez—13 pastoral charges, 7 auxiliaries; Seashore—17 pastoral charges, 3 auxiliaries; Brandon—18 pastoral charges, 2 auxiliaries. Adult auxiliaries, 50; young people, 3; juvenile, 7. Total, 60. Organized and reorganized during the year, and distributed as follows: Vicksburg, 7; Meridian, 5; Natchez, 3; Jackson, 2; Enterprise, 2; Brookhaven, 2. Total, 21. Blanks for quarterly reports will be provided for auxiliaries. These to be used for pastor's quarterly reports also. More satisfactory reports, with less trouble, can be obtained by these.

PERIODICALS.

Upon request, our editors kindly furnished us lists of subscribers: Vicksburg district—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 38 sent to 17 post-offices; Little Worker, 25 to 11. Meridian—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 33 to 4; Little Worker, 47 to 2. Brookhaven—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 38 to 8; Little Worker, 22 to 7. Jackson—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 23 to 4; Little Worker, 37 to 7. Enterprise—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 21 to 5; Little Worker, 26 to 3. Natchez—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 22 to 1; Little Worker, 11 to 3. Seashore—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 9 to 4; Little Worker, ——. Brandon—Woman's Missionary Advocate, 7 to 4; Little Worker, 5 to 4. Total: Woman's Missionary Advocate, 191; Little Worker, 173.

Evangel: Miss Holding's assistant at training-school reports in letter to Conference editor, July 11, 1896: "The Mississippi Conference Evangel Scholarship subscriptions up to date amount to 74." The report at annual meeting—102 subscribers to the Evangel: Brookhaven, 25; Mrs. E. D. Jones, 24; Enterprise, 23; Central Church, Meridian, 15; Shubuta, 15.

We gather from Miss Billingsley's report (training-school) from May, 1895, to May, 1896: Miss Mattie Dunlap, $40; Rev. J. D. Crymes, $10; Mrs. E. J. Davis, $2; Natchez, $5; Columbia Sunday-school, $5; Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. J. B. Chatfield, Meridian, $10; Mrs. S. S. Cope, $10; Miss Andrews, treasurer, $12.04. Total, $84.04. One hundred and fifty dollars special fund was pledged at the Board meeting by our representatives. Two hundred and fifty dollars is to be obtained for Miss McNemar, who goes to the training-school. One-half of the amount from each auxiliary is to be gotten in subscriptions to the Evangel, or one-half of the money is to be given for the paper for distribution.

A Bible was bought by some of our members, and presented to Mr. Moritz, of Natchez, as a testimonial of appreciation of his fine music rendered during the meeting.

Dr. C. G. Andrews, who is becoming more and more endeared to us, honored us with another excellent annual sermon, having been with us at the memorable meeting of 1889. His text was 1. Cor. xi, 11, 12; subject, "Woman a Co-worker with Man in the World's Redemption," which deeply impressed us with the fearful responsibility resting upon us, and was most encouraging.

MRS. E. D. JONES.

(To be continued.)

P. AND H. M. S.

EDITORS.

Mrs. H. W Foote, of North Miss. Conference
Mrs. R R Parker, of Mississippi Conference
Mrs R. R. Kennedy, of Louisiana Conference

Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Conference.

The third Annual Conference of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society of the Mississippi Conference, M. E. Church, South, convened at Paulding.

The annual sermon was delivered at the eleven o'clock service by Rev. T. B. Holloman, financial agent of Millsaps College. The learned and eloquent divine selected as his text Gal. vi, 2: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." His discourse was inspiring, and stirred within the souls of his hearers a desire for renewed efforts and loftier deeds among their fellowmen for the cause of Christ. The afternoon was devoted to a union meeting of the adult and juvenile societies.

At night the anniversary exercises were held. The address of welcome was delivered by Miss Leila Cope, and responded to by Mrs. Kate Kennedy, of Lauderdale station. Mrs. J. B. Chatfield, of Meridian, read an interesting paper on missions; and Mrs. S. S. Cope, corresponding secretary, read her annual report. The services were concluded with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, administered by Revs. T. B. Holloman and J. W. Harmon.

At the business session, Monday morning, in the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. S. S. Cope called the Conference to order.

At the conclusion of the devotional exercises, Mrs. J. B. Chatfield, of Meridian, was elected president pro tem., and Miss Leila Cope, of Paulding, secretary.

Roll-call of the auxiliaries developed the fact that five out of twenty-one in the Conference had sent delegates, namely: Wesson, Miss L. Chapman; Lauderdale, Mrs. Kate Kennedy; Montrose, Mrs. A. A. Breckinridge; Paulding, Miss Leila Cope; Paulding Juvenile, Miss Lee Brame.

Bay St. Louis, Pert Gibson and Oak Ridge sent written reports. The reports were all encouraging, and demonstrated faithful work. Several ministers of the Mississippi Conference were introduced to the society, notably: Rev. T. B. Holloman, of Millsaps College; Rev. L. Carley, presiding elder of the Enterprise district; Rev. R. B. Downer, Vossburg; Rev. H. C. Brown, Heidelberg; Rev. Mr. Ellis, Leakesville; Rev. J. W. Harmon, Paulding, and the pastor of this work, Rev. D. C. Langford. Mr. S. S. Cope was introduced and complimented by the president as being a particularly helpful layman.

Business sessions were held morning and evening on Monday and Tuesday, and under the skillful guidance and splendid executive ability of Mrs. Chatfield, business was facilitated and much accomplished.

Many visitors attended and enjoyed each session.

Rev. R. B. Downer preached a splendid sermon Monday night, and the president's address was read by Mrs. G. S. Harmon, president of the local auxiliary.

Tuesday evening the Conference officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Miss Addie Purnell, Jackson; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. B. Chatfield, Meridian; corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. S. Cope, Paulding; recording secretary, Mrs. B. F. Lewis, Woodville; treasurer, Mrs. T. B. Holloman, Jackson; auditor, Mrs. F. H. West, Jackson; department editor NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, Mrs. R. R. Parker, Jackson. District secretaries: Natchez district, Miss Sue Reid; Vicksburg district, Mrs. E. D. Jones; Jackson district, Mrs. R. W. Stuart; Brookhaven district, Mrs. J. D. Crymes; Brandon district, Mrs. H. P. Lewis; Enterprise district, Mrs. Jennie Davis; Seashore district, Mrs. R. J. Turner and Mrs. W. A. White; Meridian district, Mrs. Kate Kennedy.

Bay St. Louis was selected as the place for holding the next Annual Conference, the second Sunday in July, 1897.

Selections.

Opportunity.

When opportunity touches an undeveloped man it is astonishing what power is often displayed; and it is undoubtedly true that, while there are no mute Shakespeares, the world is full of men and women of real power who need only an opportunity to exhibit it. But opportunities are oftener made than found, and opportunities would come oftener to all of us if we held ourselves, in the right sense, at a higher price. We are too easily satisfied with what we have done, and we too early accept what appear to be the limits of our growth. No man or woman ought ever to accept any limits to development. There is a power behind us on which we have a right to count, even when we distrust our own capacity. Right methods of life, right habits of work, and sound aims, keep us in touch with that divine power which nourishes and unfolds everything which it feeds. Upon this faith as a foundation, we have a right to demand of the new time that it shall give us weight and force and vitality such as the old time never gave us. We have a right to ask of ourselves greater efficiency, energy, and freshness. Refusing to set any limit to our growth, we have a right to insist that life shall mean more to us and shall do more through us every year than in any previous year. Mr. Story was once showing a friend, who was visiting him in Rome, his recent work. "For which of the things you have done," asked his friend, "do you care most?" "I care most," said the sculptor, "for the statue I am to carve next." It is not achievement which brings hope, consolation, and inspiration; it is opportunity. If we are immortal, the future is our reality, not the past.—The Outlook.

There is not a spider hanging on the king's wall but hath its errand; there is not a nettle that groweth in the corner of the church yard but hath its purpose; there is not a single insect fluttering in the breeze but accomplisheth some divine decree; and I will never have it that God created any man, especially any Christian man, to be a blank and to be a nothing. He made you for an end. Find out what that end is; find out your niche and fill it. If it be ever so little, if it is only to be a hewer of wood and drawer of water, do something in this great battle for God and truth.—Spurgeon.

Contemplate the love of Christ and you will love. Stand before the mirror, reflect Christ's character, and you will be changed into the same image from tenderness. There is no other way. You can not love to order. You can only look at the lovely object and fall in love with it and grow into likeness to it. And look at this perfect character, this perfect life. Look at the great sacrifice as he laid down himself, all through life and upon the cross of Calvary, and you must love him. And loving him you must become like him.—Drummond.

There is all the difference in the world between firmness and obstinacy, though they are constantly confounded. Firmness is a conscientious adherence to what is held to be right after a careful examination of the reasons that can be given for the opposite course. Stubbornness is the tenacious maintenance of a position whether it be right or wrong.—Bradley.

WALL
Paper.
—SAMPLES FREE—
Of Our Magnificent Full Line of
Over 500,000 Rolls
Of the Richest and Most Artistic Papers out This Season.
Prices: 3 cents to $3.00.
We pay the freight on $10 orders.
HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

FROM THE WORK.

D. G. Massey, Steward, Alphaba, Miss., July 23: "Our church has had a great revival. Scores professed faith in Christ. The church greatly blessed. The meeting was led by our popular pastor, Rev O L. Savage, assisted by Dr. H. T. Gaines. Bro. Gaines is a man of wonderful faith and power."

Rev. J. F. Wynn, Baker, La., July 27: "The Lord has given us a gracious revival at Black Water. Our services included third and fourth Sabbaths in June. Bro. D. C. Rawls did the preaching. Eight members converted, several reclaimed, and almost the entire membership were made to feel their need of a more satisfactory experience. Several are seeking the blessing of entire sanctification. We expect to tear down the old church, which has stood for forty years, and erect a new building in a short while. I think the spiritual condition better than for many years."

Rev. J. H. Rogers, P. C., Walthall, Miss., July 25: "I have just closed a wonderful revival at Shady Grove Church, with increasing interest at every service. The fire spread more and more until the whole community was reached. At a low estimate, there were fifty conversions in and out of the church. The old and the young were converted. Thank God we have won a victory that will outlive the stars. We received twenty-two into our church. We were assisted by Bros. Mitchell and Flinn, two local preachers. We feel very grateful to these brethren for their assistance. The Lord be praised."

Rev. E. H. Rook, Paris, Miss., July 25: "We have just closed a ten days' meeting on this, the Paris circuit, at Liberty. The church was powerfully awakened. Thirteen accessions to the Methodist Church and one to the Baptist. Bro. J. C. Denton, of the Illinois Conference, was with us, and did the preaching, except one sermon. He is a true gospel preacher, and works on the old approved methods, viz: calling the penitents to the altar, praying with them, and singing and talking with them until they are converted. Mourners converted in this way are usually happy enough when they get through to voluntarily tell what great things the Lord has done for them. Many of these still-born Christians, when gotten after by our second-blessing friends and pressed to seek the second blessing, get the first they ever had, and think they are sanctified. We organized an Epworth League of fifty members at the close of our meeting, and named it the Denton League. This is one of the fruits of the meeting."

A GOOD TIME IN RALEIGH.

Our meeting continned here six days, beginning on the evening of the twelfth and ending on the eighteenth. Bro. R. A. Sibley, Sr.; P. H. Howse and J. H. Foreman did the preaching. It was all good. We had one among the best meetings I ever was in. Many were heard to praise God in the highest. We had fine congregations all the time. Numbers were converted. Twenty-one accessions to the church during the meeting, making thirty-six accessions to the church here in Raleigh, including seven that were transferred from other churches in the bounds of the circuit. Out of the number mentioned we have only received three by certificate.

Religion is the talk on the streets this morning in Raleigh. About all these families are holding family prayer. The members of our church promised to pray with their families. God is with us. My family ask an interest in the prayers of all my brethren in the ministry. We have a little boy with slow fever, and he has had it for eleven weeks. I hope to be able to meet my appointments in the future, and as we are having accessions at all of my churches at our monthly appointments, we feel that we will have a good report by Conference.

Mr. Editor, I never preach without giving the people a chance to join the church. I had the pleasure of receiving six into the church at one of my monthly appointments this year We are looking for a revival, financially. It will come if this revival is real. Prospects good. Pray for us. L. J. JONES, P. C.

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

Hollins Institute, Va.

Ever since it first greeted the educational world, this famous old institution has been honored by the public with its fairest daughters. A school more thoroughly equipped with everything needful to best results in study and in physical development could hardly be imagined, nor one in which the standard of moral tone is higher. This school has stood the test of times of national war and financial depression with its ranks of pupils and instructors undiminished, its prosperity and popularity never waning, and to day twenty-one States are represented in its attendance. Anyone investigating the question of a school for young women should take into serious consideration this well-known institution, where thought, attention and experience tend to develop the best qualities and abilities of each student.

City Evangelization.

Another cheering evidence of the right direction of the spiritual power of the church is seen in the wider and more intense interest in city evangelization. The separate organizations in Boston, New York, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, and a half dozen other cities, have associated together in the National City Evangelization Union.

These thirty different organizations report $175 090 as raised in a single year. They reinvigorate churches from which the former members have moved away, select new sites, open Sunday-schools and missions, and give to undeveloped Christian forces an ample field of work. They have spiritual life enough to attack the worst places and attempt the most difficult things for Christ. There are centers of crime and sinks of iniquity so wicked that the average church does not tonch them. Think of a square mile of a city that has 1 000 saloons, nearly 800 brothels, where 3 000 girls live in these vestibules of hell that have no backward swinging-door, to whom in their average life of four years no hand reaches sympathy and help, but to whom many a hand offers absinthe, delirium, and death. Few churches have fastings and prayer enough to be able to cast out such kinds of devils. The problem of our cities is the problem of our national existence. To deal successfully with this is to save our national life. There is no power but the power of God unto salvation that can do it.—Bishops of the M. E. Church.

Cures
Prove the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla—positive; perfect, permanent Cures.
Cures of Scrofula in severest forms, Salt Rheum, with Itching and burning, scald head, boils, pimples, etc.
Cures of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Catarrh by making rich, red blood.
Cures of Nervousness and That Tired Feeling by feeding nerves, muscles and tissues on pure blood.
Hood's
Sarsaparilla
Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, aid digestion. 25c.

How much meaning may be suggested by many of the commonest words and phrases in our social interconrse. One kindly greets us, "How are you?" This is taken, of conrse, as a question concerning bodily health. But there are other departments of well-being—the health of mind and of heart. Why should not this salutation often be heard echoing within the secret corridors of the soul, after the passing friend has gone by? Then again, at times of "good-by" and parting, we often hear the well-meant injunction, "Take care of yourself!" This is another expression of frendliness, a kind wish that we guard ourselves, and as the Apostle John says, "may prosper and be in health." But in how many other respects it applies! As regards your morals, your spiritnal life, your exponre to temptations, your amenability before the bar of God, take care of yourself.—Mid Continent.

Henry M. Stanley is reported as saying recently that when he was at Lake Victoria in Central Africa, eighteen years ago, "there was not one missionary there, but to-day there are 200 churches, and 40,000 native Christians, many of whom are enthusiastic converts and would spend their last penny to secure a Bible." Many will remember what a thrill of surprise and joy went through the Christian world when Mr. Stanley, in November, 1875, sent a letter to the London newspapers challenging Christians to send missionaries to Uganda. The English Church Missionary Society responded quickly, and soon over $100 000 was pledged for this new missionary enterprise. There is no more thrilling chapter in missionary history than that which records the work of God in Uganda during these last eighteen years.—Missionary Herald.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

TO AGENTS.

We make this offer to our agents. The three premiums to agents which were to be awarded July first will not be awarded until Oct 15; and all subscriptions obtained under this $1 offer will count in the contest for these premiums together with the subscriptions obtained at the regular rate since Feb. 1.

The brethren doubtless remember what these premiums are: (1) A handsome parlor organ, which may be substituted by a church organ, if preferred. (2) A handsome gold-filled watch, guaranteed to be a perfect time keeper and to last twenty years, or if preferred an Arlington B. Sewing Machine. (3) A set of Clarke's Commentaries, with modern additions, durably bound in cloth. The largest number of subscribers gets the first; the second largest, the second; the third largest, the third. If the agent to whom the second premium is awarded prefers to do so, he can get instead of the watch or sewing machine, the Blickensderfer Typewriter by paying $10 in cash. This machine is a most excellent one, as shown by testimonials given elsewhere in this paper. Let all our preachers make this offer known to our people at once. Take notice that this offer is made only to new subscribers. We will make a liberal offer to our present subscribers within two or three months. Meantime, let all subscribers who are in arrears, pay up. The offer which we expect to make will not be available to those who are in arrears.

We will send a sample Bible for use in canvassing to those who desire it.

MR. EDITOR: The premium machine arrived all right, and after a thorough trial I can say that I had as soon own it as the forty-five-dollar ones my neighbors have. Accept my thanks for your aid in my securing so good a machine for so little trouble and expense. Yours truly,
(MRS.) W. H. BENTON.
Franklinton, La.

I want to add my testimony to the excellency of your Holman Bible. Just what I have wanted for ten years, but never felt able to pay the price demanded elsewhere.
T. B. HOLLOMAN.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

If you will send 21 cents in stamps, to pay the cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., you will receive, post-paid, a copy of Dr. Pierce's "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is a handsome book of 1008 pages, with over 300 illustrations and colored plates, and a greater amount of exact information about the human body in health and disease than was ever before published in a single volume. It is a complete medical library in itself, and it has had a greater sale at $1.50 a copy than any other medical book in the English language. Six hundred and eighty thousand copies have been sold, and now an edition of half a million is being distributed absolutely free. The free edition is in strong paper covers. If French cloth, embossed and beautifully stamped covers are desired, 50 cents extra, 31 cents in all, should be sent to pay the extra cost of this handsome binding.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for the permanent cure of constipation, and all its attendant ills. Sour stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, flatulence, heart-burn, headache, bad breath, bad complexion, pimples, blotches and eruptive skin diseases are directly traceable to this one seemingly insignificant cause. If you have any of these symptoms, you will find prompt and permanent relief in Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. The little vial, no bigger round than a lead pencil, contains about forty "Pellets" and cost twenty-five cents. There is nothing "just as good," and if the druggists try to sell you something else, be very sure it is because they make a bigger profit on the "something else."

For Sale—A Bargain.
A TWO-STORY TENT at the
Seashore Camp Ground.
Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,
Or to
Miss P. P. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

LAW SCHOOL
WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY,
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.
Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

SILLIMAN INSTITUTE For Young Ladies.
CLINTON, LA.
If you are interested, let us send you a handsome illustrated catalogue to prove that its standard of scholarship, general equipment, healthfulness, beauty of location and buildings, home comforts, and refining influences this college ranks with the VERY BEST and, advantages considered, with the cheapest in the South. Address
GEO. A. RAMSEY, M. A., President.

HARDIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 23 States. 24 professors from 8 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $1,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory, Scharwenka, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.
A select home training school for boys. Aim Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address
WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee
UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.
Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
G. W. C. LEE, President.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education
AT
Johnston
Collegiate Institute,
GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.
If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing efficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.
OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.
Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.
The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.
A. R. LANNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANNERS, Agent.

Martin College
For Young Ladies,
PULASKI, - - - TENN.
Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.
The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zelsbarg, trained years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.
S. N. BARKER, President.

TEACHERS' BUREAU. TEACHERS VACANCIES
We have at present several hundred more vacancies than teachers. Address Rev. Dr. O. M. Sutton, A. M., Manager,
SOUTHERN TEACHER'S BUREAU,
Louisville, Ky.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is Aug., '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31. GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail
The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,
REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Port Gibson Female College,
PORT GIBSON, MISS.,
Is prepared for practical thorough work in educating girls. A corps of efficient teachers is in charge, and the curriculum is fully equal to that of any first-class college. Cultured community. Health unsurpassed. Terms to suit the times. For further particulars, address
MRS. M. H. MELL, Business Manager.

T. J. MURRAY,
RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Rampart and St Andrew Sts.
Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS
EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC
OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE Best Passenger Service
BETWEEN
Texas
AND THE EAST
SOUTHEAST.
Cannon Ball Train
SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.
Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7 25 a. m next day.
LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS
HAS BEEN QUICKENED
9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.
4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.
ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.
ONLY TWO DAYS
BETWEEN
Texas and New York.
Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.
Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.
For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.
L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest,
The Emerson Piano.
Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.
JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.
TELEPHONE 697.
We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.
WRITE
Philip Werlein.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CAN YOU TELL
Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1895-'6?
It is the Memphis Conference Female Institute,
Of Jackson, Tennessee.
A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.
Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal to Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Banks and Mad. Delbi teaches natural bird tones. Thorough equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany. Taught last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist studied with Rudolf. Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League. Studied in Paris with M. Bigan. Scholarship in N. E. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.
Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never sent a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record justifies us in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.
Water of Jackson pronounced absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,
REV. HOWARD W. KEY, A. M. Ph.D.

Emory College
Oxford, Georgia.
THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.
The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.
The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $8 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.
The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.
For catalogue and further information address
W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, ... $1 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WEEB, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
3 ..	1	50 00	60 00
4 ..	1	60 00	72 00
5 ..	1	75 00	90 00
6 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, August 6, 1896.

A stingy Christian is an anomaly.

The Christian who speaks often of the sacrifices he makes, or has made, for religion's sake, thereby shows that he is not in close fellowship with Christ. Love counts not its sacrifices.

The church member who will not pay his just debts, if he is able to do so, or at least make an honest effort to meet them, may be respectable in the eyes of the world, but he is not so in the eyes of God.

The preacher who makes frequent use of slang and coarse jokes may please the popular ear, but not to edification. Christ, our pattern in all things, did not descend to levity, vulgarity, and wholesale abuse.

There are a few pessimistic Christians in this day whose state of mind is like that of Elijah when he supposed that he alone was left of all the Israelites who had not bowed the knee to Baal. Picture the amazement of the prophet when God told him that seven thousand were still faithful. "The Lord knoweth them that are his."

Many a man who would not think of delaying to pay a big bill due a large firm, takes his own time about settling small accounts owed to laborers, hucksters, and others, supposing that it makes no difference. To pursue such a course is a downright shame. The poor are often thus made to suffer by reason of the thoughtlessness and selfishness of the upper and middle classes.

In these times of heated political and religious discussion Christians, as well as non-professors, are apt now and then to charge each other foolishly. The need of the hour is the spirit of tolerance. Men of shallow thought and piety are usually the most dogmatic. Much trouble would be averted if men everywhere would observe John Wesley's motto, to "Think and let think." "I have no more right," he said, "to object to a man for holding a different opinion from me than I have to differ with him because he wears a wig and I wear my own hair."

Tommy's Conclusion.

Not a few church people spend more money for soda water, chewing gum, candy, and such like, than they contribute to the missionary cause. Many are like the little boy a certain writer tells about, who received two nickels. "One," he said, "was for candies, and the other for the missionaries." But in his play one was lost. The lad was somewhat perplexed at first, but soon, with one hand in the empty pocket, and looking anxiously at the remaining nickel, he came to the conclusion: "Tommy has lost the missionaries' nickel." It is but too true that in the church people who are able to give oft reach similar conclusions with reference to God's portion. The money that ought to be given to the Lord somehow gets lost or spent.

Croakers and Culture.

Never before, perhaps, have true culture and scholarship been more highly or more generally esteemed than at present. Nevertheless, some persons can be found in the very centers of civilization who sneer at learning, and depreciate the value of professional training. Were such persons confined to the utterly ignorant, it would not seem strange; but, wonderful to tell, not all the calumniators of higher education belong to the uneducated class. Every now and then some man who has attained celebrity by reason of extraordinary endowments, with little aid from education, takes occasion to belittle the value of collegiate training, losing sight of the fact that with a more thorough education greater success would most likely have been achieved. It is passing strange that some who have been greatly aided by a measure of education should forget the way by which they came, and discount the importance of studiousness and culture.

Ministers of the gospel should be the last men in the world to depreciate learning. In no other calling is there so great need of a liberal education or of constant study as in that of the ministry. How are the people to be instructed if they have spiritual teachers who knows little, if any more, than themselves? In the early days of Methodism in America there was some excuse for tolerating a low standard of education in the ministry; for culture was not so general as now, educational facilities were almost wholly wanting, and the itinerants, constantly on the move, had few opportunities for study. But conditions have changed greatly since then; and if Methodism would hold her own, she must adapt herself to these changes. Getting people converted, and having them to join the church, is by no means all that needs to be done. Our people must be educated by the pulpit along many lines, so as to be intelligent and steadfast workers. Without the right sort of training, numbers will be but a hindrance to us. We have not made the mistake of refusing altogether to employ men of limited education, as some other denominations have done; but the time has come for us to exercise greater carefulness along this line than has hitherto characterized us. Preachers who will not study, as well as those who make light of scholarship, do the church infinite harm, and should be discountenanced everywhere.

The slurs cast from time to time upon learning by certain Southern Methodist preachers and evangelists are as startling as they are unaccountable. The words of the poet furnish, perhaps, a partial explanation:

"A little learning is a dangerous thing:
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring."

A learned clergyman was once thus accosted by an illiterate preacher, who despised education: "Sir, you have been to college, I presume?"

"Yes, sir!" was the reply.

"I am thankful," said the former, "that the Lord opened my mouth without any learning."

"A similar event," retorted the clergyman, "happened in Balaam's time."

To hear some brethren talk, one would think that a learned and studious man could not be a true Christian, much less a useful preacher. How utterly senseless such insinuations appear when one studies religious biography even a little. Who does not know that John Wesley is classed as the greatest revivalist of modern times? Yet he was a man of deep learning, a linguist of rare attainments, a master of logic, a writer of wonderful gifts, a polished gentleman, and, withal, a close student to the end of his days. His brother Charles was of like pattern. Were it necessary, we might cite example after example of deep piety combined with ripe scholarship.

In spite of the fact that Methodism was cradled in a university, and has from the beginning been committed to distinctively theological education, a prominent preacher in Southern Methodism is silly enough to speak of theological schools as "theological cemeteries." We suppose he never heard that, as early as his first Conference, in 1744, John Wesley proposed a "seminary for laborers." Perhaps he has forgotten about Kingswood School, and about Trevecca College, founded by Lady Huntington with Wesley's hearty approval; where, in the early days of Methodism, many of the "sons of the prophets" received theological training. Says Stevens in his "History of Methodism" (Vol. II., page 479): "It is an interesting fact that in the year which is recognized as the epoch of Methodism, the date of its first field preaching, and among the miserable people where the latter began, it also began the first of its literary institutions. And if anything could enhance the interest of this fact, it is that the founders of both Methodist parties, Calvinistic and Arminian, shared in the founding of the first Methodist seminary. Whitefield laid the corner-stone of the Kingswood School; Wesley reared it by funds which he reserved from the income of his college fellowship, or received from his followers. It was the germ of the latter institution which bears its name."

The founder of Methodism, though he made great use of lay evangelists, many of whom never attended a college or theological school, was as far as any man could be from undervaluing such training, and constantly urged his helpers to do all in their power to make up the deficiency. He once administered the following sharp rebuke to a lay preacher who neglected habits of study: "Your talent in preaching does not increase; it is just the same as it was seven years ago. It is lively, but not deep. There is little variety; there is no compass of thought. Reading only can supply this, with daily meditation and daily prayer. You wrong yourself greatly by omitting this; you can never become a deep preacher without this, any more than a thorough Christian. ..... Whether you like it or not, read and pray daily. It is your life: there is no other way; else you will be a trifler all your days, and a pretty superficial preacher."

Methodism has from the first ardently advocated education for both preachers and people, and every branch of the denomination, so long as it follows the example of its founder, must stand committed to the theological school as well as to the cause of general education. Says Stevens, the historian: "Methodism spontaneously recognized education as one of its most important means of usefulness. But if it would educate its people, it must necessarily educate its divinity, or produce a disparity between the two, which must prove fatal to the latter."

As we have only one theological seminary in Southern Methodism, the brother who has been making these flings must have reference to Vanderbilt University. If the theological faculty of said institution had gone over to the school of the higher critics; if they were as unorthodox in their views as President Harper, of the Chicago University; or if the theologues and graduates were all a set of formalists destitute of spirituality, then there might be some justice in the characterization. The professors have all, however, been successful pastors. One of them has done noble service in the foreign mission field. Unless we are greatly at fault, the theologues will compare favorably in point of piety with the same number of preachers in any one of our Conferences. Yet, according to a certain croaker, our divinity school is the place for the young preacher to lose his religion and efficiency.

But what are the facts in the case? Graduates of our theological seminary are now scattered all over Southern Methodism, and rank among the most effective and consecrated preachers we have. In zeal and piety they are not a whit behind the other brethren of the ministry, while in usefulness they have a wide field before them, because of their special training. Vanderbilt has a remarkable record in the matter of sending out missionaries. Does this look as if she turned out men who are spiritually dead, and fit for nothing save grinding out lifeless sermons and learned, but useless theses? We wonder if the brother is aware that Dr. Tigert, our Review editor, and Dr. Palmore, of the St. Louis Advocate, were both nurtured at our divinity school? Poor fellows! How they are to be pitied (?) for having fooled away so much valuable time storing up theological rubbish!

Learning without piety is a dangerous thing. With piety, it is mighty, under God, to the pulling down of the strongholds of Satan. Moses, the greatest man in Old Testament history, was "learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians." Paul, the grandest of all the apostles, the man who wrote by far the greatest part of the New Testament, sat, in his youth, at the feet of Gamaliel, and was taught according to the perfect law of the fathers. The religion of Christ has never been the foe of culture, though some have tried to make it so.

Christian Citizenship.

Christianity is to the whole life of thought and work and rest what the blood is to the physical life. The heart beats when we sleep, it beats when we rest, it beats when we work. It never stops till sleep and rest and work are done forever. It beats by day and by night; in joy and in sorrow, in sickness and in health, beats, beats, beats—knowing no interval of cessation—sending the blood, which is the life, through every artery, to every portion of the body, through the chest to all the limbs, through the arms to the very finger-tips, that every muscle may be fed, every cord strengthened, and every bone and sinew kept in perfect condition. If we cut off the arterial supply from the hand, it fails; from the arm, it dies; from the brain, it shrivels. Free and continuous circulation is the law of life. We want it whatever we do, wherever we go, whether we work or whether we play, whether we sleep or whether we wake.

Christianity is the law of our life. There is never a moment when we do not need it. There is never an experience from which it is safe to banish it; never a thought or purpose or deed which it ought not to dominate. If you leave it behind you when you go to business or into politics, or lock it up at home when you go on a vacation, or lay it away every Sunday night with your Bible, you will be hopelessly crippled in the high duties and destinies of every-day life. It would be like binding arm and leg so that the blood could not flow into them.

Some Christians are horror-struck at the idea of associating politics and religion. Politics are so wicked, so defiled, so degrading, that good men must have nothing to do with them. They are not always and everywhere so bad; but why are they ever bad? The answer is easy to find. Take the light out of a room, and darkness becomes supreme. To banish the darkness, you have only to bring back the light.

The great need of the world is that God should be everywhere and constantly present. We want God in our business as well as in our churches; in our amusements as well as in our devotions; in our politics most of all. What are politics? In the language of President Hitchcock, politics are "the principles by which nations should be governed and regulated," and are "only a branch of ethics," or rather "a special application of the principles of morality and religion." The Christian may be as much "a missionary of God in American politics as in the forests of Africa." He should go to the primary, the polls or the political convention as regularly, as religiously as he goes to church or to Conference or to prayer meeting. Let us all be not only Christians, but citizens; not Christians in the church and citizens out of it; but always Christians, always citizens, citizen Christians, Christian citizens.—Independent.

Literary Note.

The Christian Literature Company (New York) announce for early publication a "History of the Methodist Episcopal Church," by Rev. J. M. Buckley, D. D., editor of the Christian Advocate. This work will be of great value to all, and should be in every Methodist family. It is to be sold by subscription, and ministers and laymen who wish to secure the agency for this work in their congregations should write the publishers at once, as only one agent will be assigned to each church, thereby giving him exclusive control of territory.

The work will be published in one volume, and the price will be as low as possible, so as to bring it within reach of all. It will be the easiest and quickest-selling book among Methodists that has ever been published.

Mansfield Female College,

In this State, is still maintaining its reputation for excellent advantages and thorough work. It has one of the most delightful and healthful locations in the South. Elegant buildings and beautiful grounds help to make it doubly attractive. Parents who send their daughters to this school in North Louisiana are sure to be pleased.

Whitworth Female College.

This old and well-known school, with its capacious and well-furnished buildings, its beautiful campus, its healthful location, delightful accommodations, and experienced faculty, is deserving of the most favorable consideration on the part of those having daughters to educate. Rev. J. W. Chambers, its energetic and progressive president, is sparing no pains to make it a first-class college in every respect. He is offering superior advantages at marvelously low rates, and will doubtless succeed in getting a large patronage. Whitworth has well-equipped and consecrated teachers, an easily accessible location, a long and honorable record, splendid facilities for the study of music, art, and elocution. Write to the president for a catalogue.

Centenary College.

Under President Carter's administration Centenary seems to be taking on a new lease of life. No college in the South has a more honorable record behind it. Having now good railroad connections, it is relieved from the charge of being inaccessible. It is a college of high-grade, where a Christian atmosphere prevails, and is deserving of unbounded success. The faculty, composed almost entirely of young men, is able and wide-awake. Its prospects are said to be brightening every day. The Methodists of Louisiana have no need to send their boys out of the State to school so long as Centenary lives and prospers as she is doing now. Let preachers and people rally to her support.

Refusing to be sociable with a fellow-churchman who happens to differ with you as to some doctrine or experience may seem right in your own eyes, but it betokens narrowness, and will inevitably lessen your influence.

A New Book.

JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS. By William M. Baskervill. Southern Writers Series Biographical and Literary Studies. July, 1896. Paper, ten cents. Barbee & Smith, agents, Nashville, Tenn.

We gladly welcome the appearance of this, the first of the series of sketches of Southern writers now being prefaced by Dr. Baskervill, professor of English at Vanderbilt University, and issued by our Publishing House. It is a charmingly written paper, and furnishes delightful and profitable reading. The preface says: "In a series of twelve papers the writer proposes to give a tolerably complete survey of that literary movement, which, beginning about 1870, has spread over the entire South. Since that time Southern writers have been conspicuous among the chief contributors to the nation's literature."

We hope that this effort to stimulate the desire for a more intimate acquaintance with our own fresh, original and racy literature will meet with the success it deserves. Epworth Leaguers ought to make good use of these sketches as well as of the "Eminent Methodist" series. The price of the whole series is $1 a year.

NOTES.

Rev. F. S. Parker has been visiting relatives in Shreveport for several days.

We regret to learn that Rev. W. G. Evans, of the Louisiana Conference, is very ill with slow fever.

A good sister who is in need of money wishes to sell a copy of Bascom's Sermons. Anyone wishing to purchase may address C. M., this office.

In a note from Patterson, La.—Rev. W. G. Evans, pastor—published last week, it was reported that $77.20 was collected for missions. It should have been $17.20.

The native Christians in mission churches in heathen lands last year contributed $559,000, which is more than one-ninth of the amount contributed in the United States.—Exchange.

Dr. Arthur T. Pierson is no longer a Presbyterian. The Presbytery of Philadelphia having heard his defense in regard to his views of baptism at its last session, ordered his name dropped from the roll. A paper was adopted expressing confidence in his Christian character and doctrinal soundness, except as to baptism.—St. Louis Advocate.

Missionaries in the foreign field bring in three times as many converts every year as all the missionaries here at home, aided by Christian influence, workers and literature.—Exchange.

By a mistake on the part of the printer we stated in last week's issue that Rev. C. W. Crisler had accepted a position in the faculty of Epworth College. We wrote, "Whitworth College."

Claiborne county, Miss., in the local option election held last week, went dry by a vote of about three to one. As Claiborne has had prohibition for some years, this vote is all the more significant on that account.

This question comes to us: "Can a man who is not loyal to an institution of the church be regarded as loyal or true to the church?" That question admits of but one answer. In loyalty to the church is involved loyalty to all its institutions.—Central Advocate.

Rev. George T. Eddy made a striking point in his sermon at the Washington and Compton Avenue Church, St. Louis, last Sunday: "Too many people look upon the church as a hotel. They register their names, and expect everything to be done for their comfort. They try to do nothing for others."—Mid-Continent.

Rev. S. A. Steel, editor of the Epworth Era, has been suspended by the Book Committee, pending investigation of the charges made against him of improper editorial administration. Rev. William Green, of the Tennessee Conference, has been appointed editor pro tem. The trial will begin Aug. 12. The committee will consist of seven men whose names we are not able to give at present.

Adams county boasts the youngest school teacher in Ohio, if not in the United States. He is just eleven years old, and his name is Marion Glasgow. Marion holds a teacher's certificate for one year. He attended the teachers' examination, May 30, attired in knickerbockers, and took his place among the grown applicants. He finished the work before many of the older teachers were through, and came very close in securing a grade which would have entitled him to a two-years' certificate.

The Chief of Police of this city has issued strict orders to his men to arrest and lock up all violators of the Sunday law. As the district attorney has announced his determination to do his utmost to secure the conviction and punishment of all such offenders, there is every prospect that the law will hereafter be respected as it should be. If the law can be enforced in other large cities, it can and ought to be enforced here. The saloon keepers have all along been the most frequent violators of this law, but now they will have to close up.

Prohibitionists everywhere are rejoicing over the news that Madison county (Miss.) has at last gone dry, though by only a small majority. Bishop Galloway stumped the county during the campaign, and did noble service. On account of alleged irregularities, the whiskyites are going to contest the election, and say they will take the case to the Supreme Court. We have no fears, however, as to what the result will be. The saloons in Madison have just twelve months longer to run. Only a few counties in Mississippi now remain under the saloon curse, and if the prohibitionists do their duty, it will not be long before the entire State will be under the beneficent and peaceful rule of prohibition. Let the good work go on.

In Boston proper, according to the statement of the Census Bureau of Massachusetts, there has been a falling off of the population. One reason of this is that business has encroached upon the residence district. In all great cities, like London and Paris, the population is constantly crowded from the centre toward the circumference. Facilities of transportation have hastened this movement. The horse cars broadened the residence area, while the electric roads are taking the population out ten miles from the centre. The Bureau estimates that 1,000,000 people do business in Boston; 500,000 of them live outside the municipal limits. Cheapness and comfort induce them to go out.—Zion's Herald.

CHILLIFUGE

CURES CHILLS

This is guaranteed. If it fails, you get your money back. It also cures Fever and all malarial troubles. It is a perfect substitute for quinine, being better to take, better in its operation, better in its effect. It's as pleasant to take as orange syrup. It purifies the blood, renovates the system, strengthens the nerves. Restores good health to young and old. Sold everywhere. Price 50c. Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

The Alexandria District Conference.

The Alexandria District Conference was held in the West Alexandria Church, July 23-26, 1896. Rev. V. D. Skipper, P. E., presided with ease and impartiality, giving satisfaction to all. The attendance was good on the part of the preachers in charge and lay delegates. Sixteen preachers in charge of work answered to roll-call, and twenty-three lay delegates. Only one local preacher, and he was not present more than two sessions. This does not speak well for our local preachers. Two of our superannuates were present: Bros. George Jackson and T. S. Randle. Wide awake they are to all the interests of our church.

We had as visitors Dr. C. W. Carter, Dr. J. A. Parker, Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, Rev. H. O. White and Rev. S. J. Davies. Mansfield Female College was ably represented by Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, and Centenary by Dr. Carter. Rev. S. J. Davies did not forget our paper, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. The brethren who preached during the Conference session preached in the spirit of the Master. It was all good, scriptural, plain, practical.

The reports from the work shew that we have no need to be discouraged. The Lord is smiling upon his laborers and blessing their labor. Rev. P. H. Fontaine, of the Montgomery circuit, was recommended for admission on trial into the traveling connection. The following were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: H. H. White, Dr. S. P. Ward, J. B. Pickels and J. A. Humphries. H. G. Goodwyn and C. L. Andrews were elected alternates.

Montgomery was selected as the place for holding the next District Conference.

West Alexandria, though comparatively young, gained for herself a reputation for large-heartedness by the ample entertainment furnished everyone during the session of the Conference.

J. I. HOFFPAUIR, Sec.

Money Made in a Minute.

I have not made less than sixteen dollars any day while selling Centrifugal Ice Cream Freezers. Anyone should make from five to eight dollars a day selling cream, and from seven to ten dollars selling Freezers, as it is such a wonder, there is always a crowd wanting cream. You can freeze cream elegantly in one minute, and that astonishes people so they all want to taste it, and then many of them buy freezers, as the cream is smooth and perfectly frozen. Every freezer is guaranteed to freeze cream perfectly in one minute. Anyone can sell ice cream and the freezer sells itself. My sister makes from ten to fifteen dollars a day. J. F. Casey & Co., 1143 St. Charles St., St. Louis, Mo., will mail you full particulars free, so you can go to work and make lots of money anywhere, as with one freezer you can make a hundred gallons of cream a day, or if you wish, they will hire you on a salary.

In many of the States the matter of establishing asylums for the intemperate is now being agitated; places where the victims of intemperance can be isolated from their temptations until the fires which alcohol has kindled in their bosom be quenched. The idea has received the approval of some of the first medical men of the day. They would treat the inveterate drunkard as they would treat a maniac, and apply the same law to both.—National Temperance Advocate.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for August.

THE REPROOFS OF CHRIST.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 9—TO MARTHA, THE TROUBLED. (Luke x. 38-42.)

Jesus was a guest in the Bethany household. The two sisters, Mary and Martha, both loved him, and regarded it as a great privilege to have him in their home, but they regarded the privilege from opposite points of view. Martha regards it as a rare opportunity to provide the best entertainment for him that it was possible for a skilled housekeeper to give, while Mary regards his presence as a rare opportunity to draw upon his store of wisdom. Martha's service was an expression of love, but she was manifestly ignorant of the fact that Jesus cared least of all for bodily entertainment, and ignorant also of her own need. So she overdoes the matter of entertaining, and becomes impatient because Mary does not help her as much as she ought, preferring to remain very near the Master. Jesus reproves Martha for unnecessary domestic worry, and commends the choice of Mary.

(1) Bodily wants are imperative, but they are very unimportant when higher needs should occupy the mind.

(2) Secular care should not be permitted to distract the mind and heart from God.

(3) Learning of Jesus is the one supreme necessity of our being.

(4) He who makes this choice will never be prevented from attaining its object.

Money for Women!

In these hard times ladies as well as men should improve every opportunity to increase their bank accounts; and any man or woman can make from $10 to $20 a day if they will only try. I have not made less than $20 clear, any day the past year, and I had no experience and not very good health. My husband assisted me evenings. I put notices of the Dish Washer in the papers, but do not canvass any. I have examined particularly all the Dish Washers made, and find the Climax decidedly the best. Address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, and they will tell you just how to run the business. Every family wants a Climax Dish Washer, and will buy as soon as they get a chance, as you can wash and dry the dishes in two minutes without wetting the hands. A READER.

When your feel shaky, Malaria has singled you out as a victim. Take CHILLIFUGE; it will rout the trouble at once.

CHILLIFUGE is a superb appetizer, and is highly valuable for weak and sickly children, as well as the aged and feeble.

CHILLIFUGE is guaranteed to cure Chills and Fever. It makes rich blood. Children love it.

CHILLIFUGE contains Iron that does not blacken the teeth, nor constipate the bowels. Makes rich blood.

CHILLIFUGE does not require a knitting needle or a stick to mix every dose. No iron filings to settle at bottom of bottle and irritate a weak stomach.

CHILLIFUGE possesses all the virtues and none of the disagreeable features of Quinine used by Physicians.

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE.

Mother of Female Colleges. Owned and operated by the Methodist Church for collegiate education of girls, with no view to gain.
Location. On high hill, with grand views, in a beautiful, healthful city.
Buildings. Beautiful, capacious, comfortable. Steam-heated. Worth with campus $225,000. Extensive improvements being made.
Faculty. Large, experienced, graduates of leading colleges and universities. Two new teachers, educated at Harvard and University of Chicago.
Laboratory in Science for 40 girls working at same time. Only way to learn science. Telescope.
Berlitz Method of learning French, German, Spanish, free to all. Music, Art, Elocution, taught as thoroughly as in any college. 36 pianos, eight just bought. Term begins Sept. 16. Catalogue in second edition. Address now

J. D. Hammond, Pres., Macon, Ga.

The Advocate.

The ADVOCATE, exceptionally fine and powerfully influential, on its exalted mission is an ornament and abiding benediction to the church, whose every interest is heralded through its columns. Aggressive and deeply spiritual, its absence from the homes of thousands of Methodists—a fact to be profoundly deplored—appeals alike to the thoughtful and appreciative, whether lay or clerical, as a matter of the gravest concern, and a determined effort that knows no intermission, remission or abatement should be everywhere made—that this strong arm of the church to be threefold more effectual—in producing an enlightened membership, a successful ministry and a happy editor.

C. W. SCOTT.

McNair Station, Miss., July 8, 1896.

Asheville Female College.

Parents who expect to send their daughters to a school in some mountain region can not make a mistake in patronizing this well-established, high-grade institution. Asheville, the place of its location, is perhaps the most beautiful, healthful, aggressive, and elegant city in the South. During the fifty years of its existence this school has never had a death among its pupils from a disease originating there. Elegant and comfortable buildings, first-class teachers, reasonable rates, and delightful surroundings all contribute toward making this an ideal school.

University of Mississippi.

The sanitary condition of the buildings of the University has been greatly improved in recent years. A deep well is now being bored, which is guaranteed to give an ample supply of water. Steam heat will be introduced in the lecture-rooms. These improvements will add greatly to the health and comfort of students.

Martin Female College,

located at Pulaski, Tenn., is one of the few schools in the South that has an endowment. New buildings, a well-furnished gymnasium, an eight-acre campus, electric lights, and the purest of water are some of the attractions of this school. It offers special advantages in music. The location is unsurpassed for health.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and [illegible] diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. Yours, most respectfully,

MRS. A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

The University of Mississippi

Has just closed the most successful session in its history.

The Next Session Opens Sept. 10, 1896

Twenty-one Schools in Science, Literature and Arts. Special Schools of Law and Pedagogy. Full corps of Instructors. Improved facilities. Most healthful location. Women admitted. Tuition FREE to all students, except in Law School. All expenses very low. For catalogue and announcements address CHANCELLOR R. B. FULTON, University, Mississippi.

Daleville, near Lookhart, M. and O. R. R., Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.

Cooper-Huddleston College.

For the Liberal Education of Young Men and Women.

Full courses in Mathematics, Greek and Latin, English, Science and Philosophy; Special in Music and Art. Faculty, talented, experienced, and specialists. Library, Bedroom, and Society facilities, exceptional. Buildings modern and completely equipped. Boarding and Campus privileges for the young ladies, seperate and exclusive. Telephone Connection with R. R. Station.

Board, Lodging, Laundry, Matriculation and Tuition Fees for session of 36 weeks, $125.00, payable quarterly.

"The safest, cheapest, best, and most suitably located first-rank College in the State, wherein true manhood and womanhood are fostered no less than Scholarship."

Thirty-first Annual Session opens Sept. 24, 1896. Circulars and Catalogue mailed on application. Address

COOPER-HUDDLESTON COLLEGE, Daleville, Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

Cheapest, Highest Honored. Situations. Medal awarded Prof. Smith at World's Fair. Book-keeping, Business, Short-hand, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. University Diploma to graduates. 10,000 Graduates in Business. Begin now. Address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

MUSIC ILLINOIS CONSERVATORY, Jacksonville, Ill.

FEMALE ACADEMY 67th YEAR. High grade English and Classical School for young women. Elective courses. MRS. W. J. BRYAN'S, Alma Mater, Jacksonville, Ill.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

For the Higher Education of Boys and Young Men.

Beautiful situation. Jackson, the capital of the State, is easily accessible by four lines of railway. The college buildings occupy a commanding elevation with perfect drainage and admirable health conditions.

The very finest educational advantages are offered. The members of the faculty are thoroughly competent and progressive in their several departments of instruction.

The students are constantly under superior moral and religious influence.

Young men preparing for the profession of Law in Mississippi will find unequaled advantages in the LAW DEPARTMENT.

Expenses very moderate. Many of the students, by boarding themselves, reduce the cost of living below $6 per month. Board in students' homes and private families, $12 per month.

Next Session Begins September 23d, 1896.

For Register, giving detailed information, apply to

President W. B. MURRAH or Rev. T. B. HOLLOMAN, Agent.

1846. THE ACADEMY. 1896.

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. Number of students limited. Elegant rooms, elegantly furnished. Hot and cold water baths. Welsbach gas lights. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced teachers from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals, health and social advantages. Rates reasonable. FREE TUITION in Collegiate Courses to active ministers' daughters. Next session begins Sept. 1. Hall the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., PRINCIPAL.

Asheville Female College,

ASHEVILLE, N. C. "IN THE LAND OF THE SKY."

REV. A. B. WARWICK, M. A., (University of Virginia,) President.

This famous school will open its Fifty-fourth Session September 10, 1896. Beautiful Campus. Modern Buildings, elegantly furnished, and Steam-heated. Hot and Cold Baths. Excellent and abundant table fare. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Location for healthfulness and grandeur of scenery unsurpassed on the continent. Elevation 1,300 feet. No Mosquitoes. No Malaria. Thorough and broad instruction, under best American and European teachers, leading to Degrees. Conservatory advantages in Music. Rates reasonable. Send for catalogue.

LaGrange Female College

Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, Gymnasium. Conservatory advantages in music. Elegant pipe-organ. ART AND VOICE CULTURE specialties. Elocution fine. Bookkeeping and harmony free. Sight singing daily. Dress-making, typewriting, stenography. Economical uniform. Health unsurpassed. Best social surroundings. Pupils board with Faculty in College Home.

Rufus W. Smith, President,

LAGRANGE, GEORGIA.

GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.

Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION.

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

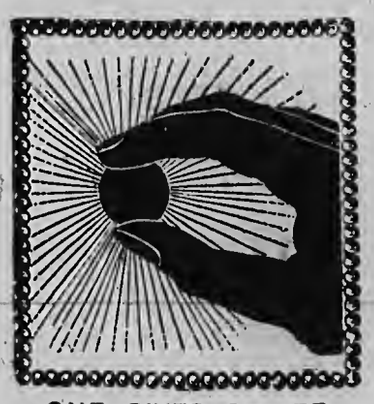
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an 'all-round' family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.

THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.
PRICE, $33.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.
H. L. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 207 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.
EPPS'S
GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.
COCOA
BOILING WATER OR MILK.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE TONE OF VOICE.

It is not so much what you say
As the manner in which you say it.
It is not so much the language you use
As the tone in which you convey it.

"Come here!" I sharply said,
And the baby cowered and wept.
"Come here!" I cooed, and he looked and smiled,
And straight in my lap he crept.

The words may be mild and fair,
And the tones may pierce like a dart;
The words may be soft as the summer air,
And the tone may break the heart.

Few words but come from the mind,
And grow by study and art;
But the tones leap from the inner self,
And reveal the state of the heart.

Whether you know it or not,
Whether you mean or care,
Gentleness, kindness, love and hate,
Envy and anger are there.

Then would you quarrels avoid,
And in peace and love rejoice,
Keep anger not only out of your words,
But keep it out of your voice.

—Household.

Never Stop the Plough to Catch a Mouse.

There's not much profit in this game. Think of a man and a boy and four horses all standing still for the sake of a mouse! What would old friend Tusser say to that? I think he would rhyme in this fashion:

A ploughman deserveth a cut of the whip
If for idle pretence he let the hours slip.

Heaps of people act like the man in our picture. They have a great work in hand which wants all their wits, and they leave it to squabble over some pretty nothing, not worth a fig. Old Master Tom would say to them,

No more tilt's tattle, go on with your cattle.

He could not bear for a farmer to let his horses out for carting even, because it took their work away from the farm, and so I am sure he would be in a great stew if he saw farmers wasting their time at matches and hunts and the like. He says:

"Who plaiketh his tillage a carter to be,
For great got abroad, at home shall lose three;
For sore by to doing he brings out of heart,
Both land tor the corn and horse for the cart."

The main chance must be minded, and the little things must be borne with. Nobody would burn his house down to kill the black beetles, and it would never answer to kill the bullocks to feed the cats. If our baker left off making bread for a week while he cracked the cockroaches, what should we all do for breakfast? If the butcher sold no more meat till he had killed all the blow flies, we should be many a day without mutton. If the water companies never gave the Londoners a drink till they had fished every gudgeon out of the Thames, how would the old ladies make their tea? There's no use in stopping your fishing because of the seaweed, nor your riding because of the dust.—Spurgeon.

Books and Reading.

The great secret of right reading, as of all other right work, is that it be conscientious and thorough; that of one who does not forget that life is brief and work sacred. An earnest man may be left in the company of any books. There was a world of significance in Johnson's putting the motto on his watch, "The night cometh." The little islet of our life—with deep calling to deep round it forever, and the tide covering it moment by moment—is too small for any neglect. Eternity comes up like the night, hiding all things, and blotting out the sun. There is no time for trifling. The true Pactolus, with every sand golden, is life. Stupidity or commonplace is tolerable only when no better can be had; like bread of moss or sawdust, that needs a famine to get it down, except with simpletons, who will eat anything. Men gave up acorns when they grew wheat; and black bread has no chance against white where there is either taste or sense. Some men read too much and think too little; that is, they read too much for their thinking. By rail, you can remember no details of a journey; the speed confuses recollections, and leaves only general impressions. To gallop through book after book is to turn intellectual Gilpins. You might as well be carried blindfold from one point to another, you would know as much of the road you came. Let the whole bench of your faculties sit in full court on whatever you read, and rather read five good books well than a hundred with light inattention.—Dr. Cunningham Geikie.

The Little Bootblack.

A hundred years ago there lived in Oxford a little boy, whose business it was to clean the boots of the students of the famous university there. He was poor, but bright and smart. Well, this lad, whose name was George, grew rapidly in favor with the students. His prompt and hearty way of doing things, and his industrious habits and faithful deeds, won their admiration. They saw in him the promise of a noble man, and they proposed to teach him a little every day. Eager to learn, George accepted their proposal, and he soon surpassed his teachers by his rapid progress. "A boy who can blacken boots well can study well," said one of the students. "Keen as a brier," said another, "and plack enough to make a hero." But we can not stop to tell of his patience and perseverance. He went on, step by step, just as the song goes,

One step and then another, until he became a man, a learned and eloquent man, who preached the gospel to admiring thousands. The little bootblack became the renowned pulpit orator, George Whitefield.—Selected.

The Backward Child.

The backward child may, indeed, be deficient in application, not in capacity. Should this be so, arouse him, not by a hailstorm of nagging or a downpour of faultfinding, but by a system of rewards lovingly adapted to his disposition and character. Suffer no discouragement to creep into your own heart concerning him, and do not allow him, or her, to feel that there is reason for any doubt about reaching the top of the ladder in due season. The top, mind, not the middle rounds—anyone can reach these. Set a definite aim before your child; cultivate a high and noble ideal, but be willing to climb slowly. Haste is at the root of many a failure—haste and lack of thoroughness as one goes on.

With a tender regret for lost opportunities, who has not sometimes seen a mature woman timid, self-conscious, handicapped from youth to gray hairs simply because she was a "backward" child once, and, therefore, was snubbed and ridiculed, and pushed into the background, while her sisters and brothers bore off the honors, and were the objects of universal estimation? A wrong for life was done to the little daughter, and her little daughter may, perhaps, suffer from the same old mistake, for wrongs are far-reaching. Be pitiful and just to the backward child in your home.—Margaret E. Sangster.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Entertainments for the Young.

Entertainments are the bane of our young people. The young man that finds that he can not sit quietly by the Winter fire and read the best books, and read carefully and with purpose, is in a bad state. We aggravate the disease by ministering to it social entertainment. That is ruining our boys and girls in cities. We get nice clothes and nice manners without brains as the result. And we get what is worse, young men with no self-control or noble purpose. It were better to live in the backwoods where a boy has no pastime but hunting on Saturday afternoon, and where he has to go ten miles to see his sweetheart, than to have this everlasting round of socials, tennis, football, tableaux, shows and suppers. The young men who have been brought up on the farm get to the front in the business of the great city, and in the leading professions, simply because business, rather than pastime, has been their one idea from childhood. The editor of the Methodist now congratulates the country boys as those who have the best prospects in the world.—Holston Methodist.

What shall it profit, if you have acquired books and lost the love of reading; acquired influence and lost the joy of usefulness; acquired power and lost the pleasure of service? He that thus gains his life loses it in the gaining. This is an enigma. Ponder it.—Lyman Abbott.

The secret of success is to know how to deny yourself. If you once learn to get the whip-hand of yourself, that is the best educator. Prove to me that you can control yourself, and I'll say you're an educated man; and without this all other education is next to nothing.—Mrs. Oliphant.

THE

WALL AND MOONEY

School for Boys,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

Discipline rigid, expenses reasonable, instruction thorough.

CHANCELLOR J. H. KIRKLAND, of Vanderbilt University, says:

"The academy of Messrs. Wall and Mooney is one of the very best training-schools, so far as my knowledge extends, within the Southern States."

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt and other leading Universities without examination. Engage a place beforehand.

For catalogue address

W. D. MOONEY.

Mention this paper.

HYGIENE.

Heart Failure from Over-Eating.

The heart is about as perfect an organ as any in the body, and one that rarely shirks its duty. It commences its labors during the early infancy, and goes on until the last moment of life, without intermission for seventy-five years or more. At every beat it propels two ounces of blood through its structure. At 75 pulsations per minute, nine pounds of blood is sucked in and pumped out. Every hour, 540 pounds; every day, 12 960 pounds; every year, 4 730 400 pounds; every hundred years, 473 040,000 pounds. Now, the heart has for a neighbor an organ, the stomach, very fond of self-indulgence. The stomach lies directly under the heart, with only the diaphragm between, and when it fills with gas it is like a small balloon, and lifts up until it interferes directly with the heart's action. The stomach never generates gas, but when filled with undigested food fermentation takes place and gas is formed, and the interference depends upon the amount of gas in the stomach. To overcome this obstruction, the heart has to exert itself in proportion to the interference, more blood is sent to the brain, and the following symptoms are the result: A dizzy head, a flushed face, loss of sight, spots or blurs before the eyes, flashes of light, zigzag lines or chains, etc., often followed by the most severe headache. These symptoms are usually relieved when the gas is expelled from the stomach. Now when this upward pressure upon the heart becomes excessive, more dangerous symptoms supervene, a larger quantity of blood is sent to the brain, some vessel ruptures, and a blood clot in the brain is the result, and the person dies of apoplexy, or, if he lives, is a cripple for life. When a sick person, or an old one, or one with feeble digestion, sleeps, digestion is nearly or quite suspended, but fermentation goes on, and gas is generated as before stated.

A man is found dead in bed and the physician pronounces it the result of heart failure. Now, the man was out late maybe, partook of a large dinner of roast beef, turkey, chicken, lobsters, oysters, mince pie, plum pudding, ice cream, cake, an orange, nuts, and raisins, coffee, etc., went home at midnight, and dies of heart failure before morning. The heart failed from overloading, just as a horse might do. Again, a man is sick with typhoid fever or pneumonia, or almost any other disease, and dies of heart failure; but what has his diet been during the sickness? At present it is very fashionable to commence at once with what might well be called the stuffing process. Iced milk, which is so cool and grateful to the patient, from three pints to one gallon during the day and night. How unwise. Moral: If you don't want to have your heart fail don't abuse it, don't overload it. —The Journal of Hygiene.

Food for Brain Workers.

Demorest's Magazine gives some valuable suggestions about what foods are best for building up the tissues of the brain nerve cells, as follows:

Brain workers require the most concentrated and easily digested foods; they should eat fresh beef and mutton, fish, eggs—cooked in many forms, but never hard boiled nor fried—oysters, and fresh green vegetables, cool, crisp salads, lettuce, chicory, tomatoes, water cress, etc., mayonnaise or French dressing. They should begin the day with fruit and make it form the principal part of luncheon; and be very sparing in their use of cereals, eschewing entirely white bread and oatmeal. Their ideal luncheon, which must be light if they continue work in the afternoon, is a glass of milk or a cup of hot chocolate—or, better still, a glass of fresh buttermilk—with two or three Graham wafers or a bit of toast and some fruit, an apple, figs, or an orange.

Most men will concede that it looks foolish to see a boy draggin' a heavy sled up hill for the fleeting purpose of ridin' down again. But it appears to me that the boy is a sage by the side of a young man who works hard all week and drinks up his wages on Saturday night.—Josh Billings.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

New York, Aug 1, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have absolute remedy for Consumption and Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Waste. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY CURED. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Post Office address.

Sincerely,
T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige.—EDITOR.

The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Regions of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE
ST. LOUIS CHICAGO
CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE
maintained by the
ILLINOIS CENTRAL R.R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask your local railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley
RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrives.
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	6:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.
NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,
AND TO ALL POINTS
North, -:- East
North-East,
AND South-East

90 MILES SHORTEST
To CINCINNATI
AND
THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:
E. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A. New Orleans, La.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED.
Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with
LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART
By Hon. HENRY B. RUSSELL, their chosen friend. 650 pages, elegantly illustrated. Only $1.00. Best and cheapest, and outsells all others by four to one. 50 per cent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Send by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once.
A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

BELLS all kinds, large or little—for Church and School, Factory and Farm. AMERICAN BELL FOUNDRY CO., Northville, Mich.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour.
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401 1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

OBITUARIES.

CROSSLEY—Mrs. LOUISA J. CROSSLEY was born in Avoyelles parish, La., in 1832; removed to Mississippi in 1840; joined the M. E. Church, South, at Adams, while Dr. Germany was conducting a meeting; married Andrew Crossley in 1860, with whom she lived in quiet Christian love till his death in December, 1891. She then made her home with her only daughter until March 27, 1896, when God said to her: "It is enough; come up higher."

While she had been in an unhealthy state several years, yet she was confined to her bed only three or four months. All during her sickness she was found to exercise a trustful spirit and a strong faith in the Lord. On the third day before her death she clapped her hands and raised her voice in shouts of praise to God. On being asked how she felt, she said she was near the crossing, and that the way was bright and clear before. Then she went into a stupor, to be only slightly aroused a few times before her death. She quietly passed into rest. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." God bless her daughter, five stepchildren, and all her relatives and friends, that they may meet her in glory. From her pastor, J. T. ARNEY.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Covington, at Covington	Aug.	8, 9
Tallulah and Slidell, at Camp Ground		15, 16
White Castle		22, 23
Pagomine and Donaldsonville, at P.		29, 30
Lower Coast, at Wesley	Sept.	5, 6
Crapo Street		7
Louisiana Avenue (11 A. M.)		13
Bayou Memorial (7:45 P. M.)		13

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Red River, at Campobello	Aug.	8, 9
Coushatta, at East Point		12, 13
Wesley, at Holly Springs		21, 23
Pleasant Hill, at Bayou Scie		22, 29
Grand Cane, at Bethel	Sept.	5, 6
Mansfield, at Mansfield		12, 13
Caddo		19, 20

J. L. P. SHEPPARD, P. E.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Natchitoches	Aug.	8, 9
Montgomery		12
Columbia at Faolk's Chapel		12, 13
Centerville, at ——		13
Boyce and Colfax, at Camp Ground		21
Spring Creek, at Camp Ground		26
Dry Creek, at Hopewell		13, 30

V. D. SKIPPER, P. E.

ARCADIA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Homer (Wed and Thurs.)	Aug.	8, 9
Valley, at Blockar Chapel		8, 9
Minden, at Pine Grove		13, 13
Arcadia, at Simsboro		21, 22
Bienville		22, 20

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

Arcadia, La.

BATON ROUGE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Amite City, at Kentwood	Aug.	8, 9
Pine Grove, at Camp Ground. (Wed.)		12
East Feliciana, at Camp G. (Thurs.)		22
Greensburg, at Camp Ground. (Fri.)		21
Clinton		22, 24
Franklinton, at Pleasant Valley		22, 29

R. W. TUCKER, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Pegomine Brulee, at P. Brulee	Aug.	8, 9
French Mission, at Arnoville		15
West Lake and Sulphur Mine		15, 16
Lake Charles—Broad Street		22, 23
Lake Charles—Jackson St cet		21, 27
Grand Chenieres		26
Rayne		29, 30

H. O. WHITE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Rayville, at Little Creek	Aug.	9, 11
Lind Grove, at Bonita		15, 16
Lastrop at Colony		21, 20
Oak Ridge, at Oak Ridge	Sept.	5, 6
Floyd, at Oak Grove		10, 13
Harrisonburg, at Vidalia		12, 14
Delhi and Shelly Island, at Peck Ile		21, 22
Winnsboro, at Bonff Prairie	Oct.	3, 4
Lake Providence, at Pecan Grove		10, 12
Delhi, at Talluiah		16, 20
Waterproof, at Wesley		22, 25

B. F. WHITE, P. E.

Floyd, La.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

NATCHEZ DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Harlow, at Brandywine	Aug	8, 9
Amite, at H. O.		12, 13
Meadville, at N. P.		22, 23
Percy Creek		29, 22
Woodville		29, 31
Washington	Sept.	5, 6

L. S. JONES, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Westville, at Goshan	Aug.	8, 9
Trenton, at New Prospect		12, 13
Montrose, at Cedar Grove		13
Raleigh, at Say Springs		21, 22
Hillsboro, at New Providence		28
Steen's Creek, at Richland		29, 30
Brandon		30, 31

W. W. SIMMONS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Vancleave, at Pine Grove	Aug.	8, 9
Americus, at Tanner's		15, 16
Escatawpa, at Scranton		22 23
Moss Point station		29 30
Whitingtnn, at Ponta Head	Sept.	5 6
Bay St. Louis and Long Beach, at Bay.		12, 13
Augusta, at Galloways		19 20
Black Creek, at Smith's C. (Mon.)		21
Nicholson, at McNeil		26, 27
Marion, at Advance (Wed.)		30

C. A. POWELL, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Delaville circuit, at Sonia's Chapel	Aug.	8 9
Meridian East End		16, 17
Nesbohs and Mission, at Philadelphia		22 23
Meridian West End		30, 31
Chunkey circuit, at Concord	Sept	5, 6
Linwood circuit at Pleasant Grove		12, 13
Meridian Central		21, 21

R. J. JONES, P. E.

Meridian, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Rocky Springs, at Hickory Ridge	Aug.	8, 9
Port Gibson		15, 16
Utica, at Learned		22, 24
Mayersville, at Selleh		29, 30
South Warren, at ——	Sept	5, 6
Mt. Olivet, at ——		13, 13
Rolling Fork, at Redwood		19 20
Anguilla at Bethel		26, 27
Warren, at ——	Oct.	2, 4

Pastors will please give special attention to Questions 17 and 18, and have their books in Quarterly Conference for examination

J. M. WEAMS, P. E.

ENTERPRISE DIST. THIRD ROUND

Pachuta, at Carter's Mill	Aug.	8, 9
Winchester, at Spring Hill		12, 13
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro (Mon.)		17
Leakville, at Avera (Tues.)		18
Energy, at State Line		22 23
Vossburg, at Caotral (Wed.)		23
Fuller	Sept.	2, 3
Williamsburg (Wed.)		3
Mt. Carmel		11, 13
Eastabuchie, at Hopewell		13, 20
Matherville		26, 27
Enterprise and Stonewall (Wed.)		30

L. CARLAY, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND

North Wesson, at Matthews	Aug.	8, 9
Providence, at Providence		11
Gelman, at Mt. Pleasant		12, 13
Crystal Springs (8 P. M.)		13
Hazlehurst		22, 23
Union Grove		29, 30
Whitestown, at Muddy Springs	Sept.	5, 6
Pleasant Grove, at Sartin's		11, 13

E. H. MOUNGER, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Silver Creek and B. L., at Sharbrough's	Aug.	8, 9
Canton		15, 16
Flora at Brownsville		22, 23
Camden, at ——		29 30
Madison, at Pocahontas	Sept.	5, 6
Lakelity and Lodi, at Philips		12, 13
Faunia		19 20
Tranquil		26, 27

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

COLUMBUS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Macon station	Aug.	8, 9
Shuqualak (Mon.)		10
Hebron		15, 16
Columbus circuit		20, 21
Columbus station		21, 23
Crawford		28, 30
Cedar Bluff	Sept.	5, 6
West Point		6, 7
Singleton (Thurs.)		10
Winstonville		12, 13

R. A. BURROUGHS, P. E.

CORINTH. DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Brown's Creek circuit, at Silham	Aug.	8, 9
Blue Springs cir., at Sherman. (Fri.)		14
Ripley and New Albany sta., at N. A.		15, 16
Ripley circuit, at Jacob's Chapel		22, 23
Jonesboro cir. at Camp G. (Wed.)		26
New Albany circuit, at Wells' Chapel.		29, 30
Saltillo circuit, at Mooresville	Sept.	5, 6

HARLEY R. TUCKER, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

McNutt, at Sunnyside	Aug.	8, 9
Carrollton circuit, at ——		13, 16
Sidon, at Sidon		21, 23
Dublin and Brooklyn, at ——		29, 30
Black Hawk, at ——	Sept.	5, 6

J. B. STOKE, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Houston	Aug.	8, 9
Aberdeen circuit		14
Quincy		15, 16
Tramont circuit		21
Fulton		22, 23
Amory		28, 30
Cholona circuit	Sept.	5, 6

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

East Holly Springs cir., at Mt. Hope	Aug.	8, 9
Cornersville circuit at Friendship		15, 16
Mt. Pleasant cir., at Marshall Institute		22 23
Ashland circuit at Black Jack		28, 30
Pontotoc circuit	Sept.	5, 6
Ashland circuit		12, 13

J. D. CAMERON, P. E.

DURANT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Ethel, at Mayvie	Aug.	7
Ackerman at Liberty Hill		8, 9
Walthall, at Shady Grove		14
Eupora at Eupora		15, 16
Chester, at South Union		22, 23
Ashton		28
Ebenezer, at Bethany		29, 30
Rural Hill	Sept.	4
Louisville		5, 6

The brethren will have their church registers and records of Church Conferences at the Conference for examination, as the law requires.

J. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT—THIRD ROUND.

Slate Springs, at Cross Roads	Aug	8 9
Elney, at George's Chapel (Tues.)		11
Paris, at Pleasant Hill (Fri.)		13
Pittsboro, at —— (Fri.)		18, 19
Chapal Hill, at —— (Fri.)		21

H. C. MONAHEAD, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Pleasant Grove	Aug.	8, 9
Longtown		15, 16
Wall Hill		21, 23
Cockrum (Tues.)		22
Arkabutla		22, 30
Burgett (Wed.)	Sept.	2
Eureka (Thurs.)		3
Pleasant Hill		5, 6

T. C. WIER, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Rosedale and Bolivar, at Bolivar	Aug.	8, 9
Cleveland and Shelby		15, 16
Belen circuit, at Bellvue		21, 23
Carnesville circuit, at Duhbs		28, 30
Tunica circuit, at Evansville		30, 31
Lula circuit	Sept.	2, 3
Leherton and New Salam, at Sandy B.		11, 13
Arcola circuit		15, 20

J. A. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Go, make thy garden fair as thou canst,
Thou workest never alone;
Partaker he whose plot is next to thine,
Will see it, and mend his own
- Robert Collyer.

We guarantee
Heiskell's Ointment
to quickly and permanently cure Eczema, Scald-Head, Barber's Itch or Tetter without the aid of internal medicine.
50c. per box at Druggists or by mail.
JOHNSTON, HOLLOWAY & CO.,
531 Commerce St., PHILADELPHIA.

DROPSY TREATED FREE Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases called hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of marvelous cures sent FREE. 10 Days Treatment Free by mail. DR. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, Atlanta, Ga.

School Medals -AND- Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS,
And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER
IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,451. Endowment ($102,667) pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address PRES'T. WM. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

BELLS

Best Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
THE VAN DUZEN CO., Cincinnati, O., U.S.A., Best largest Copper Composition Bells in the U.S.A. and E. India Tin. CHURCH BELLS PEALS AND CHIMES. Steel Factory Bells, Cast Steel and Friction Rollers. Send for Catalogue and Price. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON.
ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD."
E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists

ROANOKE COLLEGE, SALEM, VA.

Course for Degrees, with Electives; high standard. Also Com'l and Prep'y Courses. Library 20,000 volumes; working laboratory; good moral and discipline; six Churches; no bar-rooms; Special terms to candidates for ministry and sons of ministers. Increasing patronage from many States and several foreign countries. Beautiful mountain location. Very moderate expenses. 44th year begins Sept. 16th. Catalogue, with views, free. JULIUS D. DREHER, Pres.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Washington College
FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Thorough courses. Experienced faculty. Superior home accommodations and opportunities for social culture. Charming location. Buildings in a beautiful park of ten acres, and overlook the Capitol, other Government buildings, and good portions of the city.

F. MENEFEE, President.
J. ROBERT GOULD, Sec'y.
Washington, D. C.

Edward McGehee College for Girls

Has just been rebuilt in latest modern style, in the midst of one of the most beautiful and healthful parks on earth.

COURSE OF STUDY equal to the best.

BOARD AND TUITION to suit the times.

FACULTY all true and tried successful specialists.

Full session opens Sept. 2, 1896.
Before placing your girls, write
J. A. MONROE, A. M., Pres't,
Woodville, Miss.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,

AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lauterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

I. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

334-336 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER MATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

AGENCIES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

W. W. CARRE,
LUMBER,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Southern Seminary and Conservatory of Music

1867-1896 BOWLING GREEN, VA.

REV. E. H. ROWE, President, Late Pres't Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

PROF. J. B. GRASS, Director of Music, (Graduate of Conservatory of Munich, Bavaria, and Fellow Royal Society of England.)

DEPARTMENTS: Language and Literature, (Besides Ancient and Modern Languages, etc., rare advantages in English under Specialist in English from Vassar.) Science—Art—Music—Elocution and Business. SOCIAL CULTURE: Through systematic efforts and association of officers and teachers with students. Distinguishing feature of this institution. LOCATION: Northern Virginia near Washington, D. C., offering rare advantages to young ladies from lower Southern States. (See Prospectus.) HEALTHFUL; picturesque; accessible. No change of cars from Atlanta, Ga. Terms reasonable. Special rates to ministers and to teachers. Session opens Sept. 9. Write for prospectus and further information.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

The Female College of the Louisiana Conference.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Forty-fourth session begins Sept. 2, 1896. Send for Catalogue. T. S. STAGG, A. M., President.

Belhaven College for Young Ladies,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

Celebrated for its high standard of scholarship. Teachers progressive and enthusiastic. A thorough musical education after the method of the foremost Conservatories. Elocution and Art taught as specialties. Best home influences. Careful physical training. Beautiful campus of twelve acres. Elegant Buildings with steam heating apparatus, Electric Lights and Hot and Cold Baths. Perfect sanitary arrangements. Third session begins September 16. Send for handsomely illustrated catalogue.

L. T. FITZHUGH, A. M.,
President.

LOGAN FEMALE COLLEGE,

In closing her fiftieth year, sends greeting to all of her children and extends a cordial welcome to them and their daughters. With a broad curriculum and teachers from the great institutions of this country and Europe, she invites the patronage of those seeking a liberal culture for their daughters under refining influences. Address

A. G. MURPHY, PRINCIPAL, Russellville, Ky.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED.

Will accept notes for tuition, or case deposit money in bank until position is secured. Car fare paid. No vacation. Enter at any time. Cheap board. Send for free illustrated catalogue. Mention this paper.

Draughon's Practical Business Colleges, Nashville, Tenn., AND Texarkana, Tex.

Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. The most thorough, practical and progressive schools of the kind in the world, and the best patronized ones in the South. Indorsed by bankers, merchants, ministers, and others. Four weeks in bookkeeping with us are equal to twelve weeks by the old plan. Their President is author of "Draughon's New System of Bookkeeping," which cannot be taught in any other school.

$600.00 given to any college if we cannot show more written applications for bookkeepers and stenographers, received in the past twelve months, than any other five Business Colleges in the South, all "combined," can show to have received in the past five years. We expend more money in the interest of our Employment Department than any other Bus. College in Tenn. takes in as tuition. $500.00—Amount we have deposited in banks as guarantee that we have in the past fulfilled, and will in the future fulfill, our guarantee contracts. HOME STUDY.—We have prepared, especially for home study, books on Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship. Write for price list.

PROF. DRAUGHON—I now have a position as bookkeeper and stenographer for the Southern Grocery Company, of this place; salary, $75.00 per month. I owe it all to your books on bookkeeping and shorthand prepared for home study.—Irl Armstrong, Pine Bluff, Ark.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,
Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address D. SULLINS, Pres't.

Nashville College
FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Privileges of Lectures, Museum, Apparatus, in Vanderbilt University. Three large buildings. Faculty of 30; pupils from 18 States. Highest advantages in Music, Art, Calisthenics, Health, Dressmaking. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Tennessee Centennial, May 1897. Provisions for pupils to see the Exposition. Address Rev. Geo. W. F. Price, D. D., Pres., Nashville, Tenn. Rev. W. F. Melton, A. M., Ph. D., Vice-President.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.
FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

Bowling Green Business College

THE GREAT BUSINESS TRAINING SCHOOL OF THE SOUTH.

A School of Business, Shorthand, Penmanship, Telegraphy & Typewriting

CATALOGUE AND JOURNAL FREE.

HUNDREDS OF GRADUATES HOLDING FINE POSITIONS. RECOMMENDED BY THE LEADING BUSINESS MEN OF THE COUNTRY. MENTION COURSE WANTED.

ADDRESS Cherry Bros. Bowling Green, Ky.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN.

"The Ideal College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. H. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Regent. Miss Heed and Miss Heron, Principals.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good delight to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes so unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of this Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a "variable gladness in the soul." I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended in church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 468 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN TILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 19 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

HOLLY SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Epworth College
(Formerly MALONE)

Is located in Holly Springs, which is situated at the intersection of the Illinois Central and Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroads, into which ten passenger trains come and go every day.

Holly Springs is the highest point in the State of Mississippi, according to the geological survey, and the highest point on the railroad between New Orleans and Chicago; hence it is noted for its healthfulness. The success of the college for the last five years has been unprecedented under the circumstances. We expect still greater success under my successor, S. A. Sisal and Rev. R. M. Standifer, who will make such improvements as time and experience may suggest. I shall remain in the college as business manager until December, and will take great pleasure in giving to the patrons of the college any information they may desire.

I call special attention to our very reasonable terms.

TERMS PER MONTH.

Board, fuel, lights and laundry	$11 00
Tuition in Collegiate department	4 00
Tuition in Academic department	4 00

EXTRA EXPENSES.

French, German or Greek (each)	1 50
Instrumental music	4 00
Voice culture (private lessons)	4 00
No charge for chorus training or use of piano.
Crayon, pastel, water colors and oil	4 00
Elocution (private lessons)	4 00
Elocution in class	1 00
Diploma (graduation fee)	5 00
Violin, mandolin, guitar (each)	4 00

Payments must be made quarterly in advance.

For preachers' daughters everything will be divided by two. ITY

Catalogue furnished on application.

J. W. HUNNOLL, Business Manager.

Holly Springs, Miss., July 15, 1896.

Millwood Female Institute,

NEAR JACKSON, LA.

A SCHOOL OF HIGH GRADE.

Beautiful location, and health record unsurpassed. The fall session will begin Wednesday, Sept 2, 1896. Offers superior advantages to young ladies who desire thorough equipment for life-work. Faculty complete and competent. Some of the higher branches will be taught by members of the faculty of Centenary College. For particulars, as to board tuition, etc., address

MISS A. M. C. PEARCE, Principal.

Jackson, La.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The Delta Veneer and Box Company, at Friar's Point, Miss., burned on July 31. Loss, $100,000.

Johnston, the Democratic nominee for governor of Alabama, was elected on Aug. 3 by a majority of 40,000.

Two excursion trains collided forty miles from Atlantic City, N. J., last week. The dead and injured number about one hundred.

The Populist party has a woman stump speaker in the person of Miss Frankie Lane, of Oakland, Cal., who proposes to take to the road shortly for the benefit of the cause.

The white Republicans of this State held their convention in this city on July 30. They appointed a State Committee, regardless of the other factions. Capt. Pharr and Gen. Badger were selected as electors at large, and a full electoral ticket was put in the field.

The Sunday law was well enforced in the city on last Sunday. The police say they can keep it up if the courts promptly back up their efforts. The better class of saloon keepers gave valuable aid in closing the doors of those who showed contempt for law and order.

The final passage of the law providing for the consolidation of New York and the surrounding cities and towns into a single municipality has brought the people of the various communities interested in the consolidation face to face with the many problems involved in shaping a charter for the greater city.

FOREIGN.

It is rumored that the Queen of England will abdicate the throne at an early date, and will retire in favor of the Prince of Wales. The health of the Queen is very bad.

Father Martinelli, prior general of the Augustiniane, has been appointed successor to Mgr. Satolli as papal delegate to the Roman Catholic Church in the United States.

The Japanese minister of war has issued a proclamation calling upon the people to send contributions for a special monument to newspaper correspondents who sacrificed their lives during the late war, and for gifts of honor to those who survived.

Lord Russell, of Killowen, the Lord Chief Justice of England, who is coming to this country to make the principal address at the American Bar Association's meeting in Saratoga this month, will be accompanied by Sir Frank Lockwood, solicitor general in Mr. Gladstone's administration.

MERIT WINS, and that is why Hood's Sarsaparilla holds the abiding confidence of the public. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made. It is the One True Blood Purifier.

HOOD'S PILLS cure liver ills, constipation, jaundice, sick headache, biliousness. 25c.

According to the advices received from London, Gen. Lord Wolsely, the Commander-in-chief of the British Army, has created a considerable stir by a statement to the effect that he did not consider the Indian Army maintained by Great Britain in her East Indian possessions capable of coping with European troops, whether German, French or Russian.

For Sleeplessness

Take Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. PATRICK BOOTH, Oxford, N. C. says: "Have seen it act admirably in insomnia, especially of old people and convalescents. A refreshing drink in hot weather and in cases of fevers."

Tammany Hall, New York, has endorsed Bryan and Sewall without waiting for the action of the State Convention.

Wyatt's Business Colleges.

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

Cheap Excursion to Cincinnati, Ohio, and Return.

AUGUST 22, 1896.

Rate, $12 for the round trip. From New Orleans and certain N. O. and N. E. points. Via Queen and Crescent Route. Tickets good going on train No. 2, Aug. 22, only; good returning on all regular trains within ten-days' limit.

For further information call on or address Q. and C. agents.

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., 210 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

Do You Want $5?

Any bright boy or girl in any town or village in Louisiana or Mississippi can sell 10 copies, at $1 per copy, of Dr. Smith's "Boy in Gray," and he will give such an one $5 in cash.

Send fifty cents to him in Macon, Ga., and get a copy. Address Rev Dr. Geo. G. Smith, Macon, Ga.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW.

COTTON.
Low ordinary	5⅝	— —
Ordinary	5⅞	— —
Good ordinary	6 7-16	— —
Low middling	6 11-16	— —
Middling	6 15-16	— —
Good middling	7 6-16	— —
Middling fair	7 13-16	— —
Fair	1⅛	— —
Galveston middling	6 3-16	— —
Mobile middling	6 11-16	— —
Memphis middling	3 13-16	— —
SUGAR.
OPEN KETTLE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fully fair	— —	— —
Good fair	— —	— —
Common	— —	— —
CENTRIFUGAL:
Seconds	3⅝	3⅝
Prime yellow	3⅝	4
Gray white	4	4 1-16
Choice white	4	4 1-16
Standard granulated	— —	— —
MOLASSES.
OPEN KETTLE:
Fancy	— —	— —
Fair	— —	— —
Good common	— —	— —
SYRUP	— —	— —
RICE.
No. 2	1⅝	1⅝
Good	4	4⅛
Fair	3	3⅛
Prime	4⅛	4⅜
Rough, ₩ bbl	1 35	3 35
POLISH, ₩ ton	16 00	14 00
FLOUR.
Extra Fancy	3 60	3 80
Fancy	3 30	3 40
Choice	— —	— —
Minnesota Patents	4 00	— —
Winter wheat patents	3 85	3 90
Minnesota bakers	— —	— —
CORN PRODUCTS.
Corn meal	1 65	— —
Cream meal	1 90	— —
Grits	2 00	— —
Hominy	2 30	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White, ₩ bushel	66	36
Yellow	36	33
Mixed No. 2	33	33
OATS:
Western	32½	33
Texas rust-proof	— —	— —
BRAN:
₩ cwt	45	— —
HAY:
Prime	16 50	15 30
Choice	13 30	17 00
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess (Standard)	7 00	7 50
Prime Mess	7 10	7 75
Rumps	7 25	7 50
BACON:
Fancy Breakfast	5	8⅛
Shoulders	4⅛	4⅜
Sides, short rib	4⅛	4⅜
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	9⅝	10½
DRY SALT MEATS:
Shoulders	— —	4⅛
Sides, short rib	— —	4
Sides, long clear	— —	— —
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	— —
Fair	13	— —
Common	12¾	— —
TEAS:
Choice	— —	— —
He-No	— —	— —
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	16½	16
Western Dairy	16	— —
Common	— —	— —
LARD:
Refined	4	— —
OILS:
Coal, bbls	3½	— —
Coal, cases	15½	— —
Cotton seed, crude	13	12½
Lard, Extra No. 1	60	— —
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, ₩ bbl	1 40	1 75
Chicago, ₩ 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₩ [illegible]	— —	— —
POTATOES:
New Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	35	— —
ONIONS:
New Louisiana	85	1 30
Western	— —	— —
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
Jute, 2 lb. ₩ yard	3 1-13	— —
Jute, 1¾ lb. ₩ yard	3 11-16	— —
Lane Mills Cotton Bagging	— —	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	3	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	1 00	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	6 75	4 25
Young Chickens	1 00	6 25
Chickens, Southern	3 50	6 00
Young	1 40	2 25
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	13 00
EGGS:
Western	10	10½
Southern	10½	— —
WOOL:
Lake, ₩ lb	11	11½
Louisiana	10	— —
Barry	3	7
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green Salted, ₩ lb	4½	— —
Dry salted	6	— —
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₩ ton	3 00	— —
Meal	17 25	17 50
Pure ground bone	— —	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Sulphuric acid	— —	— —

Camp Meetings.

The Scottsville Camp Meeting will begin Aug. 11.

[illegible] Camp Meeting will begin on Saturday, the twenty-ninth of August, and run six or seven days. It is located two miles north of Lake Station, fifty five miles east of Jackson, Miss., on the A. and V. R. R.

Preachers generally are invited, and will be entertained free of charge. Come in the fullness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ, and let's have a good time, spiritually. Good accommodations at reasonable rates will be provided for all who come.

Trains arrive at Lake at 7:50 P. M., going east, and at 7.30 A. M., going west.

H. P. LEWIS, P. C.

BUSINESS NOTICES

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

MARRIAGES.

BLACK-CLINE.—At Black Water Church, July 22, 1896, by Rev. J. F. Wynn, Mr. C. C. Black to Miss Alma J. Cline, all of East Baton Rouge parish, La.

MYER-McRAY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Singleton McRay, near Scott, Greene county, Miss., July 21, 1896, by Rev. J. C. Ellis, Mr. Nelson M. Myer to Miss Cora Lee McRay.

DAVIS—BROWN.—At the Gem Hotel, Abita Springs, La., July 30, 1896, by Rev. Jno. H. Kent, Mr. George H. Davis to Miss Mary L. Brown, all of St. Tammany parish.

The warrant division of the treasury department has sent to the Secretary of the Treasury all the warrants for the sugar bounty, amounting to 493, and covering the $5 000.000 appropriation. The Secretary signed all but three.

RAW ECZEMA

NO REST NO SLEEP DAY OR NIGHT

My hands were terribly covered with Eczema, and between my fingers the skin was perfectly raw. I had to sit with both hands held up, and away from the fire. My husband had to dress and undress me like a baby. I tried the best physicians, but their medicines gave me no relief, and drove me almost crazy. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, although my husband had to go twenty miles to get them. As soon as he got back, I used the CUTICURA, and in five minutes after the first application I was perfectly easy, and slept soundly all that night. Before I commenced using the CUTICURA REMEDIES I could get no ease night or day. I could not bear to get warm, it would put me in a rage of itching. I always keep the CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house now, and recommend them to everybody, because of their wonderful effect. Yours gratefully, AGNES M. HARRIS, Rush, Mecklenburg Co. Va.

SPEEDY CURE TREATMENT FOR TORTURING, DISFIGURING HUMORS.—Warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle applications of CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure, and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor cures.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, 50c. and $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.

"How to Cure Torturing Skin Diseases," free.

MARY BALDWIN SEMINARY

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

STAUNTON, VIRGINIA.

Term begins Sept. 2d, 1896. Located in Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Unsurpassed climate, ground[illegible] Board, etc., with full English course, $250. Music, Languages, Elocution, Art, Book-keeping, and Physical Culture, extra. Pupils enter any time. Write for Catalog. M. J. BALDWIN, Pres.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.

Letters, Science, Engineering, Law, Medicine

Session begins 15th September.

Mild climate. Excellent gymnasium. For catalogues address

WM. M. THORNTON, LL.D., Chairman.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. The largest and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Elective courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in Valley of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1,200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. 58th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address

CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

East Mississippi Female College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for Fifteen Years.

Renovated, improvements added, Director of Music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best institutions in the South.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, ART AND ELOCUTION.

RATES LOW.

One Scholarship of Free Tuition

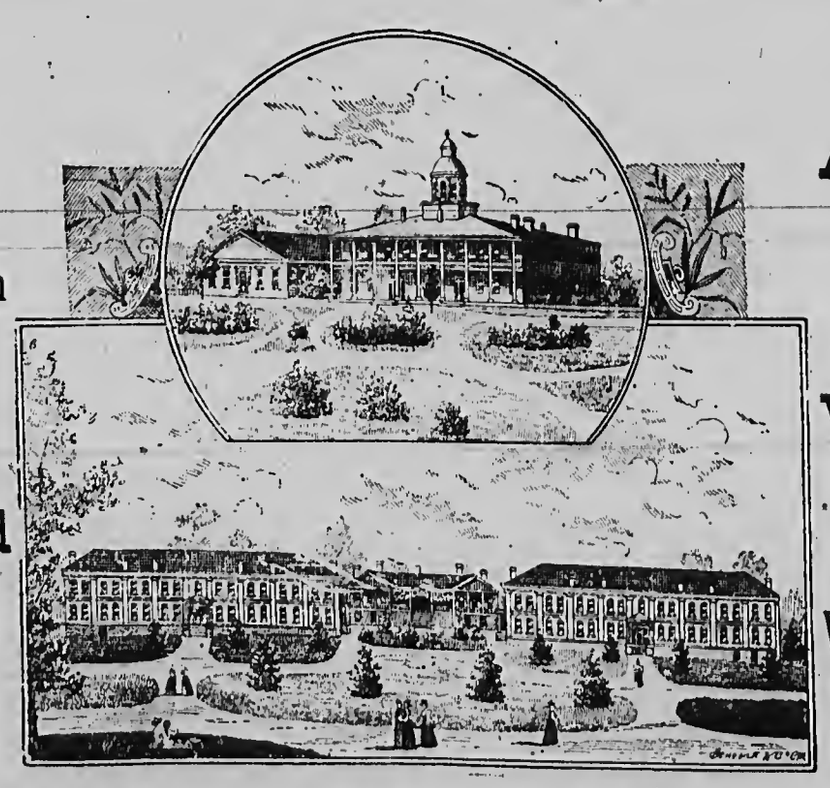
given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder.

For further information and handsome new Catalogue, address

J. W. Beeson. President.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE.

"I want a Christian Education for my daughter. Where shall I send her?"



Anxious fathers and mothers will make no mistake if they send to Whitworth College,

BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

BECAUSE it is an old institution with an honorable history and a glorious future.

BECAUSE it has a healthful location, pure water and delightful accommodations.

BECAUSE it has a faculty abreast of the times, sound in head and heart.

BECAUSE it has a Christian atmosphere. The Epworth League, the prayer meetings and the revival fires are what my child needs.

BECAUSE nowhere else do you find better advantages in Art, Elocution, Voice, Piano and Violin.

LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, the price is within the reach of all.

BOARD, WASHING AND TUITION FOR TEN MONTHS TO

14	Young Ladies (who do not object to work)	$ 40.00
40	Young Ladies (under certain conditions)	100.00
50	Young Ladies (Johnson Hall)	125.00
90	Young Ladies (Margaret Hall)	150.00

Write at once for Catalogue and other information to the President,

Rev. John W. Chambers, Brookhaven, Miss.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 33. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2086

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

OUR SOWING.

BY ALFRED J. HOUGH.

We sow for two worlds day by day,
Two harvests for our reaping;
One near at hand, one far away,
Of joy or bitter weeping.
But sweetly is the message told,
The good seed of our casting
Yields in this world a hundredfold,
The next—life everlasting.

We sow for two worlds, not for one;
The wrongs we do and cherish
Beneath the stars, beyond the sun,
Will never, never perish.
But good seed cast into the mold,
Preserved from blight or blasting,
Yields in this world a hundredfold,
The next life everlasting.

We sow for two worlds, here and there.
Through seen and unseen ranges;
For hate its baleful harvest bears
Unchanged through all life's changes;
And love, in deed or language told,
Its ripened seed recasting,
Yields in this life a hundredfold,
The next life everlasting.

—Exchange.

Communications.

Christian Faith and Scientific Inquiry.

The fact that, during every stage of scientific progress able writers have shown the harmony that exists between Christian faith and scientific truth, may seem to some to render further discussion needless. Christian writers could well afford to drop the discussion, if there did not appear, from time to time, in certain prominent periodicals, such utterances as should not be allowed to pass unchallenged. Still, as Christian faith is the most precious legacy that has descended to us from our forefathers, and revealed religion is the best established system of truth upon which we have employed our minds in earnest and honest inquiry, while the utterances above alluded to rarely, if ever, contain arguments sufficient to unsettle the faith of any earnest inquirer after truth, the direct effects of such utterances are not dreaded. When, however, their deliverances tend to warp our educational system until it harmonizes with their own views, and to ridicule any discussion based upon canons of evidence differing in any respect from their dicta, the performance is not so harmless.

The attitude of the minds of the educated class and of those whom they influence towards truth, resting upon different kinds of evidence, will be largely determined by the branches of study made prominent and influential in our schools and colleges. Now, as scientific facts rest upon one kind of evidence, while religious truth and the interests of life generally depend upon evidence of quite a different character, we see that, however imposing the methods of investigation and proof in natural science may be, they have their sphere and limitation, and attempts to make their application too extensive, and their claims too imperious, must be resisted. These considerations bring us to the conclusion that while Natural Science must have, in education, the prominence to which its practical benefits and educative value entitle it, the Moral Philosophy School must maintain that position of dignity and paramount importance which it has held for so many years.

In an article in the Nation, of Feb. 20, 1896, on "The Real Conquests of Science," occurs this paragraph: "Dr. Johnson used to maintain in his fine legal way that the study of external nature could never be the great and frequent business of the human mind! The 'moral and religious discrimination of right and wrong' was the great affair; and he had characteristic words of contempt for those troublesome 'innovators' of his own day who thought that the growth of plants or the motions of the stars had anything to do with education. Futile and barren enough has that position been made by the flight of a hundred years. The discriminators between right and wrong are just about where they were in Johnson's time—except as social evolution and scientific advance have opened up entire kingdoms of words then unknown. But the 'innovators' have gone on watching plant and star, interrogating the heavens above and the earth beneath, until the whole material condition and mental outlook of the race has been changed."

Admitting with Dr. Johnson that man has a rational, accountable and immortal nature, whose well-being depends upon an intelligent regard to its claims, we must contend with him that facts and truths pertaining to this nature are paramount. With this granted, both in theory and practice, the most enthusiastic student and teacher of moral truth should be satisfied.

But whether or not the writer of the above paragraph means to deny the supremacy of moral truth need not give us concern in the presence of the more startling implication that moral truth has actually become the product of "social evolution and scientific advance." It seems that those who study morals in the old way, such as Dr. Johnson used, have, for one hundred years, made little, if any, progress; while those who have studied the subject through the revelations of "social evolution and scientific advance" "have opened up entire kingdoms of morals then unknown." If the writer means that the progress of one hundred years has brought about social and economic conditions somewhat new, to which must be intelligently applied the great principles of morals that have been known ever since the Ten Commandments were given, all will heartily agree. If the great and crowning glory of Christian philosophy has been to unfold in methodic form, to elucidate with the best and highest thought of the ages, and to recommend by the most reverent recognition of its divine origin and utmost comprehensiveness, that system of morals made known to man by divine revelation, how "futile and barren" is the claim here made for social "evolution and scientific advance!"

While this article would be made too long if this discussion were continued, it seems well to give, without comment, a part of the concluding paragraph of the article before us, as this will show more fully the views and claims of its author. He continues:

"We are far from asserting that all is now clear sailing. The stubborn power of ignorance to wrest every new scientific scripture to its own destruction is already beginning to display itself in connection with the wonderful Roentgen discovery. . . . What the theological apologists will argue from the apparent need of re adjusting the theory of light, those of our readers who are skilled in their methods of reasoning can guess. The Mosaic authorship of the Pentateuch, the reasonableness of prayer for rain, the duty of instantly subscribing both to the creed and for the religious weekly of the able editor making the argument, will be among the very least of the things conclusively proved by the new photography. But even this folly, with which the gods themselves contend in vain, must yield in the end to the slow attrition of time, to the steady blowing of the wind by which science at last clears the densest minds of fog."

J. A. MOORES

Millsaps College.

In the Living Present.

Most funeral sermons promote infidelity. The departed are unduly praised. Their fitness for heaven not doubted. Elations on the sick bed frequently the outcome of morphine, paraded. But the survivors, who knew the life of the departed, unconsciously conclude that they, too, without change of heart, are good enough for the other world.

Bishop Foss advises to read several times, and even memorize, impressive paragraphs from favorite authors. At least one sermon a week should be written out in full. The manuscript must, however, not appear in the pulpit. Churches where reading sermons was formerly in vogue are abandoning it. It should be the preacher's ambition to preach well. Not imitate any known preacher, but fully develop our own peculiar talent. Should beware of intellectual disruption because of frequent official interruption of our habitual course of study. Not only read, but study. Pray much.

The Medical Times declares that onions are an excellent nervine. Partaking of same daily will prevent nervous prostration. Will cause invigoration to the debilitated. Are especially beneficial to the respiratory organs. Cure cough and "cold." Also improve complexion.

King Menelik, of Abyssinia, inkblack, pretends to be a direct descendant of King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. He and his subjects arrogate to be Christians, making that name, as many in our land, a misnomer. French and Russian officers assisted him recently to check the forward movement of the Italians. He is now assisting the Mohammedan dervishes in opposing the English in the Soudan. But civilization will conquer notwithstanding Menelik's hostility.

In the upper valley of the Yukon river, Greenland, a living mastodon has been seen. Prof. Dyche, of the Kansas University, has gone thither to apprehend it, if possible. Remains of mastodons are found in that neighborhood in vast numbers. It is not far from the place where Lieut. Peary discovered the huge meteorite, which he is now trying to bring to America. To reach the North Pole by balloon has, for the time being, been abandoned.

Even at West Point savage hazing is in vogue. The papers state that very recently a bloody prize fight was fought "to a finish" by two students. Said institution is under the direct supervision of the United States government. Do we wink at such barbarism the same as European governments at the duel?

Absinth has captured London. Until recently its consumption was confined to France. Frivolity and decrease of progeny have been the result. Now the "poison Francais" is found in almost every cafe at the metropolis on the Thames. It is usually partaken of as a hot toddy, and as such is specially destructive. A league has been formed asking the government to prohibit the sale of the pernicious intoxicant.

ICH DIEN.

Charges and Specifications Filed against Rev. S. A. Steel.

Dr. Steel was not present in Nashville when the Book Committee ordered his trial, but he returned in a few days thereafter. The committee, in accordance with the law of the Methodist Episcopal Church in such cases, furnished the accused with a copy of the charges and specifications, and Dr. Steel has decided to give these out for publication. They are as follows:

THE CHARGES.

The undersigned hereby makes complaint against the Rev. Samuel A. Steel, D. D., editor of the Epworth Era, the organ of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for both misconduct and inefficiency in the performance of his duty as said editor, and asks that the same may be investigated according to law, namely:

1. Inefficiency—In that while the League was established for the promotion of piety and loyalty to our church among the young people; their education in the Bible and Christian literature, and their encouragement in works of grace, the said Dr. Steel has largely failed to further those objects as editor of the Era.

Specifications—(1) A marked failure of the paper to promote piety as manifested in the purpose for which the editor says and conceives the paper exists in frequent frivolity of spirit and expression, and in other respects; as, for example, Era, Nov. 8, 1894; page 4, editorial "Beware." December 5, 1895; page 5, column 1, paragraph 3. December 12, 1895; page 4, column 3, paragraph 3. December 26, 1895; page 4, column 2, paragraph beginning "Tobacco is nasty"; same date, editorial on Dr. Meek. January 30, 1896; page 4, column 2, paragraph 1. February 6, 1896; page 5, editorial entitled "Backbone Needed."

(2) A general bitterness and uncharitableness towards persons who criticised his utterances or allusions to matters in the paper, or were represented as opposed to the paper or to the League; as, for example, Era, of Nov. 14, 1895; page 4, column 3, paragraph 9. November 28, 1895; page 4, column 3, paragraph 3. February 13, 1896; page 5, column 2, paragraph 2.

(3) Setting forth a narrow view of religion as consisting largely, if not chiefly, in abstinence from certain worldly amusements and from the use of tobacco, by giving chief emphasis to them in the columns of the Era, instead of emphasizing repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ; as, for example, Era, of Sept. 6, 1894, editorial on tobacco; Sept. 20, 1894, editorial on tobacco; Oct. 25, 1894, editorial on tobacco; Feb. 6, 1896, page 5, editorial entitled "Backbone Needed."

(4) A general vulgarity of style and frequent use of slang and low expressions; as, for example, Era, of Feb. 6, 1896, the expression, "Sand in their gizzards," "Put a pint cup of water on their coat-tails." March 19, 1896, the expression, "There's game up this tree," "Now we are going to put our foot in it again." April 16, 1896, the expression, "Raise his hide." May 7, 1896, page 5, column 2, paragraph 2.

2. Misconduct—In that instead of promoting the ends for which the League was organized, he has, as editor of the Era, in many instances and in several directions, prompted the ends of a contrary nature.

Specifications. (1) Advocacy of aggressive war on Turkey and Spain; as, for example, Era, of October 2, 1895, editorial entitled "Cuba;" December 19, 1895, page 4, column 2, paragraph 5; January 2, 1896, page 4, column 2, paragraph 10; January 30, 1896, page 4, column 2, paragraph 4.

(2) Depreciation of loyalty to church authorities, and the inculcation of a spirit of comparative contempt for them; as, for example, Era, of August 2, 1894, page 7, editorial entitled "Not a Machine Organ;" September 27, 1894, page 5, editorial entitled, "Orators," and reference to the same in subsequent issues; November 1, 1894, editorial entitled "Scare of Editors;" November 15, 1894; December 20, 1894; April 9, 1896, page 5, editorial entitled "The Era;" May 7, 1896, page 5, column 2, paragraph 4; June 18, 1896, editorial entitled "The Epworth Era."

(3) A threat to retort in some personal way in public upon certain of his critics; as, for example, Era, of April 16, 1896, editorial entitled "Look Out."

(4) The setting forth of the doctrines that the use of tobacco is a sin, a doctrine not taught by our church, nor deducible from Scripture; but which is continually urged in the Era as an unquestionable tenet of true religion; as, for example, Era, of September 6, 1894, page 4, columns 1 and 2; September 20, 1894, page 6, article entitled "Take a Chew"; October 25, 1894, page 6, article entitled "Pipe or Cigar"; May 7, 1896, page 4, column 3, paragraph 6.

(5) Misrepresentation of the facts of the interview with the Book Committee in their annual meeting in May, 1896; as, for example, Era, of June 18, 1896, editorial entitled "The Epworth Era;" May 21, 1896, page 4, column 1, paragraph 9.

J. A. ODELL.

These charges are signed by J. A. Odell. Mr. Odell is a lay member of the Book Committee and is a wealthy merchant of Greensboro, N. C. He is also president of a big cotton mill of that city.

Correspondence.

Notes by the Way.

Though Hermanville is a town of considerable business importance, its citizens enjoy all the freedom of the country life. Here your scribe had promised for a few days with Pastor Miller, and the large audiences, patient hearing, and excellent congregational singing gave evidence that the simple, joyous worship of the circuit people had not been overshadowed by efforts to imitate the city. Tuesday evening was the limit of our time, so we left Bro. M. S. Miller to push forward the work begun.

AMONG OLD FRIENDS.

On Saturday, July 25, I found myself in the hands of Bro. G. A. Guice, passing familiar scenes, meeting faces new and old, and shaking honest hands as they gave me hearty welcome to the associations of fifteen years ago. Heads once black as the raven and eyes which had the keenness of the eagles showed plainly the work of time. Young men and young women greeted me with a cordial welcome who were children yet in short skirts and knee pants when we separated. Some familiar faces were gone from their places and our hearts were saddened for a time; yet we rejoiced when we recalled the precious promises into which they had entered.

The good people at Oak Ridge have begun the erection of a new church, which is not any too early in its beginning, and which, with such names as Austin and Grant to lead, can not fail to succeed. Here again our stay was shortened; however, Bro. Guice was comforted in the coming of Rev. H. M. Ellis, of Port Gibson. It is pleasing in the extreme to the agent to note that Millsaps has the inside track in Warren and Yazoo counties.

On Sunday, Aug. 2, we were among the friends of our childhood. Wesley Chapel! How we treasure the name! Here we first attended Sunday-school; here our earliest recollections are of a preached Word; here my sainted parents worshiped, and here they await the resurrection morn; here are the friends of my childhood; here I was honored with the privilege of preaching the Word of God and recommended to the Annual Conference in November, 1873.

In these years of itinerating I have been careful not to dishonor those who sent me forth with the highest endorsement given to man—"Recommended as one suitable to preach the gospel of Christ." Have I kept their faith? Have I met their expectations?

Changes here are on every side. The congregation has many new faces, as also many old ones are missing. The cemetery is larger, the white sentinels are more numerous. We were delighted at the recent improvements in the church and about the church yard. Some Nehemiah is repairing the breaches. May he be remembered as the Nehemiah in the palace at Shushan!

Not in the history of this generation have the hopes of the farmers been so disappointed. Such prospects for crops have never been surpassed up to the first of June; but the long unprecedented drouth, attended by the simoon-like winds, have done incalculable damage to both corn and cotton. In sections water for stock is a serious question, and cisterns are carefully watched to prevent waste. A cloud the size of a man's hand begets new hope to those acquainted with the history of Elijah the Tishbite.

Besides the placing of a goodly number of catalogues and explaining our advantages at Millsaps, we have during this ten days' itinerary added one hundred and twenty-one dollars to our Science Hall fund. Wesley Chapel, on the Warren circuit, leading all other churches with a collection, cash, of one hundred and five dollars; and Warren circuit, of which Wesley Chapel is a part, going in advance of any District Conference, private donation or public collection by the sum of $15. Its contribution is $113.50.

Two things only are needful for our success in this work—information by the people and money to pay.

More anon. T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Aug. 3, 1896.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

BY REV. R. H. WYNN.

Prayer Meeting Topic for August.

THE REPROOFS OF CHRIST.

SUNDAY, AUG. 16—TO JUDAS, THE BETRAYER.

(John xii, 7, 8; Matt. xxvi, 25; Luke xxii, 48.)

We have given one additional reference to those in the topic leaflet.

The love of money was the ruling passion in Judas Iscariot. It led him into a life of dishonesty and hypocrisy, the culminating act of which was his treacherous betrayal of Christ. The reproofs of Christ to Judas were given

I.—AT THE FEAST IN BETHANY.

A feast is given in honor of Jesus, at the home of Simon, the leper, in Bethany, on the Tuesday preceding the crucifixion. Mary, Martha, Lazarus, and the disciples are present. Martha serves, and Mary expresses her affection for Jesus by anointing him with very valuable ointment. Under the cloak of benevolence to the poor, Judas objects to this expenditure of money and expresses it as his opinion that it would have been better for Mary to donate this amount of money to their common fund, of which he was the treasurer. We are told that his protest was not that of a man who loved the poor, but was the protest of a thief. Christ eulogizes the act of Mary as an act of sincere love to himself, which should be spoken of as long as the world should last. Christ does not reprove Judas by publicly uncovering his baseness; he does not even express a doubt of his sincerity, but he stoutly defends Mary's act, and, in so doing, administers an implied rebuke, which Judas could not but recognize.

II.—AT THE LAST SUPPER.

Prompted by the same passion for money, Judas has arranged to betray Jesus for a money consideration, and now he plays the rôll of a hypocrite at the last supper. Jesus administers reproof in a most delicate and touching way, but the money that was in sight caused him to proceed with his diabolical plan. He partook of the meal without any evident sense of shame; allowed Jesus to wash his feet, and heard Jesus predict his betrayal, yet he hesitates not. When the disciples are told by Jesus that one of their number shall betray him, they are all sorrowful, and they ask, "Is it I?" "It is not I, is it?" "You surely do not think that I would betray you, do you?" Judas also joins in the questioning, "Is it I?" and is answered affirmatively—"Thou hast said." Even this reproof does not interfere with his design. Never listen to any apology for the character of Judas, in the light in which you now behold him. There is no palliation of his offense. When his misery comes upon him, there may be pity for him, but no pleading for his innocence.

III.—IN THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE.

The hour of betrayal has arrived. The flaming torches, the glittering swords, borne by a multitude of people have lighted up the shades of the olive trees, and have disturbed the quiet peace of Gethsemane. Judas is at the head of the crowd, and, meeting Jesus, designates him to them by that treacherous kiss, which must have been one of the greatest tortures that Jesus endured. "Friend, wherefore art thou come? Betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?" What mild reproof under so trying circumstances! Who but Christ could have administered it? It was friend betraying friend, it was disciple betraying the Son of man, it was a betrayal with a kiss—the most cold-blooded hypocrisy possible, and yet the sinner is mildly rebuked.

No wonder that remorse finally seizes upon him, after he has fulfilled the terms of the bargain, causing him to commit suicide—to depart without hope "to his own place" in eternity.

Let no sinful desire remain unrestrained, and unsanctified by divine grace, lest it should burst into a consuming passion, that is uncontrollable in its downward movement.

TWO WORLDS.

BY MORTIMER COLLINS.

Two worlds there are. To one our eyes we strain,
Whose magic joys we shall not see again;
Bright haze of morning veils its glimmering shore.
Ah, truly breathed we there
Intoxicating air—
Glad were our hearts in that sweet realm of Nevermore.

The lover there drank her delicious breath
Whose love has yielded since to change or death;
The mother kissed her child, whose days are o'er.
Alas! too soon have fled
The irreclaimable dead:
We see them—vision strange—amid the Nevermore.

The merrysome maiden that used there to sing—
The brown brown hair that once was wont to cling
To temples long oley-cold: to the very core
They strike our weary hearts,
As some vexed memory starts
From that long-faded land the realm of Nevermore.

It is perpetual Summer there. But here
Sadly may we remember rivers clear,
And harebells quivering on the meadow-floor.
For brighter hells and bluer,
For tenderer hearts and truer,
People that happy land—the realm of Nevermore.

Upon the frontier of this shadowy land
We pilgrims of eternal sorrow stand:
What realm lies forward, with its happier store
Of forests green and deep,
Of valleys hushed in sleep,
And lakes more peaceful? 'Tis the land of Evermore

Very far off its marble cities seem—
Very far off beyond our sensual dream—
Its woods, unruffled by the wild wind's roar;
Yet does the turbulent surge
Howl on its very verge.
One moment—and we breathe within the Evermore.

They whom we loved and lost so long ago
Dwell in those cities, far from mortal woe—
Haunt those fresh woodlands, whence sweet carollings soar.
Eternal peace have they;
God wipes their tears away;
They drink that river of life which flows from Evermore.

Thither we hasten through these regions dim,
But, lo! the wide wings of the Seraphim
Shine in the sunset! On that joyous shore
Our lightened hearts shall know
The life of long ago:
The sorrow-burdened past shall fade for Evermore.

—Exchange.

Communications.

The Relation of the Pastor to the Sunday-School.

BY H. H. WHITE.

(Read before the Alexandria District Conference, and published by request of the Conference.)

The hope of the church is in the children; therefore, one of the chief cares of the pastor is to attend to the wants of the lambs of the fold. As minors are wards of the courts, children are wards of the church; and as the measure of the duty of a guardian to his ward is the diligence of a prudent father of a family, so is the measure of the duty of the pastor to the children.

The Sunday-school is the peculiar arm of the church militant service for the drilling and discipline of the young soldiers of Christ. The pastor is the brigadier-general, the superintendent is the colonel, and the teachers are the captains of the young hosts. While the specific duties of routine drill are to be attended to by the superintendent and teachers, the grand tactics devolve upon the pastor. His is the duty of arousing the sentiment of the people, of securing recruits, and of generally marshaling the forces; and, whether rightly or wrongly, upon his shoulders will devolve the blame of any deficiency or failure of the Sunday-schools within his charge.

To be more specific, it may be said that the pastor's chief Sunday-school work should be done by personal influence exerted in his pastoral visits, and by his sermons in the pulpit. It should lay as a burden upon his soul, that every father and mother on his work has been personally warned, advised and urged to send the children to the Sunday-school, and to prepare them in person and in lesson for the association and the class work that will be expected of them there.

In the pulpit the Sunday-school should receive a full share of his attention, not only by occasional Sunday-school or children's sermons, but by forcible presentation of the Sunday-school claims to the adult congregation.

As the pastor is chief in command of the church, and consequently of the Sunday-school, he is properly allowed, within certain limits, the choice of his first lieutenant, the superintendent. It is, by the law of the church, the duty of the pastor to nominate the superintendent, and submit his name to the votes of the Quarterly Conference. In exercising this high and onerous prerogative, he should deal "wisely, and firmly, and well." If the proper man can be found within the bounds of the charge for superintendent, the duty of the pastor has been in great measure discharged by his nomination to the Quarterly Conference. Sad it is to state, however, that very often the man of broad and liberal views, of education at least in advance of that of the average children and teachers over whom he presides, of executive ability, and of saintly life and character, is hard to find for superintendent. Then it is that, work and pray as he will, the pastor finds his hands weakened, and the Sunday-school a drag. Then it is that he must labor with the material at hand, make bricks, if necessary, without straw, and trust to God for results.

If the superintendent is inefficient for any cause, and a better can not be had, the pastor, severe as the burden may be, must supply the deficiency. If the superintendent lacks organizing power, the pastor must show him how to organize. If the superintendent lacks in knowledge of human nature, the pastor must help in the selection of teachers. If the superintendent was reared in the old school, and attended Brush College, the pastor must teach new methods and the advantage of all the aids of modern educational advancement.

There are schools in the land today where the same routine of exercises has been followed since the days before lucifer matches were invented, and where the same methods of organization and teaching are followed that were in vogue when Webster's Blue Back Speller and good hickory switches were the sole usual and accepted necessaries for the intellectual advancement of youth.

To put it broadly, then, as the pastor, in the course of many years, will have been brought in contact with many schools and many methods, he should be expected to suggest useful changes and novelties from time to time. If there is no efficient superintendent, he must take the superintendent's place, and oftentimes it may be necessary for him to take a class.

In a well-regulated Sunday-school—alas! how few are well regulated!—his duties are less laborious and conspicuous, but not less responsible and serious. It may be safely said that the pastor should, if a preacher in charge of a station, attend every session of the Sunday-school, should be acquainted with every officer and pupil, and should, by a genial presence, pervade the whole school. In this ideal school, however, it is not necessary that the pastor should exercise unnecessary functions. The superintendent and teachers are supposed to know and attend to their respective duties.

It is not necessary for the pastor on every Sabbath to lead in prayer, especially if he intends to pray exactly nine minutes and three-quarters, and to refrain from using a single word, phrase, or petition known by or applicable to the wants of the child-mind and needful to the child-life. Very often while the good brother is exploring the abyss of metaphysics, or soaring to the zenith of theological astronomy, or traveling to the ends of the earth and through the waters under the earth for subjects of petition, John is pulling Charley's hair, and Jane is mentally, if not audibly discussing Jennie's dress, and all this because they understand not one word of what is being said; they hear a sound "as of a going in the mulberry trees," but know not whence it cometh or whither it goeth, and its inner significance is lost. It is supremely important to be able to present great and cardinal truths in the language and thought of a child.

Nor is it necessary for the pastor, or any visiting brother, always "to make a few remarks." The men who are capable of making "a few remarks" to the edification of children are as rare as are great statesmen, great lawyers, great preachers, and great superintendents. They come occasionally, and when they do come they should be heard, and the children hear them gladly. Nor should the pastor rush late into the school, break into the exercises of the day, hurriedly visit a class and then rush off as if he were behind with the duties of the day. In order to set an example of promptness he should be there very soon after the doors are opened for the children; to set an example of order and discipline, he should in an orderly and respectful way attend all the exercises of the school; as a matter of respect to the teacher and pupils he should, if [illegible] the class is dismissed. He should be an exemplar in all things; a bright and shining light, a guide that all may follow.

It may be said that in the foregoing paragraphs the key has been set too high, the duties made too onerous, the burden too severe. The answer is, that the ministry is the highest and noblest of all callings; the man who presumes to assert that he has been called of God to be his special messenger should to the utmost of his ability prepare himself for all his duty and hold himself ready to spend and be spent that by "all means some may be saved." Unless he has counted the cost, he should not undertake the work. But his reward is not meagre, nor his recompense small; the faithful minister of God takes rank among the respected of this earth and has a right to know that if he remains steadfast to the end, many stars will glitter in his crown in glory, and great will be his reward in heaven.

"Bishop Taylor."

In the ADVOCATE, of July 23, in the column of "In the Living Present," by "Ich Dien," there occurs this note in reference to Bishop William Taylor, late Bishop of the M. E. Church in Africa, and superannuated at the late General Conference of that church at Cleveland, Ohio, viz.: "Bishop Taylor, the eccentric missionary, displays censurable weakness. His superannuation afflicts him. Since he has been superseded as Bishop in Africa, he is reported preparing to work under the auspices of the British Wesleyans. Wonder if those who love to do something out of the way, though frequently neglecting their duty in the way, will continue to support the obstreperous missionary."

From the "Illustrated Christian World," of July, heretofore "Illustrated Africa," the organ of the missionary work in Africa, but now devoted to the mission fields of the world, I make the following extracts in reference to the future of Bishop Taylor and his projected work in Africa, viz.: "As to my future, I can only say that I am in the hands of my Divine Father, and am entirely subject to him. 'The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord.' I have verified the truth of that promise, especially in spiritual work. First, in a divine selection of my field of gospel work; second, a divine call to the field assigned to me; third, a divine empowerment to work and to witness and to win souls. When in the rank and file of itinerant Methodist ministers, I always received my appointment from God through the Bishop presiding over my Conference. When in the open field of world-wide evangelistic work, I received my appointment from God by direct internal light and leading, and by external providential indication; and, in regard to my field of ministerial service, I never was misled nor mistaken in my divine leading. Whatever the intermediate agency involved, I accepted the action of the late General Conference as from God, and from that very day my evangelizing field of thirty years ago in South Africa was laid on my heart, and a train of external pointers, including a commodious steamship in readiness to convey me direct from New York to Cape Town, settled the question. Why haste? To get the work well under way before the wet season shall flood the country. How long will I be gone? As long as the pillar of fire and of cloud continues to lead the way. If God shall give me ten thousand Kaffirs, I will be ready to rest; and the best place to rest is in the house not made with hands.'"

"Are you going to lie on the shelf?" was asked of him.

"I am not a candidate for the 'shelf.' I am accustomed to sleep in the 'open,' in sight of the stars, and respond to the bugle blast of early morn."

In his farewell letter he says: "Pray for my successor, Bishop Hartzell, that he may, by the might of God, build wisely on the foundation God has, through my agency, laid in Africa within the last twelve years."

I have failed to see anything in the above, or anywhere, of anything like "censurable weakness" in the Bishop.

He may be "eccentric," I do not say, but I have failed to see anything like sourness, or insubordination, or disloyalty from him because of the action of the General Conference in superannuating him. He has done a great work in Africa. May his mantle fall upon his successor, and may success attend his present undertaking!

W. J. DAWSON.

Jn'y 28, 1896.

Our Literature.

I think it is high time that the Methodist Church were calling to account some of its teachers. It is passingly strange to me to see some of our preachers neglecting our paper and chief organ, and instead industriously circulating unauthorized literature. I am a Methodist, and I do not feel that it is my duty to support any minister who refuses to support the institutions of the church, and who pursues a course which inevitably creates discord in the church. I think it is the bounden duty of every minister in the M. E. Church, South, to work for and urge the church to maintain its own literature and institutions, and if they persist in doing otherwise, they ought to be turned over to those of their faith and order for a support. I do not think anything should be expected of me by a minister who is not in sympathy with my church in all of its interests. The church needs workers, and not so many lend professors. May the Lord send into his vineyard more of Wesley's kind—earnest, faithful workers!

LAYMAN.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf., Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb, Como, Miss
Miss. Conf., Mrs. E. D. Jones, Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf., Mrs. M. H. Morrison, Shreveport

100,000 Members and $100,000.

This is the battle-cry of the W. F. M. S. of the M. E. Church, South, for the coming year. It means an increase of more than 25,000 new members to our various auxiliaries, and about $25,000 to our funds. It is an appalling fact that only about 73,000 women and children out of the 900,000 women and children in our Southern Church are members of the W. F. M. S., so that the proposed 100,000 would only give us about one-ninth of what we should have. These new members have been divided among the Conference societies, and 1,000 of them must be gained by the North Mississippi Conference. This 1,000 new members must be divided among our districts, and each district secretary, having learned her proportion, must be earnest and faithful and persistent in her efforts to secure the desired number. While thus much responsibility will rest upon the district secretary, still the burden of the work must be borne chiefly by the individual members of each auxiliary. Let a thorough canvass be made of each community, and with earnest prayers for God's help, let every Methodist woman be visited and urged to join; not simply asked, but urged in the name of Christ and perishing souls. Let committees be appointed by the president for visiting those whom you would bring in, or let each member of the auxiliary select some one upon whom she will press the claims of the society. Sisters, please look upon this effort to secure new members as no small thing, but a responsibility that must be shouldered by each member of the society within the bounds of our Conference. So, with earnest prayer, make every effort in your power to secure new members, or I might say the new member, for they will be added singly, and each one gained will mean another heart enlisted in this great cause and more money for the prosecution of this great work. Constantly and persistently, over every obstacle and discouragement, let this crusade for new members go on. I said prayerfully, because while it seems an easy thing to ask a woman to join the missionary society, and something in which we would not feel a need of God's help, still it is an easy thing to be refused, and a very difficult thing to overcome the prejudice that exists in so many minds against missions; and often we have asked and been refused when, had our consciences been quickened, we would have heard the Master say, "Without me ye can do nothing." Attempt no work for Christ without asking his help.

When we come to consider the second part of our battle-cry, our share of the $100,000, we realize at once that the desired new members, if gained, will bring a large proportion of this; but we have a very inviting field of work stretching out before us for the coming year, and there will be many opportunities for special work. Our Davidson and McGavock Institutes for Bible women, and the Hays-Wilkins School in Sung Kiang, will give us many Bible women to be cared for and girls to educate. Then there are beds in the hospital to be endowed; so there will be work for every heart and hand.

It is encouraging to note the special work planned for at our recent meeting in Tupelo. McGehee's Chapel and Tupelo Auxiliaries will each support a Bible woman; also the Winona, Grenada and Columbus districts will each support one. Como Auxiliary and Holly Springs district will each support a scholarship. Greenville, Aberdeen and Kosciusko districts will each endow a bed in the hospital at Soochow, also Mrs. York, of Amory, to be named the Roy Bed. Mrs. Clara Fant, of Holly Springs, gives $150 annually to open a day-school in Sung Kiang, in memory of her husband. The total amount pledged for special work was $1,209. I would say also, in regard to this part of our work, pray as you work. While you give liberally, pray fervently. Let each Bible woman supported, each girl educated, each inmate of little hospital beds, be the subject of constant and earnest prayer, that their own hearts may be filled with love to Christ, and through their consistent lives and faithful service many heathen souls may be won for the Master.

MRS. G. H. LIPSCOMB.

Seventeenth Annual Meeting W. F. M. S., Mississippi Conference.

(Concluded.)

We were pleased to have with us other ministers besides our friend and host, Rev. W. B. Lewis: Revs. H. J. Harris, B. F. Lewis, Breland, Shannon.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to our faithful friend, Rev. T. B. Holloman, the teachers of E. M. F. College, and others of Meridian, who were so kind to Miss McNemar, accepting gratefully ten dollars presented by Bro. Holloman to the McNemar fund.

A pleasant diversion from business was the reading of two letters from our Bettie Hughes to Sallie Smylie. Our hearts were deeply touched by one to Mrs. Robinson, who made the pretty quilt that was bought by some of us who were at the last annual meeting, and sent to her by Miss Haygood.

Miss Addie Purnell, Mrs. R. R Parker and Mrs. Chatfield gave impressive talks to the Sunday-school, and Mrs. Reed's chalk talk to her infant class in the review lesson was most enjoyable.

We were most favorably impressed with the League, and we enjoyed the meeting under the fine leadership of Dr. Andrews.

A fitting memorial service was held, with loving and beautiful tributes by Rev. W. B. Lewis and Mrs. R. R. Parker, in honor of Mrs. McGavock.

The children's mass meeting, conducted by Miss Blanche Buntyn, of Meridian, with a talk by her, and Mrs. Stella D. Parker, of Wesson, was very much enjoyed.

Quite a number of our delegates accepted the kind offer of the captain of the boat that left Natchez, Tuesday, that all who wished could go to Vicksburg at half price, and have a fine dinner served them.

The vote was made unanimous that we meet in Jackson next year (D. V.).

OFFICERS.

Miss A. V. Marshall, Brookhaven, president; Miss Addie Purnell, Jackson, vice-president; Mrs. A. F. Watkins, Jackson, recording secretary; Mrs. I. N. Chatfield, Meridian, corresponding secretary; Miss Mary Andrews, Vicksburg, treasurer; Mrs. Annie DeMoss, Vicksburg, auditor; Mrs. E. D. Jones, Carlisle, agent Woman's Missionary Advocate, and editor.

District secretaries: Vicksburg—Mrs. S. G. Woems, Vicksburg; Brandon—Miss Lola Owen, Hillsboro; Emterprise — Miss Anna Tretter, Langsdale; Seashore — Mrs. M. E. Denny, Moss Point; Meridian—Miss Sallie Smylie, Meridian; Brookhaven—Mrs. Stella D. Parker, Wesson; Jackson—Mrs. R. R. Parker, Jackson; Natchez—Mrs. Robert Reed, Natchez.

Miss Sallie Smylie was elected the reserve delegate to the Woman's Board of Missions, which will meet in Birmingham, Ala., next year, and Miss Marshall to attend, in the interest of the work, the Annual Conference to be held next December in Port Gibson.

May we not all agree in fervent pleadings that our heavenly Father send forth our waiting missionary, adopting for our motto: "Attempt great things for God; expect great things from God;" catching up the refrain of our brave sisters of the Board, whose war-cry is "100,000 members, $100,000," not forgetting the "twilight hour" for concert of prayer!

MRS. E. D. JONES.

Selections.

Give as God Prospers You.

Yes, give as God prospers you. It is a duty required in the Scriptures. It is a privilege; it makes you a co-worker with God. Then God blesses those who obey this rule, so that they increase in their basket and their store. Thousands of years ago it was written: "Honor the Lord with thy substance and with the first fruits of all thine increase: so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst forth with new wine." Doctor Talmage tells of two merchants. The one said that when he got rich he would give to promote the Lord's work. The other said, "I give now, as the Lord prospers me." The former lives in poverty; the latter is a rich man. Yes, "God gives power to get wealth."—Selected.

Stop, stop, friend; you are caught by the silly, specious shibboleth of Satan, who would fain induce God's people to abandon everything which has borne the test of experience in a mad craze after novelties. This is one of the devil's arch devices. As the Almighty creates no new sun to rule the day, and no new stars to illuminate the night, he provides no new Bible to enlighten, and no new gospel to save the same old ignorant, depraved and sin-sick soul of man. The church of God has never improved on the apostolic methods of winning souls to Christ. Human nature has not changed. The promises of God have not changed. The power of close personal effort for the salvation of souls has not changed. The power of prayer and the promises of the Holy Spirit have not changed. The influence of the press for good or evil, has not changed. What Harlan Page did seventy years ago can be done and ought to be done again. The mad mania for novelties in religion is the snare and curse of our times.—Dr. Cuyler.

Giving up for Christ is an enriching process. Whatever we lay down here in order to please and honor our Master will be laid up to our account yonder. Our God is a faithful trustee; he keeps his book of remembrance. He will reward every one according as his work shall be.—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

We are ruined, not by what we really want, but by what we think we do; therefore, never go abroad in search of your wants. If they be real wants, they will come home in search of you; for he that buys what he does not want will soon want what he can not buy.—Colton.

Here we are; let stars, or bygone times, or the wrecks of nations, or the corruptions of language, say or show what they will. There is something else to be done by us: we have our little portions of the reef of coral yet to build up.—Arthur Helps.

The theory that a preacher full of the Holy Ghost can work wonders anywhere needs to be tempered by keeping in mind the fact that in his own country Jesus could do no mighty works because of their unbelief.

The early and the latter part of human life are the best, or at least the most worthy of respect. The one is the age of innocence, the other of reason.—Joubert.

We make provisions for this life as if it were never to have an end, and for the other life as though it were never to have a beginning.—Addison.

No man is a better merchant than he that lays out his time upon God, and his money upon the poor.—Bishop Jeremy Tayler.

Work flies right along when you take Pearline to it. So does the dirt. Every scrubbing brush seems to have wings. You get through your cleaning in half the time you used to, and without any commotion or fuss.

Pearline saves rubbing. That means a good deal besides easy work, even in house-cleaning. Paint and wood-work and oil-cloth, etc., are worn out by rubbing.

Pearline cleans, with the least labor, and without the least harm, anything that water doesn't hurt.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 468 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

WALL Paper.

—SAMPLES FREE—

Of Our Magnificent Full Line of

Over 500,000 Rolls

Of the Richest and Most Artistic Papers out This Season.

Prices: 3 cents to $3.00

We pay the freight on $10 orders.

HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO., Limited,

518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. E. E Langford, P. C, July 31: "We closed a meeting at Tranquil Church yesterday, with good results. Ten joined the church, with about a dozen conversions, and two children baptized. Rev. W. W. Mitchell, P. C., at Lexington, North Mississippi Conference, did the preaching. Bro. Mitchell is an able preacher, and by his earnestness as a preacher, and pleasant way of meeting everybody, endeared himself to us all. Zeiglerville next Sunday."

Rev. R. M. Blocker, Jeanerette, La., July 30: "I have been out helping the brethren somewhat of late with their protracted meetings and have lost ground in my own charge that can be regained only by sticking close to my own charge the next few months of the Conference year. Hence I can not accept any more invitations. I am very sorry to say that, for nothing affords me more real pleasure than to mix with my brethren in revival work. But I have a difficult field. A pastor is needed all the time. This week I have a good prayer meeting every night. Pray for us."

Rev. E. L. Alford, Bonita, La.: "We have just closed a revival meeting at Johnson's Chapel. The meeting continued six days, and the Spirit of God was manifest from the beginning to the close of these protracted services. There were seventeen accessions and quite a number of conversions. Bro. Robt. Davis, from Oak Ridge, preached for us two days. He is indeed a power in the pulpit, and God wonderfully blessed his efforts in this meeting. May the hand that ruleth all things continue to lead him in ways of righteousness and crown him with success. We are here in Jesus' name doing what our hands find to do for the advancement of his kingdom. Pray for us."

Rev. T. H. Porter, P. C., Cold Water, Miss.: "We have just finished our third revival meeting on our (Tyro circuit) work, as follows: At Looxahoma, a six days' meeting, beginning the first Sunday in July, with Rev. W. M. Young, of Pleasant Grove circuit, assisting. Estimated results: Church greatly revived, six or seven conversions, three accessions, three adult baptisms. At Fredonia, a six days' meeting, beginning the second Sunday in July, with Rev. S. B. Myres, of Courtland, to assist. Estimated results: Part of the church revived, one conversion, one accession, one adult baptism. At Free Springs, a meeting beginning the third Sunday in July, with Rev. Geo. H. Lipscomb, of Como, assisting. Estimated results: Church greatly revived, fifty conversions, forty-one accessions, nineteen adult baptisms, twenty-one infant baptisms. Bros Young, Myres and Lipscomb did us good work and won the hearts of all our people. Give God the glory for the wonderful manifestation of his power and love among us."

Rev. J. H. Montgomery, Magnolia, La.: "Allow me space in the dear old ADVOCATE to make mention of the meeting just closed at Friendship Church, Live Oak circuit, Livingston parish. Our meeting began Saturday night before the third Sunday in July. I preached to a very large and attentive congregation, and our dear old pastor (Bro. Carrel) preached Sunday to a much larger congregation, and Bro. McManus preached in the evening, and by this time the congregation had grown to be so large that we had to preach out of doors. The meeting continued until Thursday evening, having two sermons per day—at eleven and five in the evening. The Holy Spirit came down in great power, and the church was greatly revived. Backsliders reclaimed, family altars built up all over the community. Sinners were made to realize their condition, and see where they would land if they continued as they were. So we continued preaching the gospel in all its purity and power. At the close of the meeting we received into the church seven on confession of faith, and eighteen by letter, and baptized ten infants. This meeting was one of the best I have ever attended. It was a time of shouting and rejoicing, and everybody shouted that felt like it. At times the whole congregation would be shouting and singing the praises of God. Never did a country need anything worse than this country needed just such a meeting as we had. We closed by singing, 'God be with you till we meet again,' and with a warm handshaking; and our good old pastor went from the church to baptize a household. As we got the parents into the church, they wanted their children baptized too. Pray for Live Oak circuit, pastor and writer."

Rev. S. B. Beall, Abbeville, La.: "We closed a very interesting meeting at Abbeville Church, June 24 During this series God was with us in great power. The church was aroused and lifted to a higher plane of Christian activity and fellowship, and many of the irreligious were brought to a realization of the truth and their need of a Savior. The close, searching gospel preached by Rev. A. J. Notestine, of New Iberia, was of an excellent order. For clearness of conception and direction of utterance I never heard his sermons surpassed. We are also greatly indebted to Dr W. Y. Beall, of Moss Point, for valuable services rendered. The soul-stirring thought of his sermons was a treat and served as an impetus to a more delightful experience in the Christian race. I began revival services at Perry's Bridge, June 27, with no one to assist me; but, just being in a fifteen days' meeting, I was filled with Methodist fire and Holy Ghost power, and, standing on the 'promises,' I waged war against the world, the flesh, and the devil, with God as my commander. I went forth with zeal and courage, expecting victory for God, and was not disappointed. The church soon rallied and was actively engaged for the right. The results were as follows: Fourteen accessions; a number of conversions; more than one hundred testified that God had wonderfully blessed them; several demonstrated this by an old-time Methodist shout. During this time we made sixty-eight pastoral calls and baptized twenty-one. All glory and praise be to God! Our dear presiding elder, Bro. White, preached three grand sermons during this time. He was filled with the Spirit and power. Souls were awakened and were found appealing to God for redemption. Bro. Hugh McKan, an exhorter in this work, rendered me good service one night. All praise be to Father, Son and Holy Spirit! Amen. We ask to be remembered in your prayers."

FERNBANK, ALABAMA.

July 18 found your correspondent at Pleasant Ridge Church, on the Fernbank circuit, with Rev. W. T. Daniel, P. C., of the North Alabama Conference. From the beginning to the close the Lord was with his people. At different times the divine power was manifested in such a measure as to cause shouts of victory and earnest prayer for salvation to mingle and ring out upon the surrounding hills. It was good to be there. Many of the old members testified that they had never seen such manifestations of power. It was an extremity, and the pastor and some of his people went down on their knees in fasting and prayer for a revival. The Lord answered, and about sixty-five or seventy souls were converted or reclaimed and fourteen or fifteen sanctified. Thirty-one were received into the church. The meeting drew the people closer to God and to each other. Old neighborhood troubles were adjusted, and fourteen heads of families agreed to erect the family altar. While no one was asked to pledge reform on the pernicious habit of tobacco in its different forms, many laid it aside and rejoiced in deliverance.

We did not shun to declare the whole counsel of God as we find it in the written Word, and God made his truth sharper than a two-edged sword. Praise his holy name forever!

C. H. ELLIS

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer, provided they send ten cents additional to assist in paying postage on the Bible.

Our Bible Offer.

Our prices are as follows: Bourgeois type (large), $2.45; minion type, $1.75; emerald type, $1.25. These are the prices to those who pay a full year in advance—i. e., to August, '97.

I want to add my testimony to the excellency of your Holman Bible. Just what I have wanted for ten years, but never felt able to pay the price demanded elsewhere.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Pure

Blood means sound health. With pure, rich, healthy blood, the stomach and digestive organs will be vigorous, and there will no Dyspepsia, Rheumatism or Neuralgia. Scrofula and Salt Rheum will disappear. Your nerves will be strong, sleep sound and refreshing. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. That is why it cures so many diseases. That is why thousands take it to cure disease, retain good health. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

If the headsman's block of mediæval times were in use to-day, and a woman would go and lay her head upon it, willingly giving up her life for the sake of having relief from the torturing pains of weakness and disease peculiar to her sex. If women could only be made to understand that there is a positive, safe and speedy cure for all these ills the world would be infinitely brighter than it is to-day. For thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has made a specialty of the diseases of women. He is a regularly graduated, experienced and successful physician and his "Favorite Prescription" has cured more women than all the doctors. The story of the "Favorite Prescription" is told in thousands of testimonials similar to the one of J. F. Beverly, Esq., of Goliad, Goliad Co., Texas, who writes:

"My wife suffered from cold feet and fainting spells, heaviness and soreness in the lower part of the stomach, also heart trouble, loss of appetite, tired feelings, rest broken—could not sleep. I tried five doctors in one county and two in another. None of them gave her relief. She suffered five years. She was helpless—could not walk from the bed to the fire-place. The last doctor pronounced the complaint inflammation of the uterus; and after five visits claimed that it was a peculiar case, and said that if I desired, I could consult some other physician. So I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, and after receiving an answer from Dr. Pierce I did as he directed. My wife used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and used the local home-treatment he advised. Before my wife had used the first bottle of the medicine she felt the good effect and said one bottle would be enough. I insisted on her using two bottles, and she did so. Now she is sound and well, and I can praise your medicine to the extreme."

BILIOUSNESS is a sign of a serious condition of the digestive organs. It is caused by constipation, from which springs nine-tenths of all human illnesses. Constipation can be permanently and positively cured by only one thing, and that is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They assist Nature. They are easy and pleasant in their action. They cause no unpleasantness, no griping. You do not become a slave to their use. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. If the druggist tries to sell you something else, leave his store and don't go there again—he is not a safe man to trade with.

Daleville, near Lockhart, M. and O. R. R. Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.

Cooper-Huddleston College,

For the Liberal Education of Young Men and Women.

Full courses in Mathematics, Greek and Latin, English, Science and Philosophy; Special in Music and Art. Faculty, talented, experienced, and specialists. Library, Bedroom, and Society facilities, exceptional. Buildings modern and completely equipped. Boarding and Campus privileges for the young ladies, separate and exclusive. Telephone Connection with R. R. Station.

Board, Lodging, Laundry, Matriculation and Tuition Fees for session of 36 weeks, $125.00, payable quarterly.

"The safest, cheapest, best, and most suitably located first-rank College in the State, wherein true manhood and womanhood are fostered no less than Scholarship."

Thirty-first Annual Session opens Sept. 24, 1896. Circulars and Catalogue mailed on application. Address

COOPER-HUDDLESTON COLLEGE, Daleville, Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.

LAW SCHOOL

WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY, LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

SILLIMAN INSTITUTE For Young Ladies.

CLINTON, LA.

If you are interested, let us send you a handsome illustrated catalogue to prove that in standard of scholarship, general equipment, healthfulness, beauty of location and buildings, home comforts, and refining influences this college ranks with the VERY BEST and, advantages considered, with the cheapest in the South. Address

GEO. A. RAMSEY, M. A., President.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.

A select home training school for boys. Aim—Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address

WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee

UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.

Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address

G. W. C. LEE, President.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education At

Johnston Collegiate Institute,

GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.

If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing sufficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.

OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.

Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.

The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.

A. R. LANNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

Martin College

For Young Ladies,

PULASKI, - - - TENN.

Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.

The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $80,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors, fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zeisberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

S. N. BAKER, President.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is Aug., '96, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31. GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt

Education by Mail

The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction to the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,

REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Port Gibson Female College,

PORT GIBSON, MISS.

Is prepared for practical thorough work in educating girls. A corps of efficient teachers is in charge, and the curriculum is fully equal to that of any first-class college. Cultured community. Health unsurpassed. Terms to suit the times. For further particulars, address

MRS. M. H. MEEK, Business Manager.

T. J. MURRAY,

RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.

Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS EL PASO T AND P ROUTE PACIFIC

OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE

Best Passenger Service

BETWEEN

Texas

AND THE EAST SOUTHEAST.

Cannon Ball Train

SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.

Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7 25 a. m. next day.

LIMITED : EVENING : EXPRESS

HAS BEEN QUICKENED,

9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.

4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.

ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.

ONLY TWO DAYS

BETWEEN

Texas and New York.

Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.

Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.

For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.

L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres't. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pass. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest, The Emerson Piano.

Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.

JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,

UNDERTAKERS.

OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.

TELEPHONE 697.

We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.

WRITE

Philip Werlein.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CAN YOU TELL

Which is the Third Oldest Female College in the World and the Largest Female College in the South during 1893-'6?

It is the Memphis Conference Female Institute,

Of Jackson, Tennessee.

A High Grade College for Girls and Young Ladies.

Thirty Officers and Teachers of the Faculty, 1896-1897. Course of Study equal to Best Male Colleges. Teachers of Elocution trained by Emma Banks and Mad. Delbi. Teaches natural bird tones. Thorough equipped Gymnasium and Bowling alley. Swedish and American Gymnastics taught. Director of Music, Graduate of Royal Conservatory of Leipsic, Germany. Taught last seven years in College of Music, Cincinnati. Vocalist studied with Bonfi. Thirty-four Pianos, 50 members of College Orchestra. Director of Art Conservatory a member of New York Art League. Studied in Paris with M. Elgan. Scholarship in N. E. Conservatory for Elocution and Music. Each scholarship is worth $140.

Health record phenomenal. During 21 years the present head of this school never lost a boarding pupil by death. Our superb health record justifies us in making no charge for medical attention to boarding pupils.

Water of Jackson pronounced absolutely pure by chemical experts. Rates cheap for advantages afforded. For other information write the President,

REV. HOWARD W. KEY, A. M., Ph.D.

Emory College

Oxford, Georgia.

THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.

The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.

The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $8 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.

The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social excitements common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.

For catalogue and further information address

W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are Authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIRE, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week, ...	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 ..	2 weeks, ...	1 60	2 00
1 ..	3	2 00	2 50
1 ..	1 month, ...	2 40	3 00
1 ..	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 ..	6	10 00	12 50
1 ..	1 year, ...	18 00	22 50
3 inches,	1	35 00	42 00
5 ..	1	50 00	60 00
6 ..	1	60 00	72 00
7 ..	1	75 00	90 00
8 ..	1	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $2 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, August 13, 1896.

A thoroughly sincere man may not always be successful, but he is sure to be respected and loved.

Who can find a better motto than this for the regulation of our daily conduct, "Let all things be done with charity"?

What some men call plain preaching is only another name for impudence, wholesale abuse, and disregard of all propriety.

The indolent are given to attributing the successes of others to luck, or favoritism, or genius, and thus excuse their own failures.

The Christian who often allows himself to postpone secret prayer until he feels like it is almost certain ere long to leave off praying altogether.

How many heart-burnings would be prevented, and what a world of trouble would be averted, if the speech of Christian people were "always with grace seasoned with salt."

Many people give away old clothes, remnants of food, and other things that they do not want, and then congratulate themselves that they are liberal and unselfish. To give only what costs us nothing neither commends us to God, nor does it bless our own souls.

The church member who buys cigars, or soda water, or a newspaper on Sunday deceives himself if he thinks that he keeps the Sabbath day holy. If there is no harm in it, then the whisky lover has just as much right to claim the privilege of purchasing himself a drink on the Sabbath day.

It is a shame that so many church members are indifferent about patronizing each other in business. Where we can do so without injury to ourselves, we ought in trading to give the preference to Christians, and especially to members of our own denomination. This is not exclusiveness, but brotherly consideration. We need not boycott outsiders, but we should remember that "the world will take care of his own."

The Need of Faith.

The disappointment and distresses of life but test the quality of our faith, and if borne with patience will lift us nearer to God. Many just now are "in heaviness through manifold temptations." Drouth has blasted the corn and cotton over large areas; thousands are out of work through the shutting down of mills and factories; business is depressed, and distress abounds. But the Christian must not lose courage. God is at the helm and will care for his children. Hath he not promised that he will never leave nor forsake us?

"If our faith were but more simple,
We would take him at his word;
And our lives would be all sweetness
In the sunshine of the Lord."

Emotionalism in Religion.

It should never be forgotten that religion has to do with the three faculties of knowing, feeling, and willing. If any one of these be left out of the account, or emphasized to the neglect of the others, the result can but be highly detrimental. Instruction must ever be one of the great objects of preaching. Men must be taught the truth and their relation thereto before they can act intelligently. Scripture is profitable for doctrine, for instruction in righteousness, as well as for reproof. It is folly to exhort men to repent, unless both the nature of repentance and the reasons therefor are clearly set forth. Conviction comes after hearing the Word.

Again, the mere declaration of the truths of the gospel, of the requirements of the moral law, is not enough. The feelings must be aroused more or less in order that the sinner may be led to submit his will to God. The horrors of eternal punishment, the woes of the lost, ought to be depicted in all their blackness in order that conscience may be awakened, and an earnest desire to flee from the wrath to come be created. The chief value of protracted meetings is that sinners who already know the truth, by listening repeatedly to fervent appeals and warnings, are moved to action.

The preacher of the gospel has to guard against two tendencies, either of which may become hurtful. One is to feed the intellect of his hearers to the neglect of the heart. A certain class of people delight in what may be called the pyrotechnics of learning. They take pleasure in smooth phrases, beautiful quotations, bold imaginative flights, and literary excursions; but dislike to be told in plain language of their own particular sins and omissions of duty. Not every pulpit utterance that charms the ear and tickles the fancy is helpful. That some brethren make a display of learning in their sermons is, however, no reason why learning should be slighted. The best preaching is that which not only instructs, but also moves upon the feelings and gives a powerful impulse to the will. A sermon in order to be truly effective must set people to thinking; but this will seldom be accomplished unless it stirs the emotions to some extent. There are comparatively few preachers, however, whose sermons are too full of thought.

The tendency to work unduly upon the emotions, as if religion were altogether a matter of feeling, must also be guarded against. It is questionable whether lasting effects are produced by sermons made up almost entirely of amusing anecdotes and pathetic incidents, great as may be the interest excited. The main object of some revivalists seems to be to get up what the darkies call a "rousement;" but soon after their departure and after the sensation created by their vagaries dies away, a collapse comes, and the church is worse off than before. Thorough commitment to God's service can not be gained by merely playing upon the feelings. Temporary excitement and transient impulses are not the foundation upon which to build sound Christian character.

Since fifty per cent., or perhaps more, of those who become Christians date their religious experience from revival meetings where excitement prevails to some extent, their efficiency can not for a moment be questioned. The noise and confusion, however, which are sometimes thought to be the necessary adjuncts of a great revival are, we suspect, due rather to human manipulation than to the direct influence of the Holy Ghost. God is not the author of confusion, but of peace. We can not believe that commotion and sensationalism are the necessary accompaniments of a genuine revival. To have three or four people praying at once, as is sometimes done, is conducive neither to seriousness nor to edification. We do not believe any sincere penitent was ever helped by being beaten vigorously in the back. On the contrary, such practices are often a positive hindrance. And the same may be said of many other practices that prevail more or less among us, albeit they spring from a good motive. The need of the penitent at the altar is to be profoundly convinced of sin and to have the way of life pointed out to him. Whatever is not conducive to those ends is likely to prove hurtful. The ice of formality must, of course, be broken, but we should be careful that we do not dishonor the Spirit by our fleshly manipulations.

There is a vast difference between genuine conviction, or a vivid realization of personal guilt, and being moved to tears by the recital of a touching story or a death-bed scene. Many people like to hear a thrilling sermon for the same reason that theatre-goers like to witness an affecting play, simply for the luxury of having their feelings worked upon. Under the stimulus of excitement and the example of others, people not infrequently join the church and even profess conversion without having a fixed purpose to follow Christ to the end of their lives. A case in point occurred recently. A certain pastor well-known to us states that during a meeting recently held in his charge by a noted evangelist, the people flocked to the altar, interest was at fever heat, and great results were predicted. Deeming it unwise to get people to join the church unless converted and thoroughly in earnest, this pastor waited a few days after the close of the meeting before opening the doors of the church, when, lo! there was not a single response. He firmly believes that had such an invitation been extended while the meeting was in progress, a score or more would have responded. Conviction that is so soon dissipated must be shallow indeed.

The success of a meeting is to be measured, not by the sensation produced, nor even by the number of responses to this or that proposition; but by its abiding results. The inexcusable methods resorted to by certain revivalists shock sober-minded people, and disgust the young with religion. Pious ejaculations and effervescent emotionalism can never take the place of the fruit of the Spirit.

Says Dr. Austin Phelps: "In popular religious awakenings the most essential requisite to the power of the pulpit is a healthy balancing of opposite truths. A prolonged pressure of any one class of ideas which appeal to but one side of human nature tends either to stagnation or to fanaticism. Extreme begets extreme. The more intense the awakening, the greater is the peril. Our moral sensibilities are never very profoundly moved by great and holy ideas except when they act serenely. . . . Real life often discloses the fact that the most exalted sensibilities of our nature lie very near to the most debased. Under favoring conditions the transition from one to the other is very facile. Hence in great religious reformations, the excitation of certain temperaments passes over from spiritual convictions to animal impulses. It vaults over even from spiritual ecstasy to animal passion. The history of the Anabaptists of sixteenth century was polluted from this cause."

To suppress the emotions is both wrong and hurtful. Paul exhorts us to "rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with them that weep." We should be careful, however, to distinguish between fleshly impulses and the movings of the Spirit of God. We should remember that he comes to men as a still small voice as well as in the pentecostal baptism of fire. In his "stately steppings" he is not shut up to one manner of operation.

We are satisfied that a good many people are unduly prejudiced against any show of religious emotion, and frown upon those who give vent to feelings of joy or ecstasy. Some of the very persons, however, who dislike to hear shouts and hallelujahs at church, and condemn any excitement during revivals, think nothing of hallooing themselves hoarse and going wild with enthusiasm at a political meeting or patriotic demonstration. The stillness and propriety they advocate have upon them the chill of stagnation and spiritual death. A false propriety should never be allowed to stand in the way of God's work. Better some excess of fervor than lifeless formality. Common sense, however, should guide in religion as well as in business.

A Wise Bequest.

We have frequently referred to the fact that practical philanthropy is on the increase among men of large means. Syracuse, N. Y., has the honor of adding another name to the already long list of American philanthropists. Nathan F. Graves, of that city, who died a few days since, made a will in which he provided that all of his estate of a half million dollars shall be used for benevolent purposes. The sum of $400,000 is to be used in founding and maintaining a home for indigent old people. He gives ten thousand dollars to Syracuse University, with the stipulation that the interest on this fund shall be used in maintaining a lectureship on missions. For several years before his death he had given five hundred dollars per annum for this purpose. This is a new departure which is worth more than a passing notice. If all our Christian colleges had such a lectureship, it would not be many years until the reproach that now rests upon us for our meagre contributions for the world's evangelization would be taken away.

Have You?

Brother preacher, have you made known our $1 offer to your people? If not, why not? Do you not wish to extend the circulation of your Conference organ? And do you not know that $1 for nine months is a great deal cheaper than $1 for six months? If you will let them know that they can get the benefit of our Bible offer under this $1 proposition, you can secure many subscriptions.

The Arch-Schismatic.

The Independent relates that recently the rector of an Episcopal Church in Cleveland "invited a Methodist minister to preach to his congregation, and the Methodist minister did it. He did not do it in an unconsecrated building either; nor from the reading desk in the consecrated church, but from the pulpit. Moreover, he was offered the gown to preach in, but felt himself more at ease without the canonicals. At the close the people did not flee, but remained to shake hands with the interloper and to express their gratification at such a manifestation of fraternity."

This kind of fraternity is not infrequent in Virginia—where the best type of Episcopalianism in America is found. Several of the clerical members of the General Conference of 1886 preached from Episcopal pulpits in Richmond during the session.

And in Virginia, where this fraternal spirit prevails, the Episcopal Church is more prosperous and spiritual than anywhere else in the South. The narrow sectarianism of the high-church party blights the church it affects to defend so zealously. It paralyzes piety by pretension and destroys Christian unity by its illogical and senseless clamor against what it is pleased to call the "Schism of the Sects." The most sinful schismatics in America to-day are these same high churchmen, Scriptural tests of schism being the rule of judgment.—Wesleyan Advocate.

New Books.

PREVENTIVE WORK IN CHILD-SAVING, without the Aid of an Institution. By Geo. K. Hoover, D. D., 167 Dearborn street, Chicago. Five cents per copy; thirty-six cents per dozen.

The above is the title of a 16-page pamphlet descriptive of the work and aims of the National Children's Home Society, of which Dr. Hoover is the president. This organization is doing a wonderful amount of good, and is attracting wide attention. Its distinct aim is to place homeless children in approved families, especially in childless homes, where they will have the advantages and refining influences of family life. All students and workers in child-saving agree that the family-home is the best place for the child. The development in usefulness of the society is evidenced by the fact that in 1884, the date of organization, 40 children were found good homes; in '85, 71; in '88, 259; in '94, 1,056; in '95, 1,646. It is not the intention of this society to antagonize or discount orphanages, but to co-operate with them. The Constitution provides for the organization of State and district auxiliaries under the direction of superintendents and Boards of Managers. The economy of this system strongly commends it, the average cost of thus providing for children being a little over $50 per child. The society is strictly non-sectarian. All interested in this grand work should send for a copy of the pamphlet.

THE PASTOR AND THE LEAGUE. By E. H. Rawlings, of the Virginia Conference. 12mo. 71 pages. 1896. Cloth, 50 cents. Barbee & Smith, agents, Nashville, Tenn.

This booklet, by a young pastor who has had considerable experience in League work, discusses in a practical and pointed way some matters that have much to do with a pastor's efficiency and the League's usefulness in the church. The author makes a strong plea for [illegible] co-operation on the part of the pastors with the Leaguers, and throws out some valuable suggestions as to how to make the League a success. He is right in saying that "the Epworth League, properly employed, becomes the pastor's light infantry corps, readily mobilized and easily handled. More, his Old Guard, his Tenth Legion, that always reliable, are admirably adapted for quick, dashing, well-girt movements against the enemy." A pastor with common sense, enthusiasm, and tenacity of purpose, he thinks is bound to have a prosperous League. We heartily commend the book to pastors and Leaguers.

NOTES.

Prof. Henry Drummond is lying very sick at Tunbridge Wells, England.

Rev. C. H. Ellis is assisting Rev. J. D. Crymes in a meeting at Caseyville, Miss.

The next National Christian Endeavor Convention is to be held at Nashville, Tenn.

Prof. Thomas Carter, of Centenary College, will spend the month of August at Asheville, N. C.

The address of Rev. H. H. Ahrens has been changed to Nashville avenue and Magazine street.

There are eleven Methodist Churches in Toronto, Canada, each of whose congregations exceeds 1,000.

The son and daughter of the late H. O. Houghton have given $100,000 for a new chapel at Wellesley College.

We are very sorry to learn that Miss Kate Bradford, daughter of Rev. D. P. Bradford, of Shubuta, Miss., is now quite sick with typhoid fever.

Mrs. McIlwaine, the mother-in-law of Rev. Sam P. Jones, died last week. We tender our sincere sympathy to our brother and his good wife in this deep sorrow.

Rev. J. Perry Drake, of the Mississippi Conference, made a brief sojourn in the city a few days since on his way home from a two weeks' trip to the gulf coast.

Bishop Taylor has made over one hundred extended sea voyages in his evangelistic travels, besides extensive travel by rail. He has never been in a "smash-up" nor been detained an hour by accident.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trust of Vanderbilt University has elected Prof. C. S. Brown to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Prof. W. T. Magruder of the Engineering Department.

We have been asked who compose the Book Committee of our church. The clerical members are Rev. R. A. Young, D.D., of the Tennessee Conference; Rev. Paul Whitehead, of the Virginia Conference; Rev. Collins Denny, of the Baltimore Conference, a professor in Vanderbilt University; Rev. J. M. Binkley, of the North Texas Conference; Rev. J. M. Mason, of the Alabama Conference; Rev. W. P. Lovejoy, of the North Georgia Conference. The lay members are Dr. W. H. Morgan, J. D. Hamilton, T. D. Fite, R. W. Millsaps, J. A. Odell, R. M. Scruggs, W. C. Kendrick. These were elected by the General Conference.

We wish to call attention to the "Children's Home Finder," which is the official organ of the National Children's Home Society, the work of which is described elsewhere in our columns. This splendid magazine is edited by Rev. Geo. K. Hoover, D.D., with Miss Fanny L. Armstrong, author of the "Children of the Bible," as associate editor. Miss Armstrong lived for a while in this city, and was held in high esteem. She is a noble and talented writer. Agents for this magazine, published at 167 Dearborn street, Chicago, are desired in all parts of the United States. Send for a sample copy.

We don't think that very many religious editors will "hoard gold"—not this Summer.—Mid-Continent.

Dr. W. T. Poynter, a prominent and influential member of the Kentucky Conference, died at his home in Shelbyville last week. He was a strong preacher and an able and successful educator. For a number of years he has been owner and president of Science Hill, that most excellent school founded many years ago by Mrs. Tevis. He will be greatly missed.

Rev. W. F. Lloyd, president of Polytechnic College, of Forth Worth, Texas, has opened a "Correspondence School," a leading feature of which will be to give instruction to undergraduates in the Conference course of study. Four bright, well-educated and successful young preachers have been chosen as instructors. They will give instruction as to how to study, and then hold careful examinations on every book in the course. Errors will be pointed out, and the fundamentals of each subject will be stressed. There is great need of systematic instruction along this line, and we believe that such a course can be made very helpful. The cost is nominal; only $10 a year.

The August number of St. Nicholas opens with a Russian story by Fanny Locke Mackenzie, "The Little Duchess and the Lion-Tamer." The heroine is a crippled god-daughter of the Czar, who forms a friendship with a lion-tamer in the circus. Elizabeth Robins Pennell tells of an odd annual race in a quaint old Italian city, "The Palio at Siena." Eugene Field, the children's poet, is made the subject of two sympathetic articles. Both are full of pleasant anecdotes that illustrate the genial, sunny nature of the poet, and his love for and friendships with children. Harry M. Lay shows the surprising things that may be done with "A Sand-Pile." Ernest Ingersoll, in "The Tricks of Torpedo-Boats," tells of night practice with those little scouts of the sea against the great white cruisers. All of the serials have interesting installments. There is the usual number of pictures, verses, and jingles.

We hear from every quarter that the outlook for the East Mississippi Female College is the brightest for years. We are glad to see this time-honored institution take on new life. This is bound to be one of the leading female colleges in the South. It is located in a railroad center, a high and healthy town, with excellent buildings and equipments, and now, with such a strong faculty, people are turning their attention to this institution as never before. With these superior advantages, the rates remain the same as other colleges not so well equipped. The addition of the Kindergarten and Normal Departments was an upward move. The Normal will prepare young ladies for teaching. The Kindergarten will be an object lesson to those who intend to teach the little ones. This is now an up-to-date college. We are proud of it.

The August issue of The Century is the Midsummer Holiday number, and appears in a distinctive cover. The opening paper, "An Island Without Death," by Miss E. R. Scidmore, gives an account of a visit to Miyajima, a sacred island in the Inland Sea. A paper on "The Viceroy Li Hung Chang" is contributed by the Hon. John W. Foster, lately confidential adviser to the Emperor of China. There is printed the first of a group of articles from the journals of the late E. J. Glave, who crossed Africa in the service of The Century in exploration of the slave trade. Prof. Flinders Petrie recently unearthed an historical tablet in Egypt containing what is believed to be the first monumental record by the Egyptians of the Children of Israel. In "Pharaoh of the Hard Heart" Prof. Petrie describes the finding of the tablet, and discusses the character and reign of Merenptah, who erected it. Marion Crawford contributes the fourth and last of his group of papers on Rome, the subject being "The Vatican." There are four short stories; one of life in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco, by Chester Bailey Fernald; one of a Minnesota frontier town, by Marion Manville Pope; one of the Maine woods, by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, and one of the New Orleans Creoles, by Kate Chopin.

MUL-EN-OL

is the greatest known Remedy for Pain.

Always have a bottle in the house. Sold everywhere. Price 50c., $1.00, $2.00.

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Our Bible offer and our sewing machine offer are still open. We have omitted them from the last few issues on account of the heavy demands on our advertising space.

The Wall and Mooney School.

The Wall and Mooney School has rapidly taken its place as one of the foremost training-schools in the South. It has finished a decade in its present location, and in this time has accomplished a work most creditable to its principals and gratifying to all of its friends. The town where it is situated is a very suitable location for such a school, and the whole community is loyal to this enterprise, which is one of the chief factors in its prosperity. Franklin is neither too large nor too small for a school; and, being only twenty miles distant from Nashville, the stimulating influence of the city with its large number of educational institutions is felt in the smaller community. The school-building is of brick, large enough for all purposes, well built and neatly finished. Within the past year quite a sum of money has been expended on improvements, and especially in adding and equipping a gymnasium. The ground on which the school-building stands is historic, being part of the field of the battle of Franklin. When the school-house was built there stood in the inclosure Carter's gin, the hottest part of this bloody field. But the success of a school depends not so much on its buildings as on its builders—that is, on the men who are at its head, who do or control the instruction, who shape the policy and fix the tone of the school life, and in this respect the Wall and Mooney School is peculiarly fortunate. Messrs. S. V. Wall and W. D. Mooney are both gentlemen of a high type, cultured and scholarly, refined and sympathetic, studious in their own habits and inspiring in their contact with pupils. No parent need fear to trust his son into such hands. It is the candid opinion of the writer that boys are as safe in this school as they are in the average home. The discipline of the school is firm, yet kind; the policy seems to be to allow a young man all the liberty that is consistent with his own best interests.

Athletics are encouraged within reasonable limits and are well guarded. More than one observer has been impressed with the fact that the system of discipline in the Wall and Mooney School tends to make manly boys.

Of the intellectual training there given only words of praise can be spoken. Some years ago Vanderbilt University decided that it was unnecessary to further examine boys coming from this school, and, therefore, gave the principals the right to enter their pupils into the Freshman class of the University on certificate. It is with great satisfaction the present writer states that he can not recall a single instance of the unwise exercise of this privilege, or where one of the Wall and Mooney boys has entered the University without a sufficient degree of preparation. The class room work is inspected every year by professors from the University, and thus the closest possible connection and sympathy are maintained. No results are sought after or professed in this school except such as are legitimate and honest. This idea is emphasized in the last catalogue of the school in the following statement: "If you wish your boy to skim the surface of a great many subjects, placidly unconscious of the depths below, send him to one of the easy-method institutions that are so numerous. But if you want him taught thoroughly; if you want to impress him with how little he knows, instead of fostering his self-conceit and ignorance; if you really want him to do clean, honest work and be a clean, honest boy, then we want your boy."

The policy of Vanderbilt University is to strengthen and build up good training-schools all through her patronizing territory. The interests of such schools are identical with the interests of the University. It is with great satisfaction that we have marked the growth of these schools at a number of points in Tennessee and some few points outside of the State, and for them all the University wishes that remarkable prosperity and success that has attended the Wall and Mooney School.

J. H. KIRKLAND.

Vanderbilt University.

YOU CAN'T BUY HAPPINESS, but if you are suffering from dyspepsia, scrofula, salt rheum, impure blood, you may be cured and made happy by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Harmless, reliable, sure.

Bicycling is said to be seriously injuring the book trade. Young people are too much absorbed with their wheels to have much interest in literature. If the trashy literature is most affected, to that extent, at least, the injury is not to be regretted.—Northwestern Advocate.

If You Lack Energy

Take Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

It vitalizes the nerves, helps digestion, feeds the brain, makes life worth living. It is a medicine, a food and a delicious beverage.

Of all the things which man can make or do here below, by far the most momentous, wonderful and worthy are the things we call books. —Thomas Carlyle.

A Chance to Make Money - How Will Izor Did It.

BUTTER MADE in two minutes is what I did, and I am going to make a fortune selling the Queen Butter Maker, that makes butter in two minutes, as everyone that I have shown it to wants one. All you have to do is to place the cream in the Machine, give a few turns of the crank, and the butter is made and gathered ready to be salted. I am perfectly delighted with my success, and feel sure I am going to make $100 a month, and not work hard either. I will devote my whole time to it, as it is the easiest thing to sell I ever saw. I met Mr. Hines, of Columbus, who had made $75 the first week, which is only five a day. Anyone who has made butter will know how hard it is to churn, and will be glad to have a churn that will relieve them of all this work. Anybody can get circulars by writing the Queen Butter Maker Co., 20 East 3d St., Cincinnati, who will give territory and sell machines to anybody who may ask. WILL C. IZOR.

Prof. Wilbur Smith's Business College.

Received award at two great World's Expositions, and refers to thousands of successful graduates. It is known as the renowned Commercial College of Kentucky University, located in the beautiful city of Lexington, Ky. See ad. and write now for circular to Prof. W. R. Smith, Lexington, Ky.

Wanted.

By a young lady of refinement, a situation as governess. Teaches English and Music. References given,
Address Miss L. J.,
Natchez, Miss.

For cuts and wounds of all kinds, MUL-EN-OL has no equal. It prevents inflammation, takes out the soreness, and heals quickly.

MUL-EN-OL, Nature's Great Healer and Pain Destroyer. Often is it that lives are lost that might have been saved by the timely use of MUL-EN-OL.

MUL-EN-OL is the greatest of all antiseptic dressings. Is a sovereign remedy for healing flesh wounds on man or beast.

MUL-EN-OL is a clear, pleasant, penetrating Liniment. No grease, no stain.

MUL-EN-OL is pre-eminently a Mother's Remedy, a reliable panacea for all the ills and pains of childhood.

Keep a bottle of MUL-EN-OL where you can quickly reach it, in case of emergency. Perhaps it will save a doctor's bill.

Notice.

To the Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference—

The Minutes of the late Conference, held in Natchez, are completed, but can't be sent out until the societies send their apportioned assessments for the publishing. Please forward at once to MRS. A. F. WATKINS,
Rec. Secretary.

Jackson, Miss.

A woman in England has put in a striking way the good which might be accomplished if all Englishmen would deny themselves only one-tenth of the alcohol which they now consume. With the money thus saved she would send out missionaries, and allowing as much as $1,500 as the salary of each, she says she would, from this saving alone, be able to send out 45,000 additional missionaries.—Exchange.

Some men imagine that they have been very brave when they have simply been very rude.

Wanted.

By a young lady of fine character and seven years' experience in teaching a position as teacher in a family or private school. Louisiana preferred. References given.
Address H. A., this office.

Williams Hall—Millsaps College.

I am prepared to take thirty students and will use every effort to give them a home while at college. Terms: $12 per scholastic month. Let me hear from anyone contemplating attending Millsaps College.

MRS. EMMA MAYES COOK.
Care of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * *
Yours most respectfully,
MRS A. W. MOORE.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office,
Or to
Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

Cheapest, Highest Honored. Situations. Medal awarded Prof. Smith at World's Fair. Book-keeping, Business, Short-hand, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. University Diploma to graduates. 10,000 Graduates in Business. Begin now. Address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

MUSIC ILLINOIS CONSERVATORY, Jacksonville, Ill.

FEMALE ACADEMY 67th YEAR. High grade English and Classical School for young women. Elective courses. MRS. W. J. BRYAN'S, Alma Mater, Jacksonville, Ill.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

NERVOUS INDIGESTION.

REV. H. A. GOODWIN, of the Diocese of Virginia, Richmond, Va., says: "I have made use of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER Spring No. 2, for Indigestion and Nervous Prostration with the happiest results. It has increased, in a marked degree, both my appetite and digestive powers, and invigorated my general health. When suffering great Nervous Prostration, the result of over-mental labor, I have found it a prompt and wonderful restorative, and I regard it as invaluable to the brain worker."

Sold by Druggists. Pamphlet free.

Proprietor, Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

The Female College of the Louisiana Conference.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Forty-fourth session begins Sept. 2, 1896. Send for Catalogue. T. S. SLIGH, A.M., President.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles, New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE.

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

For the Higher Education of Boys and Young Men.

Beautiful situation. Jackson, the capital of the State, is easily accessible by four lines of railway. The college buildings occupy a commanding elevation, with perfect drainage and admirable health conditions.

The very finest educational advantages are offered. The members of the faculty are thoroughly competent and progressive in their several departments of instruction.

The students are constantly under superior moral and religious influence. Young men preparing for the profession of Law in Mississippi will find unequaled advantages in the LAW DEPARTMENT.

Expenses very moderate. Many of the students, by boarding themselves, reduce the cost of living below $8 per month. Board in student's homes and private families, $12 per month.

Next Session Begins September 23d, 1896.

For Register, giving detailed information, apply to President W. B. MURRAH or Rev. T. B. HOLLOWAN, Agent.

1846. THE ACADEMY. 1896.

CLARKSVILLE, TENN.

A Select Home School for Young Ladies. Number of students limited. Elegant rooms, elegantly furnished. Hot and cold water baths. Welsbach gas lights. First-class fare. Collegiate courses for degrees. Conservatory courses in Music, Art and Elocution. Experienced teachers from the best schools of America and Europe. Location unsurpassed for morals, health and social advantages. Rates reasonable. FREE TUITION in Collegiate Courses to active ministers' daughters. Next session begins Sept. 1. Half the rooms now engaged. Apply early to

REV. H. W. BROWDER, A. M., PRINCIPAL.

Asheville Female College,

ASHEVILLE, N. C. "IN THE LAND OF THE SKY."

REV. A. B. WARWICK, M. A., (University of Virginia,) President.

This famous school will open its Fifty-fourth Session September 10, 1896. Beautiful Campus. Modern Buildings, elegantly furnished, and Steam-heated. Hot and Cold Baths. Excellent and abundant table fare. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Location for healthfulness and grandeur of scenery unsurpassed on the continent. Elevation 1,300 feet. No Mosquitoes. No Malaria. Thorough and broad instruction, under best American and European teachers, leading to Degrees. Conservatory advantages in Music. Rates reasonable. Send for catalogue.

LaGrange Female College

Opens September 16, 1896. Brick buildings, electric lights, waterworks, baths, Gymnasium. Conservatory advantages in music. Elegant pipe organ. ART AND VOICE CULTURE specialties. Elocution fine. Bookkeeping and Harmony free. Sight singing daily. Dressmaking, typewriting, stenography. Economical uniform. Health unsurpassed. Best social surroundings. Pupils board with Faculty in College Home.

Rufus W. Smith, President,

LAGRANGE, GEORGIA.

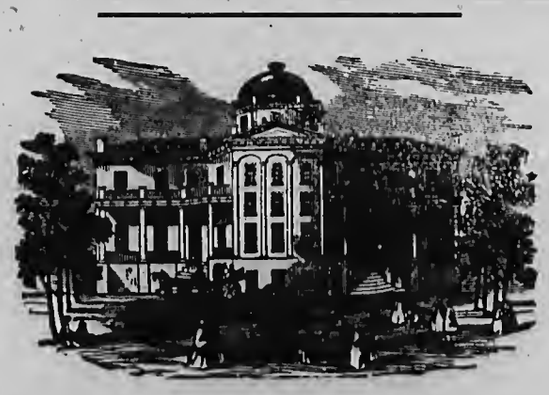
GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.



Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-Medine Co?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert,
Kramich & Bach
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

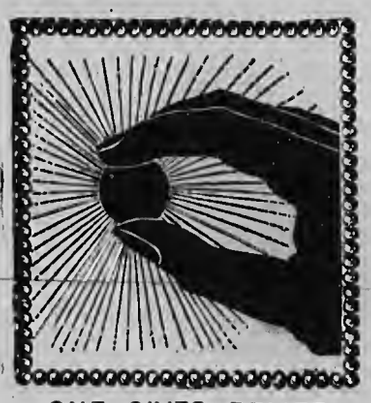
Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO., 26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an all-round family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.

THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.

Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.

J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Chenneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO., Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity, 807 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

HOME CIRCLE.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

BY FRANCIS MILES FINCH

By the flow of the inland river,
Whence the fleets of iron have fled,
Where the blades of the grave-grass quiver,
Asleep are the ranks of the dead—
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the one, the Blue;
Under the other, the Gray.

These in the robings of glory,
Those in the gloom of defeat,
All with the battle-blood gory,
In the dusk of eternity meet;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the laurel, the Blue;
Under the willow, the Gray.

From the silence of sorrowful hours
The desolate mourners go,
Lovingly laden with flowers
Alike for the friend and the foe;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the roses, the Blue;
Under the lilies, the Gray.

So with an equal splendor
The morning sun-rays fall,
With a touch impartially tender,
On the blossoms blooming for all;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Broidered with gold, the Blue;
Mellowed with gold, the Gray.

So, when the Summer calleth,
On forest and field of grain
With an equal murmur falleth
The cooling drip of the rain;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Wet with the rain, the Blue;
Wet with the rain, the Gray.

Sadly, but not with upbraiding,
The generous deed was done;
In the storm of the years that are fading,
No braver battle was won;
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Under the blossoms, the Blue;
Under the garlands, the Gray.

No more shall the war-cry sever,
Or the winding rivers be red;
They banish our anger forever
When they laurel the graves of our dead!
Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Love and tears for the Blue;
Tears and love for the Gray.

He Has Got the Fiddle, But Not the Stick.

It often comes to pass that a man steps into another's shoes, and yet can not walk in them. A poor tool of a parson gets into a good man's pulpit, and takes the same texts, but the sermons are chalk, and not cheese. A half-baked young swell inherits his father's money, but not his generosity; his barns, but not his brains; his title, but not his sense—he has the fiddle without the stick, and the more's the pity.

Some people imagine that they have only to get hold of the plough-handles, and they would soon beat John Ploughman. If they had his fiddle, they are sure they could play on it.

However, between you and me and the bed-post, there is one secret which John does not mind letting out. John's fiddle is poor enough, but the stick is a right good one, too good to be called a fiddle-stick. Do you want to see the stick with which John plays his fiddle? Here it is—Looking to God for help, John always tries to do his best, whatever he has to do, and he has found this to be the very best way to play all kinds of tunes. What little music there is in John's poor old fiddle comes out of it in that way. Listen to a scrape or two:

If I were a cobbler, I'd make it my pride
The best of all cobblers to be;
If I were a tinker, no tinker beside
Should mend an old kettle like me.

And being a ploughman, I plough with the best,
No furrow runs straighter than mine;
I waste not a moment, and stay not to rest,
Though idlers to tempt me combine.

Yet I wish not to boast, for trust I have none
In aught I can do or can be;
I rest in my Savior, and what he has done
To ransom poor sinners like me.

—Spurgeon.

Make Home Life Beautiful.

Let me say to parents: Make the home life beautiful, without and within, and they will sow the seeds of gentleness, true kindness, honest and fidelity, in the hearts of their children, from which the children reap a harvest of happiness and virtue. The memory of the beautiful and happy home of childhood is the richest legacy any man can leave to his children. The heart will never forget its hallowed influences. It will be an evening enjoyment, to which the lapse of years will only add new sweetness. Such a home is a constant inspiration for good, and as constant a restraint from evil.

If by taste and culture we adorn our homes and grounds and add to their charms, our children will find the quiet pleasure of rural homes more attractive than the whirl of city life. Such attractions and enjoyments will invest home life, school life, the whole future of life with new interests and with new dignity and joyousness, for life is just what we make it. We may by our blindness live in a world of darkness and gloom, or in a world full of sunlight and beauty and joy; for the world without only reflects the world within. Also, the tasteful improvements of grounds and home exerts a good influence not only upon the inmates, but upon the community. An elegant dwelling, surrounded by sylvan attractions, is a contribution to the refinement, the good order, the taste and prosperity of every community, improving the public taste and ministering to every enjoyment.—B. G. Northrup.

Shall We Meet Again?

Men seldom think of the shadow that falls across their own path, hiding forever from their eyes the traces of the loved ones, whose living smiles were the sunlight of their existence. Death is the great antagonist of life, and the cold thought of the tomb is the skeleton of all feasts. We do not want to go through the dark valley, although its passages may lead to Paradise; and, with Charles Lamb, we do not want to lie down in the muddy grave even with kings and princes for our bed-fellows. But the fiat of nature is inexorable. There is no appeal of relief from the great law which dooms us to dust. We flourish and we fade as the leaves of the forest, and the flower that blooms and withers in a day has not a frailer hold upon life than the mightiest monarch that ever shook the earth with his footsteps. Generations of men appear and vanish as the grass, and the countless multitude that throngs the world today will to-morrow disappear as the footsteps on the shore. In the beautiful drama of Ion, the instinct of immortality, so eloquently uttered by the death-devoted Greek, finds a deep response in every thoughtful soul. When about to yield his young existence as a sacrifice to fate, his beloved Clemanthe asks if they shall not meet again, to which he replies: "I have asked that dreadful question of the hills that look eternal—of the streams that flow forever—of the stars among whose fields of azure my raised spirit hath walked in glory. All were dumb. But while I gaze upon thy face, I feel that there is something in the love that mantles through its beauty that can not wholly perish. We shall meet again, Clemanthe."—George D. Prentice.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Pursuit of Pleasure.

About the dreariest pursuit in this world is the pursuit of pleasure. It very soon becomes tiresome and monotonous. It has to be paid for in spot cash of dissatisfaction and discomfort. All around and in Chicago expensive pleasure factories have been established as social "clubs." These clubs are breaking up home life, and teaching the young people that home is a place to be avoided, except for eating and sleeping purposes. This breaks in upon home influences, and upon education, because it takes the attention of the young from their school work and from good parental influence. It breaks in upon religion because it saps church attendance, devotion and Christian work and giving. It incites people, and especially young men, not only to seek pleasure as the chief good, but to pay more for it than they can afford to. Two dollars per week is the minimum figure of the cost—from that to ten dollars. We notice that the programme of a fine club, made up largely of church people, devotes one-third of the entertainment to card playing.—The Interior.

Wanted.

In one hundred thousand households in America, a willing, sunshiny daughter, who will not fret when asked to wipe the dishes, or sigh when requested to take care of the baby; a daughter whose chief delight is to smooth away mother's wrinkles, and who is quite as willing to lighten her father's cares as his pockets; a girl who thinks her own brother as nice as some other girl's brother. Constant love, high esteem and a most honored place in the home guaranteed.—New York Christian Advocate.

THE

WALL AND MOONEY

School for Boys,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

Discipline rigid, expenses reasonable, instruction thorough.

CHANCELLOR J. H. KIRKLAND, of Vanderbilt University, says:

"The academy of Messrs. Wall and Mooney is one of the very best training-schools, so far as my knowledge extends, within the Southern States."

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt and other leading Universities without examination. Engage a place beforehand.

For catalogue address

W. D. MOONEY.

Mention this paper.

HYGIENE.

Mental Health.

One of the signs of mental health is equanimity of temper and the ability to bear with indifference or even pleasure the little trials of life, and especially those which come from scolding, petulant, cross; irritable persons. To this end the art of not hearing too much should be learned. There are so many things which it is painful to hear, very many of which, if heard, will disturb the temper, corrupt simplicity and modesty, detract from health and happiness. If one falls into a violent passion, and calls us all manner of names, and we can shut our ears and not hear it, or if we can laugh at the words instead of becoming ourselves excited, it is a sign of a healthy nervous system. If in the quiet voyage of life we find ourselves caught in one of those domestic whirlwinds of scolding, and we can shut our ears as a sailor would furl his sail, and, making all tight, scud before the gale, it is a sign of a healthy, well trained nervous system. If a hot restless one begins to inflame our feelings, and we can consider what mischief the fiery sparks may do in our magazine below, where our temper is kept, and instantly close the door, it is a sign of health. It may take will power and effort to train our brains to such a state as this, but it is worth the effort.—Exchange.

How Food Is Digested.

One of the most fruitful causes of starchy indigestion is insufficient mastication and insalivation. We live in an age of nervous hurry, and have ceased to take sufficient time to eat decently. We rush through our meals as though everything depended on the rapid disposition of the food. Restaurants bear the sign, "Five Minute Lunches," and railways announce, "Ten minutes for refreshments." Dry foods which can not be swallowed readily are washed down. This practice relieves the salivary glands of their proper work, and starchy indigestion is sooner or later likely to give us trouble. The efficiency of after digestion depends largely upon the thoroughness with which the food is chewed and mixed with saliva. No amount of pepsin taken as a medicine will compensate for the lack of this. Therefore, I say, what has already been implied—thoroughly chew your food. This old admonition has been repeated so often that it has become a platitude observed by many.—Exchange.

The Cigarette.

Dr. Backford, of the Western State Hospital, known best as the Staunton (Va.) Lunatic Asylum, says in his annual report to its directors:

To a great extent the increase of insanity may be attributed to the pernicious "cigarette smoking habit," now so long prevalent among us, and undermining the moral, physical and mental health of the youth of our country during the period of youth and development, when the brain is tender and plastic, and easily affected by the noxious inhalations hissing through and around the nerve centres. His nervous organization is apt to become more shattered by the "cigarette habit" than if he were addicted to alcoholic stimulants during that period, and will surely be the first to give away, and, of course, the first to suffer, especially during the period of puberty, with its strain on the nervous system. The youth at college, who burns the midnight oil, is to be commended for his industry, but too often he burns out his brain at the same time with the accompanying cigarette; the process of waste and injury to the nervous system may be greater than the repair, and mental bankruptcy is the result.—Southern Churchman.

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. B.

CHICKEN SALAD.—One chicken, twelve hard-boiled eggs, one bunch of celery, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of mustard, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half cupful of vinegar; salt and pepper.

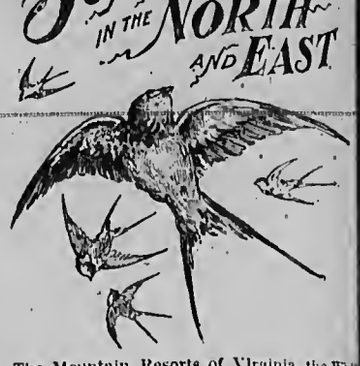
Chop chicken, celery and whites of eggs moderately fine; rub yolks of eggs to a paste, adding other ingredients, gradually stirring continually; pour over the chopped mixture.—H. F. B.

Fits Cured

From U.S. Journal of Medicine. Prof. W. H. Peeke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address

Prof. W. H. PEEKE, 4 Cedar St., New York.

SUMMERING IN THE NORTH AND EAST



The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Resorts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

ST. LOUIS CHICAGO
CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE

maintained by the

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask your local railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley

RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1st, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St. Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrive
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:30 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common Sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, -:- East, North-East, AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST

To CINCINNATI AND THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains, Fast Time, Close Connections, Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED.

Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with

LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART

By Hon. HENRY B. RUSSELL, their chosen biographer. 550 pages, elegantly illustrated. Only $1.00. Price cut to $1.00. Best and cheapest, and outsells all others by four to one. Books now ready. 50 per cent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Save time by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

Individual Communion

Cups, Cabinets and Tables, adapted to the customs and usages of all branches of the Christian church. Illustrated descriptive catalogue free. GLOBE FURNITURE CO., Northville, Mich. Manufacturers of Furniture for Church, Chapel, Sunday Schools and Assembly Rooms.

IF YOU WANT

Poor Tea,
Poor Coffee,
Poor Butter,
Poor Lard,
Poor Flour,
Poor Bacon,
Poor Hams,
Poor Canned Goods,
Poor Attention,

You can't get them at

KING'S

If you live in the country, send for my price list. It will save you money and keep you posted on prices.

KING,

1401 1403 Dryades Street,
Corner Thalia.

Hon. Edward Booth.

Hon. Edward Booth, the subject of this sketch, was born at Bolton, England, September, 1825; came to this city and embarked in business in 1848; was married to Miss Helena Halloran in 1851, with whom he lived in affectionate wedlock until her death, six years ago. The surviving fruits of this union are Mr. William Booth, a lawyer of San Francisco; Mr. James Booth, a journalist of the same city; Mr. George Booth, of this city, who was associated with his father in business, and Mrs. Elizabeth Booth Barr, also of this city.

Bro. Booth was for a period of twoscore years prominent in the religious and political history of his adopted city and State; and his death occurring suddenly, though in advanced life, was regarded by many as a public calamity, and leaves a void which it will be difficult, if not impossible, to fill. He possessed unusual and versatile talents, and might have been distinguished in any sphere of public service, but he had quiet tastes, and shrank from the glare of public life. He was borne to the offices of State senator, city councilman, and Board of Health, on popular waves at periods of State and municipal crisis, but nothing could induce him from choice to accept higher offices which were constantly placed at his disposal. Perhaps none ever served his country more efficiently who served it for such brief periods of time, his careers in each of these offices having become historic. He was a model business man, and carried his efficient methods, industry and economy with him into the public service.

But while we may utter such words of praise concerning his public life, he was yet more distinguished as a servant of the church. In his death Felicity Street Church, which has recently been so bereft by deaths and removals, loses its best friend, and New Orleans Methodism one of its chief ornaments. The church-building at Felicity Street, which is by far the choicest of Methodist houses of worship in this city, was largely planned by his cultivated taste, and paid for by his tact in raising funds. As the teacher of the young men's Bible class for many years, he was the model Bible scholar and instructor, and the most distinguished success in that line which the writer, during a somewhat lengthy pastorate, has known. His familiarity with the Word, his lively imagination in discourse and splendid diction, employed upon themes the most exalted, made an hour in his class both a pleasant memory and an incident never to be forgotten. Though his social position was the highest, he was humble even to condescension towards inferiors, and was careful never to offend against the claims of either youth or poverty. This greatly aided him in his office of teacher, as well as increased the sphere of his usefulness. His charities were so broad and wisely administered as to escape few subjects of real need lying within their providential sphere. Owing to life-time beneficences, perhaps, he left but a small fortune, comparatively speaking, being accounted rich in the measure of his gifts rather than of his hoards. To sum up, he had such splendid traits of character so improved by use and cultivation, and so refined by grace, that he was idolized at home, beloved in the community, and revered in the church.

He had been a subscriber to the ADVOCATE from its first number, and more than once, in conversation with the writer, adverted to the circumstance with pride.

For many years also he had held the office of president of the Southwestern Bible Society, an office which he resigned but a short period before his death. He was the life-long friend of Bishops Parker and McTyeire, his pastors for a long term of years, and was actively identified with almost every enterprise of note undertaken by the New Orleans Methodists of the present generation.

His funeral obsequies were attended by large crowds, which included the most and the least honorable citizens of the community in which he had lived for so many years, and which gathered lustre from almost every word and deed of his singularly pure and blameless life.

A good man and a noble Christian gentleman has gone to his reward in another world, but not to be forgotten or wholly deprived of it in this, for it is still most true that even the perishable relics of the

"Just smell sweet and blossom in the dust"

J. M. BEARD.

OBITUARIES.

BREWER—Mrs. LELIA HARRIS BREWER was born Dec. 3, 1862; married to Mr. W. H. Brewer, Nov. 30, 1886, and died July 30, 1896.

These are the dates connected with a short, sweet life—a life of faith and of self-sacrifice for the good of others.

Mrs. Brewer professed religion and joined the church under the ministry of Rev. Thomas Cameron, when she was about twenty-one years old, and she was an earnest, faithful Christian down to the day of her death.

The last eighteen months of her life were months of deep suffering, but all this was borne with a spirit of the sweetest submission to the Divine will. She was young, and had six children much to live for—but all were turned over into the hands of God. As the end came she had a great triumph of faith; bade family and friends farewell with words of instruction and encouragement for each. It was exceedingly tender to see her parting with her husband and children; commending them to God, and exacting a promise to meet her in heaven. "Thanks be unto God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

GILDEROY.

RAMSAY—Mr. ALFRED L. RAMSAY, son of T. F. and E. C. Ramsay, was born Oct. 28, 1873, and died July 22, 1896, in Beaumont, Texas. He died away from home, but not away from friends. He was a wayward boy, but he became a Christian before his death. He said he felt that the Lord would forgive him. Rev. W. W. Watts was with him, and asked him about religious matters. He said he felt secure, in that God would do right by him; said he had not lived as he should have done, but felt that the Lord would forgive him. He did not think he would die; he said he would get well; but Bro. Watts told him that he must soon die, and then he frequently asked Bro. Watts if he thought he would live until his sister came. He said: "I will sure'y be glad when sister and mother come to help me." He then soon went peacefully to rest. He was a devoted brother. He leaves a father and mother, two sisters and two brothers, and many friends, to mourn his death. This is written by a SUBSCRIBER AND A SISTER.

LEWIS—J. SOUTH LEWIS, son of F. D. and Mollie Lewis, of Woodville, Miss., and grandson of the Rev. H. J. Harris, of the Mississippi Conference, was born Oct. 26, 1869. He joined the Methodist Church, Jan. 17, 1883, under the ministry of Dr. T. S. West, at the age of fourteen.

During the last few years he had been living in Louisiana with but few religious advantages, and consequently drifted away from the faith.

His fatal illness lasted for six months, during which time he sought and obtained assurance of his acceptance with God. Though a great sufferer, he frequently expressed gratitude to God for his long illness, thereby giving him an opportunity to repent.

He fell peacefully asleep at ten and a half o'clock, June 26, 1896, leaving behind every assurance of his preparation for the great change.

B. F. LEWIS.

NAFF—JESSIE BURRELL, infant daughter of Robert and Augusta Naff, was born July 12, 1895, and died April 5, 1896.

The death angel, in gathering jewels for heaven, saw none fairer than little Jessie, and, clipping the brittle thread of life, bore her to the Savior's breast, where she finds sweet repose. Her life was brief; but, as a beautiful rose silently buds into life and wafts its fragrance on the air from early dawn till midnight, little Jessie filled her home with happiness. May the loved ones be sustained by the strong arm of him who sent this affliction, and obey the voice that whispers, "Cast thy care upon God!"

E. L. ALFORD.

Bonita, La.

STUART—Whereas, it has pleased our heavenly Father in his wisdom to call from among us our friend and brother, CHARLES L. STUART; therefore, be it

Resolved, While we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, yet we lament his loss as that of one of our oldest and best citizens.

Resolved, As brother stewards we hereby testify to his efficiency and usefulness as our church and recording steward. We emulate his example as an active Christian, he being not only a hearer, but a doer of the Word. We tender to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this, their greatest affliction, commending them to Him whose watchful care and kindness are over all his creatures.

W. W. BOTT, for Committee.

Olive Branch, Miss.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

School Medals —AND— Class Pins.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF DESIGNING AND MANUFACTURING SCHOOL PINS AND EMBLEMS, And if desired, will make and submit designs for approval.

NEW NOVELTIES IN SILVER IN GREAT VARIETY.

Frantz & Opitz,
BOURBON STREET, - - - NEAR CANAL.

RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE, LYNCHBURG, VA.

Same courses and standards of graduation as at the Randolph-Macon College for men, at Ashland, Va. Here, at last, is

AN ENDOWED COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

in the salubrious climate of Virginia, and with social environments congenial to Southern ideals. Cost of building, etc., $103,411. Endowment $102,667; pays half the current expenses, so that students can get the BEST EDUCATION AT ONE-HALF COST. For illustrated catalogue with details address

PRES'T. WM. W. SMITH, A. M., LL.D., Lynchburg, Va.

BELLS

Best Alloy Church & School Bells. Send for catalogue. The C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
E. VANDUZEN CO., Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A. Best Ingot Copper and E. India Tin.
CHURCH BELLS PEALS AND CHIMES.
Rotary Yoke Wood and Friction Rollers. Quick Silent Running. Prices, Terms, etc., Free.

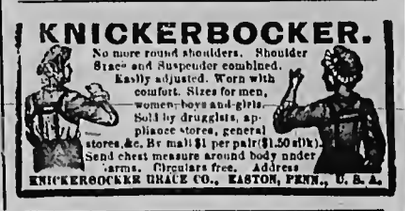
BLYMYER CHURCH BELLS.
UNLIKE OTHER BELLS SWEETER, MORE DURABLE, LOWER PRICE. OUR FREE CATALOGUE TELLS WHY.
Write to Cincinnati Bell Foundry Co., Cincinnati, O.

BLANCARD'S PILLS. IODIDE OF IRON. ALSO IN SYRUP.

Specially recommended by the medical celebrities of the World for Scrofula, (Tumors, King's Evil), and the early stages of Consumption, Constitutional Weakness, Poorness of the Blood and for stimulating and preserving its regular course.

None Genuine unless signed "BLANCARD." E. Fougera & Co., N. Y. and all Druggists.

KNICKERBOCKER.



No more round shoulders. Shoulder Brace and Suspender combined. Easily adjusted. Worn with comfort. Sizes for men, women, boys and girls. Sold by druggists, appliance stores, general stores, &c. By mail $1 per pair ($1.50 silk). Send chest measure around body under arms. Circulars free. Address KNICKERBOCKER BRACE CO., EASTON, PENN., U. S. A.

HARDIN COLLEGE AND CONSERVATORY

Founded by Ex-Gov. Hardin. Grand success. Patrons in 23 States. 24 professors from 8 universities, and 5 conservatories. A $1,000 piano at May festival. German conservatory, Scharwenka, Director. Largest, cheapest, best. Send for prices. Mexico, Mo.

MME. BAILEY'S SURE HAIR Grower

will produce a THICK, SOFT and BEAUTIFUL head of LONG, FLOWING HAIR in EIGHT to TWELVE WEEKS. A purely vegetable and positively harmless compound. Endorsed by leading physicians. Two or three packages do it.

Price, 50 cents per package, or three for $1. Sent by mail, prepaid. THE BAILEY COMPANY, COOPERSTOWN, N. Y.

Edward McGehee College for Girls

Has just been rebuilt in latest modern style, in the midst of one of the most beautiful and healthful parks on earth.

COURSE OF STUDY equal to the best.

BOARD AND TUITION to suit the times.

FACULTY all true and tried successful specialists.

Fall session opens Sept. 2, 1896.

Before placing your girls, write

J. A. MONROE, A. M., Pres't,
Woodville, Miss.

Matchless Mineral Water

FOR SALE BY

WM. B. HINES,
AT SUMMIT, MISS.

Guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh, Kidney Diseases, and Skin Diseases, and Bowel Diseases, and an excellent Tonic. Local agents desired.

FOR THE BEST

Photographs

—GO TO—

-SIMON'S,-

929 CANAL STREET.

Seines, Fishing Tackle

CROQUET, BASEBALL GOODS, BASKETS, FREEZERS, WATER COOLERS, REFRIGERATORS,

Ice Chests, Fruit Jars, Hammocks, Lamps, Lanterns, Brooms, Brushes,

TWINES, ROPE AND PACKING, AXLE GREASE, WHIPS,

Blank Books, Stationery, Soaps, Corks, Oars, Scales, Sieves, Bird Cages, Traps, Cheese Safes,

WRAPPING PAPER AND BAGS,

Full Line Tinware and Woodenware.

J. C. MORRIS CO., Limited.

224-230 (New Nos.) Tchoupitoulas St.
CORNER NATCHEZ ALLEY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the ADVOCATE.

AS AN EDUCATOR

CENTENARY COLLEGE has done as much for Louisiana as any school in the State. It has done more for the church than any school in the Southwest. The good work is still going on, and getting better all the time. The next session begins Sept. 2. Send for catalogue and see our easy terms.

REV. C. W. CARTER, Pres.
Jackson, La.

Something Good in Dixie.

Please understand I am a woman of Indiana, not of Dixie, but do appreciate this good delight to acknowledge it that all persons afflicted as I have been may know there is hope and happiness for them. I had been a stammerer from childhood; sometimes as unable to speak as though dumb. Had tried several cures, but all of them failed. Then, as a last resort, I tried Rev. G. W. Randolph's Cure for Stuttering or Stammering, and now am CURED. Four days after complying with the requirements of this Cure, I received by mail that which enabled me to talk with such ease and infinite satisfaction, which, to one who endures the affliction as long and severely as I have is a veritable gladness in the soul. I have never seen Rev. Randolph, but have found him to be a man of his word, and is highly recommended in church circles, also by State officials. His Voice School, or Institute, is located at No. 468 Poplar Street, Memphis, Tenn., and to persons going to this school a cure is GUARANTEED. The Cure by mail gives the same happy results, if instructions are carefully followed, which even children can do, and those needing the benefit of this GOOD will find him so considerate in his terms they need not suffer these afflictions longer. Submitted for the sake of the unfortunate.

MRS. LILLIAN TILMAN,
403 W. Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

The Memphis Christian Advocate and Ex-Gov. Stone endorse him highly.

JONES' COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES

GADSDEN, ALABAMA.

ON THE HIGHLANDS!

SUCCESSOR TO HUNTSVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE. Fall Session begins Sept. 2, 1896. 9 Officers and Teachers. Everything new. Every department of female education taught. New Chapel and Music Conservatory. We own the electric plant and water works. One of the most delightful places for a school in the South. You can not fail to be pleased with the government. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.

A. B. JONES, PRESIDENT.

HOLLY SPRINGS FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Epworth College

(Formerly MALONE)

Is located in Holly Springs, which is situated at the intersection of the Illinois Central and Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroads, into which ten passenger trains come and go every day.

Holly Springs is the highest point in the State of Mississippi, according to the geological survey, and the highest point on the railroad between New Orleans and Chicago; hence it is noted for its healthfulness. The success of the college for the last five years has been unprecedented under the circumstances. We expect still greater success under my successors, S. A. STREAT and Rev. R. M. STANDIFER, who will make such improvements as time and experience may suggest. I shall remain in the college as business manager until December, and will take great pleasure in giving to the patrons of the college any information they may desire.

I call special attention to our very reasonable terms.

TERMS PER MONTH.

Board, fuel, lights and laundry	$11 00
Tuition in Collegiate department	4 00
Tuition in Academic department	4 00

EXTRA EXPENSES.

French, German or Greek (each)	1 50
Instrumental music	4 00
Voice culture (private lessons)	4 00
No charge for chorus training or use of piano.
Crayon, pastel, water colors and oil	4 00
Elocution (private lessons)	4 00
Elocution in class	1 00
Diploma (graduation fee)	5 00
Violin, mandolin, guitar (each)	4 00

Payments must be made quarterly in advance.

For preachers' daughters everything will be divided by two. ET

Catalogue furnished on application.

J. W. HONNOLL, Business Manager.

Holly Springs, Miss., July 15, 1896.

Millwood Female Institute,

NEAR JACKSON, LA.

A SCHOOL OF HIGH GRADE.

Beautiful location, and health record unsurpassed. The fall session will begin Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1896. Offers superior advantages to young ladies who desire thorough equipment for life-work. Faculty complete and competent. Some of the higher branches will be taught by members of the faculty of Centenary College. For particulars, as to board tuition, etc., address

MISS A. M. C. PEARCE, Principal.
Jackson, La.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE Insurance Company.

ESTABLISHED THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

Office in COMPANY'S BUILDING, CORNER CARONDELET AND COMMON STS.

W. W. CARRE,

LUMBER,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Southern Seminary and Conservatory of Music

1867-1896. BOWLING GREEN, VA.

REV. E. H. ROWE, President.
Late Pres't Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

PROF. J. B. GITASS, Director of Music.
(Graduate of Conservatory of Munich, Bavaria, and Fellow Royal Society of England.)

DEPARTMENTS: Language and Literature. (Besides Ancient and Modern Languages, etc., rare advantages in English under Specialist in English from Vassar.) Science—Art—Music—Elocution and Business. SOCIAL CULTURE: Through systematic efforts and association of officers and teachers with students. Distinguishing feature of this institution. LOCATION: Northern Virginia near Washington, D. C., offering rare advantages to young ladies from lower Southern States. (See Prospectus.) HEALTHFUL; picturesque; accessible. No change of cars from Atlanta, Ga. Terms reasonable. Special rates to ministers and to teachers. Session opens Sept. 9. Write for prospectus and further information.

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE.

Mother of Female Colleges. Owned and operated by the Methodist Church for collegiate education of girls, with no view to gain.

Location. On high hill, with grand views, in a beautiful, healthful city.

Buildings. Beautiful, capacious, comfortable. Steam-heated. Worth with campus $225,000. Extensive improvements being made.

Faculty. Large, experienced, graduates of leading colleges and universities. Two new teachers, educated at Harvard and University of Chicago.

Laboratory in Science for 40 girls working at same time. Only way to learn science. Telescope.

Berlitz Method of learning French, German, Spanish, free to all. Music, Art, Elocution, taught as thoroughly as in any college. 36 pianos, eight just bought. Term begins Sept. 16. Catalogue in second edition. Address now

J. D. Hammond, Pres., Macon, Ga.

LOGAN FEMALE COLLEGE

In closing her fiftieth year, sends greeting to all of her children and extends a cordial welcome to them and their daughters. With a broad curriculum and teachers from the great institutions of this country and Europe, she invites the patronage of those seeking a liberal culture for their daughters under refining influences. Address

A. G. MURPHY, PRINCIPAL, Russellville, Ky.

Nashville College —FOR— Young Ladies.

108 Vauxhall Place,
NASHVILLE, TENN.

Rev. GEO. W. F. PRICE, D. D., President.
Rev. W. F. MELTON, A.M., Ph.D., Vice-President.

Leading Southern College for Women.

Three grand buildings, amply lighted, thoroughly heated, finely ventilated, Curriculum extensive. Twenty resident officers; seven Vanderbilt lecturers. Scientific experiments in the Laboratories of the University. Languages, Literature, Musical Conservatory, Art, Gymnasium, Dress-making, Stenography, Typewriting. Admirable climate. Health unexcelled. Tennessee Centennial Exposition, May-November, 1897. Ample provision made for pupils to attend. College located on the grandest thoroughfare of the city, along which all public parades pass. Cars direct to the Exposition in few minutes. Send for Catalogue.

POSITIONS GUARANTEED. Will accept notes for tuition, or can deposit money in bank until position is secured. Car fare paid. No vacation. Enter at any time. Cheap board. Send for free illustrated catalogue. Mention this paper.

Draughon's Practical Business Colleges, Nashville, Tenn., AND Texarkana, Tex.

Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, etc. The most thorough, practical and progressive schools of the kind in the world, and the best patronized ones in the South. Indorsed by bankers, merchants, ministers, and others. Four weeks in bookkeeping with us are equal to twelve weeks by the old plan. Their President is author of "Draughon's New System of Bookkeeping," which cannot be taught in any other school.

$600.00 given to any college if we cannot show more written applications for bookkeepers and stenographers, received in the past twelve months, than any other five Business Colleges in the South, all "combined," can show to have received in the past five years. We expend more money in the interest of our Employment Department than any other Bus. College in Tenn. takes in as tuition. $500.00—Amount we have deposited in bank as a guarantee that we have in the past fulfilled, and will in the future fulfill, our guarantee contracts. HOME STUDY.—We have prepared, especially for home study, books on Bookkeeping, Shorthand and Penmanship. Write for price list.

PROF. DRAUGHON—I now have a position as bookkeeper and stenographer for the Southern Grocery Company, of this place; salary, $75.00 per month. I owe it all to your books on bookkeeping and shorthand prepared for home study.—Ivl Armstrong, Pine Bluff, Ark.

CENTENARY FEMALE COLLEGE,
Cleveland, Tenn.

Thorough work in Literature, Science, and Business. Superior advantages in Music, Art, and Elocution.

Suburbs of city of 5000. Pure mountain air and water. Fine climate. Daily exercise.

Terms very reasonable. Send for free catalogue. Address D. SULLINS, Pres't.

VIRGINIA COLLEGE.
FOR YOUNG LADIES. ROANOKE, VIRGINIA.

Opens Sept. 10th, 1896. One of the leading Schools for Young Ladies in the South. Magnificent Buildings, with all modern improvements. Steam heat, electric light. Bath and toilet rooms on every floor. Campus of ten acres. Grand mountain scenery in Valley of Virginia, far famed for health. Twenty-five American and European teachers. Thorough courses leading to Degrees of B. A., and M. A. Unsurpassed advantages in Music, Art and all branches. Students from twenty States. For catalogue address

MATTIE P. HARRIS, President, Roanoke, Virginia.

Bowling Green Business College

THE GREAT BUSINESS TRAINING SCHOOL OF THE SOUTH.

A School of Business Shorthand Penmanship Telegraphy & Typewriting

HUNDREDS OF GRADUATES HOLDING FINE POSITIONS. RECOMMENDED BY THE LEADING BUSINESS MEN OF THE COUNTRY. MENTION COURSE WANTED.

ADDRESS Cherry Bros. Bowling Green, Ky.

CATALOGUE and JOURNAL FREE.

BELMONT COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENN. "The Ideal College Home of the South."

City and suburban life combined. Electric cars to door. Magnificent Park of 15 acres. Extraordinary healthfulness. Eight Schools taught by skilled specialists. Music, Art and Elocution unsurpassed. Terms reasonable. Handsome illustrated book, describing "Beautiful Belmont," and other College literature, sent free on application. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D. L. L. D., Mgr. et al. Miss Hood and Miss Heron, Principals.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

The American National Bank, of this city, suspended payment on Aug. 6.

John I. Adams & Co., one of the oldest firms in this city, failed last week.

The United States Fish Commission will liberate about 400,000 young trout and salmon in Maine waters this Fall.

Three Italians were lynched at Habnville. St. Charles par sh. La., on Aug 8 One was accused of murder and the other two of murderous robbery.

On Aug. 8 the long expected bounty checks began to arrive in the city, and it is estimated that during the day vouchers aggregating in amount of $1 500 000 were received.

The observance of the Sunday law was very strict in this city on Aug. 9. Only the lake resorts sold liquor pending the Police Board's action on the district attorney's ruling.

The "National Democratic Party" will meet in convention in Indianapolis on Sept 2 Its organizers call those supporting the nominees and platform adopted at Chicago the Populist-Democratic party.

The assistant attorney general of Montana is a woman, and her name is Ella Knowles Haskell. She is an exceptionally successful lawyer, has a record of having received the largest fee ever given to a woman, and an enthusiastic populist.

The "St. Louis" made the run from Southampton to New York in 6 days 2 hours and 24 minutes This is about three hours better time than was made by the "St. Paul" in June, and fully seven hours better than the best previous run made by the "St. Louis" herself.

Waves of heat are reported in many States. From New England to Texas many deaths are reported as a result of the extreme hot weather. New York and Brooklyn suffer most severely, while Chicago, St. Louis and other cities report numerous prostrations and deaths from the effects of the burning sun.

FOREIGN.

The bill for the total prohibition of the sale of liquor to the natives has been carried by the Transvaal Second Volksraad.

Trouble of a serious nature is being fomented in Spain, particularly in the province of Valencia, by agents of the Cuban insurgents.

A decisive victory was won by the British troops, last week, in which 5,000 Matabele warriors were defeated by 700 men of the British army.

All arrangements for taking the next general census of the Russian Empire are completed. It only remains for the Emperor to fix the exact date.

Notwithstanding the efforts made by the Turkish government to stamp out the revolution in Crete, very little progress has been made towards pacifying that island.

Prince Bismarck has been declared a doctor of medicine (honoris causa) by the University of Jena. The ex chancellor now possesses a doctor's degree from every university in the German Empire.

A scheme is on foot to ship Mexican fruits and flowers to northern markets. It is claimed by one of the promoters of the enterprise that cut flowers can be shipped to New York in Winter time in refrigerator cars and delivered in good condition.

You and Your Grandfather

Are removed from each other by a span of many years. He traveled in a slow going stage-coach while you take the lightning express or the electric car. When he was sick he was treated by old-fashioned methods and given old-fashioned medicines; but you demand modern ideas in medicine as well as in everything else. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine of to-day. It is prepared by modern methods, and to its preparation are brought the skill and knowledge of modern science. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts promptly upon the blood and by making pure, rich blood it cures disease and establishes good health.

Cheap Excursion to Cincinnati, Ohio, and Return.

AUGUST 22, 1896.

Rate, $12 for the round trip. From New Orleans and certain N. O. and N. E. points. Via Queen and Crescent Route. Tickets good going on train No. 2, Aug. 22, only; good returning on all regular trains within ten-days' limit.

For further information call on or address Q. and C. agents.

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A., 210 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.
I. HARDY, G. P. A., New Orleans, La.

Emory College,

Located at Oxford, Ga., is one of the oldest and best institutions of its kind in the South. Under the able presidency of Dr. Warren A. Candler, its endowment and facilities have been largely increased, and its patronage has steadily grown. A large and well-selected library is one of its many attractions. Few other schools have turned out as many graduates who have achieved eminence. Oxford is emphatically a college town, is proverbially healthy, and has decidedly a literary and religious atmosphere. Board at Emory is remarkably cheap.

LaGrange Female College (Ga.)

Is an institution of recognized merit and wide fame. In addition to superior instruction in the regular branches, it offers splendid advantages in music, art, voice culture, and elocution. The industrial arts of book-keeping, dress-making, typewriting, and steuography, are also thoroughly taught. Beautiful grounds and elegant buildings, equipped with the latest improvements, serve their part in making this a charming school.

Wesleyan Female College,

Of Macon, Ga., on account of its age, has been called the "mother of female colleges." It has a brilliant and honorable record behind it, and is still advancing. Its buildings and equipment with campus are said to be worth $225,000. Science is here both by experiment and lecture. The laboratory has sufficient apparatus to enable forty girls to work at the same time The advantages in art, music, etc., are unsurpassed.

Belhaven College,

Located at Jackson, Miss., and founded by that eminent educator, Prof. L. T. Fitzhugh, is a school of high grade and many attractions. It has elegant modern buildings, a beautiful campus of twelve acres, and progressive, well-equipped teachers. The best of advantages in music, art and elocution are offered. Physical training is also attended to.

The Academy

Is the name of a select school for young ladies, located at Clarksville, Tenn. First-class instructors, first-class fare, elegantly furnished rooms, conservatory courses in music, art, and elocution, and splendid social advantages help to make this a most excellent school. Ministers' daughters are given free tuition.

Cooper-Huddleston College

Is a co-educational school of high grade, located at Daleville, Miss. It has experienced instructors, good buildings, and wholesome surroundings. Board and tuition are remarkable cheap. It enters this Fall upon its thirty-first annual session.

Jones' College for Young Ladies

Offers superior advantages in every department, and has one of the most delightful locations of any school in the South. Its president, Prof. A. B. Jones, has had remarkable success as an educator. This school at Gadsden, Ala., is the successor to Huntsville Female College.

Wyatt's Business Colleges,

JACKSON AND MERIDIAN, MISS.

These Institutions can not be surpassed for either Bookkeeping or Shorthand. Scholarship, $30. Board from $10 to $12.50 per month. Beautiful Catalogue free.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

For Over Fifty Years

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Camp Meeting Calendar.

Camp Meeting.	Begins.
Bethel	Aug. 13
Bluff Creek	Aug. 14
Henington	Aug. 20
Sam Jones	Aug. 21
Rapides	Aug. 22
French Settlement	Aug. 28
Lake	Aug. 29
St. Tammany	Sept. 17
Palmer Creek	Oct. 4

Camp Meetings.

The Bethel Camp Meeting, ten miles west of Centreville, Miss., will be held Aug 18-23. Rev. W M. McIntosh and other prominent ministers are to be present.

Hacks will meet trains at Centreville, not at Whitaker. Hotel accommodations at low rates For an ideal country camp meeting attend this one.

Ministers of the gospel cordially invited, and will be conveyed from and to Centreville, and taken care of free of charge.

B. S. RAYNER, P. C.

MARRIAGES.

RHODES—COOK.—At the residence of the bride's parents, near Covington, La., Aug. 5, 1896, by Rev. Jno. B. Kent, Mr. Barber H. Rhodes, of Meridian, Miss., to Miss Arachie Cook, of Covington, La.

THAMES—BURDINE.—At the West End Methodist Church, Meridian, Miss., July 30, 1896, by Rev. Isaac L. Peebles, Mr. B. F. Thames to Miss Nonie Burdine, both of Meridian.

LANDRUM—McKEE.—In Natchez, Miss., Aug. 5, 1896, by Rev. W. B. Lewis, Mr. W. E. Landrum, of Arkansas, to Miss M. E. McKee, of Natchez, Miss.

ADAMS—AUST.—In Natchez, Miss., Aug 8, 1896, by Rev. W. B Lewis, Mr. Thos. E. Adams to Miss Fannie E. Aust, both of Vidalia, La.

Two women have been appointed on the Baltimore Charity Board.

ONLY CURE FOR PIMPLES IS Cuticura SOAP

It is so because it strikes at the cause of the Clogged, Irritated, Inflamed, Sluggish, or Overworked PORE.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Sole Proprietors, Boston.

"How to Prevent Pimples," 64 pages, Illus., free.

MARY BALDWIN SEMINARY FOR YOUNG LADIES, STAUNTON, VIRGINIA.

Term begins Sept. 2d, 1896. Located in Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Unsurpassed climate, grounds and appointments. Boards, etc. with Art, Literature, Sciences, Languages, Elocution, Art, Book-keeping, and Physical Culture, extra. Pupils enter any time. Write for Catalog. M. J. BALDWIN, Pres.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.

Letters, Science, Engineering, Law, Medicine.

Session begins 15th September.

Mild climate. Excellent gymnasium. For catalogues address

WM. M. THORNTON, LL.D., Chairman.

HOLLINS INSTITUTE

BOTETOURT SPRINGS, VIRGINIA.

For 175 Young Lady Boarders. The largest and most extensively equipped in Virginia. Eclectic courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Literature, Sciences, Music, Art and Elocution. 30 officers and teachers. Situated in Valley of Va., near Roanoke. Mountain Scenery. 1200 feet above sea level. Mineral waters. 54th session opens Sept. 9th, 1896. For illus. Catalogue address

CHAS. L. COCKE, Supt., Hollins, Va.

East Mississippi Female College,

J. W. BEESON, A. M., President,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

Leased by the President for Fifteen Years.

Renovated, improvements added, Director of Music of marked ability engaged, specially trained and progressive teachers employed, with a high curriculum, and the knowledge of permanency, healthy location, religious atmosphere, a prohibition city, this becomes one of the best institutions in the South.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, ART AND ELOCUTION.

RATES LOW.

One Scholarship of Free Tuition

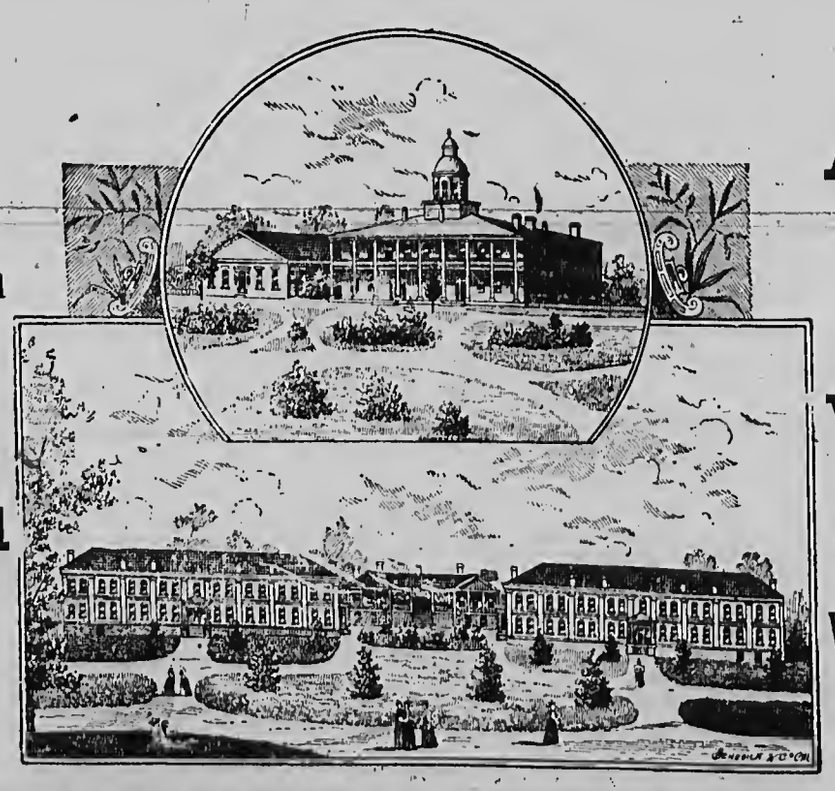
given to some worthy new pupil in every presiding elder's district in Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama, to be appointed by the presiding elder.

For further information and handsome new Catalogue, address

J. W. Beeson, President.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE.

"I want a Christian Education for my daughter. Where shall I send her?"



Anxious fathers and mothers will make no mistake if they send to Whitworth College, BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

BECAUSE it is an old institution with an honorable history and a glorious future.
BECAUSE it has a healthful location, pure water and delightful accommodations.
BECAUSE it has a faculty abreast of the times, sound in head and heart.
BECAUSE it has a Christian atmosphere. The Epworth League, the prayer meetings and the revival fires are what my child needs.
BECAUSE nowhere else do you find better advantages in Art, Elocution, Voice, Piano and Violin.
LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, the price is within the reach of all.

BOARD, WASHING AND TUITION FOR TEN MONTHS TO

14	Young Ladies (who do not object to work)	$ 40.00
40	Young Ladies (under certain conditions)	100.00
50	Young Ladies (Johnson Hall)	125.00
90	Young Ladies (Margaret Hall)	150.00

Write at once for Catalogue and other information to the President,

Rev. John W. Chambers, Brookhaven, Miss.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 43.—NO. 34. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1896. WHOLE NO. 2087

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., EDITOR AND PUBLISHER. } PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA CONFERENCE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH. { ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

"THE RIGHTEOUS HATH HOPE IN HIS DEATH."

BY J. G. WHITTIER.

Grateful for all blessings sent,
I go the common way, content
To make no new experiment.
On easy terms with law and fate,
For what must be I calmly wait,
And trust the path I can not see—
That God is good sufficeth me.
And when at last upon life's play
The curtain falls, I only pray
That hope may lose itself in truth,
And age in heaven's immortal youth,
And all our loves and longings prove
The foretaste of diviner love.
—Exchange.

Communications.

Duty of the Church to Its Young People.

BY STEWART BROOKS, ESQ., OF MOBILE, ALA.

I.

I am asked to address you on the "Duty of the Church to Its Young People." Those in the period of life called youth—youth with its dangerous lack of experience, with all its exuberance and restlessness, with all its superabundant energies and the absolute necessity for their exercise; youth, the period of life when nature's condition is one of unusual receptivity; that momentous period when surrounding influences do a work on the heart which goes very far towards making or marring a human life, and saving or sacrificing a human soul.

Now, if we are to consider the duty of the church to its youth, we must know the condition of the youth in the church. Therefore, let us examine this condition for a few moments.

II.

The spiritual death-rate among the youth of the church is appallingly great, and we can but be heart sick as we see them go down in crowds to destruction. But, strange to say, the church feels itself more afflicted by the spiritual death of an old person than by that of a young one. This should not be. In the physical life it is not the case. There we give up old age with greater resignation than we do youth, for we feel that the measure of usefulness of the aged has been largely accomplished. But we bewail the loss of the youth because of the promise of long usefulness cut suddenly short. Often do we hear it said in referring to the death of a youth: "How sad it is that this life should be cut short just on the threshold of its greatest usefulness!" So it should be with spiritual life and death in the church. The youth deserve our especial care, not because their souls are more valuable, but because in them lie especial potentialities for future usefulness.

The spiritual death of the young of the church may be divided into two classes: (1) The death of the spiritually unborn, and (2) the death of the spiritually new-born. I use the figure of birth because it is Christ's own figure, and because it avoids the ambiguity involved in the use of that variously used word, "conversion."

For the purposes of this discussion, the duties of the church in reference to the two classes may be considered as not essentially dissimilar, except in this important particular:

The church should be constantly and persistently at work among the spiritually unborn for the purpose of getting them to strive for the new birth. And to this end the settled policy of the church should be to show on every appropriate occasion that it recognizes a wide and essential distinction between the unborn and the new-born. Does your church do this, my brother, my sister? Do you preachers know which of the young of your flocks have professed the new birth and which have not? Can we League and Sunday-school officers and teachers answer this question with reference to our members and pupils? Have you preachers, in addition to your general invitations to testify, ever held a meeting for which you had carefully planned and pre-arranged matters, so that the young would not only hear the invitation to testify, but would feel free to accept it and tell the sweet story of their regeneration? Have we teachers ever gone systematically to work in our classes to get our new-born pupils to testify of the new life into which they have been born? Is it possible that we are letting the ardor of our young converts grow cold for want of encouragement from us? And is it possible that we are making no direct personal effort to secure the new birth of the young in our churches? I'm afraid these questions come home to us with uncomfortable pertinence.

III.

As to the loss of the young from the church, my observation convinces me that the following single sentence states one great cause of the trouble: The great loss of the young by the church is largely due to the failure of the church to train its young in church doctrine and polity, and in church loyalty. The sentence may be shortened by omitting the reference to loyalty, for loyalty would necessarily result from proper training in doctrine and polity. Then the statement would be: The great loss of the young by the church is largely due to the failure of the church to train its young in church doctrine and polity. And under the word "polity" we may also include the practical every-day administration of affairs in each particular congregation. This phase will be enlarged upon further on.

IV.

And the parents themselves need training in order that they may aid the church in training the young. The pulpit would do well to keep this thought in mind in selecting subjects for sermons. Comparatively speaking, we need fewer sermons on atheism, and more on parental responsibility; fewer on the existence of God, and more on the existence of a duty on the part of parents to train their children to church loyalty; fewer on the origin of evil, and more on the origin of a tendency on the part of our youth to drift away from the church.

In my experience as a Sunday-school teacher, I have been struck with the fact that many parents seem to train their very young children in the simpler fundamental principles of Christianity, and then, as these children approach the period called youth, they are handed over to the Sunday-school, and the parents wash their hands of further responsibility in the premises. Not only is this the case with reference to lesson-study proper, but it applies also to general Bible training. And even still worse, I have often seen cases where pupils at this critical period received practically no care or training from their parents on the more subtle and dangerous temptations that surrounded them. Their parents simply have left the whole matter of their salvation to the Sunday-school teacher at the very time when the home and the school should be in active co-operation. Just think what magnificent development we would see in the Sunday-school if the parents did their full duty, and the officers and teachers then took up the good work where the parents left off. Brethren of the ministry, preach more sermons to the parents.

V.

Our church took a magnificent forward step in founding the Epworth League—a step that is fraught with immeasurable benefit to our youth and, therefore, to our church. And this, together with the increased aggressiveness lately manifested by our Sunday-school department, can but convince the thinking mind that our church has determined that her youth shall be saved, cost what it may. And may the time soon come when the comparatively primitive provisions of the Discipline in relation to Sunday-schools will give place to a broader and more comprehensive system, uniting the Sunday-school more closely to the church, and putting it in a better position to enjoy its share of the remarkable and rapid development that is now taking place throughout the general Sunday-school world!

VI.

And there is another danger just here. The pastorate generally does not seem to have awakened to the rapid and radical changes and development that have been going on in the Sunday-school in recent years. Change in conditions requires change in methods. The Sunday-school and the Epworth League are the laity at work. The constantly increasing knowledge and power of the laity in the church bring with them the dangerous tendency on the part of the laity to follow out its functions without waiting for the aid of the pastorate. One way to guard against this danger is for the pastorate to study and understand the work of the laity, so that it may be equipped to render efficient help when the time comes. In these latter days, if the laity of a church find the pastor lacking in information in regard to their work, and, therefore, lacking in ability to co-operate with them in it, they must perforce move on without him. This means a lessening of the bonds of sympathy between pastor and people, and this in turn means a lessening of the influence of the pastor; and this condition of things is exceedingly unfortunate for both pastor and people, between whom there should not only exist the loving sympathy of shepherd and flock, but also that mutual mental or intellectual respect that results from mutual appreciation of mental ability and broad-minded intellectual attainments.

And may the time soon come when, as a part of their collegiate training, our young preachers will receive instruction in the principles and practice of Sunday-school and League work to the end that the pastorate may become more, far more efficient than it now is in discharging its functions in relation to the Sunday-school and the League.

VII.

There is another point at which it seems to me the church can help its youth. We need for official and obligatory use in the League and the Sunday-school a simple and compact treatise, not unlike a catechism, prepared by authority of the church, on the distinctive doctrines and polity of our church, and containing especially a temperate and fair-minded comparison of our church with others, bringing out our points of superiority.

In this connection I wish to deprecate that mistaken idea of broad-mindedness which prompts some good people to go about saying that one church is as good as another. Such is not the fact. It is a fact, however, that the people who really think that one church is as good as another generally think that none of them are good for much, judging by their failure to make themselves useful in any church. For each of us there is some one church that is superior to all others. Which is it will doubtless depend to some extent upon our natural peculiarities; but it will depend much more largely upon our early training and surroundings.

The treatise suggested might appropriately be graded in form so that each succeeding part would be suitable for a succeeding department of the Sunday-school. Can they be any doubt that the faithful use of such a work would make of our youth more loyal church members and better Christians?

(To be continued.)

In the Living Present.

Many habitually and frequently visit the cemeteries. Purchase costly bouquets and deposit them there. But, noticing that most of such visitors were least affectionate to the departed while living, we concluded that said custom is the result of remorse. Give flowers of kindness to the living! Scatter sunbeams among your associates.

It is a humiliating fact that the Christianized nations of Europe enjoy only an armed peace. Millions of men under arms, powerful fleets, ready for action. Mutual fear of each other keeps the marplot, Turkey, intact. In the meantime the weapons for destruction are constantly improved in destructiveness. The leaven of true Christianity has only superficially permeated society. We emphasize "true." Of the spurious kind we have a superabundance.

Old Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt said once to a young man who asked his advice about success in life: "Well, be careful; weigh the matter well, even for days, before you make a promise. But, having once made it, keep it at all hazards." Vacillation and unfaithfulness will ruin any man, as well as any nation.

We like Pope's famous saying: "Man never is, but always to be blessed." Nothing here below fully satisfies. "Ichabod" adheres to all things terrestrial. "If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable." If robbed of hope, we would be bankrupt indeed. Hope, like a fairy, enchants with her smiles throughout life. Fruition comes at last.

To edit a denominationally religious paper not an easy task. Not only spirituality, but also good, sound sense necessary. Some papers may be threadbare and even nauseating, but specially odious to us is the growing supercilliousness. Religiousness and flippancy do not harmonize. The chronic reformer is out of place. Intellectual pyrotechnics will not bring souls to Christ, nor will religious cant. Our superiors and co laborers may not be better than ourselves, but to ridicule their foibles is insufferable.

Dr. Theo. L. Cuyler, the voluminous newspaper correspondent, declares himself ready to enter the political arena. He writes: "Much has been said about Christian citizenship. Well, now is the time to prove it." He believes that the present money-standard agitation is fraught with greater danger than that which convulsed the nation in 1861. The Hungarian Congress has made it a penal offense for preachers to set forth politics in the pulpit.

Adversity leads to Christ. The sons of missionaries, many years ago, sent to the Sandwich Islands for purposes of evangelization of the heathen inhabitants, by successful revolution dethroned Queen Lilliokalani. Thitherto she cared little for Christianity. Now she publicly professed it, having been baptized recently by Bishop Willis. Many now in paradise owe their salvation to misfortune.

ICH DIEN.

Rev. J. P. Moore.

Sincere sorrow filled my heart as I read in to-day's paper that my dear friend, Bro. J. P. Moore, had passed away. He was one of the best men I ever knew. Thoroughly consecrated to God, guileless in his nature, and sunny in his disposition, he easily won his way to the hearts of the people.

I knew him intimately since he came among us four years ago, and I can truthfully say a better, truer man I never know. He had a wonderful tact in getting hold of children and young people. Traveling a poor circuit and among a people who failed to appreciate his worth, he would carry his blackboard and hold services for the children, and visit the homes of the people and do a work for his Lord that will never die.

This paper is in no sense a memoir of our brother, but a testimonial of his worth and my appreciation of his many excellent qualities. His wife died only a few weeks ago, and now he follows on. They leave a sweet little girl in a cold world. God grant that she may find a father and mother in some good Christian home!

T. W. LEWIS.

Correspondence.

Notes by the Way.

WALNUT GROVE.

Twenty miles north of Forest, in the good county of Leake, is the village of Walnut Grove. A long, rough ride; a narrow buggy; a slow, balky team; a genuine August day; an accident which resulted in a broken shaft, mended with a withe; a travel of seven hours—give the details of my trip.

The object of my coming was by invitation of the school-men of the vicinity to talk on education—a subject which all parents are supposed to be interested in, and which expands more and more as I give it thought. Here I found a large, eligible school-building, a school population of more than one hundred children, and a community of thrifty farmers. The town of Walnut Grove supports four stores, two doctors of medicine, one paper, one lawyer, two churches, the Methodist parsonage, and all the population contained within an incorporation of two miles square. Of course, a city of such dimensions must have a mayor, and our brother, G. S. Ellis, editor of the Dawn of Light (a bright news sheet) and superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school, occupies this responsible position, though he says the good order among the people of his jurisdiction is such as to render the office virtually in the name.

The trustees have chosen wisely in the selection of our brother, L. M. Cox, to the presidency of their school. With a surrender of personal differences which have operated seriously against the school in the past, and with such a man at the helm, success is assured. How strange that a community of intelligent, appreciative people will allow personal preferences and sectarian prejudices to work to the injury of the education of their children; but so it has been, and is to this day. May the future see a change!

In consequence of the failure of promised help, we consented to remain with Pastor Howse over Sunday. By the way, he treated us kindly, gave us free course to advocate Millsaps College, and preached for us three times a day. Our collection for "Science Hall" was not encouraging; however, better than "zero minus."

Right here I would notify the good people that the coming of the agent always means a collection—forewarned, forearmed. The prevailing drouth does not seem to have reached this people, and the crop prospect is excellent.

The Methodist Church at this point is a neat, roomy house, evidently built with faith in the future growth of the population. The paint-brush would add to the internal appearance, and more comfortable modern seats would add to the ease of the listener. Bro. Howse is moving in this direction, and also of a more becoming, comfortable parsonage. When land is abundant and cheap, why will our people cramp the pastor in his surroundings? The cheapness of lumber should forbid the erection of such houses as some of our pastors occupy. The P. and H. M. Society have resolved wisely not to aid in the erection of any such homes for our preachers.

On Monday evening we took our departure, having an appreciative audience, and prospect for the coming of others to the aid of the pastor. We found delightful quarters in the home of Bro. Irvin Miller during our stay. He is the most active local preacher of my acquaintance; doing whatsoever his hand finds to do on the farm, preaching on Sundays, and ready help in protracted meetings. A meeting appointed for him some weeks ago called him from his home during our stay. An army of such local preachers would easily fill up the waste places and give us more missionary money for our needy work on the coast.

A few minutes' visit to our aged Bro. George Bancroft and wife, in the home of their granddaughter, Mrs. Gardener, at Forest, was pleasant. We found the two in good spirits and excellent health; only the hand of time rests heavily upon them. My soul cries out for larger collections for these veterans of the cross, and better support in their declining years. They are patiently awaiting the summons, "Come up higher."

A widow who supports herself and boy of eight years by her needle handed me $2, saying, "This is to help get 'Science Hall' ready for my son." A thoughtful parent.

A father of moderate means, who has a son at Millsaps, handed me $50, saying, "This is to get ready for my boy's better training." A wise father.

A wealthy merchant said: "I expect to send my two boys later on; then I'll contribute to 'Science Hall.'" What?

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Aug. 11, 1896.

On invitation from Board of Trustees of M. C. N., Rev. T. B. Holloman, of Jackson, Miss., delivered a lecture on education yesterday evening in the church.

He took a new role on this so-called threadbare issue, discussing the great fundamental principles, and leaving bookwormism and storehouses of disconcerted, incongruous facts behind.

The conception of his theme was noble and lofty: a strong plea for the high mental culture of our boys and girls as essential to any avocation in life, whether steering the grand old ship of state or guiding the plow.

He is agent for Millsaps College and also a minister of the gospel, and will assist in the protracted meeting at M. E. Church, preaching his first sermon last night.—Dawn of Light.

Millsaps College.

It will be gratifying to the friends of Millsaps College to know that work on our new "Science Hall" is progressing most satisfactorily. The walls are now up to the base of the second story. With pressed brick on all four sides and appropriate stone ornamentation, it will be a beautiful structure. The design makes its adaptation to intended uses admirable and complete.

Our new agent, the Rev. T. B. Holloman, is displaying remarkable aptitude for his great work. He is vigorously pressing the importance of our equipment fund. It is to be hoped that all our friends appreciate the situation, and will see that this fund is adequate to thoroughly furnish the new building as soon as it is completed. In this connection let me acknowledge the generous contribution of $100 in cash from our good friend, Capt. J. T. Lay, of Winona, Miss.

The prospects for a large attendance of students next session are very encouraging.

W. B. MURRAH.

Centenary College.

The next session opens Wednesday, Sept. 2. It is desirable that students begin work at the opening. The schedule of the Jackson railroad is arranged to meet all passenger trains of the Mississippi Valley road at McManus. There is no need for anyone to stop at Ethel.

C. W. CARTER, Pres.

SIGHTLESS AND SEEKING.

BY A. C. ELKESSER.

A dark, so dark, and no ray of hope
Comes to me as onward I grope
My weary way
Across the desert's sands.

Like him whose eyes of sight deprived,
With lengthy staff, his way contrived
At length to find
The presence of the Savior.

How many long and weary years
Had he pursued, ofttimes with tears,
His lonely way;
No hope or help was his.

Until at last he hears of One
Who had many wonders done
For suffering men
Of high and low degree.

His aid he seeks with humble heart,
If he perchance would sight impart
To sightless eyes
That longed to see the light.

He finds Him, and His help receives;
With open eyes he now perceives
All things,
And sings His praise with joyful heart.

And thus would I His presence seek,
If unto me perchance He'd speak
The healing word,
And light for me the gloomy way.

Then I also would happy be,
And sing of gracious help to me,
Who had no help
To guide me through life's dreary way.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 29, 1896.

Communications.

The Spiritual State of the Church as Dependent upon, and Evidenced by, Attendance upon the Ordinances and Social Meetings of the Church.

(Read before the Enterprise District Conference, and published by request of the Conference.)

We have reached the period of history when, by many of its members, the church is viewed very much as a social club, whose sole cause for existence is to minister unto their pleasure. Attendance becomes a matter of convenience. Great interest is manifested in the temporalities, number and quality of membership, social influence, and position in any given community. Large sums of money are often expended in houses of worship and furnishings. Great zeal is manifested in securing talented pastors, trained singers, and heavenly music. Rivalry with sister denominations is often taken as zeal for Christ. Financial ability in a member often covers a multitude of sins. The club view is of earth, earthy.

Brethren, the church is of God, and stands pledged to maintain the honor and glory of God, and execute his will in the redemption and salvation of mankind. It is a very vital part of the plan of redemption. It may be truly said that without the church God would be compelled to institute some agency, apart from that of humanity, to convey a knowledge of himself in order to man's redemption. The church does not consist in architecture or priestly appointments. Once these were instituted by God, and were perfection: but, being prostituted to the club idea, were in due time destroyed. The efficiency of the church as a factor in the plan of redemption depends not upon its wealth, numbers, or priestly appointments, though all these should exist in profusion. Paul, in his letter to the Ephesians (v, 25-27), says: "Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the Word; that he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blemish."

To measure up to this standard, spirituality is essential. By spirituality I mean conformity to the divine pleasure, that presents our bodies a living sacrifice; that realizes that our bodies are the temple of the Holy Ghost; that yearns to be filled with all the fullness of Christ, not for selfish enjoyment merely, but for ability to do God's will on earth, as angels do it in heaven. To be spiritually minded is to have the Holy Spirit dwelling in our life, in perfect possession of all that we have and are, directing, controlling our time, talents, and possessions as may suit his pleasure.

While the eyes of God run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect towards him, yet he has said where two or three are gathered together in his name, there he would be in their midst. Much may be acquired by private communion with God, but the spiritually-minded soul, having tasted of the heavenly manna, hungers and thirsts after God, and feels the need of all the help resulting from association with godly men and women in holy convocation.

Then the ordinances and social meetings of the church become the media of imparting to others. When the church celebrates the Lord's Supper, what act of the Christian disciple can more vividly impress the unsaved than to behold the privileged ones crowd to their places at the sacred feast? Those who truly love the Lord Jesus, and that lean upon his bosom in touch so close as to hear the whispers of his voice, are never found at that hour at the store overhauling the ledger, or at home trying to masticate the voluminous contents of the Sunday newspaper. Nor yet even while at the service, but so absorbed in counting the Easter bonnets, analyzing the exact contour of the balloon sleeves of "my lady's gown," or, perhaps, so absorbed in preserving vocal strength for the next hymn, the occasion like a passing sunset, but gives impression of a beautiful picture, that dissolves into the mists of eternity.

One reason why so many adult members are found utterly unable to tell why they are Methodists, and what is the ground of their hope of salvation, arises from the fact that their parents thought that an hour in Sunday-school so taxed the nerves and memory that compulsory attendance upon the preached Word might cause an indictment from the society to prevent cruelty to children. This plea gives the minister congregations of old folks with minds so preoccupied that the seed sown falls upon rocky soil. The fact of membership in a church indicates that solemn obligations have been incurred—vows of fidelity to God, antagonism to sin, aggressiveness against the devil's kingdom, willingness to support the institutions of the church, and to attend all the means of grace. "Better not to vow than vow and not pay." Attendance upon the ordinances and social meetings of the church to many is as a sore punishment, and is considered as a waste of valuable time. No wonder that all such members have leanness of soul, are better posted about politics, stock markets, fashions and amusements, than those things that make for the soul's peace.

Methodism's claim to a place of recognition as a church is not apostolic succession, either from John the Baptist or the twelve apostles. We have not invested in the election theory of salvation. We lay more stress upon the baptism of the Holy Ghost than that of water. Just now we may boast somewhat of the fact that Methodism builds a church-building every day, but possibly the Free Masons might do as well were they to try. No. Our claim is in none of these, but in that of spirituality, in heart and life. Methodism began in what was nicknamed "The Holy Club." Holiness, undiluted, is the watch-cry. Once we enjoyed a mighty momentum. Band meetings for three or four, class meetings and love feasts for all. Exhorters lived and died, most successful workers, without thought of being called to preach. Local preachers were never without appointments in the highways and hedges. You could tell a Methodist by the cut of a coat or bonnet. Ridicule, sarcasm and persecution fell to their lot of daily life; but, strong in spiritual power, the impress of her existence permeated the older denominations greatly to the common good. Methodism so advanced to the lead in gathering souls into the kingdom (suffering all the while a fearful leakage, redounding to the benefit of sister denominations) that ere this she would have conquered the world had we remained true to our simplicity, piety and faithfulness. But our preachers sighed for the honors of men, the good sisters became tired of their plain bonnets, so from one degree to another we have departed from our simplicity, and to-day when Methodists are called by the minister to prayer, it is distressing to witness the ossified knees and backbones that can not bend under a pressure short of a cyclone.

Our church is abreast of any in all the social accompaniments of worship, church architecture, scholastic attainments, and fashionable amusements. Somehow over and anon we ask ourselves: "Was it for this we had our birth? Can not others do all these things as well, if not better?"

Thank God "Ichabod" has not yet been inscribed upon our walls. The Holy Spirit has been grieved, but not quenched. Methodists everywhere are getting better acquainted with John Wesley, Fletcher, Carvossa, Bramwell, Watson, Asbury, McKendree and other pioneers of our church. Wesley's Christian Perfection is having a reading. Our church papers are full of articles about sanctification and holiness, for and against some special method of obtainment. All seem to want the genuine article; some now, others before they die. Our fraternal delegate to the General Conference of the M. E. Church, Rev. J. C. Morris, made entire sanctification the topic of his address. Some of our Bishops are writing and preaching special upon this theme. A return to the old paths seems to be the yearning cry of our aged ministers and members. The young people in the Epworth Leagues are praying for the anointing power. Methodism, or rather the spirit of Methodism, will not be content until every member of the Methodist Church is all aglow with the glory of God. When this comes to pass, such a misnomer as a Methodist family without an altar of prayer will be known no more in the land. When a man is called to preside over a district or the whole church, it will cause him to weep between the porch and the altar on account of the fearful responsibility imposed. The care of souls will press heavy upon every pastor's heart. No time or disposition then to indulge in the softness of tobacco fumes or big tales at the street corners. A pastoral visit will not be a fashionable call. At every service souls will be born again. Men and women will beg for the privilege of going to heathen lands to tell of Jesus, and will bear their own expenses.

O brethren, let us so live and pray that this great glory may come to our beloved Methodism ere we die.

R. B. DOWNER.

The Epworth League a Failure Outside of Towns and Cities.

BY AN OLD ITINERANT.

Nothing has seemed to meet the requirement in training the young for church work more effectually than the Epworth League. I mean in those places where its system can be applied, and its methods are practical. The end designed was to meet a felt need everywhere that church work was in demand. When the Constitution and By-laws were published I, with a zest, set about organizing—"being commended of the brethren." In my first attempt I failed outright, clearly on the condition of membership being fixed at the age of fifteen years. I then had charge of five or six congregations, and saw at once the failure would be more decided in all the others than where I made the attempt. I wrote a squib of a paragraph or two in denunciation of fixing a definite age for membership in the organization. The article was published. I thought it quite as consistent to fix a definite age as a condition of church membership. Subsequent legislation changed the age for eligibility from fifteen to twelve years. This was an acknowledgement that fifteen years was an error, and leaves us to the plain inference that the fixture of any age as a condition is a mistake, and seems about as incongruous as to fix a definite age at which the Lord Jesus shall receive little children into his arms and bless them.

The Epworth League is a power for good in the towns and cities; but, as a rule, it is a failure in rural districts and country churches. The social life in densely populated districts affords a far better basis upon which to work than where the daily intercourse is prohibited by distance and other inconveniences incident to country life. The boy or girl would join the League if the brother or sister prohibited by the bar of age could be admitted with them. In towns this difficulty is relieved by the more easy association with friends outside of home. In church work I have sometimes found the nine- or ten year-old boy or girl a more intelligent and efficient worker than some persons fifteen or eighteen years of age.

Our present system was certainly formulated by intelligent and successful workers, where the population is large and numbers of prescribed age are easily accessible. But as we have seen it, every efficient worker with every one who can be trained of any age is needed to effect one organization. As the subject has presented itself to my mind during these years, I am decided that we need a man on the staff of council for the Epworth League work of intelligence and good practical sense, familiar with the habits of country life, knowing how to bring its different elements together in working harmony. He can but see at once every worker is needed to form one organization, not enough for Epworth League, Christian Endeavors, etc.

Correspondence.

Letter from Indian Territory.

MR. EDITOR: Please say through the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE that we need a few transfers of young, aggressive preachers to the Indian Mission Conference. This is a great country, and promises a grand future for Southern Methodism if we can meet the demands that are and will be upon us for the next few years.

Persons seeking homes would do well to come out here before the country is allotted and bought up by land companies. A change is coming, and that in the near future, and when it does come, there will be a great influx from all points of the compass.

We are doing more than all other denominations now. We have a membership of about 18,000, and five church schools. To those who want good appointments and large salaries, at present we can offer nothing, but any who want "good work," and plenty of it, can find it here. We need a number of consecrated workers, and would like some from Mississippi. J. J. LOVETT,

P. E. Canadian district, Indian Mission Conference, M. E. Church, South.
Muskogee, I. T.

OUT OF WORK.

BY ADELE A. KEVIN.

These lines were suggested by reading of a dead man found one intensely cold morning on the streets of one of America's most prosperous cities. The emaciated form told of starvation.

Out of work, poor, wan, and thin,
Bewildered by the coming storm,
Dazed by the city's glare and din,
He looked at lights that seemed so warm.
Pushed aside by the jostling crowd,
Noticed not by the rich or proud,
A shivering form where rags do flaunt,
That scarcely hide a shape so gaunt,
Is laughed at by the young wolfs rude
Who mingle with the multitude.

Each day for weeks had that men tried
Some honest work to get, and failed.
The poor who could not help him sighed,
Their inability bewailed.
They, too, had felt the bitter pang
Of hunger's gnawing, biting fang.
A few dry crumbs from their own store
They gave with tears; naught had they more.
Oh, rich employer, turn aside,
And for a moment your face hide!

Soon on the streets had snow begun
To fall in beautiful white flakes.
Electric lights, like rays of sun,
Through them a brilliant picture makes.
The happy rich are gathering home;
The starving men the streets must roam.
He sadly leans against a gate,
Sees through the panes the rich men's grate
Glow warm in mansion of brown stone;
And quivering lips part with a moan.

"What have I done, my God, 'gainst thee?
Am I more wicked than the throng
That all around are passing me?
Are they all righteous, I all wrong?
I've tried my poor heart to keep right;
I've tried to keep thee, Lord, in sight;
I've striven with my might and main,
That I at last your love might gain."
Unconscious swooned the form so slight;
None knew or pitied him that night.

None saw bright angels come and go;
They only saw at dawn of day
A form in rags, that told the woe
Of him who on the pavement lay.
The men who bent above that form
Spoke low of last night's awful storm.
"'Twas hard," they said, "in that sad plight
To face the north wind's chilling blight."
Each wondered, too, and gazed awhile,
To find on that poor face a smile.

God heard that sigh; he saw the soul
In weary tenement of clay,
And angels bade a name enroll
With those who trust and those who pray.
"Go bring him from the toil and strife
Here into everlasting life."
Did heavenly voices in the air
Cause that bright smile to linger there?
The dying do bright visions see;
Glimpses of heaven, it may be.

Oh, you who can a helping hand
Stretch forth to aid the wretched here,
What monument is half so grand
As tears shed o'er a good man's bier?
One who has fed the starving poor,
And who has helped them to endure
Their hardships through the Winter's cold;
Cheered them with sympathy and gold.
The world may not such deeds applaud,
But he who gives—lends to the Lord.

Crawford, Miss.

W. F. M. S.

Edited Weekly by North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences.

EDITORS.

N. Miss. Conf..Mrs. G. H. Lipscomb..Como, Miss
Miss. Conf....Mrs. E. D. Jones....Carlisle, Miss.
La. Conf.....Mrs. M. H. Morrison...Shreveport

The Seventeenth Annual Conference of the Louisiana W. F. M. S.

The seventeenth Annual Conference of the Louisiana W. F. M. S. was held in the college chapel at Mansfield, July 3-5, 1896; the president, Mrs. E. J. Fullilove, in the chair at every session. All the officers were present except the treasurer, Mrs. S. B. McCutchen. Notwithstanding the unusual heat of the weather, the meetings were well attended. There was a larger number of delegates and visitors than usual. By invitation of Rev. J. L. P. Sheppard, presiding elder of the Shreveport district, our Conference was held at the same time of the District Conference at Mansfield, which convened in the Methodist Church. The hours were so arranged that the business sessions did not conflict with public worship. For religious services and public worship the ladies repaired to the church, and we all worshiped together.

Our work was represented by Mrs. Fullilove before the District Conference. At the close of her report Bro. Sheppard, in words of sympathy and encouragement, expressed his endorsement, and promised his co-operation. He urged the ministers present to give us their aid in every way possible. Our hearts were stirred by his words, and we felt very grateful for such an ally. Many talented women were present, and several valuable and instructive papers were read.

Our president gave us items of interest from the "Woman's Board of Missions," the annual meeting of which she had recently attended at Washington City, D. C.

Miss Margarite Crain represented the juveniles of Shreveport, and in a sweet, attractive manner told of her work. Fortunate indeed are the children who have one so lovely to lead them.

The president and corresponding secretary each gave us a rare treat in the papers read by them on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. LaPrade preached our annual sermon, and addressed both Conferences in the discourse, which was very fine, and was listened to with deep interest by all.

But why try to tell of all the good things we heard and enjoyed in Mansfield. It was indeed a feast from beginning to end.

Mansfield entertained the joint Conferences with the lavish hospitality for which it is noted. Bro. Crews met the delegates at the station, and conducted them to the homes assigned them, and each felt that hers was the very best home. It was an occasion to be long remembered with emotions of pleasure by all. The same officers were re-elected, with a few changes in district secretaries.

Our next Annual Conference will be held in Homer, and it is earnestly requested that every society send a delegate. Work to this end, plan for it, pray about it, and do not fail to send your delegate.

E. H. FAUNT LEROY,
Vice-Pres. La. Conf. W. F. M. S.

Selections.

The Ideal Life.

The ideal life for this world is not visionary, other-worldy, ghostly or unreal. Though not constructed on an angelic pattern, the life of man on earth is divine; God made Adam not less than Gabriel; and for all our purposes in this mortal stage it is better to be a man than an angel. The ideal man is clothed in flesh and blood; he is human, of the earth earthy. If this had not been the best fashion, God would not have so made man. We should never attempt to make ourselves into anything unlike the pattern. The ideals of the church have too often gone away from humanity; they have been ghostly, unreal, out of touch with humanity. It never seems to occur to the makers of saints that they have gone away from the Pattern Man. Jesus was human, with red blood in his veins; he walked among men and discharged all the duties in his human relation. The most human man was also the most divine.

The ideal life on earth is first of all loyal to the throne of God; the law and direction come from above. At the same time the sphere of duty is on earth among our various human relations. The ideal man is a soldier of Jesus Christ, armed and equipped, ready for the word of command to go to the hardest part of the field. The saint of the desert or the monastery is of poor quality compared with the actual contestants in life's battle-field. The saints of the calendar with their hair shirts, uncut nails and unkempt hair, make a poor showing beside St. Paul and St. Peter, or Luther, Knox and Wesley, who entered the human arena and fought with the beast in man. Such will hear the glad acclaim in the last day: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me." In this moral conflict the powers of the true man are best developed; he makes the most of himself in doing the most possible for others. To do duty on earth is really the best preparation for heaven. He who has discharged every duty here can not fail to find an abundant entrance and an ample reward over yonder.—Zion's Herald.

"He Loves to Answer Prayer."

A pastor was once visiting a loving mother in her home. He found it difficult to gain her attention. She had a little infant just able to creep about the room, and instead of listening to him, he saw that her eyes were following the little one along its way, and her thoughts were occupied with it. He told her that she reminded him of a passage of Scripture, and asked her to open her Bible at the sixteenth chapter of the Second Book of Chronicles. He then read to her a part of the ninth verse: "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him." Then he added: "Your eyes run to and fro through this room, that you may help your little one the moment it requires your aid; so our Father in heaven is ever watching to succor those who walk uprightly in his fear."

Is not this a bright and happy thought? Will it not encourage you to tell God everything? You may go to your loving parent for sympathy and help. He is always watching that he may help, and comfort, and guide, and guard you. He loves to answer prayer!—Christian Observer.

A habit is formed in the same way that paths or roads are. You often see people "cutting across lots." Where they do this, a narrow strip of grass about a foot or fourteen inches wide will be trodden hard; and that is a path. It is made by being walked over, again and again. You can soon get into the habit of doing a thing if you will do it over and over many times. The more you do it, the easier it will become, just as a path grows wider and plainer the more it is traveled. It is hard to keep people from going across lots after a path is once made; and so it is hard to stop doing what we have fallen into the habit of doing. Bad habits are like the ruts made by carriage-wheels in country roads—they hold people fast. I once read of an old man who had crooked fingers. When a boy, his hand was as limber as yours. He could open it easily. But for fifty years he drove a stage, and his fingers got so in the habit of shutting down on the lines that they finally stayed shut. The old man's hand can never open.—Anon.

Men's actions are very difficult to judge. Nobody can judge them but God, and we can hardly obtain a higher or more reverent view of God than that which represents him to us as judging men with perfect knowledge, unperplexed certainty, and undisturbed compassion. Our habit of judging is so nearly incurable, and its cure is such an interminable process, that we must concentrate ourselves for a long while by keeping it in check, and this check is to be found in kind interpretations. Sight is a great blessing, but there are times and places in which it is far more blessed not to see.—F. W. Faber.

It is very unpleasant suddenly to find out that you are disliked. You thought perhaps that you were a most estimable person, quite free from blame in all respects, and you were going about in the world quite happy about yourself; and then all of a sudden you found that a number of people, of whom you never suspected it, had a real hearty dislike for you all the time. It is a great shock.

There is but one way in which our faith can be strengthened, and that by its exercise, and the only way it can be exercised is by depriving it of the things of sight and sense upon which we would naturally lean. This leaves us in a condition of uncertainty. Having no other foundation on which to build, we are forced to look elsewhere for a foundation.

WALL
Paper.
—SAMPLES FREE—
Of Our Magnificent Fall Line of
Over 500,000 Rolls
Of the Richest and Most Artistic Papers out This Season.
Prices: 3 cents to $3.00.
We pay the freight on $10 orders.
HEATH, SCHWARTZ & CO.,
Limited,
518-520 Camp St., New Orleans

Low Vacation Rates.

Effective June 1, 1896, and continuing until Sept. 30, 1896, the Queen & Crescent Route will offer low reduced rates for the round trip to all the prominent resorts in the North. Fine equipment, fast time, and close connections make this route the choice of Summer tourists. Full information with regard to rates, schedules and sleeping-car fares will be given on application to any agent of the Q. & C.

I. HARDY, G. P. A.

New Orleans, La.

FROM THE WORK.

Rev. W. G. Backus, P. C., Summit, Miss., Aug. 7: "We have just closed two protracted meetings; one at Summit and the other at Bogue Chitto. About 40 were converted or reclaimed, and a few swept into the experience of entire sanctification. The church here at Summit was greatly revived, and Bogue Chitto enjoyed refreshings from the presence of the Lord that has not been witnessed for years. Praise the Lord."

Rev. J. F. Wynn, Baker, La., Aug. 8: "We have just closed a precious meeting at Brookstown. Bro. Faunt LeRoy did some of the most earnest and effectual preaching of his life. Twelve members received, and perhaps twice that number converted or reclaimed. The whole membership were made to feel their need of an entire devotion to God's service. We will have to enlarge our Brooks own Chapel. In my report from Black Water I stated eight members received and more than that number converted."

Rev. J. A. Braswell, P. C., Aug. 12: "I send you a statement of my work. God is with us on the Water Valley circuit. We have held three meetings, with marked success. A goodly number of accessions, several new family altars, Sunday-schools strengthened, and a great revival in the way of repair and building of churches. There is prospect of the circuit being one of the best in the district. We will have a new parsonage ready for the preacher by Conference. Still have three meetings to hold yet. Pray for us."

Rev. Wilbur F. Rozell, Holly Springs, Miss., Aug. 10: "I have just returned from helping Bro. C. P. Moss in a meeting at Piegah Church, Eureka circuit. We had a good and profitable meeting, resulting in about ten conversions. Eight or more will join the Methodist Church. The weather was about as hot as any ever known; yet congregations were good, especially at the night service. I have never found in any church of same membership so many men and women, young men and young ladies, who will pray in public whenever called on. Bro. Moss is among a kind and appreciative people, and is doing good work. He has just closed a fine meeting at Eureka."

Rev. R. A. Sibley, Jr., P. C.: "I have just closed my protracted meeting at Fair Mount Church, which lasted five days. Result: received seventeen into the church—seven by profession of faith and and ten by baptism; ten or twelve conversions, two family altars erected, and the church wonderfully revived. I was assisted by my father, Rev. R. A. Sibley, Sr.; Rev. J. W. Thompson, local preacher; and Rev. M. M. Maddox, of the Protestant Fraternity. I think I have never before witnessed such an outpouring of the spirit of God in convicting and converting power. Fair Mount has been left without a pastor for several years, and the members had become scattered, a great many going to other churches. I preached my first sermon there the first Sunday in February, and reorganized. I have had a regular appointment there since, and the membership has increased to nearly fifty. We will soon have a new church-house there, which will be much more commodious than the old house, and will be a credit to the community. To God be the honor, the power and the glory. Pray for us."

Rev. D. F. Guice, Gloster, Miss.: "Allow me through the columns of your valuable paper to give the results of the year's work up to date on the Gloster charge. On the tenth of June Rev. W. M. McIntosh began a meeting here, in which he was assisted by the Rev. Hatch, of the Baptist Church. The meeting continued twelve days and resulted in great good. Bro. McIntosh, with his eloquence, attracted large crowds. The congregations increased and interest grew to the end, and a large crowd assembled at the depot when he was to leave and had a Holy Ghost time in the same. His preaching was attended by the Spirit in great power. Time alone will be able to tell all the good that grew out of the meeting. Christians of every name and denomination were brought nearer to and made to love God more; many hearts were made to rejoice with joy that is unspeakable; many homes made happy, and a number of family altars erected. There were thirty-six made application for membership in the various churches, and more than one hundred claimed to have been blessed during the meeting. Bro. McIntosh did a lasting good here; old feuds were settled, former friendships restored and Christians were made to love each other better. May God bless and give him success in all his work! Our second meeting was held at Macedonia; Bros. L. S. Jones and B. S. Rayner rendering valuable service in the same, preaching with power and with happy results. The members of the church were revived, quite a number reclaimed and converted, and nine added to our roll. May God bless these men of God and give them many souls for their hire! To God be all the glory."

Geo. W. Hiveley, Hazlehurst, Miss., Aug. 6: "Our pastor, Rev. Ira. B. Robertson, began a revival meeting at Bethesda on the fourth Sunday (26th) of July, 1896. Bro. Parker, a local preacher from Jackson, Miss., was with us from the beginning. He is an excellent preacher, and did us good service, preaching once every day during the five days of the meeting. Some one made this remark in the writer's presence: 'What a pity that Bro. Parker does not belong to the Conference! He is such a good preacher.' Bros. Smith and Gozey, both devout men from Barlow circuit, were with us three days of the meeting, and furnished valuable help; the former by preaching, the latter by singing. The congregations were good from beginning to end. While no one was converted or joined the church, yet we believe much good was done. Must a farmer complain because the seed which he has planted does not spring up and grow the same day it is planted? Does not the grain of corn lie in the ground several days before it sends up a tender shoot, which in due time becomes a stalk, sending forth first the ear, then the full corn in the ear? We think that there was seed sown at Bethesda which may yet bring forth an hundred, yea, a thousandfold. One thing we do know: the church was strengthened and revived. The prayer and experience meetings were well attended. The meeting of the last day (Thursday) clearly demonstrated that God was with us, when many young people rose up and spoke of God's pardon and love. One, a mere child, who was converted last year, rose up and spoke for Christ. Mrs. Parker, the district [illegible] W. F. M. S. of the Brookhaven district, was with us one day during the meeting, and made a telling speech on missions. Success to the ADVOCATE! Pray for us."

MORTON AND FOREST.

We held a protracted meeting at each of our churches, with good results. At Forest the meeting was in May, and lasted eleven days. M. H. Moore began the meeting, and remained a few days, and was followed by J. T. Nicholson. These two did mainly the preaching, assisted from time to time by sermons from H. P. Lewis, W. M. Williams, and W. W. Simmons. The congregations were good, and a good interest throughout. There were no accessions, although there are a goodly number of persons not in the church. Forest needs a sweeping revival.

The meeting at Pelahatchie was in July. J. M. Morse did the preaching, except two sermons by J. F. Robinson and one by the pastor. There were three accessions to the church. The meeting lasted only five days.

At Morton we began the first Sabbath in August, and closed Thursday night. W. M. Sullivan did all the preaching, except one sermon. Three accessions.

These meetings gave our churches a great uplift, and leaves a good impression for Christianity in each community. There were no wounds made by what was said or done to undermine the work. It was all clear gain for Christ. Our people feel under lasting obligations to the brethren who helped in the meetings.

C. MCDONALD.

Morton, Miss., Aug. 8, 1896.

NOTICE.

Since my last report—July 13—I have received the following donations from brethren to help us build a church for the Lord here at Smyrna, Miss.:

Judge C. H. Campbell, Kosciusko, $2 50; C. Cramp, Memphis, Tenn., $1; Rev. J. C. Lowe, Verona, Miss., $1.

Brethren, we are hungering and thirsting for a church here, and can not get it without money. It seems to me some of you preachers are a little too stingy. I have written to more than fifty preachers of the North Mississippi Conference who get from $500 to $1,200 salary, and Bro. J. C. Lowe, of Verona, is the only one who has sent anything. May God bless you and yours, Bro. Lowe!

Oh, the joy of Christian assemblage. Brethren, help us build a church for God, and we will sing hosannah with a hallelujah like the voice of mighty thundering.

J. A. WILSON, P. C.

Smyrna, Attala county, Miss.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICES.

Money Saved.

DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

Until further notice we will send the ADVOCATE to new subscribers nine months for $1—cash in advance. Moreover, we will give those who subscribe under this offer the benefit of our premium Bible offer.

Our Bible Offer.

Our prices are as follows: Bourgeois type (large), $2.35; minion type, $1.55; emerald type, $1.15. These are the prices to those who pay a full year in advance—i. e., to August, '97.

P. S.—The above very low rate is made from now until the fifteenth of September. Those who wish to get the benefit of these rates should, therefore, send in their orders without delay.

I want to add my testimony to the excellency of your Holman Bible. Just what I have wanted for ten years, but never felt able to pay the price demanded elsewhere.

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

Merit
Is what gives Hood's Sarsaparilla its great popularity, increasing sales and wonderful cures. The combination, proportion and process in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla are unknown to other medicines, and make it peculiar to itself. It acts positively upon the blood, and as the blood reaches every part of the human system, all the nerves, muscles, bones and tissues come under the influence of Hood's
Sarsaparilla
The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

Death comes in the guise of consumption more frequently than in any other form. Fully one-sixth of all the deaths in the world are attributable directly to this one disease.

The symptoms of coming consumption are many and varied. The man who neglects them is trifling with his life. He is playing an unequal game with death. He is fencing with a superior adversary.

The downhill road from health runs directly to consumption. Consumption is the disease of weakness. A debilitated condition, from whatever cause, leaves a broad road for the beginning of this disease. Its name tells its story. It means not only consumption of the lungs, but consumption of the whole body.

Loss of appetite, loss of sleep, loss of nerve force, loss of flesh—these are forerunners and indications of consumption. The tearing down of the bodily tissues should be met by a building-up process. An unusual bodily state exists, and it must be met with unusual measures. The unhealthy body needs medicine, just as surely as the healthy body does not.

The body that is starting towards consumption needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will cure ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of consumption. It is an infallible blood maker and flesh builder. It stimulates digestion, invigorates the nerves, makes the brain clear and the body strong. It is not a new and untried experiment. It has been curing people for thirty years, and thousands have testified to the wonderful help it has given them.

"The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" has had the largest sale of any medical work in the English language. Nearly 700,000 copies of it were sold at $1.50 each, and now half a million copies are being given away—absolutely free. The book consists of 1,008 pages, and is a complete medical library in one volume. It will be sent (paper-covered) post-paid, to any one sending 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. If French cloth, embossed binding is desired, send 10 cents extra, (31 cents in all) to pay the extra cost of this more handsome and durable binding.

Daleville, near Lockhart, M. and O. R. R., Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.
Cooper-Huddleston College.
For the Liberal Education of Young Men and Women.
Full courses in Mathematics, Greek and Latin, English, Science and Philosophy; Special in Music and Art. Faculty, talented, experienced, and specialists. Library, Reading-room, and Society facilities, exceptional. Buildings modern and completely equipped. Boarding and Campus privileges for the young ladies, separate and exclusive. Telephone Connection with R. R. Station.
Board, Lodging, Laundry, Matriculation and Tuition Fees for session of 36 weeks, $125.00, payable quarterly.
"The safest, cheapest, best, and most suitably located first-rank College in the State, wherein true manhood and womanhood are fostered no less than Scholarship."
Thirty-first Annual Session opens Sept. 24, 1896. Circulars and Catalogue mailed on application. Address
COOPER-HUDDLESTON COLLEGE, Daleville, Lauderdale Co., Mississippi.

LAW SCHOOL
WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY,
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA.
Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, Dean.

SILLIMAN INSTITUTE For Young Ladies.
CLINTON, LA.
If you are interested, let us send you a handsome illustrated catalogue to prove that in standard of scholarship, general equipment, healthfulness, beauty of location and buildings, home comforts, and refining influences this college ranks with the VERY BEST and, advantages considered, with the cheapest in the South. Address
GEO. A. RAMSEY, M. A., President.

HOGSETT ACADEMY.
A select home training school for boys. Aim—Mental, Moral, Physical Development. Military organization. Recognized by the best Universities. Students enter West Point and Annapolis. Address
WILLIAM DICKSON, Danville, Ky.

Washington and Lee
UNIVERSITY, Lexington, Virginia.
Academic; Law; Engineering. Opens Sept. 10. For catalogue, address
G. W. C. LEE, President.

Education Cheap—Not Cheap Education
AT
Johnston
Collegiate Institute.
GREENSBURG, LOUISIANA.
If you want to patronize a good boarding school under the supervision of the M. E. Church, South, apply to Henry D. Roberts, Greensburg, La., for catalog and other information concerning Johnston Collegiate Institute. We prepare students for standing sufficient examinations to enter the Junior Class at Centenary College, in either the A. B. or the B. S. course. We also have a course in Modern Languages.
OUR TERMS ARE VERY CHEAP. Board, $6 per month; tuition, $2.25 to $3.75; tuition in music, $2.50.
Our school building and boarding-houses are large, new, and commodious. The location is proverbially healthful, and the moral surroundings excellent.
The management is strictly first class. Students of both sexes admitted.
A. R. LANNER, President.
REV. G. D. ANDERS, Agent.

Martin College
For Young Ladies,
PULASKI, - - - TENN.
Fall Session Begins Sept. 2, 1896.
The Ideal College Home. Location unsurpassed for health. Permanent endowment, $30,000. New buildings and new equipments throughout. Gymnasium completely furnished with all modern appliances. New studio, bath rooms, broad stairways, wide corridors fire escapes, freight elevator, covered galleries, city water on each floor, two large cisterns with filter attachment, a well of limestone water, a beautifully shaded eight-acre campus, a vegetable garden, and other conveniences, make the grounds and buildings healthful, secure and attractive. Every room in the buildings and the grounds are lighted by electricity. Superior educational advantages are offered in all departments. Special advantages in music. Mr. F. J. Zeisberg, three years at Martha Washington College, director. Charges reasonable. Send for catalogue.
S. N. BARKER, President.

See Here.

The label on your paper indicates the date of expiration of your subscription. If the date is Aug., 30, or any time earlier than that, then you are in arrears. Don't wait for us to send you a dun, but send us the money at once. If you wish to discontinue your subscription, you have only to say so after paying up to date.

Summer Excursions.

On and after June 1 excursion tickets to Summer resorts in the North and East will be on sale from all stations on the Texas and Pacific Railway, limited for return to Oct. 31.

GASTON MESLIER,
General Passenger and Ticket Agt.

Education by Mail
The Correspondence School of the Polytechnic College offers instruction by Correspondence, in Mathematics, Science, English Language and Literature, Latin, Greek, New Testament Greek, Hebrew, Book-keeping, Shorthand, and all branches taught in the Institution. It also offers to the undergraduates in the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, full instruction in the Conference Course of Study. The Polytechnic College is a chartered institution of very high grade, belonging to the M. E. Church, South, and has a Faculty of twenty professors and teachers. For catalogue and all information, address the President,
REV. W. F. LLOYD,
Fort Worth, Texas.

Port Gibson Female College,
PORT GIBSON, MISS.,
Is prepared for practical thorough work in educating girls. A corps of efficient teachers in charge, and the curriculum is fully equal to that of any first-class college. Cultured community. Health unsurpassed. Terms to suit the times. For further particulars, address
MRS. M. H. MEEK, Business Manager.

T. J. MURRAY,
RETAIL DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,
Rampart and St. Andrew Sts.
Ash, oak and pine cord-wood cut in 12 and 16-inch lengths with electric machine. Good, full measure given. Prices for loads as usual. Wood by cord, coal and coke at same prices as wholesale dealers.

TEXAS
T&P
PACIFIC ROUTE
OFFERS THE PUBLIC THE
Best Passenger Service
BETWEEN
Texas
AND THE EAST
SOUTHEAST.
Cannon Ball Train
SHORTENED ONE HOUR IN TIME.
Leaves Fort Worth, 7:05 a. m.; Dallas, 8:05 a. m.; Union Depot, 8:15 a. m.
Arrives St. Louis, 7.25 a. m. next day.
LIMITED EVENING EXPRESS
HAS BEEN QUICKENED
9 HOURS TO ST. LOUIS AND THE EAST.
4 HOURS TO MEMPHIS.
ONE HOUR TO NEW ORLEANS.
ONLY TWO DAYS
BETWEEN
Texas and New York.
Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars to St. Louis, Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast.
Through day Coaches each way between Fort Worth and Memphis.
For tickets, rates and further information, call on or address your nearest ticket agent.
L. S. THORNE, 3d Vice Pres't. and Gen. Mgr.
GASTON MESLIER, Gen. Pegr. and Tkt. Agt.,
W. A. DASHIELL, Trav. Pass. Agt.
DALLAS, TEXAS.

America's Greatest,
The Emerson Piano.
Best quality, sweetest tone, most durable.
Prices moderate, terms to suit.
JUNIUS HART, Sole Agent,
1001 Canal Street.

F. Johnson & Son Co., Limited,
UNDERTAKERS.
OFFICES: JULIA AND MAGAZINE, WASHINGTON AND PRYTANIA.
TELEPHONE 697.
We specially invite the patronage of those whose circumstances demand a service at once inexpensive and refined. Our large and varied assortment affording ample opportunity for judicious selection of tasteful material of very moderate cost.

26,000 Sold in 10 Years.

$3,000,000.00 Capital to Back Representations.

6-Year Guarantee.
WRITE
Philip Werlein,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

LOGAN FEMALE COLLEGE,
In closing her fiftieth year, sends greeting to all of her children and extends a cordial welcome to them and their daughters. With a broad curriculum and teachers from the great institutions of this country and Europe, she invites the patronage of those seeking a liberal culture for their daughters under refining influences. Address
A. G. MURPHY, PRINCIPAL, Russellville, Ky.

Southern Seminary and Conservatory of Music
1867-1896. BOWLING GREEN, VA.
REV. E. H. ROWE, President. Late Pres't Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.
PROF. J. B. GRASS, Director of Music. (Graduate of Conservatory of Munich, Bavaria, and Fellow Royal Society of England.)
DEPARTMENTS: Language and Literature. (Besides Ancient and Modern Languages, etc., rare advantages in English under Specialist in English from Vassar.) Science—Art—Music—Elocution and Business. SOCIAL CULTURE: Through systematic efforts and association of officers and teachers with students. Distinguishing feature of this institution. LOCATION: Northern Virginia near Washington, D. C., offering rare advantages to young ladies from lower Southern States. (See Prospectus.) HEALTHFUL; picturesque; accessible. No change of cars from Atlanta, Ga. Terms reasonable. Special rates to ministers and to teachers. Session opens Sept. 9. Write for prospectus and further information.

Emory College
Oxford, Georgia.
THE FALL TERM of this old and honored institution begins Sept. 16, 1896.
The Equipment of the College was never so good in its history. Full courses are offered in English, Philosophy, Greek, Latin, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, Engineering, French, German, Hebrew, Political Economy, History, Theology and Law.
The Expense for a year in Emory College is very low—much lower than in most Southern Colleges of like grade. Board can be had in Helping Halls as low as $5 per month and in private families at from $12 to $15.
The Location of the College is one of healthfulness and moral security. Saloons and other such demoralizing agencies are forever excluded from the town of Oxford by the provisions of the charter. The society of the place is cultured and religious. Oxford is emphatically a college town, and students at Emory College are not only free from the temptations to immorality which prevail in larger towns, but from the distractions of a commercial community and the unwholesome social rendezvous common in such places. It is forty miles east of Atlanta, and about one mile north of the Covington depot, on the Georgia Railroad, from which it is reached by a horse-car line.
For catalogue and further information address
W. A. CANDLER, President,
OXFORD, GA.

Christian Advocate.

OFFICE: 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers, $1

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

All correspondence with the ADVOCATE, literary or business, and all money due or to become due should be addressed to Rev. W. C. Black, D.D., CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 512 Camp St., New Orleans, La.

Rev. W. C. BLACK, D. D., Editor and Publisher.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D
REV. S. S. KEENER.
REV. F. N. PARKER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. B. LEWIS.
REV. R. J. JONES.
REV. R. W. BAILEY.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. J. D. CAMERON, D. D.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

ADVERTISING RATES.

		Ordinary position	Special position.
1 inch,	1 week,	$ 80	$ 1 00
1 "	2 weeks,	1 60	2 00
1 "	3 "	2 00	2 50
1 "	1 month,	2 40	3 00
1 "	3 months	6 00	7 50
1 "	6 "	10 00	12 50
1 "	1 year,	18 00	22 50
2 inches,	1 "	35 00	42 00
3 "	1 "	50 00	60 00
4 "	1 "	60 00	72 00
5 "	1 "	75 00	90 00
6 "	1 "	90 00	100 00

More than six inches, ordinary position, $15 per inch per annum. More than six inches, special position, $16.50 per inch per annum.

Thursday, August 20, 1896.

The Steel Trial.

When the committee in the Steel case met on the twelfth, Dr. Steel challenged four of the seven committeemen. This caused a postponement of the trial to Thursday, the fourteenth. In reorgauizing the presiding Bishops enlarged the committee from seven to nine. The committee as finally constituted is as follows: Rev. B. M. Messick, D. D., of the St. Louis Conference; Rev. W. K. Piner, of the Louisville Conference: Rev. A. F. Watkins, of the Mississippi Conference; Rev. J. R. Moore, of the Little Rock Conference: Rev. H. D. Moore, of the Holston Conference; Rev. P. H. Whisner, of the Baltimore Conference: Rev. G. W. Wilson, of the Memphis Conference; Rev. — Southgate, of the Kentucky Conference; Rev. I. S. Hopkins, D. D., of the North Georgia Conference. There are three Bishops present—Wilson, Granbery and Hendrix. Dr. Steel is represented by Rev. W. F. Hamner, of the Memphis Conference. The Book Committee are represented by Rev. Paul Whitehead, of the Virginia Conference, and Rev. Collins Denny, of the Baltimore Conference. The church is to be congratulated upon the fact that this, its first trial of this character has fallen into such hands. Three wiser or more prudent men than the three Bisheps who preside in the case can not be found. The committee is also wisely chosen. We have a personal acquaintance with all the members of the committee except two, and we knew of no body of men of equal number whom we would be more willing to trust to sit in judgment upon in a case in which we were personally interested.

For the benefit of those of our readers who are not posted as to the history of the case we will state that the trial is the result of a demand made by Dr. Steel. At the May meeting certain members of the Book Committee criticised Dr. Steel's editorial conduct of the Era, whereupon Dr. Steel informed the Book Committee, through the Era, that the law provides a way for dealing with refractory General Conference officers, and asked them to proceed to deal with him in a legal way.

P. S.—On Monday night the committee completed its labors and made its report. Dr. Steel is continued in office, with a premise on his part to avoid in future the matters complained of by the Book Committee.

The Summer Home for Waifs, at Beauvoir, Miss., recently purchased by Dr. Alfred E. Clay, of this city, was formally dedicated on last Sunday, appropriate addresses being delivered by Bishop John C. Keener, and by Rev. Mr. Thompson, rector of the Episcopal Church at Biloxi. There are at present in the home thirty-nine boys from three to twelve years of age; forty-one girls from four months to fourteen years, and ten adults, the adults having the care of the children, six of whom require constant medical attention.

"Charity Administration: Its Abuses and Their Remedy."

The foregoing is the title of a strong and timely article in the August Cosmopolitan, some extracts from which we quote below. Notwithstanding the oft-repeated claim that the poor are down-trodden and neglected, the fact remains that Christian people are at present doing more to relieve distress and uplift the masses than ever before in the world's history. In the city of London alone it is said that $25,000,000 a year is expended in charity. In New York City, where there is a vast deal of poverty, large sums are expended in its relief and well-organized charities abound. The same is true of many large American cities, where the poor are huddled together in large numbers. While the world is in many respects cruelly selfish, yet it is gratifying to note how prompt and liberal are the responses made to the calls for the relief of particular forms of distress. Thanks to the benign influence of Christianity, the American public has only to be informed of pressing need in this or that quarter, when, lo! alms flow forth in generous streams.

It would be a great mistake, however, to assert that all is being done in the line of charity that can and ought to be done, or that the well-to-do are all as liberal as they should be. No one supposes that we have yet reached an ideal state of affairs. The poor we still have in large numbers among us; nor need we expect socialism, nor any other "ism," to equalize the conditions of men so long as all are not equally industrious, economical, and intelligent.

Indiscriminate alms-giving hinders almost as much as it helps, since it encourages idleness and fraud, and breeds crime. It is stated on good authority that there are now in this country not less than 100,000 men too lazy to work, living upon the liberality of the public. Tramps will continue to abound so long as people are foolish enough to feed them without making them work. "Sentiment," some one has well said, "will not solve the tramp question." Not many people will take the time or the trouble to ascertain the real condition of those who ask for help. The most needy and deserving are usually the most reticent about their condition. Hence the great need of societies for the proper distribution of charity, the officers of which are expected, or at least supposed, to investigate the worthiness of every case of distress reported. Says Prof. R. T. Ely, a leading writer on "Economics:" "We are beginning to hear of a science of charity, and it is sorely needed, for old-fashioned alms-giving is a curse."

It is a lamentable fact, however, well brought out in the article quoted from, that people who give in charity are far too ready to leave the whole responsibility with the society or organization through which they contribute. It is too often taken for granted that everything is well managed, whether any definite showing is made or not.

We may say further that relief work should never be left entirely to organizations; yet in our cities many Christians who could do personal work in the way of visiting the sick and ministering to the needy leave it all to charitable societies, or to just a few mission workers. Because contact with suffering is not pleasant, they excuse themselves from this form of service.

But we should not forget that the poor need our sympathy and encouragement as well as food and clothing. "Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and have not love," says the Apostle Paul, "it profiteth me nothing." Charity so administered as to cause the loss of self-respect and manly independence is a positive injury. The effort now being made by some societies to secure employment, temporary or otherwise, for those out of work, can not be too highly commended. The main object in all charity work should be "to help the poor to help themselves."

The usefulness of organized charities is constantly enlarging and assuming new forms, and wonderful possibilities are opening to view; but there are certain dangers that must be guarded against. We hope that the evils mentioned are not as great as is supposed.

"Charitable institutions are a feature of Christian civilization. They are most numerous among the Anglo-Saxon race, because it is among them that Christianity has achieved its greater triumphs.

"Like every other human institution, charities deteriorate in their management and require careful watching. The history of their establishment is interesting. Almost from the beginning they were subjected to abuses and to the perversion of trust funds. This evil had increased to such an extent that during the reign of Queen Elizabeth there existed in England an enormous number of charities which were very corrupt, and in many instances had ceased altogether to fulfill the objects for which they were originated.

"To remedy this state of things, laws were passed, in that and succeeding reigns, to compel the managers of charities to apply gifts to the purposes for which they were given. Commissioners were appointed, in the beginning temporarily, and afterward permanently, with power to investigate the charities of the realm and see that all moneys were properly applied and accounted for.

"It was found that the greatest abuses existed in what were known as private charities, where the sole supervision rested in the hands of persons termed visitors, who had been nominated by the founders.

"That, at the present day, abuses exist in charities equal in enormity to those in Queen Elizabeth's time, no one believes; but that there are abuses a very cursory examination is sufficient to determine. This can be shown without going outside the societies' reports. The chief abuses brought to light are: First—The hoarding of large sums of money instead of using them to carry on the work of the society. Second—Using money for a different purpose than that for which it was given. Third—Incurring an enormous indebtedness, thereby endangering the stability and usefulness of the society. The constant cry is for a fund invested in bonds and mortgages, or other securities, the income only, and not always that, to be used for the purposes of the charity."

The writer, Mr. Bruen, does not deal in mere generalities, but gives a number of concrete examples to establish his point. Next he says:

"The reason why charitable societies are not better managed is that no effective oversight is kept on the management. There are two parties who should watch over all the charities: the one is the state, and the other is the people who contribute of their means to their support.

"As the state is the largest contributor to most charities by relieving them from taxation, granting them certain charter privileges, and very often handing over to them large appropriations of public money, the state should exercise a real and not an apparent supervision.

"Mr. James C. Carter, the distinguished jurist, gives it as his reason for believing that such supervision by the state should exist as follows: 'I think one great preventive acting upon the minds of men who are able to give, and do give large sums to charities, is, that they are not assured that it will be well applied. They are mostly men who have been accustomed during their lives to business methods, and who have been accustomed to ask themselves just what every dollar will do if applied to any particular purpose, and before they make the disposition to be satisfied that it will be applied to that purpose.'

"How often, in trying to get information, are we confronted with the question: 'Have you ever looked over the names of the Board of Managers? Do you know of what wealthy and distinguished men they consist?' Just as if this were any answer or guarantee that the affairs of the society were well conducted. Some of the most gigantic swindles in commercial life have had honored and respected names to further the enterprise—honorable gentlemen being the dupes, tools and figure-heads to impose upon an unsuspecting public in order to make them part readily with their hard-earned savings.

"How few givers to charity ever take the trouble to see that their gifts are properly applied. Many do not even glance at the published reports to see that their gifts are acknowledged. It is sad to have to relate that a few societies do not even publish a report. Ordinarily contributors think that they have accomplished their duty when they give, and would consider it a hardship to be compelled to study the annual reports. Some go so far as to look upon it as a reflection on the integrity of the men composing the Board of Managers to inquire how their particular gift had been disposed of. It is this reprehensible unwillingness on the part of the contributors to take trouble that causes so many charities to be mismanaged. Managers, like other mortals, do their duty better when they know that they are being watched."

"Which Way I Fly Is Hell."

Last Fall we noted in the columns of the ADVOCATE that two preachers of the Texas Conference, W. Wimberly and E. H. Harmon, had been suspended under a charge of immorality. When the Conference met, they were expelled from the church and ministry. Of this we also gave notice. Since that time we have heard nothing of Harmon. Some weeks afterward, however, we published the statement that Wimberly had united with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Now, Wimberly appears before the public again. During his suspension and trial he vigorously maintained his innocence, claiming that his visits to certain dens of infamy were for the purpose of finding and, if possible, rescuing his sister, who, he believed, was leading a life of shame. He introduced as witnesses two of his brothers, who corroborated much of what he said. Now, however, he confesses to the truth of every accusation made against him, and much more besides. He says that his fall antedated the Galvestou Epworth League Conference in August, '95, where his villainies were first exposed, by fully two months. He says he began his downward course by drinking. He says he was drunk most of the time for that period of two months; was drunk during the whole League Conference, and drunk on until the Annual Conference, and has been drunk ever since until about two months ago. He says the two men who appeared on the witness stand in his behalf, claiming to be his brothers, were not his brothers. They were two vile wretches, whom he hired to lie for him.

All this he wrote on the tenth of June last in a letter to Rev. G. C. Rankin, Houston, Texas, but requested Rankin not to make his confession public before the tenth of August. This request was complied with. Hence the public have not read this last sad chapter until now.

Some of the expressions in his letter remind us of Milton's line: "Which way I fly is hell. Myself am hell." In one place he says: "I am a most miserable wretch." Again: "My sin, my sin. Oh, it is so great! God help me and pity me." Again: "I am so guilty. As the days go by I realize more and more the magnitude of my fall. This is augmented a thousand times by the denial of my sin and my persistent claim of innocence." Again: "Nothing but the punishment of the damned in hell is commensurate with my awful sins."

Is not this an awful picture to gaze upon? What caused it all? Strong drink. "O thou invisible spirit of wine, if thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee devil!"

Wimberly had been for years a professor of the second blessing. Of course, his fall does not disprove the doctrine of sanctification, or any theory concerning it; but it certainly gives tremendous emphasis to the solemn warning, "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

A Modest Claim.

To hear some brethren talk, one would think that they have a monopoly of the Holy Spirit, and that nobody but themselves or those who pattern after them can have a revival. Marvelous indeed is the arrogance of others in claiming the credit for every good thing done in the communities where they labor or have labored. They seem to have forgotten the Savior's caution: "Other men labored, and ye are entered into their labors." Admirers of distinguished workers often join in ascribing praise to them which properly belongs elsewhere. Paul may plant, and Apollos may water, but God gives the increase. The following boastful statement from one of our Southern Methodist exchanges has hardly the right ring about it:

"Three years ago Bro. ——— started a fire-meeting in a slumbering church in ——— county, ———State; to-day it has 500 witnesses to the fullness of the Spirit's cleansing power. In the same time ten new churches have been built in that county. The fire and the blood will tell."

We happen to know something about the county referred to, and we are reasonably sure that the labors of the brother mentioned had nothing at all to do with the building of any of these churches save, perhaps, one. Is it possible that a roving evangelist who was in the county but a few weeks at most is to receive all the credit for causing the erection of so many churches in waste places, while the faithful pastors who have borne the heat and burden of the day are passed over in silence?

"The Children's Home Finder."

"The Children's Home Finder," of which we made some mention last week, is a 40-page, illustrated, monthly magazine, devoted to the interests of the National Children's Home Society. It has a Children's Department, Book Review, Letter Box, and other attractive features, and is in all respects a first-class family magazine. Its present subscription list numbers 15,000, and is rapidly increasing. The subscription price is $1 per year. Each new subscriber who sends $1.50 will receive as a premium a copy of Miss Armstrong's charming book, "The Children of the Bible." The magazine is edited and published at 167 Dearborn street, Chicago, by Rev. Geo. K. Hoover, D. D. Agents are wanted, and will receive liberal pay. The Children's Home Society is now organized in twenty States. It has placed over 7,000 children in good families.

A New Book.

A YOUNG PEOPLE'S HISTORY OF THE CHINESE. By Rev. W. G. E. Cunnyngham. With an introduction by Rev. Collins Denny, M. A. 12 mo. Cloth. 284 pages. Illustrated. 1896. Price, $1. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn.

The author, having spent nine years in China as a missionary, and having been, while there and since his return, a close student of the literature relating to China and her people, is well qualified to write such a volume as this purports to be. He has not attempted to give a consecutive history of the Chinese through all the centuries of their existence, his object being rather to furnish general information about China and her people. Accordingly, the book deals only with the most salient facts and features of Chinese character and history. The chapters which treat of the language, religions, diet, dress, social and domestic life, festivals and amusements, and superstitions of the Chinese, are especially interesting. It is a charming and instructive volume, and will be eagerly read by young and old alike. We regard it as a valuable contribution to our missionary literature. The book is beautifully printed and bound, and is adorned with thirty-two handsome illustrations. It deserves wide circulation.

NOTES.

Be sure to read our reduction of prices on our Bibles. Notice also that those who subscribe under the $1 offer got the benefit of these rates.

***

Rev. A. J. Jarrell, of the North Georgia Conference, died at his home in Cartersville on the first.

***

Rev. R. H. Wynn, pastor at Algiers, La., is helping his father this week in a meeting on the Baker circuit.

***

Dr. Goucher, of Baltimore, gives $5,000 a year for three years to enable the M. E. Church, South, to inaugurate its West China Mission.

***

Rev. W. L. Graves, of the North Mississippi Conference, has been elected superintendent of Hamilton Hall at the Southern University, of Greensboro, Ala.

***

We were favored, last Monday, with a call by Rev. L. W. Cooper, of the Mississippi Conference, who was passing through the city en route to Pearlington, where he will assist Bro. Forsythe in a protracted meeting.

***

The largest Conferences are the North Georgia, 83,000; Virginia, 69,000, and South Carolina, 68,000. Each of these is larger than the largest in the Northern Church, the Philadelphia, which numbers 61,000. — Central Methodist.

At the Louisiana Baptist State Convention, held at Crowley, last week, Rev. Dr. D. I. Purser, of this city, was elected president for the third time.

***

What your howler for liberty wants is not liberty to do right, but a license to do wrong at the expense of other men's liberties.—Richmond Advocate.

***

The Roman Catholic Church authorities in St. Louis, it is reported, will soon formally forbid their coreligionists to sing in Protestant choirs. The church objects to attendance by its members at Protestant Church services.—Exchange.

***

Rev. J. P. Moore, a member of the North Mississippi Conference, and pastor of Okolona circuit, died at the parsonage in Aberdeen, Miss., on Wednesday, Aug. 5. His remains were carried to Eupora, Miss., for interment. His wife died July 8.

***

Mrs. R. K. Hargrove is accompanying the Bishop in his tour of the Western and Coast Conferences. She is making the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission Society a special feature of woman's work at home.—Pacific Methodist Advocate.

***

It is probably without a parallel, that Dr. Adam Miller, of Chicago, in his eighty-seventh year, should finish the course and pass the examination entitling him to receive his diploma as Doctor of Philosophy from the Chicago School of Science. — Exchange.

***

The growth of Methodism is one of the religious phenomena of the age. Counting the population of the country at 65,000,000, nearly one in ten is a Methodist. The Methodists number one in six of all professing Christians in this country, and one in four of all Protestants. To be a Methodist means something.—St. Louis Advocate.

***

Of the long list of philanthropists who have given $1,000,000 or more to the cause of higher education in this country, only one himself was a college graduate. The single exception is Seth Low. Graird, Peabody, Cornell, Cooper, Rockefeller, Rich, Packer, Hopkins, Clark, Drexel, Vanderbilt, DePauw, Lick, Stanford and the others had not the advantages of college education.—Tennessee Methodist.

***

Charles A. Dana, who has been a journalist more than fifty years, and who gets through more work in a day than most men do in a week, ascribes his excellent health, his continued mental vigor and activity, at a time when most men have retired, mainly to never allowing himself to be in a hurry. This habit has, he says, saved him from the nervous disorders from which more than half of us Americans really die.—Exchange.

***

We are just in receipt of the announcement of Moffat-McLaurin Institute, a new institution of learning located at Meridian, Miss. It is a non-sectarian school of high grade for the thorough training of young women and children, and is enterprised by two most excellent and highly cultured ladies who have had much experience in teaching. Music, art, elocution, stenography and typewriting will be taught in addition to the usual branches. The best of instructors have been engaged for each department. We wish our friends, Misses Moffat and McLaurin, much success in their undertaking.

***

Those preachers who do not press, urgently and persistently, the various Conference claims upon their people, and wherever that is possible secure the full amount assessed, will fail in the discharge of a solemn and most important duty. Every dollar of deficit in any one of these claims cripples the operation of the church in that department of work, just to that extent. Furthermore, every member of the church is solemnly obligated to meet these demands, and we can never measure up to our Christian duty, and meet the requirements of church loyalty, until these claims are met in full, since the assessments represent, not the maximum, but the minimum amount. Brethren of the ministry and laity, suffer this earnest word of exhortation and entreaty for the sake of the cause we all love so dearly.—Central Methodist.

When You Feel Shaky

When you feel that chills and fever or malaria has singled you out as a victim, when you ache all over, feel tired and run down from head to foot

Take

CHILLIFUGE

It will rout the trouble at once. Chillifuge is guaranteed to cure the worst case of chills and fever that ever attacked a man. If it fails your money is returned. It is absolutely free from quinine and decidedly pleasant to take. Price 50c.

Sold everywhere.

Prepared by FINLAY, DICKS & CO., New Orleans.

Some publishers are putting off Bibles on their subscribers, which they claim are as good as the Holman. There is no other as good. It has all the Oxford helps and the self-pronouncing feature besides. Every one, whether educated or uneducated, needs help in pronouncing Bible names. Moreover, the pronunciation is given, not in appendix where it has to be hunted up, but in the book itself wherever the name occurs. Paper and binding are excellent. See offer.

PERIODICALS.

The Scribners have given us a very beautiful thing in the August issue of their Magazine, the Midsummer Fiction Number. Great attention has been paid to the making up and the printing, and the result is an admirable production of artistic and literary merit. The opening paper is "On the Trail of Don Quixote," a picturesque account of wanderings through the plans of La Mancha, by Mr. August F. Laccaci. Mrs. Alice Morse Earle writes delightfully about "Old Time Flower Gardens." The six short stories are of the best. Original, sparkling and entertaining, with illustrations by Smedley, Frost and other artists.

The Review of Reviews, for August, while largely given over to the issues of the presidential campaign, finds space for the treatment of other important topics. Besides the character sketch of Mr. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for the presidency, the Review has illustrated articles on Harriet Beecher Stowe and Dr. Barnardo, the father of "Nobody's Children." There is the usual elaborate resume of the current magazines; and the departments of "The Progress of the World," "Record of Current Events," and "Current History in Caricature" answer the typical American demand for what is up to date and "live."

The following is the table of contents of the Review of Missions for August: "Home and Foreign Missions—Alexander Latimer Blackford, D. D.," by James L. Kennedy; "The Present Outlook of Missions in Turkey," not by a Missionary; "Pilgrimages in China," by Mrs. W. H. Park; "Missionary Problems in Brazil," by Rev. J. W. Tarboux; "The Light in Darkness," by Rev. H. Loomis; "Work in India," by John R. Mott; "Mission Work in the Mountains of Kentucky," by Rev. C. H. Greer; "The Three Religions and Their Bearing on Chinese Civilization," by J. Lambert Rees, B. Sc. This magazine is brimful of highly instructive and interesting reading matter.

The Methodist Review (South), for July-August, opens with an able article on "The Problem of Divine Foreknowledge," by Prof. H. C. Sheldon, of Boston University. Rev. W. Harrison, of New Brunswick, discusses "Oxford High Anglicanism," being a review of Dr. Rigg's book on the subject. Dr. J. S. Bassett considers "The Culture Problem in Southern Towns." Prof. H. H. Stone favors better roads in the South. Prof. J. F. Crowell has a valuable article on "The Position of the Church in France." Prof. E. W. Bowen writes of "Virgil's Pre-eminence among the Christian Fathers and in the Mediæval Church." The editor concludes his admirable discussion on the "Itineraney" in the economy of Methodism. The number is up to the usual mark of excellence.

[From the Journal.]

Butter Making—Money Making. Your Chance.

A NEW INVENTION that will be a great money maker for those who are selling goods has just been put out by The Queen Butter Maker Co., of Cincinnati, who have patented a churn that will make butter in two minutes. We have watched the process; it is marvelous. The cream is placed in the churn, and a few turns of a large wheel will separate the butter, and it appears on the surface all gathered. It is the most wonderful machine that has ever been invented, and that it will be a tremendous seller anyone can see, and our readers should secure the agency at once. Everybody who keeps a cow must have one of these machines. No more standing an hour and a half or two hours over a churning. Anyone who is out of employment should not miss the opportunity, as it is a pleasure to sell what everyone wants to buy. All you need to do is to make butter on churning day, and everyone will be sure to buy. In one neighborhood from twenty to thirty churns can easily be sold, and the profit on these to agents will easily give them $150 a month. Write The Queen Butter Maker Co., of 38 East 3d St., Cincinnati, for circulars, and get the agency at once, as somebody may step in and your chance may be lost. Chances do not come every day of this sort.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

By Rev. R. H. Wynn.

Prayer Meeting Topic for August.

THE REPROOFS OF CHRIST.

SUNDAY, AUG. 23—TO THOMAS, THE DOUBTER. (John xx, 24-29.)

Thomas has been partly misjudged by many—his one fault of doubting having been made to overshadow everything else in his life, and this is perhaps because so little is written of him in the gospels, beside the incident of his scepticism. One other reference (John xi, 16), which is not quoted so often, serves to present another side of his character. In the words, "Let us also go that we may die with him," spoken at a critical time, when Jesus was about to start from beyond Jordan to the scene of his death, and when it is probable that the remaining disciples were hesitating about accompanying him, we may read affectionate loyalty to the Master, and courage of the highest quality. Honest doubt is sometimes consistent with distinguished virtues.

When Christ was buried in the tomb, the hopes of Thomas were buried with him, for he did not understand that he would rise again, and he returned to his old employment with a sad heart. He was persistent in his refusal to credit the truth of the reports that he had risen, and declared that he would never believe, except upon very palpable evidence. This was not because he would not have been glad to believe, but it seemed to him impossible, and he could not believe. His faith must rest upon a strong foundation. He was willing, however, to put the matter to a test, and this indicates a lingering hope that the news might be true. With Thomas it was not so much "I will not believe," as "I can not believe."

On the next Lord's Day he was in company with the other disciples, and Jesus appears to them again. Immediately the doubt of Thomas disappears, and he rises to a sublime height of faith when he exclaims, "My Lord and my God."

The honest doubter is always willing to come to the light that he may see, and his doubt is only temporary. Thomas should never be regarded as a type of the large class of doubters, who regard their doubts as indicative of exalted intellect, and who parade them continually. The incident of our topic is a strong link in the chain of evidence concerning the resurrection of Christ. Thomas was a man who could not be carried away by visions, or by somebody's fancy; but was a practical man, and must have strong evidence to rest his faith upon. Nevertheless he believes. Some one has said that "Thomas doubted, that we might not doubt."

Christ's words in verse 29 do not contain severe reproof for Thomas, but they merely pronounce a blessing upon those who are able to exercise faith in Christ, even though they do not have a like sensible demonstration with Thomas.

(Read as a parallel passage to the above Matt. xi, 2-6.)

For Nervous Dyspepsia Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. T. P. Wynn, Tarboro, N. C., says: "No other preparation compares with it in ordinary cases of nervous dyspepsia."

CHILLIFUGE is guaranteed to cure Chills and Fever. It makes rich blood. Children love it.

CHILLIFUGE contains Iron that does not blacken the teeth, nor constipate the bowels. Makes rich blood.

CHILLIFUGE does not require a knitting needle or a stick to mix every dose. No iron filings to settle at bottom of bottle and irritate a weak stomach.

Memphis Conference Female Institute.

Mr. Editor: Please let me say, through your columns, to those intending to patronize the Memphis Conference Female Institute the coming year, that it will be well to have all students in on the twenty-fifth of this month, as our school opens on the twenty-sixth, and better rooms are secured by coming early. The indications are that we shall be taxed to accommodate the great crowd coming. Fraternally,

Howard W. Key.

Jackson, Tenn., Aug. 14, 1896.

Notice.

I have received as a compliment through the hands of Bro. P. Howard, of Americus circuit, two dollars.

A. B. Nicholson.

Hazlehurst, Miss., Aug 13, 1896.

The East Mississippi Female College, Meridian, Miss., offers rare opportunities in music. The director of music is said to be one of the finest in the South. Last year he had students under him from nearly every Southern State. We are glad to have such advantages in one of our church schools. This institution has thirteen teachers and officers, each one a specialist. This strong array of talent puts this institution in the front rank of female colleges in the South. Let our people support our church schools.

CHILLIFUGE is a superb appetizer, and is highly valuable for weak and sickly children, as well as the aged and feeble.

Wanted.

By a young lady of fine character and seven years' experience in teaching a position as teacher in a family or private school. Louisiana preferred. Refereuces given.

Address H. A., this office.

CHILLIFUGE possesses all the virtues and none of the disagreeable features of Quinine used by Physicians.

Williams Hall—Millsaps College.

I am prepared to take thirty students and will use every effort to give them a home while at college. Terms: $12 per scholastic month. Let me hear from anyone contemplating attending Millsaps College.

Mrs. Emma Mayes Cook,
Care of Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss.

When you feel shaky, Malaria has singled you out as a victim. Take CHILLIFUGE; it will rout the trouble at once.

Do You Know?

That when your bowels are disordered, and irregularities caused by change of diet or location exist,

Brodie's Astringent Cordial

Will correct all the troubles, and never fails, but

CURES

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, CRAMPS, BLOODY FLUX, and Such Symptoms.

TESTIMONIAL.

July 28, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I have used Brodie's Astringent Cordial in my family, and am using the third bottle. It always acts like a charm upon my children, correcting ailments of the bowels better than any medicine I ever tried. * * * Yours, most respectfully,

Mrs. A. W. Moore.

Price: 50 cts. and $1 a Bottle.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans, La.

Sold by All Druggists.

For Sale—A Bargain.

A TWO-STORY TENT at the

Seashore Camp Ground.

Apply to Miss T. K. MITCHEL, This Office, Or to Miss P. S. MITCHEL, Biloxi, Miss.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Next Session Opens September 16.

Full graduate as well as under graduate courses. Ten Fellowships for college graduates. Seven departments Academic, Engineering, Biblical, Law, Pharmaceutical, Dental, Medical. Fully equipped laboratories and museums.

WILS WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A SCHOLARSHIP FOR SALE

In the Whitworth Female College, at Brookhaven, Miss. This scholarship includes tuition in all the college classes. Latin, French, Free Hand Drawing and Sight Singing for ten months; also board and washing. Value, $180; will sell for $125.

Apply to

MRS W. W. CARRE,
2011 Canal Street.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY

Cheapest, Highest Honored. Situations. Medal awarded Prof. Smith at World's Fair. Book-keeping, Business, Short-hand, Type-Writing and Telegraphy taught. University Diploma to graduates. 10,000 Graduates in Business. Begin now. Address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, Lexington, Ky.

MUSIC ILLINOIS CONSERVATORY, Jacksonville, Ill.

FEMALE ACADEMY 67th YEAR. High grade English and Classical School for young women. Elective courses. MRS. W. J. BRYAN'S, Alma Mater, Jacksonville, Ill.

The Mutual Life Insurance Com'y

OF NEW YORK.

Post & Bowles. New Orleans, Managers for Louisiana and Mississippi.

Holds in Trust for Policy Holders over $221,000,000.

The Largest Trust Fund in the World.

Take the Continuous Instalment Policy of this Company, and provide an income for life for your wife or child instead of leaving a lump sum to be lost or squandered.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE,

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI.

For the Higher Education of Boys and Young Men.

Beautiful situation. Jackson, the capital of the State, is easily accessible by four lines of railway. The college buildings occupy a commanding elevation with perfect drainage and admirable health conditions.

The very finest educational advantages are offered. The members of the faculty are thoroughly competent and progressive in their several departments of instruction.

The students are constantly under superior moral and religious influence.

Young men preparing for the profession of Law in Mississippi will find unequaled advantages in the LAW DEPARTMENT.

Expenses very moderate. Many of the students, by boarding themselves, reduce the cost of living below $9 per month. Board in student's homes and private families, $12 per month.

Next Session Begins September 23d, 1896.

[For Register, giving detailed information, apply to

President W. B. MURRAH or Rev. T. B. HOLLOMAN, Agent.

Asheville Female College, ASHEVILLE, N. C. "IN THE LAND OF THE SKY."

REV. A. B. WARWICK, M. A., (University of Virginia,) President.

This famous school will open its Fifty-fourth Session September 10, 1896. Beautiful Campus, Modern Buildings, elegantly furnished, and Steam-heated. Hot and Cold Baths. Excellent and abundant table fare. Fully equipped Gymnasium. Location for healthfulness and grandeur of scenery unsurpassed on the continent. Elevation 1,300 feet. No Mosquitoes. No Malaria. Thorough and broad instruction, under best American and European teachers, leading to Degrees. Conservatory advantages in Music. Rates reasonable. Send for catalogue.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE,

MANSFIELD, LA.

The Female College of the Louisiana Conference.

Full College Course, including Ancient and Modern Languages, Sciences, Mathematics, and Business. Superior Advantages in Art, Elocution, Vocal and Instrumental Music. The buildings elegant, grounds beautiful; location one of the most delightful in the South, noted for its health record. Influences refining and Christian. Boarding Department under the immediate supervision of the President and family. Forty-fourth session begins Sept. 2, 1896. Send for Catalogue. T. S. Sligh, A. M., President.

THE GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

PRINK'S PATENT REFLECTORS for electric, gas or oil, give the most powerful, the softest, the purest and best light known for Churches, Halls and Public Buildings. Send size of room. Book and circulars free. I. P. PRINK, 2nd Pearl St., New York.

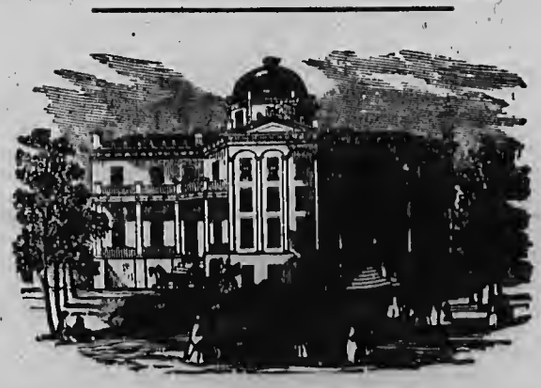
GRENADA COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

—AND—

Conservatory of Music, Art and Elocution.

The Female College of the North Mississippi Conference.

Building Unsurpassed for Light and Ventilation.



Newly Fitted Up with Modern Appliances and Furnishings.

LARGE CAMPUS. HEALTHFUL LOCALITY.

FACULTY EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH. TWENTY-EIGHT IN COLLEGE ORCHESTRA THE PAST SESSION

TERMS REASONABLE.

NEXT SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 1, 1896.

For Catalogue, Address

Rev. J. W. MALONE, A. M., President,

GRENADA, MISS.

What Can I Save by Purchasing A Piano from the Dunning-MedineCo?

You save all the risk of imposition, all the risk of waking up some day to the realization that your Piano is not just what you supposed it to be.

Lots of Pianos cost too much—they cost too much to build, they cost too much to the dealer or agent, and, of course, they cost far too much to the individual purchaser. That is, there are better Pianos in every way to be had for less money—for instance, either of these:

Kingsbury,
Conover,
Schubert.
Kramich & Bach
Behrning.

Dunning-Medine Music Co.,
214 AND 216 CAMP ST.

Grand National Prize of 16,600 francs at Paris

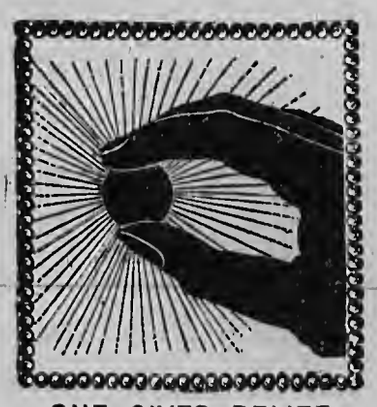
QUINA LAROCHE

Possesses in the highest degree the entire active properties of Peruvian Bark. Endorsed by the medical faculty as the best remedy for FEVER AND AGUE, MALARIA, POORNESS OF THE BLOOD, GENERAL DEBILITY and WASTING DISEASES; INCREASES THE APPETITE, STRENGTHENS THE NERVES and builds up the entire system.

Paris: 22 Rue Drouot
New York: E. FOUGERA & CO.,
26-30 N. William St.

R·I·P·A·N·S



ONE GIVES RELIEF.

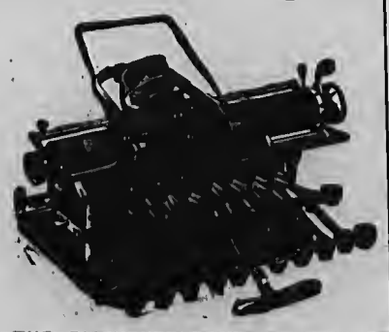
NO MATTER WHAT'S THE MATTER,

ONE OF THESE WILL DO YOU GOOD.

Rev. Frederic R. Marvin, long time pastor of the First Congregational Church, of Great Barrington, Mass., and at one time a practicing physician, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, says of Ripans Tabules: "The formula has long been in favor with medical men, and the method of preparation in the present form is modern and a great convenience. I always keep a vial of the Tabules upon my dressing table, and use them with confidence whenever occasion arises. For a disturbed condition of the digestive organs I know of nothing so good, and for an all-round family remedy I do not believe there is anything better to be had."

RIPANS TABULES.
Sold by druggists.

Design, -:- Material, Workmanship.



THE BLICKENSDERFER TYPEWRITER.

PRICE, $35.00. WEIGHT, 6 LBS.

Equals any of the High-Priced Machines in Capacity and Quality of Work, and Excels Them all in Convenience.
Send for catalogue and testimonial letters from those using.
J. L. CAMPBELL, STATE AGENT, Cheneyville, La.

H. I. CRAWFORD & CO.,
Agents for New Orleans and Vicinity,
207 Common Street, (Room 403) New Orleans.

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

EPPS'S

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

COCOA

BOILING WATER OR MILK.

HOME CIRCLE.

WHAT A BOY CAN DO.

"What can a boy do, anywar,"
You ask—"what grand and great?"
Listen a moment, lad, I pray,
And three things I will state.

A boy can make the world more bright,
By kindly word and deed;
As blossoms call for nature's light,
So hearts love's sunshine need.

A boy can make the world more pure
By lips kept ever clean;
Silence can influence shed as sure
As speech—oft more doth mean.

A boy can make the world more true,
By an exalted aim;
Let one a given end pursue,
Others will seek the same.

Full simple things, indeed, these three,
Thus staled in my rhyme;
Yet what, dear lad, could greater be—
What grander, more sublime?

—Christian Observer.

Scatter and Increase.

People will not believe it, and yet it is as true as the gospel, that giving leads to thriving. John Bunyan said:

"There was a man, and some did count him mad,
The more he gave away the more he had."

He had an old saying to back him—one which is as old as the hills and as good as gold:

"Give and spend,
And God will send."

If a man can not pay his debts he must not think of giving, for he has nothing of his own, and it is thieving to give away other people's property. Be just before you are generous. Don't give to Peter what is due to Paul. They used to say that "Give" is dead, and "Restore" is buried, but I do not believe it any more than I do another saying, "There are only two good men: one is dead, and the other is not born." No, no; there are many free hearts yet about, and John Ploughman knows a goodish few of them—people who don't cry, "Go next door," but who say, "Here's a little help, and we wish we could make it ten times as much." God has often a great share in a small house, and many a little man has a large heart.

Now, you will find that liberal people are happy people, and get more enjoyment out of what they have than folks of a churlish mind. Misers never rest till they are put to bed with a shovel; they often get so wretched that they would hang themselves only they grudge the expense of a rope. Generous souls are made happy by the happiness of others; the money they give to the poor buys them more pleasure than any other that they lay out.

I have seen men of means give coppers, and they have been coppery in everything. They carried on a tin-pot business, lived like beggars, and died like dogs. I have seen others give to the poor and to the cause of God by shovelfuls, and they have had it back by barrowloads. They made good use of their stewardship, and the great Lord has trusted them with more, while the bells in their hearts have rung out merry peals when they have thought of widows who blessed them, and orphan children who smiled into their faces. Ah me, that there should be creatures in the shape of men whose souls are of no use except as salt to keep their bodies from rotting! Please let us forget them, for it makes me feel right down sick to think of their nasty ways. Let us see what we can do to scatter joy all around us, just as the sun throws his light on hill and dale. He that gives God his heart will not deny him his money. He will take a pleasure in giving, but he will not wish to be seen, nor will he expect to have a pound of honor for sixpence. He will look out for worthy objects; for giving to lazy, drunken spendthrifts is wasteful and wicked; you might as well sugar a brickbat and think to turn it into a pudding. A wise man will go to work in a sensible way, and will so give his money to the poor that he will be lending it to the Lord. No security can be better and no interest can be surer. The bank is open at all hours. It is the best savings bank in the nation.—Spurgeon.

Travels in Iceland.

Iceland and Baffin's Bay form the great "iceberg factory" of the Atlantic. The enormous glaciers of northern Iceland, and the innumerable floes that clog Smith Sound and have crushed many a ship, slowly drift southward in detached fragments, which in more southern waters are called bergs. A recent traveler to Newfoundland reports great numbers of these dangerous bergs surrounding his ship.

"Fancy, if you can," he says, "three hundred towers of glittering ice, all shapes and sizes, to say nothing of the legion of broken pieces, many perfectly capable of staving a hole in the steamer, floating about everywhere around us." . . . . .

The long, weary, and fruitless search for our comrades in the "Jeannette" having come to an end, it was with feelings of profound sorrow that we turned the ship about and headed her toward civilization and life. As we left the great ice floes of the Arctic seas that held in their death embrace so many brave hearts, I think there was scarcely an eye of all that ship's company that was not brimming with tears. Even the great black ship herself seemed to feel that her mission had been a failure, and if she had her will she would still stay, and with all the power of her mighty strength she would beat her way through the icy barrier and carry back with her to home and loved ones those noble men who had so often trod her decks and were part and parcel of her very life. But we kept steadily on, and the Arctic monster never relaxed his grasp on our loved ones till he had crushed their ship and seen them one by one lay down their lives, victims to the Moloch of Arctic exploration.

Our first port of entry was at a place in the island of Iceland called Reykjavik, a snug, quiet harbor. There we had a grateful rest from the months of buffeting to which we had been subject during the search.

Going ashore one day, I was very much surprised to see what a comfortable, home like place it was. A nice church, a good schoolhouse, several stores and a very considerable number of dwelling-houses, mostly on one street, though several short ones branched off and ran up the hills on either side, and were soon lost among the great rocks and lava beds. There are no "sights" in the town worth recording, unless one regards the whole place as a "sight." Just outside the Arctic Circle it has been a scene of peaceful, honorable existence among discordant, warring nations for over one thousand years. It was just a few years ago that they celebrated the one-thousandth anniversary of their existence as a nation. Until very recently it was an independent country, an ideal republic; and though now, for political reasons, it is under the Danish flag, it is practically as independent as ever. Getting together a convoy of dwarfish horses for saddle and pack animals, a party of us started off one day under the guidance of a young man for the geysers and hot springs for which the island is famous. There is not an uneducated person on the island, and this young man, in addition to the advantages he could obtain at home, had traveled and studied in Europe and the United States. He was a genial, courteous gentleman in every respect at all times. The national and physical history of his island home were familiar subjects to him. How many boys who read this can tell the political history of the State in which they live? You ought to know it. His was a noble character, manly, thoughtful, truthful, and competent to carry out anything he undertook to do. Over rough mountain paths, across desolate lava fields, and through deep, dark valleys, he took us safely, and when at last we came to the geysers, he pitched tents and made us thoroughly comfortable for a week of sight-seeing and rest.

When Sunday came he kept it most religiously. His Bible came out, and was read with genuine devotion and love. The people of Iceland were at one time Druidical heathen, but through the efforts of early missionaries they embraced Christianity, and are now Lutherans of the most pronounced type. This young man had been taught from his earliest years to venerate and love the doctrines and practices of that faith. If the boys and girls who read this could only see as I have how much better, happier, and nobler every way are those who love the dear Savior than are those who have never heard of him, they would never begrudge the sacrifices their make for the missionary cause, but would gladly add to they gifts for the benefit of mankind in general.—Selected.

THE

WALL AND MOONEY

School for Boys,

FRANKLIN, TENN.

Discipline rigid, expenses reasonable, instruction thorough.

CHANCELLOR J. H. KIRKLAND, of Vanderbilt University, says:

"The academy of Messrs. Wall and Mooney is one of the very best training-schools, so far as my knowledge extends, within the Southern States."

Its pupils enter Vanderbilt and other leading Universities without examination. Engage a place beforehand.

For catalogue address

W. D. MOONEY.

Mention this paper.

Awarded Highest Honors, World's Fair.

DR.

PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder.
Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD

HYGIENE.

To Boys Who Smoke.

If boys who smoke would only be sensible and see the folly of it, how much better it would be for them and others! Can you not see, do you not know, that you are going through a great deal of misery to do something you do not really like? You are enduring with a patience worthy of a better cause the suffering of a martyr, in order to acquire a useless, bad habit; and trying to cultivate a taste that makes you sick. Why should you treat yourself so meanly? You know perfectly well that you do not smoke because you enjoy it. It is only when you think some one (but assuredly not your parents) is looking at you. You always do this with an air of intense self-consciousness. Everybody, including yourself, knows that you are on exhibition. And it is such a pitiable, cheap show, too. You think people are admiring you, which they are not. Why, so far from exciting admiration in the minds of the beholders, if you boys could hear the remarks which people make when they see you smoking, you would never again try a cigarette where human eye could perceive you.

Moreover, it makes you disagreeable company. When you bring into society the horrid taint of stale tobacco in your hair and clothes, your absence is always more gratefully welcomed than your presence. So don't smoke, boys. It makes you stupid, so it does not help you in your studies; it is injurious to the heart, so it does not aid you in athletic sports. It does not do you one particle of good; it makes you appear silly and ridiculous; it is as disagreeable and offensive to yourselves as it is to anybody else; you do not get a bit of comfort and real pleasure out of it, and you all know it—so pray do not smoke!—Hall's Journal of Health.

Exercise for Nervousness.

Exercise is a sovereign remedy for most cases of nervousness. But the victim of nervousness should know how to exercise, and there is as much science required to enable one to apply this remedy as any other. Exercising the limbs will relieve nervousness caused by too much blood in the head. Exercising the chest and abdomen by deep or abdominal breathing will relieve nervousness arising from dyspepsia. The people are only fairly beginning to understand the disease-curing and health-promoting value of physiological exercise. Everyone who has the opportunity to take lessons and practical drills in the science of physical culture, from a person qualified to teach this great science, should do so.—Health and Home.

Tea and Coffee.

Dr. Bock writes as follows respecting the influence of tea and coffee upon character: "The nervousness and peevishness of our times are chiefly attributable to tea and coffee; the digestive organs of tea and coffee drinkers are in a state of chronic derangement, which reacts on the brain, producing fretful and lachrymose moods. Fine ladies addicted to strong coffee have a characteristic temper, which I might describe as a mania for acting the persecuted saint. The snappish, petulant temper of the Chinese can certainly be ascribed to their immoderate fondness for tea."

THE CUISINE.

CONDUCTED BY L. A. E.

PINEAPPLE SHERBET.—Two cans of pineapple. Five pints of water. Three pounds of sugar. Six lemons, juice. Twelve eggs, whites. Press the juice of pineapple and lemon into the water, adding sugar and the whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Whip together and freeze. —J. W. N.

LEMON SHERBET.—One quart of boiling water. One pint of cold water. One pint of milk. One pint of sugar. Four lemons, juice. One teaspoonful vanilla. Add juice of lemons to the boiling water and the sugar. When cool, strain. Add the cold water and commence freezing. The milk and vanilla should be added when the sherbert is half-frozen.—L. S.

Yon can not dream yourself into a character; you must forge yourself one.—Carter.

Cure Consumption and lung troubles

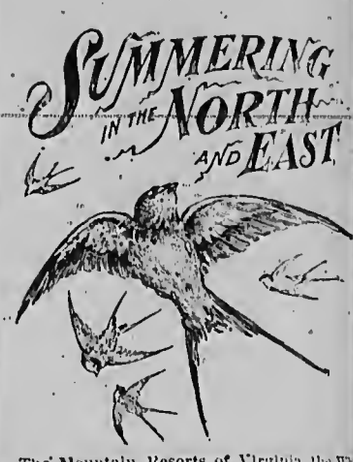
New York, Aug. 17, 1896.

EDITOR CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

Please inform your readers that I have an absolute remedy for Consumption and all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases; also for Loss of Flesh and all Conditions of Wasting. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have already been PERMANENTLY CURED. So proof-positive am I of its power, that to increase its usefulness and make known its great merits, I propose to SEND FREE, TWO BOTTLES, to readers of your paper who will write me giving their Express and Post Office address. Sincerely,

T. A. SLOCUM, M.C.,
183 Pearl St., New York.

We take the liberty of publishing the Doctor's communication in full for the benefit of our readers. Nothing could be more philanthropic. When writing, please state you read his letter in this paper and greatly oblige—EDITOR.



The Mountain Resorts of Virginia, the White Mountains and the Seaside of New England, the Thousand Islands, the Lake and Forest Resorts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Yellowstone Park and the Resorts of Colorado are all quickly reached by the

NEW DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE

ST. LOUIS CHICAGO
CINCINNATI LOUISVILLE

maintained by the

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

Tourist Rates and close connections. Ask your local railroad ticket agent for particulars.

A. H. HANSON, G. P. A., Chicago. W. A. KELLOND, A. G. P. A., New Orleans.

Yazoo & Mississippi Valley

RAILROAD COMPANY.

SCHEDULE IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 1st, 1895.

Trains leave and arrive at CENTRAL STATION, Howard Ave. and Rampart St., Daily.

	Leaves.	Arrive
Memphis and Local.....	4:00 p. m	10:00 a. m
Vicksburg & Natchez Ex....	7:30 a. m	5:50 p. m

Solid Trains with Pullman Sleepers New Orleans to Vicksburg and New Orleans to Memphis.

Direct and favorite route to North Louisiana and Arkansas. Only line through the Cis-Mississippi Sugar Country and the far-famed Yazoo Delta.

Ticket Office, Corner St. Charles and Common sts.

W. A. KELLOND, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt. A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.

QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE.

NEW ORLEANS & NORTH-EASTERN R.R.
ALABAMA & VICKSBURG RY.
VICKSBURG, SHREVEPORT & PACIFIC R.R.

TO

Birmingham,
Chattanooga,
Asheville,
Washington,
Philadelphia,
Baltimore,
New York,
Cincinnati,

AND TO ALL POINTS

North, -:- East,
North-East,
AND South-East,

90 MILES SHORTEST

To CINCINNATI

AND

THE NORTH.

Solid Vestibuled Trains,
Fast Time,
Close Connections,
Through Sleepers.

Full information cheerfully furnished on application.

PLEASE ADDRESS:

R. H. GARRATT, A. G. P. A.,
No. 210 St. Charles Street, New Orleans.
I. HARDY, G. P. A.
New Orleans, La.

5,000 MORE BOOK AGENTS WANTED.
Any man or woman can earn $100 a month with

LIVES OF McKINLEY & HOBART

By Hon. HENRY R. RUSSELL, their chosen biographer. 650 pages, elegantly illustrated. Price only $1.00. The best and cheapest, and outsells all others by tens of thousands. 50 per cent. to Agents and Freight Paid. Elegant engravings. Save time. Write for particulars and specimen engravings. Address by sending 50 cents in stamps for an outfit at once. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

BELLS

all kinds. Church, Chime, Peal, Academy, Factory and Farm. AMERICAN BELL FOUNDRY CO., NORTHVILLE, MICH.

Mrs. M. E. Mullins.

Mrs. M. E. Mullins died at her home near Hazlehurst, Miss., on the twenty-fifth of July, 1896. She was born in South Carolina in 1829. Her maiden name was Perry. In early childhood her father removed to Mississippi. She was married in 1840 to John C. Sexton, who immediately after his marriage settled near Crystal Springs. In this vicinity she spent the remainder of her life. Her husband having died in 1861, she was married a few years afterwards to Rev. Hardy Mullins, of the Mississippi Conference, who lived but a short time afterwards. It was my privilege to know her from my earliest recollection, she being a neighbor and friend of my mother. She was a thoroughly consecrated Christian, firm as a rock in maintaining her religious convictions. She possessed in an eminent degree those qualities that caused her to be respected and beloved wherever she was known. As a wife and a mother she was a model. She had five sons, all of whom are still living. These are: J. F. Sexton and O. P. Sexton, prosperous farmers of Copiah county; J. S. Sexton, of Hazlehurst, one of the leading attorneys of the State, and Drs. F. M. and Luther Sexton, who stand in the front rank in their profession, the latter having occupied for several years a chair in the Medical Department of Tulane University. J. F. Sexton has represented his county in the Legislature for three terms. A friend says of her: "The pre-eminent success of her sons, each in his chosen line of work, was the pride of her heart and the inspiration of her happiest moments. On the other hand, the sons themselves all declare that to her rare judgment and never-ceasing counsels is due all they are or ever expect to be."

I have no words of language at my command that will give a more correct portraiture of her character than the following tribute from her gifted son, Hon. J. S. Sexton, which is clipped from a Hazlehurst paper:

My first recollection of her runs back to the death of my father, in 1861, and I remember her then as broken in health and crushed in spirit. She took up the burden of raising five sons, the eldest and only one who could render any assistance being then in the Confederate army. My father had undertaken new enterprises just as the war broke out, and, of course, these ventures were doomed to failure, and at his death his estate was heavily involved. Those who knew the surroundings and my mother's ill health were exceedingly anxious about the situation in which the family was involved, and more than one predicted poverty and sorrow as our lot. Out of the depth of her sorrow and the misfortune of her surroundings there sprang to her relief those rare business qualities which had thus far lain dormant, and she began the long, but finally successful struggle of battling with debt and the care of a half orphaned family of boys at that most unauspicious period of our country's history. Her first, and, in my judgment, most sensible step, was to move her family from Crystal Springs to the country farm left us by our father. Her purpose, as she stated it, was to take her boys away from the temptations incident to being raised in town without a father in such perilous times.

Not a member of our family knew anything about successfully cultivating the soil; and even if we had succeeded, there was no market for anything we might produce; there were no schools of consequence, and the conditions surrounding the family were hard in the extreme.

Debts to the amount of more than $5,000 were hanging over the estate, every farthing of which was paid, and the family had as good educational advantages as the country afforded. To accomplish this, unaided, must have required qualities worth emulating, some of which I will mention: In the first place it required great industry and an unbending purpose, and those who knew her best will remember to what a high degree she possessed these virtues. She was willing to "labor and to wait," and so she did, and at the same time required it of those who were dependent upon her. It required economy and integrity, and in these virtues she had no superior. She made it a study to make every dollar "go as far as possible," in her way of putting it, and she despised anything which savored of dishonesty, and tried to install that principle in her children. No creditor was ever asked to do anything more than wait, and finally every dollar of indebtedness contracted either by her husband or herself was paid with interest added.

